CALLAND TAKING TWENTY-THREE ON TRIP TO HAWAII

Vandals Entrain Sunday Evening for Honolulu to Play Final Games

SAIL FROM FRISCO

Dec. 16, Arriving at Islands Six Days Later; Jacoby and Young Also Go

Idaho's Red Shirted Vandals will board the train for Portland Sunday night on the first lap of their long journey to Honolulu where they battle the Honolulu Athletic club on Christmas Day and the University of Hawaii on New Year's Day.

The party will include Coach Leo Calland, Assistant Coach Jacoby, Manager Wilford Young and 23 players. They plan to sail from San Francisco December 16 on the Matsonia and will arrive at Honolulu on December 22 in time to get a couple of workouts before the opening game.

The squad came out of the U.C.-L.A. battle with only one serious injury, and the coaches have pronounced the team ready to give the Islanders plenty of entertainment during their stay there. H. Jacoby at end was hurt in the California tussle and will be the only man unable to make the trip.

Calland and "Cap" Horton are due to arrive from the Pacific Coast conference meet today, and the coaches will go to work immediately on the final practice sessions today and tomorrow. O. Anderson has had the men working out on the field and in Lewis court for several days and from the spirit shown, Idaho will be a confident eleven on New Year's day.

Can't Escape Workouts Workouts will be held every day on the boat with plenty of signal practice so the men will not get stiff during the long voyage. If the weather is stormy Calland plans to substitute chalk talks and limbering up exercises so the gridders will not be idle all the time.

Most of the offensive will shift to Wilson, Davis and Sather who will probably throw lots of flips if they find the heavy Hawaiian wall too strong to smash. Both boys can be counted on for plenty of gains by the aerial route and with Taylor and Hanford running out for the flips the Deans will be in hot water all afternoon. Fred Wilkie and John Booker are both in good shape and waiting for a chance to try the Dean line. It will be Booker's last trip with the Vandals and he can be counted on to turn in a nice game. Art Spaugy and Schulte are still fighting it out for the center position and both boys should continue their weekly practice of sifting through the opposing wall to smear the ball carriers in their tracks.

The Vandals are no longer an inexperienced eleven as they have a full year of games behind them and supporters expect the best showings of both offensive and defensive power of the season when they take the field on Dec. 25 and January 1.

FACULTY BUYING STUDENTS' PAPER

Campaign for Subscriptions to Argonaut Starts Off With Bang

The Argonaut faculty campaign so far has been very successful and man subscriptions have already been turned in. Those who have not yet been asked to subscribe will have their chance before the holidays. Those who wish to subscribe now may do so through Miss Alma Brown at the graduate manager's office in the Memorial gym, or the Argonaut solicitors. Subscribers should specify how and where they wish the Argonaut delivered. Subscriptions are now $1.25.

FACULTY MEMBERS PLAN PROGRAM

Miss Garnett Will Direct Sunday Afternoon Musical Program

"Slumber Songs of the Madonna," will be presented Sunday, December 14 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the university auditorium. No admission will be charged, and it will be open to the public.

The stage will be arranged so that the platform will have three different heights, which will give the audience a better view of the singers, and will also give a better volume to the music.

"Slumber Songs of the Madonna" is a well-known poem by Alfred Noyes, a contemporary poet. The music is written by May Strong.

Miss Maude Garnett will direct the program. Other members of the faculty who will assist are: Miss Agnes Bothne, soprano; Miss Miriam Little, cellist; Miss Isabel Clark, pianist; and Professor Carl Claus, violinist.

The Purdue-Butler game marked the renewal of relations after a lapse of 28 years. Derbies are now being worn by senior law students at Ohio State.

READ JAIL PLAYS FOR DRAMA CLASS

Recent plays on prison life are to be featured at the next regular meeting of the advanced play production class at the U-Hut on Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Following a discussion of the most notable examples of recent plays of this type, one act each of three recent outstanding dramas will be read. Thelma Melgard, Moscow, will read a part of "Justice," by John Galsworthy, the noted English playwright; while Charles Herndon, Salmon, will read from Flavin's "Criminal Code." Arthur Wesley's recent Broadway success, "The Last Mile" will be read by Stewart Mingo, Moscow. Accommodations are available for those who are not formally enrolled in the course, but who wish to attend.

HOME FOLKS PAY HIGH COMPLIMENT TO "VANDELEERS"

Press Reports Indicate U. of I. Entertainers Going Over Big

IN POCATELLO NOW

Group Appears Before Southern Branch Tonight; Start Home Tomorrow

According to reports from Southern Idaho, the Idaho Vandaleers are having a highly successful trip. The following are extracts from South Idaho papers: "Received by large enthusiastic audiences wherever they have appeared, the Idaho Vandaleers are storming southern Idaho with a music and dance attack that has made five entertainment 'touchdowns' in five towns." So runs the lead of a story in the Idaho Falls Register of December 8.

"The Twin Falls Times says: 'The Vandaleers, during the brief weeks they have been on tour, have brought high grade entertainment to many towns in Idaho and adjoining states. Effectively costumed, the performers present singing, dancing and other entertainment features of excellence.'"

"Weiser Audience Pleased" "Gorgeous costumes, beautiful singing, and splendid dancing, with a well-balanced program," from one of the Weiser papers. Boise Capital News: "The Vandaleers from the University of Idaho will get a bigger house if they come to Boise again, it is predicted, as their artistic and colorful, as well as tunefully beautiful program, quite carried away those who heard it."

Yesterday, December 11, the Vandaleers gave a concert at a morning assembly at Southern Branch, Pocatello, in the afternoon they entertained at Blackfoot high school, and last night they presented their concert at Idaho Falls.

Tonight the last concert of the Southern Idaho trip will be given at Nampa, and the Vandaleers will leave Nampa Sunday morning and arrive here in Moscow Sunday night, where they will remain for one day. On Tuesday, December 16, they will go to Spokane to appear before the chamber of commerce in a luncheon program which will be broadcast over station KHQ. Tuesday night they will present a concert in Lewiston, which will be their last concert before the Christmas holidays.

YEARLING REPORT TO "RED" JACOBY

Babes Make Good Showing In First Varsity Scrimmage

Coach "Red" Jacoby who returned from Los Angeles recently where he attended the U. S. C. Notre Dame game last Saturday, resumed his task of developing the yearling basketball team Wednesday night. During his absence the squad was handled by "Rich" Fox, varsity coach. The present line-up of men on the squad which was chosen by Fox are: Grenier, McConnell, Herman, Gaskill, Ward, Hays, Carlson, Stone, Tanner, Squance, Giffen, Williams, Fickes, Marley, Lee, Stanton, Hunter, Geraghty, and Bowker.

Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. the yearlings and the varsity scrimmaged. The squads were divided into three teams, each playing about 15 minutes. From the appearance of the frosh against the varsity, indications point toward a successful season.

Grenier and McConnell are both far over six feet tall and seem to be holding down the center positions. Herman, Washington all-state guard from North Central, Spokane, has been playing regularly at a guard position. Gaskill, Tanner, Giffen, Carlson, and Geraghty, are all fast ball players, and have been showing plenty during the past weeks of practice.

The remaining days before the vacation will be devoted to fundamentals, according to Jacoby. The freshman and varsity are scheduled to scrimmage again Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Voices of students of speech department at Ohio Wesleyan university are to be recorded and filed away just as permanently as are their examination papers.

DR. REINHARDT GIVES VIEWS ON WORLD POLITICS

President of Mills College Compares Chinese Culture To American

FORMER IDAHOAN

Says Education Is Life But Must be a Conscious Process

Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills college, addressed a large and interested audience in the university auditorium Thursday morning.

After selections given by the band and Vandaleites, Dean Permal J. French introduced the speaker, who began vigorously upon the subject of vitality and honesty of the task that we as students have before us in preparation for our future and mature life.

"Education," she says, "has self-consciousness in it. It is awareness to things about us, and to be really educated, we must be interested in vital things."

"Education is life, it true," she said, "but it is only one aspect of it."

"The life we are living here at college is simply a training for our future duties. Put meaning into that life, or don't clutter up the campus!"

Dr. Reinhardt was a former Idaho instructor. To the question, "Can one be given an education," she replied, decidedly, "Education is a mental experience, peculiar to each of us alone, as individuals. No one can give anybody an education."

Tells of Chinese Professor The chief thought of her speech is a result of a discussion with a well-known Chinese professor and educator of Shanghai, China, with whom she talked about eight months ago.

Just how Occidental culture, this new technical era, is influencing our civilization was of interest to this professor.

How long can a nation having a technical foundation exist? Art and philosophy are an essential part of the culture of Asia. Asia has not been interested in power and machinery, but in development of individual powers and introspection. The Occident has been interested in education in a more external and mechanical way. In spite of all our education there are still human beings who must live and be fed. What is our machinery, doing for this?"

GEM STAFF CUTS IN ON BIG JOB

Second Shipment of Pictures Ready For Engravers; Copy Rolls In

The second shipment of Gem pictures is now ready and will be rushed to the engravers in Seattle this week, according to Wayne Blair, editor of the yearbook. Included in this will be pictures for the majority of the administration section, track intramural sports to date and women's activities to date.

The engraving for the "Campus Scenes" section has been finished, and the proofs okayed and returned. Some very unusual and striking results have been obtained with these pictures according to staff members. The engravers are making final color selections for the opening section and division pages this week.

LIBRARIANS WORK DURING HOLIDAYS

The university library will remain open during the Christmas holidays. There will be someone in the library during the day, but it will probably be closed at night, according to one of the librarians.

University librarians will handle the work and all student help will be released during the vacation period.

Theta Sigma Coods Publish Tuesday's Issue of Argonaut

Members of Women's Journalism Honorary Will Get Out Argonaut for December 16.

The Theta Sigma issue of the Argonaut will be published Tuesday December 16, it was announced at a regular meeting of the organization last Tuesday.

Elsie Warm was appointed editor, and Elizabeth Taylor was chosen associate editor. Helen Kerr Baterson was named news editor and Lucie Womack was given the position of society editor. The copy desk will be in charge of Hazel Simonds and Virginia Grant Williams. Agatha Harding will handle the proof reading. Linn Cowling and Mary Turley will write up the sports while Shirley Cunningham will conduct a humor column.

The entire paper will be edited by the ten members of Theta Sigma.

Letters announcing the contest sponsored by the organization for the best paper put out by the women students, were sent to the high schools throughout the state. The paper contest will begin shortly after Christmas and will be judged and the cup awarded in the spring.

In order to prevent police intervention the annual battle between the engineers and the law students at the University of Missouri is called a football game.

Executive Board Head Says Situation Will Get Attention

Charles Graybill, president of the A.S.U., made public a statement today in regard to the fact that a number of officials of the associated students and of the classes are on the official university probation list. His statement had to do with the action which the executive board may be expected to take in regard to the situation. His statement follows in full:

"It is not my intention, nor the intention of the executive board, to act contrary to any university ruling."

"The rule regarding ineligibility of students for extra-curricular activity because of low grades is a university ruling. It has been enforced by the student governments in the past and we shall handle the present condition in the same manner."

"Because this situation arises outside of the realm of the constitutional government of the A.S.U., no action will be taken, nor can we confer with Dean Crawford, our faculty advisor, as to the customary and proper action to take."

CONFERENCE GRID SEASON PRODUCES SEVERAL UPSETS

Dope Bucket Kicked All Over By Coast Schools

W. S. C. COPS TITLE

Every Traditional Contest Ends in Lopsided Victory

By BILL FOHLMAN. The end of the 1930 Pacific Coast conference football season found the championship winging its way northward, for the first time since 1925, where it landed right in the laps of Coach "Babe" Hollingbery, and some 20 Crimson and Gray gridders.

The far western schedule produced some startling upsets that no gridiron fan would have dreamed of in September. The dope bucket was kicked all over the coast and finally dumped into the ocean. More conference players received national recognition than ever before and nearly all inter-sectional battles were capped with Pacific victories.

Every traditional game except the Washington-Washington State and Huskie-Oregon games in lopsided scores. The Huskies played inspired ball against Oregon and W. S. C. and they bowled over California for the first time in five seasons. Washington State surprised everyone and came through the mill with a clean slate and the conference honors. The Trojans won from Stanford, California and U. C. L. A. by lopsided tallies, but dropped a battle to the Cougars and one to Notre Dame. Stanford found itself after a poor start, and when "Pop" Warner's reserves began to function they trimmed the Golden Bears by a huge score of 41 to 0 and turned back the invasion of Jack Cannell's big Green Dartmouth eleven 14 to 7.

CAMPUS WILL DON HOLIDAY ATTIRE

Evergreen In Front of Ad Building to Get Set Of Lights

The Christmas spirit will soon have a visible effect upon the campus of the university when, under the direction of Raymond W. Lind who is supervisor of university buildings and grounds, one of the tall evergreen trees in front of the administration building will be strung with colored lights.

For years in the past the university has assumed the responsibility of dressing one of the trees in the holiday costume of bright lights. Other embellishments have often been added by old man weather in the form of sparkling crystals of snow.

This year the university will again decorate in the usual fashion. Mr. Lind announced that the lights will be strung within the next two days. At present the only cause for delay is a wait for more favorable weather. No matter what the weather, however, the tree will certainly be in full dress by Sunday.

FACULTY TO MEET

There will be a faculty meeting of the Letters and Science department Monday at 4:10 for the purpose of discussing the curriculum.

Freshman women are not permitted to wear hats on the campus at the University of California.

MEMORIAL GYM GETS STAIRWAY

A new stairway is being built at the present time in the Memorial gymnasium. The stairway is to lead from the locker and dressing rooms to the gym floor directly above. This stairway is at the west end of the building and is being built outside of the end wall rather than up through the floor.

The stairway will make it possible for varsity basketball teams to come out onto the floor directly from the dressing rooms and will thus do away with the present inconvenience caused by having to traverse the length of the building to get from the locker rooms to the stairs leading up to the east end of the floor. It will also allow an exit and entrance without interference from the crowds in the halls after athletic contests on the floor.

Graduate In Tibet 23 Years Subscriber To Idaho Argonaut

The circulation of the Argonaut may not be so large as some, but it goes just as far.

For 23 years the university paper has been a "bit of breath" from home to D. J. Jensen, who now awaits his copy in the interior of China.

Mr. Jensen is general director of religious work and Baptist missionaries in Tibet. He is one of the few white people who have gained admittance to the land of the "Lolos," aborigines of northern China. In a letter to Dean J. G. Eldridge, he tells of many interesting experiences in his missionary work among these people.

Rev. Jensen was formerly a resident of Moscow. After his graduation from the university he studied at the Colgate Theological seminary.

Academic Records Reveal Another Irregularity in Official Circles

CASES QUESTIONABLE

Latest Developments "Interesting" Says Observer; No Action Yet

Two new developments have taken place in the student official probation tangle in recent investigation and checking in the offices of the deans it has been found that two of the members representing the senior class are not members of that class in academic standing.

The fact that the president of the senior class is a junior in credits as is also one of the senior men on the executive board does not fall directly under any constitutional provision but observers of the situation have declared that the information is "interesting." This, they point out, is of interest since in reality it is the academic standing which determines whether or not a student is a member of one class or the other.

Similar cases have existed in previous years but such a condition has some additional interest when linked with other recent developments in student political fields, according to many students on the campus.

No action has been taken in regard to the ineligibility of the officers mentioned in previous stories carried in the ARGONAUT. The only information which has been received is in regard to demands by students that the executive board arrange some manner in checking up on officials in the future and of allowing temporary appointments to offices made vacant by the operation of the university academic rulings. It is declared that at present no ruling in either the A.S.U., constitution or by-laws governs the question arising in the present situation.

LEAGUE SPONSORS LITERARY CONTEST

National Municipal Will Award Prize for Best Essay

The National Municipal league announces that the field is open to the annual William H. Baldwin prize contest of 1931. This prize is awarded annually to the author of the best essay on a subject connected with municipal government.

The contest is open to undergraduate students registered in a regular course in any college or university in the United States offering direct instruction in municipal government.

The following are the subjects for the contest:

1. Private vs. municipal ownership and operation of airports.
2. State controlled metropolitan government vs. home rule.
3. Allocation of a proper portion of state gasoline tax to municipalities.
4. The relationships between efficient government and the rates for fire and other insurance.
5. Expanding the aid and influence of the federal government in municipal affairs.

Essays must not be less than 5,000 words, nor more than 10,000 words in length and must be typewritten in duplicate. Essays must be mailed in duplicate or delivered to an express company not later than May 15, 1931. They should be addressed to Russel Forbes, Secretary of the National Municipal League, 261 Broadway, New York, and marked "For the Baldwin Prize." The name of the competitor should not appear on the essay. A fictitious name or some other designation must be given instead, and the real name of the competitor (together with college and home address) must be enclosed in a sealed envelope accompanying the essay.

The prize will be awarded by a board of judges selected by the executive committee of the National League.

VANDAL HOOPMEN READY FOR FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Foxmen Hope to Upset Whitman in Walla Walla

SCRIMMAGE FROSH

Coach Undecided on Lineup For Opening Contest

Idaho's varsity hoopmen are working hard for the two opening games with Whitman next week and "Rich" Fox is almost ready to pronounce his charges set for the first test of the season. The men have been learning a lot about floor work the past week and should show a strong offensive against the Missionaries if their basket "eyes are on."

Lineup Undecided. The first actual scrimmage for the men took place last night when they tangled with Coach Jacoby's frosh quintet in which nearly everybody took a hand. Fox started Drummond and Hall, guards; Wicks and Barrett, forwards; and O. Smith, center. This team worked together nicely and had the yearlings well under control throughout the scrimmage. Drummond and Barrett looked especially good and their shooting was almost perfect. The second group, consisting of Aukett and Lacy, guards; Nelson and Duffy, forwards; and Hale, center, was into a lot of difficulty at first but gradually got warmed up to the task and began swishing the net with regularity. Gaskill, Geraghty, Tanner and Carlson turned in the best performances of the afternoon for the frosh and it was their excellent guarding that kept the varsity score down. Another workout with the first year men is slated for this afternoon and Fox may decide to strengthen the Vandals a third try before he shoots them against the Missionaries.

There is lots of competition on the floor and no position is safe, for Fox is undecided as to his starting lineup, although nearly every man will probably get a chance to show his stuff at Walla Walla.

Bob Drummond and Stan Hale will get the call at the guards as both boys have seen a year of experience and are playing fast ball in practice. Bill Hall is the man to watch at the guard position. He is showing a world of confidence and handling ability. The former Pocatello star will look well in conference company this winter and may give the Vandals attack its needed punch.

Hugh Duffy is still the best of the forwards but will have to stay at top speed all season to keep out Skinny Nelson and Pete Wicks. These two Moscow flashes are the main reason why the local high school had such a powerful five two years ago. Both men are ready for varsity work but make up for the handling by excessive speed and dead eye shots through the net.

Oleyn Smith is giving Kenneth Parks a race for the center berth and may win out yet from the tall boy. Smith handles himself better on the floor, but Parks makes up the difference with his height and a fair shooting ability.

To Meet Sparklers. Dan Aukett has been improving at guard and will likely see plenty of action. Aukett, the big, steady type of player who is always ready to come through in a pinch and Fox will be depending on him many times before the year is over.

Another game has been scheduled for the 20th of the month with the Sparkler five of Spokane and Fox will bring his hoopers back to Moscow immediately after the Missionary series in order to iron out the kinks for the entertainment of the Spokanites.

RELIGIOUS CLUBS TO HOLD PARTIES

Will be Startling Star and Golf and Taffy Pull Parties

Christmas parties are to hold the place of honor for church organizations the next week. This Friday the Wesley foundation of the Methodist church will entertain at a "Startling Star party" at 8 p. m. at the church. This is an unusual party and all plans are to be kept secret. The name lends a great deal of interest and sounds unusual. All the Methodist students have been invited to attend.

The Presbyterians are giving a golf party and taffy pull on December 17. This also sounds interesting though mixing golf with taffy is quite a different idea. Of course, they may both be classed, at times, as a long hard pull. At any rate, entertainment is promised for those who care to come.

This week, the Kappa Phi club, organization of Methodist women, packed a box of gifts for a mission in the Georgia mountains and had a party while they did it. The Westminster guild of the Presbyterian church had a business meeting and dinner in the women's gymnasium from 5 to 7 p. m. Tuesday evening. All the women reported a good time and good food.

Smoking is allowed into in a certain part of the campus of the University of Utah at Salt Lake City.

Why Not Give The Boys A Hand?

SUNDAY night the University of Idaho Vandals board the train on the first leg of the longest faunt an Idaho team has ever taken. San Francisco is the first stop and then the Vandals walk up the plank of the Matsonia and sail for the Hawaiian Islands for the final football games of the season.

The Idaho conference season has been none too successful, but the University was represented by a fighting team, sixty minutes of every game and only to the conference champions did the Vandals lose by a decisive margin. Outweighed always, but never outfought.

Coach Leo Calland, "head man" of the Vandals, is not quite as well known on the campus as he might be. He doesn't make a great deal of noise, altho defeats, or broadcast Idaho's lack of material. He doesn't draw a fabulous salary and he isn't imported from the "Big ten". Idaho is not fashionable in that respect.

Calland's best recommendations, when he came up from Southern California two years ago, were being a smart football coach and a gentleman. He is both.

Material started coming into the Vandal camp this fall and there will be more next year. Idaho had a tough team this year and will have a tougher one in 1931. Calland will admit it himself, if pressed.

However, this is still 1930 and a pair of victories would look nice before the football legs are stowed away in mothballs for another year. Idaho students could help win those games and pay tribute to a fighting team and a mighty fine coach by gathering at the station Sunday night for the biggest send-off an Idaho team has ever been given. They deserve it.

"Passing The Buck"

ATTEMPTING a new wrinkle, campus politicians endeavored to put another star in their tin crown when they nominated and brought about the election of an ineligible candidate for an A.S.U.I. office. Some excuse might have been acceptable had it not been shown that the candidate, even at the time of his nomination, was, according to university rule, not eligible.

The Argonaut sees in the move just another example of the same sordid political engineering the campus has watched for several years.

Idaho's A.S.U.I. president seems to have forgotten he is under obligation to some 1900 students when he declines to take the incident seriously. According to his interpretation of the student body constitution, the university probation rule means nothing. The academic council may place a man on probation and say that he is not qualified to take part in extra curricular activities, but the council can go no further. To replace the officer is entirely a student body matter, members of the faculty point out. And they are right.

Who then is qualified to act for the students, if not the president of the A.S.U.I. and his executive board?

To The Argonaut the whole affair is political railroad—open and shut! Ten days or more have gone by since the matter came to light. Nothing has been done officially, so far as the students know, and The Argonaut has been unable to get in touch with someone who can say anything will be done. Two executive board meetings have been cancelled, admittedly to delay discussion of the issue.

The Argonaut does not believe the A.S.U.I. president, nor any other officer can evade an issue involving a bold violation of the constitution and maintain he is meeting his obligations to the student body. Passing the buck may suit the political needs, but it doesn't satisfy others, comment on the campus indicates.

Factionalism has grown to serious proportions at Idaho. Scores of universities in the past learned too late that it is a costly error and certainly this latest political maneuver won't help matters here.

The Argonaut suggests the A.S.U.I. give the politicians the boot and run its own business for a while.

Campus Clowns Get Chance To Parade Behind Footlights

WANTED—A CLOWN.
Any enterprising young man who has had experience with clown or similar roles in plays is requested to report to Coach Fred C. Blanchard. Several clown parts in the next all-college play have not yet been cast and any student desiring to try out for these parts is urged to do so.

This might have descended out of clouds to answer dreams. It may be the lucky break of a lifetime for some fellow who has apparently been looking for a long time, judging from his actions, for a chance exactly like this one. At any rate there are many talented clowns on the campus.

Now is the time to drag out your clownish ways and go through all the familiar antics, if you can act more clownish than you have been right along.

There's only one reason why Mr. Blanchard might have made a big mistake in choosing a play with clowns in the cast and then advertising for actors to fill the roles. Think of the campus if all the seekers of the roles try to do their practicing out in the public eye.

SLEEPER SAM

O-HELL-O—We have had numerous requests from people on the campus for our opinion on the faculty purchasing Argonauts, the milk problem, and the girl's smoking situation. Until the present time we have refrained, but under great pressure we have been seduced into giving birth to the following: . . . Firstly: We think the faculty should purchase the Argonaut if for no other reason than to read Sleeper Sam. Secondly: the milk problem has been so separated and hosed up as to receive our censure to other things. Thirdly: the smoking problem, while not a petty question is too intimate to discuss, except in secluded nooks. —SS—

Doughboys Inspiration For Foreign Menus After War

By Elma Minear
A survey of the Christmas menus for several years shows a marked decrease in elaborateness and abundance of food. "But, whatever you select, let the feast be simple in its harmony....we are, on the whole, moving in the right direction and substituting moderation in holiday dinners as in all others," says a woman's magazine for this month.

In 1913 the model Christmas dinner was a lordly meal, beginning with an oyster cocktail, following with a clear consommé, roast goose potato stuffing, candied sweet potatoes and two other vegetables, salad, crackers and cream cheese, English plum pudding with brandy sauce, ice cream, cakes, apollinaris, and black coffee. Little change was evident two years later, yet even then more vegetables and salad were demanded and dessert showed a tendency to become simpler and lighter. By 1917 we were saying "Together we dine, divided we don't," and the Christmas menu included many recipes derived from foreign countries. In an effort to cultivate a feeling of intimacy among the allied powers.

Serbian chicken soup, Belgian stewed hare, French petite fours, English salad, Philadelphia ice cream, Scotch shortbread, yule log, Chinese nuts and Japanese candies completed the ideal menu that year. Economy was the keynote. All thought was for the doughboy away from home, and the attempt to "do our bit."

By 1918 the spirit of "The war is won! Reconstruction is here!" was translated into cuisine terms as roast goose, celery, sweet pickles, potatoes on the half shell, creamed onions, squash, dressed lettuce, date pudding, cake, and coffee. Potatoes were being substituted for bread in all sorts of ingenious dishes, even toasted and served as bread sticks. Although potatoes at two dollars a bushel were considered expensive, bread at ten cents a twenty-ounce loaf was worse, and could not be had every day.

A model Christmas dinner menu for this year might consist of caviar fingers, salted nuts, celery, olives, roast duck, bread stuffing, rice, string beans and onions, cranberry and apple sauce, mince pie, and coffee. Less effort is expended on heavy, rich dishes, and a tendency is shown to select foods that may be at least partially prepared a day in advance. Our desserts now are far simpler than those of even ten years ago. Usually only one is served while then it was not extraordinary to serve at least two rich desserts after a bounteous dinner.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL IS NEARING END

A few games remain to be played off in the women's intramural volleyball tournament. The championship rests among the Sophomore team 2, Freshman team 5, Freshman 4, and Freshman 2, according to Miss Mabel Locke, instructor in physical education. The Sophomore team 2 has played all the others and won six out of eight games. Monday and Tuesday will complete volleyball for this year.

ALPHA ZETA MEETS.

Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, met at a luncheon at the Moscow hotel. E. J. Iddings, dean of the college of agriculture, talked of his recent trip to Central America, and also of the National Fruit Express. Both student and faculty members were present at the meeting.

DEAN FARMER BACK

Dean R. H. Farmer, head of the school of business administration, is in Moscow again after an absence of three days during which he attended a meeting of the Western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in Portland. The meeting was held on December 8 and 9. Delegates from all the Pacific coast states gathered to discuss business problems of the West.

ONE-ACT PLAYS WILL BE GIVEN

Four Skits to be Presented
Tonight and Tomorrow
Night

Four one-act plays will be presented before students and townspeople at the University auditorium tonight and Saturday. The curtain rises promptly at 8:20 p. m. These four brief plays offer a wide variety of entertainment ranging from tragedy to farce. Three are pure comedy, while "The Next Step On" is a fantastic semi-tragedy. Students in advanced play production classes have had charge of the direction of these plays under Prof. Fred C. Blanchard's supervision.

First on the program is "The Kelly Kid," an amusing Irish comedy centering about young Robbie Kelly whose escapades finally lead to a brush with the law. Leland Cannon and Shirley Cunningham have had charge of the direction of this comedy.

"The Next Step On" is a fantasy in which the scene is after death. Unusual and clever lighting effects aid in producing the necessary air of unreality for this semi-tragedy, which has been under the direction of Lionel Campbell and Thelma Melgard.

"Pure Farce." "The Gate" is pure farce. Rapid fire dialogue leads the situation to a rapid climax, showing how the office boy contrives to manage an outraged father, a dozy aunt, and an eloping young couple. Milton Lockwood and Elinor Jacobs have had the direction of the play.

When a Hindoo playwright comes to a little town he naturally creates a sensation among the women. This is the case in "Great Minds," where charming romance also enters into the plot. The direction of this comedy has been in the hands of Robert Grant and Grace Eldridge.

- Mgr.—Bevis, T. M. A.
- Utility men: Menard, Fiji, Colgrove, Phi Delt; Tatus, Teke; Grimm, Beta; Raidy, Sigma Nu.

COSMOPOLITANS PLANNING TALKS

Details of the Christmas program, to be given by the Cosmopolitan club at the Presbyterian church, Saturday night at 7:30, have been completed, according to T. C. Ventura, secretary of the organization.

The introductory address will be given by H. S. Dinsa, president. A talk on Persia will be given by H. Sasani, and other talks will be given by natives of various foreign countries, relative to Christmas. Other features will be the playing of the Filipino string quartet, and vocal, piano and violin solos.

OFFICERS TO MEET.

A formal meeting of Scabbard and Blade will be held Wednesday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock, at the Memorial gymnasium for the initiation of Captain H. L. Henkle as associate member. All active members are requested to be present. Associate members and alumni are invited.

FACULTY PARTY SET

A "get-together" party of the school of mines faculty members will be given by Dean J. W. Finch on Thursday evening, December 18. A dinner will be served at the Blue Bucket, after which the guests will go to Dean Finch's apartment at 401 North Polk street.

GRIDIRON SEASON PRODUCE UPSETS

Oregon State produced the trial horse of the conference, but finally came through to take Oregon's undefeated squad into camp to the tune of 16 to 0. The Beavers also traveled east where they put the skids under a strong West Virginia team on Thanksgiving day. Montana showed an eleven of veterans that played strong ball all year, but except for the Idaho game were unable to connect with larger schools. Idaho produced a young eleven that showed flashes of power during the season and the outstanding performances of some of the sophomores makes them the talk of the coast whenever the 1931 season is mentioned.

California turned out a weak eleven that was beaten at every turn all season and now they are looking for a new coach to take over the Berkeley reins next year. The incoming mentor will find very little outstanding material, when he reports for his new job in September, although something unexpected may turn up for him. Coach Bill Spaulding has been building at U. C. L. A. and this year the Bruins showed lots of strength. They developed a fine freshman squad there and supporters of the Los Angeles school are enthusiastic over the future.

Saints Were Strong.

St. Mary's sent a great team onto the field, led by the mighty Stennett, and after trimming Fordham, the pride of the east, climaxed the season with a brilliant victory over the strong Oregon eleven. Gonzaga did not come up to its usual show of power and lost every game until the Irish took on a weak Olympic club team on Turkey day and administered a beating to the clubmen. The Bulldogs are in much the same position as Idaho, as they will have plenty of veterans back in the harness along with some powerful sophomore prospects when the opening whistle blows in September.

All the conference camps have put away their moleskins except the Cougars and the Vandals. Washington State defends the honor of the coast against the plunging backs of the Crimson tide. New Year's day while Idaho will be far off, Honolulu to meet the powerful University of Hawaii Rain-gows and the Honolulu All-Stars.
