

CALLAND OFFERED COLLEGE OF PACIFIC JOB

Idaho Coach Approached By California Official

Has Position Under Consideration But Has Nothing Definite To Say--Will Confer With President Neale

TWO YEARS LEFT OF IDAHO CONTRACT

Football Players and Friends Express Confidence in Head Coach--Hope He Will Stay
Here

Coach Leo Calland is among those being considered for a position as head coach at the College of the Pacific next year, according to an Associated Press dispatch received yesterday at the local newspaper office.

The position was left vacant through the resignation of Erwin J. Righter, who has been coach at the Stockton school for 12 years.

When questioned concerning the report last night, Calland said: "I was approached on the coaching subject at Berkeley last week-end by an athletic official of the College of the Pacific. The report is true that I am considering the job, but I was not an applicant, as two years yet remain on the three-year contract I signed last spring. I told the representatives that I might be interested in case anything of a contrary nature developed in Moscow, but at the present time, I do not plan to break my contract. I can give any definite answer until I have conferred both with President Tully Knoles of Pacific and the Idaho officials.

President Knoles is a personal friend of Coach Calland of many years standing. Both are University of Southern California graduates. He plans to see President Knoles when he goes to Los Angeles to attend the Pacific Coast conference winter meeting December 10.

The sentiment of the Vandal team regarding the possibility of Coach Calland's leaving are expressed in the following statements by veteran members of the 1932 eleven, Russell Hall, three-year letterman tackle, and acting captain of the Oregon game, says: "Mr. Calland is one of the best coaches Idaho has ever had, but has worked under terrific handicaps such as lack of material and a small squad. I certainly would hate to see him leave the university."

Fete Taylor, veteran end, adds: "I'd hate to see Leo leave. He's as good a coach as we've ever had."

The opinion of a local Idaho alumnus, Homer David, a Moscow business man, is expressed in the statement: "I regret very much the possibility of Mr. Calland leaving. He is a very fine gentleman, and has made a marked influence on the student body. I have never seen a man who has had as much influence with the people and men he has come in contact with as Mr. Calland."

ESTABLISH PRIZE FOR BEST DESIGN

Pioneer Memorial Contest
Winners to Win
French Winner

Fifteen dollars as first prize and ten dollars as second prize will be given to the persons who present the best ideas for designs for the Pioneer memorial, according to the Theodore Jan Fritchard, chairman of the memorial committee. The contest opens November 30 and closes January 25.

Congressman Burton L. French has established the prize fund so as to arouse enough interest among the students to get a good design for the monument.

The design must be original. Location for the memorial is optional. Contest is open to anyone, according to Mr. Fritchard. The memorial will be built with stones from the old Ad building.

Name Committee.
Others on the committee besides Chairman Fritchard are Dean J. G. Eldridge, Isaac N. Carter, General Edward R. Chrisman, and Dr. Harold Axtell.

This memorial is dedicated to the early settlers of Idaho when it was still a territory. The fact that the university is the only one in the United States that was founded in a territory prior to its admittance to the union will also be emphasized.

BARTON EXPLAINS STAND ON ATHLETICS

Moscow Alumni Gets Behind Revival Of Idaho Spirit

To the Argonaut:

Alumni downtown praise the program undertaken by the Argonaut to stimulate interest in football and in creating a spirit of "every Idaho man at Idaho."

They feel that much of the success of future Idaho athletic teams rests with the students on the campus today. They feel that if the student body unites itself it can be a force sufficient to bring Idaho athletes to Idaho's university campus.

The time to get down to work on such a program is not next summer, but now. Many students will be going home over Thanksgiving vacation; more will be going home in another month, at Christmas time. Then is when salesmanship will count. By the end of next June most high school graduates will have made up their minds to which institution they are going.

Any student body that desires its athletic representatives to represent them on gridiron and basketball court creditably has the power to make that representation creditable by their own will power to bring and to keep Idaho men here.

Athletic teams represent the student body. Whatever those teams do it is in the name of the student body, and the student body must take the responsibility of answering for those teams. We must expect that the representation always will reflect the satisfaction and the spirit of the student body. If it does not, that reflection can be only temporary, because the student spirit will soon rectify the situation.

If the present group of students want to show their own fighting spirit, the same sort of fighting spirit they expect from their athletic teams, they will start out now and fight for 1933 and 1934 and 1935.

GAME WITH AGGIES THANKSGIVING DAY WILL NOT BE EASY

Jacoby Thinks Vandals Will Have Plenty to Reckon
With in Boise

"If our Idaho players think the game with the Utah Aggies on Thanksgiving day will be just an easy work-out to taper off the season with, they've got another thing coming," reports Assistant Coach Glenn (Red) Jacoby, after scouting the Aggies in their game with Utah university on October 29 at Salt Lake. "Any team that can hold a bunch as high class as the Utah eleven to 16 points has a lot on the ball, and the Vandals will have plenty to reckon with next Thursday."

"Any way you look at it, the dope lines up about equal in the list of past games," equals Head Coach Leo Calland, "and the boys will have to play smart football to beat them."

A glance at the season's record of the Aggies bears out the conclusion of the Vandal mentors. They opened the season against the Idaho Southern Branch, and trounced them 32 to 0. A week later they rolled up a 26 to 0 count against Montana State, conquerors of the University of Montana Grizzlies by the same score that Idaho defeated them.

The University of Colorado handed the Aggies their first defeat, 26 to 7, but Coach Dick Romney's boys came back the next week to trounce Western State, 39 to 0. The 16 to 0 setback at the hands of the Utes is explained by the fact that the university eleven stands in a class all by itself, and has been winning the Mountain conference title with monotonous regularity during the past few years.

Last week, the Aggies established themselves as a real threat for top honors, when they beat the then undefeated conference leader, Colorado Aggies, 13 to 12.

One advantage lies in the Vandal's favor in the coming tangle. While they are recuperating from the epidemic of flu that has landed some of Calland's first stringers in the infirmary, Utah State will be playing Brigham Young university at Provo.

The Vandal coaches took advantage of the warm weather yesterday afternoon to get in some outside practice on defensive play, and for the first time in a week, MacLean field sounded with the thud of heavy impacts as "Red" Jacoby led a mixed bunch of fresh and third string varsity in running Aggie plays against the regulars.

Similar scrimmages are on the docket for tonight and tomorrow morning. The varsity has plenty of work on hand in learning how to stop the deceptive plays that the Aggies rely upon, according to the coaches. The members of the squad not on the arena list worked out under the lights last night to a new record time. Art Spaugy, who has been relieved of his assistant job with the frosh since the season ended, was drafted into the scrimmage that cracked off the Utah plays in the mud.

ANSWERS OPEN LETTER FROM IDAHO STUDENTS

Says Team Is Essential Part Of State
Institutions and Idaho Cannot afford
To Have Losing Squad.

STUDENTS SEE MONEY AS A FACTOR

Suggest That Blue Key Take Over Task of Promoting
Idaho for Idahoans' Idea; Feel That Student
Body is Not Entirely to Blame

To The Argonaut:

I notice that some of the students have failed to get the idea intended in my article of November 12, namely, that the students generally at Idaho do not manifest a sufficiently strong spirit of pride in their university and its product. I based this conclusion on the facts of lack of school spirit before important games and the many examples of a kind of apology expressed by students for having attended here. These expressions are infrequently outspoken and plain, but are well understood by bystanders.

Such cases are difficult to point out definitely, but many there are who have seen them at work. The fact that so many of our high school graduates, athletes as well as just good students otherwise, enter and continue at other institutions outside of the state is a strong argument for the view that we have not acted in a way to engender confidence in our own institutions. Many leave us not because of economic "handouts" from other institutions. Some go because of a desire to serve dad's "clear alamma", many because of strong religious allegiances, and still others because of a feeling of a high social or economic cast that is better served in the swager of "bigger company." A few go, possibly, because of the "quotations on quarterbacks." Much of this can be greatly curtailed.

Sell Idaho on Facts.
This matter of selling Idaho to Idahoans is not one of logic, but rather one of fact, and it is a fact that a losing team makes one doubt high values in such an organization. It might be another fact that even the young men who signed the article appearing in another part of this issue doubt high values for our team. Heaven and all the rest do not doubt the willing and self-sacrificing efforts of our players and coaching staff; but we lack manpower for the schedules proposed.

Now again: It is a fact that human kind can not have a weak anything associated with other factors and escape a contamination for the other factors in some degree. This is technically known as the associative shift procedure in learning. "We are judged by the company we keep"; "birds of a feather flock together" are common expressions exemplifying this procedure. Yes, when we lose we shrink, recoil, withdraw not alone from the team, but from all that has been closely associated with the object of our shrinking.

This is the explanation for no "hefty send off" for the team on taking long trips or just another anticipated defeat, and no concerted reception or the vanquished when they come home to us only to fight on feeling very much alone. Under such circumstances it is not what we say we do or are willing to do, but rather what we represent in almost indescribable facial expression and bodily carriage of weakness and abandon, that does the work. It is a humility that is felt and reacted to with condescension, by the victorious competitor and avoided by those looking on.

Not Too Much.
However, we "wiggle" or otherwise rationalize, these are the facts. We do not show the zest of action in institutional and personal pride that breeds the kind of help that came to Tom Sawyer in the painting of his fence. All I asked the students to do was to stick up their ears, pull in their chins, take the bend out of their middles, take the flop out of their ankles, and wrists, and stick out those chests with such positive in support of Idaho and her institutions that no young man of Idaho would think of "biting his own leg" (This expression might suit some better than the one of "biting the hand that feeds.") by humbling in open competition his highest educational institution and thus reduce the chances for even the Idaho potato or any other Idaho product.

Idaho teams, Idaho institutions, Idaho industries, Idaho people; there is an associative shift here that we might not escape. We must make our team a good one or not have one, if we are to be correctly evaluated all along the line. I did not, by word or implication, assign the raising of money

The details of such a plan as we would like to see the alumni back can not be given in this short space, but certainly if some group, such as Blue Key, would undertake the work, the people of Idaho could be educated to the value of such a scheme. And most assuredly, the students would continue their efforts to bring new material to Idaho, that would give the present coaching staff a chance to smile for once.

The student body is not perfect, but we do not feel that it is to blame for the situation now existing. Our sincere hope is that this discussion may aid in awakening not only the slackers among the alumni and students, but bring everyone to action and a realization that the coaches live in a bed of rose thorns, which can and should be abolished, and not thru the tiresome brand of "kibbitzing" indulged in by the "downtown wolves" and the "fireside quarterbacks."

JOHN T. FARQUHAR,
FRED DRAGER.

"THE HAIRY APE" BY EUGENE O'NEILL TO BE GIVEN SOON

Dramatics Department Considers It Better Than Previous Plays

"The Hairy Ape," one of Eugene O'Neill's most outstanding plays, will be the next dramatic production. It is probably the most unusual play to have been produced on the Idaho campus. It will even surpass "Death Takes a Holiday," which was presented last year, in its sensationalism.

The use of the sea as background seems to be more or less of an obsession with this playwright and his own experiences on the American line is a valuable asset in making this play convincing. The first scene takes place in the stoker room of a large passenger ship. From the beginning Yank's maniacal revolt against what he believes is unjust in the rules of government is prominent. The audience will follow the remarkable and well based growth of this revolt, first in the heart and later in the mind of this great, almost inarticulate brute. And it all arises from the sudden realization that he has inspired horror in a beautiful woman, and is, in actuality, what a fellow-stoker has tauntingly named him--A Hairy Ape.

Likes Fundamentals.
O'Neill has a passionate fondness for fundamentals, and an insistence upon a psychologically possible development or disintegration of character. He carries out these principles in settings and atmospheres which at times seem weird and almost eerie, but are in reality perfectly plausible. In "The Hairy Ape" O'Neill places the responsibility upon three characters, those of Yank, played by Leland Cannon; Paddy, played by Raphael Gibbs, and Long, by Earl Bopp. However, the burden of the play rests upon Yank, whose personality dominates the entire play.

NURSE REPORTS FEWER PATIENTS

Miss Peterson Believes Epidemic Is Nearly Over.

"An average of 40 persons a day in the infirmary last week made it impossible for us to worry about minor details like elections or depressions," Miss Ellen Peterson, head nurse, said yesterday when business began to slow up. "Flu was the main cause, and 3 to 5 days was the average length of stay."

She stated that because of the crowded condition of the infirmary, patients were often dismissed when they had quit running temperatures and there was no danger of infection. The severity of the temperatures left most of the students pale and weak after the attack.

The epidemic is practically over, she believes, but with Dr. W. V. Halverson is asking the co-operation of the students to prevent a recurrence. Suggestions for the guarding against infection were sent out by Dr. Halverson some time ago. Dean Permeal French also talked to the women and to the housemothers in an effort to prevent the further spread of the epidemic.

Monday morning Idaho's coast-renowned Pep band will embark for the southern part of the state, stopping to play good-will programs for high schools along the way and climaxing their trip by playing for the Thanksgiving game with Utah Aggies in Boise.

Along with the programs of the celebrated band before seven high school audiences, a 13-piece orchestra, made up of Pep band men and two additional musicians, will play for three dances to help defray the expenses of the trip.

To Play for Dances.

The band will stay in Boise Monday night and go on the next morning to Twin Falls where they will play at an assembly at the high school. In the evening the dance orchestra will play for the first of their series of dances. Wednesday the band will return to Boise where they will play before the high school assembly. The dance band will play for their second dance at Danceland Wednesday night and make their last appearance Thursday night at the Elks temple.

Other high schools to be covered on the tour include: Lewiston, Nampa, Caldwell, Payette, and Weiser. While the schedule for visiting these schools is not complete at the present time they will be visited either on the journey to Boise or on the return trip to Moscow on Friday.

Members Making Trip.

Members of the band who make the trip are: William Ames, leader; clarinets, Clayton Boyd, Len Exum, Lyle Fraley, William Hudson, Ingard Neilson, and Don Wolfe; trombones, Peter Pence, Samuel Stone and Richard Stanton; trumpets, Charles McConnell, John Cusano, Elburn Pierce, and Frank McAttee; baritone, Dick Edwards; bass horn, Marvin Olsen; drums, Kenneth Kenworthy and Paris Gall.

CLAIR GALE AND WENDALL OLSON WILL ACCOMPANY THE PEP BAND TO PLAY IN THE DANCE ORCHESTRA.

"Scram" Wilson will also make the trip to lead the yells for the game.

PRESIDENT ENTRAINS FOR WASHINGTON

M. G. Neale Will Visit Southern Branch on Return Trip.

President M. G. Neale has been in Washington, D. C. for the past several days. He left on November 9 to attend a meeting of the National Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities. While in Washington he also plans to attend the meeting of the National Association of State Universities.

On the return trip President Neale will spend several days in Pocatello visiting the southern branch of the university located there. He will then make a speech in Boise on November 25 before the Idaho Educational Association. He plans to attend the Thanksgiving day game between the Vandals and the Utah Aggies. THE REASON WHY

From time to time in the past, the Argonaut has attempted to open its columns for expression of student sentiment. Articles have been received this year. They were ignored because they did not stick to facts. The following is an ordinary example.

To The Argonaut:
May I add my nickels worth (or how much am I offered?) to the argument about football?

I should just like to add another reason to the many we already have, why Idaho doesn't have a winning team.

Why aren't some of the fellow given a chance to show what they can do? Just because the coaching staff has never heard of them in high school is no sign that there might not be good material sitting on the benches waiting for a chance. Let us take two examples of the oversight of the coaching department. There was a little fellow named Butch Meeker who came to Idaho, once upon a time, and turned out for football. He was considered too small, so he went to W. S. C. and made good. Another example is Frazier, Gonzaga, who also turned out for football at the University of Idaho, but was rejected because he was too small. You all know what sort of records these two men have made at W. S. C. and Gonzaga—records that might just as well have reflected glory on the Idaho team. It happens that both of these men are quarterbacks and we have three or four good quarterbacks already at Idaho. Just the same, there may be just as good material for other positions turn out at the first of the season who are neglected and undiscovered and finally say, "Aw, what's the use! I'll never get a chance!" and so stop turning out.

We aren't casting any reflections at Coach Leo Calland and his coaching staff because they are all well liked and admired by the students. We only ask that some of the fellows who turn out, and who don't look as promising as others; that these unknown may be given a chance. You never can tell!—You might find a gold mine sitting on the bench.

A. M. S.

The above reference to "Butch" Meeker is correct only in part. Meeker never attempted to enroll at Idaho, but he did go to Seattle when Enoch Bagshaw was coaching the University of Washington. As the story properly goes, he left there because Bagshaw thought him too small and refused to give him a suit.

The second example is that of "Bill" Frazier. He did not stay at the University of Idaho because of academic and financial difficulties. As far as his football efforts here, he received the same consideration given others.

It is obvious that the Argonaut cannot publish half truths which tend to reflect on the coaching staff or the institution as a whole.

In further refutation of the above, the Argonaut challenges the author to find a football player who will present a signed criticism of Idaho's

WHAT PRICE ATHLETES

Following Dr. J. W. Barton's article concerning athletics a new flood of old comment was released. The same old cry has arisen, "Why don't Idaho get some of these boys that come here and then go to other schools?"

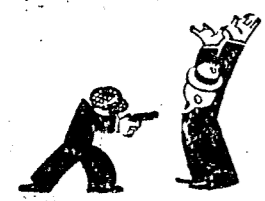

Peterson, Brass, Cuddy, who played at Gonzaga, were said to have wanted to come here. Shields of Oregon State and Berass of the University of Oregon are also mentioned. The list continues without end. Even to the star tackle on the Utah Aggies team.

The answer is simplicity in itself. No jobs. No money. It is unfortunate at Idaho that athletes are not only given jobs, but they are made to work at them, and failing to perform, they are fired.

Regardless of who goes out to secure athletes, the fundamental argument is money and employment. When a certain Spokane athlete was approached by an Idaho representative on his graduation from high school he merely laughed. "Why should I go to Idaho for a board and room job," he asked, "when I can get $90 a month elsewhere?" At that time he was considering offers from three conference schools. The same was true this fall of an Idaho athlete.

Lacking the money to buy athletes, the next best thing to do is to fall in line with Dr. Barton's suggestion and use moral persuasion. It is possible that more jobs might be created by some of those faculty members who "hate so see the boys take it on the chin." According to information most university departments turn back unexpended money into a general fund each year, that could be used to employ students and athletes at work that needs to be done.

Graded greetings—the hit of the day, and to some a perfect knockout.

And then there was the frosh who shouted, "The rain's all over." How true, how true.

Oh yes, and in case you don't know it, this region is noted for its rains—in the spring.

To sum up the last few weeks, rain reigns.

Now that Hell week (the ninth week to you and you) is over, we'll simply be weak as H.

With the end of exams at hand, it looks more and more as though a lot of people have been saving not for a rainy day, but for a "wet" night.

Being in a "moisturous" mood, we can't help but remark that home brew is never unemployed.

Yes my dears, it is working day and night.

What is YOUR RECORD so far?

EVERY undergraduate is judged by his class and campus record. Usually the outstanding men in college are those whose energy springs from a vital, healthy body.

A common enemy of health is constipation. It may cause loss of energy, lack of appetite, sleeplessness.

Try this pleasant "cereal way" to health. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will promote regular habits. ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk," vitamin B, and iron. Ask that it be served at your fraternity house or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's wheat WHEAT Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—real coffee that lets you sleep.

ALLURING EYES ANALYZED
By Would Be Authority

And then in all the ropes slung about there's always the good old gag—"my dear, your eyes are like limpid pools." And what's more, there's always some Idaho co-ed who believes it.

Speaking of eyes—there's Gerry McCarty at the Tri Delt bungalow—sort of the goo-goo type, don't you think? Then Dietrich Dresser at the Alpha Chi house—but we'd suggest just a little lift on the left eyelid, for that exotic effect.

And for the appealing blue eyes, look into Catherine O'Brien's. Just mentioning blue effects, have you noticed those cunning blue buttons our boy Bic is wearing on his hasher's uniform? To name another authority on the proverbial story book blue eyes, we refer you to Frank McKinley.

For the dreamy brown type, we point out the exotic Druding. For pep and vivacity, just watch out for that twinkle in Margaret Moulton's eyes (and it doesn't come from not being able to unlock the door, either).

For true individuality, gaze into the foggy depths of Susie Malcolm's lamps. Mae Belle Donaldson and Jean Ham have such cute naive squints that are sure prey for any enterprising optician.

Anne Walker gives the men the "you're so big and strong and I'm so tired of it all" look. And even the biggest and best will go for it—look at Wiff. Betty Lucas' eyes lost some thier come-hitherness with the loss of those lovely long curls. Jean Ricker seems to think she has Spanish ancestry, but she's too demure to say so. So she just lets her eyes speak for themselves.

Wilene Bennett's eyes are such a help in telling us "how dough heavy daddy is," and "how the campus is just too plebian after good old Montana."

We have been able to let you in on all the dope on eyes and their appeal through the courtesy of the Pan-Hellenic Bobby Felton. So maybe if your practice 'em real hard and use Murine every day, he will say his little speech to you too, about your beautiful eyes. He ought to do it well, he's said it enough.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT NEARS CLIMAX
Women's Volleyball Season Is Now Open; Require Nine Practices.

The semi-finals have been reached in the women's tennis tournament, due to bad weather, according to Helen Thornhill. Vivian Wilson and Helen Thornhill have reached the semi-finals.

The women's volleyball season has been officially opened by Mae Pugh. The season will last six weeks with nine practices required for eligibility for the teams.

A mixer officially closed the soccer season. The sophomores won the biggest percentage of games, the members thus winning 25 additional points towards W. A. A. The senior-sophomore team placed second, and the junior team third.

WOMEN'S RIFLE SEASON STARTS
Initial Match Will Be During First Week in January.

During the past week about 60 women have turned out for rifle practice under the direction of Lieutenant John W. Sheehy. The prospects for a rifle team are very good. Lieutenant Sheehy says that the ability of the team will depend to a large extent on the number of girls from last year's team who compete since skill is not easily acquired. If about 10 women with experience turn out with the remaining number of new women to make 20, a strong team can be expected.

The first match will be during the first week in January and there will be one match a week until March. The challenges and plans for the matches are made ahead of time by letter. The com-

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT HAS GOOD REGISTRATION

Forty freshman women have registered in the home economics department. This is two more than registered last year. There has been a large number of women this year who have transferred over to a home economics major. The senior class is the largest in 12 years, and 19 women will receive their degrees in June.

There are two divisions of the home economics department, general and food and nutrition. In the general division a woman is required to take one and a half years of chemistry, a semester of physics, zoology, sociology, bacteriology, and the state's requirements for an education diploma. In her practice teaching, she is required to teach each of the following units: related arts and science, foods, clothing, and household management. In the food and nutrition major each woman is required to take four years of chemistry, including general, quantitative, and qualitative analysis, organic and biochemistry, a year of economics, sociology, psychology and bacteriology. Each division requires one month of practice cottage. These are all requirements outside of the department. They must also meet the requirements of the junior college.

SPURS WILL SELL PENNANTS AT GAME

Wurster, Varian, and Lucas Will Go to Boise for Thanksgiving Game

Plans for selling Idaho pennants at the game in Boise Thanksgiving day were the main topics of discussion at the Spur meeting held Wednesday noon at the Pi Beta Phi house.

Several hundred small silver and gold pennants have been ordered, and the Spurs voted to send three members down to Boise to attend to the sales. Marjorie Wurster, Spur president, said that she was very hopeful of the results of the plans, as the pennants were unusually attractive and sold with such success at the homecoming game. Those who were voted to make the trip are Marjorie Wurster, Nina Varian and Betty Lucas.

ZELMA MANNING TRIPS INTO PIT
Wednesday evening, Zelma Manning fell into a pit a second after she had warned her companion, Bernice Smith to avoid it. The girls had just left the office of Carl Smith, local fire chief, and were cutting a service station corner when they encountered the car greasing pit.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

THE JUGGERNAUT OF THE JUNGLE
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the famous animal painter, Paul Bransom... inspired by the savage charge of the African rhinoceros crashing through the untamed jungle. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Games Saturday At Berkeley, Stanford vs. California At Los Angeles, Montana vs. UCLA At New York, Oregon State vs. Fordham. WITH ONLY TWO conference games scheduled for tomorrow, interest is centered on Berkeley where California meets Stanford in one of the most bitter traditional feuds on the coast. The game will have no bearing on the title race as both the Bears and the Indians are hopelessly out of the running but it is a "natural." The Berkeley stadium is already sold out at $5.50 a throw which will mean more than $300,000 for the two schools and Uncle Sam to split three ways. The only other conference game is between Montana and the undefeated Bruins of UCLA in Los Angeles. If the Bruins are fortunate enough to get past W. S. C. and Washington after tomorrow's game they can claim the title with U. S. C. for the coast title as they do not meet Howard Jones' Trojans but Southern California did things to Oregon in too convincing a manner Saturday to leave any doubts as to which school has the stronger team. UCLA eked out a 12-7 upset victory over the Oregonians while U. S. C. trimmed the same team plus a couple of stars who did not see action against UCLA by a score of 33 to 0. Oregon State, the only other coast team to play, meets the Fordham Rams, conquerors of New York university and St. Mary's, in New York. The Rams should win this game, but Oregon State has a habit of beating intersectional rivals no matter how they get kicked around on the coast so don't consider it in the bag for the New Yorkers.

By the Way, I seem to remember having heard of P. J. Schissler, Oregon State coach, swearing a mighty oath that if his boys did not beat Oregon this season he was going in search of a school that would appreciate his talents a little more than they were appreciated around Corvallis, Oregon won, 12 to 6, but not a word has P. J. murmured. Maybe he had his fingers crossed.

IT'S OPEN SEASON on the coaches. A coast newspaper hinted recently that from one to three northwest mentors would be elsewhere when next season's campaign opens. The firstie quarterbacks have been doing lots of speculating and your guess is still as good as mine. Schissler, Leo Calland, and Babe Hollingbery, have contracts for a couple of more years and Prink Callison at Oregon, and Jimmy Phelan at Washington all seem to be in pretty solid with the alums just now. Phelan was on the griddle at the first of the season but when the Huskies beat Montana and Stanford and tied Oregon and Washington State the anvil chorus began to peter out.

MEDICAL STUDENTS WILL TAKE TESTS

The annual Medical Aptitude test sponsored by the committee of the Association of American Medical colleges will be given at 2 o'clock the afternoon of December 9th, in Room 309, Science hall. A fee of $1.00 is required from each applicant to defray the expenses of the committee. All students who plan to apply for entrance to Medical school this fall are urged to take this test because approximately 90 per cent of the approved medical schools of the United States use the results of this test as a factor in the selection of their students. This test is given only once each year. Students who plan to take this test will please notify Dr. Stough as once so that an adequate number of these tests may be ordered.

ONE DECADE AGO

Styles for Men. Heavy discussions have been raised as to whether or not the collegians of this campus should take to wearing the flared bottom trousers. Many approve of these so-called "Valentinos", but the real objection of the majority seems to be that the high school students have gotten hold of them first and it would be against the dignity of college men to wear them now.

Co-eds Vocabulary Low Doctor Miller, while recently lecturing to a freshman English class, made the statement that the average college woman of today has a vocabulary of about 800 words.

Idaho Defeated by Gonzaga. Idaho was defeated by Gonzaga university Saturday afternoon at Spokane 14 to 7. The victor of the game was decided by the flip of a coin after Referee Grover Francis of Portland made and changed his decision.

Vandals Return From Long Trip. The Vandals returned yesterday from Pasadena, having completed a gruelling four thousand mile trip which covered a period of thirteen days. The Vandals continued their march into the respect and admiration of the western football world by holding the powerful University of Southern California Trojans to a 14 to 0 victory.

My guess is that if anyone goes it will be Schissler at Oregon State. But if he does, it will cost the Associated Students just $25,000 for his contract and that is a lot of money to spend on a piece of paper. Oregon State's only conference victim this year was Montana but it isn't improbable that O. S. C. will beat Fordham and Detroit U. on their little eastern junk. If this happens Schissler will be King of Corvallis again and the wolf pack will probably take it easy for another year. Leo Calland, is struggling along at Idaho with as little or less material than any school in the conference so there are no squawks being registered except from a few of the rabid grads who'd howl if they had Howard Jones or Thurston, the Magician, on the coaching staff.

HIRING AND FIRING coaches has become such a popular sport that the spectators are beginning to expect it. In some sections of the country, this method of showing resentment toward losing ball games has become so prevalent that it is beginning to take the place of tearing down the goal posts after a game. I saw "The All-American" last night and couldn't ask for more convincing proof that actors can't play football and football players can't act. Among other things, I was more than a little surprised to see the 1931 All-American team coached by none other than "Pop" Warner of Stanford, using the Notre Dame system.

DO YOU KNOW—Colgate and Southern California have each held opponents to seven points for the season? Colgate has scored 243 points while S. C. has hung 144 up on the scoreboard? Michigan, with 120 points for and 13 against, is the leading mid-west contender for national honors, while Brown, another unbeaten and untied eastern team has scored 81 points against opponents 21? Auburn completes the list of unbeaten and untied clubs of national prominence and has scored 179 points to 27 against? Gonzaga has lost only one game by more than one touchdown during the two years that Mike Pecarovich has been head coach at the institution (Washington 19 to 6, 1927-28) J. J. McEwan, formerly of Oregon and more recently head coach at Holy Cross, was suspended for having some harsh words with the trainer during a recent game? The Fordham Rams do not have water carriers or a water wagon? During times out a trainer rushes on the field and sprays the perspiring football team with a contraction strangely akin to a fly tox gun? Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette's dusky thunderbolt who finished second to Eddie Toian in the Olympic 100 and 200 meter dashes, is a water boy for Marquette U and that players on that team probably get faster service than any other team in the country?

Evergreen Boughs Will Decorate Gym At Forester's Ball. Everyone who attend the Foresters' ball Saturday night in the Women's gymnasium will find something new in the way of decorations. John Parker, who is in charge of the decorations, has spent considerable time in planning an entirely new idea. Evergreen boughs will cover the entire gymnasium and the effect will be that of a dense forest. Boughs will form an artificial roof over the Women's gym, floor lamps beside the trees will form the lighting effects. One of the featured decorations will be Paul Bunyan's blue ox. Between each dance, the ox will display the name of the following dance. The foresters' pin will be lighted in one corner of the forest. The pin is a Silver "T" superimposed on a green pine tree. Another feature in the decorations will be a hunting lodge in one corner of the forest. This will serve as a lodge for the patrons and patronesses. The programs are white with the foresters' pin in the center. Stone's six piece band will furnish the music. The dance is scheduled to start at 8:45. The ticket sales have been good and 130 couples are expected. The tickets are being sold by William Featherstone at the Lambda Chi house and Ralph Ahlskog at the Delta Tau Delta house. The admission price will be 75 cents. Lloyd Burnett is general chairman; John Parker, decoration; William Featherstone, tickets; Ralph Ahlskog, programs; and Maurice March is in charge of the furniture. The dance is given annually by the Associated Foresters. In pre-French, Dean and Mrs. F. G. Millcending years the dance has been earlier in November. Patrons and patronesses are: Dean Permeal, J. er, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Spencer; Mr. and Mrs. Art Sowder; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jahn; and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller.

OFFER NEW COURSE IN PIANO TEACHING

Start Practice Class in Piano Instruction for Music Students

A class in normal piano methods has been installed in the music department of the university. This class, which will serve the same purpose for the music student as the practice teaching class serves for the student in education, will enable the students in both the junior and senior divisions of the university to secure the necessary practice in piano teaching under supervision.

For several seasons past the need has been felt by the music department for such a class. This year the desired equipment was made available and the class was organized at the beginning of the semester.

The children to be taught in this class will be selected from the third grade of the public school system, subject to the following qualifications: They must have had no previous instruction in piano; and they will be taught for not more than a year. This year the number of children to be taught is to be limited to six. The class will in no way infringe on the classes of the private teachers in town, and it is the hope of those in the music department that such a class as this will stimulate interest in piano playing among the children of Moscow, as well as to be of inestimable value to those students in the music department who are preparing to teach piano.

ADVISE STUDENTS OF "FLU" SYMPTOMS

"Report to the infirmary at once to get proper attention and care in case of evidence of the flu," warns Dr. J. Harry Einhouse. Flu is very contagious, and patients should not remain in group houses or halls. Dr. Einhouse further states that the flu starts quickly with a cold or a sore throat; irritations in the chest, a cough, fever, chills, or aching pains are other symptoms. Dr. Einhouse's advice to students is to prevent colds by keeping in good physical condition. Proper care is essential in cases of flu, as a relapse is often the result of illness.

"They Click with Me, too"

THE young man is saying the reason he smokes Chesterfields is because they satisfy. The young lady agrees with him. She says: "They click with me, too. I'm not what you'd call a heavy smoker. But even I can tell that they're milder. Besides, I always have a kind of feeling that Chesterfields taste better." She's right. Chesterfields are just as pure and wholesome as Nature and Science can make them. And we have upwards of 90 millions of dollars invested to ensure their mildness and better taste.
