Mystery Women Tells Sordid Story of Her Sorrowful Life

Idaho's Foremost Nominee for Hall of Fame Is Daughter of Noble Swedish Family

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following is an autobiography of the Mystery Woman, who is in the lead for the Hall of Fame contest.

This morning as the odor of ham and eggs frying drifted into my bedroom, it brought back memories of the first futile years of my life. The first 15 years of my life was spent on a New England farm, near the present city of Boston. It was in the humble log cabin on that picturesque farm, that I first remember seeing the light of day. In fact I was born there.

My parents were hard working, honest, and religious people. My father, his name I am not allowed to reveal at this time, was a member of prominent family of Swedish sailors. My mother was the youngest daughter of a poor French dressmaker, her father died when she was a baby.

My parents first met when my mother was the star of a chorus in a Paris show. My father became infatuated with my mother and 10 days later they were deeply in love, and three months later they were married. My Swedish grandparents disliked the romance so much that they cut off my poor father without a dime. But his love for my mother was more valuable than any amount of coin. So he "hooked" my mothers presents and his watch and they came to the United States and started a pineapple ranch in Massachusetts.

After losing the pineapples for three years, due to the cold winters, my parents started to raise Christmas trees.

They grew very well-to-do with the Christmas tree racket. By this time I was six years old. I learned two languages at home, French and Swedish and a little English. My dear mother was my tutor, and all of the reading and writing I learned came from her. I have picked up a vast knowledge of other things from other sources since that time.

It was a spring day in August when I met Dick. He was so tall and handsome that I fell deeply in love with him. Had I only known how I was soon grow to hate his viscera.

To make an interesting story short I ran away with Dick, who was a traveling salesman, when I was 15 years old.

Three months later I found myself alone in the cold and dreary city of New York. I was hungry and cold. What chance has a girl in that big city? What was I to do? I did the thing that almost any pretty young girl would do. I went to the Salvation Army Protective home. It was there that I learned to dance, and a year later I was the leading lady in one of George White's Scenars.

About a year from that day I came to another store in the pathway to purity and fame. It happened in the apartment of a wealthy New York broker. He filled a bathtub with sparkling wine and dared me to swim in the liquor. What was an uninformed girl to do—I did swim in the wine.

Three weeks later I was attending school up the river from New York. There I was approached by sororities and honoraries, but I had learned from others. I graduated last spring from the college on the Hudson in home economics. I spent the past summer directing calories at the Atlanta branch of the university, but the urge of the outdoors got me.

I came to Idaho to major in forestry so that I might return home and help my father in his Christmas tree business. He is getting old and gray by this time.

If I am elected to the Hall of Fame I will try and do my best to represent the women of the University of Idaho.

FORMER STUDENTS GET YALE DEGREES

Dr. Clyde M. Hill of the graduate school at Yale university reports that Willard Price and Miss Helen Kersey formerly of Idaho have done very superior work for their doctorate degrees.

Mr. Price received his doctor's degree in June of last year and will be superintendent of one of the city schools in Connecticut this coming year.

ORATORIO WILL BE OFFERED IN APRIL

First Rehearsal Draws 50 Voices to Give "Stabat Mater"

A group of about 50 voices began rehearsing at the auditorium last night for the oratorio, (Stabat Mater) which will be presented in April under the direction of Carleton Cummings of the department of music.

"Stabat Mater, an oratorio of operatic style, contains many beautiful solos, duets, quartets as well as selections by the entire chorus and is the most tuneful of all the oratorios," remarked Prof. Cummings. The solo parts in the oratorio will be sung by four graduating students, who have been outstanding in their vocal attainments. The soprano solos will be sung by Louise Morley, the contralto by Agnes Ramsdell, the tenor by Elvon Hampton and the bass by Erwin Tomlinson.

Room for Several. Although enough voices responded to the turnout last night to give the oratorio in good style, Professor Cummings states that there is still room for two or three more tenors and basses for any men interested.

Each year the music department sponsors an oratorio which is open to any students on the campus who wish to turn out. Last year the (Messiah) by Handel was offered. Rehearsals for (Stabat Mater) will be held every Monday night from 8 to 9 in the auditorium, and sectional rehearsals from 4 to 5 on Wednesdays at the music hall. Those participating in the presentation will receive one hour of credit.

TO GIVE STUDENTS ANOTHER CHANCE TO BUY ANNUALS

Will Sell 1933 Gems Next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday

"Another chance to buy the 1933 Gem will be afforded the students of the university Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week," said Clive Johnson, business manager. This special clean-up campaign is being conducted primarily to accommodate the students who live away from the campus and therefore were not included in the house groups.

The contract blanks will also be distributed to the houses again so that all the new students and those who were unable to take advantage of the offer before, may buy a Gem on the new plan introduced two weeks ago. This plan makes it possible for one to obtain a yearbook by transferring an amount equal to the price of the book from his general deposit to the Gem of the Mountains. Such a scheme was devised by Frank Stanton, bursar, and Johnson.

"We feel," continued Johnson, "that many students desirous of obtaining a yearbook have not had the opportunity to do so. It is for these persons that this last three-day drive is being conducted so that we can get the absolute total number of books needed before placing the orders for covers and other materials next week.

The staff was pleased with the hearty response that the students accorded the new sales plan of a few weeks ago. Over five hundred copies were sold on this plan in the first campaign, and it is expected that an additional three hundred will be sold in the second drive. If good cooperation is obtained from the students and this goal is reached a substantial reduction in price may be made on the space allotted to the group houses," continued Johnson.

CORVALLIS MEETING PUT OFF UNTIL APRIL

The Intercollegiate Knight convention which was to have been held in February at Corvallis, Oregon, has been postponed until the first part of April. One official delegate and probably nine others will be sent from this chapter.

Plans for the convention have not been arranged but within the next month arrangements convention will be known.

NOTICE!

Individual's grades by groups will be placed in the hall of the Administration building as soon as they are compiled by the registrar's office. Grades are not being given out at the dean's offices. A notice will be placed in the Argonaut when the grades are available.

LOS ANGELES CLUB GIVES IDAHO MAN EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Marion P. Betty Is Elected President of Los Angeles Lawyer's Club

Marion P. Betty, Idaho graduate and former Rupert attorney, has just been elected president of the Los Angeles club of Los Angeles, an organization which he helped to found, and which in three years has become one of the most widely known legal organizations in the west, dispatches from the coast say.

Mr. Betty, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Betty, now residing in Rupert, was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1910. He took graduate work at the University of California and later taught law in Loyola and South western universities.

He has been practicing in Los Angeles for about ten years. While in Rupert, he was the partner of H. V. Creason.

Played Football Here. Betty, while attending Idaho, played on the football team. Activities of the Lawyers' club, known as a militant and progressive organization, include investigation of a so-called (Receivership Racket) which resulted in the recall of three superior court judges and federal prosecution of nine persons, instigation of a fight to abolish the trust deed as security for a loan on real property, speeding up of the court calendar through various reforms and other progressive movements.

For two years, Betty has been floor leader of his club's delegation to the State Bar convention and at the last session in Coronado, the Associated Press dispatches credited the club with being "in control of the convention."

LITTLE ENGLISHMAN SEEKS NEW NAMES FOR HIS FLOWER

Thomas R. Ashlee, University Greenhouse Man Wants Titles

Thomas R. Ashlee, peppery little Englishman in charge of the university greenhouses, is searching for names. He wants sonorous scientific titles for new varieties of a flower he has developed—nothing like Anthony, John or May.

Not many students on the liberal arts side of the campus know Mr. Ashlee, much less that he was trained at the famous Kew Gardens in London. Less than a week after he arrived on the campus in 1927, he crossed a variety of Hippeastrum he found in the greenhouse with a pollen plant belonging to Dr. F. W. Gail. The next week Dr. Gail's plant was stolen, but the cross from his pollen is now a thing of beauty, orchid-like in its varied coloring.

New Flowers Bloom. When Mr. Ashlee made the cross he set to work definite and complex laws of genetics, that branch of biology dealing with heredity and variation. Four years elapsed, but those laws were still working. Last winter the first few flowers of the new variety bloomed, and a few days ago they finally came into their own, filling one of the greenhouses with vivid color.

Leading horticultural journals this spring will describe the new varieties scientifically. Mr. Ashlee calls them tri-specific hybrids, a cross between a hybrid and a species. Florida crotons, and a few inches across, two to four on each stem. They range from 15 to 30 inches in height. The new varieties are almost double the size of the original parent plant, and a species. The flowers are in shades of red, rose, coral, pink, and geranium pink, and are blended with the general over coloring of scarlet and scarlet red.

Mr. Ashlee's interests are not confined to new plants. He is also a paleobotanist and such, has made a detailed study of the plants which grew in Latah county millions of years ago. He collected more than 1000 fossils which occur in strata approximately 300 feet below the campus, and donated the valuable collection to the university.

DR. G. M. MILLER GOES TO SPOKANE

Takes Group to Hear Bishop of Calgary.

Doctor George Morey Miller left for Spokane Sunday to take a group of students and teachers who are interested in the Episcopal church to hear the bishop of Calgary speak at the Cathedral in Spokane.

Dr. Miller will also confer with Mr. Harry Lantry whom the English club is planning to bring to the university this month. Mr. Lantry, announcer over KHQ is an entertaining speaker.

IDAHO TO DEBATE GONZAGA FRIDAY

Mark Felt and Maurice Russell Will Represent University

Resolved: that all inter-governmental war debts should be cancelled, will be the subject of a debate between the forensic teams of the University of Idaho and Gonzaga university here at 8 o'clock Friday evening, February the 10th.

Idaho will be represented in the debate by Mark Felt and Maurice Russell, announced A. E. Whitehead, assistant professor of English and coach of the team. Gonzaga's team will consist of Ralph R. Gilby and A. J. Albi.

Meet Strong Team. The Idaho team will have a fine chance to prove their ability in this meet if advance information from the Spokane school is correct. Albi, a sophomore, won the gold medal for debate at Gonzaga high school and Gilby, a junior and pre-law student, was a debater at Washington university, Washington, D. C.

The place at which the meet will be held has not yet been determined, but it is hoped that the L. D. S. auditorium can be secured.

INSTRUCTORS GIVE INTERESTING TALKS AT CLUB BANQUET

Two very interesting and instructive talks were given by W. E. Shull, assistant professor of entomology, and R. A. Diettert, assistant professor of botany at a dinner meeting of Xi Sigma Pi, national forestry honorary, held in the Blue Bucket inn, Friday evening.

Professor Shull's lecture was entitled, "Insects in Their Role as Food or Trout." He exhibited a number of charts and tables describing the diet of fish at different stages in their growth and at different times of the year.

Chart Is Useful. "Such a chart would be very valuable to fishermen," said Professor Shull. By consulting the table before selecting your bait it should be easy to catch your fish.

Professor Diettert's talk, "Mycorrhizas," dealt with small fungus growths which attack the roots of plants. In explaining the nature of the mycorrhiza, Professor Diettert discussed three theories which have been advanced concerning them.

"The first theory is that the mycorrhiza is a parasite to the plant upon whose roots it feeds," he said. "The second is that the plant is the parasite and gains its nourishment from the fungus. The final theory of note is that a mutual benefit relationship exists between the fungus and the plant root."

Beside the twenty members of the honorary, two guests, Virgil Moss and Paul Talich, both graduate students in the school of forestry, were present.

OREGON EDUCATORS FACE SALARY CUT

A heavy cut in salaries is in prospect for employees of Oregon's five institutions of higher learning for the years of 1933 and 1934. With $265,000, to be cut from the budget, almost all of this will be slashed from salaries. The total operating expenses, after several cuts are to be $833,000 less than for the years of 1930 and 1931.

Salaries are to be cut on a sliding scale. The first thousand dollars will be cut 9 per cent, the second thousand 14 per cent, third thousand 20 per cent, the fourth thousand 25 per cent and all above four thousands 27 per cent. All salaries had previously been cut 5 to 15 per cent on a sliding scale.

Research and home economics, will be reduced, and only the essential courses will be retained. As a result more than 200 employees will find themselves out of work.

HAROLD ENSINGER PRESENTS RECITAL

Bassoon Concert Will Be Given Sunday in the Auditorium

Something new in the way of music recitals is to be offered to the students of the university Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium when Harold Ensinger of the music department presents his bassoon recital.

The bassoon is one of the most unusual instruments of the orchestra, and yet it has a very beautiful tone and is an excellent solo instrument.

Extensive Study. Mr. Ensinger has studied the bassoon for a number of years and has played in some outstanding orchestras of this country. He graduated from the music department of Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington, Illinois, and he is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. He also holds the degree of master of music, from the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

This is Mr. Ensinger's first year at the university. He teaches several of the music courses offered in the university.

STUDENTS COIN OWN LANGUAGE

Yet They Manage to Understand Each Other.

"Get in gear, you dumb-squawks, and let's amble. The heifers are having hisses to cruise out to the jig for a bender."

And thus the (studies) are sneaking and inventing their own language "with a hey nonny-nony and a hol-cha-cha," while members of the English department of the University of Colorado and other institutions throughout the country are tearing their hair in an effort to increase the students' vocabularies. At least, as one professor of English at the University of Colorado remarked, "They seem to understand each other."

Here are a few of the more popular expressions found on the average campus:

For salutations: how's your face, and how ya doing. For parties: binges and benders. For women: heifers, bims and fluffs. For that inebriated condition: looped, embalmed, iced, oiled, high and tight. For flattering the professors: banana-burnishing, getting next to the gent and appropositing. For spooning: pitching woo, co-edding, tangling and playing house. For hysterics: hisses. For goodbye: keep tidy.

PLAQUE DEDICATED TO HARVARD DEAD

Honor Students Who Died in the German Army.

Plans for placing a permanent plaque, honoring three Harvard students who died while serving with the German army during the World war, in the new Harvard Memorial church were announced recently.

Climaxing a long controversy, the Harvard corporation, which controls the memorial, authorized the immediate display of a cardboard plaque, reading in Latin: "Harvard university does not forget her sons." This later will be replaced with a permanent tablet, it was announced.

PRIZES FOR BEARDS

Luxuriant bristling beards were the order of the day at the recent "Riveters' Raffle" held at Purdue university under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. The main event of the evening was a (Beaver) contest in which the men with the best beard won the prizes. The judges were members of Mortar Board and the judging was accomplished by "feelin' the crop."

The criterion of a good college newspaper is the quality of the columns. We know that everyone turns to the columns in the Argonaut to see what dirty remarks are made about their dearest enemies. We have only this comment to make, if the columnists are as bad as their columns, may the gods have mercy on their souls.

Babylon I call its desolation is a sight not so awful as that of the human mind in ruins.—Scrope Davies.

MEETING CONDEMNS STUDENT ELECTIONS

Highly Organized Campus Politics Causes Research Work.

Devices in use at many universities for the control of student elections, such as the capturing and destroying of ballot boxes, were brought to the front during a four-day meeting of the National Student Federation of America in convention at New Orleans during the Christmas holidays.

Other methods disclosed were the throwing of explosive chemicals in the ballot boxes and the removal with chemicals of the mercurochrome stains dabbed on each voter's thumb to prevent re-voting.

In a great number of the 94 institutions represented at the eighth annual congress of the federation campus politics are highly organized into party structures delegates revealed. They claimed several hundred dollars are spent each year at certain schools for political advertising, rallies and the printing of tickets and platforms during campus elections.

STUDENT SUGGESTS NOVEL WAGE PLAN

Youth Finds That Work Interferes With Studies.

Some law firm which wishes the service of a promising young college graduate free for five years after his graduation from the University of Texas had better step up and page M. J. B.

M. J. B., as the student prefers to have himself known for the time being, is a 21-year-old student at Texarkana Junior college. He is an honor student, a member of the student council and a football player. So far he has been working his own way through college. He finds this is detrimental to his studies.

So he has worked out a plan whereby anyone who will give him the $3,000 he estimates he will need to go through the University of Texas can have his services free of charge for the first five years after he receives his legal degree.

IDAHO GRAD GETS CALIFORNIA POST

M. E. Mushlitz, graduate of the University of Idaho with the class of 1924, has been appointed principal of the Ventura, Calif., junior high school, according to word received here. Mr. Mushlitz' home was in Troy.

He was advanced from the position of vice principal to succeed B. M. George, who died recently. Mr. Mushlitz has an M. A. degree from Stanford university and also took graduate work at Idaho. Before going to Ventura he was for three years superintendent of schools at Genesee.

NOTICE!

Meeting of all classes for elections Thursday, February 9, at 7:00 p. m. Classes will meet in the following rooms: Freshman—Auditorium; Sophomores—Science 110; Juniors—Ad 311; Seniors—Science 29.

EDUCATOR INSISTS ON PAYING PENALTY

Professor, Arranged on Traffic Charge, Refuses Leniency

Court Clerk I. J. Rubin suggested a continuance might be arranged in a traffic charge against Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwest-ern university.

"Absolutely not," said the head of the university's political science department. "Anyone who has heard me lecture knows I condemn the inefficiency of American city government. One of its chief faults is the ease with which many persons fix arrest slips. I insist on pleading guilty and paying a proper fine."

He laid down $3 and walked out.

START REHEARSALS TONIGHT FOR NEXT ALL-COLLEGE SHOW

"Much Ado About Nothing" Will Be Given March Tenth

Rehearsals start tonight for "Much Ado About Nothing," to be given March 10 and 11. It will be the first Shakespearean play to be presented on the campus since 1927.

At that time "Twelfth Night" was shown under the direction of Mr. John H. Cushman. Professor Fred C. Blanchard plans to produce this play in true modern spirit, making it a thing of color and humor. Only the costumes and sets will be of Shakespearean period design.

Well Known Comedy "Much Ado About Nothing" is probably one of Shakespeare's best known comedies. The parts of Beatrice and Benedick are famous heroines. The name of Benedick has entered into our own vocabulary, becoming Benedict, and the interpretation is given by Don Pedro in one of the last lines of the play, when he speaks of "Benedick, the married man."

Shakespeare's plays are among the first in popularity on the modern stage and those of two small class are present financial successes of the theater. In the play to be produced on this campus one finds lines as light in wit and humor as those of any contemporary comedian.

List of Players: Don Pedro, Leland Cannon; Don John, Casady Taylor; Claudio, Howard Alnow; Benedick, Clayne Robison; Leonato, Winger Janssen; Antonio, Robert Herrick; Balthasar, Frank Bovey; Conrad, Lloyd Riutcel; Borachio, Earl Bopp; Friar Francis, Edwin Ostroot; Dogberry, Raphael Gibbs; a messenger, Glenn Exum; Hero, Naomi Randall; Beatrice, Alberta Bergh and Katherine Brandt; Margaret, Jessie Hutchinson and Jean Ricker; Ursula, Maude Harris and Margaret Moulton. The part of Verger and those of two watchmen are as yet unassigned. The women's roles are being double cast, and are not definitely assigned as yet.

The costumes are being designed by Miss Marion Featherstone. The number of the cast will necessitate the making and re-making of 25 costumes. There will be four or five sets, as unit sets are used, which makes possible quicker and more efficient changes. These are being designed by Mr. T. J. Pritchard.

COMET B TEAM DEFEATS TROY

The Comet B basketball team defeated the Troy independents 19 to 18 in a close game played at Troy Saturday night. The score seasawed throughout, first one team leading and then the other. Scoring was well distributed throughout the Comet five and Christie Troy, was high point man with eight counters. The Comet lineup was as follows: Atwood (3), Driskill (6), Lenke (4), forwards; Smith, center; Luce (4), H. Witter (2), guards.

SIGNS DECREE IN ANDERSON ESTATE

Decree of final distribution in the Louis Anderson estate was signed by Probate Judge L. G. Peterson upon petition of Joseph P. Anderson, the administrator.

SCHOOL PLANS UNIQUE MACHINE

Earthquakes Reproduced in Laboratory by Machinery.

Made-to-order earthquakes can now be produced. With the development of a 6,000-pound vibrating table in the Stanford university mechanical engineering laboratory, experts are able to create on small scale the effects of natural tremors.

So far, the large table, which resembles a flat car, can only shake to and fro. Engineers working with Dr. Lydik S. Jacobsen, associate professor of mechanical engineering, are planning to produce sideway shocks.

The object of this earthquake (factory) is to test the shock resistance of various structures, in order that more may be learned of the force of real earth disturbances on such heavy constructions as office buildings, dams and bridges. From these experiments engineers hope to devise methods of improving present quake-proof architecture.

Held in place by a heavy steel spring, the table receives severe impacts from a 1000-pound pendulum while miniature structures, somewhat like the framework of a skyscraper, are placed upon it. With the aid of a high-speed movie camera it is possible to observe where the models suffer the worst strain. Thus it can be determined where buildings would be most likely to collapse and where reinforcements are most needed.

FRATERNITY HOUSE FIRE SOON CHECKED

Fire broke out at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning at the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity house, 616 South Jefferson street, causing some damage to the basement, kitchen and upstairs bathroom. The blaze was believed started by attempts to thaw out frozen water pipes in the basement with a blow torch.

The fire crept up an outside wall and filled the house with smoke. The loss is covered by insurance. Only chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze.

Independents Beat Elk River Five For Second Time

Moscow Independents took a 26 to 19 victory off Elk River Athletic club at Elk River Saturday night. The game was heavily in Moscow's favor at the end of the half, 18 to 9, but the home-town boys put up a strong finish in the second period.

Ed Morgan at center was high for the Independents with 8 points on four baskets. He was followed by Harold Frel with six. Sunny Frazier, while not making the scoring column, played a fast floor game.

EDITOR ADVOCATES CHANGE IN POLICY

Free Athletics Form Nucleus of Reorganization in Student Gov't

Reorganization of the associated student government at the University of Oregon was recently proposed by the editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald, Richard Nueberger, who took for his keynote the provision whereby students were not to be charged for university athletic events.

Coming on top of this proposal is the report of the successful working of a similar plan in operation at the University of Florida.

Athletic Events Free. The plan, embodied as a constitutional provision, states that a scrip book be issued to each and every student which shall entitle the holder to admission, without any additional charge to any athletic event in the state participated in by representatives of the university. This includes varsity, freshman, or other representatives.

To put teeth in this provision, it is further provided that should an additional charge be made and a refund refused, the appropriation to the athletic association from student body fees shall be cancelled. The association is permitted to charge additional amounts at the gate, but must later refund this extra charge.

Campus Activities Allotments. The total student activities fee for the year is $23.60. From this fixed allotments are made to the various endeavors.

Groups benefiting from this fee are the athletic association, debating club, yearbook council, student paper, the yearbook, student handbook, literary societies, glee club and intramural athletics. An allotment is also made to a reserve emergency fund.

DEPUTY ASSESSORS AT WORK VALUING COUNTY PROPERTY

Three deputies working for Walter Q. Taylor, Latah county assessor, in different districts of the county are assessing all real property. The deputies are Robert Emmett, F. S. Smith, and Axel Samuelson. Emmett is working in the district which includes all of the county south of Moscow. F. S. Smith is assessing all of the real property north of Viola, and Axel Samuelson is working on all the

Annual Blue Key Dance Will Feature Week End

The annual Blue Key dance, to be held next Saturday evening at the Alpha Tau Omega house, is the main social attraction of the coming weekend. The upperclassmen of Kappa Kappa Gamma were hostesses last Saturday evening at a formal dinner dance at their chapter house.

The calendar for social events on the campus for last weekend and the coming Friday and Saturday nights has shown few dances, because of the semester examinations and the time taken in getting registered for the coming semester. A number of informal dances were presented to the calendar committee yesterday, including a formal dance and informal and initiation dances to be held in the next few weeks.

PLEDGES WILL ENTERTAIN AT BLUE KEY DANCE

One feature of the Blue Key dance at the Alpha Tau Omega house Saturday evening will be a stunt to be given by the pledges. Initiation of pledges will be held in the afternoon preceding the dance. Jack Mitchell, in charge of arrangements for the dance and Clive Johnson is his assistant. Patrons and patronesses will be: Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Janssen.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA ENTERTAINS AT FORMAL

Yellow tapers and flowers were used for decorations on the tables and in the dancing rooms at the formal dinner dance at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house last Saturday evening, at which the upper-class members were hostesses. Patrons and patronesses were: Mrs. Lenore Scott, Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, Dean and Mrs. William H. Masterston, and Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton Howard.

Guests included: Carl von Ende, Robert Harris, Donald Harris, Dan Morgan, John Peacock, Leavitt Craven, Robert Herrick, Howard Johns, Smith Miller, Ray Weston, George Barclay, Raymond Davison, Melvin Stewart, and Charles Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Papeah and daughter Beulah of Kellogg were guests of Doris Papeah at the Delta Gamma house on Sunday. Beulah is a member of Delta Gamma. She was graduated from the university in 1930.

Mrs. Charles Maguire of Spokane spent the week end visiting her daughter, Virginia Lee Maguire, at the Gamma Phi Beta house. Virginia Lee returned to her home with her mother Sunday, as she has completed her work at the university.

Mary Jane Pais, Eleanor Stuart, and Eleanor Martin were guests of Kappa Alpha Theta Sunday evening at an informal fireside. Beta Theta Pi announces the pledging of Robert Denton of Kimberly, Idaho.

Irene Parrot, a pledge of Kappa Alpha Theta, has returned to schools for second semester. Phi Delta Theta announces the pledging of Bernard Luvaas, Moscow.

Lois Boomer was a dinner guest of Gamma Phi Beta Sunday. Mrs. Verna Campbell was a dinner guest of Delta Gamma Sunday.

Phi Gamma Delta announces the pledging of Ronald Hersey, Lenore.

FAREWELL TO ARMS
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
The memory of this poignantly tragic love story of Ernest Hemingway's, laid amidst the brutal futility of the World War, is one that will linger for many days. Helen Hayes, a nurse, falls in love with Gary Cooper, an American who has enlisted in the Italian army. Torn between love and duty, Gary returns to the front, and Helen to a tiny Swiss village to await the coming of their child. Sensing her peril, Gary deserts, fighting and dragging his way back to her. He arrives a few minutes before she dies while amidst bells ring about them. The scenes showing the retreat of the Italian army after the great defeat at Caporetto are especially magnificent.

THE MUMMY
Thursday, Friday, Saturday
Prepare to thrill and shiver when Boris Karloff, as an Egyptian mummy brought to life, stalks through reels of gruesome horror. Buried alive, 3700 years before for having loved a priestess, Zita Johann, the mummy attempts to bring back to life his lost love, only to find her soul in a modern young woman. David Manners, Bramwell Fletcher and Arthur Byron complete the cast.

Iowa State college has installed 20 radio controlled clocks at various points on the campus in an effort to get the students to class on time.

PEP BAND SHOW FEATURES TRIO

As a feature of one of the acts in the Pep Band show to be given next April, a trio of women's voices will be presented. This is the first attempt to offer a trio from one of the group houses on the campus. Tryouts will be held next week and the results will be announced later. The trio will be presented in conjunction with a trio of male voices which will also be chosen from those organized by the group houses. A special act will be reserved for the trios. They will be accompanied by the Pep Band orchestra.

NEW POINT SYSTEM BEING CONSIDERED

W. A. A. Will Vote on Raising Requirements for Sweater Awards

Women's Athletic association will elect officers at the next regular meeting February 14. The following officers have been nominated:

All new women eligible by earning 100 points will be pledged to W. A. A. The end of the volleyball season has made it possible for many women to earn the required number of points, and the keeping of a health chart has greatly contributed to the number of points.

The new point system will be voted on at the regular meeting. It has been suggested that the standard for earning an "I" sweater be 1000 points instead of 800, and 1800 points for an "II" sweater be required in place of the 1600 now required. The addition of a major sport, soccer, and of a minor sport, golf, has greatly facilitated earning points. In order to maintain the standard for a sweater or a blanket the point system should be raised.

WOMEN ATHLETES WELCOME WINTER

Co-eds Earn W. A. A. Points by Coasting and Skating.

The days of real sports have been revived for the women on the campus. W. A. A. points as an excuse as well as a reward. For fifteen hours of coasting or skating, or both, co-ed athletes receive 11 points toward W. A. A. membership, or if they are already members, they are added to their points toward a sweater or blanket. The hill on University avenue is the favorite place for coasting and ice rink on the tennis courts is the official place for skating.

FRESHMAN GLEE SCHEDULED SOON

All College Students Invited; Will Be Mixer.

Sophomores and upperclassmen are invited to the freshman glee to be held Wednesday March 1. The dance will be in the form of a mixer. A sport idea will be carried out in the decorations according to Lois Davies, chairman of the decoration committee. Clair Gale's orchestra will furnish the music.

APPEARANCE COUNTS

According to observations made by Professor H. W. Miklos, head of the psychology department at the University of Wichita, girls with personality, rather than brains are most likely to succeed.

"Psychology has determined by actual experiment that success depends 85 per cent upon personality and only 15 per cent on brains," he said.

The CO-ED MANNEQUIN

Simplicity reigns again and after a season of exaggerated femininity and puffs and ruffles — it is greatly appreciated. The smart English influence that was apparent in the swagger suit of last fall, will again prevail in spring sport clothes. Sleeves and skirts are made on very severe and straight lines and the clever co-ed will fasten her coat at the neck and let it hang loosely and belted to knee or hem length.

An appropriate hat for such a costume is the soft felt pictured below, worn slightly forward over the eyebrows.

(A) students are good bluffers, but all good bluffers aren't (A) students, according to a number of professors on the University of Washington campus. And strange as it may seem, these same professors don't disapprove of bluffing as much as one might think.

"I encourage my students to bluff," Professor Edward McMahon of the history department stated emphatically, "and if they're made of the right stuff they'll do it."

"I've always found that an (A) student will have enough nerve and presence of mind to bluff his way through a tight situation, whereas a (D) or (C) student will fall miserably," he added. "The men do it more than the girls, probably because they are the less shy."

Professor E. H. Eby of the English department agreed with Professor McMahon on the subject of bluffing.

"Everyone has to bluff sooner or later in life," he said, "and college is a good place to learn how to do it. Naturally, the (A) student is able to adapt himself to a difficult situation more quickly than others and is, therefore, the best bluffer."

BEAVERS AID THE TRICKI WALKED

AND THE OREGON STATE BEAVERS did the trick! Walked the great University of Washington Huskies twice in succession on the Huskies' own floor to throw the northern division conference race wide open once again. The percentage column looks a bit different than it did a week ago. The league leading Huskies have been dropped to third place, while Oregon State leaped to first for the time being. And the W. S. C. Cougars playing no games last week, remain in second position with the breakers ahead. Idaho in fourth place has lost but one more game than each of the three teams above her in the percentage column.

What a race this has turned out to be. Wonder what the boys who clambered upon the Washington bandwagon a month ago are doing now? The Huskies are not out of the race at all, but their position is far from being as secure as it was a week ago. Oregon State, leading the league at present and with but six more games to play, is in the more favorable position to cop the flag.

However, as we declined a month ago to hand the pennant to Washington despite her splendid start, so do we now refuse to concede the game to Oregon State at this writing—nor to anyone else, either. In this, the greatest basketball campaign in recent years, anyone of four clubs has a chance to finish at the top, and Idaho's chances are almost as good as the next man's.

Oregon State has what appears on paper to be the easiest route. The Beavers have four games to play with the lowly University of Oregon Ducks, and two with Idaho at Corvallis. These are not likely to be as easy as they sound. Oregon has been on or near the bottom of these heaps before, but such insignificant matters as hope and percentage have never yet prevented the Ducks from rising up from noplacement and smacking down their beloved state rivals. And they are never more likely to do the stunt than at such times when it is bound to prove most embarrassing for Oregon State. On paper, the Beavers should take Oregon for four straight games. The first of these is Tuesday night. Our guess is that the Beavers will be lucky to win three of the four games.

Then they must get over Idaho next week. Unless the Beavers are a much improved ball club since their appearance in Moscow last month, they will have their odorous overalls full of trouble when the Vandals hit Corvallis. While the dope will favor Oregon State when they entertain Idaho in their own gym, it cannot be denied that the Vandals have improved just about 50 per cent since they dropped those two close ones to the Beavers up here. Allowing then that the Beavers may drop one game to Oregon and one of two to Idaho, their final average will be 11 wins and 5 defeats. And should they drop two games to Oregon out of the four, and perhaps drop both games to Idaho next week, their final standing will read: 9 wins and 7 defeats. The Beavers had better win every game left on their schedule if they want to catch the flag.

Against this, Washington has eight games to play. Whereas, Oregon State is all through with the battling Cougars this year, Washington has four games yet to play with them, two in Pullman and two at Seattle. And while the Huskies will probably take both games from W. S. C. at Seattle, they will in turn be fortunate to win one of the two set-tos at Pullman. Besides four games with Washington State, the Huskies must meet the Vandals over here twice and Oregon twice at Seattle. Assuming they will handle Oregon with little trouble, what will they do against Idaho over here? An even break in the two games is a fair lunch. On such a "paper" basis, the Huskies will finish with 11 games won and five lost—right about where Oregon State may finish in the percentage sheet.

The Cougars have seven battles left four with Washington as stated, and three with Idaho. Optimistic Vandal followers insist that Idaho will take all three of the W. S. C. games. Perhaps the recent 40 to 20 decision has gone to their heads a little. The campus branch of the Downtown Coaches Association, being more conservative by nature, has predicted that Idaho will take only two of the remaining three Vandal-Cougar clashes. An even more logical estimate is that the Cougars will probably take two of the three games from Idaho, making it an even split for the season. On this basis, plus the Cougars' expected loss of three games to Washington, Friell's men would end the season's play with 9 wins and 7 defeats, or thereabouts.

Idaho to finish up anywhere among the chosen few on March 4, will have to play errorless basketball in the remaining nine games. If the Vandals win one and lose two against W. S. C., take two from Oregon at Eugene, and split even with both Washington here and Oregon State at Corvallis, they will wind up with an even 500 percentage with 8 wins and 8 losses. If they can take an extra game from Washington State, they'll have won 9 and lost 7 games. And, if they can take both Washington games their final average will be won 10 and lost 6!

After taking another stiff snort, let's assume that the boys will take Oregon State twice at Corvallis instead of dividing the two games there. How do we look then? Well—we've won 11 and lost but 5 games, which will be as high a percentage as any club will have at the end of this race. However, that's a pretty tough assignment to hand the Vandals. The point simply is that a game or two either way will boot one team out of first place and push another team or teams into the lead. That's how close the finish may be. And—the more times Washington, Oregon State and W. S. C. knock each other around in the meantime, the better Idaho's chances will be for a one-two finish, provided of course that the Vandals win the majority of their remaining games. If the other clubs should happen to divide up their remaining games among each other, a simple win 10 and lose 6 finish by Idaho would be quite sufficient to win the title.

But, we are not predicting what will happen! We choose only to point out what can take place! The Vandals are right in position now to fool the wiseguys, if the other clubs behave themselves.

FROSH HOOPSTERS LOSE TO W. S. C.

Cougars Yearlings Win 31-29 Decision at Pullman Saturday

The Vandal frosh dropped a 31-29 decision to the Cougar yearlings last Saturday at Pullman in a hoop game that took an extra five minutes to determine the winner. The Cougar Babes left the floor at half time with a 16-9 lead, but when the timer rang the bell at the end of the second half the score was knotted, 23-23. With the score tied at 23, and with less than a minute to play in the extra five-minute period, Kimble, Cougar guard, converted a one hand shot from the side.

The inability of the Idaho squad to make their fast-breaking offense click may be attributed as the cause for the defeat. In the second half the yearlings snapped out of their daze enough to outscore the Cougars but were unable to nose out a victory in the overtime stanza.

Geraghty Stands Out. Geraghty, forward, played the steadiest brand of ball for the Vandal frosh, while Kimble, because of his shorpphooting, stood out in the Cougar lineup, tallying 15 points for high scoring honors. Geraghty took second honors with 11 tallies and Fix, Cougar forward, was third high with 9 points.

This week the teams will play here Friday afternoon and at Pullman Saturday afternoon.

VANDALS DEFEAT GONZAGA'S TEAM

Bulldogs Offer Little Opposition to Idaho Five Friday

The Gonzaga Bulldogs offered little opposition to Coach Rich Fox's Vandal reserves, and went down by a 55 to 19 score last Friday at the Memorial gymnasium. Pete Wicks, regular forward, was the only first-stringer in the Idaho lineup and no substitutions were made during the entire game.

The Idaho hoopers took turns scoring right from the start, and rolled up 10 counters before J. Van Sistine, Bulldog center, hit the ring for Gonzaga's first tally.

At the half, Idaho was leading 22 to 12. The remainder of the game saw the Vandal sharpshooters swarming through the Gonzaga defense for repeated short shots. Wicks and Warner, forwards, and Thompson, center, led the scoring with six field goals each. Wicks was high man with the addition of three free tosses for a total of 15. Rowles led the scoring for the losers with two field goals and two free throws for a total of six.

CALL INVESTIGATION

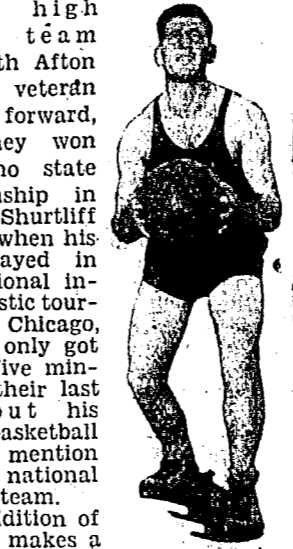

Reported irregularities in the management of the Stanford bookstore recently were the subjects of a student investigation. Charles Karl, student manager of the store, said he welcomed the investigation "to give the bookstore an opportunity to vindicate itself."

NEW PLAYER SEEN IN VANDAL LINEUP

Wes Shurtliff, Letterman of 1930 Squad, Becomes Eligible

A new face was in the starting lineup against Montana last Saturday. It belonged to Wes Shurtliff, stocky letterman of the 1930 Vandal team, who returned to school last fall, and became eligible at the semester.

Shurtliff has played lots of basketball under the tutelage of Coach Fox. He was a member of Fox's school high school team along with Afton Barrett, veteran Vandal forward, when they won the Idaho state championship in 1927. Shurtliff was sick when his team played in the national interscholastic tourney at Chicago, and so only got to play five minutes of their last game, but his stellar basketball won him mention in the national all-star team.

Shurtliff, letterman on the Idaho squad. Coach Rich Fox has not decided just where he will use Shurtliff, but intimated that it might be in either the guard or forward positions, as he works well in both.

O. S. C. BEAVERS WIN TWO FROM HUSKIES

Wins Put Gillmen Ahead in Conference Race for Coast Title

Coach Slat's Gilly's Oregon State Beavers threw a jolt into the title-seeking hopes of Hec Edmundson and his Husky crew last week end by trouncing them in two straight games, 33 to 29, and 32 to 26 at the Washington pavilion.

Lanky Ed Lewis, O. S. C. center, was the hero of both encounters scoring 11 counters in the first and 13 in the second.

Oregon Ahead. In the first game, Washington got off to a strong start with a six-point lead, but Lenchtitsky, Beaver guard, finally tallied and the Beavers were leading 17 to 14 at the half.

After trailing 15 to 11 at the half in the second game, the Beavers came back strong, and finally won with a six-point lead. The victory puts Oregon State ahead of Washington in the conference championship race.

VANDALS TROUNCE GRIZZLIES 62-30

Idaho's Entire Squad Saw Action in One-Sided Contest

The Idaho Vandals kept their basketball slate clean for the week end by extending the scoring spree of Friday's Gonzaga game over to the next night, trouncing the Montana Grizzlies 62 to 30.

Ed Lacy, sharpshooting guard, replaced Wicks as the chief scoring threat, and piled up a total of 15 points before being replaced in the middle of the second half. Afton Barrett followed in second place with 13 counters.

Starts Reserves. Coach Rich Fox started his regular first string except for Wes Shurtliff, a letterman from the 1930 Vandal squad, who became eligible at the semester. The entire Vandal squad saw action in the one-sided contest.

The game started out rather dully, and nothing of particular brilliance marked the contest. Although Idaho went into the lead at the start and was never headed, the Vandal players missed repeated (set)ps or the score might have been larger.

Calls on Reserves. The score at the half was 22 to 14. The reserves replaced the regulars on the Idaho five in the last minutes and continued to rain in baskets for a total of 40 counters for the last period's score.

Coach A. J. Lewanowski used every member of his Grizzly squad in attempting to check the Idaho scoring. Heller, center, and Erickson, forward, divided scoring honors for the visitors with seven points each.

O.s and Ridenbaugh was tied at 16 all and only 3 seconds left to play when the A. T. O.s ran in Hunt for Jarlett whose first and only shot went into the net as the timer blew the final whistle.

Lineups: Phi Gamma Delta—Thompson, Ward, forwards; Elliot, center; Inman and Renfrew, guards.
