

STUDENT SPECIAL MINUS DANCE CAR TO REDUCE RATES

Could Not Get Cent a Mile
Rate Into Effect; On
Round Trip Basis

The South Idaho student special will be minus a dancing car this year in order to get reduced rates, it was announced yesterday. The rate will probably be on a round trip basis or slightly less than fare-and-athird. Every effort was made to make the special a cent-a-mile rate. Petitions from the students, Dean Permal French, President M. G. Neale, Lionel T. Campbell and local business men were sent in to Chicago.

The special will consist of the best equipment possible including tourist sleepers, standard sleepers, dining and observation cars. Robert Moore, local Union Pacific agent, stated that the rate probably could have been a cent-a-mile if there had been a more universal desire among the students.

The schedule of the special has been made out definitely.

LOAN DISCUSSED BY HOME EC CLUB

President Advises Payment
Of Dues to Keep On Raising Money

"To add another $50 loan to our treasury is our project for this year," reports Dorothy Janssen, president of the Home Economics club. This will make a total of eight $50 loan funds maintained by this club, which are open to juniors and seniors majoring in home economics.

Pay Dues
This project, decided upon at a regular meeting of the club Thursday, led to a discussion on means of making money. Miss Janssen suggested that one way would be for each girl to pay her dues of 50 cents.

At this meeting also a committee was appointed to make up a tentative program for each meeting and see about obtaining distinguished persons from outside to speak at some of these meetings. This committee consists of Arlith Mellinger, chairman; Alene Riley, Ethlyn Gibbs, and Frances DuSault.

HIGH SCHOOL HOOP MEN TO MEET TROY

The Moscow high school hoopmen will play their first game of the season here Friday at 3:30 o'clock, when the Bears will meet the veteran quintet of Troy. The game, which will be played in the high school gymnasium, is scheduled for the afternoon so as not to conflict with the Idaho-Ellensburg game in the evening.

Coach L. W. Lackey, Troy, has a veteran aggregation to oppose the Moscow freshman-sophomore team. Woodie Hill, center is the only man of last year's team back in uniform for the coming season. Although Coach Gale Mix has not yet announced the starting line-up, the following are expected to play: Johnston, Hall, Roise, Hill, Smith, as guards; Luke, Frazier, Gauss, Nelson, Tracy, and Hill as forwards and Roger Smith and Hall at center.

NEALE ATTENDS BOISE MEETING

Will Choose Idaho Candidate for Rhodes Scholarship

Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the University of Idaho, is again in southern Idaho on university business, according to reports coming from his office. Dr. Neale was in Boise on Saturday to participate in choosing a Rhodes scholar to represent the state of Idaho in the district of which Idaho is a part.

ELLENSBURG GAMES LOOM TOUGH ONES FOR IDAHO SQUAD

Returning Lettermen Average
Six Feet Two Inches
In Height

Eighteen men will be eligible to play against the strong Ellensburg Normal basketball team in the initial game in the Memorial gym Friday at Saturday night. The squad is composed of three centers, eight guards, and seven forwards. Parks, Grenier and Hurley will be competing for the starting honor at center but all will probably see action before the series is over. The starting forwards will be selected from Barrett, Nelson, Gerraghty, McConnell, Williams, and Bennett.

Compete for Guards
The competition for the two guard posts will be tough among Christians, Lacey, Hall, Thurman, Aukett, Earl Williams, and Herman. Four lettermen will be fighting for the starting positions.

The injury line has already started taking its toll and already two lettermen will be out of action for several weeks at least. Wicks is responding very slowly to treatment for the "charleyhorse" which he received in one of the early season scrimmages. Stan Hale will also be out of the competition as his back which he wrenched last week has made little progress.

MOSCOW MINISTER COMPOSES DRAMA

"Barabbas" is Title of Religious Drama Written by The Rev. C. M. Drury

The Rev. Clifford M. Drury has composed a religious drama, entitled "Barabbas," and will be presented at the Presbyterian church the night of Dec. 12.

Mrs. Victor Florell is directing the all-university cast. From only two verses in Luke, Rev. Drury has written a three act play. He pictures Barabbas, who, according to the Bible story, was released instead of Jesus, as being born on the same night as the Christ child. The mother of Barabbas, sees the star and since she has heard of the prophecy, believes that her boy is the Messiah. She teaches him that he is the one foretold as he grows up.

On the same night that Jesus is betrayed by Judas, and taken by the Jews, Barabbas is imprisoned for an insurrection and murder. The two become acquainted in their cells, and afterward when the Christ is being crucified, and Barabbas is freed, he becomes a staunch follower of Jesus.

The only woman in the play is the mother of Barabbas, Nita Winn takes that part. Samuel her husband, is played by Fred Guyot. The two by whom most of the play is motivated are Barabbas and Judas, played by Kenneth Williams and Malcolm Renfrew. Jacob a brother of Judith, the tutor of Barabbas, is John Fattu. Two conspirators with Barabbas are Robert Burdick and Maurice Erickson. John, a disciple of Jesus, is played by Gordon Hannum. Bruce Groves plays the part of a servant of Barabbas' father.

BLUE BUCKET NOW HAS A GODFATHER

Cover Design For December
Issue Is Drawn By
William Bridwell

The Blue Bucket may not have any part for any children, but a godfather has appeared on the horizon. Stoddard King, of the Spokesman-Review, now holds that honored position. His letter of acceptance appears in the Christmas number of the Bucket.

"Factions Fragments," Stoddard's famous column appearing in the Spokesman-Review, is read and known throughout the entire northwest. His verse and lyrics of songs, among which are "There's a Wee Cottage on the Hillside," and "Enchanted River" have made him famous.

King was graduated from Yale and after working for Harper's Weekly, and the Yale Daily News, joined the Spokesman-Review staff, and has been with the paper since 1916. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Tau Delta, and Zeta Psi, which completes all the requirements of a Blue Bucket godfather.

Stoddard's picture will hang in the Blue Bucket's hall of fame, and will be a source of inspiration to all beginning columnists. Another new contributor to the Bucket is William Bridwell, a freshman and an experienced cartoonist. Bill has been a regular contributor for the last four years to the "Arena," a sport magazine of New York, "The Idaho Farmer," and the "Spokesman-Review." He is the artist of the cover of the holiday Bucket.

VANDAL YEARLINGS ARE WORKING HARD

Plan to Hold First Frosh
Game Soon After Holidays

Candidates for frosh basketball have been turning out regularly from 8 to 9:30 each night according to "Red" Jacoby, frosh basketball coach. The members of the freshman squad are so closely matched that it will be hard to pick outstanding players. The following men are on the squad: Metzgar, Grenier, Jones, Hilding, Bailey, Wakeman, Warner, Cox, Pomeroy, Chase, Benson, Thompson, Sandow, Morgan, and Hampton.

Practice will be carried on evenings until after the holidays. The squad will then join with the varsity in scrimmage. Practice so far has consisted in teaching the yearlings the "Idaho" system and incidentally to make them forget the old.

No definite schedule has been made yet, but the first game will be soon after the holidays.

CALLAND MAY GO TO PACIFIC MEET

May Attend Conference Next Week
With Dean Crawford

Coach Leo B. Calland may possibly attend the meeting of the Pacific Coast conference with Dean Ivan C. Crawford, according to Mrs. Calland. He has been impossibly busy the past two days. The meeting will be held next week at San Francisco.

BOTHNE TO LEAVE FOR HOME IN EAST

Will Go Home for First Time in Five Years

Agnes M. Bothne, instructor in music, has been busy making up lessons with her students this week preparatory to her departure a few days early for her home in Minneapolis. This will be the first time in five years that she has been home for Christmas.

Enroute, Miss Bothne will visit friends in Fargo and Minot, N. D., and in Alexander, Minn. She will spend the holidays in Minneapolis, during which time she will study under her former teacher, Gertrude Hull, professor and head of the vocal department at Minnesota.

Miss Bothne will return in time for the opening of school on Jan. 4.

VARSITY DEBATERS MAKE GOOD START IN SEASON OPENING

Defeat W.S.C. in Easy Contests, But Lose To Whitman

Idaho's varsity debate schedule began last week with two wins and two losses. The Idaho affirmative team composed of Claude Marcus and Karl Hobson lost to Whitman and Geneseo on Wednesday evening and then took the consolation from a negative team from Washington State college on Thursday evening. An Idaho negative team composed of Paris Martin, Ralph Olmstead likewise lost to Whitman at Walla Walla and then evened the average by taking a unanimous decision from a Washington State team at Pullman on the wage reduction question.

Large Audience.
The Idaho team of Olmstead and Martin spoke before audiences of over a hundred at both Walla Walla and Pullman. The decision there was two votes to one, and it is reported to have indicated a close debate. The judges declared that the two outstanding features of the contest were the simplicity of the affirmative argument and the humor included in the negative case. One of the laughs of the evening came with the declaration by one of the Idaho men that "Capital had buttered its bread, and now it could lie in it."

The other Idaho man staunchly upheld the report that during the trip he had seen the following sign on the front of a store which was being repaired: "Closed for repairs. No business as usual." The contest at Pullman was said to have lacked the surprises of the other debate and was given by the judges to Idaho by unanimous decision.

Cody and Nelson Judges.
The Idaho affirmative team composed of Marcus and Hobson also spoke before an excellent audience at Geneseo. The number of listeners was augmented by the high school band which played before the debate began. The attendance at Moscow on Thursday evening was well over a hundred. The decision at Geneseo was rendered by Father E. E. Cody of Moscow who declared that the Whitman team had held the position of more sound economic position than had been advanced by the Idaho affirmative. The decision on Thursday evening was also rendered by a critic judge, Adrian Nelson, Moscow attorney, served in this capacity.

Women Debate.
The women's varsity debate schedule starts tonight at Walla Walla when Mary Axtell and Jewel Leighton of Idaho take the negative on the "Women's Rules" question against Whitman college's women. On Wednesday afternoon Miss Leighton and Miss Axtell meet Washington State's affirmative team.

In Moscow the women also have debates scheduled for this week. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in room 311 of the administration building Mildred Peterson and either Wilma Hudson or Teresa Connaughton of Idaho will take the affirmative on this question against Washington State, and on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock they will discuss the same matter with the Whitman negative. These debates are said to contain interesting and important facts about women's rules, and to consist largely of an expose on rules which compares favorably with the heavy criticisms thrown at the legal codes of this country.

The policy of Idaho teams, according to A. E. Whitehead, varsity debate coach, is to be somewhat different this year from that of past years. In the past, he declared, debates have been somewhat dry because little attempt was made to please the audience. This year a special effort is being made to please the audience primarily, and to receive a decision secondarily. In an effort to accomplish this, Idaho teams in the future will engage in cross-question debates to a large extent. Already on the schedule of Pittsburgh which the University of Pittsburgh which will be here on either January 20 or 29 to discuss the matter of federal control of industry.

CHRISTMAS MEETING

MUSIC DEPARTMENT PRESENTS RECITAL BY MIRIAM LITTLE

Cello Numbers Featured in Program at Auditorium
Friday Evening

The recital by Miriam Little cellist and instructor in music, which was given Friday evening in the auditorium, was one of the outstanding musical performances of the year. Miss Little was assisted by Isabel Clark, pianist; Dorothy Frederickson, contralto; and Lucille Ramest, accompanist.

The program consisted of four groups. Part one included four numbers by Miss Little. Part two was "Sonata for Cello and Piano Op. 36" with the two movements "Andante molto tranquillo" and "Allegro agitato," played by Miss Little and Miss Clark. This selection was explained by a note on the program—"Beauty, harshness, warmth and poetical feeling pervade this composition which is so typical of Norway, the land of Edvard Grieg."

Four numbers sung by Miss Fredrickson made up group three. At the close of the group four, which included three cello solos, Miss Little layed for an encore number, "Du bist die Ruh" (Thou Art My Peace) by Schubert.

MARGARET MOULTON HEADS LARGE CAST FOR 'CRADLE SONG'

Next All-College Play Is Ready For Production
This Week

Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 o'clock the curtain will rise on the second all college play of 1931 "The Cradle Song," as produced by the university dramatics division under the direction of Prof. Fred C. Blanchard.

Approximately 50 students will participate in the production of this play. In addition to the 12 in the cast, 40 Treble Clef club members, all in convent costume will sing the religious songs and chants which serve as a background for the action of the play. Miss Agnes M. Bothne and her Vandalette chorus including Laura Brigham, Ruth Brody, Edna Scott, Elizabeth Thompson, Harriet Baken, and Bernice Smith, will also sing.

Gentle and romantic, quiet and sentimental is this drama of convent life. It is a study in the revelation of character. Not the conventional modern comedy, this translation from the Spanish play of the same name is written in two acts. The first act pictures the quiet life of the convent and its inmates, outstanding among whom is Sister Joanna of the Cross to be played by Bertha Moore. When an infant girl is left outside the convent door, it is Sister Joanna who pleads that they might be allowed to keep the child there in the convent.

The second act takes place 18 years after. The child, Teresa, then a young woman of 18, is about to leave her convent home to be married. Margaret Moulton as Teresa holds the center of the stage during this act.

Good Part.
As the princess of the convent, Kathryn Hart plays an important role as does Grace Eldridge as the sharp tongued but good hearted old vicarress, Lucille Moore, Betty Brown Dorothy Menzies, Naomi Randall, Ellnor Jacobs, Alberta Bergh, Rappheal Gibbs and Clayne Elyson are other members of the cast.

Prof. Paul R. Irlig of the art and architecture department is designing the set for the play while Marian Featherston assisted by Nancy Finch is doing the costume work for the play.

Tickets are now on sale at Hodgins Drug store. General admission is 50 cents while university students may enter free with ASUI booklets. The time is set at 8:30 in order that those attending the basketball game may reach the auditorium in plenty of time to see the opening of the play.

COMPANY WANTS STUDENT AGENTS

Students Interested in Selling
Books Place Inquiry
With Robert Greene

Robert Greene, head of the student employment bureau, has recently received a letter from the Campbell and Leung, Inc., desiring to have several men students of the university apply to them for handling the local agency for their "Book Shelf Memorabilia." Students interested in this job may get in touch with Robert Greene at Lindley hall.

The letter reads:
"Dear Sir:
Will you be good enough to place us in touch with several boys who are working their way through college, and have the time and necessary qualifications to handle the local agency for our 'Book Shelf Memorabilia.'"

"This is proving a profitable vehicle for students, is an unusually good value for the buyer, and meets a demand at college which already exists and is now satisfied by a less desirable and more expensive product.

"Student representatives will be treated liberally, the proposition is sound, is good year after year, and is an excellent summer time earning."

Very truly yours,
CAMPBELL and LEUNG"

SCHEDULED FILMS BEFORE HOLIDAYS HOLD SURPRISES

Many Clever And Feature
Shows to be Presented in
Next Two Weeks

In the two more weeks to go until the beginning of the Christmas vacation, there are going to be some extremely different and cleverly directed shows playing at both the Vandal and Kenworthy theatres. "Over the Hill," now showing at the Vandal, features Mae Marsh in one of her best characterizations of the year, in which she contributes an understanding portrayal of motherhood. Her acting makes the picture more than worthwhile, but the simple reality of the whole cinema is outstanding.

The Frog And The Pool

After reading of the University of Utah's second consecutive defeat of the season at the hands of two mediocre coast football teams, The Argonaut is somewhat inclined to doubt the word of the Denver gentleman who said, in a recent press dispatch, that "Idaho and Montana, perennial door-mats of the Pacific Coast Conference, are not fit to blow up footballs for Utah." As a matter of fact, the Argonaut thinks that Idaho—and Montana too—could give the Rocky Mountain champions a pretty stiff workout no matter who furnished the wind for the interior of the oval.

It isn't at all surprising that some of the teams in the mountain region are anxious to pawn Utah off on the coast conference. The Utes have been winning too many games and the little fellows want a new king. Ike Armstrong's Indians are undoubtedly a mighty big duck (but they've been swimming in a rather small pond—hence their impressiveness in the eyes of Denver sports scribes.) The Argonaut concedes the Utah boys a good football outfit and a smart coach but we doubt if they'd fare as well in "big time" as they've managed to do against the Rocky Mountain schools. When you play on the Pacific coast you play in fairly fast company, as Utah and the wise-cracking gentleman from Denver must, by this time realize.

Don't misunderstand us. The Argonaut does not oppose admitting Utah to the Pacific Coast Conference if the Salt Lake school wants membership. On the contrary, Idaho, with most of the other northwest schools, would welcome the Indians into full standing any time. The reasons are quite obvious.

Most of the students, especially those from southern Idaho, would like to see Utah on the Vandal football schedule next fall. The game would be a "natural" and would draw a crowd in Salt Lake, Moscow, Boise, or Pocatello. Moreover, there is a remote chance that it might shut up some Rocky Mountain sports writers who are not yet aware that winning football games in coast company is just slightly more difficult than picking pausies in the vicinity of Salt Lake and Denver.

If The Ice Freezes

As current sporting news begins to carry the story of hockey games, and as old man weather begins to blow an icy breath, fancies begin to turn from fifty-fifty plans to ice skating. As usual the desire for some rink on which the sport of skating may be enjoyed has sprung into prominence. That pronouncement is indeed a justifiable one, too, and one which should lead to definite and favorable action.

The primary difficulty, as several enthusiasts have discovered, is finding a place and a method for building a rink. The authorities who refused permission to use the tennis courts must be commended, however, for making that decision. Due to the fact that some of the water seeped under the courts when they were used last year for skating, two of the courts have sunk sufficiently to interfere materially with proper drainage. In another part of the courts the removal of ice to facilitate further drainage resulted in damage to large parts of the court surface. Naturally, then, the desire to preserve Idaho's already inadequate tennis facilities led to the refusal for their use this winter.

Despite other circumstances, however, the possibility of having a skating rink need not yet be viewed as an impossibility. It is felt by many that a concerted and organized move by some definite body, either one now existing for service or one especially formed for the purpose, might result in getting a rink. Such a move would not only have the force of organization and responsibility behind it, but it would also be proof of interest in the matter of skating. Just what organization will step to the front may be a question, but if we are to enjoy the pleasures of ice skating, or ice breaking, organized effort will be necessary.

New Version of Post Office

From the University of South Dakota come reports of a new game or contest. Six men and seven women students of that institution of higher learning have entered into the extremely valuable work of discovering for science, their alma mater and so forth the most kissable lips on the campus. After they have found them, it is supposed, the rights will be sold to some cigarette advertiser and they will all live happily ever after.

Now, such commendable efforts certainly invite comment. There can be little doubt but that the method of making the final choice will afford a good deal of fun and pleasure to the judges. As a matter of fact, it would not be surprising if the lucky winner were asked to give a sample instead of an autograph to all comers. But after the rouge has been washed away and its all over, just what is left.

Well, the first marker on the score board is a lot of cheap publicity. The individuals and the school will receive news items here and there and an editorial every now and then, and of course the type of publicity is just the kind that would make anyone want to attend universities for the better things in life. The second marker is the fact that such antics are bound to reflect on student bodies of every university, and more cries of "superficial" will go up. The third score will be an opinion, not alone shared in this country, but throughout the world, that American colleges have lost all idea of culture—except physical culture. Its news like this that always travels the furthest. There are a number of other scores that might be chalked up, too, but three to nothing is decisive enough, particularly when you know darn well that you wouldn't turn down an invitation to be a judge.

What Price Royalty?

Due to the efforts of the Blue Bucket staff and the "T" men, Idaho is going to have another queen. For the past few years Idaho has had only one queen, but this year it will have two, unless the "T" men do such a good job of picking that the Blue Bucket queen will also reign at the May term. Traveling around to so many different schools, the athletes should be pretty good judges of feminine pulchritude.

Our only hope, however, is that the Blue Bucket queen contest won't create a queen complex on the campus. Many schools throughout the country are suffering from this dilemma, and Idaho can do well to remain immune.

Some institutions have been known to have as many as 15 queens in one year. A college will have a queen for every school publication, including the ag bulletins. Queens will also reign over every particular school, not forgetting those of law and engineering. And, when queens begin to play as important a part as this in a college, politics generally creep in.

Only 10 more days left to buy your Xmas present in Moscow, but how can we be expected to concentrate on that when all the profs are giving quizzes. It's too bad someone can't think of something appropriate to give them. If you are having a hard time with your list we have a few suggestions that may help—

SIGMA CHI'S AND SIGMA NU'S would appreciate any invitations out to dine and dance. NEST needs a few engraved cuspidors. MAX EIDEN AND "IRISH" MARTIN could use an alarm clock on Sunday mornings. THE GILL FRIEND would love a purse—empty, of course, or a bottle of histerine. A bottle of Vicks Vapo Rub for SPAUGY. A baby doll for PARIS MARTIN. A crest ring for JOHNNY THOMAS. And a tin horn for CECIL SANDERS.

Sob Sister

All the sophomores and juniors seemed to be having a good time at the Senior ball. Guess the senior did, too.

Some people seem to think the Kappa Sigs give the biggest and best parties of the year—at least the longest and strongest.

As usual, the Phi's threw a good dance with something different in the way of decorations and entertainment. But we would like to question the wit and particular merit of the artist. Why be personal?

The Sigma Chi's seem to be resting on their laurels since their barn dance.

This week we've seen—Herb Hartman and Mrs. Herbie spending a quiet evening at home, studying; Flop Adams rushing around in his usual ambitious way; Nat Congdon staying at home since the D. G. house holds no interest for him this year; Ken O'Leary smoking a cigarette since pipes have lost their appeal for him; Johnny Peacock getting a taste of competition, and not liking it, either; Paul Miller slaving his youth away so the paper can come out; Bob Herrick still singing his theme song "Ah, Nerfs"; Casady Taylor at his favorite indoor sports, holding seances and deciding international questions; philosophy and religion as a sideline.

Well, it must be nice to have one of the intelligentsia in the house.

Lee Gillette has just returned to be with the Sigs again this year, we see. In case you're interested, his story is that he is here to take chemistry.

Well, why be so skeptical? Maybe he is enrolled in the course. You know he couldn't be at the Theta house all the time.

We hear Howard Ballif is about to publish his book, "The Technique of a House Manager." At that, he ought to know.

And then of course, there's the "Great Lover," Bard Lemp. According to statistics, he is still the secret sorrow of every other girl on the campus.

But just for the sake of a serenade once in a while, how about pleading a few singers along with all the football players, piano players and players?

Two professors, Edgar J. Godspeed and J. M. Powis Smith, both of the University of Chicago, have recently completed a simplified version of the bible, written in simple and concise English.

NO INTEREST SHOWN

P. I. P. ### DOBIN DISCARDED AS AGRICULTURE TAKES TO PLANES

Decade Sees New Farming Development Head Toward General Use

By Frederick A. Mark

During the last decade a new science has emerged from an embryonic state into a full, commercialized form. That science is agricultural aviation.

The history of agricultural aviation is somewhat obscure. Russia, before the war was doing work with aerial crop dusting. In this country, agricultural aviation began in 1921, when the extension service of Ohio in cooperation with the federal department of agriculture and the army air service cooperated in the problem of destroying a catalpa fly infestation.

Control Weevil

The aerial system of attack proved so successful that the same plan was used to control an outbreak of boll weevil during the same year. The department of agriculture established a dusting experiment station at Tallulah, Louisiana. This station has been in operation now almost ten years. Several large companies are operating aerial dusting stations throughout the cotton belt.

The government is also using airplanes to study spore and insect migration. Spore and insect traps are fastened onto the airplane. Thus the scientist can study life in the upper air at any altitude in any area.

Gather Data

The bureau of agricultural economics finds the airplane helpful in gathering crop statistics by taking aerial photographs of the producing areas. The photographs are developed the fields of various crops measures with a planimeter. Airplanes in the midwest are being used to scatter grasshopper bait, and to control blackstem rust by dusting.

Turns Plow

The Hobi Airways on the west coast has developed a system for the seeding of burned over and cut over forest lands into pasture. The same system is used as in cotton and stem rust dusting except that the work is done at a higher elevation, and a different hopper is used. Thousands of acres of forest land has been re-seeded in Oregon, Idaho and Washington by this method during the last five years. The cost of this type of seeding is 50 per cent less than any other feasible method.

In California, rice has been sown successfully by airplane. Various agricultural products are now being carried by air. Poultry has been shipped from Idaho to California by air. Flowers are being carried from favorable cultural areas into the cooler, but better markets.

Aviation in the future promises to be instrumental in bringing agriculture on par with other industries.

U. OF O. GETS MONEY

P. I. P. A.—An additional sum of $9,250 has been granted the University of Oregon by the Carnegie corporation and the American Institute of Architects, for the purpose of pursuing its work on artistic appreciation and the summer session teacher training in art, according to an announcement made by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university.

COEDS PROTEST PAYING EXPENSE

Utah Co-eds Protest Against Riding on Street Cars.

Co-eds at Northwestern university have risen up in arms against the proposition which the men on various campuses have put before them—that they pay their share of expenses on dates. Out of four prominent women on the Northwestern campus, three objected strenuously to the idea, while Jane Kesner gave the men a ray of hope for their suggestion. The other three women disapproved strongly, saying, "We're having the depression, not the boys."

Co-eds at the University of California at Los Angeles protested against an editorial in the "Claw" which raised the question of the girls defraying a part of date expenses. In response to the editorial, the feminine personnel of the magazine refused to sell the issue.

At the University of Utah, co-eds are indignant at the suggestion that money be saved on dates by using street cars instead of automobiles. They prefer staying at home and reading a book to riding to and from dances in this manner.

SCHOOLS PROTEST TOURNAMENT PLANS

Will be No State Hoop Tournney If Plan is Carried Through

At a meeting a short time ago in Pocatello the south western schools went on record as being against the recent decision of the State High School Athletic association to stage the state high school tournament in Twin Falls instead of Moscow or Pocatello. It has been the custom in the past to alternate between the university and the Southern Branch. At this same meeting the schools represented decided to withdraw from the association.

The southwestern members will hold a tournament in Pocatello, according to present plans. If this is carried through there will be no real state champions in basketball.

It is expected that other sections of the state will also withdraw particularly the northern schools. The state basketball tournament has for many years been traditional at the university. Many coaches feel that the university is better equipped to handle the meet than any of the member cities.

U. OF C. WILL PAY FOR VICTORY SPOILS

P. I. P. A.—To the victor belongs the spoils does not apply to goal posts and red water wagons, evidently.

Word has been received from the University of California that the student body will compensate Stanford "for any damage in the stadium" accomplished by the re-joining borders who could not restrain their jubilation over the first Golden Bear victory in seven years.

The size of the bill has not been made public; but the market price of red water carts is said to be around $300.

Maurice Rapf of the Stanford Daily staff earned $50 when he put four letters in the proper places to name Joan Crawford's new movie, "Possessed."

STANFORD WOMEN MUST BE PERFECT

According to rules passed by the disciplinary board at Stanford university, women seeking hours 12 o'clock on week nights and 1:30 on Saturdays must be physically and scholastically perfect. Unless they can qualify they must be in at 11 o'clock on week nights and 12 o'clock on Saturdays.

Those who are healthy and strong but think that Shakespeare is a new kind of a car can't receive the extra hour privilege. This also goes for those who can speak French and Spanish better than a native but are weak and sickly looking.

ADVERTISING CLUB TO HEAR SYVERSON

President of Spokane Firm Will Speak on Media For Advertising

Fred Syverson, president of the Syverson-Kelly Advertising agency, Spokane, will lead the university Ad club in discussing the various advertising media for merchants at a meeting December 15.

Michigan Graduate

Mr. Syverson's speech on the different media for advertising will include direct mail, newspapers, out-door display, radio, and periodicals.

For the past 18 years Syverson has been in the advertising business in Spokane. He is a graduate of the business department of Michigan university.

Syverson

He was general publicity chairman of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce for several years.

Through directing the tourist campaign for the chamber of commerce, Mr. Syverson has attained a wide knowledge in placing advertising in national periodicals such as the Saturday Evening Post, Review of Reviews, and the American magazine. He has kept accurate result sheets on this national campaign and will give a detailed account on big-time advertising at the coming Ad club meeting.

All Invited

Mr. Syverson will appear as one of a speaker-of-the-month series, which is being sponsored by the Ad club. The purpose of these talks is to acquaint merchants and students with the experiences in advertising problems of prominent advertising authorities. Merchants and students are invited to attend the meetings. There is no admission charge.

WAKE SEAL CAMPAIGN

The Latah Anti-Tuberculosis association sent four representatives to Troy where they explained the work of the county and state association, and presented a Christmas seal campaign to the high school students.

The members of the party from Moscow were Mrs. J. J. Gill vice-president of the county association; Mrs. J. H. Felton, Mrs. Robert Whittier, and J. S. Heckathorn.

SPECIAL DATE PRIVILEGES ASKED BY 'PURSE WEAK' CHICAGO U. MEN

CHICAGO.—On account of the "depression," they said, men students living in University of Chicago dormitories want to be allowed to entertain co-eds in their quarters.

Women are now banned from the men's dormitories. In a petition signed by all the hall residents, the students claimed "it's cheaper to use the room dad pays for" than to rent or maintain a car and asked: "That co-eds be allowed to dine in the dormitory refractory once a week;

That girls be allowed in the lounge rooms until 10:30 every night;

That girls be allowed in the men's rooms Saturday and Sunday until 6:30 p. m.

"There's a depression on," one student said. "We've got to cut expenses somehow."

Margaret Egan, student editor thought co-eds would favor part of the plan but said, "I'm sure the women would be happy to visit the dorms but I doubt their willingness to risk going to a man's room alone. None of the women I know would think of it."

FROSH HOOP MEN GET UNDERWAY

The frosh basketball squad held its first regular practice last Wednesday night. There have been turnouts before but the select group had not been chosen. No games have been scheduled yet.

Those men reporting at the first session were: Edward Metzgar, Kellogg; Gilbert Griener, Hammet; Edward Jones, Coeur d'Alene;

George Bailey, Kendrick; Raymond Hildong, Asotin, Wash.; William Wakeman, Boise; George Tanghe, St. Maries; Victor Warner, Boise; Lewis Cox, Craigmont; Wray Pomeroy, Anaheim, Cal.; Irving Chase, Post Falls; Benny Benson, St. Maries; Ray Thompson, Orofino; Harry Sandow, Blackfoot; Gilbert Morgan, Moscow; and Wayne Hampton, Genesee.

There is one person in college for every 216 residents of the state of Alabama.

STUDENTS LEARN FROM ADVERSITY

Perseverance is the lesson Idaho students are gaining from adversity, believes Pres. M. G. Neale at an alumni meeting held in Boise recently. He told of the many ways students have devised to keep themselves in school. Two brought a cabin with them, others batch in rented quarters. Stores have been set up in fraternity houses and halls for the sale of cigarettes, candy and other tidbits necessary to university life.

Down town in the business section of Moscow students have started advertising schemes and selling projects. The result, he said, assured light dropping off in enrollment at the end of the term. He stated that there would be 150 new students at the second semester. "Their efforts to remain in school are amazing and most encouraging," he said.

CUT DISEASED TREES

P. I. P. A.—Stanford's arboretum will be the scene of tree felling and log cutting when about 25 itinerants from the Palo Alto shelter start work on ridding Stanford property of diseased and dying trees. They will work under the direction of Captain J. W. Glover, director of the shelter.

Most of the trees to be cut down are Monterey cypress, dying from the attack of beetle pests and lack of water.

PREP ATHLETES INVITED TO SEE VANDAL GAMES

High School Boys Will Be Guests Of "I" Club

The "I" club has launched an extensive campaign to interest athletes of Idaho high schools in coming to their state university. Form letters have been prepared and will be sent to every high school letterman and coach in the state.

Being concerned with the number of promising athletes who are leaving this state to attend institutions in other parts of the country, the Vandal lettermen are using this means of acquainting high school athletes of their opportunities at their own university. They plan to extend every possible courtesy to visiting players and their coaches during their stays in Moscow.

TANGO FEATURED AT SENIOR BALL

"You Ain't Done Right By Me" Is Special Skit

The Senior ball, under the direction of Cecil Sanders, proved to be the most pleasing event of the year. It was given in the main ball room of the Elks temple. Beginning with a receiving line, the festive crowd started out on its pleasure jaunt. Following came the grand march, led by Charles Cheney, senior class president. Immediately following this the dancing began and lasted until 11:30.

During the intermission very clever entertainment was presented for the amusement of the guests. Charles Helm and Camille Harris gave an Argentine tango which met with hearty applause. Rosie Layne's orchestra, beside providing excellent music for the "one" and "two" skit, "You Ain't Done Right by Our Little Nell." Patrons and patronesses were Miss Permeal J. French, Mrs. Marvin G. Neale, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson and Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford.

CO-EDUCATIONAL FOOTBALL SEASON COMES TO A CLOSE AT DEAR OLD E-DAU-HO!!!

With Dean French's Red Devils winning the conference from Kappa Phi Sunbeams last Saturday, the co-ed football season has come to a close. The co-eds have had more than a successful season in every way, and the gate receipts have been larger than any previous season. The intercollegiate Knights report the program sale was over 200 and the "I" club had a very profitable season in the pink lemonade and hot dawg business.

The Interfraternity council met at the Kappa Sig house Saturday night and with the help of trainers Felton and Emahiser selected the following teams as the mythical elvens for the year. First Team Ends—L. Cowgill and K. O'Brien. Tackles—M. Hulser and E. Jacobs.

Week-End Before Vacation Sees Many Campus Activities

Christmas is drawing near and in keeping with that holiday spirit many festive events have been scheduled for the coming week. Appropriate at this time is the presentation of "The Cradle Song" by the dramatic department on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 in the auditorium. This play produces a Spanish Cloister and portrays all of its peace and quiet. It is especially good for its effective pageantry. Its devout and holy atmosphere not only help to give the feeling of piety, associated with Christmas.

In contrast to this, activities scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings will contribute to mirth and festivity. The "I" Club Mixer at Memorial Gymnasium and Sigma Alpha Epsilon "49'er" dance are the special features of Friday evening. Saturday night Tau Kappa Epsilon will give an "Apache" dance. Delta Tau Delta and Ridenbaugh will give informal dances. Lambda Alpha will give its annual "Mardi Gras" dance.

Week-end Interesting.
Last week-end proved to be one of the most exciting this year in the university social calendar. The senior ball proved a success with a record crowd in attendance, and all the parties given by organizations and houses on the campus were pronounced "the best in many years."

Saturday Popular.
Saturday was socially the most popular night last week-end. The Kappa Sigma house party started at noon featuring the present depression in the stock market, but the guests enjoyed themselves in spite of the hard times. The Associated Engineers dance was given in the Women's gymnasium which was decorated in shades and tints of orange. Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Chi gave informals Saturday.

KAPPA SIGMA GIVES 24th ANNUAL PARTY
The 24th annual Kappa Sigma 12 hour house party, "The Depression Number," given Saturday was unanimously declared the best one yet, by those who attended.

At 12 o'clock Saturday noon those women invited walked boldly and alone up to the Kappa Sigma house, where they were met on the porch.

A four course dinner followed at 1 o'clock at the Blue Bucket Inn. Immediately after that a program dance was given at the chapter house. A broker's conference was held at 6 o'clock. Jimmy Harper entertained with special dancing numbers.

Informal Supper
Informal supper was served to the guests. The pledges presented a short play entitled "Winning an Helress." Walter Tannler was especially charming as the leading lady. Jack Dyer was Mrs. Keerful, the aunt.

As a fitting climax to the festivities of the day the Mardi Gras was staged at 10:30 o'clock. Bedlam broke loose in a medley of song and music, to say nothing of the horns. Confetti and serpentine added to the gayety, which continued until midnight.

Honored guests were Gen. and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Dean and Mrs. T. S. Kerr, Capt. and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, and Prof. and Mrs. H. E. Lattig.

FJLL HOUSE GOES ESKIMO
Phi Gamma Delta entertained at an informal dance at their chapter house Saturday night. On entering the guests were forced to stoop through the door of an Eskimo igloo. Sheets were cleverly festooned around the walls giving a realistic effect of snow and ice. The aurora borealis shone dimly in one corner of the room. Candles were suspended from the ceiling giving a weird lighting effect. The orchestra members were clothed in appropriate hoods; and Eskimo clothing. Snow shoes, guns, and sleds were thrown in various parts of the igloo. Punch was served from a big ice cube and Eskimo pies were served during intermission.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Max Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Fox, Miss Bethel Packenham and Edward Poulton and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Janssen.

FORMAL DANCE AT ELKS' TEMPLE
The Elks' Temple, transformed into a forest of tall fir trees, with silver stars shining above made an artistic setting for the annual formal Senior ball Friday night. The programs were of black celluloid, with white cut outs.

During the first intermission Camille Harris and Charles Helm gave an exhibition of the Mexican tango.

Later in the evening some of the members of the orchestra entertained with an amusing skit called "Poor Little Nell."

Patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson and Dean Permeal French.

DELTA CHI WINTER INFORMAL
Delta Chi was host at an informal winter dance Saturday night. Their chapter house was portrayed as a hunting lodge. Stuffed birds, cougars, deer heads, and skins of various kinds were placed around the rooms, forming a clever decorative scheme.

Patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. F. G. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Otto K. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton Howard.

ENGINEERS SPONSOR ALL COLLEGE DANCE
The Women's gymnasium presented a holiday aspect Saturday night when the Associated Engineers gave their all college dance. The hall was decorated in streamers which varied in tints from pale yellow to orange, beginning at the ceiling center and gradually

Numerous Students Becoming Skillful At Cutting Capers

Students have been participating in winter sports on the several slides that have been erected on the campus. The best slide from the standpoint of view, slipperiness, and length is the Eldridge walk. The Ad building steps and the walk below the Nest are close seconds. Many students have become expert. Several have mastered the figure eight, somersaults in the air, and handsprings. Spectators get a great deal of enjoyment from these performances.

The advantages of these slides are that they may be used for both skiing, sliding, and skating; and that the participants need not go to the expense of buying skis, sleds, and skates. Members of the faculty who have tried these slides have found them even better than those at Viola. It is to be expected that many more students will take advantage of them during the winter months.

ELIMINATE GIFTS; RENEW LOAN FUND

Home Ec Members Will Contribute 15 Cents to Student Aid

Instead of requesting that each member bring an inexpensive gift for the home economics Christmas tree as has been the custom in the past, Dahri Bockwitz, general chairman of the Christmas party, has asked that each bring 15 cents to be applied toward the home economics loan fund. Senior home economics students are asked to pay their 15 cents to Janet Gooding, Juniors to Evelyn Barnes, sophomores to Margaret Kellogg, and freshmen to Beth Groves. The home economics faculty and officers of that club.

The change necessarily eliminates the committee promises somewhat the usual Christmas tree fun, thing new in the way of entertainment to replace it. Dean Franch has arranged for freshmen girls to attend the party, and every home economics student is expected to be there. The party will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 in the women's gymnasium.

NAME COMMITTEES

Committees for the annual Home Economics club Christmas party were named at a meeting of the club Thursday evening. Dahri Bockwitz was appointed general chairman.

Plans were discussed for future meetings of the club, for which Miss Jensen hopes to secure interesting speakers.

PREXY AROUSES IRE OF CO-EDS

P. I. P. A.—University of Utah co-eds are indignant! A recent declaration of their president, Dr. George Thomas, is the cause.

Dr. Thomas recommended that college students should avoid extravagances during depression. He suggested that students should abandon automobiles as means of transportation to and from school, and depend solely on street cars. He urged reduction of social expenses, favored discontinuing such things as flowers for dances, and hinted that girls should share "date" expenses.

CUT PROPERTY TAX

P. I. P. A.—Property taxes paid by living organizations on the University of Oregon campus will be reduced about $3,200 a year under Governor Meier's announcement that no levy will be made next year against real estate for state purposes, it was revealed in a survey made by the Emerald, university daily publication.

TAKES WET STAND

Dr. W. E. Greenleaf of Marshall college, West Virginia, heartily approves the stand taken by President Thomas S. Gates, of the University of Pennsylvania, in urging the repeal of the Volstead act. "A man is punished now for the superficial things," said Dean Greenleaf, in explanation of his attitude. "a quart of whiskey upon his shelf at home—while drunken drivers cause numerous accidents and pass unpunished on our highways." He cited several examples in support of the latter statement.

A short business meeting was held after the dinner, in which plans for Engineers' Day were discussed. The next meeting will be held the second Wednesday in January, which is a change from the regular schedule, due to the vacation holidays. After the meeting, a picture entitled "The Yoke of the Past" was shown by Prof. Beresford. Following this the members were entertained by stunts and games sponsored by Theodore Horning, which furnished much amusement to all present.

Gordon V. Hockaday, '27 Lewiston, was a Friday afternoon visitor, Clifford Moore, Kenlogg, a week end guest, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Carter were Sunday dinner guests of Beta Theta Pi.

BRILLIANT ATHLETES COACH IDAHO TEAM

Few western schools can boast of a coaching staff made up of brilliant athletes such as Idaho. Each member has a great record behind him. The five men include two Idaho men, two Southern California graduates, and one from Princeton.

Head Coach Leo Calland is a graduate from Southern California and an all-American choice at tackle for the Trojans. Calland is one of the greatest football players that the California institution has ever turned out. Not long ago in a radio program of great prominence Leo was named along with Drury, Pinkert, Hibbs, Saunders, and Duffield, as making up the Trojan hall of fame.

Coached Trojans.

Before coming to Idaho Calland was freshman football and varsity basketball mentor at his alma mater. He has just turned in very successful season with his third crew of Calland-coached football artists. Prospects are brighter than for many years for his next year's team.

Otto Anderson, head track and backfield coach, is the second of the Trojan ex-stars. He has twice been a member of the United States Olympic team. Being an expert high hurdler, he first competed at the age of seventeen. Besides making three letters in track he also played football for Howard Jones. "Otto," as he is familiarly known, is one of the most popular figures on the Idaho campus.

Idaho Men.

The Idaho men are "Rich" Fox and "Red" Jacoby, varsity basketball and freshman coaches respectively. Fox also handles frosh football and Jacoby assists Calland in varsity football. All who follow Vandal athletics know what outstanding players these men were during their college days. Fox made letters in both baseball and basketball. He was a member of the famous championship quintet in the early twenties. He was picked on the all-coast team as a forward. Before coming back to Idaho as basketball mentor, Fox served as high school coach at Potlatch and at Pocatello. His teams enjoyed unusual success at both places. Jacoby will be remembered as one of the outstanding quarterbacks that Idaho produced. Besides this he was a member of both the basketball and the baseball squads.

Princeton Luminary.

The last man, but by no means the least famous, is R. F. Hutchinson, the Idaho trainer. "Hutch" spent his college days at Princeton where he played quarterback for "old Nassau" for three years. During this time he was selected by the great Walter Camp as an all-American. This was before the day when every sports writer and coach picked a mythical eleven. He also starred in baseball and track; and previous to his college entrance was the inter-scholastic record-holder in the high hurdles.

COACHES SELECT ALL STAR ELEVEN

SPORT SHOP

Last Saturday saw the end of a great football season. With only a few odd charity games and the Rose Bowl classic on New Year's day remaining to be played, the season for gridiron "post mortems" has arrived. Everybody from cub reporters on Podunk college newspapers to such eminent authorities as Grantland Rice are picking their all-star teams. It is safe to say that not one of these mythical teams has much value as a true indication of the various players' merits. How can one person even with the aid of suggestions from others, judge the worth of a ball player two or three thousands of miles away? Often the mythical teams are picked by an association of press writers from all parts of the country. Such a method seems reliable enough, but such is not the case. The section of the country where the greater number of sports writers hang out always receives the lion's share of the all-American laurels.

And another illustration. Five players out of the select 33 were chosen from west of the Rockies, yet the fact remains that nearly every inter-sectional game results in a triumph for the West. Even U. C. L. A. who couldn't garner a conference game all season on the Pacific coast, held a great all-American sprinkled Northwestern eleven to two lone touchdowns.

Why pick an all-American team anyway? Intelligent people are beginning to realize the fallacy of even an honest attempt at such a task. But we suppose it is necessary for somebody to be considered the "cream of the crop."

An Idaho state high school basketball championship is a thing of the past. The athletic board received the reaction to their recent decision to have the state tournament at Twin Falls in the form of a complete withdrawal of 21 schools in eastern Idaho from all basketball competition with western schools. Whether the attempt that is being made to induce other sections of the state to protest the board's ruling will be successful or not remains to be seen. Many feel that such actions would force the board to reconsider their decision, and return to the usual custom. The University of Idaho can not help but be vitally interested in this problem, and student agitation may help in bringing about the right course of action.

Consider, for example, the Associated Press 1931 team. Over half of the selections are from a small territory in the middle west, with three first string positions going to the traditionally great Notre Dame, regardless of the fact that they have been trounced by teams from east and west. U. S. C. landed one on the first team, and the Army, who completely shut out the Southenders, was lucky to land one lone man on the third team. Publicity and tradition seem to be the primary standards for selections of all-American teams. U. S. C. demonstrated this fact at the expense of the highly touted Schwegler of Washington, running up a total of 44 points against the Huskies. Reports indicate that 95 per cent of the plays were called over the left side of the Washington line.

Even an honest attempt at such a task. But we suppose it is necessary for somebody to be considered the "cream of the crop."

COAST EDITOR HITS HIRING OF GRIDDERS

Article in "Bruin" Points To Doom of Football

P. I. P. A.—The "Bruin," publication of the University of California at Los Angeles, published an article by A. Maxwell Clark, editor, asserting "it was common knowledge that all Pacific Coast teams are proselyting athletes," and that two colleges on the coast are "deliberately taking care of football players and building universities out of gate receipts."

"Football is nearing a climax," the editorial declared. "It has held public interest so far because of its apparent cleanliness and freshness, but there is going to be a day, and the day isn't far off, when stadiums will cease to be the principal part of institutions of higher learning."

The only reason there is not more proselyting at the University of California at Los Angeles is "because we cannot afford it," the editorial asserted.

Clark charged that all colleges on the coast either paid athletes in some way or enticed them to enroll.

HONOR IDAHO GRAD

Andrew Thompson, an Idaho graduate in 1930, has been named as one of the two candidates for the Rhodes scholarship from the state of Montana. While at Idaho, he received the same honor. He is the son of Dr. Andrew Thompson, former dean of the Idaho school of mines, and now president of the Montana school of mines.

FRESHNESS

— that's the thing!

CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?— freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with — blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted — the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back — if you can.
