Revive The Forum

LAST spring toward the close of the school year a group of students on the campus organized what was known as the Men's Forum. The organization placed before all men's houses a list of outstanding faculty leaders who were willing to direct student discussion in the various groups. These leaders accepted dinner invitations at the discretion of the groups; after dinner the topic for discussion was presented.

At the time the only opposition to the plan was spring weather and the snails. Everyone realized the worth of such efforts. Today, however, these objectionable features are removed. But where is the Forum?

In an early issue of the Argonaut of this year some student commented on the absence of the Forum. No further comment, however, has been made. It will be regrettable if such a worth while movement be abandoned. It is needed to fill out the educational program here.

American universities as a group have been criticized for lack of a true appreciation of education as an art. American schools distribute facts but do not tickle the intellect. And the Men's Forum fills in his vacant place. It will succeed if given a chance.

Of course we would hesitate to become continental in thought or manner; and the Forum offers a distinct copy of the European "faculty-student" relationship. Men's Forum eliminates women students, however it could be extended to meet with feminine needs.

Campus approval would re-establish the Forum. Do we want it?

A Possible Remedy

WITHIN the last few issues various opinions have been submitted through the student opinion column to the effect that perhaps the present yell leaders are not performing their duties satisfactorily. There have been as well several individuals from time to time who have suggested, improved, and requested that some service organization take it upon itself to resurrect some of the songs which are written each year for the song fest. As far as is known no such action has been initiated.

Perhaps if both these suggestions were placed in a hat and shaken sufficiently they might eventually become homogeneous. Maybe someone will suggest that the present yell king detail himself as a committee of one to deter certain individuals in the music department to select a few of the more catchy songs that have been written. Since only a couple more home football games are scheduled there will be ample time to have a few hundred copies of some of the best songs mimeographed. At the next game or in a special assembly copies might be distributed and rehearsed.

With a single individual taking charge of such a program a very commendable bit of service might be rendered to the university; at least, all basis for the prevailing destructive criticism might be removed.

Student Opinion

Dear Editor:
People talk far too much, so some authorities claim. Some have to talk to let their troubles and worries become known. Perhaps if you will allow me a few words I will feel better.

"Idaho Fights," an old Idaho tradition and, let me add, an odd legend, seems to be forgotten or remembered as something very vague from the past. It appears as though we students of the University of Idaho can attend a football game and nonchalantly smoke our pipes as though we were watching a gang of bridge builders at work. I have a great deal of sympathy for the yell leader and his two assistants who did their best to few murmurs from the student body.

No, we don't need a new coach, a new system of football or a large fund to subsidize athletics. We need to subsidize a few men who can fight with their team, who can cheer the team when the going is "tough" as well as when it is easy. The old "Idaho fights" seems to be a myth. Are we going to sit idly by and let one of our dearest and most famed traditions die? If you are true sons and daughters of the pioneers of this state, you will not. Let's fight with the team and quit coaching or trying to play quarterback from the grandstand.

F. WILLIAMS.

Dear Editor:
In the Friday Argonaut, a student inquired about the manner in which the $4.00 health fees are distributed. The writer assumed, first, that there are 2000 students paying this fee, and second, that "a couple of nurses hang their hats" in the "tiny yellow frame shack called the infirmary."

On the contrary, many downtown students are exempt from the fee, and further, the enrollment does not average 2000 per semester. This will lower the estimate of $16,000 per year considerably.

There are at least four nurses employed and registered nurses' services cost money. Let us assume that the average wage of a nurse is $125 per month (part may be received as board and room). Multiply $125 times four times the number of months in a school year and the answer is $5400. Does that dispose of quite a bit of the something less than $16,000? Furthermore, anyone who thinks the nurses don't earn their wages should drop in some time during January and look at the number of patients in the beds.

If you care to inquire farther, there are plenty of other operating expenses which can easily account for the rest of the fee money.

About service at the infirmary, this student has always been well treated and has considered his health fee to be good insurance.

Gertie Guillotine

Boopa-Doop Campsters—In an answer to many requests and for the sake of variety we have organized a football team whose first game is scheduled for February 22. It will serve as a Homecoming contest for those who flunk out at mid-semester. The personnel of the team is as follows:

LINE COACHES
Pritchard
Church
Vasquez

And who should know better?
QUARTERBACK
BILL AMES—In honor of the dear lad to who loves to strut his pungent abilities as a conversationalist gotten by his conversations during dinners at the Blue Bucket last year. At least the girls were pleased. Winsome and flashy, too!

FULLBACK
BUNNY WALKER—And friends here is a choice. We think this selection quite appropriate in the "full" sense of the word. Don't fall down on the job now, and lose your good reputation for such things, Bunny.

TEAM DOCTOR
BUTCH BOYER—Sorry! Had to do this. This was given to Butch because of his ability to mother the downhearted or discontented students or as the French so aptly put it—"petit femme?"

END

CARL KYSELKA—We choose this lad because we know that he rarely misses or leaves one of his passes uncompleted. Also we feel that he has had the experience that is needed by one who must tackle. (But no roughing in the clinches, Carl.)

WATERBOY
BOB BEGLAN—It is known from observation that Bob will always arrive with a water bucket full.

HALFBACK
BUS GRIMM—Already Bus has begun his diet and he may be seen at the early morning hours running home from his workout.

HALFBACK
PAUL BOYD—Because he is good in any league—if you don't believe it ask the Kappas. He is the pride of the team, having more excess steam than the whole Sigma Nu house. (We hope it isn't all vapor, and there's where the rub comes in.)

CENTER
CHARLES GRAYBILL—Just to give him a chance to get his name in the Argonaut.

WE HEAR THAT THE CHICKENS ARE ROASTING IN THE ALPHA CHI ANNEX THIS YEAR. DON'T RUSH, MEN, WE MEAN FOWLS.

A guy I hate
Is Isobad Tate
He took my steady
On a sneak date.

FAMOUS FRATERNITY SONGS.
Fiji Song (Tune sung to their Wanderer.)

My little Fiji candidate
Where have you been of late
At meetings your name does not make a show
Election to you no doubt was a blow
Though there you talked and made a big fuss
Little did it avail you even to cuss
Though the president you wished to be
Now it's all so plain to see
My little Fiji candidate
At election doesn't rate.

In the first half of the Coyote game Saturday the Vandals looked even worse than they did in the Montana State game, but the second half demonstrated that Idaho has offensive power a plenty. The southern Idaho team is no setup either. Pedersen and Wilkie still look like the best combination Calland can place in the field. Both of these boys hit their stride for the first time in that touchdown barrage at Boise.

The strength of Washington is still undetermined. Montana was taken into camp 27 to 0 by the Huskies who used second stringers most of the time. Montana is rated as good a club as the one which tied Washington last year so the Purple and Gold has evidently improved over last season.

tory over California boosts the Pullman stock considerably for the U. S. C. battle next Saturday. In spite of this, Coach Howard Jones administered a severe drug test to the powerful Oregon State eleven which means that Troy is coming forth with another world beater. The Trojans should defeat the Cougars by a close score.

Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven had a tough struggle to defeat the visiting team from Southern Methodist University. The Ramblers were forced to take to the air in the last period to put the game on ice. Supporters of the South Bend school said that if Notre Dame won the Saturday contest they would be set for a good season. If the dopesters are predicting right Knute Rockne is heading for another national championship. At least they have hurdled one of their most formidable barriers.

Again the superiority of western football over the eleven of the eastern schools has been demonstrated. Oregon headed by their backfield war, Klitzmiller from Drake University in a fast game at Soldiers' field, Chicago, Saturday night. Oregon outplayed their eastern opponents throughout the battle and left the field with the cheers of thousands ringing in their ears.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS FROLIC
The Idaho student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held their annual fall picnic last Thursday, October 2, at Genesee ridge. A picnic lunch was served and entertainment consisted of touch football and soccer games. There were 35 electrical engineers present at their first get-together of the year.

SOCIETY

LILLIE GALLAGHER, Editor.

A GLANCE at the social calendar would prove to one that the favorite "indoor sport" of Idaho students is the one which is usually called "mopping the light-fan-tastic." Dances are now scheduled until late in November, which includes all of the pledge dances and a few of the traditionally pre-arranged affairs, the first of which will be the annual Ag Bawl on Saturday evening.

Dances last week-end were the Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Gamma Delta pledge dances, held Friday evening at the respective chapter houses. Both attributed high honor to the lowly "frosh" of their groups. On Saturday evening, paddles and verdant boughs used as decoration at the Beta Theta Pi dance bespoke the celebrants of the affair.

This week-end society will feature something of an unusual nature on the campus. The Sigma Chi province convention will begin on Friday and continue for three days. Six chapters of the national fraternity will send delegates, and several national officers will also be here. On Friday evening a combination convention and pledge dance will be given by the fraternity, at the Blue Bucket inn, for which occasion elaborate preparations are being made. On Saturday evening the fraternity has planned a stag banquet at the Moscow hotel.

Other outstanding affairs this week-end will be the Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge dance Friday evening. On Saturday evening the Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon dances, besides the Ag Bawl, are scheduled.

HOSPITALITY OF MOSCOW PLEASURES NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. M. G. Neale Home After Four Trips to The East

HAS TWO HOBBIES

Children and Hunting Occupy Time of New University Head

I am delighted with the hospitality of Moscow. Everyone has done everything possible to help me get settled, declared Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the university, last night.

Dr. Neale returned Friday evening from Columbia, Missouri. Mrs. Neale and the three children, Julia Anne, 7; Jane Ellen, 4; and Mervin Gordon, 20 months, will arrive tomorrow night. Dr. Neale is driving to Spokane tonight to meet them.

On August 16th I was invited by telegram to meet the board of regents. Since then I have made five trips between Columbia and Moscow. It takes about three days to make a trip, that means that during the past seven weeks I have spent over two weeks riding the trains. I hardly know where I am no, I won't say that. The hospitality of this town makes me realize that it is Moscow.

Takes Over Duties. On the last trip to Columbia, Mo., Dr. Neale acquainted his successor to his position, dean of education at the University of Missouri, with the duties of the office. Dr. and Mrs. Neale spent most of their time on this last trip packing their household goods.

Dr. Neale at present is being introduced to the routine work of the president's office by Dean E. J. Iddings. Dean Iddings is leaving on a vacation October 10. Dr. Neale will actually take the president's office over on that date. Since the university has opened Dean Iddings has been the administrative officer while the new president was getting located.

Dr. Neale has two hobbies. One is his three children and the other is hunting. He proudly showed snap photos of the children taken on his last trip to Columbia. The two girls have straight bobbed hair, while "M. G. Junior" has the curly locks of his father.

Likes Hunting. "It may seem strange when I say that I am a devotee of hunting, and yet I have only been on one wild turkey hunt during the past year. Westerners may smile at a turkey hunt but a three-year-old turkey is a wary bird." At this point Dr. Neale proudly exhibited the mounted head of a wild turkey that he had bagged in Missouri.

The new president is not settled yet in the president's house at 514 East First street. Supervising the cleaning of the house, unpacking the furniture, and making new contacts have kept him busy since he arrived in Moscow Friday evening.

OLSEN PLAYERS AT W.S.C. OCT. 10

"The Ship," well-known play by St. John Irvine, will be offered to legitimate drama patrons of the Pacific Northwest at Pullman, Friday, October 10.

The Moroni Olsen players, favorites for many years before Idaho university audiences, are presenting this dramatic feature on a farewell tour of this area, and the Pullman performance marks their final appearance.

For a number of years the Moroni Olsen company has been playing in Moscow regularly, where they were well received by students and townspeople.

SWIMMING CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

Hale Elected President of Idaho Chapter, National Red Cross Lifesaving Club

Under the direction of H. C. Carlson, American National Red Cross examiner, 18 swimmers, who have passed their senior swimming examination, met at the brink of the pool in the new Memorial gym Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and formed an Idaho chapter of the National Red Cross Lifesaving Club. Stanton Hale was elected the first president by a unanimous vote. Mildred Axtell, captain; Bill Hall, inspector; Ruth Marshall, secretary; Dynes Lawson, publicity director; and Janette L. Wirt, faculty advisor.

The purpose of the organization is not only to form a social gathering of swimmers, but to further advanced swimming and lifesaving among the college of the nation. During the coming year the Idaho organization expects to enter in aquatic meets with W.S.C. Spokane and other places where there are similar water units. In the spring a pageant is expected to be given by the club.

Any person of either sex who has passed the senior lifesaving examination, or anyone who is interested is invited to attend the second meeting of the club which will be a practice meet next Thursday evening at the pool at 8 o'clock. At this time members will attempt to improve their swimming so as to pass better examinations. Everyone should bring a bathing suit.

Coach Leo B. Calland announced to President Hale that he would back the new club. It is expected that the executive board will sanction the new organization at the next meeting.

BIG SEND-OFF TO BE GIVEN VANDALS

Idaho Grid Warriors Off to Seattle For First Conference Game of Season

Lots of pep will be expected from every man and woman on the Idaho campus when they assemble at the railroad station next Thursday afternoon to bid farewell to the Vandal eleven which is going over to Seattle to meet a Washington team which is coached by one of the best rated men who has ever come to the west, Jimmy Phelan. Ralph Ormsby, yell king, with his two dukes will be in charge of the rally.

Before the next home game which is with Whitman, Oct. 18, another rally will be held, said Ormsby. Plans are going forward towards the organization of a yell club and it will be functioning by the time of the Whitman game.

PLAN SPECIAL TO OREGON GAME

Livestock Show in Portland Same Week end Will Lower Train Fares Materially

Tentative plans are being made by Blue Key, national service fraternity, for a student special to the Oregon-Idaho game at Eugene October 25, according to Bus Grimm, committee chairman.

Negotiations are underway with railroad officials for equipment and rates to Eugene, Oregon. Another attraction on that week-end will be the Inter-national Livestock show at Portland.

Blue Key fraternity is arranging committees to take care of football crowds for this year at home games. Traffic, programs, decorations, publicity, alumni dinner, home-coming are the committees being formed. A committee to meet with the chamber of commerce for making arrangements for the football crowds is also contemplated.

STAGE FORCE PLAN MEETS APPROVAL

Many Signify Desire To Work For New Organization

Organization of a permanent stage force to assist in the production of all plays presented by the University of Idaho dramatics department has met with enthusiastic approval by dramatic and art students.

Thirty-five or forty young men and women have already signified their desire to take part in the work of designing and constructing sets and stage equipment for the production of college plays. Interest has been so wide-spread that it will be a question of selecting students best fitted to do the work, according to Professor Blanchard of the dramatics department. Those concerned with this activity will meet for the first time the latter part of next week and work will be begun immediately under the direction of Professor Blanchard and Professor Prichard.

Professor Blanchard is making a trip to Spokane early next week to purchase stage equipment and supplies. With this material the permanent stage force will begin constructing sets for the production of "The Show-Off," the first all-college play of the year.

THURS. AND FRI. "THE BIG HOUSE"

HUMOR EDITOR MAKES CHANGES

When the new Blue Bucket, campus humor publication, comes off the press the first of November it will be in a new size on a different grade of paper and will sell for ten cents, says Ralph Hagen, editor.

The price last year was twenty-five cents. It is expected that the reduction in price will more than offset publication expenses.

The new size will approximate the form of a popular national weekly. The paper will be of high quality but will lack the high glaze which made the Blue Bucket last year so hard to read.

"The Bucket" will have a conservative policy but will lack none of the old spice and snap," concluded Hagen. About ten students turned out yesterday afternoon in Administration 201. Staff positions will be announced soon.

U. PARKING RULES MADE PERMANENT

Regulations to Provide Safety, Convenience Apply To All

University parking regulations announced by Dean E. J. Iddings are effective permanently, not just during football games. He said the regulations applied to faculty members and students alike.

Promiscuous parking on the university campus creates hazards which can be eliminated, he said, by observing the regulations. Double parking on narrow streets is especially hazardous, both to drivers and pedestrians.

Designate Spaces. Available parking spaces have been designated as follows: south and west of Administration building; rear of Science hall; back of Morrill hall; north side of University avenue in front of Science hall; parking parallel to curb; south side of street only from pumping station to highway beyond Memorial gymnasium, parallel to curb.

Parking on one side of the street only is specified for Idaho avenue in front of Morrill hall, on the short street between the Geology building and the Mines building on Line street. Line street is the one running north from the U-Hut and the old heating plant.

In a deep-sea zoology course recently introduced at the University of Miami, Fla., students don bathing suits and diving helmets and descend to the bottom of the Atlantic for a study of ocean life.

MANY DISTANCE MEN GET TOGS

18 Men Out For Cross-Country; Four Veterans Report

Eighteen men answered the call for varsity cross-country Monday night. Among this group are six sophomores, six freshmen, and six juniors and seniors.

Men returning from last year's squad are Captain Heath, Roberts, Coffey, and Hunt. These four will form a nucleus for the 1930 cross-country team. Captain Heath and Roberts ran the mile and two mile for the varsity track team last year. John Thomas, consistent winner in the distances on the Frosh squad last year, and Lennis Hall, intra-mural winner, have reported and are expected to be very valuable. As a whole, the prospects seem good.

The squads' first meet will be a dual event with W.S.C. at a date to be set later. Charles Heath, manager of cross country and varsity track man, reports a good turnout of candidates for the Palouse hill pulling event.

Varsity men who were issued togs yesterday were Charles Hall, Lewiston, Utah; Joe Coffey, Glendale, Cal.; Don Hunt, Moscow; Leo Dimiceli, Los Angeles, Calif.; Maurice Wilson, Kuna; Ray Brians, Nampa; and Hod Richards, Bend, Oregon.

Virgil Siple, Lewis Lucas, Harry Wishart, and Charles Brown are the freshmen reporting for practice.

"We have equipment and room for several more men to turn out for cross country," said Charles Heath, manager.

WOMEN'S 'I' CLUB MEETING SCHEDULED

MEN INTRODUCE VOLLEYBALL TILTS

Last Friday afternoon volleyball opened the 1930-31 intra-mural athletic season. Three games were played, the Sigma Nu's won from the Lambda Chi men by a score of 2 to 1. Lambda Chi defeated T. M. A., 2 to 0, and Beta Chi beat T. K. E., 2 to 0.

The games which were scheduled for Monday afternoon were postponed because of the rain, and were supposed to have been played Tuesday but were again postponed. The games will be played as soon as the weather permits, announced Charles Heath, intra-mural manager.
