FAST ORANGEMEN DEFEAT VANDALS BY 52-30 SCORE

Half Ends 36 to 11; Beavers Outscored in Second Period

MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

Rox Hopes to Stop Title Bound Oregon Staters

By Bill Pohlman. Idaho's varsity basketball five battled hard for 40 minutes, but went down to defeat 52 to 30 at the hands of a veteran Oregon State quintet last night in the conference opener on the local floor.

Ken Fagans Forward

"Rich" Rox used every man on his roster in a vain attempt to check the terrific offensive of the Orangenemen which functioned with perfection as long as the regulars were in the battle. The Vandals trotted onto the floor at the beginning of the second period and staged a determined rally that had the fans howling with delight. The coast boys recovered themselves before the scoring gap had closed far and proceeded to increase their margin until near the end of the fray when the Red Shirt second stringers tossed several more counters through the hoop to narrow the lead.

The game was rough throughout with nearly every starter having two or three fouls chalked against him. Merrill, Orange guard, left the floor late in the last canto. The Vandals were outclassed in floor work and their basket eyes were off, but they more than made up for this disadvantage with their never-die spirit which kept the Beavers worried until the final gun.

Get Early Lead. The Oregon five started off with a bang and had run up a large score before the bewildered Vandals steadied down and began ringing the hoop right along with the invaders. Every man on the Idaho bench went into that first half, but the fast breaking offense, started by Lewis, would not be denied, and the count at half time stood Oregon State 38 Idaho 11.

No Money, No Boss, No Ice—But Outing Club Goes On

Strange things have happened but the strangest is the new Idaho Outing Club. It just happened, and like Topsy, it less grew. For an organization which is carrying one of the most ambitious programs of operation it has a minimum of organization. It has no money, no boss, no ice, and yet it goes on from day to day, the only strife being with the weather man.

RECENT VANDALEER TOUR HELD SUCCESS

Was Most Economical Tour Ever Taken by Similar Group; Grayhill Lauds Management

"Incomplete returns on the Vandaleer tour indicate that the expense of the trip will be $100.00 less than the cost of transportation," according to the information given Charles Graybill, student body president, by George Horton, graduate manager. "It is the smallest expense invoked by any similar organization on a state tour," he said.

This was made possible through the courtesy of southern Idaho people who opened their homes to the Vandaleers, and by the efficient management of William Shamberger, who handled the club on its tour.

WHITTINGTON GETS STATESMAN POST; JONES NEW EDITOR

Former Argonaut Head Takes Job With Boise Daily

Staff Is Unchanged

Special Election Will Name New Managing Editor

Edward Whittington, editor of the Argonaut, withdrew from school Saturday and left the same day for Boise where he is to become managing editor of the Idaho Daily Statesman. As provided in the constitution of the A.S.U.I., Paul E. Jones, managing editor, will fill the remainder of Whittington's unexpired term and will then serve as editor for the school year 1931-32.

The constitution makes no provision for the selection of a new managing editor but the executive board will probably name tonight a member of the staff to serve temporarily until the Argonaut board has had time to make a recommendation, and a special A.S.U.I. election can be held. The election will probably be held soon after the start of the second semester.

The new editor of the Argonaut plans no immediate changes either in the makeup of the paper or in the personnel of the staff. "The staff members selected by Whittington will hold their positions for the remainder of the year or as long as their work is satisfactory," he said last night. "Some minor changes may be made in the present makeup, but probably not until the second semester starts."

SPRAY PROGRAMS SUBJECT AT MEET

Farm Problems Discussed This Week at Lewiston Convention

Spray programs for 1931, irrigation problems, marketing and storage of fruit, cultural methods, and control of weeds, insect pests and diseases are subjects to be discussed by members of the Northern Idaho Horticultural association, scheduled to meet at Lewiston, January 12 to 14. Dr. C. O. Vindick, head of the department of horticulture of the University of Idaho college of agriculture is president of the association.

Prof. Claude Wakeland, entomologist for the University of Idaho, presents two papers, "1931 Spray Program for Stone Fruits" and "The Coding Moleh Spray Program for 1931". Dr. C. W. Hungeford, head of the department of plant pathology, will report on spray experiments conducted last year, and also give a paper on the diseases of small fruits and truck crops.

NEALE BACK ON CAMPUS AFTER WEEK IN SOUTH

Describes Agricultural Work of University to Dairymen

SPEAKS AT BOISE

Had Pleasant Trip Along North and South Route By Auto

President M. G. Neale is back at work on the campus again after having spent a busy week in Boise and vicinity. The president left Moscow last Monday and was in the capital city for the meeting of the board of regents which was held on Tuesday and Wednesday. This was the first board meeting at which C. Ben Hess, governor of Idaho, has been present in an official capacity. Routine matters were the only affairs before the board.

On Friday President Neale went to Payette to make an address before the Idaho State Dairymen's Association meeting. The president discussed the work of the university as it applied to the dairy industry. One of the principal speeches on the Saturday program of the Idaho State Woolgrower's convention was made by President Neale. In the address which he made upon this occasion, the president described the work of the agricultural department of the university and what it was doing for the sheep industry of Idaho.

The president stated, however, that in his opinion the greatest work of the university was to mould character of youth. "Depression might wipe out the sheep industry," he said, "and pestilence might cause such damage that years would be needed for recovery, but if the youth is of a strong character, the state would be born anew."

FROSH DEBATERS READY FOR W.S.C.

Will Speak Here and in Pullman Thursday and Friday

Freshman debaters have been selected to meet the W.S.C. freshmen men and women, Thursday and Friday of this week. Dorothy Higgins, Alice Brink, and Frances Hanley of the women's negative team meet W.S.C. here Friday evening at 7:30. Mary Axtell, Mildred Peterson and Wilma Hudson, the affirmative speakers, meet Pullman Thursday night at 7:30.

Thursday afternoon the men's negative team, composed of Bert Bronson, R. G. Popham, and Russell Betts, speak at Pullman. The affirmative team, John Fattu, Norman Roberts, and Howard Adkins debate W.S.C. here in room 202 of the Engineering building.

The question for the men is "Resolved: That automobile owners should be required by law to carry insurance covering personal liability and property damages." The women debate on "Resolved: That Gandhi has been a benefit to India." These questions are of common interest to all, and will prove interesting and instructive. The Ghandi question was of world interest, and has been listed by an authority as being one of the 10 greatest news stories of 1930.

SIGMA XI TO HEAR DR. H. D. ARNOLD

The Joint Meeting of the Idaho and Washington Chapters Will Hear Speaker

Dr. H. D. Arnold, director of research of the Bell Telephone laboratories in New York City, will be the principal speaker at a joint dinner meeting of the Idaho and Washington State chapters of Sigma Xi, national scientific honorary for both men and women, at the Washington hotel in Pullman at 6:30 Tuesday evening.

DAIRY HEAD GOES TO CANADIAN MEET

Prof. F. W. Atkeson, head of the department of dairy husbandry, will leave Wednesday to address the British Columbia Dairymen's association held at Chilliwack, B. C., January 15 and 16. He will speak on "The Use of Proved Dairy Sires for Herd Improvement." On his trip he will stop at Colony Farm, Essonville, B. C., where he will inspect a bull to be sold to a breeder in southern Idaho. CALL ISSUED FOR 14

Property Owners Warned About Ice

Sliding along is all right, but slipping down counts a foul. If somebody pulls the "slip act" in front of somebody's house, it's going to cost the second somebody plenty. Rock salt sells at 2½¢ a pound and 25¢ worth will more than cover an expensive slipping area. "A city ordinance," according to Mayor George Richardson, "provides that any sidewalks not cleaned off will be done so and the charges made to the property owners." Expert sidewalk cleaners are sometimes high priced. This can be taken as advance advice to property owners about the campus. All walks on the campus, owned by the university have been taken care of already.

MISS WIRT PLANS ROUND THE WORLD TRIP THIS YEAR

'Doug' Fairbanks to Go Hunting In Saignon

TOUR HALTS THERE

Physical Ed Teacher Will Pick Up New Steps in Germany

Miss Janette Wirt, physical education instructor for women, is leaving Los Angeles on the Japanese liner, Tatsuta Maru, on March 2, for a round-the-world tour. The tour will include Honolulu and Japan, China, Indo-China, Malaya, Ceylon, Egypt and Europe.

Where Doug Goes. From Saignon, Indo-China, Miss Wirt is going on an excursion via Pnom-Penh to "The Lost Kingdom of Angkor." "I've never heard of it. Have you?" she asked. "I understand that 'Doug' Fairbanks is going to Saignon on his hunting trip this year."

Miss Wirt's European trip will be independent of the tour. She will disembark at Naples, going through Italy and Switzerland into Austria, Germany, Holland, Belgium and England. "I designed I hope to take some work in modern German dancing under Mary Wigman, the leading exponent of modern dancing," smiled Miss Wirt. She also expects to visit the dance studio of Von Laban in Munich. From England she will go to France, and sail in Marseille for the States. "I expect to get back the first of July, in time to go to camp again," Miss Wirt concluded enthusiastically.

STATE BUDGET TO GIVE MORE FUNDS FOR EDUCATION

Idaho Allows More Than Half of Money for Schools

FUNDS ARE LISTED

Governor Ross Sends Proposed University Appropriations to Legislature

Over half of the money spent by the State of Idaho in the next two years will be spent for the educational institutions of the state, according to the final revision of the state budget which Saturday was sent to the legislature by C. Ben Ross, governor of Idaho, after having been compiled by the state budget bureau.

If the state legislature approves of the budget, the state will expend $5,872,703 in the next two years. The amount represents an increase of $74,511 over the last fiscal period.

By decreases in the expenses of a number of departments and with the aid of the $74,000 increase, the appropriations for education will be increased by $105,724.70. The for the University of Idaho and for chief increases in this amount are the southern branch. The total educational expenditure is $2,960,019.

STONE MOUNTAIN ONLY SIDE TRIP

Delegate Tells of Jaunt at National Convention in South

"We feel our trip to Atlanta has been a benefit," said Charles Graybill, student body president, commenting on the National Student Body convention in Georgia, which he attended in company with Peyton Sommercamp, vice-president of the student body.

"The policy was first inaugurated at Idaho under the administration of President F. J. Kelly, who advocated the move. He was a strong believer in inter-campus connections."

"We did not have much time to go scouting around. Most of our stay was taken up with meetings. Our only side trip was a visit to Stone Mountain, which all delegates made as guests of Georgia Tech and Agnes Scott College. We drove thirteen miles out of Atlanta and were rewarded by a view of what will be the eighth wonder of the world."

"Every meeting at the convention was covered by press representatives. All of the western schools except the universities of Montana and Nevada were represented by delegates. Three hundred and fifty students, representing 200 schools attended."

"A report of our trip will be presented at the next executive board meeting."

JUNIORS TO MIX WEDNESDAY NIGHT

None But Members of the Class Allowed to Attend

Juniors will forget the approaching finals at their second mixer of the year at the Blue Bucket Inn from 8 to 11 Wednesday evening. Juniors are urged to be on time, said Philip Corneil, class president, as the night will be short at best.

Miss Permel J. French, dean of women, stated Monday that girls may attend mixers given only by the class of which they are members. The statement in the last issue of the Argonaut referred only to girls.

"However," said Miss French, "when the calendar committee gives permission for these mixers, it is understood that they are for members of the classes only, and I do feel that all students should observe that regulation."

First in 1923. It is interesting to note that the class mixers are a tradition which started with the first junior mixer in 1923, sponsored by Miss French. Her purpose was to give the new students from Pocatello a chance to get acquainted with members of their own class, and to unite the juniors so that they could work together more effectively for Junior week. Since that time it has been the custom for other classes to hold mixers for the purpose of getting acquainted.

The Blue Bucket band will play at the mixer. There will be entertainment, which is veiled with secrecy, by members of the class during the intermission, and a prize will also be given. Admission will be 50 cents per person, to help defray the expenses of Junior week. Chaperones will be Miss Permel J. French, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan.

Paul Jones, William Ennis, and Austa White are in charge of arrangements.

MORE SONGS CALLED FOR

Publication of New Idaho Song Being Held Up by Lack of Contributions

Several sets of words have been contributed for the Alma Mater song. As soon as more original words for it are handed in action will be taken by the committee, and publication will follow.

All who are interested in contributing words are asked to get copies of the old words and music used in the State song from the publicity office (Ad. 106). The new words may be handed in to any member of the committee, which is composed of Prof. Carleton Cummings, chairman, Dr. George Morey Miller, and Mr. Oren Fitzgerald.

Demands from all parts of the state song have been heavy for some time. Everything is ready for the publication of it as soon as the new words are chosen. Charles Graybill, president of the A.S.U.I., said he would like to see no assembly for the trouts of the new words. It is not known as yet if the new words will be accepted as the official school song.

VARSITY AND FROSH FOOTBALL TEAMS TO GET BANQUET

Moscow Chamber of Commerce to Entertain Athletes Thursday

WILL GIVE PROGRAM

Charles Graybill Arranging Array of University Talent for Entertainment

Members of the varsity and Frosh football teams are to be entertained by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce at a banquet Thursday evening at 6:30 in the Blue Bucket Inn. The coaching staff will also be present. President M. G. Neale is invited but it was not known Monday night if he would be able to attend.

The program will consist chiefly of musical numbers. Charles Graybill, who is arranging the student entertainment, plans to have several novelties in dance, song and piano. The Pep band will play.

Louis Boas, chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet said that the hosts will plan to have few speeches, and those which are given will be about one minute in length. Other members of the Commercial Club who are on the committee for the banquet are, besides Mr. Boas as chairman, Dr. J. F. Gray, R. S. Butterfield, C. B. Green, and Dr. I. R. Boyd. The president of the Commercial Club, Abe Goff, will act as toastmaster.

MISS MCFARLAND BACK ON CAMPUS

Home Ec Instructor Returns From Meet Held in Montana

Miss Muriel G. McFarland, instructor in home economics, recently returned from a conference on curriculum making in Billings, Montana. Miss Beulah I. Coon, curriculum specialist in home economics on the Federal Board, Washington, D. C., was leader of the conference. The state supervisors of Wyoming, Montana, and Idaho attended the conference. Each state is working on the revision of the state curriculum in home economics, and during this meeting the supervisors discussed particular problems and received assistance from Miss Coon.

Plans of work were suggested and some time was spent on individual problems. As one of the late Lon Chaney's starring vehicles, Andyrey's famous play attracted nation-wide attention. However, one who has seen the movie need not fear repetition. Brilliant costumes, an unusual background of a French circus, and characters of a type far from everyday experience lend charm and novelty to the production. Life, vivid color, excitement, plenty of action, pathos, and humor—all make their appeal. William Ennis, Pocatello junior, will play the leading and title role of HE in this circus drama in which the characters range from the bareback riders to the nobility. As an intellectual man of education and social position, he leaves the world to become a clown, assuming the pseudonym of HE, the clown who gets slapped. His love for Consuelo, the lovely equestrian Tango queen adds a flavor of romance to the play.

EXECUTIVE BOARD WILL HEAR REPORT OF TWO DELEGATES

Graybill and Sommercamp to Tell of Trip to Atlanta, Georgia

LIQUOR POLL FAKED

Did Not Come Up; Board Will Appoint New Argonaut Managing Editor

At the regular meeting of the executive board tonight, Charles Graybill, student body president, and Peyton Sommercamp, vice president of the A.S.U.I., will make a report of their trip to Atlanta, Georgia, as representatives of the University of Idaho, to the annual convention of the National Students' Federation. The appointment of a temporary managing editor to succeed Paul Jones, now editor, will also come before the meeting.

In general, the matters taken up by the body covered a wide field of topics. The body discussed matters of national and world wide importance in an endeavor to form a definite student attitude on the important problems before the world today.

Both Mr. Sommercamp and Mr. Graybill, in discussing the convention, declared that the reported vote on prohibition as mentioned in many newspapers did not take place. They declared that the topic was mentioned in connection with other matters, but that no vote was taken on the problem. Reports of the convention were handed as follows by the two representatives.

Mr. Sommercamp and Mr. Graybill left the campus at the beginning of the Christmas vacation and returned on January 7. They made the trip to the convention with other representatives of western schools who met at Los Angeles and went to the Georgia city by the southern route. On the return trip the Idaho men came back on the northern route and stopped between trains at Chicago. Although closely questioned on the matter, neither of the men could remember having seen any shooting or bombing. "In fact," they said, "the city seemed to be quite peaceful."

ENNIS HAS ROLE IN CIRCUS PLAY

Will Play Part of "HE" in University Drama Production

"He Who Gets Slapped", produced by the University dramatics department on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 22 and 23 promises to provide an amusing evening's entertainment for Idaho audiences.

As one of the late Lon Chaney's starring vehicles, Andyrey's famous play attracted nation-wide attention. However, one who has seen the movie need not fear repetition. Brilliant costumes, an unusual background of a French circus, and characters of a type far from everyday experience lend charm and novelty to the production. Life, vivid color, excitement, plenty of action, pathos, and humor—all make their appeal.

William Ennis, Pocatello junior, will play the leading and title role of HE in this circus drama in which the characters range from the bareback riders to the nobility. As an intellectual man of education and social position, he leaves the world to become a clown, assuming the pseudonym of HE, the clown who gets slapped. His love for Consuelo, the lovely equestrian Tango queen adds a flavor of romance to the play.

Hawaiian Dinner In Jungle Among Attractions to Team

A submarine ride, surf board riding and raw fish feasting are the attractions of the Hawaiian dinner which will be served on Thursday, January 22, at the Blue Bucket Inn.

The Outrigger canoe club extended privileges to the team and the city was theirs. They were also given access to a miniature golf course, of which there were many, according to the boys.

One day the Vandals had the thrill of a submarine trip. They almost went on the sand during it, but they all declare it was "great." The swimming was perfect and the water very warm. June Hanford will vouch for the moonlight on the beach at Waikiki.

Fete Taylor said he tried surf boarding, but didn't have much luck. He said that Coach Red Jacoby managed to ride the waves quite successfully. The skill required in manipulating the boards is used in riding out with the tide. Most of the inhabitants of the islands are Portuguese, so the boys said. There are few pure blood Hawaiians with many Chinese and Japanese. Fete Taylor thinks the girls are quite good looking. Howard Berg said the islands are wonderful and that he'd like to live there.

All the men reported a good time and were enthusiastic in their praise of the climate, hospitality and beauty of the Hawaiian islands although they couldn't say much for the food.

It's a Tough Racket

FALLING out of the managing editor's chair into one which, supposedly, requires a little action and some mental exertion is certainly no comfortable feeling especially at the present time with political chaos and examinations lurking just around the corner, yet it is what happened and someone is going to have to suffer the consequences.

Imagine, if you can, the chagrin of the managing editor when he was pulled out of bed at the unholy hour of 8 o'clock Saturday morning—Saturday, mind you—with the following explanation: "Well, you're the new editor. (He said that. His tone said, 'You're the goat.') I've got a job on the Statesman and I'm leaving this morning. Here's the key to the Argonaut office. So long and good luck!"

Half an hour later the former managing editor recovered enough strength to walk back up to bed unassisted where, for three hours he dreamed he was happy. It probably is the last dream of that sort he will have until the spring of 1932. Not that being an editor isn't all that is cracked up to be and the embryo newspaper man, finding this out, is becoming cynical; no, not at all. It is an old adage among college editors that "You can't please most of the students' any time and you can't please any of the students most of the time." Already, after having been in office some 48 hours, the editor has been swamped with requests to print more features, less features, more W. A. A. news, less W. A. A. news, more sports, less sports, in fact, you might say he has been "more or less" swamped. It's a tough racket at the best.

This is the new-editor's first attempt and he implores his readers to season their scorn with pity and to consider the nearness of the final exams which, to be frank, is the only alibi he can think of.

The Argonaut's news columns will attempt to print the truth unbiased and the editorial page, will be kept free from such comment as might injure the University or the A. S. U. I. In this way the Argonaut will try to please some of the students some of the time.

Anvil Chorus

BELIEVING that the greatest good for Idaho can only be accomplished through constructive criticism, the Argonaut, starting with this issue, will close the Student Opinion column to all destructive and personal essays, regardless of the issue involved.

Opinions are limited to 250 words, must be signed and must bear the writer's signature and address in full. It is inevitable that, from time to time, situations will arise on the campus which will need adjusting. Correction can be accomplished diplomatically and quietly as well as by hammer and tongs.

Because the University is a public institution, subject to scrutiny by the state as a whole, the editor feels justified in taking any step which he believes will reflect the best interests of the school. It is not necessary in solving student problems to broadcast our troubles in magnified form to the four winds.

The editors feel that the University is a strong enough institution to withstand the fire of any intellectual criticism and they do not believe in suppressing legitimate news or criticism which is constructive or does not reflect the University in a bad light. The proper procedure for grippers is to write letters to the "griper" and try to settle their little affairs without attracting the attention of half the voters in the state. A letter addressed to the President of the University would probably get better results without the attending notoriety.

Two Bad Boys

ANOTHER rebellion has been put down and the future of the University is safe, temporarily, at least. The Argonaut is informed by two quite reliable authorities that the co-authors of the "taxation without representation" wall which appeared in the student opinion column of the last Argonaut, will pay their A. S. U. I. fees along with the rest of the boys or seek their education at some institution which does not require such a fee if they can find that educational Utopia.

THE Tacoma, Washington, Post of the American Legion suggests the state tax the gate receipts of the University of Washington and Washington State College football games at the rate of 25 per cent for further educational purposes.

Our mathematical expert, after some pondering on the subject, has decided that the state would owe us about $22.31 if such a tax were imposed in Idaho.

Rumor has it that a large Eastern university intends to impose a $25 fine on students for every course they flunk. Maybe they need a new library too.

CITIES ASK FOR JUNIOR COLLEGES

Petitions for Schools in Boise and Rexburg Pending

Among the pending bills of legislation before the Idaho state law making body, is one backed by representatives for Rexburg and Boise asking for the creation of state junior colleges in the two cities. Although the bills have not yet actually made their appearances on the floor of the houses, they have been put before the education board of the state. The board, however, declined to report on them in view of the fact that it was felt that since the creation of the colleges would involve expenditures on state funds, the legislature, as holder of the purse strings, must determine when state money can and should be spent.

prönouncement has been made on the present situation.

According to plans, the state would take over Ricks college at Rexburg, while the city of Boise would make the necessary moves to put such an institution in the state's hands.

Immediately after the situation was made public in Boise, representatives from northern Idaho made known that if such a move was made for the southern cities, they would ask that a junior college be placed at Coeur d'Alene.

According to authorities, any proposal of this kind is almost sure to cause a violent uproar in the two chambers of the legislature. Many feel that the entire educational subject would again be opened up as was the case when Pocatello was trying to obtain a four year university. According to the Idaho Daily Statesman, a revival of that scheme was regarded as not wholly impossible.

As a result of not wearing coats in the college dining hall at Swarthmore, students were asked by the dean of discipline to leave the room. They later returned attire, in full dress suits, tuxedos sweaters and fur coats.

SLEEPER SAM

O-Hell-O—Well, dear readers, it's been many moons since we've had the pleasure of expounding on any Kampus Krud, but as the Chinese would say, "A cross hair lipped infant in the sewing room means 3 days of rain" and make it on rye, Hoggan. But, nevertheless, it's now time to cut out all the tomfoolery and really get down to business. Yes, you guessed it, in just about two weeks (two, to be exact) we must shoulder our pen and hie away to finals to read some of the &#163; best questions that you probably think belong to a course in Playground Supervision or Study of early Russian Glaciers... but... so you find out later... cover the material you missed while on a visit to see your sick grandmother in Spokane.

COFFEE AN' ENDS PLEDGES BATTLE

The Delta Delta Delta frosh clashed with S. A. E. pledges Sunday morning at 11 a. m. in a snow fight. The battle raged for nearly thirty minutes, neither side giving in until a final rush from the S. A. E. pledges netted them coffee and cookies on the ladies' front steps. At 7 p. m. Sunday evening Sigma Alpha Epsilon frosh accepted a second challenge from the Theta pledges, who, over-anxious to begin, started the battle by throwing snowballs in the S.A.E. front door. Forty-five minutes of fighting drove the Thetas home.

Curtain Sponsors Club Play With English Setting

The Curtain is sponsoring the next play which will be given in the university auditorium on February 27 and 28. The play, "Bill of Divorcement" by Clemence Dane was written as propaganda against the divorce laws in England, and is one of his best plays. It is a story of Divorce versus Matrimony. As the play is sponsored by the Curtain, the cast will probably be restricted to members of that club. Ruth Garver, Howard Altnow and William Ennis were recently initiated in the Curtain.

A special issue of the monthly Agricultural Situation is available at the department of agricultural economics. The publication deals with demand and credit situations as particularly applicable to Idaho conditions. The material is assembled and published by the department of agricultural economics.

Student Opinion

The Argonaut conducts this column exclusively for the use of student comment and all contributions are welcomed. However, the articles must bear the writer's signature, for the information of the editor. Only the initials of the contributor need be printed, unless otherwise specified. The editor reserves the right to refuse any article submitted.

Dear Editor:
Once upon a time there was a man. This man was the best gripper in all the country. So he went into politics. He chose the weaker side, for his nurse had told him when he was a baby, "The under dog howls the loudest and politics is crooked." This was just before she dropped him on his head.
When this man grew up, he would not vote, for he said, "Politics is crooked." One year he persuaded all his friends not to vote, saying "Politics is crooked." But a voice said, "Let there be light," and 316 went to the polls.
The next year, this man died a scholastic death. After three days, he arose and with his mouth open to the uttermost, he was stuffed and given to the zoology department.

To the Editor:
A recent editorial in the Argonaut suggests that it is undesirable for students to work while going to school. Generally speaking, that is true. It is argued that working while in residence at the university does not leave sufficient time for study. But it is equally true that those who do not work often lack time to study because most of it is wasted. The issue is—is the working student selling time he would otherwise waste, or time he would use for study.
The student who can get a part time job very often faces the alternative of not going to college, or else of working part-time. Viewed in this light, a strenuous argument can be made in favor of part-time work.
Often by part-time work a student may acquire enough money to provide him with some of the necessities of life and opportunities for social contact—advantages which he would otherwise be obliged to forego.
Moreover, a fair number of students are so fortunate as to have work of definite educational value in itself, and the practical experience they receive and business associations they make are equally as valuable as class-room instruction. As to the argument that there is time for this after graduation, the student who works has some-

Editor Argonaut:
Students who worked on the new ice rink have praise and denunciation for the support received from university authorities. They claim that some of the university agencies have pledged their full support to the project; others seem to pull the opposite way, from their reports.
"One man who swings a big club, tried to abide by his opinion that a garden hose was the proper thing to flood with. We explained that a fire hose was the thing to use with. We explained that a fire hose was the thing we needed to throw gallons of water on those tennis courts with. If he had his way he would have used bucket brigades and an eye dropper to get the job done."
"Cap" Horton, graduate manager, is a Santa Claus for the rink say the builders. "Cap" watched our efforts last year and saw we meant business. This year he bought boards so we could enclose the entire thing. He got brooms to clean the ice. He has listened to every request that we have made, and has found some way to fill them if they were feasible.
"But as for those other guys. They didn't know what it was all about. Well it's all over now, and the little opposition we encountered made the job all the more fun", one of the builders said.

IDAHO GRADUATE NOW PLAYWRIGHT

Talbot Jennings, Former U. of I. Student, Writes Play Based on Idaho History

Talbot Jennings, '24, one time president of the A.S.U.I., and star in Idaho dramatics, is the author of "No More Frontier," one of the most enthusiastically received plays presented in Santa Barbara, California, for several years.

"Probably no play which has been seen in Santa Barbara for several seasons has won such praise from theatergoers as 'No More Frontier,'" said a Santa Barbara paper. The play was presented in a local theater by a cast of amateurs headed by professionals.

Stanly A. Easton, member of the board of regents, writes President M. G. Neale that the play "was exceedingly well received by an intelligent and experienced audience."

Jennings wrote "The Light on the Mountains," the historical pageant of Idaho which is presented every four years. After graduation, he went to Harvard, and is now at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, under Dr. A. H. Upham, a former president of the University of Idaho.

PARKS WINS GAME FOR VANDAL FIVE

Center Turns Tide of Hoop Game as Idaho Wins

Idaho's fighting hoopmen came from behind to defeat Whitman last Saturday night and piled up a big lead near the end of the game winning 40 to 30.

"Rich" Fox started his regular lineup at the beginning of the battle and they ran up a big lead early in the fray. Drummond, Hall and Wicks played bangup ball during this period and kept the oval in Red Shirt hands most of the time.

Fox used nearly all the men on his squad again and there is little difference between some of the reserves and the regulars.

IDAHO'S FORESTRY PROBLEM ATTACKED

National Society in Full Sym pathy With Situation Here Reports Dean Miller

The Society of American Foresters is extremely sympathetic toward the bitter problem of Idaho and the Pacific Northwest, reports Dean F. G. Miller of the University of Idaho school of forestry upon his return from the 30th annual session of the society at Washington, D. C., December 29 to 31.

While in Washington, Dean Miller also attended a blister rant hearing before the director of the budget. At this hearing Idaho's request for increased appropriations for blister rust control was presented by Idaho's congressional delegation, headed by Congressman Burton L. French.

Explains Threat. Dean Miller explained the threat of the rust to the future of forestry in Idaho.

One of the interesting angles of the forestry convention was the sentiment that reforestation might be developed as a partial solution of the problem of unemployment, Dean Miller adds. Some of the discussions before the society suggested reforestation as a way money could be applied in a very constructive way.

Dean Miller made two talks before the session, one on industrial forestry practices in Idaho, and the other on disposition of the reforestation program was noticeable at the society sessions, he reported.

WANT OIL DATA PLACED ON FILE

Dean Finch Believes Law Should Cover Reports On Drilling

Information concerning the underground geological formations in Idaho which are discovered through drilling of oil and water wells should be carefully gathered and preserved by the proper state agency for scientific purposes, believes Dr. John W. Finch, dean of the University of Idaho school of mines.

Dean Finch, who is also secretary of the Idaho bureau of mines and geology, points out that geological data so gathered would be utilized under certain conditions for the public benefit. Agriculture and other industries besides mining would be aided under such a plan, he adds.

Recognition of the need for scientific utilization of information obtained through drilling operations has prompted the bureau of mines and geology to draw up a bill which will be presented to the state legislature during its present session. Every oil producing state in the union has such a law.

FARMERS PLEDGE IDAHO SUPPORT

Washington State Convention Express Appreciation of Work Done by Idaho

Appreciation of work done by the University of Idaho college of agriculture through its experiment station and extension service, and a pledge of continued support, was expressed at the state convention of the Farmer's Union held recently at Spokane.

A letter to Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the University of Idaho, reads in part as follows: "WHEREAS:—these institutions are constantly working toward better conditions of the farm, and through improvement in methods of production, management, and marketing are achieving this end,—and are sympathetic and helpful in the programs promoted by our farmer organizations; BE IT RESOLVED: that the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of Washington and Idaho endorse the work of these institutions and extend a pledge of continued support."

Hoop Lights Paul Boyd

Overwhelming by opponents in the opening period has proven to be Idaho's downfall in every game to date. In last night's game the score at resting time was 36 to 11 and the second half scoring ended 16 to 19 in the Vandals favor.

It has been several years since the caliber of the ball played on the conference has been equal to the standard offered for this year's fans. Every team in the northern division is offering a veteran five with reserves almost equal to the starting line-up.

Special notice must be given to the dapper uniform displayed on the Idaho court for the first time by the guardian of our hearth, Sergeant Lonnie Woods. When we saw him going out we expected him to return with ice-water and glasses for the crowd. The popular "Sarge" received a tremendous ovation for his half-time departure.

Buck Grayson seems to be the spark plug of the Staters. Every score or offensive rally seemed to start with his crooked-arm passing.

This is not a crying column, we just want to whimper a bit. Why wasn't the second yell duke on time, and where was the third?

The Oregon Staters have shown what a veteran team, well grounded in the fundamentals of basketball, can accomplish on the maple court. General ball handling, blocking, and almost flawless team-work, along with the ability to loop the casaba makes the Beavers look like the money to us.

Much credit for the improved routing must go to the addition of "Bus" Grimm on the barking rail. And the Pep band must not be forgotten. Led by Harry Walden the band was in fine fettle.

Yell King—Are we down-hearted? 1st Voice—Hell no! 3rd Voice—We're used to it.

ASSEMBLIES POSTPONED There will be no more freshmen lectures on the fourth period on Tuesdays for the rest of this semester.

Tests made at the University of Minnesota in cooperation with a radio station, have proved that students can do their best studying when listening to jazz music on the radio. It was found that there was less distraction when the loud speakers were vibrating than when absolute silence prevailed throughout the room.

FAST ORANGE MEN DEFEAT VANDALS

Wicks opened up in this period and their short straight shots began whipping the net for much needed Idaho counters.

Fagan, Oregon State guard, was the individual star of the evening and his fast dribbling carried him down the court to count 14 points and cop high honors for the game. His teammates Lewis and Ballard were close behind with 10 tallies each.

Orange Have Veterans. The Orangemen have a squad of veterans who average well over six feet and possess a world of speed, great floor work and dead-eye shots anywhere inside the center of the floor.

The clubs will meet again tonight to finish their dispute and Fox will have a strong defense built up to stop the Oregon Staters puzzling offense upon which they are depending, to land them on top of the conference heap in March.

Starting lineups: IDAHO O. S. C. Wicks (2) F. Ballard Grayson (4) F. McGrel (4) Gaskill (2) C. Balch (3) Herman (12) G. Kinsella (11) Geraghty (7) G. Egan (4) Substitutions: Idaho—Stone, McConnell (3), Tanner (2), Fickes, Norby, Giffen. Potlatch—Osterland, McDonald, Rogers (2).

ENGLISH CLUB TO HEAR RECENT PLAY

Fred Blanchard Will Read "Green Pastures" by Bradford

Members of the English Club will hear the much-praised recent play, "The Green Pastures", read by Fred C. Blanchard, university dramatic instructor, at a meeting of the club scheduled for 8:00 o'clock, Thursday, January 15, at the L.D.S. Seminary.

"The Green Pastures" written by Marc Connelly, is a play of unusual interest. Dramatic students who have heard it in connection with classwork are enthusiastic in their praise. Mr. Blanchard has acted with the Seattle Repertory Playhouse and the Cornish Theatre, in addition to directing plays at the University of Washington for several years.

Each character is depicted by a negro player. At times the play is an uproarious simplification of Bible story, and at other times it approaches a certain sublimity by its unsophisticated imagination and its deepening of intention. The ark scenes are the most amusing of the eighteen scenes in the play.

FROSH HOOPMEN LOSE TO POTLATCH

The Idaho frosh dropped their opening basketball game of the season Saturday night to the Potlatch Athletic club 35-32.

Horton Herman, frosh guard, was high point man of the game with 12 points. Geraghty was next for the frosh with 7. Kinsella was high for Potlatch with 11 counters, followed by Larkins with 10.

The lineup: Carlson (2) F. Larkins (10) Gaskill (4) F. McGrel (4) Squance (2) C. Balch (3) Herman (12) G. Kinsella (11) Geraghty (7) G. Egan (4) Substitutions: Idaho—Stone, McConnell (3), Tanner (2), Fickes, Norby, Giffen. Potlatch—Osterland, McDonald, Rogers (2).

Conductance water of an almost absolute purity is being produced in the Idaho Chemical laboratories, in the specially constructed still, designed by Otto Turinsky, instructor in the chemistry department. The still, which is a modification of the Krause still, is made of pure lined copper. It is featured by a new method of collection, which greatly adds to the purity of the product, and increases the speed of distillation.

The conductance water is used in research requiring great care, and that obtained in the new still has a minimum specific resistance of 3,000,000 ohms. This is thirty times as pure as ordinary distilled water and according to Mr. Turinsky, well satisfies all expectations.

Almost Pure Water Now Being Made In "U" Laboratory

Two flood lights have been moved from McLean field to the courts and will give the students a chance to enjoy their new toys during the evening hours. Tests show there will be plenty of light from the powerful lamps. "Cap" Horton, graduate manager, authorized the arcs to be moved.

ICE HOCKEY PLANS RECEIVE SETBACK

Enthusiasm of Fans Curbed By Unexpected Thaw

Ice hockey fans received a knock-out blow in the first round with the recent thaw. The hockey practice scheduled by the puck chasers for Saturday afternoon did not materialize for that reason.

With the return of the cold weather the tennis courts will again be put in shape for winter sports. Sport fans say that Old Man Winter hasn't gone north yet and he sticks around to help with their ice rink.

Plenty of latent talent is on the Moscow campus judging from the results of bull tests, say experts. Several of the boys have showed they could move their feet on a pair of blades, but whether they are nimble with a hockey stick is yet to be demonstrated. Skating for exhibition and skating after an elusive puck are two different things.

Horizons Beyond-- The newspaper is a quasi-public possession, pledged to the standards set by its community—yet leaning ahead of those standards and leading to further achievement. These horizons beyond the ordinary view are encouraged by whole-hearted support that a newspaper must have before it can transform its ideals into realities. Its subscribers, its advertisers, its friends, are its life. There is no better yardstick of a community's prosperity than a glance through the columns of its newspapers.
