IDAHO DEFEATS UTAH 33-0

NEW DEBATE PLAN MAKES BIG TEAMS FOR BOTH SQUADS

New Plan Gives All Students Chance to Debate With Other Schools

The men's varsity debate squad is composed of thirteen men this year. This is the largest squad in three years and an increase of eight men from last year. "It is hoped," said A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, "that a real debate can be secured for every man who is interested enough to do the work. If transportation for eight men can be secured, four different Idaho teams will have a chance to compete in the triangular debates against Whitman and Washington State college, December 10, in Walla Walla. Otherwise only four men will make the trip.

The triangular debates this year with Washington State and Whitman are an innovation for Idaho teams, at least, and were introduced for purposes of economy as well as affording an opportunity to use more debaters. With this system, each school will debate each other school twice on both the affirmative and negative. This means a total of eight debates in one day for each school or four debates on both sides of the question for each team if only two teams are used.

Use Same System

The women will use the same system in their debates on December third at Pullman. Three teams will probably be used: Jewell Leighton and Mildred Peterson; Mary Axtell, and Ethelyn O'Neill; and Virginia Merrick and Helen Latimore. It is planned to send two women to Oregon on their annual visit to those schools sometime in February.

A traveling team from New Zealand that was to have defeated here this spring has cancelled its tour. Debates are being arranged with the Oregon and Washington schools. "We hope to follow the plan used to a certain extent last year of having varsity men debate before the luncheon clubs, Parent Teachers' Associations, and high schools of nearby towns," said Mr. Whitehead. The University of Washington may do this, but exclusively this year because of a passed into the front court it can radically curtailed debate budget. Local audiences have always manifested an interest in such topics for goal, a jump ball, and out as the activities of the Federal of bounds play or a recovery of the Farm Road, chain stores, and ball from the opposite team. The wage reductions. This year debate penalty for illegally passing the ball on war debt cancellation and ball into the rear court also gives tariff should be as stimulating, the ball to the opposition out of the following men are working bounds:

Calland Names All-Coast Selection; Picks Smith Q. B.

Three Squads Chosen For Star-Mirror By Idaho Mentor; Four Other Idahoans Get Mention

Coach Leo Calland, just before leaving for Boise Tuesday evening, fulfilled a request of The Star-Mirror and selected the outstanding first, second and third "all-coast" eleven, on a basis of the games the players put up against Idaho and their showings against other conference members.

Calland gave the call to one of his own men to fill a key position on the mythical No. 1 team. That call was to Willis Smith, Boise junior and quarterback for the Vandals. Calland placed him at his natural position of signal caller for the first all-coast squad.

Five other Idaho gridgers, all seniors, were placed on the second and third teams by the Idaho mentor. They were Max Eiden of Boise, guard, and John Nordby, Rupert, halfback, and Paul Taylor, Twin Falls, end, on the second team; and Bill Schutte, San Diego, as center and Russell Hall, Filer, tackle, for the third eleven. Two first string places went to

ALUMNUS OBJECTS TO FALSE RUMORS

Denial of "rumors" of professionalism in Columbia athletes, particularly among members of the football squad, is made by Clarence E. Lovejoy, alumni secretary, in a recent issue of The Columbia Alumni News.

Declaring that The Columbia Spectator, campus newspaper, is "essaying the role of crusader," Mr. Lovejoy asserts that the paper has neglected to bring any specific charge and that the reports are apparently related to the charge made by Reed Harris, editor last year, "that probably 80 per cent of the men who play college football in the larger institutions are semi-professional athletes."

The four main "rumors" at Columbia, according to Mr. Lovejoy, are: that football players are paid; that they receive unfairly a preference in obtaining part-time jobs, that scholarships go to them in unreasonably large proportions, and that faculty members favor them to keep them eligible for teams.

BASKETBALL RULE HITS AT STALLING

New Regulation Makes it Necessary to Pass Ball Within 10 Seconds

Stalling in the back court will be a thing of the past if the basketball rule formulated by the basketball rules committee at its last session proves successful this season.

"The new rule will undoubtedly speed up the game and may result in higher scoring," Rich Fox, varsity hoop mentor, commented yesterday. Fox is entirely in favor of the restriction and believes that it will not handicap Idaho in the least as the Vandals use a fast breaking defense. In practice sessions thus far this season the varsity has had little difficulty with the ruling according to Fox.

Must Pass Ball

The regulation makes it necessary for the offensive team to place the ball in the front court within ten seconds or have the ball given to the defensive team out of play. The regulation also gives the offensive team a ten second limit on the back court. As a result of this ruling several Hobson, Claude Marcus, John Far of the conference teams may be quar, Lorin B. Daniels, Markforced to revolutionize their styles felt, Maurice Russel, Carl Waster-of-play. Oregon States especially burg, Charles Lee, William Mer-will be hit by the ruling, as the risk, Branch Walker, Carl Buell, Beavers were masters of the stall-Ralph Gibbs, and Casady Taylor, ing offense.

BOISE GOES WILD OVER VANDAL WIN

Special to The Argonaut
By Paul E. Jones

BOISE, Nov. 24—Willis "Little Giant" Smith scored three times as the Idaho Vandals defeated Utah Agricultural college 33 to 0 here today. The Vandals scored 13 points in the first half and turned the second period into a track meet.

The Utah Aggies threatened to score twice, each time with the ball inside

SPEEDY QUARTERS AND A PASS SNAGGING END

The Utah Aggies learned what speed was when they set out after the flying heels of ball-packers. Boise fans got a look at some home town talent in the person of Willis Smith, left. In the center is George Wilson, Moscow, another of the eight veterans who finished their college gridiron career today. Pete Taylor, Twin Falls, has kept busy for three years, clearing a path through opposing lines for Vandal runners, and snagging passes.

Idaho's five yard line with a first down and 30 yards to go from their own two yard stripe. Four line thrusts on, Idaho's 30 yard line failed to gain. The work of the Idaho line held back the drive of the Utahans. The Aggies uncorked a desperate last quarter passing attack which functioned well, but most of their gains were made in the middle of the field. George Wilson provided the biggest thrill of the game when he returned a punt 65 yards through the Aggies to make a touchdown. Willis Smith was the big star of the Turkey Day game, but the entire Idaho team played errorless football and took advantage of several breaks at the expense of the Aggies. Fumbled ball, intercepted passes, and a blocked kick marked defeat for the invading Utah school. "Mouse" Nelson, Aggie quarterback and Vranes, Aggies center were the outstanding players for the losers. Nelson was marked for his deadly and accurate passes, and Vrane for his defensive work.

The entire town of Boise went wild with enthusiasm after the Vandal victory. The Idaho Pep Band took charge of the town after the game, with headquarters in the Owyhee hotel, in fact the whole town has gone nuts.

VANDAL VETS WHO HAVE PLAYED LAST GAME

Here is a trio of Vandals who played their last football game under the silver and gold banner today. All three are lettermen who have played three years under Coach Leo Calland. Bill Schutte is the stocky center on the left who hails from San Diego. Mel Sackett, Twin Falls, never handled the ball except on passes, but his blocking had a lot to do with the long runs of the Idaho midget quarters. June Hanford, Los Angeles, has played both at end and half back during his three years on the varsity, and has done good work at both positions.

TEXAS PROFESSOR SERVES AS WITNESS

An exact mathematical calculation regarding the angle of incidence of the moon's rays was admitted in testimony at a district court trial here, but failed to acquit the purse snatcher in whose favor it resulted.

Miss Pearl Favors identified Walter Toyne as a man who took her purse from her on the run. She said she saw him by the light of the moon. Dr. P. L. Batchelder, professor of mathematics at the University of Texas, testified the moon was shining, but at an angle of 30 degrees, whereas a 60 degree was necessary to illuminate the spot.

Nevertheless a jury gave Toyne a two-year sentence.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI INSTALLS AT W. S. C.

Local Business Fraternity Becomes National Honorary at Pullman

Beta Lambda the 52 chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi, professional honorary in commerce, was installed at Pullman last Saturday afternoon. The chapter was formerly Delta Sigma, a business local. With the aid of the Idaho Alpha Kappa and Dr. Gordon Cadish, director of business from Washington State college, the petition to the national was accepted. This honorary was founded at New York University, in the school of commerce October 5, 1904.

Fifteen of the active members of the chapter helped install this chapter. Nineteen members, including three faculty members were initiated. Harry Silke, Pacific Coast district councillor from Los Angeles aided in the ceremony. Rho chapter from the University of Washington sent two members, Russel A. Roach, deputy councillor, and F. M. Stanley, president.

Hold Banquet

After the installation ceremony at the Masonic Temple in Pullman, a banquet was held at the Washington hotel. Wylie Smith, president of that chapter presided at the banquet.

The chapter at Idaho was installed in 1923, making it the 23 chapter in the United States. This chapter now ranks fourth according to national rating.

"DOUG" CORDON

This driving Vandal fullback met up with an old teammate in the person of Gordon Dixon, Utah Aggie half. They played together on the same eleven back in 1927-28 at Ashton high school. Dixon chose the Utah school, and Cordon after attending Ricks college, came to Idaho to study pre-med.

ABANDON TRADITION

The all-university circus, a campus tradition at Northwestern University for 25 years, this week had been abandoned at least for the present year—by its sponsors, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

Financial considerations and objections of townspeople to noisy concessions, such as a merry-go-round, ferris wheel and whip rides, caused the abandonment, it was stated.

HAIRY APE ROLE DOMINANT IN PLAY BY GREAT WRITER

The Part of Yank Taken By Lee Cannon Is Large Role

Interest mounts each week as the appearance of "The Hairy Ape," one of O'Neill's best known plays, approaches. The plot itself is not complicated, while the theme of the story and the study of the character furnish the weight of the show. The stem of the entire production is the adept psychological study of the working of a man's mind.

Leland Cannon carries a heavy role, the part of Yank. His character dominates the entire play; is indeed, the play itself. The swift changes, the animalistic thought sequences of this great, brute-like creature, who can hardly be called a man, are accurate and well founded. Stranger yet, but after all only a part of O'Neill's excellent technique, is the fact that the audience understands Yank's character perfectly, and although perhaps disagreeing with certain elements of the story, has, at the end of the show, no hard feelings or antagonism against this great brute of a man.

With the stage settings and scenery in the capable hands of Mr. Pritchard, who is being assisted by Eugene Perrine, the show gives promise of two very successful performances.

PROCTOR GETS JOB IS OFF FOR INDIES

Ted Turner Receives Master's Degree at Columbia University

Ted Turner, proctor of men here for several years, will sail from New York for the Dutch East Indies to take charge of the educational system maintained by the Standard Oil company for its employees' children.

Mr. Turner left here two years ago for Columbia University where he took his masters degree and earned a scholarship there which enabled him to study for his doctorate. The offer of the Standard Oil company seemed too good to miss, so he is leaving his work at Columbia University to accept it.

Well Known Here

Mr. Turner was a major in education and the social science. He is well remembered by the older students and faculty members for his work among men students here. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

A. T. O. TROUNCES SIGMA NU IN FINAL

Sigma Nu and A. T. O. Lead In Intramural "B" League

Sigma Nus defeated the Phi ing by a 16 to 13 score. The vic-the A.T.O.'s as stated in a previous issue of the Argonaut.

The A.T.O.'s in return defeated the Sigma Nus Wednesday evening by a 16 to 13 score. The victory of the A.T.O.'s gives them another chance to meet the Sigma Nus in the finals of the B league. The unexpected appearance and stellar playing of Frank McKinley as the other half of the A.T.O.'s battery proved too much for the previously undefeated Sigma Nu team. Jarlett and McKinley formed the battery for the A.T.O.'s and Naslund and Shawver for the Sigma Nus.

The Kappa Sigs will meet the Fijis in the finals of the A league Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Following this game the Sigma Nus will meet the A.T.O.'s in the finals of the B league. The winners of these games will meet Tuesday at 7:00 o'clock and play the first game for the campus championship. The championship will go to the team winning the first two out of three games that will be played next week.
