A Ray of Hope, At Least

THE PUBLIC institutions improvement board met here today to continue a study of buildings requirements which included a new main building for the insane asylum at Blackfoot, a school house at the Nampa colony, and a new library, or something to take the place of one at the University of Idaho.

So reads a news dispatch carried by the Associated Press from Boise yesterday, reminding Idaho and the world in general that the state's institutions of higher learning still has at least a ghost of a chance.

At the last regular session of the state legislature efforts to pass an appropriation for the construction of a library building here met with disaster and the university worried along without their much needed addition.

We may not get a library building for some time yet, but there is a ray of hope in the statement that this public institutions improvement board can fall back on second choice and give us "something to take the place" of present quarters, which long ago ceased to be little more than a remodelled store room.

Idaho, we realize, is not the wealthiest state in the union, but money spent in a new library for the university certainly cannot be looked upon as a useless expenditure. A priceless collection of books and documents, a credit to any school, are scattered here and there over the campus, piled wherever a few square feet of space can be found.

Surely, if Idaho ever had need of a new library—it is now.

"When Winter Comes"

CAUGHT by surprise this fall, Idaho campus finds itself blanketed with several inches of snow, weeks ahead of schedule, much to the discomfort of everyone. But from all indications we must admit winter has arrived and make the best of it. There seems to be no way of changing the weatherman's verdict.

And in making the best of it, perhaps a suggestion here and there would not be entirely out of order.

Snow covered walks are always dangerous, and doubly so when they lead up and down the campus hills. As in the past, university officials made every effort to keep walks on the campus clear and reasonably safe. Sometimes their efforts may have seemed futile, but drifting snow is a difficult thing to handle, students must admit. Last winter, rock salt was spread each morning on the main approaches to the Administration building and the experiment certainly prevented many falls and possible injuries. Should conditions continue unchanged, salted walks no doubt will be in order again—and welcome, too.

Group houses might lend their co-operation with more success by seeing that walks adjacent to their property are cleaned thoroughly after each storm, before the snow has a chance to pack.

The Argonaut is not sure what provisions the city of Moscow makes in regard to forcing property owners to keep walks cleared of snow. When students wanting to make a trip downtown are forced to plow through several inches of slush the entire distance, could one wonder if they directed a few uncompilimentary remarks toward the city council? These one-and-a-half candle power street lights might just as well be turned off completely for all the good they do on a dark night; indeed one who ventures to make the trip after dark when its wet and sloopy musters up a lot of nerve.

The English Sense of Humor

A SENSE OF HUMOR, it seems, may be so good as to escape detection. The English for a long time have had the reputation of a nation without a sense of humor. Such sayings as "He who laughs last is an Englishman" and "If you see an Englishman laughing tomorrow, he is just getting the point of the joke you told him last night," have come to be stock phrases with the Americans.

It is true that the Englishman does not double up with mirth at an amusing anecdote, but he does function with wit. As evidence, let us offer the two gentlemen who recently debated the University of Idaho team. Even we Americans, who are sometimes dumb at catching the hidden significance of a remark, particularly if it is somewhat subtle, found their remarks amusing. The humor of the Britisher is not so blatant as that of the Americans and because of this fact, is probably cleverer. Surely we cannot accuse our British friends of laughing at their own jokes. For the Americans, we cannot say so much.

Few people have stopped to think that while the English fellow does not laugh at our jokes, perhaps he refrains from doing so through courtesy. He may be trying to control himself to keep from laughing at us, not the jokes.

NATIONAL HONORARY INITIATES SUNDAY

Local Chapter Takes in Eleven New Sophomore Members. Freshmen Will be Initiated in Spring.

Eleven sophomores were initiated by the Ball and Chain Chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights, national honorary, underclassmen's fraternity, Sunday afternoon, replacing men who did not return to school this semester.

The new initiates are: Luther Carl, Beta Phi; Marion Stephenson, Phi Gamma Delta; Claude Marcus, T. K. E.; Charles Walker, Phi Beta Theta; John Torry, Kappa Sigma; William Gnaedinger, Lambda Chi Alpha; Hume Frayer, Delta Chi; Robert Harris, Ridenbaugh hall; Frank Schisser, Lindley hall; Robert Palmer, Tau

Mem Alpha; and Raymond Davidson, Sigma Nu. Freshmen who were pledged at the first of the year will not be initiated until spring.

According to Stanton Hae, honorable duke of the local chapter, the national organization has announced an expansion policy for the year and has designated the local chapter to investigate the founding of groups at Whitman college, Walla Walla, Washington, and at the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho, Pocatello, Idaho.

WINTER SPORTS

Organized winter sports will be discussed by students Thursday at 7:30 o'clock in Administration 202. Plans for building an ice-rink will be made and possibilities of a ski jump will be discussed.

For the first two weeks Jacoby intends to scrimmage his men most of the time. This will give every man out a chance to show his ability.

Since the football season has just closed, those who were on the squad and intend to turn out for basketball will be given a rest. They do not have to report for practice for about two weeks.

Jacoby made no predictions as to the strength of this year's team. He will be able to tell much more about it after the first week or two of practice. However, there are a number of outstanding high school players who are registered in school this year, and the Babes should have a good team.

CALENDAR WILL INCLUDE SPORTS

Winter Activities Come Into Lime-Light Under New Plan; Schedule Varied

A social calendar containing more winter sports is the aim of the calendar committee. Facilities for skating are being arranged, and considerable space is being reserved on the calendar for this sport.

Dr. Frederick C. Church, chairman of the calendar committee, is in favor of many winter sports being provided for by the social groups.

For the rest of this year the schedule is quite varied. There will be nine informal dances; two dinner dances, two upperclassmen's dances, one a formal cabaret, and the other a dinner dance; a mixer, an all college ball; the Mardi Gras, and a Blue Key dance. Dramatic department plays are provided for on the calendar.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD.

It looms up large in their lives

The telephone has a big place in the daily lives of most people today, but its place will be even bigger tomorrow.

Its importance has been fostered by the work of men in all phases of the telephone business and no little part has been taken by those engaged in selling. They have helped to effect an increase of more than three and a half million Bell telephones in the last five years. In the same period they have been instrumental in making the public realize more completely the telephone's usefulness. Result: an increase from 49,000,000 calls per day to 65,000,000.

For men with a leaning toward sales promotion, the opportunity is there!

The HUDSON RIVER BRIDGE

How dynamite was used to blast tunnels for anchoring gigantic cables

IN 1932... after five years of stupendous labor... the Hudson River Bridge, connecting New York and New Jersey, will be completed.

It is a single-span bridge... 3500 feet long. At either end, a gigantic tower, 650 feet high, rises to the sky.

The construction of this mighty bridge is proof enough that to the modern engineer, nothing is impossible.

In this undertaking, as in countless others, dynamite played a huge part. Du Pont dynamite was used for blasting approaches to the Hudson River Bridge, and for blasting the anchorage tunnels for the cables. About 3,000,000 pounds of dynamite were required!

The engineer of today... and tomorrow... needs to know all there is to know about dynamite... the tool that helps to build skyscrapers, dams, subways, tunnels, roads and railroads.

How can you know more now... while you're still in college? Write the Du Pont Company for a copy of the "Blasters' Handbook." This booklet contains a wealth of information about explosives... information gathered in 128 years' experience in making and improving explosives. It is compact... handy. It is used in the classrooms of leading technical institutions. Your free copy is waiting for you.

SOCIETY

LILLIE GALLAGHER, Editor.

THE coming of winter to the campus with the first heavy snowfall of the season last week-end very suddenly changed the motif of social activities from autumn settings to wintry atmospheres. The presence of snow flakes makes one feel that Thanksgiving and Christmas are really near and the social functions of the campus, as well as the parties of collegians who revel in the snow, all reflect the Thanksgiving and Christmas spirit.

Last week-end the dramatic department presented the play, "The Show-Off" on Friday and Saturday evenings at the university auditorium. The crowds which attended were well pleased with the performance.

On Friday evening Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained for its pledges at the L. D. S. seminary. Pledge pins and fraternity symbols were the motif of decoration.

Saturday evening Delta Gamma and Daleth Teth Gimel held pledge dances. The Delta Gamma dance was given at the chapter house and the town women's organization used the L. D. S. seminary for its dance. Forney hall, that evening also, cooperated with the weather man in choosing snow with which to bedeck the surroundings for the informal dance given at the hall.

Sunday's music department student recital was very well received by the many students, faculty members, and townspeople attending.

This week promises much of excitement in a social way. Two class mixers, the senior mixer on Wednesday evening and the sophomore mixer on Thursday evening, are scheduled. On Friday, one of the season's most exclusive and formal affairs, the Scabbard and Blade dinner dance will take place at the Moscow hotel.

On Saturday afternoon, the DeSmet club, Catholic students' organization will hold a mixer at the L. D. S. seminary. Saturday evening the two functions scheduled are the Associated Foresters' and the Beta Theta Pi informal dances.

CHECK IS REWARD FOR BRAVERY ACT

Victor Earl Smith Receives Reward for Bravery in Saving Companions' Lives

Victor Earl Smith, freshman football player, recently received a check for $200, presented him by the Idaho Power company in appreciation of an act of bravery when he saved the lives of two men working with him on a power line near Twin Falls last summer.

The money was received by Smith last week, accompanied by a letter announcing the award, to President Neale, by M. L. Hibbard, vice-president and general manager of the company.

McLeod and Stimson were at work on a 45-foot pole when they were struck by an arc from a 44,000 volt high tension wire. Smith climbed the pole, using a rope in place of climbers, tied one man to the cross bar while he lowered the other badly shocked linesman to the ground. While Smith used first aid on the first, the man tied to the crosspiece regained consciousness and was assisted to the ground by Smith. The two injured fellows were then driven 85 miles to Twin Falls in a Ford truck, 18 miles over the desert before a highway was reached.

It was Smith's first day on the Jarbridge job. He and the linesmen, McLeod and Stimson, with an elderly ground worker, were tying insulators to the high tension line. They were doing the last bit of the job for the day when an electric arc flashed from the heavy copper wire and struck the two men unconscious. McLeod fell backward, his arms hanging loose, and Stimson crumpled dangerously near the live electric line.

Grasping a quarter-inch rope used to raise material for the aerial workers, Smith shinned up the pole with another piece of rope tied to his waist. The elder companion remained on the ground. When Smith reached the top he tied McLeod to the cross-piece and then turned to Stimson.

Smith tied the rope around the linesman's body and slowly lowered him to the ground. After 15 minutes of artificial respiration, he finally brought Stimson to consciousness.

McLeod revived while still tied to the cross-piece and was assisted to the ground by Smith.

The power company declared the act as "one of the most heroic in the history of our records."

Smith was a graduate of Flier high school where he held a high record in athletics. He was named on the all-state football team while in high school. He is now, one of the promising men for the Idaho varsity team. Smith is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

BIG CONFERENCES KEEP NEALE BUSY

President Hoover Calls Idaho Prexy to Help Solve Problems

A well educated child in a cemetery is of no value to his parents or his country, according to President Herbert Hoover and consequently President M. L. Neale of the University of Idaho, and 1100 experts of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, have gone to Washington, D. C., to set forth a formula for the guidance of those who care for children. The planning committee of 27 members under the direction of Dr. Harry Everett Barnard of Indianapolis meets on November 19 - 22.

Dr. Neale attended the executive committee meeting of the Association of Land Grant colleges last night. This conference of land grant colleges began its deliberations yesterday and will continue them until Wednesday. Although there are a number of important matters to be considered at this meeting, the second conference is the one which at present is demanding national and world-wide attention.

As soon as the matters having to do with "more fun for kids" are settled, President Neale will return to Idaho in order to attend the annual convention of the Idaho Educational Association at Boise, to address that body on November 23. He will return to Moscow, November 30.

CHEMISTS TO MEET
The Idaho Chemists will meet at the Blue Bucket inn tomorrow night at 8:15. After a dinner, Dr. Edwin C. Jahn, school of forestry, will speak on the "Chemical Utilization of Wood". Anyone interested may attend, announced Carl von Ende, president.

The FAVORITE tobacco of the Dartmouth man is...

If you want to know the Dartmouth man's favorite tobacco, watch him as he loads his pipe between classes in front of Dartmouth Row. Watch him as he strolls along Wheelock Street and pulls the familiar blue tin of Edgeworth out of his pocket.

A pipe and Edgeworth—this is the smoking combination that has won the college man. Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Illinois... all agree with Dartmouth. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite smoking tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice; try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its rich natural flavor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive "eleventh process." You will find Edgeworth at your nearest tobacco shop—16¢ tin. ### THREE U.S.C. MEN WIN RECOGNITION

Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Stanford Place One Each On Mythical Eleven

Against every team on the W. S. C. schedule, besides being a good pass receiver, and sports writers on the coast have marveled at the great all-around ability of the Cougar pivot man.

After a poor start against the Cougars, Duffield finally came into his own and did all the things predicted of him last season. Therefore, he is the choice for the field general's job. His handling of the Trojan team has been faultless, and he is a triple threat man in every sense of the word. His kicks are long twisting spirals which manage to flop out of bounds inside the ten-yard stripe; while his heaves that travel straight and true to the mark make an easy job for his receivers. On top of all this he is one of the really dangerous men in an open field when he has the oval tucked under his arm.

Oregon Mainstay.

Kitzmiller and Moffatt were the men that kept their respective teams in the running throughout the season. Oregon's weakness was noticed immediately when the "Flying Dutchman" was forced from the Oregon State-Webfoot game. Besides leading the northwest division in scoring he is also a triple threat man. This is Kitzmiller's last year and his loss will be greatly felt by Coach Spears, as their powerful offense has been built up around him for three seasons. Moffatt, of Stanford, occupies the same position as Kitzmiller, but he is an entirely different type of ball player. The Stanford flash uses as his chief weapon of offense, extreme speed from Warner's reverses, and a change of pace that is difficult for defensive backs to solve. He is the outstanding back in the Cardinal camp this year, and his work against the Huskies stamps him as a great backfield star.

Elmer (the Great) Schwartz, W. S. C.'s mighty battering ram was Coach Hollingbery's ace in the hole. When a few yards are needed Schwartz never fails to come through, and he has chalked up more first downs than any other player on the coast. Eight touchdowns in six games all-coast selection for the last two years, and captain of the 1930 championship team, are the reasons for his selection at the fullback post. Combining great weight, plenty of speed for a big man, and lots of football brains make him a combination hard to keep off any roster.

Schwartz Captain.

It is difficult to choose a captain for this all-star eleven, but after considering the respective merits of the bidders Elmer Schwartz at fullback gets the nod. The big Cougar has played outstanding ball for three years and served as captain of his squad this season, handling the job in good fashion.

This team will stack up with any coast team named for the past ten years, in weight, speed, natural ability and outstanding performance.

The second stringers and honorable mention players can be compared favorably with the regulars and in fact in most of the cases there is little to choose between them. Usually inexperience, a light schedule of injuries were the determining factors in the selections. Every man chosen on the first lineup played the whole season and contributed in a large measure to his team's success.

Honorable mentions—Avery, California; Colbert, Oregon; G. Hurley, Washington State; Williamson, U. S. C.; Mohler, U. S. C.; Schaldach, California; Timmerman, California; Hufford, Washington; and J. Hanford, Idaho.

New Snow Proves Excellent Excuse For House Battles

A bird's eye view of the campus Saturday may have looked calm and peaceful—but oh the close-up! About five o'clock Saturday afternoon the Alpha Phi's front yard presented a most unusual spectacle. From every snow bank, legs and more legs waved a sad truce to the Lambda Chis who had piled them there. The Alpha Chis and Beta Chis finished off a sleigh ride with a regular Waterloo of snowballs.

Sigma Nus and Gamma Phis were up to their old tricks again. Can't teach an old dog new tricks, and from the way their "dogs" kept getting out from under them it looked as if they'd never heard of the trick "equilibrium".

Sigma Chis were a veritable Light Brigade as they charged up the hill to defend their honor against the Beta Chis. The top of the hill first served as the battlefield, but the bottom became the final resting place with the Sigs on top. The decision was almost agreed when one ambitious Beta Chi neophyte gained entrance to the Sigma Chi house and ran off with the scholarship cup. The intruder was run down, the Beta Chi's suffered defeat, and the scholarship cup still adorns the mantle in the Sigma Chi house.

Every house on the campus had an excuse for battle—and did they use it! That is, all except the Theta's and S. A. E.'s. They, poor dears, called theirs off for lack of ammunition.

BORAH POSTPONES APPEARANCE HERE

Professor Kerr Plans to Have Senator Borah Speak Here Early Next Spring

Senator W. E. Borah will not speak before the associated students this week announced Prof. T. Kerr this morning after having called Boise and Pocatello by long distance telephone. Senator Borah left yesterday for Chicago to fill engagements in the middle west and the east coast.

Professor Kerr, chairman of public events, had hoped to have the noted law maker address the students this week, but he was advised from Boise that Borah would not be able to make such an appearance.

"I hope to have Senator Borah come here early next spring in connection with the Borah Foundation fund that was established by Salmon Levinson, Chicago," declared Professor Kerr.

The $50,000 fund was established by Mr. Levinson to solve the world problem of war, and was dedicated to Senator Borah for his interest in the project. The memorial was established last spring.

PROSH HEAR TALK ON PUBLIC HEALTH

Dean French and President Neale Address Assemblies in December

Speaking on "Modern Progress in Hygiene and Public Health," Prof. William V. Halversen, professor of bacteriology, addressed the regular freshman assembly Tuesday morning. Miss Permeal J. French, dean of women, is scheduled to speak at the next freshman assembly on December 9, and President M. G. Neale will speak on December 16.

"Preventative medicine is just as important as curative treatment," said Professor Halversen, in telling the audience of the forces operating for the protection of public health. He stressed the necessity of immunizing persons against communicable disease when possible.

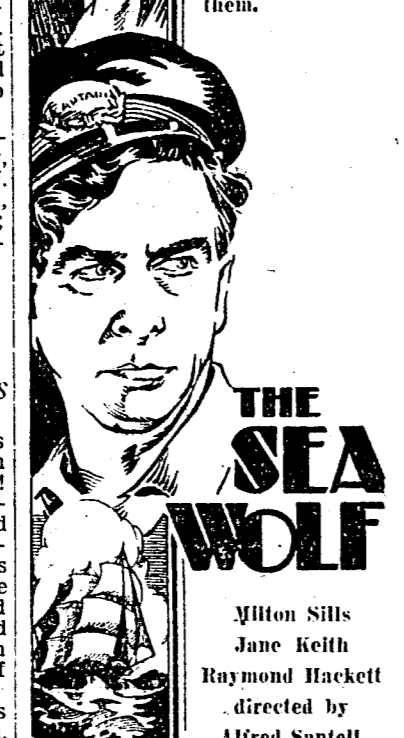

"It is recognized now that foods having any degree of spoilage are unsatisfactory, and should not be offered on the market," he stated. "The production and manufacturing of foods should be and is regulated." He spoke of the importance of a sanitary milk supply.

S.A.E.S, BETAS WIN IN INDOOR GAMES

Teams Advance Toward Cup By Defeating Kappa Sigs And Ridenbaugh

Monday evening at 7:30 the S. A. E.'s and the Kappa Sig's tangled bats in intramural indoor baseball, and at the close of seven innings the S. A. E.'s walked off on the long end of a 7 to 5 score. The second game in the evening turned out to be a walk away for the Beta's who tramped on their rivals, the Ridenbaugh hall men 24 to 5.

The S. A. E.'s played a tight game of ball allowing their opponents to score only single points in the first, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh innings. Under the leadership of Estes and Drysdale, the Kappa Sigs held the S. A. E.'s to seven runs scattered throughout the game.

At 8:30 the Beta's started their game with the Ridenbaugh men by chalking up four runs in the first inning, five in the second and 17 more runs, finally closed the game with a score of Beta's 24, Ridenbaugh 5.

With two teams eliminated Monday night, only 10 teams are left in the running for the 75 points that will go to the winners in each league, the 25 points for the university champions, and the 50 points for the runners up in each league.

The schedule for the week is as follows: Tuesday, 7:30, A. T. O. Beta Chi; 8:30, Sigma Nu-T. M. A.; Wednesday, 7:30, winners of the A. T. O. Beta Chi game will play the Phi Delt's; 8:30, winners of the Sigma Nu-T. M. A. game will play the Phi's; Thursday, 7:30, Sigma Chi-Beta; 8:30, Lambda Chi-S. A. E. The completion of these games will leave only two teams in each league to play off for the championship.

DEAN OF BUSINESS MAKES TAX STUDY

Idaho's tax system is being summarized in tabular form for the New York State Tax Commission by Dean R. H. Farmer of the school of business administration of the University of Idaho. As a guide in shaping tax legislation the New York commission this year started publishing the summary of tax systems in all states. The summary embraces the rate, administration and method of expenditure of all state taxes together with other pertinent information. The publication will appear during 1931. Dean Farmer's analysis will cover Idaho taxes for the year 1930.

GRADUATE STUDENT WINS SOUTHERN TRIP

Ruth Johnston, Left Saturday for San Francisco to Enter Music Contest

Ruth Johnston of Moscow, post graduate student in the music department and winner of the women's division in the state Atwater-Kent audition, left Saturday for San Francisco to represent the state in the district contest. Singers broadcast from KPO, Monday evening, Nov. 17, over a national hook-up. As in the state audition, the choice of winners rests 60 per cent with the judges, and 40 per cent with the radio audience. Entrants were instructed to have three numbers prepared so that repetition of songs could be avoided. David Gill of Caldwell, and former student at the College of Idaho, represented Idaho in the men's division. Ten scholarships totaling $25,000 are offered to national winners.

Small brown leather combination purse and bill fold containing four keys, at university auditorium Saturday evening, Nov. 15. Please return to bursar's office or phone 3561.
