

IDAHO ENROLLMENT EXCEEDS PREVIOUS HIGH TOTAL RECORD

1807 Students Complete Registrations Up To October 1

596 AT POCA TELLO

Previous High Mark In 1928 When 1795 Were Enrolled

Enrollment figures exceeding the previous high total in the history of the University of Idaho have been announced by Miss Ella L. Olsen, registrar, records showing 1807 students in actual residence on October 1.

The 1807 total represents the initial fall enrollment at the main campus of the university at Moscow, and does not include the record fall registration of 596 at the Southern Branch, the summer school registration and miscellaneous additions from short courses and other sources. Late registrations and students entering at the beginning of the second semester in February will bring the year's total to 2000, university officials believe.

The previous high mark was reached in 1928 when 1795 students were registered at the end of the first two weeks of the year. Comparative figures taken at the end of the first two weeks of former years follow: 1925, 1772; 1926, 1752; 1927, 1754; 1928, 1795; 1929, 1729; September 27, 1930, 1768.

College of Agriculture Gains

Largest gains have been in the college of agriculture and the college of engineering, other divisions showing slight increase or remaining about the same. The registrar's report shows 160 students registered in the college of agriculture as compared to 127 at the same time a year ago, or an increase of nearly 26 per cent. Engineering college enrollment is also the highest in its history, 223 registered as compared to 188 last year, an increase of 19 per cent.

Reports recently received from the Southern Branch of the university at Pocatello show a record fall enrollment at the southern campus, 596, which includes 33 students registered in special vocational courses.

Summer School Increases

Summer school registration this year also set a record, according to Dean J. F. Messenger, director, with an increase in the number of students doing graduate work toward advanced degrees.

Dean E. J. Iddings, acting executive, said he considered the registration this fall a remarkable expression of confidence in the university on the part of the people of the state. The increase is more significant than the figures show, he pointed out, when it is considered that a decrease was predicted by some on account of the general business depression.

PEP BAND WILL PLAY AT BOISE

To Show at Weiser, Caldwell and Nampa on Year's First Trip South.

Spine-tingling music and college color will enliven the Vandal-College of Idaho football game at Boise Saturday—music and color to be furnished by the University of Idaho pep band, famous up and down the Pacific coast as a unique musical organization.

Members of the band, 22 strong, chartered a motor coach and left the campus Wednesday morning over the North and South highway. Concerts at three high schools were scheduled on the trip south, at Weiser, Caldwell and Nampa. The band's dance orchestra played for a dance at Nampa Thursday night, and will fulfill similar engagements at Boise Friday and Saturday.

The pep band is well known in southern Idaho, and is always well received. For ability to play, the band has received high praise from many considering it on a par with professional organizations. As a group it is unique in that it is completely a student organization, not even having the assistance of a faculty director. Members of the band pick their new members each fall in competitive tryouts and elect their own leader and manager.

Heavy Arboretum Traffic Killing Ground Flowers

The proverbial last rose had nothing on the bedraggled posies which now grace the flower garden. Yet, less than two weeks ago, this plot presented a gallant array of fair blooms from whose depths arose a perfume, distracting even to the night watchman. The weather might be the cause for this wreckage, but popular opinion holds that the traffic became too heavy.

As in Caesar's day, all roads lead to the arboretum so the little winding paths through the flower garden come in for their share. Although the shy border plants have shrunk back with all possible discretion, they are beginning to look rather frayed.

The return trip seems to call for a memento which is adding to the rapid disappearance of the snapdragons and petunias.

Some kind of advice is being taken over this grave situation although it is difficult to decide whether it is a matter for the student council, the club, or the people who have never been to the arboretum. The gardener will probably have this situation in mind next year and seed hardy plants of the sunflower and holly-hock variety.

Unknowing Frosh Dare 'I' Men To Paddle—Escape

"What has become of campus traditions?" wailed a senior as he came out in front of the Administration building and beheld before his eyes the most unforgettable of sights.

They had been sitting there for some time. Maybe they wondered why everyone was looking their way. They were wearing the same all right—molehairs, green caps and books on their laps. What was everyone laughing about anyway? Nothing funny was in sight. It couldn't be that this big bench they were sitting on looked like an "I". No, that wasn't it, free American citizens are allowed to sit where they please.

Whether an "I" man showed and taught the two frosh that everything in the U.S.A. isn't free, is not known. Anyway when the writer picked up his books and left, no "I" men were in sight, and the two frosh still were captains of the seat.

BOISE GAME WILL BE FIFTH MEETING

Vandals Have Four Wins Chalked Up; 1923 Game Ended 83-0

When the Vandals take the field against the Coyotes at Boise tomorrow will be the fifth time the southern Idaho school has yet to capture a game from their northern rivals. Nevertheless, the Caldwell squad is far from downhearted and they believe this is their year to take the state championship. With a veteran team boasting a powerful passing attack they will force the university men, who have shown no exceptional power, to the limit.

The first battle between the colleges was fought in 1909 at Caldwell and the Vandals won 25 to 0. In 1923 the Coyotes brought an inexperienced team to Moscow and received a crushing 83 to 0 defeat at the hands of a great Idaho grid machine. Josh Lowell led his college of Idaho warriors on the Moscow field again in 1925 and put up a battle the crowd present will always remember, only admitting defeat when the final whistle blew with the northerners leading 16 to 14. In 1926 the clubs met last and the Vandals had little trouble subduing their southern opponents 30 to 0.

Both squads will be working toward a definite end in tomorrow's conflict, the Vandals to continue their string of wins and the Coyotes to top their first game.

INTERNATIONAL DEBATE COMING

Tryouts for Idaho Debating Schedule; Englishmen Coming.

"Resolved: That the world has more to fear than to hope from the further development of machines" is the novel question that is a feature of the international debate to be held at the university auditorium November 8.

Tryouts for the Idaho debating squad for this debate will be held October 9. Candidates will prepare a five-minute speech on the negative side, according to A. E. Whitehead, debate coach.

B. J. Crehan, University of Liverpool, and B. Hope Elleton, Oxford, are the representatives from Europe. These two represent 21 English universities through the National Students' Union of England and Wales.

November 6 is the tentative date for the debate, since the Englishmen have not completed full arrangements for their tour.

B's were leading in the first trial and will fight it out for the honors Saturday. The meet will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

The groups leading and their respective scores are as follows: S.A.E.'s, 300 pts.; Beta's, 250 pts.; Phi Gams, 236; Lambda Chi's 216; Phi Delta's, 236. The regular system of scoring is used, that is, five points for first; three points for second; two points for third; and one for fourth.

Schedule Changed

The schedule arrangements for the various intra-mural activities has been changed to some extent this year. Volleyball will probably start Friday night. Basketball will be held off until sometime after the Christmas holidays. Swimming will take place during the second of the first semester. Baseball is scheduled for the next activity after volleyball. This arrangement, although only tentative, is the one arrived at by the managers Monday night.

All letters in any sport are automatically ruled out of competition in any intra-mural athletics. Freshmen are allowed to participate. Those taking part in cross-country will receive one-half credit for their work.

OCTOBER 15 DATE FOR DEBATE TRIALS

Women's Tryouts First; Men to Meet Following Day

Tryouts for the varsity debate team will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday, October 15 in room 305 Administration building for the women and October 16 at 4 p. m. in room 305 Administration building for the men, according to Charles Herndon, debate manager for this year.

Contestants will prepare a five-minute speech either on the affirmative or negative of the following propositions: For the women, Resolved: That Ghandi has been a benefit to India. For the men, Resolved: That government interference in the wheat situation has been detrimental to the farmer.

The first series of debates will take place in December. On the 3rd the women will debate Washington State college on both the affirmative and negative. On the 4th the Idaho negative team goes to Whitman and on the 5th Whitman's negative meets Idaho here. The Whitman negative again comes to Idaho on the 10th and on the 11th the Idaho negative goes to Whitman. On the 12th Idaho debates both the affirmative and negative with Washington State college.

W.A.A.'S PRACTICE BARNYARD GOLF

In the finals, women placing in the upper third will receive 25 points toward W. A. A. Those in the next third will receive 15 points, and the lowest third will receive 10. Two chances will be given to each contestant. The date for the finals will be set later.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI COUNCILLOR COMING

Plans for Mr. Silke's stay in Moscow were discussed at a meeting of the organization at the Sigma Chi house Wednesday night. Another meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi will be held next Wednesday evening at the Sigma Chi house, at which time plans will be complete.

At Last!! Reason Found To Study Contemporary Civ

A student in a certain section of Contemporary Civilization, makes a practical use of the five units in reflection which follow in this manner:

1. Presentation of problem—He receives a dollar bill from home.
2. Analysis of situation—The money is most certainly for recreation. Hasn't he told his mother what a vile course he has? He practically has to take Jane to a show sometime—damn these girls from home!
3. Possible alternatives—He can take Jane—but, gosh what if she'd want to eat? Or he can go by himself and get a sundae afterwards. Heck! Maybe he'd better just stay home and buy a new tie.
4. Choice of alternative—He decides to go alone.
5. Solution—He goes, he eats, he returns home with a mind relaxed for the next urgent problem.

BLAIR LAUNCHES PROGRAM WITH STAFF CONFERENCE

Editorial Positions to be Filled by Year Book Editor Soon

COMPETITION KEEN

Selections to Annual Places Will be Made on Basis of Ability

A preliminary meeting of the Gem staff was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Kenneth O'Leary, business manager, of the yearbook announced the following appointments to the business staff: Advertising manager, Donald Equals; assistant advertising manager, Burton Young; organization manager, Randall Wallis. Howard Worley and James Reynolds will work with Wallis on the organization staff. Olive Johnson has been appointed circulation manager.

Appointments to the editorial staff will be made next week, according to Wayne Blair, editor. Snapshots will be a big feature of this year's Gem said Blair, and all students who have kodaks will be given the opportunity to submit snapshots of major campus events. These photos should be turned in to Wayne Blair as soon as possible, and the best will be selected.

Competition Keen.

That competition is unusually keen for Gem positions this year was manifested by the large turnout at the staff meeting. The staff will be gradually cut down from the present number to about 25, according to the editor. Selections will be made on a competitive basis, the better positions going to those who can demonstrate ability and conscientious effort.

Picture appointments may be made for the Gem at any time by calling either Sterner's or Miklos' studios. The first scheduled group does not begin, however, until October 13. Senior men's pictures will be made in tuxedos, and the senior women's in formal dress. Junior, sophomore, and freshman pictures will be in informal attire for both men and women. Sorority pictures will be taken in formal garb, while the fraternity groups will have their pictures taken in informal dress as has been the custom in the past.

Schedule for Pictures.

The schedule appears below, and must be strictly followed if pictures are to be in on time for publication.

NEALE RETURNS TO CAMPUS TO ASSUME PRESIDENT'S DUTIES

New Executive Arrives Last Night; Stopped in Pocatello

MEETS REGENTS

Expresses Pleasure in Getting Back to University

Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the university, returned last night at 10 o'clock to assume his new duties, after a two week trip to the middle west. Mrs. Neale and the three children will not arrive until Wednesday from Columbia, Missouri.

Dr. Neale spent six days in Columbia. "It is a lot of work to pack after living seven years in one place. One collects too much junk," he declared laughingly.

Dr. Neale was tired from his long trip, and stopped last night at the Hotel Moscow where he will remain until his wife and three children come, when he will move into the president's house on 1st street.

Dr. Neale stopped Wednesday in Pocatello where he addressed the student body of the southern branch. He explained the relation of the southern branch to the Moscow campus. He also reiterated in general his views on modern education. While in the southern metropolis he met Mr. A. B. Willis and Mr. C. St. Claire of the board of regents. In the evening Dr. Neale was honor guest at a banquet in the Hotel Bannock.

Dean E. J. Iddings, dean of the agriculture college, is at present the administrative officer of the university. He will aid Dr. Neale in getting acquainted with his new duties.

"I'm glad to get back, even though I have plenty of work to do," concluded the new president.

YEARLING SQUAD TO BREAK TURF TODAY

Tentative Lineup Includes Former High School Heroes

Coach "Red" Jacoby's 1930 yearlings will be seen in action for the first time when they break turf with the varsity reserves on MacLean field this afternoon. Jacoby is grooming his baby Vandals' mightily for their first scheduled game a week from Saturday with Lewiston Normal, and will make selections for the regular berths on the squad after this afternoon's encounter.

A tentative lineup for this afternoon's tilt includes former high school heroes from far and near: Willis Smith, flashy ground-gainer of Boise, and picked twice on all-state teams, will probably get a chance to show his ability at one of the halfback positions, while Cy Bearson, of Los Angeles, will start as his running mate. Bearson played for Fremont high school in Los Angeles for two years, as well as on an all-star team from that city.

Aad by the name of Russell, hailing from San Diego, will probably get the call at the center position. Earl Smith, flashy Filer quarterback, will be at the helm, with Bearson and Toyer, Rupert, in reserve. At one guard berth, Jacoby has Rasper, a husky log roller from Aberdeen, and at the tackles, Oliver Davis, Boise, and Jack Barby, Shoshone. Leverett Giffen, another Capitol city flash, will hold down one end position, while the other has not yet been chosen. The other regular positions will be disclosed by Jacoby after the scrap with the varsity this afternoon.

PRESIDENT NEALE

FRIZELLE CAST IN "SHOW-OFF" LEAD

Senior Has Good Record in Dramatics; November 14 and 15 Set

Casting of Merle Frizelle, Boise, in the role of Aubrey Piper, male lead in "The Show-Off" school play, brings to a close the lively competition for this major sport. Factors contributing to Frizelle's success in winning the title role are his aptitude as a character actor and his possession of a moustache. The role of Aubrey Piper demands that the player have a moustache. Last summer in the north Idaho woods, Frizelle devoted himself to raising such a facial adornment, and this fall he had one ready-made for the part.

Frizelle, a senior, is a member of the Delta Chi fraternity. Since his sophomore year he has been active in University dramatics. As a sophomore he scored in several one-act plays and last year he had the comedy role of "The Gossipy Sex", all-college play. "Skidding" was the second play presented by the dramatics department in 1929-1930. Here he attracted favorable comment by his semi-comic portrayal of a small-town political boss.

Final dates for the production of "The Show-Off" are Friday and Saturday, November 14 and 15.

PURPOSE OF W.A.A. TOLD AT MEETING

VANDALS AWAIT GUN FOR COLLEGE OF IDAHO GAME

Calland Silent on Probable Outcome; Men Want Revenge

JACOBY IS INJURED

Reserve End Left in Moscow; Pass Defense Given Overhauling

Coach Leo Calland and his Vandal warriors completed three hard practice sessions Wednesday night, left for the south Thursday noon and today are in Boise waiting for the onslaught of the College of Idaho gridmen at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Calland reports his squad in better shape and also in higher spirits than at this time last week. Aside from this he continues to hold his famous "secret policy" and will make no advance predictions on the outcome of Idaho's second game. Nevertheless, the Montana State defeat Saturday was a tough one for the Vandals and they will be on the field Saturday to avenge it. Both teams have lost one game to date so the odds are even with everything to win and nothing to lose. Little is known of the Coyote strength except what could be gleaned from their battle with Washington State last Saturday. In that game they came to life in the last quarter and passed their way to two touchdowns much to the surprise of Hollingberry and his Cougar pack. Stopping just such passing combinations has been Idaho's biggest weakness; but the fault is, no more Calland and Anderson taught the Vandals more about aerial defense this past week than they ever knew existed. The halfbacks have been worked on continuously with Hanford, Tyrrell, Berg and Licht still holding down first string berths.

A heavy scrimmage with the frosh Tuesday night brought out numerous weaknesses which were promptly ironed out. The varsity had no trouble gaining through the first year men on power play, but found their overhead game going on the rocks. The young Vandals proved themselves adept at knocking down all passes. The only consistent ball snagger on the regulars is "Pete" Taylor at end. He and Pedersen should develop into a first class aerial combination before the season is over.

Hold Reserves.

Yank, Stein and Owens working behind a third string line were given the task of forwarding passing their way down the field in the face of Calland's revamped first stringers. The reserves made little headway against the regulars and with renewed spirit showing stronger during each scrimmage the Vandals will be ready for Coach Cornell and his Caldwell boys when the opening whistle blows tomorrow afternoon.

The team will be given a light workout this afternoon in which the punters will hold the limelight. Calland has no intention of being

BUCKET EDITOR CALLS MEETING

Many Changes in Make-up Listed; First Issue Out November 1.

Promising something altogether new in college comic magazines, Ralph Hagan, Brooklyn, N. Y., editor of the Idaho Blue Bucket magazine, gives the tentative date of the first issue as November 1.

Formerly a literary and humor magazine under the supervision of the English department, the Blue Bucket now deals solely in humor. It is published quarterly. According to James Mitchell, Parma, business manager, the price for each copy will be reduced considerably.

A smaller size, together with a greater number of pages, will be one of the chief changes. In addition, newer and more varied material will be featured.

Old members of the staff and applicants for staff positions are asked to report to Administration, 201 Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to discuss plans for the coming issue.

Collegiate 'Whoopee Crates' Still in Favor on Campus

"It ain't no sin to take off your skin, and dance around in your bones." This may be just a popular song, but we have a suspicion that its authors owned a collegiate car or "whoopee crate".

At any rate, they couldn't have described one of those animated junk heaps more accurately. Minors several cylinders, brakes, a top, a few fenders, a spare tire, part of a windshield, a headlight or two, a good deal of paint, and various other engine and body parts, collegiate cars are literally stripped of their skins and left with very little but their bones. And as for dancing, no "Charleston" or "Black Bottom" expert ever jiggled, wiggled, jarred, hopped, or whirled around with more energy than a college wreck—once it gets started.

If the number of "crates" that can be seen parked in front of any student residence or rambling through the arboretum at any hour of the day or night is any proof, this type of dismantling is not a sin at Idaho. But if we may believe a recent magazine article, it is rapidly becoming a sin at colleges of such size and importance, as the University of California. According to the writer of this article, "artisans of campus custom have turned thumbs down on the animated junk heap insofar as fashion is concerned."

The palsied mementoes of the motor styles of '19 and '20 are now about as far "out" as ball-bottom trousers." But until what goes up and school books come down in price we can expect the college whoopee crate at Idaho to continue rattling around in its bones.

A Rare Thing

INDIVIDUALITY just cannot be copied" is the bill-board theme for a prominent cigarette advertisement. A most attractive girl animates the advertisement—altogether a clever piece of salesmanship. Just what is this thing "individuality." A rare thing to be sure,—that sets apart one person from another. The one person, true it is a singular thing, is not set aside because he owns a new sport model Ford, nor because he wears the latest in collegiate-cut clothes. No, it is not that sort of thing that distinguishes individualities. It is a quality of the mind—and therefore rare.

In college life, in fraternity and sorority life personalities are cramped and repressed. An individual may be a genius in some line or other of work. No outlet is given this quality. He is kneaded, put into the same pan as the rest, and comes out of the oven shaped like the loaf before him. Thinking is of the mass type. The individual follows the leader because he can do no other easily and secondly, because it is the more facile means of arriving at a given point with a minimum of effort.

When the individual enters the university he selects the groove in which he or his parents feel he will operate best with least friction. From that time on he is the product of a great machine. All his individuality, if any is lost. He joins this or that social group. The same cycle goes on. He falls into one shade of thought. If any action is taken upon a given subject he follows the rule of the mass. In every house there are one or two politically ambitious individuals who will trade their house "per capita" power to the whole mass as stock in exchange for some political advantage. The election is opened and the Robots signify "their" choice and this perhaps is not done in accordance with parliamentary procedure. In this age we hurry here and there, our activities occupying our time to the extent that we cannot spare time to write out ballots and count them before accepted parties.

It is a relief to observers of the situation now existing on the campus that some of the best individuals possible to select are in the highest offices; and they are rendering their school and friends a real service by their conscientious work. But there are those times when a perhaps well meant but ill-advised step is made that the thinking student asks why isn't something done about this sort of thing.

Looking Ahead

THE university program is underway in earnest. There will be few sound changes in programs from now on. Grades for this semester are being decided.

Two paths are open to students in these early days of the grading process. They can either choose to become profound, or collegiate. And on this decision rests the future 2 point or 6 point averages.

Of course there may be certain exceptions, but we are speaking in general terms. A professor's opinion of his class is formed by grades on the first few quizzes. That opinion is hard to change. And even if the grades do not exactly tally with these decisions made now, the amount of actual learning will.

For the past decade educators have been emphasizing this fact—that learning is far more important than grades. No longer is this a theory; it has been proven. If this is to be a successful year on the intellectual side, it must be made so now.

Student Opinion

Editor Argonaut:

In reply to J.T.G. in last issue of The Argonaut, I would like to know if his opinions are sincere or just one of those things people find to crab about after someone as lost a football game?

Taken from a psychological standpoint perhaps J.T.G. was out for yell duke and being refused knowledge of what ought to be done would have been out there is finding consolation with journalistic outbursts. I am sure J.T.G. must have been out for yell duke because anyone so public spirited and so gifted with the trying to give everything (E-DA-HO except from behind the bogus shadow of a J.T.G.

Perhaps we might inform J.T.G. that they don't yell the same way at "colleagues" as they did back in dear old Hay Station high school. Last year I observed that ninety-five thousand people at Ohio State-Michigan game made little more noise than our bleachers did. A couple yells were given before the game, at the half and quarters, and that's all. The stadium was not continuous bedlam. People, you know, do come primarily to see football. Unbiased sincere opinion is oftentimes appreciated but the one who tries to manipulate with ambitious "wise cracks" directed for personal injury is indeed a clever chap.

Last year our yell king had a pretty good record, besides giving his "honest" yell leading effort, which wasn't so dusty. He personally promoted special trips at reduced prices, and had big crowds at the station to cheer the teams to foreign games. This year he is just as efficient and will give just as much for our school's spirit. I'm sure, if we pitch in and help him to give the "siren seven" even if they only used it on the kick off at Hay Station.

Honest effort is always appreciated at Idaho. Idaho spirit does surely not sponsor the common fault finding so many ambitious people are too willing to give.

O-Hell-O—Now that the girls are all pledged and settled at their new jobs we can get up on our sleep. One thing we are sure about is that these girls must have good clean minds since they changed them every hour last week. There is just one more thing that we must live through before the complete rest cure; namely, the passing of the dates the Sweethearts have made with the brothers for their pledges. Seems like there should be a bounty on these femmes that insist on bragging about all the slick pledges their tong grabbed.

Both Pocket and Desk Pen Now in One
Only Parker Duofold Offers This Combination
SAVES PRICE OF A SECOND PEN
PEN GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

As a Pocket Pen

Getting the Parker Duofold is now like getting two Pens at the price of one. Attaching a tapered end converts it into a Desk Set Pen. Removing the taper restores it to a pocket Pen.

Either way, you save the price of a second pen. You have only one Pen to fill instead of two. And whether you write at your desk or on the go, you always have your favorite point.

You have a non-breakable Permalite barrel that holds 17.4% more ink than average, size for size—that is jewel-like in lustre, color, and beauty. And most of all—the famous Duofold* bonus point that writes with Geo. S. Parker's 47th improvement—Pressureless Touch.

Even at higher prices, other makers have been unable to match this classic. Now that it takes the place of a special pen for the pocket and another for the desk, its sales are soaring beyond all previous heights.

Go and ask the nearest dealer to show how the Duofold is changed back and forth from a Pocket to a Desk-Set Pen. If you own a Parker, take it with you. If not, go anyway and see this revolutionary invention.

DYNAMITE clears the way for modern engineering wonders!

The Chrysler Building

world's highest structure .. how DYNAMITE helped to build this mighty skyscraper

The Chrysler Building . . . towering above New York's amazing skyline . . . looms 1046 feet into the blue. It is the tallest structure ever built by man.

Genius of engineering did it. But the power of dynamite was there . . . working efficiently, quickly, to blast out solid rock so that the giant foundations might be placed.

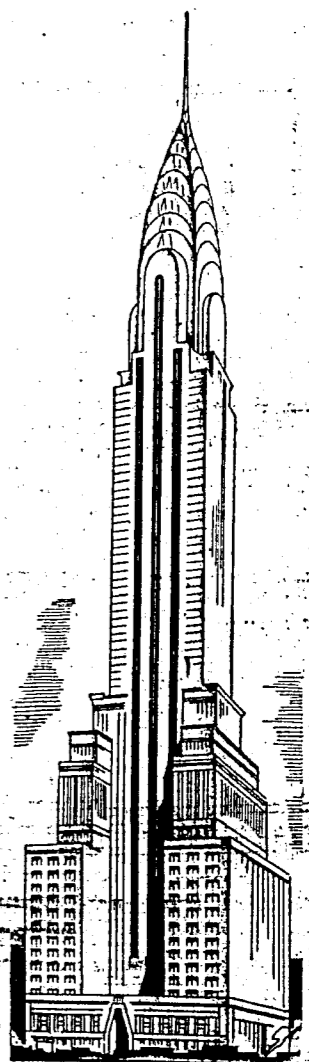

Dynamite is the ally of the modern engineer. It is the tool without which carefully designed plans for many heroic undertakings would never be more than paper plans.

Skyscrapers. Tunnels through mountains, under rivers and cities. Bridges and highways. Dams and reservoirs. These . . . and numerous other . . . engineering marvels are built with the aid of dynamite. Dynamite digs into the earth and blasts out raw materials used in the making of countless articles we use every day.

Dynamite is more than important to industry . . . it is necessary!

If you would like to learn more about explosives and how to use them . . . if you want to learn today for tomorrow's jobs . . . simply write direct to the du Pont Company for full information.

You will receive a copy of the Blast-ers' Handbook, which contains a great deal of the vast knowledge of explosives gained by the du Pont Company in 128 years of making and testing explosives. This book is used in the classrooms and dormitories of leading technical institutions. Your copy is free. Write for it.

PLEDGES are the recipients of honor on this, and several ensuing weeks. Gamma Phi Beta sorority is holding its pledge dance this evening. A fraternity to take its pledges tonight is Phi Gamma Delta. Both will have their dances at the respective chapter houses.

Tomorrow evening the only dance on the calendar is the Beta Theta Pi pledge dance at the Beta house.

An outstanding social event this week was the luncheon and bridge party held yesterday by the housemothers of the various group houses on the campus. They have many jolly times planned in a series of monthly parties they will give.

Fraternity houses have begun having groups of sister and daughter guests for dinner, as is customary at the beginning of each college year. Sigma Nu entertained sister guests last evening.

ECONOMIC STUDY SHOWS ACTIVITY OF FARM PRICES

Dr. Graue Completes Survey of Urban and Rural Industry

CITIES ARE DOOMED Agriculture Will Come To Prosperity in 1934, Says Authority

Agriculture's next period of prosperity is likely to be at the expense of industrial urban enterprise, believes Dr. Erwin Graue, associate professor of economics in the University of Idaho school of business, an opinion which contradicts some generally accepted views on economics.

Dr. Graue recently completed a study of the relationship of business activity to agriculture which was published in the August issue of "The Journal of Political Economy" one of the leading national publications in its field. He points out that heretofore economists have generally held that relatively low agricultural prices are associated with low business activity and periods of low agricultural prices are followed by industrial prosperity.

Conclusions New Conclusions entirely contradictory are indicated in Dr. Graue's study. His results seem to infer that farm prices and business activity are not conversely related; that a rise or fall in one is not followed by a similar movement in the other. Inverse relationships are shown in his study which covers the period from 1880 to 1930. Generally speaking, he says, agricultural prices have moved in a manner directly opposite to business activity, not in the same direction.

Present relationships on the basis of purchasing power point toward an advantageous situation for agriculture, probably not until 1933 or 1934, Dr. Graue believes. At this time contraction in agricultural enterprise will make itself so effective in reduced production of food products as to compel people to spend more money for food, thereby limiting their ability to purchase manufactured products.

Survey Complex Dr. Graue shows that the interrelation of supply and price is much more complex in agriculture than in the manufacturing industries. "In urban enterprises increasing output takes place in response to generous prospects of price gains," he says. "In agriculture, however, increasing output is much less incidental to promising price positions than it is to the varying influence of weather conditions upon supply. The expansion or contraction of area in the production of most crops is secondary only to the much greater influence of climatic factors upon yield, supply and price."

The United States said that 300,000 for the terrible "Roma" which was burned with the loss of 34 men.

NATIONAL FAME ACCORDED FIRST BOTANY MASTER

Dr. O. L. Inman Heads Group of Botany Research Scientists

STUDIED UNDER GAIL Received Doctor's Degree After Study At Harvard

National recognition as a botanist has been accorded to Dr. O. L. Inman of Antioch college, Ohio, the first person who earned a master's degree in science in botany at the University of Idaho.

Dr. Inman heads a group of scientists who will spend the next 10 years trying to solve one of the riddles of the world of plant life—photosynthetic activity, the unknown process by which plants manufacture food from water, carbon dioxide and the energy of sunlight. The research is sponsored by Dr. F. Kettinger of Dayton, Ohio, president of the General Motors Research corporation, who set up a fund of $200,000 for that purpose. Dr. Inman entered the University of Idaho as a graduate student in 1914, back in the days when the botany department had only one room and scarcely any equipment, with Dr. F. W. Gail as its only instructor. That was many years before the Science hall was built. The botany department then was assigned to room 311 Administration building.

Made Own Equipment. When equipment was lacking, Inman used his ingenuity and rigged up his own apparatus, Dr. Gail said. In 1916 he received his master's degree in botany, and for the following year was assistant to Dr. Gail. From Idaho he went to Harvard university where he received his doctorate degree. He is now head of the botany department at Antioch college. In his letters to older members of the faculty he often mentions the excellent training he received at Idaho. He is especially complimentary to the teaching ability of Dr. Gail in botany, Dr. C. L. von Ende in chemistry and Dean J. G. Eldridge in German.

W. S. C. STAGES RALLY

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE.—To assure Washington State's varsity team that the entire school was behind them on their pilgrimage to Berkeley, where they will tangle with the Golden Bears in their first conference tilt, a gigantic pep rally was held at the Union Pacific depot Wednesday night.

PLANS OUTLINED BY PI LAMBDA THETA

PI Lambda Theta, honor fraternity in education for women, held its first meeting of this year in A. D. 204 Wednesday evening. Activities for the year were discussed and it was decided to have prominent members of the faculty and well-known educators from other camps address the organization at various times. Geneva Handy, president of the Idaho chapter, said that a meeting will probably be held within two weeks at which there will be a talk on educational problems.

SPURS SCHEDULE INITIATION DATE

Spurs, sophomore women's national service organization, met Tuesday. It was decided to hold initiation October 2, at the Phi house.

The women to serve as Spurs this year are: Norma Longtelg, Betty Merriam, Juanita Maston, Lulu Shank, Belle Porterfield, Louise Morley, Mildred Patterson, Dorothy Lindsey, Helen Lucas, Lucille Pettibone, Althea Pond, Mary Kersey, Bernice Brill, Grace Simmonds, Virginia Gascoigne, Virginia Kneel, Eunice Phillips, Jessie Macdonald, Lilly Louis, Marion Frye, Eunice Hudson, and Luella DeGero.

KNIGHTS DECLARE LIGHTS FAILURE

The gridgraph, operated in former years during football games by the Intercollegiate Knights, will not be used this year, according to Stanton Hale, grand duke.

Lack of funds, and the number of radios available on the campus, were the reasons advanced.

Six junior men were elected at the last night meeting Tuesday to come back into the organization as heads of permanent committees. The men are: Ambrose Adams, Boise; Jay Kendrick, La Grande, Oregon; George Gray, Caldwell; Donald Equals, Payette; Jack Morgan, Lewiston; and Wallace Pierce, Cottonwood.

Carlson, representative of the Pacific branch of the American Red Cross. He will also give Senior life saving examiners their re-check. If enough Senior life savers are interested Mr. Carlson will organize a life saving corps on the campus.

FORESTERS SCHEDULE DANCE

The annual Foresters' Ball will be held November 15 in the Women's Gymnasium. Joe Pechanec, chairman of the dance committee, states that the programs will be something entirely different from any that have been used in the past, and that the favors are also very novel.

FENCERS START ACTIVE SEASON

Swordsmen Will Elect Officers at Today's Meeting; Receive Special Training Room

The Foll and Mask, fencing club, and regular class instruction will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 108 Memorial gym-nashin, according to Paul Aust, president.

A meeting will also be held this afternoon in the same room for all members and prospective members. The purpose of the meeting will be to elect officers for the coming year and general instructions in the care of the club's special room and equipment will be detailed. The meeting will be culminated by a short talk by Dr. E. E. Hubert, instructor and advisor.
