New Tennis Code Needed

From various sources in the past week have come complaints regarding what may be termed lack of courtesy on the tennis courts at Idaho. And since it has been suggested that something should be done about it. Just what should be done is a question. It appears, at a glance, that it is perfectly logical for high school students to monopolize the courts at any time even when university students and faculty members are waiting to play. What could possibly be wrong with the practice of holding the court, if you are a university student, until you drop dead of excess exercise? Why follow the rules which are fastened to each gate in respect to the number of sets which should be played? And, if playing on court four, why stop at the end of the game just because some women players show up? Well, after all, there are not a great number of good answers which may be given to those questions.

The days of chivalry are gone in the first place, and courtesy is definitely out. Besides that it is hardly justifiable to give the court up to some one who wants to stand on it and play ping pong. It is a perfectly fair assumption to say that the rules on the gate apply only to tennis and that there are very few people who play tennis at Idaho—if any. And another thing, it isn't your fault that there are only four courts at a school, which ordinarily should have three times as many. So, it is plain to be seen, this stuff about courtesy on the tennis courts is out of date.

What is needed is a new code. Along with all of the other modern devices there should be a new method of obtaining courts. It is suggested, therefore, that people who have trouble getting a chance to play should get heavier rackets and use them as clubs whenever they arrive at the field of battle. And if you happen to be the one using the court at the time, it should be expected that only mild surprise will be your response when you wake up out on the lawn with a large lump on your head. All of which is merely an effort to say, believe it or not, that it is unfair and impossible to expect university students to follow the rules and that if one wants to play tennis the way to do it is to be hard nosed about it and grab a court and keep it. But, as a last resort, it is just barely possible that students who enjoy the game might reform sufficiently to follow, at least in part, the rules which have been made in regard to the courts. It is ardently hoped that an effort will be made to bring about this reform before the new code mentioned above is declared official.

Welcome, Delegates

Brace yourselves, visiting Intercollegiate Knights and Future Farmers of America. You are about to be welcomed again. There is no doubt but what you have already been assured that Idaho is greatly pleased to have you on the campus. It would, moreover, probably be hazardous to attempt to enumerate the times that you have been told merely to ask that it may be given. Yet, once again the student body, through its official publication, would like to tell you that it is a pleasure, distinctly and definitely, to have you as our guests.

It is hoped that your stay here may be a profitable one. It is hoped that you will find the university to your liking, and it is promised that all in the world will be done to keep it from raining tomorrow and Sunday.

The meeting of Intercollegiate Knights which is being held on the campus offers the further possibility of providing a means by which western universities may better intercollegiate relations. It offers the opportunity for the interchange of ideas in the student body field. It is hoped that we may do something for you in the way of making suggestions or presenting ideas, and it is certain that you will do something for us. At any rate, come again.

The student body is equally delighted to entertain the delegates to the vocational guidance conference now being held on the campus. If there is anything that can be done for you, let us know, and when you go back home remember the University of Idaho would like to have you come back soon as students. The opportunities offered here in your field are the best that can be found. Remember that Idaho can give you an education that, in an economic sense, will mean a good deal to you. Here's hoping that you have a good time, and here's telling you that we hope you will come again.

KELLOGG STUDENTS STAGE WALK-OUT

Demand Dismissal of Superintendent After Coaching Trouble

Demanding the removal of their superintendent, more than 300 students in the high school at Kellogg went on a strike last Wednesday. Yesterday only 38 had returned. The rest maintained that they will not return to school until Superintendent Albert J. Graf was removed from office and the vacancy filled by Principal Albert J. Graf.

The whole trouble seems to have started when James O'Brien football coach was not hired for another year. O'Brien graduated from the university in 1929. He was an all-around athlete, having his letter in track, football and basketball. In track he holds a high jump record of 6 feet 1 inch. O'Brien was a major in psychology. To make their strike more forceful, the students paraded the streets carrying banners which declared their intentions and denouncing Superintendent Tweedy. They also demanded the place be filled by Principal Graf.

STUDENTS ARRIVE FOR ANNUAL MEET

Representatives from High Schools on Campus for Conference

Forty three students from high schools in Northern Idaho are here to attend the vocational conference which has been held at the university as an unusual event for the past five years. In the spring of each year students are sent by their high schools as representatives to create further interest in higher education as well as in any particular school in which they may be interested. The convention of the Intercollegiate Knights is always held at the same time.

Accommodations for the student are being made in the different fraternities and Lindley and Ridenbaugh halls. Meals are also given at the different lodging houses. Fewer students are attending this year than in former years the cause of which is really unknown. Last year there were 71 students attending with only 43 this year.

A complete and interesting program has been arranged for the entertainment and interest of the visiting students. Several changes have been made in the program. The football game which was scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock is to be on Friday afternoon instead. Students attending the Smith Hughes Judging contest will be unable to attend both. At 10:15 a. m. Saturday instead of the agricultural parade there will be a meeting of all the fellows interested in the Smith Hughes contest with Mr. Boyd Brigham. At 3 p. m. on Saturday there is to be the swimming meet in the Memorial gym.

The first steps toward the abolition of political cliques among the women on the University of Maryland campus have been taken. Each sorority has been requested to sign a pledge promising not to enter any political combination.

Students wishing to become editors of the Carleton college newspaper are required to compete for the jobs by writing editorials in a special examination.

CROWD WITNESSES ROT C INSPECTION AT MAC LEAN FIELD

Colonel Pillow of San Francisco, California Inspects Corps

A large local crowd as well as vocational students who are visiting this week-end and Inter-collegiate Knight delegates witnessed the annual R. O. T. C. inspection, review and parade which lasted from 11:00 o'clock until noon yesterday on MacLean field.

This inspection was made by Colonel Pillow of San Francisco, California, ninth corps area inspector. He left at noon for Pullman, where he will inspect the W. S. C. unit tomorrow.

His area includes the seven states—Oregon, Washington, Utah, Nevada, California, Arizona, and Idaho. Annual visits are made to these units to determine whether the work is up to standard and to make federal reports.

"He seemed very well satisfied with the Idaho unit," stated Captain H. L. Henkle.

PEP BAND SHOW WINS APPROVAL OF LARGE CROWD

Cummings Compliments Group on Music and Direction

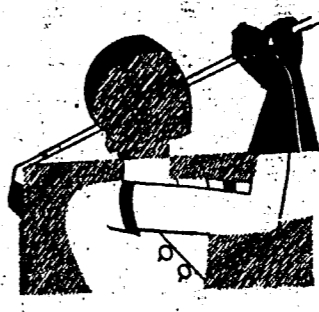

"This year's Pep Band show displayed excellent musical talent, far exceeding that of former year's" remarks Prof. Carleton Cummings, head of the music department. The entire program was well selected and arranged. Harry Walden should be commended for his excellent direction, and well displayed talents.

The talent in the entire show deserves credit for the time spent in reducing this performance. The first acts were given by the entire Pep Band, and all selections were accepted with utmost approval. The third act was presented by Jimmie Harper and his pupils. All the numbers were cleverly selected and presented. All of the tap dances were excellently worked out and much credit should be given the director, for the progress he has attained during the past year. The special feature numbers, a six foot tall dance by Jimmie Harper, and the double stair case by Wayne Kenworthy and Jimmie Harper, both proved their skill in tap dancing. Little Bobbie and Kenneth Smith singing "Springtime in the Rockies" brought two encores.

The stage orchestra played numbers to the entire satisfaction of the audience. The songs "Oh Monah" sung by the Phi Delta trio, composed of Orville Westberg, Bob Lafferty, and Harold Boyd, and a solo by Catherine Brandt; and "Song of the Bayou", by the Phi Delta trio, both received much applause. Elvon Hampton, singing "Marta" received his share of approval by the audience. The last act played by the entire Pep Band in uniform played three selections ending with "Go Vandals, Go" and "Here We Have Idaho."

Student Body officers at the University of Southern California, are required to pass an examination on the A.S.B. constitution or be declared ineligible. Two absences from class will also disqualify the candidate.
