PHELAN MOANING AS GRID SEASON OPENING IS NIGH

Finds Need for Ends, Centers and Reserve Tackles on Husky Squad

Ends, centers and reserves tacklers are the cry of "Irish Jimmy" Phelan, Washington's head football coach, as he prepares to start practice on the Husky campus September 15. Phelan believes he has the potential material in his reporting squad but it will take plenty of work to iron the men into condition for one of the toughest football campaigns in Washington's history.

In Colin Howard, six feet, one inch and weighing 185 pounds, the Washington mentor believes he has an excellent first stringer. Howard virtually has cinched the job if he performs anywhere near his 1930 form, previous to an injury. Howard steps into the shoes occupied last year so ably by Henry "Bosco" Wentworth, who has graduated.

Ray Finn, who is taller than Howard by an inch but lighter by 10 pounds, is Howard's understudy. Both are Seattle boys.

Jerry Kopet, Spokane, and Van Nutley, Yakima, are the only other men registered as snapper-backs.

Loss of Ralph Cairney, 190-pound wingman, who is captain of the basketball team, handicaps the Huskies for ability at pass-snatching. There are 17 young men who answer the call as ends but Phelan doesn't believe their ability has been shown yet.

The first-stringers, Bob Lenfesty, six-foot, one-inch youngster from Walla Walla, and Dave Nesbit, Chehalis' 167-pounder, are pretty sweet.

Others in consideration are: Pete Antonich, Winslow; Chuck Bales, Vancouver; Ed Clinton, Seattle; Bob Heaman, White Salmon, Idaho; Dick Johnson, Vancouver; Edward Johnson, Auburn; H. McDonald, Seattle; Harry Ketell, Port Orchard; P. McMahon, Bellingham; Waddy Mills, Olympia; Frank Oldham, Seattle; A. Smith, Portage; Bill Smith, Portage; Mike Tomco, Seattle; and Frank Yama, five foot, five-inch Japanese from Wenatchee.

Definite selection of Teddy "Bear" Isaacson, 263-pound, soph, for one tackle position, leaves the other job up to Paul "Swag" Schwieger, 193-pound Raymond star who is bidding for All-American honors this season. He's been a top-notch on the coast for two years and should reach the very peak this season.

SMALL GIRL AIDS SCIENTIST BY HER ACCIDENTAL FIND

LA JOLLA, Calif.—A small girl whose identity was not obtained has unknowingly aided science in securing information which was not heretofore available. She was playing along the beach at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography of the University of California when she discovered a mass of fish eggs. She took them to P. S. Barnhart, curator of the museum, at the institution. He looked them over and decided they were the eggs of a smelt.

Well! Well!

However, he placed them in a tank of sea water for observation. In a week they began to hatch. Then he discovered they were not smelt eggs at all. It was several days before he was able to definitely catalogue them as flying fish. This is the first time, he states, that it has been possible to get the eggs of a flying fish, although much effort has been made to procure them. In a scientific paper he has set down his observations together with careful descriptions of the eggs and the minnows.

MILITARY PLANS FOR YEAR GIVEN TO NEW STUDENTS

Written Statement Necessary to Claim Exemption From R. O. T. C.

Information regarding registration and exemptions from military instruction at this institution is herewith brought to the attention of all students. It is urged that all male students govern themselves by these rules when arranging class schedules.

Military 1 and 2 (1st year basic) and military 3 and 4 (2nd year basic) meet 3 hours per week and each class is divided into 2 sections.

Section I meets 10-11 a. m. Tuesday and 10-12 on Thursday. Section II meets 11-12 on Monday, Thursday and Friday.

Military 10s and 10s (1st year advanced) meet 5 hours per week and each class is divided into 2 sections.

Section I meets 10-11 a. m. Monday, Tuesday and Friday and from 10-12 on Thursday.

Section II meets 11-12 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Students who register for band instruction must be registered for section II of military 1a, 2a, etc., as this course is offered only on Monday, Thursday and Friday from 11 to 12.

Written Statement.

Students entering either the freshman or sophomore class claiming exemption from military instruction must first obtain a written statement to that effect from the office of the professor of military science and tactics. Any advanced course student who for any reason can not arrange his schedule to conform with the above, will consult his instructor relative to extra hours.

It is desirable that students in letters and science, agriculture and business colleges register for section I of the military classes; all other students for section II.

Exemptions: All documentary evidence of grounds for exemption, certificate of surgeon, certificate of service or previous training except in cases of obvious physical disability, must be presented at military department office prior to registration. The following are grounds for exemption from military training:

- a. Physical unfitness for military training.
- b. Satisfactory completion of the basic course at a college or university.
- c. National guard service: work in a junior R. O. T. C. unit in a high school.
- d. National guard service: equivalent period of training. Allow eight hours per day for encampment.
- e. Six months enlisted service in the regular army, navy or marine corps.
- f. Foreign nationality.

g. Certificate showing the satisfactory completion of the basic course, C. M. T. C., will be sufficient to exempt from the first year basic R. O. T. C. Certificate showing the satisfactory completion of the red course, C. M. T. C., will be sufficient to exempt from the second year basic R. O. T. C.

h. A student who enrolls in and attends scheduled drills and summer camp with the local national guard unit will be exempted from military drill with the R. O. T. C. upon the receipt of a certificate from the commanding officer of such unit showing enrollment and attendance of the student.

Advanced credits toward graduation are allowed only for satisfactory completion of one or more semesters work in a senior unit of the R. O. T. C. (at colleges). However, the satisfactory completion of three years work in a junior unit of the R. O. T. C. would render a student eligible for selection to pursue the advanced course. Under the present law credit toward the advanced course can not be granted for service or training except at a college or high school. Credits toward graduation are given also for war service in proportion to the amount of time spent either on a commissioned or enlisted status.

COLLEGE COMIC PLANS NEW YEAR

front page." The Bucketteers boast that the Bucket selling for ten cents is the lowest priced college comic in the United States. Last year when the new price was quoted the circulation of the magazine jumped 250 per cent. For the first time it was distributed on the southern branch campus.

Ralph Olmstead, business manager, reports many national advertisers renewing contracts. He stated that since the Bucket was placed on a paying basis last year and ceased to be a drag on ASUI funds that the student interest had increased.

A contribution box for jokes, humor sketches, cartoons, and comment is located in the main hallway of the Administration building.

EX-VANDAL STARS IN COACHING JOBS

Guy Wicks Goes to Southern Branch and "Dusty" Kline to Boise

The placement of several Vandal stars to important coaching positions was announced from the athletic office Friday afternoon.

After a successful season at North Central high school in Spokane, Guy P. Wicks goes to the Southern Branch at Pocatello as head basketball coach and assistant football coach, succeeding Harold Stowell. All-Coast forward under Richard Fox, Stowell plans to take post-graduate work here at the university this year.

"Dusty" Kline, brilliant Idaho center who received All-American mention in 1925, has been appointed assistant football coach and head of the physical education department at Boise high school. Ken Barrett, football star of two years ago has taken over the duties of head coach at Declo high school.

"Shorty" Chevne, for two years coach at Endicott, Wash., will be at Yakima this year where he is head basketball and assistant football mentor. Chevne was a three sport man for the Vandals.

Bobby Drummond, Vandal basketball captain in 1931, succeeds Chevne at Endicott. Bobby was the mainstay of Fox's 1930-31 five.

YOUNGEST COACH IN CONFERENCE OLD IN SERVICE

When the 1931 University of Idaho football clan gathers for its initial workout September 15, Leo Calland will be starting his third season as head coach of the Vandals and his ninth season in the coaching profession. He is one of the youngest head coaches on the const, but in years of service is already a veteran.

After being graduated from U. S. C. where he was an all-American guard and captain of the 1922 Trojan team, Calland served his alma mater for two years as freshman coach in football, basketball and baseball. His second season at U. S. C. he was promoted to line coach on the varsity but continued to handle the yearling basketball and baseball teams.

In 1925 he went to Whittier col-

He returned to U. S. C. in 1927 as head basketball coach and assistant in football. His first varsity hoop team won the Pacific coast title. He coached freshman football in 1928 and his yearlings were undefeated and unscored on during the season.

He came to Idaho as head football coach and director of athletics in the fall of 1929.

One Every Minute

Moscow merchants, fleeced again and again by advertising racketeers who pose as university students, or present themselves as future students, providing they can sell enough advertising, are entitled to become wearied of the constant drain on their advertising budgets.

This year the racket, started several years ago, reached a new height as an ad solicitor from Pullman came into Moscow, had his copy printed cheaply and then sold the merchants ads at a dollar apiece, making a profit far above the legitimate percentage. Local merchants, given to understand that the solicitor was planning to enroll here, bought, and were stung again.

An identical advertising medium was circulated at the same time by a bona fide university student, at one quarter the cost.

The Argonaut suggests that the merchants join hands with a board formed of managers and editors of campus publications, and refuse to advertise with solicitors who have not a card stating that the board has approved of the solicitor, his price and the soundness of his method. All three would then be protected.

The Freshman

A freshman sits at a table in the taproom. He is smoking a new corn-cob pipe; he wears a new frosh hat with a bright yellow ribbon around it. The hat will be shapeless and dirty by Monday afternoon and he will have thrown the corn-cob pipe away, but now he sits contentedly at the table.

There are so many things for him to think about. He has registered at the university. Tomorrow night he will shake hands with the president. He has already heard talks by football coaches and athletes. He will write to the family about them. Fraternity men have been nice to him, helping him register and taking him to dinners and shows. It is so much better than high school. Here he is already somebody. He will tell the family about that, too.

Doubt will come later, when school starts, when routine begins. Then he will be busy trying to clean up a muddy fraternity bathroom, answering telephonic calls, memorizing salient phrases in textbooks. But now he questions nothing. He sits contentedly at the table, smoking a new corn-cob pipe.

—The Californian.

All Aboard

It's all aboard for the Idaho athletic handwagon. For two years, too many have been dragging their feet, bewailing our losses, refusing to see the silver lining, but now a definite upward trend is noted. Bigger and better football material than ever before is enrolling at Idaho this year, the varsity, seasoned by fire, has a better chance, and undercurrents in alumni circles forecast new hope among the "Old Grads."

Idaho may or may not startle coast conference circles with its victories this year, but the handwriting is on the wall to be read.

WRAP CALIFORNIA GRID PLAYERS IN ADHESIVE TAPE

Use 54 Miles of Binding on 1930 Football Team and 2.2 Miles of Bandage

It took almost 54 miles of adhesive tape to bind and bandage the 1930 University of California football team!

Of this amount, Charles Volz, varsity trainer, and his assistants wrapped 13 miles of two-inch tape around the limbs and bodies of the Bear Gridiron players. The balance of the wrapping was done with one-inch tape, 41 miles of it. In addition to adhesive tape, the football men had their injuries swathed in 2.2 miles of bandage and 17 pounds of cotton.

Lots of Lime
Zinc ointment and capsicum vaseline vied for high honors as the balm for the bruises incurred during the last football season. The ointment won out when 14 pounds of the stuff was gently applied to injuries. Only 12 pounds of vaseline was used.

For that tired feeling and headaches received in practice and on the playing field, the Associated Students were called upon to furnish only three bottles of headache remedy.

No Iodine
Iodine, surprisingly enough, was not employed to any great extent by Volz and his men. The paltry amount of only one pint was used.

Although the Bears were handicapped throughout the last season with injuries, the number of men who had to call for crutches was not large. The records show that but two pairs were purchased during the last season.

PHELAN'S RETURN MAKING SEATTLE GRID CONSCIOUS

Washington Boosters See Better Times Ahead as Coach Knows Material

Although the decision of Ralph Cairney, stellar wingman of the eleven, to desert football for the basketball division where he is the 1932 captain, leaves another hole to fill at end, Phelan's prospects for a winning team are much better than when he took over Washington's gridiron reins at their low tide in the spring of 1930.

Blind Start
Phelan went into the 1930 campaign almost "blind." He knew nothing of his men, except what he was able to glean from the in-squad skirmishes of spring pracice. The Huskies showed an inclination to win for the former Notre Dame quarterback. With a complete knowledge of how his charges perform under fire, Phelan is facing the 1931 race in a determined mood.

Washington's offense probably will be built around the nimble Mel Hufford, all-coast half-back of 1929, who was held back by injuries during most of 1930. Hufford is back in form, according to advance dope, and he expects to have his best season.

Paul "Swag" Schwegler, 200-pound Raymond tackle, should be a bulwark of defense. There's a new spirit in the big fellow. He's going to be tough to push out of there. The Huskies will present easily their fiercest football program in years. And indication of how the fans appreciate the grid menu is contained in the official announcement that Washington's ticket sales are 35 per cent over what they were in 1930.

TRI DELTS MOVE INTO NEW HOUSE

Sigma Nu Structure Is Not Ready—Will Live in Temporary Quarters

Members of Delta Delta Delta are already moving into their new home and work is progressing rapidly on the new Sigma Nu house the two latest additions to Idaho's fraternity row. The Tri Delt house is nearing completion and the Sigma Nu's expect to occupy their house at Christmas. Work on the latter place was held up somewhat recently when workmen excavating the basement encountered a bed of solid rock which made blasting necessary.

The Sigma Nu house will occupy two and one-half lots on Elm street, between the Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega sorority houses. It will be 100 feet long by 28 feet wide, with a 12-foot wing extending T-shaped from the back. Architecture is colonial, brick construction, three stories, basement and sub-basement. The building will be both fire-proof and sound-proof, with hardwood floors inlaid over reinforced concrete on the first floor. Total cost will be $42,000.

Temporary Quarters.
During the first semester members of the group will live in temporary quarters, either on the campus or down town. Contractors expect to have the house completed before the Christmas vacation. The new Tri Delt house is located across from the Alpha Phi house at the corner of Sixth and Elm. Some of its distinctive features include two living rooms, one on the second floor, and a canopied terrace at the rear of the house which will be used as an outdoor study and lounging room. The total cost is $40,000.

President Robert Gordon Sproul made the following statement in regards to midterm exams at California.

"Beginning with the current semester, August to December, 1931, only one midterm report will be called for instead of two as before. Instructors will be expected to report to the Recorder of the Faculties the standing of students in classes at the end of the seventh week. Deficiency notices will be mailed to the students by the recorder a week later.

Churches desiring to increase their attendance might follow the example set by Rev. Charles Woessner of the Calvary Baptist church of San Francisco, who recently introduced religious and educational motion pictures to his congregation.

DENTISTRY IMPROVES

Series of Starred Films Will Show at Kenworthy

Welcoming the new students to the university with George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton," M. J. Kenworthy, has arranged an unusual series of stellar films to start the new school year. Following the Arliss film, which will start Sunday, September 13, at the Kenworthy theater, is Constance Ben nett in one of her newest releases, "Common Law."

The Arliss film, but recently shown in Spokane, is said by critics there, to be one of the best character portrayals that Arliss has been given an opportunity to present.

He is able to give a rendition of America's foremost financier unhampered by having to beware of maeism, as he did in "Disraeli," or of foreign customs as he so often has. The picture is said to have a wide appeal through its historical background, shadowed by the memory of the Burr-Hamilton duel, known to every schoolboy.

All Old Timers
Long known among troupers, the name of Bennett has no new heights to reach in the film world, but Constance carries on the tradition established by her father and sister in "Common Law," giving a vivid portrayal that should win instant praise. It opens at the Kenworthy theater on September 15.

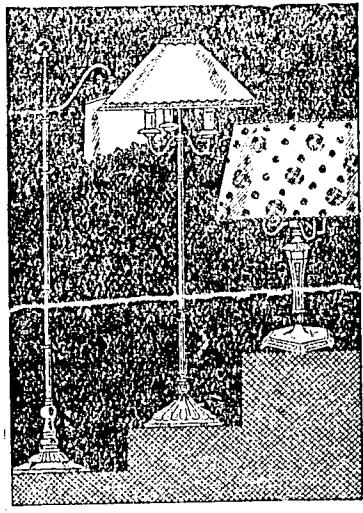

That pair of lovers, almost traditional in American screen lore, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, come to the Vandal theater in "Merely Mary Ann," the film that the new Fox theater in Spokane presented at its premier opening. Built around a fantastical romance, the picture is a modernized fairy tale, sure to win approval of the severest. Having acted together for so long, the story flows along smoothly, neither standing out because of the perfect teamwork between them.

Dreiser Novel
After having given Theodore Dreiser a headache, Hollywood, proudly presents "An American Tragedy," as it should have been written. To those who have plowed through the two volumes constituting the "great American novel" the picture will be a welcome relief, summing up in brief time the dominant impressions Dreiser strove to create. It is more an interpretation of the novel than an actual reproduction of the work. It will follow "Merely Mary Ann" at the Vandal theater, opening September 20.

Reaching the heights of modernism and bordering on the futuristic, Jean Crawford, writes another name for herself in the "make-believe world" in "This Modern Age." While her work as an actress has always been above par, she is able to scale the heights in her new film, presenting a commendable picture.

Four Creators
Coupled with Helen Chandler, Dick Barthelmess is hard pushed to retain the lead in "The Last Flight," opening at the Kenworthy theater, September 29. Taken from a serial story published in a popular magazine, Barthelmess is one of four American aviators who remained in France after the World War. The film portrays their mad trek over Europe in

"Out of Nowhere" might have been the favorite two months ago, but now nothing less than a composition like "Elegy" would be appreciated, he declared.

New Men Warm Heart of High School Coach Today

Mix Puts Bear Squad Through First Scrimmage And Feels He Has Several Finds

The boys that make Moscow high school's 1931 football squad are going to work, Coach Gale Mix decided after watching first scrimmage on the fairgrounds field Thursday night.

"A bunch of new boys I hadn't counted on because I didn't know what they could do are right up with the veterans," Mix said Friday morning.

Just as an example of the way things are lining up, Coach Mix cited the situation at end. He started practice a week ago with the two wing positions wide open.

Marion Horton, matriculating here from Montana, put up a whirlwind exhibition as a running guard in the first scrimmage.

Don Baker, Wendell Dayton and Sammy Hall, taking their first fling in the backfield, were displaying promise.

Moscow's first game is scheduled for next week, September 17, with Nezperce. The game will be played at Moscow.

PERCY ROWE GETS NEW FEDERAL JOB

U. of I. Graduate in Forestry Research at California University

Percy Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Rowe of Moscow and graduate of the University of Idaho, has been appointed assistant ecologist in the government forestry experiment station at the University of California, Berkeley, according to word received here.

Mr. Rowe has recently been stationed at Ogden, Utah, under Richard Rutledge, district forest supervisor for the United States forest service.

Went to Yale

He received a master's degree in forestry at Yale university with honors after completing his undergraduate work at Idaho in 1928.

Mr. Rowe's new work will be research in the field of biology as related to forestry and a considerable part of it will be in the field.

Fourth Brother Here to Warm Vandal Gridiron

Carl Kinnison, 23, of Pasadena, Calif., probably will add not only the weight and drive of his person to the freshman football team at the University of Idaho this fall but a little extra color as well.

Kinnison is the last of four brothers to attend the university and he hopes to equal the performance of his three elders on the gridiron.

Allen, Banks, and Frank Kinnison all starred in Vandal uniforms, not only in football but in other sports, principally basketball and baseball.

Frank who is next to Carl in age, graduated in 1924 and played on the famous 1923 team of Coach Mathews with such lights as "Skipper" Stivers and Bob Fitzke.

The last of the Kinnisons completed his high school course at Ontario, Calif., four years ago and since then has been working in structural sheet metal in Los Angeles.

COACH JONES TO SHOW NEW SHIFT

Backs and Linemen Mixed In New Deception of U.S.C. Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, known as the leading exponent of the full team shift in football for many years, will have a new edition of the shift to introduce to the gridiron world this season, it was learned from the Trojan mentor today.

Although loathe to reveal his offensive plans for the coming season and disclaiming any startling innovations in his shift, Southern California coach, when pressed for details, showed enough of his plans to reveal new methods of arranging his men after the huddle that are certain to be of extreme interest to fans and football tacticians alike.

The best way to describe the new shift is to tell what it is not. It is not a rhythmic military shift or one of these one-two-hop affairs where the team works in unison.

The object of the new Jones shift will be the same as in the past, to stress deception and keep the formations varied so as to have the defense in doubt as to the impending offensive set-up.

Simplicity, mobility and variety are the points the Trojan coach has been attempting to work out in his new shift, and although he makes not even the most modest of claims for it and would prefer to have nothing said about it until it is put to the test, followers of the Jones system believe that it will prove an important contribution to offensive football.

While Coach Jones used eight different basic formations last year, he said that he would employ no definite number during the coming season, but would map out as many as he thought necessary.

"TURK" EDWARDS TO BE FULLBACK

Cougar All-American Tackle Due For Shift as Ball Carrier This Year

HUSKIES WORK OUT IN SECRET

Practice Behind Guards From First Day is Edict of Coach Phelan

SEATTLE—Last year football fans were privileged to watch the Washington Huskies nightly in practice, but Coach Jimmy Phelan is changing things this fall and the first glimpse Seattle backers will have of the Washington eleven will be when it trots onto the field to meet University of Utah September 26.

Practice will be of the secret variety from the opening day, September 15, until the Rocky Mountain champions from Utah open the season nearly two weeks later.

Idaho Athletes On Par With Big Ten Average

Athletic conditions at Idaho closely parallel those found in the Big Ten conference, according to Coach Gale Mix, Moscow high school, who recently returned from a trip that took him through all the Big Ten athletic departments, and to Cornell, Notre Dame and Nebraska. He also attended Zupke's coaching school at Northwestern, learning from the Illinois coach, grid tricks that he will try out on his squad this year.

No Salaries
Subsidizing of athletes ended in the Big Ten, says Mix, after Iowa was suspended. Board and room jobs are all that athletes are offered. No 'slush funds' or other forms of keeping athletes are found. The conference has a czar, Major Griffith, who checks over accounts each month. The colleges in the Big Ten, under conference rules, pay all their bills by check through a bursar's office.

Idaho will rate well up among the average college of size in the East, measured according to the brand of football played. "With the exception of Northwestern and Minnesota," Mix said, "Idaho could hold its own among the lesser schools in the Big Ten conference, and probably lead anyone but Nebraska in the Big Six conference."

We could easily lead the Missouri valley conference, which is formed of schools about the same size as Idaho.

Bow Down to U. S. C.
"The Big Ten admits the superiority, year in and year out of the Pacific coast conference football. They recognize Southern Cal, California and Stanford as the leading teams out here.

A little nettled over the lack of enthusiasm shown by newspapers regarding Idaho's football chances, Mix declared that, "Idaho is due to have the best season they have had in a long time. We have been continually improving, and ought to do better this year than last. But, after a team has been down, they all jump on and ride, and it has to be right at the top again to gain recognition."

Mix refused to predict the possible wins, but indicated Montana Whitman, Gonzaga and possibly Oregon might feel the brunt of the Vandal attack. "If we get off to a flying start there is no telling what might happen," he added. A graduate from the university, Mix has already won recognition in high school coaching circles. This is his second year at Moscow high. His schedule this year includes North Central, Lewiston and Pullman.

FROSH SCHEDULE FOR GRID SEASON IS TOUGH GOING

Coach "Rich" Fox has Series of Hard Games on Tap For Yearlings

Frosh Football Schedule
October 3—Spokane University at Moscow.
October 10—Lewiston Normal at Moscow.
October 17—Ellensburg Normal at Ellensburg.
October 24—Gonzaga Freshmen at Spokane.
October 31—Washington State Freshmen at Moscow.
November 11—Oregon State Normal at Yakima, Wash.

According to Rich Fox, frosh coach, the freshmen material is very promising. He believes that the 1931 outfit will be one of the best since Idaho entered the Pacific coast conference in 1920.

Although it is very early to predict the possible lineups, the coach believes that with the promising graduates of Idaho and Eastern Washington high schools, who are planning to enter Idaho, he will be able to pick a good Vandal Babe aggregation. Idaho high schools had an unusually good year last year and most of the graduates are planning to enter the university this fall.

Hard Schedule

Coach Fox has lined out one of the toughest schedules in years for the first-year men. Beginning with Spokane University at Moscow, October 3d, the babes will embark on a six game season. Lewiston Normal will be their next opponent on October 10th. This game will also be played on MacLean field.

The next Saturday the Foxmen will journey to Ellensburg to take on the Ellensburg Normal eleven. On October 24, the Gonzaga Bulls will be hosts to the yearlings under the arc lights in Glover stadium in Spokane. October 31 will see the traditional Washington State-Idaho frosh game being played in Moscow. On November 11, the Babes will tangle with the Oregon State Normal aggregation at Yakima, Washington. This game is to be the feature of the Armistice Day Celebration of the Yakima American Legion post.

The first high school interscholastic field meet held at Washington State college took place in May, 1930.

GOES TO EUROPE

Dr. Sidney B. Speery, director of the L. D. S. institute for the last year, left with his family Saturday for Salt Lake City, where he will leave his family, then go to Europe and Asia for a year's study and travel as part of his church work. Dr. Speery will be succeeded here by Dr. George S. Panner of Chicago, who will arrive in Moscow in September.

STUDENT COLLECTS

George Neville Jones of Washington State college has been wandering alone about the Olympic mountain tops since June 15, collecting high mountain flora for the university museum in conjunction with the botany department.

En masse attendance of the frosh is required at the Hulme fight.

FORMER LETTERMAN TO BOLSTER LINE

Return of Elmer "Irish" Martin, letterman at guard from the 1929 season, adds considerable to the strength of the mid-section of the 1931 Vandal line. Martin, who scales 180 was out of school last year. He has written Coach Calland he will be on hand for the first practice, tomorrow. By his spectacular playing in the 1929 season, Martin established himself as one of the best guards Idaho ever has had. His return gives Coach Calland six candidates for guard positions. In pre-season lineup guard has been regarded as a strong point in the Idaho outlook and return of Martin adds even more strength.

GRID SLATE SHORT BUT PLENTY TOUGH

Vandals Book Three Games at Home; Four on the Road

1931 Vandal Grid Schedule
Sept. 26—Whitman at Moscow
Oct. 3—Oregon at Portland
Oct. 10—Montana at Moscow
Oct. 17—Washington at Seattle

Oct. 24—Open.
Oct. 31—Gonzaga at Moscow. (Homecoming)
Nov. 7—Washington State at Pullman.
Nov. 14—California at Berkeley.
Grid Slate Short—24

Although Idaho has the shortest schedule of any Pacific Coast Conference team, it is in no way "soft." Seven games in eight weeks, four on the road, and three on MacLean field is the story. The first game is only a week and a half after the practice opens and the final game is November 14, at which time most of the other Coast still have several games left to play. The only rest period the Vandals will have is the week of October 24 which is open.

The season opens with the Whitman Missionaries at Moscow, September 26. Their first conference game comes the following week when they match strength with the University of Oregon "Webfeet" in the Multnomah stadium, Portland. It is also Oregon's first conference game.

Meet Grizzly Here
The Vandals will return to Moscow to meet Montana the following week-end on MacLean field seeking revenge for the defeat the Grizzlies handed them last year at Missoula.

On October 17, the Callandmen will tangle with Huskies at Seattle after which they will take their only rest before completing the schedule.

Homecoming this year will be October 31 when the Vandals will meet Gonzaga University on MacLean in an effort to deal the cards to the Bulldogs just as bad if not worse than last year when they handed them a 26-0 trouncing.

On November 7, the traditional battle with Washington State will be staged on Rogers field in Pullman. Idaho put up a good fight with the Cougars last year, but finally weakened before the terrific onslaught of the Pacific Coast champions. This year, however, may see a little different tale since many of the stars last year will not be seen in the red suits again.

To Meet California

The final game of the year will be Nov. 14, when the Vandals invade for the first time the den of the California Bears. Perhaps when Idaho trots onto the field in Berkeley it will bring back memories of the time when an Idaho basketball team sent a discouraged Golden Bear five back to the sunny South "without" the Pacific Coast championship. It will be new meat for Idaho and also a new coach to work against, "Navy" Bill Ingram.

GRADUATES PASSED

Three University of Washington forestry school graduates have passed in the government forestry examination taken recently in the Federal building in Seattle, according to word received by Dean Hugo Wikenwender of the school of forestry.

GRIDMEN GATHER TO AWAIT INITIAL FOOTBALL TURNOUT

Material Plentiful As Calland Prepares to Start Work Tuesday

Anxiously awaiting the arrival of September 15, the conference deadline date on football practice, is the latest word emanating from the Vandal grid headquarters. Coach Leo Calland, who has completed his pre-season arrangements, is displaying plenty of optimism over the fall outlook. On paper the 1931 Vandals promise much power. If all players from 1930 return to school, as now appears probable, the coach will have only two major holes to fill and plenty of good material will be available with which to do the plugging.

Material Good

The material for the coming season looks to be the best it has had since coming to Idaho. Calland said upon his return. Checking the records shows four lettermen from 1930 missing, only two of which were regulars. Twelve lettermen and a good supply of experienced reserves will return from the 1930 club. Supplementing this experienced talent will be a swarm of likely candidates from the 1930 freshman squad and several promising men from the university southern branch at Pocatello.

Coach Calland has his staff lined up for the fall campaign. Assisting him with the varsity will be Otto Anderson, and R. F. Hutchinson, assistants from last year, and Glenn Jacoby, who has coached the Vandal freshmen the past two seasons. Rich Fox, assistant varsity coach last year, will take charge of freshman football this season.

Irish Guards Return

Reports that Elmer "Irish" Martin, stellar guard of the 1929 eleven, and John Corkery, who for the past two years has also held down a guard position, are returning to school, was the music to the ears of the Vandal mentors. Both these men put in strong bids for All-Coast honors in 1929-30 and their services will strengthen the squad considerably.

Six other candidates will also be on hand when the drawing for the guard positions is held, so that Calland should have little trouble in keeping the guard post well fortified this year. Although Martin, tipping the scales at 185, and Corkery at 179, head the list, Max Elden, 178, Boise, a recruit from last season and Glen Nutting, 186-pound freshman star from last year's team, will be battling hard for the position of running guard. Hugh Sprout, Boise, and George Hogan, Rigby, two huskies from last year's squad will also be in the line for guard post. "Big George" tips the scale around 215 and Sprout weighs 200. Both these men, while new lettermen, have had lots of experience and will undoubtedly see some action this season.

Two Centers Back

Two lettermen from the 1930 squad will be back to get the first calls at the pivot position. Art Spaugy, 184, Nampa, and Bill Schutte, 175, San Diego, carried the brunt of the center post last year, and both will be heard from plenty this year.

Two big lettermen are returning to get the first call, for the tackle berths. They are Bill Bessler, 184, Klamath Falls, and Buss Hall, 192, Filer. Varsity reserves from last season at the tackle position are Lloyd Sullivan, 198, Twin Falls, and Amos Stephens, 175, Meridian. Bill Bralston, 183, Twin Falls, 1930 frosh runner-up winner, will be on deck to bid for a varsity post.

There is only one letterman but several likely candidates back for the wing jobs. Pete Taylor, 176, Twin Falls, who was in the headlines several times last year, will be in suit for his second year of varsity play and is almost a sure bet for one of the berths. Howard Berg, last year captain and halfback, was shifted in spring practice to end to strengthen that section. These two men will be in the line for the first bids, but will be kept stepping by Kenneth Beckstead, 181, Southern Branch recruit. Orville Schmitz, 173, frosh new comer, Pat Calaban, Bonners Ferry, and Leverett, Giffin, Boise. These three men played bang-up ball on the frosh team.

Backs Plentiful

The material for the backfield is even more plentiful than in any other position since all the veterans are back, with the exception of Jack Booker, plus some classy freshmen ball toters and some recruits from the Southern Branch. The halfback position will be well taken care of by about 10 or 15 big, fast, men. June Hanford, first string man last year will be back at right half. Hanford is a sprinter and when he is on the receiving end of a pass he is poison to the opposing secondary. Three freshmen, John Norby, Rupert, hard-hitting blocker, Leonard Toyer, Rupert, and "Slug" Walker, Scranton, Penn. will be in the list for a back position along with a number of last year reserves. Carl Yanik, Boise, Doug Gordon, Ashton, and Bill Felton, Glendals, Calif., head this list.

From the Southern Branch this year comes two halves who did plenty for the southern school and will give somebody a scrap for a berth on the Vandal eleven when the first togs are handed out next week. These boys are Milton Ballard, Kimberly, and James Machack, Euhi.

Quarterback material is actually the best seen in an Idaho camp for a long time. Not only has Calland got a plentiful supply of signal-barkers, but he has a variety, one for every type of play a coach would want to use, passers, kickers, deceptive ball carriers both big and small.

Wilson, Davis Back

Heading the list are two first year lettermen, George Wilson, 195, Moscow, who made a name for himself last year in Pacific Coast sport circles, and Emmert Davis, 165-pounder from Euhi who alternated with Wilson last season. Eddie Satter, the third who will again see plenty of action behind the line. Satter tips the beam at only 150 pounds but this seems to be no handicap to him. Willis Smith, Boise sophomore, will see lots of action at the quarterback post. Other men from the yearling eleven will be on hand are Lynn Roberts, Idaho Falls, and Pres Tanner, San Pedro.

Fred Wilkie, two year veteran fullback and Lee Tyrell, second year man will carry the brunt of the fullback work. Wilkie, Idaho Falls, at 178, has backed up the line for two seasons and will probably have a big year, while Tyrell, 179, Moscow, is a hard-hitting letterman who will be counted on to do some punting.

"With a year's campaigning behind them," Calland said, "the 1931 Vandals should have that confidence which distinguishes a seasoned squad from a green one."

Spring practice showed that a big disadvantage this season will be uneven distribution of weight through the lineup. To make up for this our offense will show some changes. For instance, one of the backs will be in motion on certain formations. Other differences will show up in the ball games.

HUSKIES TO OPEN NEW GRID SEASON

Phelan Meets Armstrong's Eleven From Utah at Seattle September 26

The colorful Utes of the University of Utah will have five days jump on the University of Washington Huskies when those two grid machines pry off the lid on inter-sectional football in the United States on Sept. 26 here. Coach Ike Armstrong of Utah has ordered his football grandees to report Sept. 10 for their first practice session, while "Irish Jimmy" Phelan of Washington will not initiate his men to the annual whirl until Sept. 15, a regulation of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Utah's football machine will be built from a nucleus of 13 lettermen from the 1930 Rocky Mountain conference championship eleven.

"IKE" ARMSTRONG

The Utes will lack seven men from the titular squad, five of them regulars.

Washington will be missing a like number of veterans as Chuck Lappenbusch, guard; Clarence Paulsen, guard and end; Henry Wentworth, center; Larry Westeweller, end, and Capt. Al Holmes, tackle, have passed along.

Capt. Frank Christensen, sensational sophomore back, is destined to make the Seattle football fans open their eyes, according to advance word from Stanley Murphy, director of athletics at Utah.

Other veteran halfbacks include Matthew Elliott, George Bischoff and Fred Tedesco, with Dan Beckstead as an experienced fullback. On the line, Coach Armstrong has Walt McDonald, center; Winfield Croft and Elmer Welst, guards; Ike Howard, Les Walling and Charles Larson, tackles, and Sherman Clark, end.

Winfield Croft is said to be a whole of a guard. He attracted wide-spread attention in the Mountain sector for his remarkable play.

CALLAND RATES COAST SCHOOLS

Leo Calland, University of Idaho football coach and director of athletics, picks Stanford and Southern California to battle for the Pacific Coast football championship this fall with Washington, Oregon and California likely to finish in the first division. Washington or Oregon should take the northern title, he believes.

Calland predicts that Washington State and Oregon State each have a chance to upset one of his first division choices and finish the season in the upper bracket. U. C. L. A. the baby member of the conference will give Oregon or Washington State a mighty stiff fight, he says.

He declined to say where he expected the Vandals to finish in the conference standings.

IS AID TO PUNTERS

A new machine, designed to aid punters and passers in timing their efforts, will be used during practice by the University of California football team. The device is set for a definite length of time and when this period elapses, a gong sounds.
