COUGARS DEFEAT FIGHTING VANDALS BY 33 TO 7 SCORE

Idaho Pass Game Fails to Function Until Second Half

ANDAL LINE HOLDS

W.S.C. Loses Ball on Downs Three Times Inside 10 Yard Line

Playing "heads up" football and hitting from whistle to gun, Idaho Vandals went down to defeat 33 to 7 at the hands of Washington State's mighty Cougar eleven over 8000 Idaho homecoming fans Sunday.

The Red Shirts' heralded passing game failed to function the first half, but went underway later to net a counter and nearly produce another. Coach Hollingbery, finding his reserves were unable to cope with the Vandal attack, immediately shot the Crimson and Gray regu back into the fray.

The big crowd was late in arriving and hundreds of people were lined outside the gates as Captain Berg won the toss from Schwartz and elected to receive at the south end. Davis ran the oval back to the 40-yard mark and on the next play Elmer "The Great" Schwartz kicked his heave out of the air and it was the Cougars ball. The fullback packed the pigskin 24 yards on the first try and followed with a beautiful 17-yard kick for an initial score. Topkin dashed for 11 and the men of Pullman were in front, 7 to 0.

Vandal Line Holds.

Dalland's warriors were far from dismayed by this sudden turn of events and twice during the second half of the period performed a feat unheard of this season, that of holding the Cougar backs for wins inside the five-yard line. In times long passes from Ellingbery placed the ball deep in Idaho territory, but always a Vandal line would sift through the famed late forward wall and toss the backs for a loss.

The rest of the quarter and part of the second was merely a pun-duel between Berg and Ellingbery with the State boomer having the best of the argument through his ability to place his punts out of bounds near the Vandal goal. Action soon started again, as Tonkin ran back a punt to the Idaho 17-yard mark where it was first and ten for the Cougars. The Red Shirts held twice on line and threw Ellingberg for a yard loss on the third play when fumbled, but on the last try a heave to Hill behind the goal was completed and when Dalland missed the try for point the tail-score 13.

Get Bad Break.

Shortly after, Idaho received a bad break when a pass hit an ineligible man on the back and the Cougars took the ball at midfield. Several plunges carried it to the 30-yard mark where Dahlen grabbed the oval and dodged from one side of the field to the other, finally dodging the Vandal secondary defense and giving Hollingbery's men their third score. The final quarter in the first half came a moment later when a pass from Schroeder to Hill was good for 35.

HONORARY PLANS VERGILIAN EVENT

Phi Beta Kappa Members Will Honor Vergil, Ancient Roman Author.

Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, is planning a Vergilian celebration to take place late in 1930 or early in 1931, to commemorate the 2000th birthday of Vergil. Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa all over the country will join in the event. Numerous high schools will have Phi Beta Kappa speakers during the celebration. Dr. H. L. Axell will address Idaho high school student bodies.

FIRE IS CLIMAX TO ANNUAL RALLY

Homecoming Spirit Zooms as Idaho Students Parade Campus and Town

The annual homecoming pep rally, Friday evening, started at Forney hall as 400 girls began their parade through the men's houses on the campus. They then thronged to the campus steps where they were joined by the men students and the pep-band.

The band led the parade through the business section of Moscow and then to the fairgrounds, where the bonfire, built by the freshmen, was lighted as the crowd approached.

Yell King "Bus" Grimm called on several alumni for speeches. Those responding were "Abe" Goff, local district attorney, and Lyle Tapper, All-Pacific coast guard in 1923.

Randall Henry, president of the Washington State College student body, said a few words after being introduced.

Following the bonfire an all-college mixer was held in the Memorial gymnasium for students while the alumni attended an alumni dance at the Blue Bucket.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Rich Fox, basketball coach, announced that varsity basketball practice would begin Wednesday instead of Tuesday, due to the slippery condition of the gymnasium floor. Candidates are to report at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

BETA, D.G. HOUSES WIN IN CONTEST

Judges Have Hard Time to Select Decoration Winners

Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Delta Gamma sorority won the first prizes for men's and girls' group house decorations carrying out the home-coming theme, the committee of judges decided Saturday afternoon as one of the features of the Idaho-Washington State college game here.

The jury's report declared it difficult to award the two silver cups offered. Grading was on the general theme, originality, sportsmanship, lighting and execution.

Two houses in the fraternity group led the judges until the factor of originality decided in favor of the winning group, the report showed. Lambda Chi Alpha was given second and Lindley Hall third.

Delta Gamma placed first, the report declares, mainly for its consideration of the lawn and house as a unit in carrying out the homecoming as well as the victory spirit. Hayes Hall was awarded second and Gamma Phi Beta third.

Collegiate Thugs Carry Off Vandal Homecoming Signs

What Idaho has put together W.S.C. will tear asunder! As the Romans invaded Greece and carried off that country's works of art, so did Washington State college students swoop down upon Idaho's campus before the homecoming game last Saturday and carry off the meek-looking cougars on display in front of group houses.

The boys across the hill have a flare for kittens, and simply can't resist adding them to their menagerie, no matter who might own them.

But perhaps, if we search long enough, we can find a legitimate excuse for this petty defacement and looting. Maybe this is merely a suggestion, you understand—the W.S.C.-ites were just returning home to the "brotherly love" shown by Idaho's students as they roved for their neighboring college at the U. S. C. game in Pullman several weeks ago. It does seem possible that the Washington students wished to show their affection for us by carrying off memoirs of Idaho.

The Beta's, however, don't seem to think much of this theory, being mean the fact that their spider web wasn't made of stouter material, so they could have done some real snaring of the sons of Washington. Likewise, the Lambda Chi's are lamenting because they didn't have steel-jawed traps camouflaged in front of their log cabin in the W. S. C. lads, or at least a nice deep "dead-fall". "We'd have answered the Tri-Del's advertisement for Cougar pelts then," they declare.

VANDALS CAPTURE RUN AT PULLMAN

Placing eight men in the first twelve, Idaho defeated Washington State college in a practice cross-country meet at Pullman, Saturday morning over a three-mile course. Idaho scored 47 points to the Cougars' 33.

Chris W. S. C. finished first in a 14-20; Heath, Idaho, was second, and Anderson, W. S. C. was third. Lennox Hall, who set a new course record to win the intramural meet at Idaho, finished fourth.

A return meet will be held here some time this week. At a later date two conference meets will be held to determine letter winners.

Others on the Idaho squad are: Hallway, Stole, Coffy, Roberts, Aggart, and Swayne.

NEW CHORAL GROUP WINS POPULARITY DOWNTOWN

VANDALEERS TAKE SENSATIONAL BOW AFTER HARD WORK

Students and Townspeople Laud Newly Named Choral Group

Idaho students and townspeople are praising the new musical organization, which has burst, rock-like, into prominence after several months of quiet existence on the campus.

Idaho Vandaleers, the members call themselves, having changed the unofficial "17" title bestowed upon them when the organization was formed last spring. Two recent appearances before downtown business groups caused somewhat of a sensation, and word of the Vandaleers' fame has traveled to the campus where students are eager to hear the chorus in formal concert, which may be within three weeks.

Will Tour State

Southern Idaho audiences will hear the Vandaleers during a 10-day concert tour scheduled for early December. Charles Graybill, A.S.U.I. president, returned to Moscow from an advance booking trip. He tentatively signed up as many as three appearances at annual Armistice day services, Moscow American Legion, the Legion Drum corps, Troop K of the Idaho National Guard cavalry, and the Latah county chapter of the Red Cross also took part in the services.

Forming on West Sixth street, the line marched down Main street to Third, and up Third to the City park.

Honoring Latah county soldiers, Commander J. F. Gray of the American Legion opened the exercises by placing a wreath on the soldiers' memorial statue in the park. Following the invocation by the Rev. C. M. Drury, chaplain of the post, Colonel James Harris of Weiser, commander of the 116th cavalry regiment, spoke. A salute of guns and the Star Spangled Banner by the cadet corps concluded the program.

The R. O. T. C. marched back to MacLean field and disbanded.

Matty Advocates New Pass Scheme

Robert L. Matthews, former Idaho football coach, is formulating a plan to make the passing game of football equal in effectiveness to other departments. He is advocating the pass to become a free ball when it is grounded. Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach has written his approval of the scheme.

"Pop" Warner, at Stanford, always against the pass, has substituted a plan of on-side kick offense which he hopes to have inaugurated. Consensus among coaches will delay both plans as they feel there has been too much tampering with football rules in the past few years.

Commenting on the Idaho-W. S. C. game Matthews said, "Idaho has a team they need not apologize for. They played the game exactly as they should. It wasn't in the cards for them to win, but they did show fight and spirit that foretells a great team in the future."

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES HELD

Parade and Ceremonies at City Park is Dignified Service

This morning at 9:30 the university R. O. T. C., and the military band assembled on MacLean field, and marched to the City park where they participated in the annual Armistice day services. Moscow American Legion, the Legion Drum corps, Troop K of the Idaho National Guard cavalry, and the Latah county chapter of the Red Cross also took part in the services.

Forming on West Sixth street, the line marched down Main street to Third, and up Third to the City park.

Honoring Latah county soldiers, Commander J. F. Gray of the American Legion opened the exercises by placing a wreath on the soldiers' memorial statue in the park. Following the invocation by the Rev. C. M. Drury, chaplain of the post, Colonel James Harris of Weiser, commander of the 116th cavalry regiment, spoke. A salute of guns and the Star Spangled Banner by the cadet corps concluded the program.

The R. O. T. C. marched back to MacLean field and disbanded.

LOCAL PEOPLE GET CALL FROM HOOVER

Invitations have been received at the university from President Hoover asking Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture, Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department, and Miss Marjorie Hepworth, home demonstration agent leader, to attend the White House conference on child health and protection to be held in Washington, D. C., November 19 to 22.

Dean Iddings will be in Washington for the land grant college meeting and expects to attend the conference.

NATURAL HISTORY CLUB PLANS TRIP

STATE COLLEGE OF WASHINGTON, Pullman, Nov. 11—P.I.P.A. The Natural History club of the State College is planning a three day vacation and educational trip to the Moscow Mountains, in Idaho, during the Thanksgiving vacation. The trip will be open to men and women interested in furthering their study along botanical, geographical, or zoological lines. The heads of the various departments will accompany the students on the trip.

POSTPONE GAMES

Dances held on the court of the Memorial gymnasium last week-end left the floor in such a slick condition that it was necessary to postpone intramural baseball games scheduled for Monday night. This will cause a complete revision of the schedule as announced in the last issue of the Argonaut. Play will be resumed as soon as the floor can be put in suitable shape.

TWO 'STRIKEOUTS' ARE MADE BY BAT

Intramural baseball took its first toll Monday evening after a bat slipped from the hands of a player, striking two men, injuring them both seriously. Jerry Walsh suffered a long gash under his right eye and severe bruises on the nose. Bobby Dunn, second victim of the same bat, received a gash across the forehead which required nine stitches.

Both men were taken to the infirmary. They were able to return to their house after being treated.

VANDAL FENCERS CHALLENGE W. S. C.

Foil and Mask Club at Pullman is Thrown Gauntlet By Idaho

A challenge to defend their honor has been issued the Foil and Mask club of Washington State College by Idaho fencers. The matches will probably be held sometime during the middle of next month according to Paul Aust, president.

The meet will be the second with the Pullman chapter and if the State college can furnish competitors, Idaho coaches will hold a meet about the same time. Women have been steadily improving in the ancient sport and it is not unlikely that they will challenge the men to determine campus championship.

Members of the men's squad chosen to represent Idaho are Paul Aust, D. B. Cruikshank, E. M. Maynard, Howard H. Cagle, J. W. Wurster, Carl A. von Ende, and Louis B. Smith. The women's team will be selected later.

The entire club, men and women, will meet Wednesday at 4 o'clock in the U-Hut to elect officers and discuss coming meets.

TEACHERS UPSET YEARLINGS 18 TO 0

Babes Set Back by Penalties and Fumbles Against Ellensburg

Ellensburg Normal defeated the Idaho freshmen in a hard-fought game, 18 to 0, Friday at Ellensburg. The Teachers have a powerful team, having lost only one game in two years. They fought Gonzaga to a scoreless tie early this season in Spokane.

However, the score does not indicate how close the game actually was, as luck seemed to be against the yearlings Friday. Penalties and fumbles were frequent occurrences for the babes. They received two penalties of 15 yards and one of 25 yards, along with many for 5 yards. During the first quarter they had a chance to score, but an incomplete pass over the goal line on fourth down gave the ball to Ellensburg.

Ellensburg scored once in the first half after recovering an Idaho fumble. They also turned a fumble into as many touchdowns in the last four minutes of the game.

The second touchdown came as the result of an Idaho fumble which was recovered behind the goal line by an Ellensburg man. In the last few minutes of the game a Teacher intercepted an Idaho pass which terminated in a third touchdown.

Outside of the last few minutes, the play was very even. Willis Smith at quarter and Cy Bearson at fullback were the bright stars for the Idaho frosh. McKay, half; Exley, full; and Sterling, quarter, played excellent ball for Ellensburg.

Chardon of the University of Porto Rico, who does not take active membership until 1931. In the famous Blue room of the Mayflower hotel discussions will be held on group life of students, the value of radio broadcasting to universities, the movement for a national university, and the control and development of athletics in state universities.

KNIGHTS SPONSOR ALL COLLEGE MIXER

President Neale Introduces Members of Board of Regents, Honor Guests, to Crowd

Following the pep rally and bonfire, Friday night, the all-college mixer was held at the Memorial gymnasium under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Knights.

Members of the university board of regents, who were honor guests at the mixer, were introduced to the crowd by President Neale. Many old grads were back and added much to the pep and enthusiasm of the students. Music was furnished by Morris O'Donnell's orchestra.

The Alumni association sponsored another all-college dance at the same place on Saturday night.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO LIBRARY

SOCIETY

LILLIE GALLAGHER, Editor.

ALA functions accompanied reunions of old friends and classmates during the entire homecoming week-end. An unusually joyous time was experienced by all alumni, students, and the crowds of Idaho enthusiasts and fans here for the game and the chance to "play" again within the scenes and atmosphere of the old alma mater.

Beginning with the serpentine, pajama parade, pep rally, bonfire, and mixer on Friday evening, the affairs of homecoming started out with a burst of pep which was characteristic of all the functions scheduled.

On Saturday Miss French's luncheon for Governor and Mrs. Baldridge, members of the board of regents, President and Mrs. Neale, and other notables of the state and university, was an outstanding affair at Hays hall. Also on Saturday, Blue Key, national men's honorary organization, honored alumni members at a luncheon at the Blue Bucket.

On Saturday evening the alumni dance at the Memorial gymnasium, sponsored by the Blue Key and Alumni association, was well attended and a spirit of loyalty on the part of the alumni and of welcome on the part of students was manifested in the gaiety of the occasion.

Sunday morning a breakfast was given at the Blue Bucket by Morar Board, in honor of alumnae members. Plates were laid for thirty-five.

Firesides and smokers honored visitors of the various houses on Monday evening, and Monday saw a joy-wearied student body draw itself to classes.

Armistice day, today, is the event of the resumption of social activities on the campus for another day. Last night students danced at the armistice dance at the Blue Bucket inn, and this afternoon again they danced at the Blue Bucket at a matinee dance sponsored by the intercollegiate Knights.

GLORIOUS DEFEAT RINGS OUT KNELL TO FOUR VANDALS

Norby, Booker, Lopez and Carlson Play Last Game On MacLean Field

ALL HAVE RECORD Were Outstanding in Finale Against Foes of Old From W.S.C.

Four Vandals played their last for Idaho on MacLean field when they tangled with the Cougars last Saturday.

John Booker, reserve fullback, a valuable man on three Vandal squads, has done his share to give Idaho some hard-earned victories. It was Booker who supplied the punch for the Vandals' last drive Saturday which ended in a touchdown after Sather passed to Hanford.

Art Norby, end, gave the home folks a final treat with his defensive work in the big homecoming game.

Dan Lopez played bang up ball against the Cougars and gave George Huxley of the Pullman eleven plenty to think about Saturday.

"Horsey" Carlson also played his final home game for Idaho Saturday, and although he was not sent in until the final minutes, did his share of work on the offense during the final drive. "Horsey" was used as a center understudy to Kirkpatrick during his sophomore season. Last year Calland switched him to a wing position in order to strengthen the ends of Idaho's line.

SOUTHERN BRANCH STUDENTS SMART

Scholastically the first six weeks of school at the Southern Branch, University of Idaho, has been successful. The registrar's office reports no student left college on account of half semester grade difficulties. Dean John R. Dyer, executive head of the Southern Branch, stated that the average of the school term was pleasing after departmental examinations had been given.

Dean Eugene O. Leonard, head of the pharmacy school, said the junior-senior plan was working out with success. He said the school appreciated the twenty percent increase in enrollment this term and that the type of student registered was exceptionally high. Dean Leonard asserted twenty students were listed in the graduating class.

SPURS SERENADE WOMEN ON FRIDAY

Idaho Spurs, honorary organization for sophomore women, serenaded sorority houses and halls on Friday night before the W. S. C. game. Their program consisted of Idaho songs by the group, a solo by Louise McVey, a song by Geneva Dyer, Virginia Knes, and Jeanne Charrier, and a piano solo by Louella deGero. This serenade is an annual affair and is always given the night before the big homecoming game. Last year's Spurs helped this year's members of the organization with the singing.

On Saturday, the Pullman chapter of Spurs were guests of the Idaho chapter at a luncheon at the Blue Bucket inn.

COUGARS DEFEAT FIGHTING VANDALS

yards. Mentor Dahlen, Cougar sophomore, kicked both goals and turned in a better game than Tomkin, whom he understudy. Between halves, the huge 100-piece band from Washington State marched around the field playing Cougar songs and received a big hand from the crowd. The combined Idaho military and Pep bands formed a large U with a flag in the center and played "Here We Have Idaho" as the entire throng rose and bared their heads.

Pass intercepted. A combined array of first and second string Cougars kicked off to Idaho to start the second half, and with Pedersen carrying the ball most of the time the Vandals marched straight down to the Crimson and Gray eight-yard mark. At this point Hollingbery put in Mel Hein and "Turk" Edwards to strengthen the line and on the fourth down "Pete" passed into the hands of Oscar Jones and the rally was over. Idaho continued to force the play for the remainder of the period, but could not score. They chalked up five first downs while the Cougar machine was able to gather but one during this third quarter.

In the fourth period the two teams battled along evenly until the final gun was five minutes away, when Sanders dashed off tackle for twenty yards and Washington State's final score. Idaho showed the famed fighting spirit by coming right back with drives by Booker and Sather, which carried the oval to midfield. Sather dropped back and shot a toss to Hanford who galloped 35 yards to score. Hanford connected for the extra point and that ended the tallying.

for the day. The Vandals completed a couple of more heaves for gains in the final seconds of the game, but the time was too short and the gun nipped the rally just inside the Cougar's territory.

Schutte Stands Out. Every Vandal on the field played good ball without exception, but in the line Schutte and Corkery stood head and shoulder above the rest. Both the boys were through the State forward wall many times to smash plays before they got under way. Pedersen, Booker, Hanford, Davis and Sather were all outstanding in the backfield and gave the Cougars plenty to think about during the sixty minutes of play. Hein and Edwards in the Washington State wall showed fans why they are being regarded as all-American prospects and the Cougar backs all turned in a first-class game of ball.

Although the score looks lopsided the statistics prove how close and hard fought the battle really was. W. S. C. garnered 12 first downs and the Vandals were only slightly behind with 10 to their credit. The Cougars completed 6 out of 15 attempted throws and Idaho connected 5 times from 25 heaves. The Crimson and Gray intercepted 5 Vandal flings and had 3 of their own nestle in the arms of a waiting Red Shirt.

GRID SPORTLIGHT By Bill Pohlman

The big homecoming battle is past history and everybody is fairly well satisfied with the results. The Cougars, naturally, as they won the ball game and kept their slate clean. The Vandals, because they gave Hollingbery's men a great fight and scored in the last period. It took the best of the Cougars to stop the light, fast Vandals. Nevertheless, we'll place credit where it is due and admit Washington State has a great eleven—one of the best in the nation. It was a fine battle and the Vandals deserve lots of praise for their game, fighting stand in the face of great odds. That is all one can ask of any team.

It's too bad "Poison" Wilson had to park on the sidelines Saturday as his presence part of the time would have increased Idaho's offensive power a good deal, and also spread out the attack. Calland didn't need him in the Gonzaga scrap, but he certainly could have used him against the Cougars. However, Wilson has two more years in which to do his stuff and Pullman will know plenty about him before 1933.

A "miniature" view of next year's Vandal-Cougar tussle was presented the throng Saturday when the Crimson and Gray reserves took up the battle for awhile at the beginning of the last half. Most of those boys will be first stringers at Pullman next fall while Calland has practically his entire varsity returning for another campaign. Idaho outplayed State during this period of the battle, causing Hollingbery to shove in his first linesmen, and in addition scored 7 points to the Cougar's 6. According to this specimen skirmish things look bigger and better for the men of Calland in 1931.

The Washington-Stanford game came as a big surprise for everybody as it was generally thought the Huskies would slip the skirts under "Pop" Warner's Cardinals. Unless there is a big difference created at Seattle in the next week, Washington State will walk through the coast men with ease. The Huskies seem to have a strong enough first string, but lack their usual big supply of reserves.

It is easy to see through Oregon's success this year. There are two good reasons why the Webfeet are fairly certain to tie the Cougars for coast honors this fall. The first is the "Flying Dutchman" Kitzmiller. Without him the squad seems and is helpless. He is truly a great all-around ball player and deserves at least all-coast honors. The second reason is the light schedule the Oregon graduate manager engaged for the Ducks. The Webfeet do not play any of the "Big Three" in California or W. S. C., and were barely able to eke out a narrow 7 to 0 win from a weak U. C. L. A. team. That is to say, U. C. L. A. is weak in comparison with the four groups of gridsters named above.
