

VANDALEERS SCORE HIT WITH SOUTH IDAHO AUDIENCES

New "U" Musical Group Warmly Received On Initial Tour

Southern Idaho Papers Give Organization Favorable Publicity

Pavette, Idaho, Dec. 5. Publicity Department, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho Vandaleers made splendid impression on good Payette audience December 4th. Town feels fortunate in having heard them and hopes they return soon and often. (Signed) T. A. SHERMAN, Principal Payette High School.

Parma, Idaho, Dec. 5. Publicity Bureau, University of Idaho, Moscow. Assembly program by Vandaleers high school this noon greatly enjoyed. (Signed) LIONS CLUB.

The above telegrams indicate the interest being shown by southern Idaho people in the Vandaleers, university musical group organized this year, and now on its first tour. Locally, the Vandaleers are considered to have the best organization to represent the campus for many years, according to O. A. Fitzgerald, publicity manager of the university.

A concert at Cottonwood last Tuesday started the two weeks tour of the Vandaleers in southern Idaho. From there the group went to Weiser, where they presented a program on Wednesday, and on Thursday they sang at Pavette.

On Friday they appeared at a high school assembly at Parma, and that evening presented a concert at Boise. Saturday they went to Glenns Ferry.

Last night they appeared at Twin Falls. This morning at Rupert at a high school assembly and this evening they will give a concert at Burley. Malad is their stop tomorrow. They will give an evening program.

Thursday Full Day.

Next Thursday will be a big day for them. There is scheduled an assembly at the southern branch of the university at Pocatello in the morning; a Blackfoot high school assembly in the afternoon; and an Idaho Falls evening concert.

The Vandaleers should be home Saturday night. Dr. Neale will take them to Spokane December 16, to sing before the chamber of commerce there. The program will be broadcast over radio station KHQ. They will sing before the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce a little later.

Before the Vandaleers left the campus advance stories in southern Idaho papers used more than 250 column inches, that is about two and one-half solid pages of material for an ordinary sized newspaper. The interest shown by those papers is probably due partly to the fact that the organization is new and it has a peculiar name.

Inquisitive Reporter Gets Cold Dope From Hashers

Breakfast is the biggest rush, lunch the most noisy, and dinner the largest in a quantitative way. Eating time is the prominent part of the day, according to the men who work in the girls' halls and houses on the campus. Most of the men who hash 'V' girls' houses, state that girls eat more than boys, especially freshman girls.

"Girls usually appear for all three meals," states Jack Frost. "Most boys sleep through breakfast, except the freshmen, but there are almost as many girls at the usual breakfast table as there are at other meals."

It is generally considered by the hashers that girls gain weight during their freshman year, when they first come to school.

"Nine out of ten girls gain weight during their freshman year," says Wiff Janssen. "Girls eat more than boys, according to their size, and they gain weight on 'seconds'."

Clair Barrett doesn't agree that girls eat more than boys. He says they eat less than boys, but they gain more readily, especially during their freshman year. They lose weight during the summer and gain again in the fall."

One chap who hashed for one year in a hall and two years in a sorority says that girls' appetites are much lower in the spring than in the fall or winter. They hurry through their evening meal, which is always longest and lar-

INSTITUTE GRANTS $700 FELLOWSHIP

Granting of a fellowship of not to exceed $700 to the dairy husbandry department of the University of Idaho college of agriculture by the American Dry Milk Institute, Inc., of Chicago, has been announced by Prof. F. W. Atkeson, head of the department.

The new fellowship will provide one year of research and graduate study for some capable appointee who will begin his work next September. Idaho obtained this fellowship in recognition of research investigations completed last summer by H. O. Hansen and D. R. Theophilus, members of the dairy husbandry department faculty.

Their work on the standardization of milk with skim-milk powder for the manufacture of cheddar cheese was published in August as Idaho agricultural experiment station bulletin No. 174.

Bucket's Grass Skirt Number Out Next Week

Four colored photos of Kilauea, Hawaiian volcano, are displayed in the main hall of the Ad building by the Blue Bucket, campus comic. The exhibit is instructive, says Bucket, and is intended to educate the public to wonders the Vandals may see when they go to the "islands" during the vacation to play the Roaring Rainbows and the Townies.

Is Built for Golfers

The craters of Kilauea is over three miles across, and is the only place in the world where any golfer can make a hole-in-one. Perched on the rim of the crater is a hotel famous for its heating system which is filled with steam collected from deep within the volcano. "Yes, the must, Hagan heat the hotel even though it is in the tropics, since the hotel is situated at a high altitude," said a Bucketeer who has been there re-collecting material for the next issue.

Knitting needles made from Koa wood, a native Hawaiian tree, is also a part of the exhibit sponsored by the Bucket in honor of its Hawaiian number, which will be out next Monday. Exhibits for the display were loaned by Mrs. Martha Cogswell, Portland, Oregon.

Is Same Old Stuff

"This next Bucket will be a hot number. That's our same old chant, but this time it will be hot since we are writing about the tropics," said Ralph Hagan, editor. "We have tried to make this number hot so that it will keep the old folks from freezing during the Christmas vacation. I think that it will burn 'em up'," he concluded.

JUDGING TEAM WINS TROPHY

Prof. C. W. Hickman, head of the animal husbandry department, received from Portland Monday a 24-inch trophy which is animal husbandry judging team won at the Pacific International Livestock exposition for placing first in the judging of beef cattle.

The cup is awarded by the Guaranty and Loan company of Portland, Ore., on a yearly possession basis. University of Idaho is engraved on the list of winners three times out of seven, in 1925, 1928 and 1930. The Idaho team placed second in the animal husbandry division which includes beef cattle, sheep, horses and hogs.

DRAMATIC CLASS SCHEDULES SECOND SERIES OF PLAYS

Professor Blanchard Chooses Different Cast For Each Night's Performance

Four entertaining one-act plays will be presented to university audiences on Friday and Saturday evenings by the dramatics department under the direction of Prof. Fred C. Blanchard. Alternate casts have been selected, a different cast to appear at each presentation.

The curtain is scheduled to rise promptly at 8:20 on "The Kelly Kid," Kathleen Norris' amusing comedy centering about the neighborhood bad boy. "The Next Step On," a fantasy follows. An unusual feature of this semi-tragedy is its setting which is supposed to lie somewhere between heaven and hell.

Matthew O'Conner's "The Gate" is third on the program. This clever farce has as its background the outer office of a big newspaper. Against this setting the precocious office boy juggles the destinies of four people. Last on the bill is a comedy of small town life, "Great Minds." Here the mirth-provoking plot revolves about a fake Hindoo playwright and his admiring devotees, the local club warden.

Casts Selected

Final casts for each performance have been selected by Instructor Blanchard as follows:

"The Kelly Kid": Mrs. Cahill, Anna Louise Bell and Mary Chenoweth; Mrs. Murphy, Mary Bodie and Elizabeth Taylor; Mrs. Callahan, Shirley Cunningham; Mrs. Murphy, Frances Larson and Bertha Moore; Noble Kelly, Dorothy Williams and John Thomas; Hamilton, Richard Hansen and Albert Langdon; Burns, Rollin Hunter.

"The Next Step On": A Boy, Luther Carl; An Old Man, Raphael Gibbs and James Dunn; An Elderly Lady, Kathryn Hart and Thelma Melgard; An Elderly Gentleman, Keith Armstrong and Horace Woodworth; A Girl, Vivian Jordan and Grace Parsons.

"The Gate": The Gate, Eugene Perrine and John Milner; Quixby Paine, Jack Blair and William Morgan; Mrs. Barton-Smith, Elinor Jacobs and Louise Neal; Quentin Smith, Casady Taylor and Don Williams; Lucia Paine Smith, Martha Lane Tanager; City Editor, Lloyd Ruilock and Martin Keibert.

"Great Minds": Mrs. Chatt, Frances DuSault and Peggy Newhouse; Sally, Eunice Phillips and Mary Murphy; Rama Baks, Arthur Silva; Lucy Kent, Frances Werne; Prunella Smith, Frances Jane Orr; Billy Thomson, Morris O'Donnell and Jack Mitchell; Mrs. Gheffello, Catherine Brandt and Grace Eldridge.

Lloyd Ruilock, Los Angeles, Calif., and Martin Keibert, Wallace, are stage managers for the production.

VANDALS BACK ON JOB AFTER REST

Anderson in Charge of Team; Leave For Islands Sunday

After a week lay-off the University of Idaho Vandals went to work yesterday under the direction of Assistant Coach Otto Anderson for the final week of practice on MacLean field this season. The Vandals entrain next Sunday for San Francisco and leave there December 16 by boat for Honolulu to play two games during the Christmas holidays. The Honolulu team and the University of Hawaii are the opponents at Christmas and New Year's days respectively.

Anderson will be in charge of the squad until mid-week when Head Coach Leo Calland is expected to return from Los Angeles where he has been attending a meeting of coaches and managers of the Pacific Coast conference.

The Vandals will invade the Islands prepared to give the City All Stars and the University of Hawaii Rainbows a pair of tough battles. The team will land in Honolulu in time for two or three days in which to limber up and get rid of any bad effects of the voyage.

CLASSES DESIGN CAMPUS COSTUMES

Interesting and varied occupations are under way in the Idaho department of home economics during these winter months. Each class is occupied in some typical phase of work.

At present members of the costume designing class are creating a number of typical outfits to be worn on the Idaho campus.

Art structure and design classes are planning and painting wooden boxes. In the textiles class the girls are weaving mats upon hand looms for bars, table runners and scarfs. Advanced clothing class has designed and completed woolen dresses which will be demonstrated Friday. Elementary clothing class has completed blouses based upon original patterns.

Sweaters, Coats And Long Undies Style In Olesen's Igloo

Cold days are hard on the office force of the registrar's office. Fur coats, thick sweaters, gloves and long underwear are recognized apparel for those who compile attendance charts and flunk statistics. It seems that the coldest winds blow directly from the east and in through all of the cracks in the windows of the registrar's office.

The people who work in that office do not particularly object to such weather, but they bemoan the fact that such conditions can't exist in the good old summer time. "Why, just think," said one of the stenographers, "how nice it would be to fill large glasses of ice tea with the ice cubes which we now break off of the radiators." As she uttered that speech, she shed a tear which immediately froze into a long icicle. On her way back to her typewriter, she took a large crystalline ice cube off of the nearest radiator and began to munch it contentedly.

DEATH SENTENCE IS JURY VERDICT

Bob Brown Found Guilty of First Degree Murder; Will Appeal

Demanding that the prisoner pay with his life for the murder of his step-father, the jury which has for the past two weeks held the fate of Robert Brown, reached its verdict at 1 o'clock this morning after less than one hour of deliberation.

The jury's verdict did not recommend clemency.

Brown was visibly shaken by the verdict. As the jury foreman reached the world's nonchalant attitude which has been so pronounced throughout the trial, suddenly he left him, and he had to be assisted from the room by court attendants.

Brown's attorneys immediately announced they would appeal the case, indicating they had several very important points on which to base their action, one of them being the fact that the court failed to swear in the foreman of the jury at the beginning of the case.

The trial of Robert Brown, young university student, accused of the murder of his step-father, George E. Cross last November 6th was no nearer a close last night after

RHODES SCHOLARS CHOSEN FOR IDAHO

One Candidate From The College of Idaho; The Other From Harvard

Granville R. Holden, Idaho Falls, from Harvard university and Malcolm C. Brown, Caldwell, a College of Idaho student, were chosen by the Idaho Rhodes scholarship committee at Boise, December 6. The interview with each of the committee took the form of an oral examination. There were five boys who went to Boise for the trials, the other three of whom were Joseph A. Elsie, St. Marys and J. Charles Berner, St. Marys from the University of Idaho, and William L. Frazier, Boise, of the College of Idaho. The two men chosen by the committee will compete with other northwestern students at Spokane December 10 and 11.

Six states will be represented by twelve candidates. Five scholars will be chosen instead of the usual four because of the death of George Huber, Kellogg, of the University of Idaho. He was the winner of the Rhodes scholarship last year.

MILLS PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Mrs. Reinhardt is Outstanding Woman in Educational Field

TAUGHT AT IDAHO

Chairman of Committee Predicts Interesting Program

Classes missed Thursday at 10 a. m. because of the assembly at which Mrs. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, California, will speak, will be made up at the regular assembly hour, to-morrow. This has been ordered by the Academic Council. Her speech will have significance here, because her husband is a former student of the university. She is well known as a speaker, and is an outstanding woman nationally.

Mrs. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, California, will be the assembly speaker this Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. She is one of the few outstanding women in the west and one of the foremost leaders in the interests and education of women in the United States, and the Orient.

A San Franciscan by birth, Mrs. Reinhardt, as Aurelia Henry, grew up in the Bay region, and attended the University of California. She was one of the early women applicants to the Yale graduate school. While at Yale, languages classical, medieval and modern, became her chief interest and through this study she produced translations and editions of special interest.

A year of study at Oxford followed the granting of her graduate degree at Yale, in 1905. She held a foreign fellowship from the American Association of University Women during this year. Later she joined student groups in the Sorbonne and the University of Berlin, for a brief period.

Taught Here

Mrs. Reinhardt's first teaching was in the University of Idaho and in its state teacher's college at Lewiston.

To be a fellow in the scholarly organization known as the American Association of University Women was to dedicate throughout all the years that have followed, a certain amount of time and energy to a group that has done much to raise the standards of higher education of women in the United States.

In 1909 she married George Francis Reinhardt, university physician and professor of hygiene at the University of California. After his death in 1914, Mrs. Reinhardt was asked to lecture on the staff of the University of California; and in 1916 she was called to the presidency of Mills College.

Among the international meetings to which Mrs. Reinhardt has gone as a delegate have been several Councils and Conferences of the International Federation of University Women, meeting in London, Paris, and Brussels; the meeting of International Federation of Educational Associations, in Edinburgh, 1925. The Institute of Pacific Relations meeting in Kyoto, Japan, in 1929. These meetings have given the delegates an opportunity to visit and address faculties and students in institutions of learning in Europe and the Orient.

Has Many Degrees

Significant of her extensive learning is the fact that she has received the degrees of B. L. University of California, 1898; Ph. D. Yale University, 1905; LL.D., University of California, 1918 (honorary); Litt. D., University of Southern California, 1924 (honorary); she is also a Phi Beta Kappa.

She is the editor and translator of "The Monrochia of Dante Alighieri," 1904; editor of "Epicocene," or "The Silent Woman," by Ben Jonson, with glossary, 1906; author of Yale Studies in English; in tributor of some translations in English-Poetry, 1908; and numerous magazine articles.

Tall and imposing of stature, Mrs. Reinhardt radiates magnetic power and command. Besides being a scholar of note, she is also talented in music and in art; she is interested also in sculpturing and etching, as is noticed by the numerous etchings and statues in her home; one marvelous knowledge found and stupendous knowledge of practically every intelligible subject, and her command of the English language.

Mr. Kerr, chairman of the publicity committee, says that Mrs. Reinhardt comes here highly recommended, and predicts that her address will be well worth while.

'U' WOMEN WILL MEET TUESDAY

The American Association of University Women will hold its regular monthly meeting of all its members at the Hotel Moscow, Tuesday evening, December 9, at 6:30 p. m. A very interesting program has been arranged. One of the principal numbers is a debate between Dean J. W. Finch of the school of political science, and the following subject, "Resolved: That the United States Government should protect the investments of its citizens in foreign countries."

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEET POSTPONED

Absence of Faculty Members Holds up Regular Meeting; Horton Will Be Back Soon.

Due to the fact that Dean Ivan C. Crawford, faculty advisor of the A.S.U. executive board, is not on the campus, the executive board will not have its regular meeting on Tuesday evening. The postponement is further necessitated by the fact that George E. Horton, graduate manager and ex-officio board advisor is also out of town attending the Pacific Coast athletic meeting.

It is understood that Mr. Horton will return to Moscow in time for the next meeting date of the board. The date of Dean Crawford's return is uncertain since he is going to spend some time on business matters, including a visit to the Boulder dam project on the Colorado river.

GROUPS PURCHASE CHRISTMAS SEALS

Campaign Being Waged This Week For Tuberculosis Funds

Hundreds of trained seals are appearing on the University of Idaho campus this week.

These particular seals are hardly larger than a thumb nail, but they flaunt gay Christmas colors. They appear publicly only a few weeks before Christmas, but they perform quietly and efficiently the year 'round in Idaho.

The Latah County Anti-Tuberculosis association is canvassing all group houses and dormitories this year to sell Christmas seals to Idaho students. Mrs. John F. Montgomery and Mrs. Frank Hosley are in charge of the campus drive.

They hope to increase the quota of last year.

"When times are hard," they said, "tuberculosis always increases."

The association this year plans to widen its scope of activity--serve more milk to undernourished children, take more youngsters to the health camp at Coeur d'Alene, provide a free public school nurse, and participate in many health campaigns.

"The returns so far have been splendid," said Mrs. Montgomery. "Most of the houses have purchased over ten dollars worth of seals."

A dollar's worth of seals will become a member of the Latah county association and will be entitled to a vote. There are over 1,500 cases of tuberculosis in Idaho now, according to Mrs. Montgomery. Ninety-five per cent of the money contributed will stay in Idaho to further the cause.

The campaign will end this week.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

HEALTH TO ALL

Among the other quarters of the student political field it was held that the university ruling automatically causes a vacancy when an official of the student body or of a class goes on probation and that Article VII of the constitution applies. It was indicated, however, that no precedents in regard to the matter were on hand, although last year one student so affected, resigned his position voluntarily.

Cutting Classes Is Costly For University Students

Cut yesterday's classes? Cost $14. That's the latest estimate of the worth per day of a college education, figured in addition to the normal training of a high school and grade education.

Of those who made "Who's Who in America," the "activity list" of the United States, 73.63 per cent were college graduates, and that 30 per cent of these had degrees above that of B. A.

The New York Bridge department pays to its employees who have had only high school or common training the average of $1729 yearly, while to those who have had two or three years of college (not graduates) it pays $2400. "While there can be no doubt that these figures are all right," said Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the psychology department, "conclusions drawn from them are likely to be based on fallacy. I am inclined to think that it is not so much the college training that adds these extra dollars to a man's earning capacity, but rather it is the fact that the same innate ability and drive in him that made him go to college also contributes to his successes after he graduates. These figures do not take into account the differences between people that are due to other factors than those of training."

ILLEGAL ELECTION CHARGE FAILS TO STIR EXECUTIVES

Action Must Await Return of Faculty Advisor, Says Spokesman

CAN'T SEE VACANCIES

Probation Regulation Receives New Interpretation; Lack "Official" Notice

Definite action by any official group on the campus has been postponed in regard to officials of the A.S.U. who are on probation. The executive board is withholding action until the return of its faculty advisor while the registrar's office, the discipline committee and the academic council disclaim any connection with the matter at all.

The officers of the executive board have definitely stated that they can see no way in which they are obligated to take action at all on the matter. According to Charles Graybill, president of the associated students, the constitution contains nothing in regard to probation matters. He declined to make a statement on the legality of the nomination and election of the Blue Bucket associate editor. Both Mr. Graybill and Peyton Sommercamp, vice president of the A.S.U., pointed out that the only article in the constitution referred to in a news story carried in a recent issue of The Argonaut had to do with appointments and elections after a vacancy had occurred and according to their interpretation of the present situation no vacancy has occurred.

Await Official Notice.

They point out the fact that such a vacancy would, of necessity, be referred to them through a notice from the registrar's office and that no such notice has been given. The registrar's office in the past has not been required to mail special probation lists to the executive board, inquiry revealed. Reports from the registrar's office indicate that such matters do not fall within the jurisdiction of that office. Beyond the publication of the official university lists and the notice to students affected, no action has ever been taken beyond that as it is strictly a student government affair.

The discipline committee denies that it has any connection with such matters. "Officials" on the committee pointed out that such matters fall strictly within the province of academic matters while the committee deals only with matters in discipline which have nothing to do with student government.

Purely Student Affair.

Dr. J. A. Kostalek, who has been a member of the committee for a number of years, and who is now its chairman, explained that as long as he can remember no action has ever been taken by this committee on such matters. They are considered more in the field of student government and are left entirely up to student supervision.

The members of the academic council who were interviewed in regard to the matter stated that no action has ever been necessary in the past. "It is quite possible that such action could fall within the function of the council," said one member, "but in the past the matter has always been handled by the students themselves."

In other quarters of the student political field it was held that the university ruling automatically causes a vacancy when an official of the student body or of a class goes on probation and that Article VII of the constitution applies. A Fair Trial?

INDICATIONS are that the single elimination system in vogue in Idaho's intramural sports program, is due for a good deal of criticism—and there probably will be much wailing on the part of students before the winner of the sports cup for 1930-31 is decided.

The policy of eliminating a team from the race after the first defeat is hardly a fair trial of its strength and the only excuse that the single defeat system has for existing seems to be that each athletic program can be handled quicker, making room for such manly sports as horseshoe pitching, which would find no place on the intramural schedule if other events were given the attention they deserve.

In addition to being a mighty poor test of a team's strength, the single elimination system has an economic slant. Some fraternity is going to buy $50 worth of basketball uniforms and see them stowed in the mothballs after the first contest.

Why not take horseshoes and similar sports off the intramural slate and play full round-robin tournaments in basketball, volleyball, baseball and sports in which people besides the participants are sometimes interested? Or, if horseshoes happen to be an integral part of the intramural program, add checkers and ping-pong and have a real good time!

Making football games pay is a tough problem for university graduate managers, but Earl Campbell, Washington finance man, holds the rabbit's foot on the Pacific Coast this year.

The Phelan Huskies were scheduled to play in the City of Angeles against U.S.C. with every indication of a gate that would bring beaming smiles to the hardest of all graduate managers. But Campbell wasn't satisfied with prospects—he wanted more assurance.

He got it in the form of rain insurance—$20,000 worth, paid over promptly when on the eve of the game a scant one-tenth of an inch of moisture fell.

That, we would say, is getting the breaks.

California has a new $450,000 hospital—with the very latest equipment—but the Bear students are not yet satisfied. The Daily Californian means because of the condition of the ambulance—which is a Ford of ancient vintage. Now that the football season is practically over and the All-American eleven selected, it is time to condense the season's review and draw our own conclusions. The first matter is this question of national champion, which the Rangers hand to Notre Dame. The Rangers are undoubtedly the greatest squad in the country, but actually they are not champions any more than Alabama or Washington State, both out on New Year's day. The South Bend boys would be 5 to 1 favorites if they took on the Crimson Tide or the Cougars, but anything can happen in a football game, and remember, St. Mary's was conceded a chance against Fordham nor Cornell with Penn. Every year dozens of upsets occur; where the "weak" triumphs over the "strong" and every major undefeated team earns the right to be classed with the others, regardless of scores or schedules.

It is a strange thing how the far western wins four out of five inter-sectional games each year, and yet has to be satisfied with one or two places on All-American eleven. This time it is the same old story with two Pacific coast men rating the first team and only six on the combined second and third strings. Notre Dame deserves several places and there are other Eastern stars that can't be kept off any lineup, but we'll stick men like Kitzmiller, Burke, Hufford, Mohler, Moffatt and Beckett, who didn't get named at all, against any eastern lineup they care to bring forth. The Atlantic stars never seem to look so good when playing a coast team, and usually because they are up against an eleven that plays a higher class of football.

This season of 1930 has been one of the greatest in history. The attendance figures throughout the country have held their own with last year despite extremely cold weather for the November games. Great stars were uncovered and they flashed across many gridsrons every Saturday. Notre Dame, Washington State, Alabama, Northwestern, Army, Michigan, Dartmouth, Stanford and Tulane form a group of the most impressive eleven in history and their great records will be remembered as long as football is played. Many outstanding gridsters have finished their college careers but others will be back, and when the long grind begins again next fall the same names, along with some new ones will adorn the headlines of the sport pages each Sunday morning.

The Inland Empire City team of Spokane came last Saturday, gave football fans a chance to watch many future varsity stars in action. The game, which ended 12 to 0 for the city men was well played throughout and there were a great many thrilling plays. Some of these boys will end up at Idaho, some at Washington State, Gonzaga, and other schools, and from present indications the pigskin situation looks very safe in north-west colleges for the next few years at least. The work of Doric, Keirns and Flaherty for the winners and that of Sibilla, Rowland and Robinson for the losers was very impressive, and these boys give promise of being brilliant players when they begin their careers in the higher company.

When speaking of great passing combinations think of Sather and Hanford and you need go no further nor mention more names. Idaho has the foundation of a powerful eleven in this pair and with Davis on hand to help the flanking end, they will be a constant threat to every team on the schedule next fall. Hawaii has a heavy powerful line and it is not at all unlikely that the Vandals will have to take to the air if they want to go places. The Honolulu men will have to be on their toes to stop the aerial game that, at times, has functioned well against some of the crack squads on the coast. U. S. C. opened up a terrific overhead barrage that scouted several touchdowns against the Islanders, and the Trojans are not credited with a great passing attack, at least they are no better than Idaho in this department.

Student Opinion

The Argonaut conducts this column exclusively for the use of student comment and all contributions are welcome. However, the articles must be sent to the editor, for information of the editor. Only the initials of the contributor need be printed, unless otherwise specified. The editor reserves the right to refuse any article submitted.

My Dear Editor:

Although I will not be as hard with you as our friend H. R. H. it becomes my painful duty to publicly abet him in chastizing you. Not only have you ignored the financial condition and intelligence of our noble faculty, but you have also you have found something for the executive board to do.

It is terrible! When will the president of our A.S.U. find time to make his super-energetic trips to these various student president councils in far off parts of the nation; when will the executive board find time to make plans for these all-important dances with their W. S. C. "ditto" and when will time be found to spend the ever increasing A.S.U. funds if you insist upon over burdening these outstanding representatives of our great university with hampering executive duties? You are unspeakable Mr. Editor.

"Fie! fie! fie! Mr. Editor, fie! fie! fie! But, Mr. Editor, we beg of you not to remove these unfortunate "onprobationers". They are good souls in Alpha, Mr. Editor, and we all know that Alpha belongs in a humor publication.

Most severely yours,
GORDON GINN.

Dear Mr. Editor: Fortunately His Royal Highness (H.R.H.) of the last issue does not express the opinion of a number of students on the campus. Apple polishing isn't so hot (ther, but facts are facts.

The AP.

Dear Editor:

It is too bad that when a student gets bit by the Rontitus bug, some one doesn't give him a plano leg to chew on. Last week H. R. H. showed how sad a case of Rontitus may be with no plano leg to chew on. He turned to the next best alternative and chewed the faculty's leg.

The symptoms of Rontitus are unmistakable. The patient immediately becomes vicious and antagonistic, and starts to deride powers that be. H. R. H. started for the faculty, and what a one-sided tussle they had.

The only cure for this specific case of that most horrible disease, would be obtained if the patient were given a dose of his own medicine. An instructor's position, having students with as fine a spirit of cooperation as he has shown would cure him for life. He might be worth curing, too—he has a good vocabulary.

Yours,
Boita, Gottle's Sister.

P. S. Let me ask H. R. H. just one question. Let me ask him how many subscriptions to the Argonaut he is buying as Christmas presents.

LIBRARY LOCATION BECOMES PROBLEM

Six Sites Leave University Wide Choice For New Building

"If we get it where will we put it?" is the question that has been raised by the discussion of a possible library for Idaho. The six locations which now seem most desirable are, the site of the "U" building, the section of the campus opposite Science hall, the lot behind the Administration building, the place where the old heating plant is located, the block where the infirmary buildings stand, and the lots between the Kappa Sigma and Sigma Nu houses.

The "U" hut location aside from being out of the way, is thought by many to be too small to permit expansion. Others feel that to erect a building in the space across from the Science hall would chop up and ruin the arrangement of the campus. The lot behind the Administration building is not being considered as seriously as other ones, because it is unhandy and is extremely small.

Objections are raised against building in the present location of the old heating plant on the grounds that it is out of line with the regular routes taken by students and that the appearance of any building erected there would be damaged as it would be set in a hollow.

One of the sites which has proven most attractive so far is the one where the infirmary buildings are located. If the library were built there it would crown the hill and not only command a view of the town but would be seen for miles around. The chief attraction of this place, however, is that it is one of the logical centers of the campus. It is handy for students going to and from classes, and for those going and coming from town.

The majority of the present buildings in this block will probably be torn down within a few years, which would leave ample room for expansion.

The other desirable location is between the two fraternity houses on Blake street. There is room here for expansion and it is within reach of the campus paths.

Miss Sweet, librarian, declared, however, that "There will be plenty of time to decide where to put the library when we get it, but a location is something the students should be thinking about."

DISCUSS JOINT DANCE.
Three delegates from W. S. C. were present at the Tuesday meeting of the Intercollegiate Knights. Plans were discussed for a joint dance. It was decided that the Idaho chapter will be the guest of the Pullman chapter at a dance to be given in Pullman shortly after the close of the first semester.

42 out of 54 colleges choose this FAVORITE pipe tobacco and Yale agrees

LOOK UP at the windows of Larkness to find out what the Yale man smokes. In the spring-time you'll see him sitting in his window seat with a pipeful of Edgeworth between his teeth.

On Chapel Street... out at the Bowl... everywhere the Yale man goes, his pipe and Edgeworth go with him. And at 42 out of 54 of the leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite tobacco.

A tobacco must be good to win the vote of so many discriminating smokers. And Edgeworth is good. To convince yourself try Edgeworth. You can get it wherever tobacco is sold... 15¢ a tin. Or, for a generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro., Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Virginia.

WOMEN DEBATERS DEFEAT WHITMAN

Idaho women debaters won a double victory from Whitman college last Thursday and Friday evenings, on the question, "Resolved: That Gandhi Has Been a Benefit to India."

Thursday night the negative team, composed of Lois Porterfield and Gladys Oleson defeated Whitman at Walla Walla. A critic judge awarded the decision. Thelma Melgard and Elsie McMillin, Idaho's affirmative team, won from Whitman here, Friday evening. Judge Truitt, local attorney, was the critic judge.

NEW CATHEDRAL OPENS SUNDAY

The most important church event of the next week is the opening and dedication exercises of the new Holy Trinity Catholic church. Bishop Kelly, of Boise, head of this diocese will conduct the services Sunday, December 14, at 8:00. The church is considered one of the outstanding for its size. The large organ in the new cathedral was donated by Mrs. J. J. Gill.

Student organizations are making the next fortnight gay with social affairs. The Westminster guild is holding a business meeting and dinner in the women's gymnasium this afternoon from 5:00 to 7:00. The Kappa Phi club, organization of Methodist girls, is having a party also to pack a gift box for a mission in the Georgian mountains. The box is for the children in the mission who are from 2 to 18 years old. Miss Edith Harpst is in charge.

DAIRYING COURSE SPEEDS LEARNING

Thirteen Busy Students Are Enrolled in Short Ag. Course

All of the thirteen men in the dairy short course are busy learning in a short time the art of ice cream making, cheese-making, and butter-making. The University of Idaho has excellent equipment for the boys to work with in their dairy work. The department maintains a model creamery and a high class herd of dairy cattle which are used in their study of farm dairying, factory management, milk production, and other related courses.

If a visitor walks into the dairy building, more than likely he will see these students busy at work making laboratory tests, or, perhaps, one of them is taking the piddle out of an ice cream freezer. The lucky visitor is given a generous dish of the finished product to sample.

When the students have finished their short course they are granted certificates and are assisted in securing position. Opportunities in the field of dairy manufacture are excellent.

One of the students remarked, "Like the short course work very much and I think it is a wonderful opportunity for young men interested in dairying."

Next Friday evening there are four informal dances scheduled. Blue Key, men's honorary organization, will hold its informal dance at the Alpha Tau Omega house. Gamma Phi Beta sorority, the Lindley Hall and L. D. S. men's groups, will have informal dances that night, also.

HOME ECONOMICS HEAD BACK FROM WASHINGTON TRIP

Jensen Reports on Child Health Conference at Capital

WORK IS IMPRESSIVE Entertained by Former University of Idaho President

Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the department of home economics, recently returned from the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection in Washington, D. C. Her trip was pleasant as well as profitable. One of the most memorable occasions was the reception given by President and Mrs. Hoover for the delegates, Thursday, November 20.

The department of agriculture invited members of the conference to a dinner which was also one of the high-lights of the trip. Idaho delegates were entertained by Representative and Mrs. Burton L. French at the reception room in the Capitol building and by Dr. A. H. Upham, former president of the University of Idaho and Mrs. Upham at the Mayflower hotel in Washington.

"The simplicity of the furnishings and the extremely small size of the White House rooms in comparison to the grandeur and elaborate decorations in the palaces and buildings of Europe surprised and impressed me," Miss Jensen remarked. "The home of the chief of our nation is very unpretentious and with the exception of the ballroom in which the reception was held, the rooms are unusually small."

President Guarded "I could not fail to notice the presence of secret service men everywhere. The two bodyguards who accompanied President Hoover to the platform and stayed with him during his entire opening address gave me a feeling of indignation that it should be necessary to keep such a close and unrelenting watch over our president."

In regard to the work of the conference Miss Jensen received a very favorable impression. She said in part, "I was most impressed by the fact that the men of the United States considered the question of the youth of the country so important that he called together people from all parts of the union to sit in conference for four days to consider it. It is the responsibility now of those who were present to call to the attention of the fathers and mothers these principles, to carry them out as far as possible in our home state and community, and also to keep informed on the new developments and conclusions reached by the continuing committee of the conference."

AG. ENROLLMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Idaho School Among Leaders, According to Dean Iddings; Attended Washington Meeting

Increase of 26 per cent in the enrollment of the University of Idaho college of agriculture this year is more marked than similar cases reported at the recent annual meeting of land grant colleges and universities held at Washington, D. C. Dean E. J. Iddings, head of the college, said on his return. Forty-eight educational institutions were represented at the meeting.

In most sections of the country the agricultural courses of instruction are either holding their own or are on the upward trend, Dean Iddings said. Elsewhere, as at the University of Idaho, students in agricultural divisions are making wider choice of major studies due to the increasingly wider field which has been opened up in recent years by scientific investigations.

A specialist in farm marketing will be added to the staff of the Idaho agricultural extension division before January 1, Dean Iddings said.

COSMO ORDER SETS DATE FOR FROLIC

Cosmopolitan Club Will Hold Annual Christmas Program December 13.

Plans for a Christmas program, to be given at the Presbyterian church, Dec. 13, at 7:30, were made by Cosmopolitan club members at a meeting last Saturday evening. Catherine Reardon was chosen chairman of the program committee, according to T. C. Ventura, secretary.

With the program not yet completed, the full details will be provided later. However, it is known that one of the high lights of the program will be a talk, "How Christmas is Celebrated in Other Countries." The speaker has not yet been decided.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Generally the men are proud of their jobs. Each man is a loyal supporter of the group of girls at whose home he works and eats. The fellows who hash for more than a year usually stay at the same place and soon become a firm fixture in the household. MINES PROFESSOR TO GIVE ADDRESS

Dr. F. B. Laney Will Read Paper on Ore Deposits of Snake River Canyon.

Dr. F. B. Laney of the school of mines will present a paper on Friday evening, January 2, before a meeting in Spokane on the Columbia section of the American Institute of Mining Engineers. His paper has to do with the geology and ore deposits of the Snake River canyon. The particular region of the canyon with which the paper deals is situated between Homestead, Ore., and Lewiston, Ida. For the last eight years Dr. Laney's principal studies have been devoted to this and the Seven Devils' section of the country. The paper treating the subject of the Snake River canyon will be in addition to the two which he will read at the Northwest Scientific association's meeting in Spokane, December 27 and 28.

WILL DEBATE WITH WHITMAN, W. S. C.

Wheat Question Will be Debated; Open Forum Will Interest Farmers

The men's debate squad has two dual debates scheduled for this week, according to A. E. Whitehead, coach. They meet Whitman Thursday night at 8:00 in the Science hall, room 110, and Friday evening clash with the W. S. C. men, the same time and place. The question is, "Resolved: That government interference in the wheat situation has been detrimental to the farmers."

David Angney and Joseph Filseth compose the affirmative team to meet the Whitman team here Thursday. The negative team to be selected from the following: Robert Vincent, William Wetherell and Howard Ballif, debate in Walla Walla that evening.

Friday evening, the same teams debate W.S.C., the negative team traveling and the affirmative remaining at home as usual.

These debates are to be advertised among the granges to encourage the farmers to attend. An "open forum" or general discussion will be held immediately following the debates to review possible problems. This should prove both interesting and beneficial to the farmers.

BOB BROWN

four hours examination and cross-examination of the defense witnesses. The defense scored a large point in their cross-examination of the prosecution's star witness, Eddie Cross, during the opening hours of the trial last Wednesday night. Defense Attorney Schimke cleverly forced Cross to admit that the only way in which he recognized seeing the defendant immediately before and after the shooting was by "the piercing quality of his eyes", which, the defense holds, is not substantial evidence to convict a man of a serious charge as murder.

FORESTRY SCHOOL EXPERIMENTS IN WOOD CHEMISTRY

New Methods Uncovered in Idaho Research Laboratory

USE WASTE PRODUCTS

Dr. E. E. Hubert in Charge Of Extension Program

Work in the chemical utilization of wood, the first of its kind in the northwest timber area, is under way at the University of Idaho, the result of an expansion program instituted by the forest products laboratory in charge of Dr. E. E. Hubert of the school of forestry, announces dean F. G. Miller.

Development of new fiber insulating and wall boards, methods of making them fireproof and water-proof, moulded articles and utilization of resins, oils, and chemically extracted substances from wood are only a few of the possibilities of this vast new field. Wood chemistry has already developed artificial silk, powerful explosives, lacquers, moving picture films, dye stuffs, and other articles of even more remarkable nature.

Only Starting. The field of chemical utilization of wood is so vast that past discoveries are only a mere beginning. Lumbering today is necessarily wasteful when only one product, finished lumber, is exploited. Woods waste runs 20 per cent and higher of the original stand of timber, and approximately 33 per cent of the logs coming to the mills become mill waste. Finding use for the bark, shavings, sawdust and other present waste products is the goal of wood chemistry.

Development of this new phase of lumbering industry would greatly increase the value of Idaho's 20,000,000 acres of forest land.

Research activities in wood chemistry at the University of Idaho are being conducted by Dr. E. C. Jahn, a trained chemist and wood technician who received his doctorate degree from McGill university and who had further work in forest chemistry in Sweden last year. He is also a graduate of the New York college of forestry and holds membership in a number of national forestry honorary and professional societies.

FOX'S FIVE READY FOR MISSIONARIES

Inexperienced Idaho Hoopmen to Meet Veteran Whitman Squad

By Bill Pohlman. Idaho's inexperienced varsity five will take the floor for the first time this season against Whitman at Walla Walla a week from tonight.

Coach "Rich" Fox realizes that this will be a tough assignment for his squad and now that the fundamental practice and "warming up" processes are over, is rushing his hoop men forward as fast as possible in order to have a strong offense and tight defense prepared for the Missionaries.

The Washington school is always hard to trim on their own floor and this winter they have a team of veterans and some promising sophomores. A year ago the Vandals traveled to Walla Walla and divided a twin bill with Whitman and Coach Fox does not plan to let the Missionaries in on a game this time, as he would like to start the conference season with a clean slate.

The basketeers are getting plenty of scrimmage each afternoon now, and they are being shifted in an effort to find an effective scoring combination. Ten men are being worked steadily each day, and from the present outlook most of the work will fall to them this year, although every berth is still wide open and some of the other hoopsters may nick a place for themselves before the season is very old.

Duffy, Nelson, Wicks and Barrett, forwards; Hale, Drummond, Hall, and Lacy, guards; and Parks and O. Smith, centers, are the men who are almost certain to see action against the Missionaries next week.

The practices have been open up to date, but Fox will probably shut the doors for a few afternoons before he takes his hoopsters to Walla Walla and it is almost certain that he will shoot his men against the best freshman five Coach Jacoby can muster in order to give them some chance to try their offensive program.

MINNESOTA GROUPS TAX ALL RUSHEES

No more beans and milk after rushing week for Minnesota fraternities! A two dollar tax has been imposed upon rushees by a hard-hearted interfraternity council last week. In the past over 5,000 free meals have been tucked under the belts of frosh in one rushing season.

Under the new system, freshmen will receive rushing dates through the assistant dean of student affairs, after receiving notices through their post office boxes to call for them. After receiving their dates, the freshmen must pay the two dollar tax before the answers will be returned to the fraternities. The total revenue expected from the blanket tax will be about $2,000. The tax will be the only expense of rushing to the freshmen and will cover all meals eaten at fraternity houses during rush week. Receipts will be kept by the dean's office to aid in distributing the money received among the fraternities.

while Tennessee spent only $4.68. Massachusetts people produced in the same year $144 more per capita than those of Tennessee.

President Glenn Frank, University of Wisconsin, says, "The chances of a young man or woman to achieve distinction are multiplied 961 times by a college education. Out of each million with high school education 622 attain distinction. Out of each million with college education, 5768 attain distinction. So it seems that for all their faults, and their faults are many, the schools are a good investment."
