

Cagey Vandals Primed To Check Bulldog's Rush

Richard Stanton.
After two weeks' preparation without a game played, the Vandals are in a fighting condition to stop the onslaught of the Gonzaga Bulldogs tomorrow when they meet on MacLean field at 2 o'clock in the feature of the homecoming celebration. Alumni will be back in full force with students, Spokane rooters, and fans from over the northwest to witness the Vandals and the Bulldogs renew gridiron hostilities in a game which points to be one of the highlights of the coast.

The spotlights on the gridiron have been burning overtime for the last few evenings keeping the men out there until 6 o'clock getting in shape to halt the charging Irish of Coach Pecarovich.

The Vandals are primed to the nth degree for the homecoming classic and when 2 o'clock rolls around tomorrow there will be 25 men who are "raring to go." The team has had far from a two week's vacation if one should ask them, as ten practice sessions since the Washington game has kept their noses to the grind-stone preparing for the Gonzaga tilt.

The game is bound to furnish the old "grads" and rooters with plenty of thrills, since Pecarovich is bringing a squad of men to Moscow who will be fighting every minute to revenge the loss suffered at the hands of the Vandals last year at Spokane. Calland's men invaded the haunts of the Bulldogs last fall and romped over them on the Spokane field in a night game and emerged with a score of 26 to 0, the big score on the Idaho side of the ledger.

The game tomorrow will be the eighteenth struggle between Idaho and Gonzaga. Although the Idaho teams have come out with a majority of wins, the present is always a different story and the Bulldogs will be doing every thing in their power to increase their side of the account.

Minus Regulars.
Coach Calland is still faced with the problem of presenting a team minus several regulars who were hurt in the Montana and Washington games. He has been shifting several men into the vacated berths who seem to be fitting into the combination with comparative equal ability, but the loss of some of the veterans has been keenly felt. By shifting men into the vacated positions the Idaho reserve strength which has always been a weak spot, is weakened more than ever.

Pete Taylor, regular end who was hurt in the Montana game, is still on the crippled list, and, contrary to mid-week reports, will not be in the starting eleven. Pete's injury is still bothering him and hinders him from turning out his usual first class ball. Although he won't be on hand for the opening, he might possibly get into the game for a few plays. His position in tomorrow's lineup will be filled by June Hanford, who was shifted from his blocking halfback position to end after Taylor was hurt. Schmitz, Brailsford, Beckstead, and Randall are all in first class condition and ready to fall into the wing post if called upon.

Howard Berg, captain of the 1930 team will start at his old position at right end. Berg played half-back last year but at the beginning of the season was shifted to end where he has been playing crack-up ball. He will furnish the Gonzaga backs plenty of competition when they attempt to scale his side of the line.

NAME COMMITTEE TO VIEW HOUSES Will Award Trophy for Best Homecoming Decoration.

The committee in charge of the homecoming decorations has secured the following people to judge the decorations: Professor Paul R. Ihrig of the art department, Miss Katherine Jensen of the home economics department, and Mr. Wayne Snook of Davids' store. The trophies for the best decorations have been selected by the graduate manager, George Horton, and will be awarded to the winners Saturday.

The judges will have reached their decision upon the best decorations by Saturday noon. Because the committee decided that the usual expenses for the homecoming decorations were too high, a meeting of the house managers of the respective houses was called, where it was decided to lower the usual rate of twenty-five dollars to twenty.

President Neale Welcomes Alumni Back To University

The University faculty is glad to join the members of the student body in welcoming all alumni and former students on their return to the University.

A general welcome of this kind always seems more or less formal. It is difficult to make it sound otherwise. What we want to say is that we're glad to have you here.

Your return stimulates the football team. They will play better because of the fact that a large number of you are sufficiently interested to return and show them that the Idaho spirit is not a short lived thing.

Your return is also a source of stimulation to the student body. They like to hear from you about the old days at the University of Idaho. It does them good to find that you are still interested in the welfare of the institution.

We hope that you have a good time, and that the football score turns out to be all that the most optimistic alumnus would have any right to expect.

BLUE KEY TO HOLD BANQUET SATURDAY HONORING ALUMNI

Purpose to Welcome Alums and Acquaint Them with Members

The athletic coaching staff and Blue Key alumni will be honored at a banquet given by Blue Key Saturday noon at the Blue Bucket Inn. Members of the coaching staff are Leo Calland, Richard Fox, Otto Anderson, Glenn Jacoby and Ralph Hutchinson. Members of Blue Key in the faculty are Dean I. C. Crawford, General E. R. Chrisman, Jesse Buchanan, Cecil Hagen, Harold Boyer, and Allen Janssen. Other alumni and their guests will also attend the banquet.

Two Objects
Kenneth O'Leary, president of Blue Key, will preside at the banquet. The program which will consist of short welcoming speeches and pep talks and the banquet will be conducted very informally.

"We want to accomplish two things by our banquet," said Walt Gillespie, chairman. "First, to welcome the alums, make them feel at home on the campus, and to give the present members of Blue Key a chance to get acquainted with their alumni."
Blue Key's share in the homecoming program is a large one.

GONZAGA MENTOR REVIVES FAN'S PEP BY ROCKNE STYLE

Mike Pecarovich Brings Notre Dame Methods Back Again

With the return this year of Mike Pecarovich as head coach at Gonzaga university and his Notre Dame style of football, comes a vision to the Bulldog fans of a rise to that gridiron supremacy that Gonzaga enjoyed in the years when Gus Dorias made famous a team, and himself in '21 and '22.

After trying other systems of play for two years, the new Gonzaga mentor feels that his boys are enjoying the return to the old style and will bring back a spirit that has been lacking in Gonzaga's football for some time.

Mike Pecarovich is not a stranger at Gonzaga this year, having been connected with that institution's gridiron history for five years. After two years of playing end and quarter under Dorias in '21 and '22, he was assistant coach to his former tutor, and helped turn out some fine teams in '23 and '24. The next year he guided the Gonzaga high school eleven to a Spokane city championship. Since that time, he has been making good in California as a coach of professional and high school teams.

On Football Map.
This year Mike has put Gonzaga on the football map with his exceptional showings against some of the strongest teams in the west. Holding a lead for three quarters against the undefeated St. Mary's eleven lends weight to the value of his knowledge of football and ability to teach.

Interesting from the technical side of the game is his views on the difficulties of coaching the Notre Dame method. Mike believes that the strongest item in the offense of his system is timing, but that it is also the hardest to coach. He is a firm believer in the value of the shift and uses this as a start for his reverse and spinner plays.

Pecarovich is confident of his team's prospects for a comeback, but will have a big obstacle to overcome in the Vandals forthcoming attempt to repeat their last year's victory performance.

PRESIDENT NEALE TO GIVE ADDRESS

Faculty Members Will Attend Southwestern Idaho Teachers Meet

Dr. Mervin G. Neale leaves today for the Southwestern Idaho Teachers' association meeting in Caldwell, where he will address the teachers Friday.

"The Challenge of Time" will be the subject of Doctor Neale's address.

Mrs. M. L. Sargent, professor of modern languages, will deliver an address on the subject of "Modern Languages" at the meeting of the Southwestern Idaho Teachers' association, which gathers Friday and Saturday at Caldwell.

Pandemonium To Break At Homecoming Rally

INFORMAL MEETING TO BE HELD PRIOR TO ALUMNI DANCE

Will Hold Informal "Get Acquainted" Hour at Hays Hall

Two social events instead of one will wind up the homecoming celebration for the alumni Saturday evening. Immediately after the dinner hour an informal "meet old friends and get acquainted" gathering will be held at Hays hall. From there the alumni will adjourn to the Memorial gymnasium for the alumni dance which starts at 8:30.

Credit for the "get-together hour" goes to Miss Permeal French, dean of women. She has extended an open invitation to all former students and alumni who will be on the campus Saturday evening to come to Hays hall between the hours of 7:45 and 9 o'clock. There they will have an opportunity to meet other Idaho graduates and members of the faculty. "Come right after dinner," Dean French said, "visit for an hour, and then go to the alumni dance." Coffee will be served.

Tickets on Sale.
All arrangements have been completed for the alumni dance. Students may obtain their tickets from members of the "T" club. The dance is an all-Idaho party, members of the committee explained, open to alumni, students, townspeople and out-of-town homecoming guests. Music will be furnished by Morris O'Donnell's orchestra. An added feature of the dance this year will be an intermission entertainment number. The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Members of the dance committee are Louis A. Boas, editor of the Star-Mirror, Allen Ramstedt, Jesse Buchanan and Cecil Hagen.

WANT FRESHMEN FOR ORCHESTRA

Need Students to Take Place of Graduates in Spring.

"Freshmen who can play the oboe, bassoon, French horn, or English horn should try out for the orchestra immediately," said Raymond C. Miller, instructor in music. Those interested can make arrangements for tryouts by applying at the Music hall.

The students who play these instruments in the orchestra now will be graduated this spring, and according to Mr. Miller, it will be necessary to fill their places. He wants two students for each instrument. They must be freshmen who plan on returning here for the remainder of their course.

A pandemonium with the booming of bombs, the screaming shrieks of the fire engine siren, and then the snappy music of the pep band, at 6:45 this evening, will notify homecoming enthusiasts that all the men's houses have been canvassed, and that Idaho's grandest pep parade of many seasons will start wending its way from the S. A. E. corner to the big frosh bonfire.

Start at S. A. E. Corner.
Slight changes have been made in the farming program from that planned last week. At 5:45, led by Spurs, women will gather at Forney hall and start their campaign of the fraternity houses and men's halls. This curtain raiser for the evening's festivities will take place while the men are still at dinner. After the women leave the houses, all underclassmen will appear in pajamas with the rest of their group, and meet the women at the S. A. E. corner, instead of the Alpha Phi corner as previously planned.

Lots of Noise Wanted.
The yell leaders and the special committee selected to aid them in rounding up all the noisy appliances available, request that everybody bring at least one ear-drum buster of some nature, so that the noise and clamor of this homecoming rally will literally make the earth tremble. The traditional pajama attire custom for all underclassmen will be observed tonight when things get moving from the S. A. E. corner.

Dukes in Balconies.
From the S. A. E. corner the rally will wind down to town until they pull up to a halt at the Kenworthy theater. After passing through the theater the serpentine will form and proceed to the Moscow hotel block. Here the screaming and howling rabble will be led in yells and songs by the yell leaders, who will be perched in the balconies of the Moscow hotel, Hodgins' Drug and the First National Bank building. After every yell and song, silver and gold rooters are to make all the noise that is humanly possible in order to spur the Vandals on to victory tomorrow over the Bulldogs.

Hear Pep Talks.
The climax and night-cap for the illustrious rally will come when the Vandal cheerers have paraded to the big annual frosh homecoming bonfire. Eaton and his dukes will lead the rabble in a final group of yells and songs, which will alternate with short pep talks by Dean Crawford, Abe Goff, and Lionel Campbell.

APPOINTMENTS COMMITTEE
The social and standards committees for A. W. S. have been appointed by Joan Harris, president. The social committee consists of Elizabeth Taylor, chairman, Doris Norell, Marthalene Tanner, Lynn Cowgill. The standards committee is composed of Constance Woods, chairman, Elsa Eisinger, Marion Fry.

KOSENSA APPOINTED
At the executive board meeting held last Tuesday evening it was decided to appoint Albert Kosena for night editor of the Idaho Argonaut. Mr. Kosena received his training from the experience he had on the staff last year.

HONORARY MEETS
Members of Phi Chi Theta, women's business honorary, met Thursday noon at the Blue Bucket inn for lunch. Regular business was taken up. These luncheons are held every two weeks.

DEAN OF WOMEN TO GREET ALUMNI
"All alumni here for homecoming," says Dean French, "are to be received at Hays hall immediately after dinner Saturday." After a visit at the hall they will go to the alumni dance at the Memorial gymnasium.
No change has been made in social rules for homecoming. Women's houses and halls must be closed at 12 o'clock Friday and Saturday nights.

Torrey Collects Dues From Returning Alumni Today and Tomorrow
John S. Torrey, circulation manager of the Idaho Argonaut, under the authority of Professor J. E. Buchanan, secretary of the Alumni association is collecting the three dollar alumni dues. He will have a table placed in the Administration building where circulation assistants will be in attendance Friday afternoon and all day Saturday.
One year's subscription of the Argonaut is included in these dues so in these dues it is expected that there will be no difficulty in transacting business with each alumnus. Many members of the alumni have already subscribed to the student publication.

INCLUDE ARGONAUT SUBSCRIPTION IN ALL ALUMNI DUES
The circulation of the Argonaut has a surprisingly wide expanse. Copies of each issue are mailed to thirty-three states of the union and many are sent to points outside the boundaries of the United States. These countries are West China, Katowice, Poland, New Caledonia, England, Canada, and the Territory of Honolulu. The total circulation of the Argonaut this year is approximately twenty-six hundred. This goes to show that the alumni are interested in the affairs of the university no matter where they are.

Welcome, Grads

Welcome, Grads! You will see this greeting in divers forms on placards of the various group houses, but just to assure you there's no doubt about the present corps of Idaho students being glad to see you back, the homecoming salute is repeated again. Welcome, grads!

Campus organizations have cooperated to make this the best homecoming of many years, and there's a reason. Idaho students are human. They've got some extra fine things to exhibit this fall, and they desire an audience.

The Vandals have had a fifty-fifty break in their wins so far this year, but they are rated as one of the "scrappiest" teams on the coast.

Especially, though, the students want you to observe the "Idaho Spirit" which some of you "remember when." The Montana game saw the first ailing, and the Gonzaga fray will see it once more at its peak. And, if any of you alumni don't believe this, you can see a fair sample of the resurrection by attending the pep rally tonight.

The Woman is Going to Pay

Cherchez la femme! Ever has that been the cry. Find the woman and every time you have found the cause of that automobile accident, that divorce, that food bill. Just the other day on the campus of a California school 30 women on the circulation board of the humor magazine refused to sell the creation because the editor had merely, and only tentatively, asked whether or not it would be the right and noble thing for a woman to do, should she pay her share of expenses on a date—her three fourths, shall we say.

Unfortunately we are too far away to give those women their just deserts, but that should not keep us from remarking to the species here that women have become too independent lately. Right now they want another member of the executive board, but that isn't so bad. But that dutch-date idea was mentioned here and what was the result? Absolutely none! Entrenched in a strong numerical position, surrounded by rows upon rows of men who are admiring, (because they have nothing else to do) you have so far ignored the suggestion of paying.

But wait! The giraffe will be of a different color, the tennis shoe will be on the other foot. Your noble independence will be turned to fearful regret. Your refusal to pay this year is growing for you a bed of thorns, and more. Already the low rumble of discontent is gaining volume. There will be a time when you will pay and pay and pay. Next year, you know, is leap year and ye shall reap as ye have sown. Be light hearted if you will as he pays, repeat to yourself, "After me, the deluge."

Now There Will Be Trouble

Something happened in England last Tuesday that has never quite happened before. The political group, led by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, whilom laborite and present leader of the national government, was swept into power in the English parliament with about 500 seats out of 615. Ramsay, himself, and others who had followed him into the new national emergency cabinet were given thumping majorities in the election.

Since Tuesday's results have been known people have been breathing easier. Newspapers have been carrying praises of the English people who got back of the government and their king without regard for class or party interests. And some papers have gone so far as to suggest that now England is on the road to recovery. Democracy will be vindicated, British pride saved.

That is all very pretty, but probably not a correct interpretation of results. It rather appears that Tuesday's election was but the beginning of real trouble. The only difference now is that an English failure will more than ever involve the world. And failure it is apt to be. The first reason for that statement is that the English people, finding themselves in a bad hole, voted to put into power their best bet. Now, particularly with such a resounding majority, they will expect results much as the American people expected with the election of Hoover—results which can never actually be obtained. Thus, the English temper is wrong.

But more than that, economic difficulties are in the offing, and not so far off, either. The conservatives by their gains, have been put into a position where, without much trouble, they could gain control of the governmental steering wheel. They have promised, of course, not to do any of this back seat driving because they realize that their victory was really a national party victory. But in view of the position which they hold, it is not in the least unreasonable to expect that they will demand certain pay for their allegiance. And that pay will, of necessity, be a high protective tariff. There comes the first detour in MacDonald's ride. That will probably be granted to the conservatives, labor will think itself double crossed and internally things will begin.

But international repercussions from this tariff will be of more significance. Trade and markets will be more than ever disturbed, international readjustments now necessary will be confronted with another difficulty and there really will be trouble. Is it any wonder that someone remarked that if anything had not yet been done, the human race would find a way to do it wrong?

PLAN TO REMODEL IDAHO PRESS BOX

Plans have been discussed by the executive board to remodel the press box. Many important newspaper men coming from Portland and other large cities are inconvenienced by Idaho's press box. Although it is too late in this season to do very much about the rebuilding, it is hoped that next year the university will be able to have a different place for the press box occupants.

FINE O. S. C. STUDENTS

P. I. P. A.—A system of graduated fines for students at Oregon State college who have failed to register their cars was introduced by Art Renner, student judge, at a traffic court meeting recently. The traffic court will convene regularly on Thursdays except when cases are serious enough to have a special meeting. Students must be particularly careful in parking their cars on the campus.

IDAHO STUDENTS OF ARCHITECTURE WIN RECOGNITION

Will Display Campus Talent In Science Hall During Homecoming

An exhibit of some of the architectural work done by students of the university will be on display on the third floor of the Science building, starting this afternoon and continuing over homecoming. Architecture students of Idaho are winning recognition all over the Inland Empire and west coast. Last Saturday, the Spokane Society of Architects invited the university students to a banquet in honor of Robert H. Kohn, president of the American Institute of Architects. This is the first time in history of the university that the architects have received such distinction. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown at the meeting, and Idaho was recommended as being instrumental in developing the cause of architecture on the west coast.

The architects carry on two competitions yearly with the department of architecture at Washington State college. In previous years Idaho has carried off the lion's share of honors. The contests are judged by west coast architects, and winning problems by Idaho students are highly recommended. At present, plans are being made for a meeting of Idaho and west coast architects to be held here some time within the next month. The purpose of this meeting is to organize a program for the advancement of architecture and a closer connection between students and professional men.

Idaho architects are now working on different solutions to a scheme of the university of Idaho campus plan. The purpose of these problems is to create an interest in a definite campus plan. The university is expanding and eventually will be a fairly large institution. At present there is no definite scheme or arrangement of the entire campus unit. The increased need for new buildings brings up the question of location. These plans will be on exhibit some time in the near future. This year the department has a representative exhibit of student work traveling to at least thirty representative high schools of the state. The parents of students are invited to see this exhibit.

CONTEST AROUSES STUDENT THOUGHT

'The Thinker' Offers Award of Twenty-five Dollars

"What do you hope to get out of college?" is the subject of an essay contest to be conducted among college students by "The Thinker," a magazine of contemporary thought. The subject for the contest is taken from a critical article, "Dangers to the Teaching Art," by Professor D. E. Phillips, which appears in the current November issue of The Thinker.

College students writing in this contest must limit their contributions to five hundred words, and must have them in the mail, addressed to the essay editor of The Thinker, 45 West 45th Street, New York City, not later than November 15 to be included in the contest.

Twenty-five dollars will be awarded to the college student who writes the prize winning essay. Ten dollars will be paid for the second most interesting contribution and two five dollar awards will also be made. In the event of a tie duplicate amount will be awarded.

Winners of first and second awards will have their essays published in the January issue of The Thinker, which will come out December 18. Receipt of all essays will be acknowledged but they cannot be returned to contestants.

BUCKET FEATURES FRAT MAGAZINE

"Watch for The Bucket" Sale on November Sixth

"Unadulterated hokey of the prime A-one order is the stuff sent in news letters to the national fraternity magazine," declared a ghost writer for the Blue Bucket, after inspecting the fraternal publications of the Idaho Greeks. Campus news, jokes, short stories, and so on fill the pages of the current issue of the Blue Bucket, due on the stands November 6. James Potter, art editor, has designed a sophisticated cover in the Greek motif. There are numerous linoleum blocks by Charles Gelinsky. "Snook" Patch has contributed several mighty good line drawings. Because the Intercollegiate Knights, who so kindly consented to vend our publication, will be extremely busy on homecoming day, the issue was postponed from the original date—October 31—to November 6. "Watch for The Bucket," said Bucketeer-in-chief Trueman.

W.S.C. REGENT ACTIVE

P. I. P. A.—Much interest has been created in the state-wide study of the agricultural problems instituted by the board of regents of Washington State college, according to many letters received daily by W. A. Ritz, president of the board. Many agricultural organizations and allied groups will send delegates or have expressed a desire to co-operate in the study.

BLUE TROUSERS OF SOPHOMORES GAIN POPULARITY

The "Sophomore Blues" newly acquired Idaho tradition is rapidly gaining in popularity on the campus. A great many Sophomores have already purchased the trousers and they are still selling at a fast rate. These "blues" were adopted a few weeks ago by the class to provide a distinction between the first and second year men. Formerly the Sophomores wore the Freshman moleskins as the most serviceable kind of school trousers. Idaho is the eighth coast university to adopt the Sophomore blues, according to Lloyd Ruitzel, president of the class. He also asserts that only members of the Sophomore class are entitled to wear the blues and that members of any other class caught wearing them will be dealt with by the committee in charge.

All sophomores that find it convenient are requested to show their class spirit by wearing the blues.

MOSCOW WILL HAVE CITY ZONING SOON

City zoning will be put into effect in Moscow in the near future. The city council has appointed a zoning commission to draw up the ordinance, and the commission is working on the different zones at the present time. The council discarded a zoning ordinance that was drawn up a short time ago, finding that the ordinance did not comply with the state laws. The state law requires the city council to appoint a zoning commission. The commission then draws up the ordinance and presents it to the council, who discusses the ordinance.

After the ordinance has been approved by the city council it is open for discussion by the citizens of Moscow for one week. The citizens approving the ordinance becomes effective. There are five members of the zoning commission.

Business firms that are at the present time located outside the commercial zone will not be effected by the new law. However, according to the law any business outside the zone that is destroyed cannot be reconstructed outside the commercial zone.

Zoning is a means that the council employs to restrict commercial organizations to certain sections of the city. Recently permission was asked of the council to erect a service station at the corner of Sixth and Elm. This was rejected by the council because of the zoning ordinance that is in the making.

RIFLE TRYOUTS ARE SCHEDULED

It is desired that all men interested in rifle shooting, and who wish to try out for the varsity or R. O. T. C. rifle teams, report at the indoor rifle range, basement of the Memorial gymnasium, between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m., Monday, November 9. It is particularly desired that all men interested regardless of whether or not they have fired before, turn out at this time.

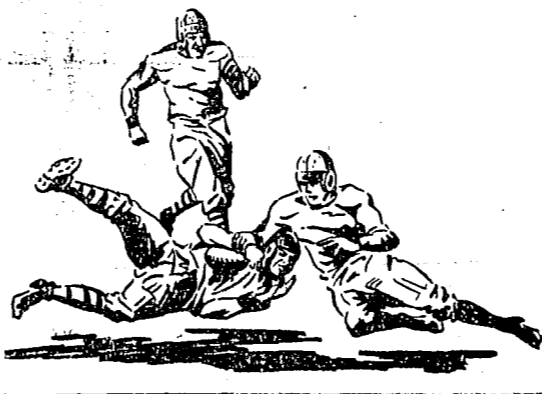

Practice periods will be on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week, from 2 to 5 p. m. Intercollegiate matches will begin the second week in January and continue until the last week in March. Rifle shooting is a recognized A. S. U. I. activity and suitable awards are granted those fulfilling the requirements of the team.

ORCHESTRA HEAD PROUD OF GROUPS

Unusual Instruments Include Bass Clarinet and English Horn

Carl Claus, assistant professor of music, is enthusiastic about the orchestra which this year has 49 members. He says it is well balanced and that there are complete orchestration. Also there are such unusual instruments as the bass clarinet and English horn. Twelve new members have taken the places of those who did not return this year.

The complete orchestra is as follows:

First violins—York Kildea, Helen Parrot, Norman Skeffelt, Patricia Kennard, Gordon Giles, Agnes McKeitman, Emert Lindroos, Alice Lee.

Second violins—Ruth Parker, Florence Eastburn, Lillian Hejmanek, Walter Tanner, Elaine Ehlinger, Lionel Sterner.

Violas—Dorothy Craven, Clyde Miller, Howard Cagle, Marian Gender.

Basses—Willard Lundin, Orrin Tracy, Charles Ratcliffe, Richard Stanton.

Flutes—Roger McConnell, Leo Kraemer, Gail Hoback.

Oboe—Lois Thompson.

English horn—Charles Helm.

Clarinets—Clayton Boyd, Hollis Neveux, Robert Herrick.

Bass Clarinet—Lyle Fraley.

Bassoon—Joan Harris.

Horns—Raymond Miller, Clifford Mullikin, William Woods, Theodore Voigtlander.

Trumpets—Charles McConnell, Harriet Wyatt, Elburn Pierce.

Trombones—Samuel Stone, Dorothy McPhillamney, Jack Gray.

Sousaphone—Frank Luce.

Percussion—John Milner, William Yager.

Miss Little, instructors in music, not only play in the orchestra, but also help with sectional rehearsals. Miss Little assists with the cellos and basses, and Mr. Miller with the brasses and wood winds.

The orchestra is busy now working on the numbers for the recital in January according to Professor Clau.

IDAHO ALUMNUS IS HERE FROM HARVARD

Carl Shaw, an Idaho alumnus who was working on a master's degree at Harvard last year, has returned to the university and is doing non-resident work.

Shaw, majoring in architecture, graduated from Idaho in the spring of 1930. After receiving his degree he spent the summer in Detroit before going to Harvard for his master's degree.

Mr. Shaw expects to return to Harvard next year.

The University of Oklahoma has announced that students objecting to military drill on religious grounds will be exempt.

GET-RICH-QUICK WALLINGFORD

opens today at the Kenworthy theater. William Haines enacts the part of the well-known Wallingford and although he plays the role capably, he fails to come up to the expectations of what the character should be. Jimmie Durante, well-known stage comedian is excellent. He is extremely amusing and his continual wise cracking never fails to bring a response from the audience. The picture is a real comedy success, and is well worth seeing.

WICKED

co-starring Elissa Landi and Victor McLaglen, opens at the Vandal Sunday. The film, adapted to the cinema from the original story by Gordon Rigby, is about a young mother in search of happiness, who defies the law and finally wins. Mae Busch, playing the part of Arlene, a wisecracking convict in the prison, handles her role cleverly and adds a bit of amusement to a rather tragic story.

DAUGHTER OF THE DRAGON

showing at the Kenworthy Sunday and Monday, is a Paramount talking version of Sax Rohmer's story of the same title. Dr. Fu Manchu is far less insidious than he seemed in the stories of Rohmer. Besides lacking the gruesome atmosphere, the cinema is handicapped by poor dialogue. Ablest members of the cast are Anna May Wong and Sessue Hayakawa, who appear for the first time in an American talking film. They are well remembered by their acting in silent films and they maintain their excellent characterization. It is this oriental characterization which saves the picture and makes it really interesting.

ADDITIONS MADE TO COMEDY CAST

Special Invitations to Attend Play Are Sent to Townspeople

The entire cast has been definitely selected for the forthcoming all-college play "To the Ladies," and has been resting from rehearsals during the past week.

John Thomas and Catherine Brandt, co-star in the leading roles of Connelly and Kaufman's sentimental comedy are ably supported by an unusually large cast including Harry Robb, Elmer Jacobs, Howard Allnow, and John Milner, in major roles and Casady Taylor, Rollin Hunter, Franklin Rowcy, Winifred Janssen, Walter E. Pratt, and Mathylene Tanner in minor parts.

New Additions

New additions to the cast just announced by Professor Blanchard are: Edwin Ostrook, Moscow; Robert Herrick, Wallace; Clayton Spear, Clarkia; Nina Varian, Boise; Rosamond Tenney, Boise; and Sara Louise Throckmorton, Boise.

Special invitations will be sent to townspeople urging them to attend the first all-college performance of the season. Those townspeople and students who desire to make reservations for the play before the regular ticket sale begins should call William Eomis, Steena Ku house or Frank McKinley, Alpha Tau Omega house.

SENIOR PICTURES WILL BE FORMAL

Pictures for 'Gem' Must be Taken This Semester

Appointments for senior pictures for the "Gem of the Mountains" are being made at the Sterner and Miklos studios this week. At a class meeting Tuesday, the seniors decided to have their pictures taken in formal dress.

Melvin Stewart, editor of the students of classes, core "Gem of the Mountains" urges students of all classes to make appointments for their pictures as soon as possible. All pictures must be taken before the end of the first semester, since the Gem is to be published at least three weeks earlier in the spring than it was last year.

"In addition to being cut to the minimum of necessary expenditures, the 1931-1932 ASUI budget provides for the definite elimination of approximately $900.00 of a $1390.00 deficit from last year, with a good possibility of cleaning the slate and ending with a surplus. It was drawn with the aim of strict economy and careful spending. Such a policy must be maintained if we are to keep in harmony with the general movement toward saving in this period of hard times. The proposed budget, I believe, will accomplish this purpose."

Gentleman Jim Boosts Mixer

By John T. Farquhar.

Greetings to all and sundry: Just because Gandhi won world fame with his day of silence, Idaho has no excuse to imitate him on Saturday.

According to some Gonzagans, it isn't news when the Bulldog bites the Vandal; but when the Vandal bites the Bulldog, it is news. That might be what they call news, but to us it is just an old story.

The following advice is free even though it is given by a Scotchman: To all those concerned, please refrain from the annual "I remember when" sales. The wind blows enough here already.

If you should see some W. S. C. fans rooting for Idaho on Saturday, don't be surprised. Once a year they get honest over there and come over and boost a real team.

Our nomination for the best all-college mixer—lime rickey and XXX. "X" standing for rat poison. Our idea of a big "break" is the one given to the rook who directs traffic down by the Paradise creek bridge.

About Friday evening is the time when a house finds that their "unique and very original" homecoming decorations are unique in that several others are just like theirs. Just be nonchalant and remember that "great minds run in the same channels," even though it seems impossible in such a shallow place.

This sunshine, if it is still here, spoils two of our pet ideas. It looked as though the frosh would smoke the Bulldog out of his doghouse. And then too, we were just waiting for some player to say "Here's mud in your eye," with a demonstration.

GENTLEMAN JIM.

Traditional Welcome Arch To Greet Returning Grads

Plans for the homecoming decorations have been completed, and the work is now going ahead rapidly, according to Warren McDaniel who is in charge of decorations. The decorations will consist largely of huge silver and gold pennants. These pennants will be placed on the Administration building towers and on the tops of the Science hall, Engineering building and the Memorial gymnasium. These will be especially beautiful by night as large search lights will be trained on every banner.

The traditional welcome arch over the campus steps will be very much in evidence this year. This is perhaps the most important feature in the whole plan.

Blue Key in Charge
Although Blue Key is taking charge of these decorations, the club is responsible for putting them up. This work is going nicely and will be completed soon.

Every house on the campus will have their individual decorations welcoming their alumni.

"Irish" Martin, Potential All Coast Guard Set to go

When the whistle calls the Vandals and the Bulldogs together tomorrow, Mike Pecarovich's "fighting Irish" will hook up with one of their own calling, namely 190 pound Elmer "Irish" Martin.

This line ripping guard is aching to clamp his arms around Bulldog backs and set them for big losses. "Irish" has been tearing gashes in opposing lines with lion like tactics this season and looms as a formidable contender for All-Coast honors at the guard berth.

After a lapse of two years since he has seen action against Gonzaga, this high calibre guard who hails from Fresno, Cal., will trot out on the battle scarred grid-iron tomorrow determined to make up for any losses occurring during his absence.

History Quiz Scheduled For Homecoming Big Fluke

A scornful laugh burst from his tightly pressed lips. What irony, he thought, was expressed on the sheet before him, for beneath the date, October 31, just one word appeared: "Homecoming." Yes, he agreed, by all the traditions that are holy at Idaho, the whole day should be devoted to homecoming activities; but they weren't. The calendar lied! He had a history quiz scheduled for that day. A history quiz on homecoming! Only that morning the class instructor had informed him of this fact.

He Did It.

Well, he would remedy this glaring error on the calendar and let the entire student body know how a few unfortunate members must struggle through a morass of history questions, while others diverted themselves with the many homecoming activities. With a pencil he wrote in the square for October 31 two more words: "History quiz."

Days passed. Students came to look at the calendar and ponder over the strange, pencilled entry. Nobody else seemed to know about a history examination on homecoming day. Then, yesterday, the following notice appeared on the calendar:

"If the applicant for a history quiz on homecoming, October 31, will leave his name and address with Professor Church, his wants will be attended to. The calendar, however, is not to be defaced, he and his wants are assured."

Signed: Frederic C. Church."

are slated to start at the tackle berths. Bessier is playing his third year on the varsity and is due to finish his college career with flying colors. Sullivan, starting at left tackle, is the man who blocked a Husky punt at Seattle and scored the only Vandal touchdown against Washington that has ever been put down in the books. Hall, who has been holding down the regular left tackle post is nursing a bruised leg but will serve his time during the four quarters.

Martin, Sprout, Eiden, and Davis are the guards who are bound to head the center of the Bulldog line a full afternoon's workout when the whistle calls them into action. The starting lineup includes Sprout at left guard and Eiden at the right post. Although not in the starting eleven, "Irish" Martin will be given plenty of chance to do his stuff against Gonzaga. Irish has been playing a fine game all fall and through his work in Coast conference games is receiving mention by sports writers on the coast for the all-Coast mythical team.

The center position will be held down by the veteran Art Spaugy who is in his third year of varsity competition. Spaugy has been showing opposing pivot men a few things about the game this year and will no doubt furnish the Bulldog center with a tough problem. Bill Schutte, second year varsity man, will be on hand to back Spaugy up. Schutte is about 170 pounds of dynamite who is poison to an opposing backfield.

Feel Loss of Davis.

Wilson, Tyrrell and Norby will compose the starting set of blockers and ground-gainers tomorrow. George Wilson and Wilson and Willis Smith have had the Spokane boys worried for some time. Wilson showed them what he could do last year in the Vandal-Bulldog game and Willis Smith's actions so far this year have them worrying just as much. The loss of Emergent Davis, quarterback has been felt keenly especially in the kicking department. His passing will be taken care of by Norman Sather, quarterback.

Wilkie's leg injury will keep him out of play for some time yet. The fullback position will be taken care of by Lee Tyrrell. He has been alternating with Wilkie all year. Tyrrell is a fine blocker and possesses Wilkie's ability of being one of the best line smashers in the running. John Norby, the big 190 lb. sophomore back, will be holding down the outside half berth. John has proved himself to be one of the best blockers and defensive fullbacks on the coast. He will be right on all Gonzaga's plays tomorrow.

The Gonzaga team has plenty on the ball and is a real threat. Last Saturday they journeyed to California where they met the strong St. Mary's team of Moraga. The St. Mary's team, under the direction of Coach "Slip" Madigan, has beaten both U. S. C. and California already this year and is being recognized as one of the country's leaders.

Gonzaga Real Threat.

Any team that can put up the fight that Gonzaga did against the St. Mary's Gaels, losing only 13 to 7, and leading for two and a half quarters, presents a real threat and a full afternoon for any team to face. The Bulldog backfield with Frazier, McKenna, Krause, Scarp, Carroll, and Casetto is a powerful ground-gaining combination and has one of the best aerial routes on the coast.

Boas will speak. A luncheon at the Hotel Moscow will include wives of the editors. The group will go in a body to the football game in the afternoon.

Those who will be here are: H. S. Wetherell, the Post Falls Advance; F. S. Wimer, the Chronicle, Cottonwood; Ralph Prescott, the Kamiah Progress; Kamiah; G. E. Marneau, News Publishing company, Elk River.

Nearly all of these men own their own papers or publishing companies.

Max Eiden, stellar first-string running guard, is playing his second season in varsity moleskins this year. He landed a regular berth at the start of the season and has been banging the opposing lines up right and left in every game so far this year.

Max was one of the stars on the 1929 frosh team. Last year an injury at the first of the season hindered him from earning his spurs on the varsity eleven. Fully recovered from his injury, Eiden came back this year and fell into the running guard position. He hails from Boise, where he played high school football. One year still remains before him to win laurels on the silver and gold aggregation.

Eiden and his running mate, "Irish" Martin, furnish the Vandal line with as classy a pair of guards as any line on the coast. Eiden weighs around 180 and Martin tips the beam at 190.

FORESTRY FACULTY ATTENDS SPOKANE LOGGING CONGRESS

Dean F. G. Miller and A. M. Sower, of the school of forestry returned Saturday from logging congress held in Spokane last week, and report the meetings to have been interesting and successful.

This is the first time the logging congress has been held in the Inland Empire for eight years and it was brought here this year mainly because the advanced methods of logging now practiced by some of the Inland Empire lumber companies. A whole day's session was held at the headquarters of the Clearwater Timber company. More than two hundred loggers and operators made this trip to see the methods of cutting practiced by the company. This company is operating on a sustained yield basis and their work is attracting wide attention.

The congress was organized at Seattle 22 years ago, and is now the clearing house of the logging industry for all the northwestern states and British Columbia. It has during its history exerted a marked influence in the betterment of logging methods and wood utilization.

No other group of friends will ever mean quite so much to you as old class mates. This Christmas, exchange photographs with them. Arrange for an early sitting.

Alumni and Former Students Return For Homecoming Week

Homecoming plans are now well under way by every group house and organization on the campus. Numerous Idaho graduates are arriving today and will be entertained in a royal manner. Each fraternity and sorority is feverishly working on its homecoming sign. Just at present all plans of welcome remain a secret, but it is expected that a number of unusual ideas will be presented at five o'clock today.

Pep Rally.
The pep rally, to be the loudest one in the history of the university, and the traditional pajama parade tonight will promote enthusiasm and put every student and participant in the proper spirit for the big game Saturday with the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

Two Dances
Two big dances are scheduled for the week-end. Friday night, the Intercollegiate Knights are giving an all-college mixer at the Memorial gymnasium. Saturday evening the homecoming dance, under the auspices of the alumni, will be given at the gymnasium. This dance is for everyone, students, visiting students, townspeople, and out-of-town guests.
Blue Key will be hosts at an alumni banquet at the Blue Bucket inn Saturday. Mortar Board will honor its alumnae at a breakfast Sunday morning.
Alpha Phi gave an informal reception Wednesday in honor of their housemother, Mrs. B. F. Neal.

ALPHA PHIS HONOR HOUSE MOTHER
The Alpha Phis were hostesses Wednesday at an informal reception from four to six in honor of their housemother, Mrs. B. F. Neal. In the receiving line were Mrs. Neal, Miss Austa White, Mrs. Francis B. Laney, Mrs. William E. Masterson, and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan.
Mrs. Virgil A. Cherrington and Mrs. Leo B. Calland presided at the tea table on which glowed long red tapers throwing a cheerful light into the long, dimly lighted dining room.
Soft music was played throughout the afternoon by the Misses Elsa Esinger and Helen Latimer. Members of the faculty, house presidents, and social representatives called during the afternoon.

SENIOR MIXER HELD WEDNESDAY
Due to interested and careful planning the senior mixer exceeded expectations. Most of the senior men and women were there and greatly enjoyed the novelty tap dance and the Grooming Co-eds from Pullman. The trio consists of Sylvia Jones, Sammy Sampson, and Josephine Simas. The Blue Bucket orchestra provided music for the evening. The patrons and patronesses were Dean Permeal French and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Janssen.

Mrs. Thomas Ellsworth of Los Angeles, Delta Delta Delta national vice president, is making a tour of western chapters. She will be on the Idaho campus over Thursday and Friday.

Delta Delta Delta entertained at a formal dinner Thursday evening. The guests were: Dean and Mrs. R. H. Farmer, Professor and Mrs. Eugene Taylor, Professor and Mrs. W. C. Banks, and the Moscow alumnae.

Dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta Wednesday were Elizabeth Sampson, Josephine Keemus, and Sylvia Jones, members of the Jazz trio from Pullman, and Lois Thompson.

Dean F. G. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Magee, and Dr. G. Lovell were guests of Chi Alpha Pi Wednesday evening.

ARRANGE HOUSING FOR HOMECOMERS

Ralph Olmstead, chairman of the housing committee for homecoming, is busy making arrangements for the housing of guests and alumni, he will be here for the homecoming game Saturday.
Each fraternity and sorority is making plans to house their guests and alumni members. However, if any house is unable to accommodate them, by calling the committee, arrangements will be made to house them either at the dormitories or hotels.
The number that will be here is not known, but ample housing room will be available.

STUDENT CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

Arthur H. Beattie Will Tell of His Experiences in France.

At the Cosmopolitan club social meeting to be held Friday, November 6 at 7:30 in room 308 Administration building, Arthur H. Beattie, instructor in modern languages will relate his experiences in France.

Mr. Beattie, a native of Vancouver, B. C., learned much of his French in France, where he did advanced work. He observed France at a very critical time of that country's history.

Winifred Himes, president of the Cosmopolitan club, wants it understood that everybody is welcome at these meetings. The club helps the foreign students, many of whom have come a long way, to feel more at home, and to understand better our western spirit. The club is for native students also and will give them a chance to learn first hand about the rest of the world.
Miss Himes promises some musical numbers as an added attraction.

STATE WORKERS AID

P. I. P. A.—At a special meeting of the state university faculty called by President Charles H. Clapp, Chancellor Melvin A. Bran- non of the University of Montana explained a proposal by which all state employees are asked to contribute to a fund for the needy of the state. The proposal as outlined will amount to the contributing of one-thirtieth of the salary of each faculty member each month to a general fund which will be administered by the Red Cross.

Campbell Sends Greetings To All Returning Alumni

Mighty unfavorable weather will be the only thing which can possibly dampen the spirit of homecoming this year. Not only does the prospect of a thrilling game with Gonzaga add to the general interest, but also the zeal with which committees have been performing. From the dances and decorations to the stunts and the frosh bonfire, details are completed to give the alumni an old-fashioned reception.

To say that we stand ready always—homecoming or on any other occasion—gladly to receive our alumni is needless. A student body without strong alumni support would indeed possess characteristics of an orphan's association. Idaho is free from such tendencies. In this connection it is encouraging to note the progress of the Greater Idaho Alumni committee, and the steps which are being taken to provide for a more unified organization.

We are justly proud of our alumni of the positions of prominence which they are holding. We wish to maintain contact with them through all possible channels. The tradition of homecoming is probably the most concentrated opportunity we have during the year to resume our friendly relationships of the past and gain new ones for the future.

Let me say in passing that the ASUI is deeply appreciative of the co-operation which the alumni this year have shown in making student gains. No greater nor more concentrated evidence is needed to convince us of their interest in Idaho. I feel assured, for these reasons, that the 1931 homecoming will be a source of the fullest measure of expressed friendship, sincere suggestions for improvement, and good fun.

LIONEL T. CAMPBELL,
President, ASUI.

IDAHO TEAM WINS JUDGING HONORS

Senior Member of Ag School is High Man in Contest

The agronomy team climaxed the intercollegiate judging at the Pacific International Livestock show by taking first place and scoring high man.

John Hohnhorst, senior in the Ag school was high man in the contest. Other members of the team were Donald Corless, Sheldon Sanders and Frederick Mark. Two trophies were carried back by the team. The sweep stakes cup valued at $500 was won. The silver plaque donated by the Sperry company was also won. The sweepstakes cup is very large and hand painted. The trophies won by the agronomy team and the other teams can be seen in a few days in the show case in Morrill hall.

Out of four first places in the judging, Idaho took two, namely, animal husbandry and agronomy. The dairy team won second place. Other schools represented were: University of California, Washington State College, Oregon State College, and Montana State

GIRL HIKERS WIN POINTS FOR W. A. A.

Gain Fifty Points by Hiking Sixty Miles a Semester

"Hiking season is in full swing now," says Grace Green, W. A. A. hiking manager, "and it is an interesting way for girls to win points." Fifty points are given each girl who hikes 60 miles in one semester, providing she follows directions.

"It is necessary for a girl to have hiked three miles at one time, and she must hike with someone. Within three days she must hand in a slip of paper with the date, the number of miles the destination, and the person with whom she went. "And above all things don't forget to sign your name," added Miss Green.

There is a box in the main hall of the Administration building just below the W. A. A. bulletin board where the hiking slips are dropped.

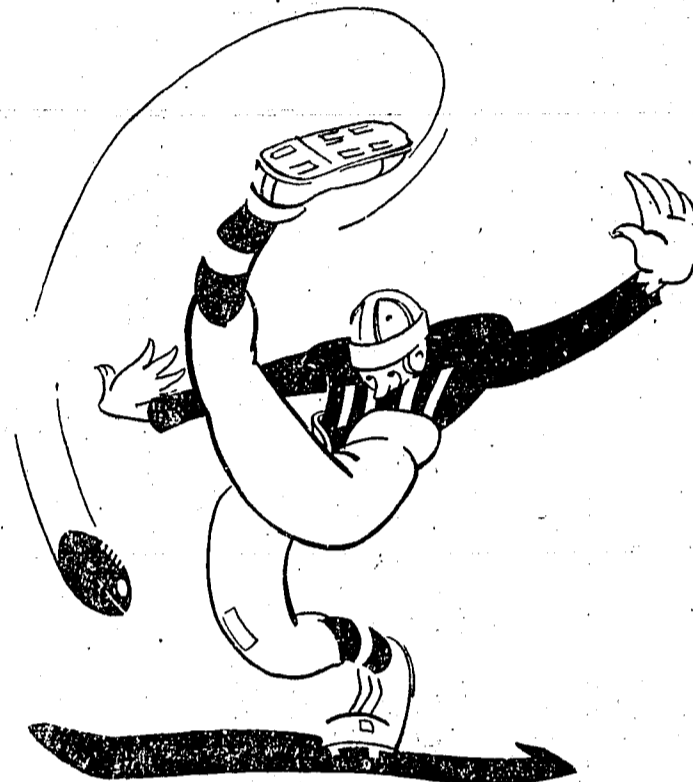

Fifty-seven girls have already begun their hiking this season and two of them have completed the required 60 miles.
Bess Louise Hogg announced that all girls interested in knowing their points should call eEarl Walters. Telephone 2349.

W. A. A. members must pay dues soon or take a cut on points as stated in the constitution.

HOMECOMING TILT TO BE FEATURED BY FAST PLAYING

Fans Will Get Taste of Action in Classic Tomorrow

With all of the plans ready for the homecoming festivities, interest in the Idaho-Gonzaga football game has been gaining momentum hourly. Fresh from a surprisingly close game with St. Mary's, the Bulldogs will go into the battle with a slight edge on the dope sheet.

All of the Gonzagans will be in good shape for the game as no serious injuries developed from the game in San Francisco. Max Krause received a blow on the arm early in the game but he played nearly the entire time and will be "ready to go" when the opening whistle blows. The big fullback has been playing first class ball all season and is rated along the coast as one of the best defensive backs in the northwest. He has the uncanny ability of telling where the play is going before it is well under way and is usually in that vicinity when the ball is downed.

Teaming with Krause to make up one of the best backfields on the coast will be Frazier at quarter, and McKenna and Sarp at the halfback posts. Frazier, a Moscow resident, played freshman football for Idaho in 1926 but transferred to Gonzaga to complete his college career. The 160 pound quarter is one of the toughest men wearing the Blue and White uniform, and is very seldom taken from a game because of injuries. Frazier will also be one of the best triple threat men to perform in Moscow this year. Besides doing his share of the ball tugging, he throws the majority of the passes so important to the Notre Dame system, and is seldom equalled as a punter. In accordance with the system developed by the immortal Rockne, the burden of ball carrying usually rests with the halfbacks and Coach Pecarovich has two capable men to take care of these positions. McKenna and Sarp take turns trying for yardage and clearing the way for the other. McKenna a dash man, is well known to the Idaho team as they have met before. He is rounding out his last season of football in spectacular style. Once past the line of scrimmage he uses the speed that made him a dash man and has outdistanced most of those he has come against. Sarp is the only rook in the backfield. He graduated from last year's freshman squad and has already endeared himself in the hearts of the Gonzaga fans.

The Bulldog forward wall is made up of six veteran players and one sophomore recruit. Bellinger at right tackle is the only new man in the line. Bernier, Reilly, and Rabdau defend the port side of the wall with Rowles taking care of the center position. Bernier and Rabdau are playing their last year while Reilly has one more to go. The spectators will have a chance to see a fine class roving center when Rowles goes into action. He is tall, covers lots of territory, and has a habit of intercepting foreign passes.

Shields is Veteran. Pecarovich has placed Shields and Wilson on each side of Bellinger to take care of the right portion of the line. Shields in another veteran who needs no introduction to Idaho fans. He is playing his last year. Bill Wilson is in his second season of varsity competition and has already made an enviable record. Although he weighs only 165 pounds, and gives many pounds to his opponents, Wilson has never been outfought.

If the field is dry and in good condition, the fans may have a chance to see a special feature of the Gonzaga offense. Coach Pecarovich has built up a special backfield from the smaller and speedier candidates. The "pony" backfield is made up of Morgan, Carroll, Moore and Cosetto. All of the men are fast and shifty, but because of the light weight of the combination, a fast field is necessary.

Rockne Style Back. The Notre Dame style of playing will bring back memories to the Bulldog fans when the Gonzaga team opens hostilities. When Clipper Smith left Gonzaga, the famous Rockne style of ball went with him but under Pecarovich the old system has returned. The Notre Dame brand of ball has always been popular with the fans because of the open style of ball used. Off tackle smashes, end runs and passes account for the yardage.

The game tomorrow will bring together two outstanding advocates of wide open ball and should the weather remain good, the spectators will be given sixty minutes of first class football.

STUDENT IS SLAIN. DENVER, (IP) — Stanley M. Moore, student at the Michigan college of Mines, was killed here by a gangster who picked him up as a hitch-hiker.

IDAHO GRID PLAYERS HAVE TOUGH ASSIGNMENT

Gonzaga is going to be up a tough proposition tomorrow when they face these two snappy wingmen. Howard Berg who is shown in the kicking position will be on the right end of the Vandal line. Berg will be matching boots with those of "Shine" McKenna. June Hanford was shifted from his halfback berth to the end position when Pete Taylor was injured and has been fitting into the combination with little trouble. These men are both big and fast and will keep the Bull dog backs guessing when they get on the receiving end of the Idaho aerial attack.

IDAHO YEARLINGS MEET W. S. C. FROSH

Saturday will be a big day for Idaho Alumni who arrive in time to witness the Frosh game with Washington State college. This is the game in which Idaho Frosh are expected to show their best brand of football. The Idaho Babes are looking forward with a grim determination to the game with the Washington State Frosh. In the last two games, they have been playing against tough luck, but the Idaho Babes expect to have the breaks in their favor tomorrow. Coach Fox has been working them hard in offensive work, and is developing a good passing attack. The backfield is functioning in good shape with Powers and Barker showing up good. Barker is crippled a little but is counted on for a good game. George Rich is in the infirmary with a bad cold but he may be in shape by Saturday.

GONZAGA QUARTER WILL COME HOME

Bill Frazier, Moscow, is Star on Gonzaga Team

When the Gonzaga team hits Moscow tomorrow morning all but one of the squad will be out of town, but one will be home. That one is Bill Frazier of Moscow, who is holding down the quarterback job on the Bulldog eleven.

Frazier played three years of football and basketball for Moscow high school, playing on the same teams with Lee Tyrrell and LaVerne Randall who are on the Idaho varsity now.

Started Here. After graduating from high school, Bill enrolled at Idaho in 1926 where he played quarterback for the frosh team in the backfield with Orville Hult and "Big Bill" Kershnik who later became captain of the Vandals.

During his frosh year of football here Bill broke an ankle and was forced to quit football as well as drop out of school. The next year he started to Gonzaga where he also played a few games with the frosh team there before being ruled ineligible. The next year Bill was ineligible on account of scholastic standings, hence this is his first year of varsity competition. Bill has one more year of play but he has already made a name for himself in football.
