Big Thrill And Kiss Is All Frosh Girls Find Pledging

What did you say you pledged? Omega Pi? Oh, you're a sister! Do you think you're going to like it, dear? Oh, I'm sure you will. Well, I wish I knew what I was going to do. I just can't decide which house I want. What? You aren't allowed to talk to me? Isn't that funny?

Oh, yes, I went Psi Rho. I was so thrilled. Every girl in the house kissed me. Honestly she did. No, I don't think it's going to be so very expensive. And anyhow won't it be just too scrumptious when we get our new house! I don't see how I'm going to wait. Golly! I didn't know they made you work so hard. Why, honestly, I never scrubbed a floor before in my life. I never even thought of such a thing! We always had a woman come in at home. Yes, and having to do all the cleaning after parties. I'm just worn out. And listen, they say we have to wax

'13' Hoodoo Hits Leo; Galloping Swede Exempt

"Who's got number 13 jersey? I don't know. I guess it should be mine," declared Leo Calland, varsity coach. It seems that the two opposing quarterbacks in Saturday's game both wore "13" on their jerseys. DeFrate for Montana State and "Galloping Swede" Pedersen for Idaho were both trying to throw passes to the hoodoo. Vandal followers think that DeFrate carried a rabbit's foot to help him out in the unequal battle. The "Galloping Swede" maintains that he is not superstitious. "I just happened to draw that jersey, so I wear it. It's a good warm garment. Just like the rest of the team's. Only difference, it has the number 13 on it. Some people like to think that it is an unlucky number. I don't, and I'll wear it the rest of the season," he declared.

A meeting of the Spurs, Sophomore girls' honorary organization, will be held the latter part of this week. At this time the new members who were elected last spring will be initiated and the old Spur members will become inactive.

CLASSES ELECT MOGULS TONIGHT

Schedules for the general class elections and a general outline of business to be considered by each were announced last night. Class elections will proceed much as in previous years. Nominations for class officers will be considered with regular business. All class meetings will take place at 7:30 tonight and all students are urged to be present. The seniors will meet in 311 Ad. building, juniors in 110 Science building and sophomores in the auditorium. The freshman class elections were held last week.

NEALES EXPECTED HERE THURSDAY

Family to Accompany New President; in Pocatello Today

Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the University of Idaho, who has been in the East since his induction into office here nearly two weeks ago, is expected in Moscow late Thursday afternoon, according to recent reports received from the president's office. Making his initial visit upon the campus of the Southern Branch at Pocatello, today, Dr. Neale met the executives, including Dean J. R. Dyer, and hoped in making these contacts, to further the cooperation between the two branches of the school. At an assembly held this morning, Dr. Neale had his first opportunity of meeting and addressing the students of the Southern Branch. He explained the attitude of the modern world toward institutions of higher learning, the relations of the Southern Branch to the main university, and in general reiterated his views expressed at his first assembly here. During the past week Dr. and Mrs. Neale have been in Columbia, Missouri, preparing to leave and closing their relations with the University of Missouri, where Dr. Neale is dean of the school of education. Mrs. Neale is also prominent throughout the middle west as an educator. Tonight Dr. Neale will be the guest of the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce at a banquet to be held in the Hotel Bannock. Dr. and Mrs. Neale's three children are accompanying them on the trip.

SORORITIES TAKE 116 WOMEN AS RUSH WEEK ENDS

Big Parade Starts Down Fraternity Row Saturday at 1:15

ALPHA PHIS GET 22

Women Addressed by Dean French Before Leaving Halls

A hundred and sixteen women filled down fraternity row, braving the scrutinizing gaze of nearly every man on the campus, at 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, to pledge their respective sororities. Before they left the halls, where they received their bids, the women were called into a meeting where Dean French gave them a short informative talk. Pledging climaxed a week of intensive rushing which started September 17 with the general tea and continued in a round of breakfasts, luncheons, dinners and firesides. The list of pledges follows: Gamma Phi Beta: Harriet Eaton, Lois Reynolds, Emmett; Jane Dunn, Betty Knutsen, Frances Hanley, Laura Oleson, Jean Kingsbury, Wallace; Doris Armstrong, Cascade; Virginia Evans, Dorothy Sampson, Catherine Eucenon, Pocatello; Vivian Jordan, Spokane; Doris Norrell, Mountain Home; Patricia Kennard, Frances DuSault, Jean Wilson, Elizabeth Thompson, Mary Louise Bush, Dorothy Jean Scott, Moscow.

TAYLOR RECEIVES COPY OF REVISED SCHOLARSHIP PLAN

U. of Idaho Placed With Other Schools in Rocky Mountain Division

STIPEND IS LARGE

States Quota May Drop or Increase With New Regulations

Important changes in the Rhodes scholarships given yearly throughout the United States were announced by Professor Eugene Taylor last night. Applications are due in October 18 and should be filed immediately with Mr. Taylor. Beginning this year, the 48 states of the union will be divided into eight districts of six states each. There will be a competition in every state every year. State committees will nominate two men to appear before the district committee, who will select from the 12 candidates appearing before them the best four to represent their states at Oxford. This makes it possible for a state to receive two scholarships or none according to the merit of its candidates. This will place Idaho in competition with W. S. C. and perhaps other Rocky Mountain schools.

UPPER ARGONAUT STAFF TO MEET

Edward Whittington, editor of the Argonaut, has called a meeting Wednesday at 4 p. m. in 201 Administration building for all persons who were assigned to major staff positions in the last issue of the paper. The meeting includes all members of the editorial staff with the exception of the copy writers and it is essential that all others attend or they will be replaced on the staff.

GEM PICTURES TO BE SCHEDULED SOON

The picture schedule for the Gem of 1931 has been released by Wayne Blair, editor of the publication, in this issue of the Argonaut. This schedule for sittings with the official photographers is the weekly one, and is listed in alphabetical order. October 13 to 18 is the date of the first group. Senior men's pictures will be in tuxedos, and the senior women's in formal dress. Junior, sophomore, and freshman pictures will be in informal attire for both men and women. Sorority group pictures will be taken in formal garb, while fraternity groups will have their's in informal dress, as has been the custom here in the past.

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla (W.P.A.)—Tau Kappa Epsilon will install Alpha Omicron Kappa local fraternity, as Alpha Theta chapter in the national fraternity on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, September 29, 30, and October 1.

Foil and Mask Gets Started

Foil and Mask, fencing club, will hold its first meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in room 301 in Memorial gymnasium according to Paul Aust, president. Definite arrangements and orders for equipment were completed at a meeting Monday afternoon in conjunction with students registered in fencing as a sophomore activity. All students interested in developing talent in this ancient sport are invited to attend regardless of what class they may belong to. Doctor E. E. Hubert will instruct members and act as advisor for the club.

When In Doubt--

When in doubt, ask Tinsel Bray. What is the proper greeting for the nightwatchman, when you meet him in the Arboretum at 3:15 a. m.? Is it permissible and proper to shake well before using? What is the correct courteous to a prof who reminds you that his lecture room is not a sleeping porch? When called into the Dean's office should one carry gloves? Who of you has not been troubled by these and similar questions? Answer now the answer to them—Tinsel Bray, The Understanding Heart, is here, ready and anxious to advise you in the most personal affairs. Just write to her, in care of the Argonaut office, and no longer will your friends laugh when you get up to play. Miss Bray's first column will appear Friday—Watch for it!

Lois Porterfield Invites All Frosh Women to be Present

At a meeting of the executive board of the W. A. A. last night, positions left open by the absence of officers elected last year were discussed, according to Lois Porterfield, W. A. A. president. The position of secretary and historian was left open when Helen Matlack failed to return to school. Nominations were not last night at the executive board meeting. Bess Louise Hogg, Pearl Walters, and Grace Warren are the nominees.

Blanchard and Pritchard Hope to Form Permanent Stage Force

Organization of a permanent stage force to assist in the production of all plays presented by the University of Idaho dramatics department this year is now under way. To date, no student activity of this type has been in existence on the Idaho campus, and its introduction will mark a new step in the presentation of school plays. The stage force, composed of students interested in dramatics and art, will undertake to design and construct all sets and stage equipment. They will also handle the actual technical work on the stage during production.

Win Or Lose, Smile Sticks With Vandal Football Coach

Coach Calland! Have you ever watched him from close quarters during a football game? If you have—especially if you watched him at the Idaho-Montana game—you would know there are other qualities to a good coach besides that of being able to tell his team how to handle the pigskin.

Other than seeing Idaho's football mentor arise when a touchdown looked near, or seeing him stroll up and down when one didn't look so near, the casual spectator in the stands at the Idaho-Montana game would have noticed few signs of the tenseness with which Calland was watching every run and every tackle. But anyone who was close enough to really observe him would have had little trouble in determining the most interested person on MacLean field last Saturday afternoon. Calland would wiggle hands down!

Eagle Eyes. During practically every minute of play, the eyes of Idaho's coach were on the shifting players. Only when absolutely necessary did they leave the line of action.

Statistics Show Idaho Outplays Bobcat Victors

In spite of the fact that when the final gun sounded on MacLean field Saturday afternoon Idaho was on the short end of the 7 to 6 score statistics show the Vandals played a better ball game than their opponents.

The score book credits Idaho with 220 yards of scrimmage while the Bobcats were able to chink up only 97 yards. The Montanans held a slight advantage in the punting department with their booters averaging 34 yards in 10 tries as the Vandal kickers averaged 33 yards on 7 attempts.

The Moscow boys more than made up for this disadvantage by garnering 14 first downs to their opponents' 7. Both teams completed 5 passes with the Staters' hurling 11 and the Vandals trying 17.

These figures show the Bobcats won the game on more or less of a break with their brilliant rally in the closing minutes of the game. Lacking playing of the Vandals in these final minutes allowed the visitors to complete their "lucky" passes.

DRAMA STUDENTS WILL ORGANIZE

Organization of a permanent stage force to assist in the production of all plays presented by the University of Idaho dramatics department this year is now under way.

Wide Experience. Professor Fred C. Blanchard of the dramatics department and Prof. Theodore Pritchard of the art and architecture department will direct the work. Both Professor Blanchard and Professor Pritchard have had wide experience in this field and are interested in establishing such a group on this campus.

Students wishing to participate in this activity should consult either Professor Blanchard or Professor Pritchard at once.

Manley Ritchey, Boise, and Two Passengers Meet Disaster in Burning Ship

Many Boise and southern Idaho students were shocked to learn of the airplane crash, Sunday night at the Jerome airport, in which Pilot Manley Ritchey, manager of the Boise Flying Service, and two girl passengers, Marjorie Candee, 18, and Margaret Kennedy, 13, were burned to death.

The ship suddenly went into a spin and dived from an elevation of 300 feet as Ritchey was preparing to return to the airport with his passengers after circling the city. The plane burst into flames and burned the occupants beyond recognition.

Hundreds of persons saw the machine swoop in the fatal dive and scores awaiting the landing at the airport were unable to extinguish the flames. Spectators saw Ritchey shake his head twice as the fire enveloped the craft, but they believed he was fatally injured by the fall. Ritchey was well known as a pilot in Boise, and many southern Idaho students have flown with him in his ill-fated plane.

Pass to Worthington which was knocked down by Davis saved a sure touchdown. DeFrate then carried the ball on another end run for 18 yards, but three plays which netted no gain and a wild pass gave the Vandals the ball on their own ten-yard marker. Worthington placed Davis with three minutes to go and called two line plays. Booker, forced to make a fast kick, got off

MONTANANS TAKE LAST MINUTE WIN FROM IDAHO, 7-6

Poor Pass Defense Spells Defeat For Vandal Eleven

PETE TAYLOR STARS

The opening football tussle of the year was waged into the lime-light Saturday on MacLean field when the Idaho Vandals lost a disheartening game to Montana State, 7-6.

Outplayed throughout three quarters of the game, the Bobcats snatched their victory out of a clear sky in the closing three minutes, through a series of passes and off-tackle smashes. DeFrate and Worthington of the invaders, were the main cogs in that last desperate drive.

The winning rally came after a short kick which went out of bounds on Idaho's 20-yard line. Their hopes bolstered by the lucky break, the Bobcats took to the air, DeFrate passing 11 yards to Captain Worthington, and on the next play DeFrate went over on an off-tackle smash. Montana State displayed a tough line in the pinches, holding Idaho for downs on four different occasions when the Vandals were within the shadow of the enemy's goal posts. The invaders totaled 97 yards from scrimmage against Idaho's 220, but DeFrate's ball carrying and accurate passing into the hands of Worthington were the decisive factors for their lone touchdown.

Pete Taylor, flashy Twin Falls end from last season's yearling squad, proved to be Idaho's mainstay, and his sparkling game deserves much credit. Stopping all runs around his end and blocking several difficult passes, Pete won the highest esteem of all football fans.

The Vandal score came after a 16-yard run by Hanford to the Staters' one-yard line. Pedersen on the next play crossed the goal. Bessler failed to convert.

The first half was purely Idaho's. Calland's men pounded the ball three times within the 20-yard line only to lose it on downs. Montana State could gain nothing through the Idaho wall and relied chiefly on their kicking to keep them out of danger. Pedersen worked nicely during the first quarter and it looked as though an Idaho victory was certain, but the Bobcat line held and held until the Vandal backs literally wore themselves out trying to punch it over. The half ended 0-0.

The third quarter Idaho came back strong, and after an exchange of the ball on her 30-yard line. For the first time the Vandal machine began to function. Pedersen and Booker alternated at carrying the ball on hard running plays to the Bobcats' 17-yard line. Hanford, sent into the game at half, carried the ball on a weakside play to the one-yard line after a beautiful run and Pedersen bucked it over.

The Bobcats tightened again and the fireworks started. Idaho kicked to DeFrate who brought the ball back ten yards after being tackled hard by "Frisch" Corkery. Pete Taylor, DeFrate made right on an end run and on the next play the ball was passed over DeFrate's head. He picked it up, evaded two Vandals and made it first and ten.

A pass to Worthington which was knocked down by Davis saved a sure touchdown. DeFrate then carried the ball on another end run for 18 yards, but three plays which netted no gain and a wild pass gave the Vandals the ball on their own ten-yard marker. Worthington placed Davis with three minutes to go and called two line plays. Booker, forced to make a fast kick, got off

As Others See Us

THAT which is close is usually more difficult to see than that which is farther away from the observer.

A student from the East saw Idaho in action for the first time in the game last Saturday with Montana. When asked what he thought of the game he did not answer that the boys had not taken the game.

He did not remark about the passes that the players had muffed and the set-up tackles that they had slipped off. No. He asked why the lack of spirit and "ginger" of the crowd at the game. There were times when the crowd would encore one of their repertoire of three or four yells. But those times were when the ball was near our own goal posts and our team was weighing heavily on the Montanans.

It might be difficult to place a finger upon the reason for the lack of spirit—maybe it was because it was too early in the season for the crowd to get excited. And it may be that no more yells are known and that we are tired of those two or three that we are forced to use. And we dare say there are those who lack confidence in their team. To those people we can say one thing, get a copy of the Sunday Oregonian and read what Mr. Gregory in his sports column has to say of Idaho's football team. Some time before the next home game maybe someone will suggest that we have a pep rally, learn some yells, and maybe we can acquire some of Gregorian enthusiasm for Idaho's team.

Student Opinion

Editor Argonaut:

Now that the "fire-side quarter-backs" have finished playing Saturday's game over again and we have reconciled ourselves to the fact that things did not go so well for Idaho, perhaps it would be quite appropriate if we would consider just what kind of a football game the student body and particularly the yell leaders and Pep-Band played last Saturday afternoon.

A brief summary of the facts reveals the following:

Our battle song, "Come Fellows Now and Join the Chorus" was sung, or rather murmured, five different times during the game. Six different times the rhythmic clapping of hands, which seemed to be most popular way we had of cheering the team on, was started by the students in the stands.

Article IX, Section 2 of the By-Laws of the student body constitution reads in part as follows:—"The yell king shall be cheer leader of the student body." This according to our constitution is the duty of the yell king and for this service he receives a Varsity sweater with a white "Y" surmounted by a white cone. To be sure the monetary value on this award is not very great; but it is an honor that the student body gives the yell king and for this honor the students expect and are entitled to some service.

But did we get this service? Has our Yell-king been our "cheer leader"? The exhibition given Saturday answers "No" to both of these questions.
To be more specific just how many yells did we use at the game? Aside from the yells for the individual players we gave "Three for Calland" (very good), we used the Siren yell, which is supposed to be used at the kick-off, three times while actual play was going on. "Yea Idaho" was used three times and the Bear Cat yell once. These four yells along with the rhythmic clapping constituted the student body's contribution. Why weren't more yells used? Perhaps we had better look to our yell king for an answer. Why wasn't the "Old Idaho" yell used? And, why wasn't the "Go Get 'em" yell used? An explanation is certainly in order. These yells are all in the student handbook. Perhaps before the next home game the Yell-King will borrow a handbook and learn these yells.
We don't ask that he originate some new yells because that would require some effort; but we do ask that he use some variety.
And another thing—trying to get enthusiasm out of a football crowd by singing the same song five times seems quite out of order. Perhaps the Yell king thought he was directing the New York grand opera chorus. One never can tell. However, when the student wish to participate more freely in the field of vocal endeavor perhaps it would be better if they adjour to the auditorium and there under the proper direction take-up their work. The athletic field is no place for chorus work except for the song "And here we have Idaho" which is used at the end of the game. No one will deny that that is a part of Idaho's football spirit. Too bad some one did not nail the lid on the supply box when it fell in during the game.

SOCIETY

LILLIE GALLAGHER, Editor.

SOCIETY is indeed coming to the fore among campus activities. This week sees the addition of sixteen group dances to the calendar, and telephones are becoming busy for those who want to "rate" the first and choicest dates for the various functions scheduled.

The only social affair of note last week-end was the Phi Delta Theta pledge dance on Saturday evening. It was the first dance on the calendar this fall.

Pledge dances scheduled for this week-end are those of Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Gamma Delta on Friday evening; and of Beta Theta Pi on Saturday evening.

JOURNAL HONORARY MEETS TUESDAY

Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary society will meet next Tuesday. Plans for regular meetings and luncheons every other week at the Blue Bucket will be discussed. Plans are also being formulated for a breakfast for girls interested in journalism. Pledges to the club will be discussed also. Membership is based on the student's work on the Argonaut, class work and a satisfactory major or minor in Journalism.

Every year Theta Sigma presents a cup to the best girls' edition of a high school paper. The cup was won last year by Nampa high school.

Katherine Mattes, who last year graduated from the school of business was present at the initial meeting of Theta Sigma this year.

SOUTHERN BRANCH MEETS NEWCOMERS

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, SOUTHERN BRANCH.—New faces on the faculty were introduced to the student body by Dean John R. Dyer at the initial assembly of the school year. Aside from the optimistic outlook of new students, the new faculty blood indicates a higher standard of teaching.

One of the outstanding acquisitions of the faculty is Dr. G. M. Costigan, assistant professor of history. Professor Costigan, though only 26 years of age, holds five degrees from two colleges, three from Oxford England and two, including his Ph. D. from Wisconsin.

Research in Teton District. Dr. Davis comes from Fick's college where he has been a great favorite. He has his Ph. D. from Wisconsin. Dr. Davis began his work early this spring, and has to show one of the finest series of specimens of vegetation in the Cache valley. He also did considerable research in the Teton district this past year.

Root From North Dakota. Viola Powell has been secured as the associate professor of dramatics and can boast of a foreign degree from the Karol university at Prague. Nelly Mendham, assistant professor in English comes highly recommended from Wisconsin, Chicago and Columbia. Frances Root has been named associate professor of physical education, with degrees from North Dakota Agricultural school and Columbia univer-

EASTERN SCHOOL REQUESTS POETRY

Washington and Lee University asks Idaho for Anthology of College Poems.

George Morey Miller, head of the English department, has received a communication from Washington and Lee University asking the cooperation of the University of Idaho in the compilation of an anthology of American college poetry. The volume will include the work of students of all the major colleges and universities in the United States.

Poems of a serious nature are desired; however, humorous verse is quite acceptable if it has real merit. Doctor George Morey Miller, head of the department, has full particulars and asks those interested to see him.

Ancient Rivals Given Draw In Annual Smoker

Saturday night at the mystic hour of 12, thirteen freshmen from smooq uojsdgv euqiv suujsj equ wended their way to the spacious home of the Kappa Sigmas for the joint smoker staged annually by the two groups. Because of the limited ability and initiative of the author it was impossible for her to secure any definite information concerning the pure and simple entertainment. However, it has been agreed that the Kappa Sigmas welcomed their ancient rivals with open arms. Minor activities of the smoker were boxing, wrestling, stunts, and skits, with Patrick Henry Walker, Kappa Sigma, refereeing the athletic engagements. Walter Gillespie of the rival guests, officiated at the party.

The smoker engagements resulted in a draw as in former years, with neither group overcoming their opposition either physically, mentally, or morally. Although the campus is innocent of all that took place between the hours of 12 and 3, at least it is rumored that refreshments were served by the gracious hosts before the party ended.

MILLER SPEAKS AT FORESTER'S PICNIC

"Triplets" Entertain With Clever Group of Late Song Novelties

Dean F. G. Miller, head of the School of Forestry, gave the welcoming talk at the annual campfire of the Associated Foresters held last Thursday evening in the University arboretum. Dean Miller welcomed the new students, and gave a brief resume of the aims and accomplishments of the school of forestry.

Dr. E. E. Hubert and Professor G. Kempf were also introduced to the new students. Hubert introduced R. P. d'Urbal, L. S. Keyser, and D. A. Holaday of the bureau of plant industry, who are doing cooperative work with the school of forestry in blister rust control work.

The hit of the evening was a group of songs by the "Triplets," Jack Dode, "Stubby" Eastman, George Jemison, and "Cy" Gill. Charles Sowder gave a humorous account of the junior field trip which was taken last spring. George Jemison, forester of the local chapter of Xi Sigma Pi, national honorary forestry fraternity, gave a short talk on the functions of this organization.

The menu of the evening consisted of a "typical foresters meal," chile and crackers, coffee, sandwiches, cup-cakes, and apples. About eighty of the members were present. During the course of the evening Dr. E. C. Johns, Professor A. M. Sowder, Mr. F. Otter, and Professor L. Spence, new members of the faculty, were introduced and responded with short talks.

TENTATIVE PLAY CAST SELECTED

Herndon and Frizzelle to Contest Lead of "Show-off"

Tentative selection of a cast for "The Show-Off", school play to be presented next November 13 and 14, has been announced by Prof. Fred C. Blanchard of the dramatics department. The male lead, Aubrey Piper, is the "show-off". Either Charles Herndon or Merle Frizzelle will be cast in the part of the ever optimistic Mr. Piper—a role offering an unusual opportunity for character portrayal. Liar, bragart, and egotist, his faults make him a character wrenched from real life.

The rest of the tentative cast, subject to change at any time, follows: Clara—Lois Kennedy or Nancy Kelly. Mrs. Fisher—Ruth Garver or Nancy Kelly. Amy—Grace Parsons or Lois Kennedy. Frank Hyland—Winfred Janssen or Chester Brinck. Mr. Fisher—William Ennis or Chester Brinck. Joe—Howard Altnow. Mr. Gill—Stewart Mingo. Mr. Rogers—Merle Frizzelle or Charles Herndon.

A group of one-act plays will be presented by the dramatics department on December 11 and 12. Students from advanced and elementary play production classes will take part. However, no casting has yet been done on them.

MATMEN AND MITTMEN OUT

Three Champions to Instruct Vandal Wrestling and Boxing Teams; Outlook Good

Boxing and wrestling classes are now going full swing under the direction of Dan Lopez and Lloyd Sullivan, according to coach Leo Calland of the physical education department. Dan Lopez, northwest intercollegiate heavyweight champion grappler, will instruct the wrestlers this semester. Next semester Noel Franklin, king of northwest middleweights, last year's wrestling coach, will take over the class upon his return to school.

a short punt which went wide on the 20-yard line. The Idaho line seemed to be weakening. Defrate hurled another pass to Worthington who carried it to the five-yard line. On the next play Defrate carried it over on a line buck. Worthington's trusty toe put the rickskin between the bars to make the score Montana State 7, Idaho 6. The pun barked three minutes later with the ball in Idaho's possession on her 40-yard line.

WHITMAN MAN WRITES TEXT

Blankenship Author of Treatise on American Literature; Book Will Appear This Winter

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Sept. 29. (PIPA)—Russell Blankenship, associate professor of English at Whitman college, is the author of a college text book in American literature which will appear some time during the winter from the press of the Henry Holt Publishing company, New York city. The work which was accepted last July is a historical interpretation of the entire field of American literature and the author has used a socio-economic background in the construction of his material. The work outlines the trends of American culture down to the present.

Mr. Blankenship has taught a course in American literature for the last several years and has done extensive research work. According to the publishers it is the most complete and comprehensive study of the subject now available.

IDAHO TO DRILL PASS DEFENSE

Vandals Expect to Meet Aerial Game in Boise; Punters Also in for Work

Leo Calland has started a week of practice following the Montana State game that promises to be a plenty tough one for the members of the Vandal squad. Last night he kept the boys out until dark drilling the linemen in the art of blocking and tackling and pushing his backfield aces along the kicking and passing departments.

These last two functions spelled disaster for Idaho Saturday and Calland is determined to have a good defense for college of Idaho passes next week. The College nearly upset the Cougar team last week when they opened up their brilliant tossing game in the last quarter. This rally netted them two touchdowns and that is a real feat against the powerful Washington State club.

The booters will also be given plenty of work this week as they were outkicked against the Bobcats and, unless improvement is shown, will be swamped when working against conference punters.

Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Glen Rhiner, Mrs. John Blair and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips, all of Spokane, were Delta Gamma guests this week-end.

Barling Monoplane Pays Campus Visit

When Lincoln became president there were only 30,635 miles of railway in the entire U. S.

Ralph W. Hanley of Salmon City flew to Moscow Saturday in a Barling 3-place monoplane, bringing with him Dr. F. D. Carnes of Salmon City to visit Donald and Robert Carnes, students in the University. The monoplane left Salmon City at 9:40 a. m. Saturday morning and arrived in Moscow at 2:20 a. m. after fighting their way through a storm. Mr. Hanley praises the beautiful appearance of the campus, and says that they saw part of the football game from the air. The plane will leave tomorrow morning. Dr. Carnes plans to fly to Moscow in the spring to take his sons home.
