Dances Head The List Of Brilliant Social Activities

The parties held on Friday and Saturday of this week-end gave to the students attending a most exciting and varied program of entertainment. These social events demand a prominent place in campus news because of the ingenuity involved in the planning.

The Spur winter informal reigned supreme Friday night, it being the only private dance given on the campus. The new Delta Delta Delta chapter house was the scene of the winter festivities. The decorations emphasized winter sports. The large snow man and snow lady placed on either side of the fireplace welcomed the guests with their cordial grins.

Alpha Phi Cabaret. Alpha Phi upperclassmen's cabaret began at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening with a three-course buffet-supper served at individual tables for four. A varied program and dancing were enjoyed between the courses.

CABARET GIVEN BY ALPHA PHI. Clustered, colored balloons hanging from the chandeliers, doorways, and bannisters of the Alpha Phi house added a festive touch to the cabaret dance given by the upperclassmen Saturday evening.

Following the cabaret supper a program dance was given. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. B. E. Neal, Mrs. R. L. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Cherrington, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Melzlin, and Captain and Mrs. Harry L. Henkle. Alumnae included Ruth Rensburg, Violet Hagen, Gergetta Miller and Marguerite Ward.

SPUR INFORMAL HELD AT TRI DELTA HOUSE. Idaho Spurs gave an informal winter dance at the Delta Delta house Friday night. The decorative scheme carried out the idea of winter, with a snow man and woman in one room.

DELTA GAMMA HONORS BRIDE. In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dick, Delta Gamma gave a formal dinner at 7 o'clock last Tuesday evening at their chapter house. The centerpiece was formed by a charming bouquet of chrysanthemums and smilax.

WINTER DANCE GIVEN BY PHI DELTA THETA. Phi Delta Theta were hosts at a winter informal dance at their chapter house Saturday evening. Special guests were Nathaniel Congdon and Jack Williams.

The CINEMANIAC

THE RAINBOW TRAIL, Zane Grey's sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage" opens Tuesday for a three-day run at the Kenworthy theater. George O'Brien heads the cast of this thrilling story of the old west.

BEN HUR has two more days to play at the Vandal theater. Ramon Navarro heads the celebrated cast which enacts the tragic story of the house of Hur and the conquering of Rome.

WOMAN FROM MONTE CARLO opening Thursday at the Vandal theater tells the story of a brilliant woman and a world weary man. The drama is full of unexpected situations and excellent dialog.

GIVE RELIGIOUS COURSE AGAIN

Increase in Registration in These Courses Expected.

Rise of interest is being shown in the Idaho Institute of Christian Education. Registration in the courses is expected to be larger for the second term than it was the first, when religious courses were first offered here.

It has been announced by Dr. Carl D. Wells, director, that he will be at the Chi Alpha Pi house Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays as well as by appointment, for students who wish to learn what the courses include or to talk them over.

Dr. Wells will address the Westminster club of the Presbyterian church Tuesdays at 5 p. m. The meeting is to be held in the Women's gymnasium. He will talk to this group on Christian education at the university.

MUSIC STUDENTS PRESENT RECITAL

The students recital given by the pupils of Prof. Carleton Cummings, head of the music department Sunday afternoon in the auditorium, was one of the outstanding musical performances of the year and was well attended.

The program consisted of "Dedication," Franz; "On the Shore," Neidinger; by Pauline Paterka; "Morning," Ole Speaks, Kenneth Hensley; "I'm Wearin' 'em," Fotee Florence Simpson; "Vergin Tutto Amor" (Old Italian Aria), Darrante, by Clifford Mullikin; Caro Nome from "Rigoletto," Verdi; Elizabeth Gilmore; "When I Awake," Ellen Wright; Joan Harris.

Vision Fugitive "Herodiade," Massenet, John Jenny; "I Went, Beloved, As I Dreamed," Georges, Hazel Hayner; "Dawn Awakes," Braine, Elvon Hampton; Armour Viens Aider from "Sampson et Delilah," Saint Saens, by Aynes Ramstedt; "Over the Steppe," Grestedt; "Over the Steppe," Grestedt; "Louise," and "Die Erlkonig," Schubert, Erwin Tomlinson.

Mary Chenoweth, soprano, was unable to take part in the program because of a severe cold. The pianists were Lois Hints, Heien Stetler, and Pauline Paterka.

Idaho Women Are Appointed To Outstanding Positions

With the appointment of Elizabeth Bell and Austa White to the staffs of two of the leading hospitals of the United States, the three dietetics majors graduating from the home economics department in June are all slated for outstanding positions for the next year.

Miss Bell has been appointed to the Stanford university hospital in San Francisco for a six month's course as student dietitian. This is an unusually large institution and is used as a practical laboratory for the student nurses and pre-med students at Stanford. She will begin the course in August.

Will Go to Chicago. Miss White will go to the Cook County hospital in Chicago immediately after commencement in June. She is the first Idaho student to gain recognition at this hospital, where she will take a six month's course. The institution is one of the outstanding hospitals in the United States, with a capacity of 3,300 beds. A new children's hospital in connection with it will accommodate 500 children. At the main building there is an average of from 600 to 700 special diets prepared daily, and it is this particular branch of the work in which Miss White is interested.

The third dietetics major, Mary Ellen Heckathorn of Moscow, received her appointment to the Santa Barbara hospital in Santa Barbara, Cal., several weeks ago. Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department here, says, "There is such an extremely long waiting list at each of these hospitals I feel that these girls have been given unusual recognition in being accepted for these courses."

Will Receive Certificate. At the completion of their work the girls will receive student dietetics certificates which are recognized by the American Dietetics association and all standard hospitals. The courses have all been approved by the dietetics association, and are outlined by Miss Jensen as including diet kitchen training, dietotherapy, administrative work, experience in the children's hospital, food economics, business transactions, bookkeeping, food cost accounting, and social visits to medical clinics and departments of the leading hospitals, and a series of lectures given by prominent specialists.

Active on Campus. Miss White lives in Colfax, Wn., and has been active in college affairs. She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary, besides belonging to the English, De Smet, and Home Ec clubs and Narthe Table. She is serving as senior member on the executive board, Big Sister chairman, and Pan-Hellenic representative. As a sophomore she was a Spur and secretary of her class. Miss White is now president of Alpha Phi sorority.

Miss Bell is from Spokane and is house president of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is a member of Mortar Board and Phi Upsilon Omicron, and is vice-president of Pan-Hellenic. She was a Spur in her second year, and secretary of the Home Ec club.

Is Promising Field. According to Miss Jensen there are a great number of girls now enrolled in home economics preparing to take dietetics majors, and she feels that this is extremely wise, as the demand for dietiti-cians is rapidly increasing. She pointed out that they are now being employed in hotels and restaurants, and on many college campuses. Physicians and doctors recognize the value of trained dietitians in their institutions more and more. Although the course is more technical and complicated than many others, Miss Jensen says the opportunities are justifying the time and effort spent in its mastery.

Idaho Alumni Recognized. Five Idaho alumnae have received these appointments and are now actively engaged in hospital work. Sarah Nettleton, '20, received her certificate in the Presbyterian hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., where she became head dietitian. She is now at the head of St. Luke's hospital in Boise.

Grace McDougall, '25, took part of her advanced work at Yale and finished at the Presbyterian hospital in New York city, receiving a master's degree. She is now at the Sacred Heart hospital in Spokane. Bertha Gardner, '26, went to the University of Iowa medical school at Iowa City, where her excellent work caused her to be retained by the staff.

Margaret Dueval, '27, took her work in the Tacoma hospital, where she has remained. Florence Breshear, '29, was the last student to receive one of these appointments. She went to the Stanford University hospital, and has since accepted a position in the Peralto hospital in Oakland.

GIRL HIT BY AUTO SLIGHTLY INJURED

Only minor bruises were sustained by Miss Louise Rosecrans, a freshman from Rupert, who was accidentally struck by an automobile at noon, according to reports late yesterday afternoon from Miss Edna Peterson of the infirmary.

While making her way homeward through the drizzling rain, Miss Rosecrans was grazed by a car driven by Miss Edna Scott, daughter of Mr. L. R. Scott of the Scott Greenhouses on Main street. The accident occurred at the driveway in front of the engineering building, where Miss Rosecrans was crossing on her way to Hays hall from the Science hall. Seeing how close she had come to Miss Rosecrans, Miss Scott attempted to stop her car, but the slippery road caused the car to skid and hit the victim in the back. The heavy llama coat which Miss Rosecrans was wearing saved her from receiving any serious injuries, but the nervous shock left her in a semi-conscious state following the accident.

Blanche Taylor and Carl Nicholson Wed as Surprise to All

The marriage of two former Idaho students, Miss Blanche Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Burley, and Carl E. Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nicholson of Boise, came as a surprise to their many friends. The event took place Dec. 29 at the home of the Rev. A. B. Moore in Ontario, Ore. They were attended by Kathryn Nicholson and Carl B. Yanik. After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the Moore hotel. The only ones present were the close relatives and friends of the couple. Immediately afterward, the couple left on a honeymoon trip to the coast. They will be home in Boise after Jan. 15. The bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and the bridegroom of Phi Gamma Delta.

FORMER VAVDAL STAR QUILTS ATHLETIC GAME

J. O. Thompson, more commonly known as "Or" to followers of Idaho sports of a decade ago, after a long career as a basketball coach and a member of the famous Idaho team, has settled down to the more peaceful occupation of selling Ford cars at Pullman.

TOURNAMENT TIPS

By Cliff Anderson

The conference in most of the southern Idaho districts opened Friday. No upsets were given at any part of the state. Only one game was played and that was the annual Twin Falls-American Falls unofficial battle.

Introduced Block System. Thompson played along with the Fox boys, Edwards, Garden, Bedford, Cooper, Canine, Nelson, Mendenhall and Syner, under MacMillan, who is now head hoop coach at Minnesota university. Mac was a former professional star and introduced the now popular block system into the northwest.

Two Falls led off with the scoring and continued in the lead throughout the game. At no time, however, did they have a decided advantage. The American Falls boys lost by a 26 to 27 defeat. This was the closest tilt of the week-end. Larson was high point man in the game with a score of 13.

Buhl played his first conference game of the season with Kimberly, Friday night, in a 25-23 victory. Mullins and Gibbs at forward, Pierce and Boughman at guard, and Elkins at center started for Buhl. Mullins was high point man with 9.

SPORT SHOP

Few of the present generation of Idaho students have ever had the privilege of seeing the treasures of past Vandal athletic history that used to be in display in the old gymnasium that is now used by the Women's physical education department. When the Memorial gymnasium was built in 1928, these trophies were packed in boxes and placed in the tower of the building where they have remained.

Since the 1929-30 season, when Montana was dropped from the conference, one team has been forced to rest at the start of the conference activities. This year it was W. S. C. Missouri was too far away for the coast teams to reach without taking a great deal of time away from studies.

How might such a thing be accomplished? By a subscription, or the ASU might provide for such an undertaking, or the university might furnish funds. The coaches and athletic department are ready to support such a movement wholeheartedly. "Rich" Fox expressed himself as being particularly interested in continuing the old tradition of collecting and caring for these relics.

Noel Franklin predicts an unusually successful season for his squad of fifteen grapplers this winter. Although no meets have been scheduled as yet, his matmen are training for training for some tentative meets with W. S. C. about the middle of February. Wrestling was made a minor sport several years ago, interest in the ancient game fell considerably at Idaho, but this year promises a revival.

When the smoke had cleared from last week's conference tangles on the maple court, four teams had won one game and lost one. The total scores for both series place Idaho one point better than Oregon, and Washington one point better than O. S. C.

Idaho students can get together and reenact scenes of bygone years even in a large metropolis such as New York. Theodore Turner, proctor of mens halls, now on leave of absence for advanced work at Teachers College Columbia university, writes to Miss Bernice McCoy professor in education, that he finds himself enjoying the companionship of many former Idaho students.
