

HOLD MYSTERY RALLY AT 6:30 TO NIGHT

MONTANA MENTOR NATIONALLY KNOWN FOR GRID STUNTS

Bunny Oakes is Canny Inventor of Contraptions For Grid Practice

Idaho will be up against a team tomorrow that is as well founded in the fundamentals of football as any eleven they will meet this year, if the Grizzly coach, Bunny Oakes, famous robots are as practical in the making of hard-hitting line-men as they are popular as training devices in football camps of the nation.

Included in the Montana mentor's fine football record is his introduction into the game of mechanical contraptions to supplement wear and tear on linemen in practice sessions. One of his developments receiving nationwide recognition is a series of dummy offensive and defensive players that serve in the place of scrub teams for the first string forward wall to work out against.

Invents Line-Charger.

Another of Coach Oakes' ingenious inventions is a line-charging machine that teaches the fundamentals of defense. "It's a great time-saver and help in developing coordination and quickness of action," says Oakes, and judging from the type of ball-players that this system of training has developed, among them Huggs, Rhea, all-American selection last year, his statement is grounded on something more than theoretical knowledge.

Bunny Oakes first used these robots while head line coach at the University of Nebraska where he was dropping ball-players for five years before taking over the reins at the University of Montana. As a lineman on service teams in France and Germany during the World War and later at the University of Illinois.

His system of play and methods of training will receive a severe test when Coach Leo Calland's gridders trot onto the field tomorrow, for the Idaho mentor believes in entirely different ways of training his men to block, tackle, and tear open the opponents' line. Brought up under the tutelage of Howard Jones, Calland believes that the only way a man can learn to play the game is by playing it, that is, going through the practice session using his own bone and flesh to dodge, tackle, and block, thus learning to come with the actual problems that he meets in the game.

Protects Players.

One of the chief advantages claimed of the robot system is the protection of the players from injury. The Vandal mentor prevents such happenings by the drilling of fundamentals in small groups. As evidence of the effectiveness of this method, Coach Calland reports a record of no injuries or even minor casualties for the practice season this year.

Coach Bunny Oakes has high respect for the Vandal's defensive ability, for Montana has been spending long hours tearing through pseudo-Vandal formations. They have also spent much time perfecting a defense against Idaho's power, deception, and aerial attack.

Appointments for the Gem of the Mountains staff have been announced by Melvin Stewart, editor and Paul Miller, associate editor. Selections were made in consultation with three other staff members. "An unusually large number reported for work on the staff this year," said Stewart, "and as a result appointments should be considered as tentative."

GRIZZLY STUDENTS COME ON SPECIAL

The University of Montana will be here 100 strong, when the Missoula special arrives in Moscow Saturday morning. They plan to leave for Spokane directly after the game on the Shriner special. This train will leave at 4:45 for a non-stop trip to Spokane, which will get the fans there in plenty of time to see the night football game between Montana State college and Gonzaga starting at 8 p. m.

Dean Fermeil French announced that women students who have their parents' permission will be permitted to go to the game, but will have to be back before the last train on Sunday. Northern Pacific officials have made a special rate for university students of $1.80 for the round trip. These tickets will be effective until October 19.

MONTANA GRIZZLY SQUAD TO TANGLE ON MAC LEAN FIELD

Vandals Eager for Revenge After Defeat Last Year By Montana

The Vandals will have their long waited chance to get revenge for last seasons 12-6 defeat at the hands of the University of Montana gridders, when they entertain the Missoulaans on MacLean field Saturday. It will be the second attempt of Calland's men to break into the win column of the Pacific Coast standings.

Although the comparative scores give Idaho a slight advantage, the Grizzlies have shown such great improvement since their opening game that it looks like anybody's game. Last week at Seattle the Montanans gave the Huskies a bad afternoon and the game was far from one sided. All of the Washington scores were made on long runs and passes as the Montana team was too powerful for the Huskies to push over for a single touchdown.

After returning from Seattle, Bunny Oakes made several changes in the Grizzly backfield in an effort to stop the deceptions which have bothered all of Idaho's opponents for the last few years. The Montana line averaging 190 pounds is reputed to be one of the strongest in the northern division Vandal forward wall. The Idaho veterans from last year will well remember Augie Vidro, the big Grizzly end, who played such a big part in last year's game. Another of the foreign threats is Lowell Dalley, a crushing fullback, who was a lineman last year.

"IRISH" MARTIN

Elmer "Irish" Martin, powerful guard of the 1928-29 teams who returned this year is tearing up all opposing lines. Montana will hear from him tomorrow.

BABES TO TANGLE WITH SPOKANE U.

The Idaho Babes expect a tough game with the Spokane university eleven here Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The frosh have been working hard this week and several changes have been made in the lineup. Powers has been placed at fullback; Burke at guard; Moser at tackle; and Barker at quarterback. The backfield has been functioning smoothly and Coach Fox expects it to get under way next Saturday. Welsch of Bonners Ferry has been playing fullback part of the time but, although speedy, he lacks experience.

The probable beginning lineup is as follows: Batty, center; Berg and Nutting, guards; McNerny and Moser, tackles; Avery and Swan, ends; Reid, quarterback; P. Berg, and Thomas, halfbacks; and Pow-George Rich is just getting over injuries and may see action at a wing position. Williamson may break in at either tackle or end. Wagoner at end and Tanghe at tackle have shown up well and will probably see action. Some of the backfield have never seen action behind the line before, so it is a question of hard work and experience.

HOST OF VETERANS ON MONTANA TEAM

AUGUST VIDRO

BILL HAWK

AL DAHLBERG

LEONARD LEROUX

When Calland's men line up against the Grizzlies tomorrow afternoon they will have to keep an eagle eye on these tough men from Montana to get the load end of the score. Last year veterans will need no introduction to August Vidro, pass smasher delux, who scored both of Montana's touchdowns when the Missoulaans downed the Vandals 12-6. The big end is making a great name for himself. Vidro has an able partner in Al Dahlberg, 175 pounder, holding down the other end of the line. The Vandal fight cry will be "watch those ends." A great battle is predicted when Art Spangy, who has been playing a whale of a game, mixes with Leonard Leroux, 198 pound center from Butte. Both teams will be strong in the center of the line. Bill Hawk playing on the left side of Leroux will take care of any plays sent in his direction, and if advance dope means anything he is capable of covering lots of territory.

All Moscow girls who are new students in the university and who are interested in this town girls' organization are invited to attend.

At a meeting on Tuesday in the Administration building plans for the fireside were made. A meeting of new girls was also held at this time at which a large number of interested freshmen were present.

NEWSPAPER MEN GET FREE COFFEE

Bessie Louise Hogg, president of Idaho's W. A. A., announces that free coffee will be served to visiting newspaper correspondents in the press box at the Montana game tomorrow.

This courtesy is extended at Washington, Oregon, W. S. C. and other universities on the coast and the W. A. A. feels that it is Idaho's duty and honor to treat their correspondents in the same manner.

"The W. A. A. feels that it wants to show its appreciation to the ASU for its concession of letting them sell candy and other delicacies at the games," says Miss Hogg.

WINNING COVERS WILL DETERMINE STAFF ARTISTS

Bucket Sponsors Ail-College Art Contest to Find Talent

In an effort to find latent campus talent, John Trueman, Blue Bucket editor, announced this morning a cover contest for the first number of the magazine which will be on the stands in time for homecoming.

The winner of the contest will be appointed art editor, Trueman said.

The contest has been made as simple as possible from the artistic standpoint to allow amateurs an equal chance with the more advanced artist. All sketches will be simple line drawings in ink on white drawing paper. The winning black and white drawing will be colored by staff artists and used for the cover.

Mittan W. Melzian, art instructor, is acting in an advisory capacity for the contest. His advice was sought since he has had considerable experience with college comic magazines, especially the Minnesota Ski-U-Mah.

The Greek motif for the first issue was chosen at a staff meeting last week. Fruit stands, hash houses, lunch wagons, shoe shines, beer rackets, fraternities, ancient Helionics or anything Greek, treated with a humorous aspect, will be acceptable, Trueman said.

Twenty-two men have been selected to become members of Idaho's Ball and Chain chapter of Intercollegiate Knights, national honorary service organization for upperclassmen. The new candidates were introduced into the Knights at their meeting last Tuesday and will be formally pledged into the organization October 13.

JAPANESE EXHIBIT SHOWN BY CLUB

The Attic club exhibition of Japanese color prints in the department of art and architecture is being held in the attic of Science hall.

At its last meeting the Attic club decided it needed some dominating idea or purpose in order to become established as a recognized campus organization. The club bargained with the department of art and architecture on the privilege of sponsoring all department exhibits in the future. It is a considerable undertaking for a young club in a university where exhibitions are a premium, but the enthusiasm of the group would indicate certain success.

The present exhibition of prints made on recent plates from old masters of Japan is spectacular in its originality. The original point of view is so far removed from our own that a new world is opened up to western eyes on viewing a large collection such as this one.

FREE PRINT

Perhaps the chief attraction to the collegiate mind is the free print to be given away at the close of the exhibit to the person signing the guest book as the lucky numbered individual.

The award will be announced through the columns of the Argonaut.

Besides the prize interest, the amount of appreciation gained by contact with these old masters of Japan is worth the effort of ascending to the attic of the Science building and wandering around the Attic club galleries.

The exhibition will be open for one week commencing today, Friday, October 9, including Sunday afternoon and Tuesday evening.

It is hoped that Hiroshige, Hokusai, and Kiyonaga will be words on the campus in the future.

Pep Parade Plans For Game Carry Punch For Students

Plans for the rally Friday night, according to "Tully" Eaton, yell king, will be kept under cover until the students have assembled at the Central section of the football stadium.

Yell leaders and the pep band are to start from Ridenbaugh Hall at 6:30 making a tour of the campus and playing at all group houses. Members of the various group houses are requested to await the arrival of the cheer leaders and pep band before entering into the parade.

IDAHO TRADITION TO BE ENFORCED

"No dates at the games" was the decree of the "T" men at their last meeting. This is an old tradition on the campus which the lettermen decided should be enforced. The letter winners are agreed on the fact that the proper rooting spirit cannot be maintained when fellows bring dates to the game. The penalty for those who do bring dates to the game will be a general "house warming" party during the half at which time the violators of the tradition will be on the receiving end of the "T" men's paddles.

Idaho's lettermen and the yell leaders will enter each group house to rouse student enthusiasm for the rally. When the last of the group houses have been visited, the rally led by the pep band will march to the athletic field stadium which will be illuminated by the powerful searchlights above the press box.

Here under the battery of lights Harry Walden and his famous pep band will stimulate the students with their dashing music, yells will be given and then the rest of the "myzery" rally program for the evening will be disclosed by the yell king.

IDAHO GRID FANS WILL SEE INITIAL CONFERENCE FRAY

Tomorrow's Vandal-Grizzly Game Opens Home Conference Tilts

When Idaho and Montana clash on MacLean field tomorrow at 2 o'clock they will furnish Moscow fans and students with their first glimpse of Pacific Coast conference football. Montana was beaten in her first appearance on the coast by Washington and Idaho at Portland by Oregon.

Idaho and Montana will meet tomorrow in their annual game both with the intention of putting the other at the bottom of the conference list and starting themselves out with a conference win. Montana, introducing a new coach, Bernard "Bunny" F. Oakes, into conference circles, is determined to start with a practically clean slate and defend their defeat of the Vandals last year.

Coach Calland realizes the strength of the revamped Grizzlies and is taking no chances of a conference upset. He has been running his men hard the past week and after the past experience in the Whitman game and that gained in the Oregon tilt, the team which trots onto the field Saturday should be the strongest he can muster.

The Vandal mentor has been adding plays to the quarterback's list and the Idaho team should present a varied attack. The four fast quarterbacks can handle the line and end plays while and Tyrrell can be counted upon to carry the brunt of the power plays. Norby, Sackett, Haford, Walker are developing into a powerful blocking combination.

The Montana line is one of the biggest, and fastest forward walls on the coast and will furnish a tough obstacle for the Vandal backs to conquer. The Grizzille line averages over 190 pounds out-weighting the Vandals about ten pounds to the man. To offset this Calland has been stressing his passing attack. A good deal this week with Wilson, Davis, Smith and Davis, all about tossers, and Taylor, Berg, Hanford, Norby, Tyrrell, and Wilkie on the receiving end, Coach Oakes will have to put spurs on his men to stop this aerial attack from counting for points.

The Vandals are in good shape with the exception of Martin and Eiden, guards, who have been in the infirmary. However, these men are expected to play Saturday and will probably appear in the starting lineup.

Probable starting lineups:

INTERCOLLEGIATE FORENSIC SQUAD GETS QUESTIONS

Experienced Men Answer Silver Tongue Call But Women are Scarce

Intercollegiate debate has definitely got under way at the university for the year 1931-32. At a meeting called by A. E. Whithead, university debate coach, last Tuesday advance information regarding debating and questions were given out, and instructions were given to aspirants for the squad to begin collection of material immediately. The first meetings of the squad for discussion of the questions begins next Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting gave indication that the coming season for Idaho will not be one of training new men entirely. Among those attending the meeting were men who have had previous experience in public speaking or who have been active in previous years in the actual work of debating. Included among the experienced debaters were Ralph Olmstead, Harry Angney and Paris Martin, three-year debate men, and William Wetherall, Robert Vincent and John Farquhar, two-year men. Claude Marcus and William McCoy, experienced in public speech work, were also present.

The questions discussed this year will probably number three or four, but just at present the squad is working on the question for the triangle debate with Whitman, and Washington State. "Resolved: That the decrease in wages during the depression has retarded progress to recovery." One of the other questions used will be upon a political subject.

Schedule Not Complete. The debate schedule this year has not yet been completed, but among the schools with whom Idaho teams will compete is LaVerne college of California. Others in the Pacific Coast league will also be on the list in numbers great enough to assure the use of at least fifteen men on the university teams during the year.

Among the interesting things arising in connection with making up the schedule has been the receipt of a letter from Canterbury College of New Zealand asking for a debate with the university next year. Three representatives of that institution, holders of advanced degrees, are planning a tour of the United States and particularly of the Pacific coast which is to begin in July, 1932. The answer sent by the university to their inquiry will probably be favorable.

Dean Hungerford pointed out that agricultural training today is based upon a group of sciences which deal with fact. All agricultural industries are necessarily dependent upon agricultural research and investigation.

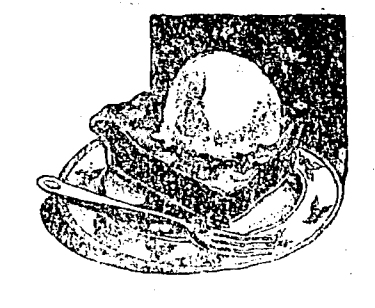

The vast amount of knowledge contributed to the agricultural sciences by research has made it necessary for anyone desiring an agricultural education to plan a systematic system to get that information systematically. It is practically impossible for a man to train himself independently in the agricultural sciences today. Self-made men are rapidly becoming a thing of the past. The technical nature of agricultural courses today requires both delicate equipment and technical instruction for their absorption by the student.

"There are many reasons why one should go to college," said Dean Hungerford.

Long before the huge bulk of a new skyscraper looms up, Bell System men have planned its nerve system—the maze of telephone cables and wires so vital to its business activities.

From the inception of a building design, telephone engineers work hand in hand with the architects. They determine the telephone needs of thousands of future tenants. Then they plan cable shafts rising from cellar to roof and the grid of under-floor ducts that will put telephones within easy reach of every occupant.

There's a real thrill in working out these plans, for without telephones the immense structures of today would hardly be practical.

LAW PUBLICATION BRINGS NATIONAL RESPECT TO IDAHO

Department Law Journal is Edited by Local Law Faculty

State and national recognition is being given the Idaho Law Journal published by the college of law, University of Idaho. The resolution passed unanimously by the Idaho State Bar association at the annual meeting held July 8 and 9 in Moscow reads as follows:

"We heartily endorse the law school of the University of Idaho and the Idaho law journal as published by this department. We cannot urge too strongly upon individual members of the bar of the state of Idaho that they subscribe to this very instructive journal."

This indicates that the state bar thinks well of the law school and of the work it is now doing. It also shows that they are taking an interest in it, and approve its high standards. For the past three years all graduates of the law school have passed the state bar examinations with high records.

Howard Is Editor. The Idaho Law Journal is edited by Professor Pendleton Howard. The other members of the editorial board are the faculty of law, Dean W. E. Masterson, head of the law school, Professor W. H. Pittman, and Professor Bert E. Hopkins; members of the bar association, James F. Ailshie, Fred J. Babcock, Hugh A. Baker, Dana E. Brinck, Eugene A. Cox, Alvin Denman, George Donart, John P. Gray, Sam S. Griffin, Jess B. Hawley, T. Bailey Lee, Otto M. McCutcheon, A. L. Merrill, McKee F. Morrow, B. W. Oppenheim, E. A. Owen, R. P. Parry, C. H. Potts, John C. Rice, D. W. Standrod, Frank L. Stephan, and H. B. Thompson.

Students contributed comments and notes on current court decisions. The lawyers and professors of law contributed among other things, legal articles and book reviews.

The Journal was begun last year for the first time and is issued quarterly. It came in response to a growing demand from the lawyers of the state.

Journal is Praised. The lawyers throughout the state have expressed great satisfaction with the law journal which is devoted largely to the legal problems of Idaho. Legal scholars and the best lawyers throughout the country consider that it compares favorably with the best law journals published in the United States.

Quoting from letters received by Dean Masterson from over the state and throughout the country, the following bits show the appreciation and interest given the law department's good work.

Many Compliment. Dean L. Green of the Northwestern university school of law wrote: "I have just examined your Number 1, Volume I, of the Idaho Law Journal. It strikes me as an excellent piece of work, both in form and content, and a sure nothing has been done for that state in the way of legal education which will prove more stimulating both to your students and the bar as a whole."

"I congratulate you and your law school upon the ability and enterprise shown in your law publication," stated Richard Priest Dietzman, judge of the court of appeals of Kentucky.

The librarian, Eldon R. James, at the law school of Harvard university says of the Journal, "I must say it strikes me as a very excellent performance."

Attorney Oliver O. Haga, Boise, says, "You are to be complimented on both the contents and the mechanical makeup of the Journal."

James F. Ailshie, Coeur d'Alene attorney, former supreme court justice, commends the literary work highly. "It is a very creditable publication. I think the two articles it contains, the one on Idaho Community Property Law and the other on the Workmen's Compensation Law, are well worth the year's subscription to the Journal."

"The journal is a distinct contribution to the Bench and Bar of the state, and a credit to its parents," stated T. A. Walters, attorney at Caldwell, Idaho, and member of the state board of regents.

WALLIS NAMED MIXER CHAIRMAN

Randall Wallis was appointed general chairman of this year's senior mixers, yesterday afternoon, by Charles Cheney, senior class president. Lin Cozwell, Helen Parrot, and Florence Rohrer were named as the entertainment committee for the mixers.

WOMEN'S CLUB END ANNUAL MEETING WITH LUNCHEON

Local Organizations Entertain Club Delegates in Moscow

The 28th annual convention of the Idaho Federated Women's clubs concluded today with a 12 o'clock luncheon given by the Moscow clubs at the Blue Bucket inn, where they were entertained by the Blue Bucket orchestra, composed of university students.

The convention opened Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Elks' temple. A welcome address was given to fifty delegates and visitors from fourteen towns by Mayor J. E. Wilson of Moscow. An address was also given by Professor Geoffrey Coope on "The Dole System of England."

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. M. G. Neale entertained the delegates at tea. In the evening they were guests of Miss Permel J. French at a 6 o'clock dinner at Hays hall. Mrs. Warren Truitt of Moscow, toastmistress presented the speakers and officers. Mrs. S. W. Wilson, Blackfoot, state federation president, gave a short talk. Mrs. Neale graciously presented to the women of the state an invitation to visit the university. She also invited them that this day marked the anniversary of their coming to Idaho saying: "We feel that the joy we have known during this short time has made it seem much longer." Dean French's talk on modern youth dealt with behavior of college students. "Modern youth like the pendulum, is swinging back," this was followed by a musical recital under the direction of Professor Conleton Cummins.

The delegates were guests of the Pledge Dances Feature Week-End Entertainment

This week-end promises many lovely social affairs for students on the campus. Seven fraternity and sorority dances will be given, two on Friday evening and five on Saturday. Each of these gay parties will be given in honor of the freshman members of the group.

The Alpha Phi dance is to be a novel affair. All that could be learned about it, however, is that silhouettes will be used in the scheme of decoration; the rest of the dance is being kept secret until the evening arrives. Nursery rhymes for the youngest members of the house will be prevalent at the Alpha Tau Omega dance. Rosy Lane and his Six Troopers will furnish music for the affair.

ADVERTISING CLUB MEETS FIRST TIME

Spokane Advertising Club Will Furnish Speakers in the Future

The Advertising club, a newly organized association for all university students interested in advertising, held their first meeting Thursday at 4:10 in Administration building 207. Officers elected were Jay Kendrick, president and Charles Gelinsky, secretary.

Plans were made for an evening meeting to be held about the middle of October at which time two members of the Spokane Advertising club, practical men in the field of advertising, will discuss various problems connected with advertising. It is anticipated that the Spokane Advertising club will furnish the local group with a speaker each month throughout the school year. The local organization is to function in collaboration with the Advertising club at Washington State college which has been very successful since its organization several years ago.

The local group was organized at the instigation and sponsorship of the college contact committee of the Spokane Advertising club which is a member of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs association.

BILL HAWKINS AND HIS BAND IS BACK FROM THE COAST WITH THE LATEST AND HOTTEST NUMBERS FOR THE

DANCE FRIDAY and SATURDAY at the Blue Bucket

SPOTLIGHT SHINES OVER FOUR COAST TEAMS SATURDAY

Phelan's Huskies Meet Oregon and W. S. C. Will Play U. S. C.

Interest of the football fans will be centered around the four winners of last week—University of Washington Huskies vs Oregon Webfoot, Washington State Cougars vs University of Southern California.

In the Husky-Webfoot game, the Huskies are given the odds to win. Jimmie Phelan has been working on the Oregon plays and perfecting defense. Their only weakness is at right tackle. Doc Spears of Oregon is counting a lot on Lillard "The Midnight Express" to do the scoring for his aggregation. For the past several weeks the Webfooters have been putting in a few extra ticks by working at night under the big lights. In the Idaho vs Oregon game Doc noticed several weaknesses that must be remedied, and has been doing his best to perfect the machine.

When the Cougars of Washington State meet the Trojans of Southern California, the crowds should see some real ball. "Babe" Hollingbery has but three of his veterans from last year back. In the U. C. L. A. game, his backfield showed a great deal of speed. Sanders, Parodi, Hurley, and Edwards are all counted on for a real game Saturday. Only the ends are weak, but Babe is making changes to remedy that. Southern California looked good last week against Oregon State and can be counted on for plenty of offensive play.

Oregon State does not have a game scheduled for this week, but is doing a great deal to get the team in shape for the Stanford game October 17. It is now in rather poor condition with but two outstanding men, Harold Moe, right half, one of the best in the conference, and Hammer, another fighting football player. U. C. L. A. also has a great deal of work to do to get the team in shape. Like Oregon State they do not have a game scheduled for this week.

Stanford has not played any conference games yet this season and is hard to rate but they can be counted on for plenty of power and fight.

CHURCH GROUPS ENJOY OUTDOORS

Many Moscow churches have been taking advantage of the delightful fall weather by taking their young people out to the open spaces. Last Saturday night the Roger Williams club drove to Viola and enjoyed a kabob fry; the Presbyterians hiked to Kenjockey here Hungarian stew, butter norms and ice cream was served; the Christian church folks drove out to Moscow mountain for a werner roast.

VOLLEYBALL TILTS OPENED WEDNESDAY

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon sextet opened the Idaho intra-mural season with a 15-6, 15-4 win over Lindsey hall aggregation Wednesday afternoon on the indoor courts at the gymnasium. The Lambda Chi team, defending champions easily took the first B league game from the Kappa Sigma group, 15-6, 15-1.

Thursday afternoon, Ridenbaugh hall staged a comeback to defeat Sigma Chi 2-15, 15-13, 15-10, while the L. D. S. boys defeated the Sigma Nus 15-9, 15-12, to finish the B league games scheduled for the day.

In the best game of the day, Delta Tau Delta nose out the Betas by the narrow scores of 12-15, 18-16, and 15-13. Tau Mem Aleph forfeited to Phi Gamma Delta.

Games scheduled for Friday include a T. K. E.-Delta Chi tangle, and A. T. O. vs. Phi Delta Theta in the B league. Winners of Wednesday and Thursday's games will play for the right to enter the semi-finals Monday and Tuesday nights.

WORK FOR CROSS COUNTRY BEGINS

May Take Trip to Salt Lake For Big Meet This Year

Fifteen aspiring punionists answered Coach Otto Anderson's first cross-country call and are working out every afternoon under the leadership of Captain Charles Heath and John Thomas.

With two meets with the W. S. C. squad in a few weeks and possibly a trip to the A. A. U. cross-country meet at Salt Lake city this Thanksgiving, the team has settled down to some hard training, and, according to Coach Anderson, will look good as a team when the first trial is held.

"I am confident of the showing the squad will make as a whole this year," he reported, "with several of the men stepping the distance in promising time." Heath, Thomas, Siple, Livingston, Galloway, and Roberts are showing up particularly well.

Placed in National Meet. Last year a two-man Idaho squad placed second in the national A. A. U. meet, with Charles Heath placing first, and Lennes Hall, twice winner of the intra-mural contest, placing third. Although Hall failed to return to school, in all probability a larger squad will be sent to Salt Lake city this year to compete in the meet which will take place between the halves of the Utah university and Utah Aggie football game.

Intra-mural cross-country training is already in full swing with over 30 men working out regularly. This number will doubtless be raised to over 50 before the end of the week.

All varsity and intra-mural candidates are requested to sign up with Charles Heath in the Memorial gymnasium before the end of the week.

APPOINTS HEAD POINT SYSTEM

A. W. S. Cabinet Meets With Dean French.

To organize plans for the ensuing year, the Associated Women Students held their first cabinet meeting Tuesday. It was decided to meet the first Tuesday of every month at 5 o'clock. Business transacted consisted of the appointment of Kathryn Hart as chairman of the point system for activities, and the election of Dahrl Bockwitz as secretary to take the place of Belle Porterfield. Assembly plans were discussed.

"We wish our general assemblies to be worth while," said Dean French. "With this purpose in mind we are planning to secure a noted woman speaker from the east."

"Our task now," said Joan Harris, president, "is to interest other universities around here in the plan so that they will join A. W. S. in the expense of bringing the desired speaker west."

SPORT SHOP

By CHARLES SCHUMACHER

The Montana game Saturday is the only conference tilt of the season slated for MacLean field. Both Montana and Idaho were defeated in their first conference starts. Each team will be out to boost their standing. The Grizzlies under the tutorage of the fiery "Bunny" Oakes, former Nebraska line coach, are set to repeat last year's victory over the Vandals. Calland and his men will try to stop that very thing and at the same time break into the win column. Everything points to a real tough battle for Saturday afternoon.

Calland and his assistants worked hard this week to perfect the tackling and blocking of the Vandal squad in preparation for the Montanans. These departments seemed to be weak in the Oregon game. Idaho had the Oregon passes pretty well covered and should encounter no trouble if Oakes elects to take the air. All of the backs have been doing extra time on interference work. We should see the ball carriers put out into the open field plenty of times during the game. Idaho's power seems to hinge upon getting the shifty quarters past the line of scrimmage. Calland's ball toters are able to take care of themselves once they are in the open.

Oakes has built his offense around a big fellow by the name of Dailey, a fullback, and four speedy quarters, Meeker, Fox, Crowley, and Caven. All are fast and shifty. The mainstays of the line are Murray and Vidro both veterans. Both of these boys turned in good games at Washington last weekend. The line will average close to 195 and the backfield about 175 giving them the weight advantage.

Rich Fox's Babes will tangle with the tough Spokane University eleven Saturday morning. The Irish team has suffered a complete shakeup as part of the coaches program of developing a winning combination. The first year men looked very ragged and erratic in the State Normal contest. Offensive efforts just simply wouldn't click for the Foxmen. With one game's seasoning the Babes should show a big improvement and make stiff competition for Camp's Crusaders.

Other Pacific Coast Conference play will see the winners of last weeks games opposing each other. The center of attraction will be the W. S. C.-U. S. C. tilt in Los Angeles. You will remember the Cougars upset Howard Jones's men at Pullman last fall. Oregon and Washington play at Seattle. Oregon squeezed a 7-0 win from Phelan's crew a year ago. These two major games will go a long way toward singling out the "dark" horses and picking the 1931 champs.

Gonzaga and Montana State will tangle at Spokane in the annual Shrine Benefit game for the Inland Empire's other contest. Gonzaga showed worlds of offensive power in defeating Ellensburg Normal last Friday night. It looks like the Spokane team is going to be tough to beat this year. Montana State isn't on the Vandal schedule this year.

The eyes of the sporting world have returned to the national pastime, momentarily at least. The St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Athletics will fight it out tomorrow for the much sought pennant. Every series has its hero. This year he is in the personage of young "Pepper" Martin, rookie Cardinal center fielder. Martin has made good the seemingly idle boast of being able to hit any pitching by socking the apple for a neat .667 so far in the series. Besides this he has tied the all time series record for hits as well as stealing bases to fill in his afternoons. Pretty good for a first year man in the big show.

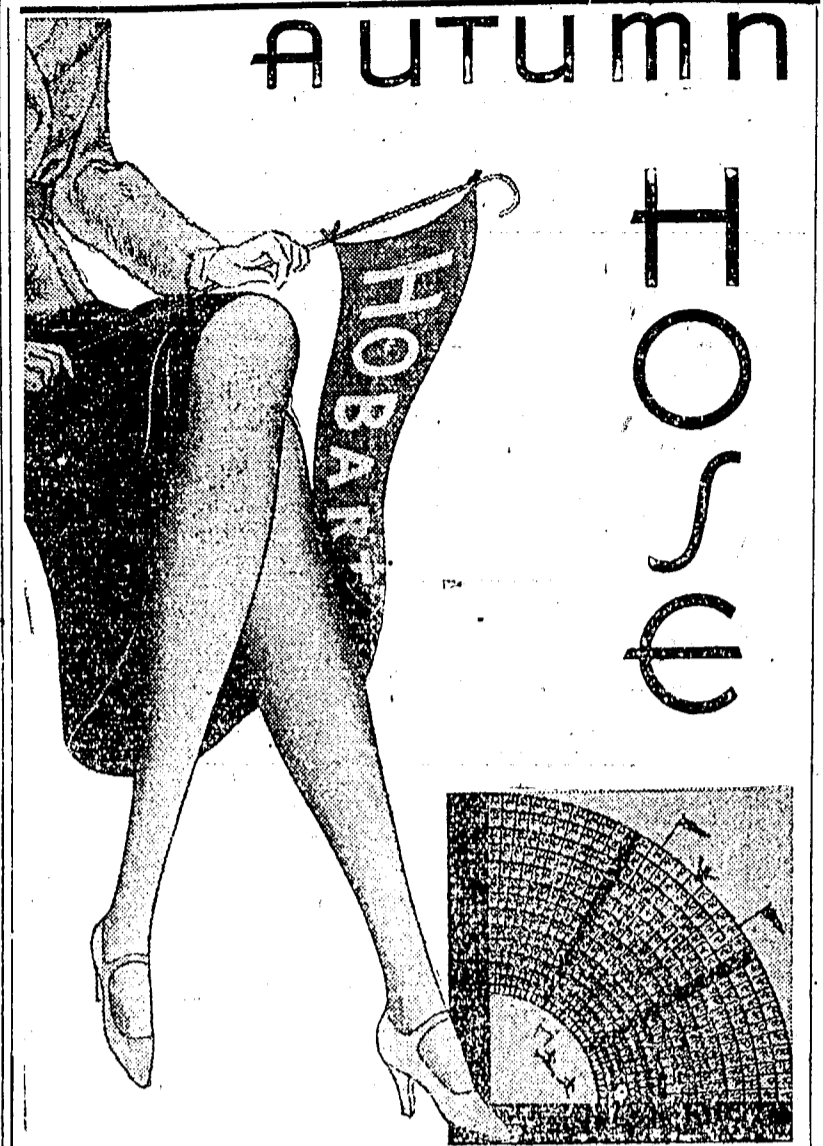

SPURS MAKE PLANS TO HOLD BANQUET

The first regular meeting of the Spurs was held Wednesday noon after a luncheon at the Blue Bucket.

The program for the formal banquet, in honor of retiring Spurs, was discussed, and the date set for Tuesday next week. Miss Ellen Reiersen, sponsor of last year's Spurs, will be a guest at the banquet.

HELL DIVERS MEET

Margaret Moulton was elected song leader. Plans were made for the American Red Cross Hell Divers' club held a short meeting Wednesday night at the Memorial gymnasium. It was decided to hold a special meeting at the Blue Bucket inn at noon today. A discussion was held concerning the enrollment of new members and the purchasing of new suits and emblems.
