Democrats Lock Horns On Prohibition Platform; Fail to Agree

Peru Gets its Fourth New President in Four Months

Major Bills' Burro Sets New Fad in Land of Racketeers

Passing the Bottle.
WASHINGTON.—The meeting of the Democratic national committee was an explosive affair when prohibition came under discussion. Al Smith, presidential candidate in 1928, Chairman John Raskob and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, all big men in the party, failed to agree with each other on the drink question and now the party is groping about for some factor upon which to unite.

It's a Habit.
LIMA, Peru.—For the fourth time in the last month, Peru has changed governments. Saman O'Campo will be the new president, having displaced Colonel Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, former constitutional president who, supported by a large force of national troops, had again become president after he was forced out of office a couple of weeks ago by the navy because he delayed regular elections. O'Campo, head of the southern junta and backed by the army, made so impressive a showing that Cerro decided to resign. Elections are now to be held and order restored.

Borrowing the Burro.
CHICAGO.—A burro was one of the great attractions in William Hale Thompson's daily parades when he was running for the republican nomination for mayor in the recent primary elections, and now that he has won, no less than 50 people have asked to borrow the burro. To meet the demand, the successful candidate has ordered a whole carload from New Mexico. They will be gifts to his friends.

Legge Quits Hoover.
WASHINGTON.—President Hoover has accepted the resignation of Alexander Legge of Chicago as chairman of the federal farm board and has appointed James C. Stone to succeed him. Stone, the board's tobacco expert, has long been associated with cooperative organizations and for two years has been vice chairman of the federal farm board.

Ah! Prohibition.
WASHINGTON.—While Democrats insist that economic rehabilitation be made the issue in the next presidential campaign, republican drives following the call of Senator Capper of Kansas for the renomination of President Hoover, have snapped up the prohibition issue for 1932 as advanced by Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee.

Wild Life in New York.
WATKINS GLEN, N. Y.—Possibly he discovered a still, in any case, a young buck, dashed into town last Saturday, plunged through the plate glass window of a store in trying to find a way to the wilds and then broke both forelegs in trying to leave the building by a rear window. The deer was shot and the venison turned over to a nearby veterans' hospital.

Wagner Bill Doomed.
WASHINGTON.—President Hoover has announced that he will not sign the Wagner unemployment bill because it "unfortunately abolishes the whole of the present well developed federal employment service." The bill provided for the setting up of employment agencies under state control with the federal government paying half of the cost.

Nice People.
MEXICO CITY.—One hundred sixty-four Indians, the forgotten remnants of the Seris tribe exiled in 1749 by the Spanish to an island 200 miles south of Arizona in the Gulf of California, have been re-discovered. These Indians, entirely unacquainted with modern civilization, believe that the pelican created the world, they worship the sun and the moon, gamble habitually, hate white men and auction off their marriageable girls.

How About a Library.
STANFORD, Cal.—Robert Swain, acting president of Stanford university, has announced the receipt of an anonymous gift of $2,500,000 to be used to build a new building for the Stanford medical college in San Francisco. The new building would take the place of the present structure. The gift is conditional upon the raising of $1,125,000 by Stanford as an endowment.

One Way Out.
ROME.—The automobile owners of Rome have found an inexpensive accident insurance. Having decided for some unknown reason that Santa Francesca, pious Roman widow who died in 1440, is spiritual protectress of motorists, they will drive their cars to church in the forum and have them blessed and declared preserved from accidents during the coming year.

TRACKMEN SHOW STUFF IN MEET

Idaho's varsity track squad, 22 strong, traveled the nine miles to Pullman last Saturday and battled through an informal indoor meet with the powerful Cougar team, in which the results were kept secret.

The meet was the first test given either squad serving to give the coaches a line on prospects.

The Vandals tossed a balanced club on the floor of the big field house and nearly every event was close and exciting. Each coach checked the time and distance of his own men while the runners traveled only in two-third distances.

Washington State's team seemed near their season peak, while Idaho men are advancing slowly and should arrive just in time for the big meets this spring.

The trackmen with Hanford, Lemp, Jossels and others leading the way showed best for the men on Anderson while the jumpers and vaulters topped by Smith and McCoy showed excellent early season form.

CURTAIN PRESENTS "TOM COBB"; GETS CRITIC'S APPLAUSE

Atmosphere Created; Hisses Greet Robb and Frizelle Both Nights

An enthusiastic reception was given W. S. Gilbert's burlesque melodrama, "Tom Cobb or Fortune's Toy" on Friday and Saturday evenings when this farcical comedy was presented to Idaho audiences. The auditorium was packed.

"Tom Cobb" was well acted, well staged, and well directed. Even the audience entered into the spirit of the thing. Costumes and settings were in harmony with the era depicted and every detail was reminiscent of the road show of fifty years ago.

Leland Cannon, Mountain Home, into his role perfectly. As the putting villain, Harry Robb, Nampa, and Merle Frizelle, Boise, did excellent bits of acting, the audience hissing at their every appearance on the stage. The lovely young heroine of the clinging vine variety was burlesqued to the life by Grace Parsons, Boise. Catherine Brandt, Nampa; John Peacock, Welter; Ruth Garver, Boise; Robert Grant, Spokane, and Raphael Gibbs, Moscow, all contributed toward the success of the play.

Produced under the auspices of the Curtain, honorary dramatics organization, and staged and directed by Professor Fred C. Blanchard, "Tom Cobb" was a departure from the usual. Full of laughs from start to finish, never once did the play deviate from the spirit of 1875.

Versatile members of the cast put on an entertaining entertainment between acts and crackerjack and peanuts were sold in the audience. Ushers in costume and appropriate programs all tended to produce a complete effect.

CLASS OFFICERS NAME APPOINTEES

Announce Committee For Underclassmen; Plan Junior Meeting

Sophomore class committees have been appointed by Leland Cannon, class president. Clive Johnson will be general chairman. The music committee will be Carl Evans and Eugene Scott. Kathryn Collins and Louise Morley form the program committee.

The entertainment committee chairman will be Winfred Janssen, assisted by Catherine Brandt and John Thomas. Helen Tollifer will be chairman of the decorations committee. Raymond Davidson, Frank Schissler, and Mary Simonton complete the committee.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS TO BE ENTERTAINED

Members of De Smet club, Catholic students' organization, will be guests of the Catholic Women's league at a breakfast next Sunday morning at nine o'clock in the parish reception hall of the old church building.

COLLEGE OF LAW SPONSORS FIRST TECHNICAL BOOK

Idaho Law Journal is First of Its Kind Published in State

The Idaho Law Journal, published under the auspices of the college of law of the University of Idaho, has made its first appearance. The journal was off the press yesterday and will soon be in the hands of attorneys and students of law in the state who have asked to receive the first Idaho publication of this kind.

The Idaho Law Journal is published in response to a growing demand on the part of members of the state bar and students and faculty of the law school for a publication which will be able to concentrate on legal matters affecting the state of Idaho. At the same time, articles of importance on any field of law, whether it be Idaho law or not, will be covered.

First Issue.
The first issue of the journal contains 110 pages of articles, case notes, and critical material which will be of help and interest to practicing lawyers as well as to students engaged in teaching and in research. Of special note in the issue just completed are three articles dealing at some length with particularly interesting points of law. The article on "The Rule Against Perpetuities" was written by a practicing attorney, Walter H. Anderson, who is an authority and specialist in such law. The articles under the headings of "The Law of Community Property in Idaho" by Francis W. Jacob and "The Workmen's Compensation Law" by Charles M. Kahn are the first articles ever written on those subjects as a complete treatment of them.

These articles are exceptionally complete and include almost every case in point in Idaho and other western states.

Book Reviews.
Also of importance are four book reviews by members of the Idaho law faculty. Dean William E. Masterson and Professor Penelope Howard have each written two reviews dealing fully with important publications. This work, done locally is supplemented by work of students of the law school who have written case notes of recent important Idaho decisions.

The whole work is considered an outstanding accomplishment which gives the Idaho law school and the university a special publication ranking with other important publications by law schools of the country.

Material Examined.
The law journal is given additional importance and weight as an authority by the fact that material contained in it is examined and passed upon by an advisory committee consisting of representative practicing attorneys of the state. The complete editorial board is composed of the following: Pendleton, Howland, McKee, P. Morrow, B. W. O'Brien, E. A. Owen, R. P. Parry, C. H. Potts, John C. Rice, D. W. Starrod, Frank L. Stephan, and H. B. Thompson.

Law students, Robert Brown, Raymond Compton, Edward Cross, John D. Ewing, Robert Prewitt, Russell Randall, and Weldon Schimke.

VARSIITY TOSSERS IRON OUT KINKS

Foxmen Ready for Outdoor Work; Sluggers Scarce

Idaho's varsity baseball club has passed the warm-up stage with indoor workouts and is all set for the opening trial on McLean field, which will start them along the road toward the big conference pennant race.

The Vandals have been getting the feel of the rosihide and working the winter's kinks out of their arms while "Rich" Fox has been tending to his spring basketball campaign which will end this week. The diamond mentor has been bidding his time until the weather permits outdoor practice with the idea of getting a line on the new men who will be counted on to form the basis of the club this spring.

Veterans Scarce
The veterans are scarce in the Vandal camp this season and Fox needs men for every position. He deplores the fact that batting practice unless some more 300 slugger pop up before the first battles. The squad boasts only one experienced infielder, two outfielders and three chuckers while the rest of the prospects handle the ball in good style but have yet to test their ability against the tough conference hurling they will face this spring.

The indoors squad includes Lee, Sather, Kyselka, Raldy, Hartman, Wicks, Lacey, and Barrett; infielders, Duffy, Jacobson, Hayden, Shawver, Bennett and Johnson; outfielders, Lindsay, Jacobs, Spau, Sherry, Lichtl, and Daubert; pitchers, Schutte and Drysdale; catchers.

Sponsoring Formal Last of the Month 'T' Club Announces

The "T" club announced today that its annual formal dance, which is taking the place of the Athletic ball, will be held at the Blue Bucket March 27. Only 100 tickets have been placed on sale.

Members of the "T" club on the various group houses will dispose of tickets. Uppressmen will have first choice. Anyone not living in a group house has been asked to see Stanton Hale, ticket chairman, for his admittance card.

PEP SHOW SET FOR APRIL 22; PLAN BIG SHOW

Theme of Show is Adapted for Two Leading Ladies

With the leading lady question settled, the Pep band went to work Monday on its annual show. Instead of picking one co-ed to carry the load of the show, the Pep banders showed stratagem by delegating the job of leading articles to two talented women to cooperate. Catherine Brandt and Regna Campbell tied at the final vote for the leading part, and the theme of the spring show was altered to accommodate two leading ladies, William Hawkins, show manager, announced.

William "Bill" Ames, leader, will be the master of ceremonies and swing the willow baton for Idaho's "big-time" presentation. Ames said this morning the calendar committee had placed the show on April 22.

To Feature Medley
Morris O'Donnell, Sidney "Sid" Walden, and Don Wolfe are collaborating on musical arrangements for the 12-piece dance orchestra and the big rhythm band. One number will feature college songs of California, Washington State, Oregon, and Stanford, a Guy Lombardo's medley number.

Martin Kober, electrician, is developing and inventing lighting effects. One of the scenes that has rounded into shape is a radio broadcast studio with long drapes. Kober intends a contrast of light and shadow to predominate in the radio act.

TRADITIONS PLAN TO BE SUBMITTED

"T" Club Has Proposal for Executive Board To Act On

Charles Heath will appear before the executive board of the university Wednesday to present certain changes in campus traditions and enforcement, approved by the members of the "T" club. First in the list comes the doing away of hats except in the case of freshmen who are still expected to wear the green emblem of their class. Second that the enforcement of the wearing of the green be handed over to the sophomore class, and third the enforcement of cords for uppermen should be under the jurisdiction of those classes.

The "T" club has signified its willingness to back up these enforcement. It is expected that all of these new ideas will receive the backing of the school officials. The "T" club resigned its job of enforcement except that authority for the new officials to go in case of extreme opposition.

A plan somewhat similar to this one has been practiced at Washington State college for sometime and has met with a high degree of success. Members of the "T" club expressed the opinion that it would be much more successful than the present plan of enforcing unpopular traditions.

WOMEN TO OMIT ANNUAL DANCE

Women Vote to Postpone Yearly Entertainment Feature

"Taps and Terpsichore", the dance demonstration given annually in the past by the physical education department for women will not be given this year. The Women's Athletic association at a recent meeting voted that the performance be omitted from their 1931 program because of Miss L. Janette Wirt's absence from the campus.

HOUSES IN FAVOR OF GROUP BUYING FROM MERCHANTS

House Managers Are Given Power to Sign Organization's Constitution

Every group house on the campus except Beta Beta and Delta Gamma has instructed its house manager to sign the constitution drawn up by the Housemanagers' organization, according to "Bud" Johnson, chairman.

"We expect to have favorable reports from these two soon," he said, "as they have expressed themselves in favor of the plan, but have not voted on the question."

Merchants Wary.
"Downtown comment indicates the merchants are under the impression this group is trying to 'slip one over'."

"We are willing to meet with the merchants and explain our plan to them. The group feels that it can do much more working with the merchants than by working in opposition to them."

After making a survey of fraternity and sorority house purchasing, the housemanagers found many groups were buying retail articles that they should be buying in wholesale lots. One house was found to buy its catsup three bottles at a time, instead of ordering it by the gallon tin. Another house was buying its canned goods as needed instead of by the case.

Check on Buying.
"It is such things as these that we are trying to eliminate and save money on," Johnson explained. "We want to find the cheapest way and profit by each other's knowledge. By buying in quantity lots at the beginning of the year, both houses and merchants can save money. There is no reason that the plan should not succeed if the students back us up. A similar organization at Oregon State college has worked out there to the benefit of the students."

"If outside merchants can come in here and sell goods cheaper to fraternities and sororities, cheaper than local merchants can, there is something wrong in the system here. We are willing to give Moscow merchants first chance, but if they will not make an effort to meet us half way we will be forced to deal with outside firms. We have had offers which would bring staples in here less than wholesale."

Try to Bunk Plan.
"Many merchants have sought to bring pressure to bear on individual house managers that they develop that they held fraternity or sorority bonds. While there may have been some motive of loyalty to the university prompting them, the fact is that the bonds are a legitimate investment, paying interest. There is nothing to compel them to buy the bonds, nor to keep them. Some houses have already been named by outside money."

"The next meeting of the organization will be held March 19," he concluded, "and at that time we will be glad to confer with the merchants."

Student opinion indicates that the campus will back up the group. The more radical element has already advocated boycotting reluctant merchants. The conservatives are willing to see fair play, but will not stand for pressure brought to bear through unbusiness-like methods.

'MURAL DEBATE WINDS UP SOON

Men's Semi-Finals and Women's Finals Come Next Week

Semi-finals in the men's intramural debates will be held next week, according to Walter Slaughter, manager. The Phi Deltas and Tekes met last night and a decision was awarded to the Phi Deltas. This team will meet this afternoon with the Kappa Sigs and Laidly hall to draw a bye for the semi-finals.

The finals in the women's intramural contests will be held sometime within the next two weeks. Kappa Alpha Theta defeated the Alpha Chi's in the semi-finals for which Delta Gamma drew a bye. As soon as a question is decided upon according to Thelma Melgard, Delta Gamma will meet the Thetas for the championship.

ISSUE OF BUCKET DUE IN FEW DAYS

"On the stands by March 19" was the official statement of Ralph Hagen, Bucketeer-in-chief, about the publication date of the Blue Bucket, official ASUI humor magazine. The coming issue will travel under the handicap of the nom de plume, "Squirrely Number."

Branch Sends Copy
A southern branch section was assured when the copy arrived last week. "The lad and lassies certainly are squirrely at the tropical institution," commented Hagen.

Proofs of the magazine, now being set in type, show more long stories and less two or three line "he and she" jokes.

Over a dozen cartoons and sketches contributed by Idaho pen-pushers will illustrate the coming issue. The cover was finished last week by Dale Goss, art editor. The sketch was rushed to Spokane and a hurry-up order was requested for the zinc plates.

GAIN EXPERIENCE FOR NEXT YEAR'S BIG HOOP SEASON

Fox Expects Good Prospects For Coming Varsity Team

Another basketball season has passed, and although it was not one of the most successful seasons in Idaho's history nevertheless it had its good points. When Coach Fox sent out his initial call last fall, he was greeted by a squad of inexperienced men who had little training in the ways of varsity ball, but they were willing to work. Fox realized that the possibilities for a winning team were very slight and he immediately set out to develop the men with next year in mind.

The younger members of the squad came in for a lot of attention and several high caliber players were discovered.

Plays Last Season.
Bob Drummond celebrated his last season of varsity competition by playing a season of consistent ball and winning a place on several all-star combinations. The loss of Drummond will be keenly felt by the squad. He is the only member of the team lost through graduation.

Pete Wicks, Lacy, Hall, Hale, Aukett, Parks, Nelson, and Barrett will all be back next year and also several promising prospects will be added from the freshman team. Coach Fox says that next year he could see Idaho up near the head of the list again because this year's experience of the team, coupled with the new additions to the squad, should give plenty of material for him to handle.

Fox says that he is especially interested in the prospects that were developed in the freshman players. The Bobbs showed a world of improvement over their early season ability and they will afford some real competition to varsity berth seekers.

SPORTS SPREAD WELL ATTENDED

Spring Plans Outlined At Business Meeting After The Dinner

More than sixty women attended the W.A.A. sports spread Monday evening. After the dinner a business meeting was held. Florence Rugder, basketball manager, reported on the basketball season just closed. Lois Thompson, sports manager for tennis, spoke of spring tennis and the ladder tournament. The three women placing first in each class in this tournament receive 100 points in W.A.A. The first women represents her class in singles and the other two in doubles.

Golf Clock
Miss Locke announced that the swimming meet is scheduled for March 30. All women are urged to come out for this event. She also explained clock golf, which is to be introduced on this campus for the first time.

FIRST SEMESTER'S GRADES BOOSTED BY GROUP HOUSES

Registrar Reports Sorority Women Have Higher Rating than Fraternity Men

Official announcement of group averages in grades on the campus of the University of Idaho has just been made by the registrar for the first semester of the 1930-31 school year. The tabulation shows that grades are on the average slightly higher than for the same period last year.

Included in the report is a comparison between the grades of sorority women and fraternity men and between dormitory men and dormitory women. In this comparison it is shown that sorority women have an average of 4.819 while fraternity men have grades averaging 4.220. The women living in dormitories have an average of 4.881 and the men living in dormitories have an average of 4.190. The average grade for all greek-letter students is 4.491.

Women Lead.
The women's groups lead the fraternity groups in grade averages by about the same extent as has been the case in past years. Between women's groups, however, there were several very close races.

This lead the list by a margin of three thousandths of a point. The grades for sororities follow: Alpha Phi, 51 members, 4.902; Phi Beta Phi, 37 members, 4.899; Delta Delta Delta, 29 members, 4.887; Gamma Gamma, 39 members, 4.816; Gamma Phi Beta, 40 members, 4.795; Kappa Alpha Theta, 30 members, 4.767; Alpha Chi Omega, 84 members, 4.741; Rho Chi, 31 in group, 4.725; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 32 members, 4.718; Hays hall, 84 in group, 4.537.

The averages for men's groups follow: Tau Kappa Epsilon, 23 members, 4.545; Lambda Chi Alpha, 22 in group, 4.527; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 53 members, 4.512; Beta Chi, 41 members, 4.484; Phi Gamma Delta, 46 members, 4.426; Alpha Tau Omega, 56 members, 4.393; Sigma Chi, 45 members, 4.319; Lambda Chi Alpha, 40 members, 4.208; Sigma Nu, 39 members, 4.184; Lambda Chi, 136 in group, 4.178; Beta Theta Pi, 51 members, 4.119; Kappa Sigma, 1102; Delta Theta, 55 members, 4.034; Phi Delta Theta, 55 members, 3.993; Senior hall, 10 members, 3.904.

The averages for the Moscow students, members of the town groups are also included in the report. Delta Teth Gimmel, the town women's group with 102 members, has an average of 4.676. The town men's group, Tau Men Alpha, with 35 members, had an average of 4.558.

COACH ANNOUNCES SPRING PRACTICE

Will Issue Call March 23; Expects Big Turnout This Year

Idaho's football candidates for the 1931 varsity machine, are on edge waiting for Monday, March 23, when Coach Leo Calland will issue suits and start the long spring grind.

The Vandal mentor plans to hold workouts every afternoon for six weeks, with the exception of the nine weeks exam period and with the opening game scheduled for September 25, wants to have the Vandals all set for the season when the moleskins are doled out next fall.

Veterans Delay Two Weeks
The veterans will not answer the opening call, but will give way to the freshman and newcomers as these men will need plenty of fundamentals before the practice starts. The varsity men will turn out more weeks later when two squads will be picked and the men sent through a series of regulation games much the same as last spring.

The practice this year promises to be intensive with most of the stress placed on the inexperienced grid warriors who will be given plenty of time to show their wares under fire.

Expect Big Turnout
Coach Calland will have letter-men back for every position on the club, besides most of the members of last fall's powerful yelling eleven. These men together with the newcomers are expected to swell the total number of suits issued to nearly a hundred.

Schutte, Spauer, Hanford, Sather and others from the varsity besides several frosh stars will be working out in spring sports. Most of the experienced men will be on the field for all the scrimmages. Advance dope places the Vandals far up the ladder in the coast conference race this year as the club will contain a quantity of serves and more weight than any Idaho eleven for a number of years. The squad will be made up mostly of veterans who have shown worlds of stuff in the past and will be counted on to smash through to victories next fall.

Tut! Tut! Tribune

The editor of the Lewiston Morning Tribune, in an outburst of generosity, condescends to offer The Argonaut some good, sound advice concerning its editorial policy and also offers the administration of the university some further advice regarding the disposal of student editors who become audacious enough to criticize the state legislature. Here it is:

Tut! Tut! Children

The University of Idaho Argonaut, student newspaper, in a saucy little editorial waves the red shirt and kicks up much dust because the state legislature did not approve the proposed bond issue for construction of a library building at the university.

"Whose school is this?" demands the Argonaut, presumably addressing the taxpayers of the state who support that excellent institution. It thinks "it is time that the students themselves take a hand in the control of their university" and disposes of the legislature with the remark that "if this is an example of the brainwork of a democracy, may we be allowed to pray God will give us a king?"

Supporters of the proposal have long had a good case for the university library building. There is little doubt of the necessity of the project, and it seems to have been delayed for an unnecessarily long time. The present favorable condition of the bond market would have furnished an auspicious time for financing its construction.

But such an impudent attitude as exhibited by the university paper will do nothing to help the library project and, to the contrary, will alienate many of its reasonable supporters. The arrogant student journalists should be spanked and sent to bed before they do real damage to a worthy cause.

Now a rebuke like that, coming from such an esteemed public organ as the Morning Tribune is no thing to be read and considered lightly. The Argonaut blushes at its own puerile observations of last Friday and is ready to fly, leaving the field of battle in complete control of The Tribune. However, before such an ignoble retreat is made The Argonaut begs to make a few casual observations on topics of the day, as it were.

For some time The Argonaut has been interested in the Lewiston Tribune. That interest is due to two things. In the first place The Tribune is really not a bad newspaper. In the second place The Argonaut has been wondering just when the Tribune was going to say something definite about something.

At last it seems we have been rewarded for our long wait. The Tribune has come out definitely and strongly for what we, though confined to book learning and immature observation, have considered illogical legislation. In its own editorial, The Tribune takes the trouble to point out a few of the things which irked The Argonaut and the student body. In the third paragraph, The Tribune says what The Argonaut was trying to say, though the editor of The Tribune uses language which is much more refined and mature, of course.

The Tribune suggests that "the project has been delayed for an unnecessarily long time" which is quite true, and then it proceeds to point out that "The present favorable conditions of the stock market would have furnished an auspicious time for financing its construction." Neither of those statements can claim their origin in the editorial offices of The Tribune. The Argonaut said the same thing last Friday, but criticizing the state legislature is no doubt a privilege reserved for editors who have been out of school a short while.

Such inconsistencies on the part of The Tribune make the editor of The Argonaut wonder, not so much about whether he should be spanked, as how long the kind and paternal editor of The Tribune has himself been out of knee breeches.

It has never been the policy of The Argonaut to "play" politics—national, state, or campus. We point out that while the legislature was in session, The Argonaut did not print a single editorial on the library question. The students had faith that the legislature would see the need of such a building which has been a need for ten years or more.

The faith was unjustified. Instead of passing a bill which would be a factor in attracting what is sometimes considered a rather desirable element—intelligent citizens—the legislature listened to a few lawyers and went in for divorce in a big way, commercially. They made the state Asylum for the Insane a better place in which to live and passed numerous other bills which were not worth the time they took for debate. You can go crazy, or get a divorce, but try to do an important piece of research with the present library facilities.

The Argonaut might say, in parting, that the editorials printed in it reflected the opinion of a majority of the faculty members who were interviewed on the subject, and, of the students, nearly 100 per cent. So there seems little probability that the "arrogant student journalists" will be spanked and sent to bed unless The Tribune decides to do the spanking.

Cents or Sense?

IF MOSCOW merchants are determined to play the old army game with the Housemanager's Organization, they will find a few of the boys are graduates of the R.O.T.C., and not misled by bond issues, advertising, credit and support. It is for the merchants to remember that the ultimate power lies with the buyer, and if organized selling, why not organized buying?

The further the Housemanagers go into detail the more it becomes apparent that the students have supported the merchants far more than the merchants have supported the students. With regard for their apparent liberality in advertising in student publications, programs and journals, their loyal and unqualified support of Idaho activities and the university, it still seems as though the students have been lied.

If the local merchants are going to resort to unfair means to influence individual house managers against the organization, they are stirring up a hornet's nest. Fire is often fought with fire, and a united student body makes a foe worthy of respect.

The thing for Moscow business men to do is to treat the group with the respect it deserves and meet them on a business-like basis instead of going behind their backs.

Another Tradition Sings a Swan Song

Green caps will be seen no more and sophomores will no longer torment their first year rivals at Ohio University by virtue of new laws passed by the Junior-Senior Governing Board this week.—NSFA News Service.

Ohio University, Stanford and a few others are still a step ahead of Idaho in the matter of lopping off traditions which have outlived their usefulness, but Idaho is progressing and The Argonaut prophesies that the next few years will see the passing of even such hoary traditions as the green hat.

A committee composed of a senior, junior and sophomore on the Executive Board and the "I" club, will recommend tomorrow night that the tradition requiring sophomores and juniors to wear hats on the campus be abolished and that enforcement of the remaining traditions be turned over to the classes. The lettermen will play no part in the enforcement as a group unless the classes find that they cannot enforce the traditions adequately alone.

FORESTER EXAMS ARE SCHEDULED

Twenty Study for Annual Civil Service Quiz

About twenty seniors will take one or the other of two civil service examinations, says Dean Miller of the forestry school. The first examination for Junior Foresters is to be given Wednesday. The other for Junior Range Examiner will be given in about two weeks. These are comprehensive examinations, including theory and practical work.

Seniors planning to take these examinations have been studying for the past five months and the process is at its height now. If they pass, they will be eligible for a position in the United States Forest Service, U. S. Biological Survey, or the Indian Service.

ENGINEERS ELECT

The Idaho chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers held a meeting last week to elect officers. The new heads of the group are: Wendell Wilson, president; Roger Paroz, vice-president; and William Ross, secretary-treasurer.

MILLER PRAISES THREE ACT PLAY

"It is Best Play Produced Here in Past 10 Years"

Dr. G. M. Miller, head of the English department, expressed great pleasure in the recent production of the play, "Tom Cobb". In his opinion it was the best all-around comedy work since that of Mike Tometz and Peeta Brenon in "Clarence" more than ten years ago.

"I hope," Doctor Miller said, "that we can have more such revivals as 'Tom Cobb.' I wish it might be possible to see at least one Gilbert and Sullivan opera put on every year. We should occasionally try our hand at old melodrama of the 19th century and once in a while at a classic costume play."

Doctor Miller felt that a college community should produce at least one Shakespeare play a year. "The modern diet in music and motion pictures," he remarked "may have its advantages, but we need an occasional antidote to jazz and the Marx brothers."

Pictures Were of Signal Corps in Action

Actual pictures of the signal corps in action were shown this afternoon in room 110 Science hall, at 4 o'clock. Those seeing the show were ex-service men, reserve officers, and townspeople.

Dr. J. F. Gray said of the show, "These pictures are the real thing; they are not rehearsed. They didn't have time to rehearse these 'shots' during the war."

The Cinemaniac

SUNNY, starring Marilyn Miller, will be shown at the Vandal Wednesday through Saturday. This picture is the film version of the musical comedy of the same name in which Miss Miller made such a hit on Broadway. It is the story of a circus girl who has to become the wife of the comedian before she can marry the leading man. The still popular song hit, "Who?" first appeared in this show. Joe Donahue, brother of the late Jack Donahue, is also in the cast.

JACK HOLT AND RALPH GRAVES appear Wednesday only at the Kenworthy in Hell's Island. It is a story of the French foreign legion—that motley band of men, renowned for its colorful tales. Two hard-fighting buddies vie for the love of a dance hall girl who chooses a life of intense hardship for the man she loves.

GRETA GARBO appears Thursday and Friday in "Inspiration." Robert Montgomery, the screen's typical hero plays opposite her. It is a story of the Paris Latin quarter. Many artists have found inspiration in this beautiful woman and now she finds her's is the honest love of a boy. It seems that the Garbo never finds happiness at the close of her pictures and this one, true to form, ends in her self-sacrifice for the sake of the boy's honor. Montgomery fails to live up to his ability in this film, turning in an uninspiring performance.

POSTPONE MEETING

The executive board meeting has been postponed until Wednesday night at 7 o'clock because several members could not be present at the regular time, according to Charles Graybill, president.

By Paul Boyd

Two firsts were all that Idaho was able to garner in the indoor track meet held with W.S.C. last week. These were registered in the broad jump and discus. In both events the men showed signs of form that will enable them to capture first later on if they continue the improvement. One thing was distinctly brought to Coach Otto Anderson's attention and that is poor condition of the Idaho men.

One thing is certain and that is that the Vandals are further behind in their condition than was thought and the Cougars are much farther advanced than was anticipated. The advantages of a field house were clearly shown last Saturday.

Coach Carl Schlendemyer predicts W.S.C.'s greatest year. He says if they don't win from every team in the northwest this year, they never will. His assertion is based on the fact that there are sure point winners for every position, and in most of them, four and five.

Even if Idaho should be fortunate enough to take a majority of the firsts, the well-balanced crew from Washington can tally enough in the seconds and thirds to enable them to win.

Paul Swift will need all his speed to tap the tape before Sig Jossis; if Jossis is able to continue the improvement he has shown before he was injured, Jossis and Hanford complete the sprint team and they should be able to finish in the money.

Starting blocks were used by the W.S.C. sprinters but were not used by Idaho. Coach Anderson is undecided at present whether or not to use this "so-called" aid. The value of the blocks lies in their ability to get a man away while the others are starting because the runners are already up. According to the Vandal coach, they are advisable for every man because some men need that initial zoom to drive them out of their holes.

The starting block controversy began when Padock used them in the 200 but the record was disallowed. The quarrel has been raging ever since, the leading exponents of them being Christie and Cromwell of the California schools. The Big Ten has voted them down, and a record set by Simpson was ruled out because he had used the forbidden blocks. Anyway, if they make the boys run faster, lets get a pair and argue afterwards.

Johnny Thomas, showing great promise from last year's frosh club, failed in his first race of the year. Thomas showed that he was woefully out of condition and that a great amount of work will be required before he can compete with the Cougars, who have four men that can crack 20 minutes in the 880.

FROSH END YEAR WITH EASY WIN

The yearling basketball five ended their schedule Friday night by sweeping the Spokane university team before them with a bewildering attack, ending with a 56 to 25 score. The Babes seemed to be able to score at will, the University five being helpless before their fast-breaking attack.

The game was unusually fast with the Babes' passing and scoring ability outstanding. They worked the ball through their opponents' defense for several close shots together with some long ones to run the score up to 19 to 9 at half time. During the second half the frosh, with Herman, Geraghty, and Grenier leading the scoring attack netted 37 points.

Every man on the squad played and all turned in first-rate games. Carlson, forward, was outstanding for his cool floorwork and close checking. If he continues with the style of ball he has been playing lately he will give somebody a fight for his position on the varsity next year.

Herman, guard, turned in one of the best performances this year, playing an excellent floor game and scoring 15 points to be high point man of the game. He was closely followed by Grenier with 14, and Geraghty with 12. Gilman was high for Spokane with 12 tallies followed by Light with 8.

Coach Glenn Jacoby developed a strong freshman five this year, which won the majority of their games. Several of the squad show promising signs of putting in strong bids for berths on the next year's varsity. Although the present season has ended, Jacoby plans to hold a short spring practice to line up the boys for next year.

WRESTLERS DROP MATCH TO W.S.C.

The W.S.C. wrestlers took their second victory from Idaho in the Memorial gymnasium Saturday afternoon, by winning seven of eight matches.

The best bout of the card was in the heavyweight class between Stanley Bishop, W.S.C., and Dan Lopez, Idaho. Idaho's only win came when Lopez pinned Bishop's shoulders to the mat after seven minutes and 45 seconds of fast and W.S.C., and Ray Assendrup, Idaho, furious wrestling. Marvin Menzel, also put on a fast bout.

The Beta Chi's retained their position in second place in A league last night when they defeated the Beta's by a 19 to 11 score. In the second game of the evening a Kappa Sigma tide swamped the Town Men 32 to 19. This assures the men from T. M. A. of the cellar with six straight losses.

Thurman and Jansen rang the most baskets for the Beta Chi's, while in the Beta five the score was well divided. Sommercamp turned loose seven crack shots to score 14 points for the Kappa Sig's. T. M. A. played a lose game, missing many set-ups. Hurt was high marker with six counters.

The Coaches still hold on to the first position in A league with only two games won. Right behind them are the Beta Chi's who have played six games and lost only one. A. T. O. who was holding down the first place a week ago have dropped to the third position with three won and one lost.

Five fast, maple floor men from the Sigma Nu house are on the top rung of the B league ladder with four wins and no losses. Close behind them are the Fiji's with four and one and the S. A. E.'s and Independents with three and one.

WE have been in the tobacco business a long time down here at Winston-Salem and we take a lot of pride in the quality of the cigarettes we make.

While we have spent a good many million dollars advertising Camels, we've always held to the old fashioned idea that the thing that really counts is what we put into our cigarette and not what we say about it.

If we know anything about tobacco, and we think we do, Camels contain the choicest Turkish and the mellowest, ripest domestic leaves that money can buy.

In fact we have every reason to be proud of the quality of Camels as they come from the factory, but the remark of an old friend of ours from Denver some time ago emphasized a point that has been the problem of the cigarette industry for years.

As he inhaled the smoke from a Camel we gave him in our offices one morning, he sighed with very evident enjoyment and then asked jokingly, "What is this, a special blend reserved for Camel executives?"

"Certainly not," we told him. "This package of Camels was bought at the corner store this morning."

"Well," he said, "I've been a dyed in the wool Camel smoker for a good many years, but upon my soul I never got a cigarette as good as this in Denver. If you would give the rest of the world the kind of Camels you sell here in Winston-Salem, you ought to have all the cigarette business there is."

THAT statement simply emphasized again the cigarette industry's most important problem. The more we thought about it, the surer we were that he was dead right, and that somehow, something must be done.

Denver wasn't getting a fair break. Neither in fact was any other town. The only people who really knew how good Camels could be, were the folks right here in Winston-Salem.

That was due to a factor no cigarette manufacturer had ever been able to control.

Naturally there is no difference whatever in the quality of the tobacco in Camels, whether you buy them in Winston-Salem, Denver or Timbuctoo. But up to now there has been a very real difference in the condition of the cigarettes by the time they reached the smoker.

The flavor and mildness of fine tobacco depend upon the retention of its natural, not added, moisture content which is prime at about ten per cent.

In spite of our great pains always to make sure Camels left the factory with just the right amount of natural moisture, no cigarette package had ever yet been designed that could prevent that precious moisture from drying out.

THERE are three things about a cigarette that can sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat.

- (1) Cheap tobaccos.
- (2) Particles of peppery dust left in the tobacco because of inefficient cleaning methods.
- (3) A parched dry condition of the tobacco due to loss of natural moisture by overheating or evaporation.

Always certain of the quality of our tobaccos we had already made Camel a "dustless" cigarette by the use of a specially designed vacuum cleaning apparatus exclusive with our factory.

Now, if we could perfect a package that would actually act as a humidifier and retain the natural moisture content, then Yuma, Arizona, could enjoy Camels as much as we do here at Winston-Salem.

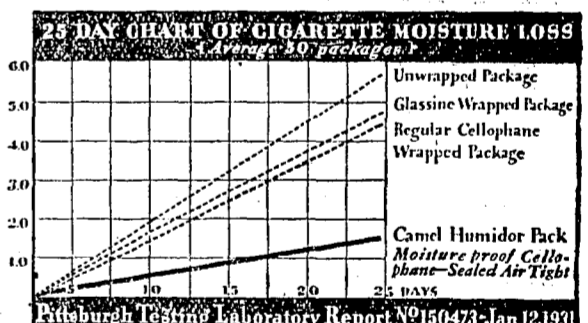

We knew what we wanted. We tried many things. We asked the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory to help us.

After many experiments and humidity tests covering all methods of packing cigarettes came the detailed report of which this is the net:

- (A) No existing cigarette package, including those wrapped in glassine paper or ordinary cellophane, gives anything like adequate protection against evaporation.
- (B) All cigarettes so packed tend to dry out rapidly from the day they are released from the factory.
- (C) Only a waterproof material with a specially devised air-tight seal could give the desired protection. (D) This measure, while costly, could be relied on to keep Camels in prime condition for at least three months in any climate.

If you have a technical bent, the graph below made by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory will show you the exact results of their exhaustive study.

Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition.

YOU may be sure we gave this report a lot of careful study. We checked it and re-checked it and then we went ahead. We tried this device and that. At last we met success. The air-tight wrapping involved the designing of special processes, special machines.

That costs a lot of money, more than $2,000,000 the first year, but after you have tried Camels packed this modern new way we are sure you will agree it is a fine investment.

For some time now every Camel that has left our factory has gone out in this new Humidor Pack.

We have said nothing about it until now, to make sure your dealer would be able to supply you when the good news came out.

Camel smokers of course have already discovered that their favorite cigarette is better and milder now than ever before.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, try them just to see what a difference there really is between harsh, dried out tobacco and a properly conditioned cigarette.

You can feel the difference, you can hear the difference and you certainly can taste the difference.

Of course we're prejudiced. We always have believed that Camel is the world's best cigarette.

Now we know it. Just treat yourself to Camels in the new Humidor Pack and see if you don't agree.
