

VANDALS SPLIT GAMES WITH OREGON WEBFEET

Idaho Wins First Contest 38-32 and Loses Second 34-30; Robertson, Oregon, and Lacy Are High Scorers

The Idaho Vandals split their two-game series with Oregon last week-end at Eugene, winning the first 38 to 32, and dropping the second, 34 to 30.

The Webfeet win Saturday night gave the occupants their first conference victory of the season, and broke the Foxmen's string of four straight wins.

After fighting the Vandals on even terms for three-quarters of the Friday's game, the Webfeet dropped their tenth successive conference contest by a 38 to 32 count, when their offensive temporarily stalled.

Idaho Wins, 38-32

After fighting the Vandals on even terms for three-quarters of the Friday's game, the Webfeet dropped their tenth successive conference contest by a 38 to 32 count, when their offensive temporarily stalled.

Coach Bill Reinhart's men started the game with a rush that landed them on top with a 12 to 3 score before the Vandals could find themselves. Trailing by 9 points, Hurley and Wicks finally found the basket from a distance, and brought the Idaho score to 9, before Oregon could tally again.

Idaho took the lead for the first time at 15-14, and a basket from both sides left them ahead at the half with the score 17 to 16.

Robertson Scores

Jack Robertson, Duck forward, started off the second half by sinking a long shot. There followed a wild ten minutes in which the lead changed hands six times. Neither team scored more than one basket in succession. With the period half game, the score was deadlocked at 26 all.

Then the Foxmen rained in baskets to put them in front of a 33 to 26 score. Robertson finally dropped two long ones, but the Vandals continued the barrage, and with a 38 to 32 lead, stalled the final two minutes.

Robertson and Lacy Star

Jack Robertson took scoring honors for the game with five field goals and four throws for a total of 14 points. Ed Lacy was outstanding for the Vandals with 11 points to his credit. Wicks and Hurley followed with 8 each.

Referee—Ralph Coleman, Corvallis.

Oregon 34, Idaho 30

Red-headed Cap Roberts broke loose again on a scoring rampage Saturday night, and led his Ducks to their first conference win of the season at the Vandals' expense. The final score was 34 to 30.

The winners took a 10 to 7 lead early in the game. Then the lead see-sawed, and Oregon emerged on top at the half stop, 18 to 16.

Cap. Roberts

At the start of the second half, the Webfoot cut loose with a renewed offensive that did not stop until the score was 31 to 18 in their favor. The Vandals answered that with a scoring spree that netted them 12 points while Oregon was getting three. The gun ended the rally before Idaho could overtake the winners' lead.

The game was just as rough as the second game of the Oregon-Idaho series at Moscow, two weeks ago. A total of thirty fouls were called by Referee Ralph Coleman, and three players were put out of the game on personals, with just as many on the 3-foul border line.

NEW CAMPUS KING CONTESTANT PULLS UP LAGGING VOTES

Wesley Nock Runs Other Contestants Close Race For Title

By Marthalene Tanner

Wesley Nock, a newcomer in the contest, is running other contestants a close race for the title of campus king. John Farquhar, who at the last counting took second place, has now dropped down to third. And John has given the contest some good publicity in his column too. Con Gillespie rated fourth place in this counting. Lee Parkinson still maintains the largest number of votes.

People organizing campaigns for these men should be very careful hereafter not to leave any secret messages to other managers in their campaigns, as it is disconcerting to find the "inside dope" along with the ballots. A message intended for (A) at the Kappa Sig house was erroneously dropped into the box with a bundle of ballots carefully held together by a rubber band, all for the same person. We surmise that the Kappa Sig has their fingers in the pie to say nothing of other houses.

Qualifications Are Necessary

Mortar Board made known the specific qualifications which were enumerated on the ballots by which the men entered the contest would be judged. The group feels therefore that it may reserve the right to disqualify any man not possessing these required qualifications. If the students are unaware of "the assets or liabilities" of the contestants that is their misfortune. Every person, you understand, must be eligible for the office. We shall not give you in this article an enumeration of the candidates' characters, personalities, intelligence ratings, appearance or activities. You are no doubt already aware of them.

As usual, a few other men received some votes. This time, we have a vote for Wilson Bundy and a couple for Harry McCoy. Frank McKinley comes through again with his personality and activities. Don Harris rates on intelligence, and (AP) Berg on appearance and personality, while Clive Johnson gets one for personality.

That's all 'til Friday.

FJIS-SIGMA NUS WIN LAST NIGHT

Lambda Chi and Phi Delta Take It on the Chin in 'Mural Play'

Notwithstanding the fact that the Sigma Nu and Phi Gamma Delta teams were the evening's intramural basketball team hung up an outstanding record for the evening by playing an entire game without scoring a single field goal.

Thompson proved the star in the opening game by scoring four points, all on four throws, which was his team's total score. The Phi Gamma Delta team, while checking the Lambda Chis, ran up their own score to 29. The half-time score was 14 to 2 and the final was 29 to 4.

Sigma Nu Wins

The Sigma Nu team took a surprisingly easy contest from Phi Delta Theta by a 24 to 8 score. The close checking of the Sigma Nu team featured this game. Wayne Hill, Sigma Nu guard, and Bill Williams, Phi Delta forward, were the individual stars for their respective teams.

Technocracy Hope of Economic World Today

Is technocracy the hope of the economic world today? This is one of the questions which will be discussed in Christian economics, a new course in religious education, Dr. Carl D. Wells, said at the first meeting of the class held at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. The course will meet regularly at this time in the Holbrook memorial classroom at the Chi Alpha Pi house.

"The study of current material on modern trends in economic theories should give the students a background that will enable them to understand and evaluate these theories," said Doctor Wells. He plans to obtain outside speakers who are qualified to present their opinions on modern economic theories.

May Form Scheme

"After building up our ideals by these methods, we may be able to formulate a practical scheme that could be applied to a local unit such as Moscow or the state of Idaho," Doctor Wells declared.

Besides this non-credit course, two others are offered for the first time this semester. These are special teachings of Jesus and the prophets and comparative religions. In the first course, Doctor Wells aims to show how social teachings of the Bible may be applied to problems of modern society. Comparative religion is a course offered to give the students a chance to study all religions impartially.

DEBATE DECISION FAVORS GONZAGA FORENSICS TEAM

Claude Marcus, Law Student Here Judges Meet Friday

The decision in the Idaho-Gonzaga debate which was held Friday, was in favor of Gonzaga. The question was "Resolved: that all inter-governmental war debts should be cancelled." R. R. Cully and A. J. Albi debated for Gonzaga, and Maurice Russell for Gonzaga. Both sophomores, represented Idaho. The debate was judged by Claude Marcus, a law student here who is also working on debate.

Rather Weird

A. E. Whitehead, Idaho debate coach, in commenting on the debate performance, said it was "rather weird" and that there was not much of a clash between teams. Different points of the question were not answered directly, and issues were evaded. Although the argument was not strong, many of the points presented were interesting.

Next in Spokane

A return debate with Gonzaga is scheduled for February 20 in Spokane. The Idaho representatives have not been chosen, but will be taken from the group of 12 debaters which Professor Whitehead has trained. Permanent teams will not be selected this year, since the coach believes that this new policy of giving all who have ability and are interested a chance to compete is much superior to training just a few students. Every debater in the group is prepared to take either side of the question.

STUDENTS TODAY LABOR HARDER

College students of today work 20 times as hard as students of 40 years ago when he was a Princeton undergraduate. Booth Tarkington, one of America's best known present day authors, said in an article written for Tarkington at Princeton recently. Tarkington was graduated with the Princeton class of '93.

"The Princeton student of today," he said, "works twenty times as much as we did when we were in college and when we come back to Princeton in after years it almost seems as if he works too much. I think perhaps we were happier, graver and more cheerful than the undergraduates of today, but this was because we were lazier. We enjoyed ourselves more."

"Princeton men today have a much saner attitude toward things than we did, and the undergraduates are much more widely read. The alumni of recent years regard Princeton as synonymous with the thought of hard work."

STUDENT PARDONED

Kimble K. Kennedy, Louisiana State university student convicted of criminal libel two years ago for his manner of editing the Whangdoodle, a campus scandal sheet, was pardoned from a one-year prison sentence recently by Gov. Allen, Louisiana. Kennedy served only a few days of his term.

FORTY CENTS PER PERSON IS PRICE OF ANNUAL DANCE

Mortar Board Makes Final Arrangements for Annual Skip

In the last issue of the Argonaut it was stated that the price of the Spinsters skip would be 40 cents, which would make it appear that the price is to be 40 cents a couple. The admission for the Skip skip is 40 cents a person.

Mortar Board members met Friday at the music hall to complete arrangements for this dance. The programs will go on sale in the women's houses either Wednesday or Thursday. Spinsters have offered to sell the programs in their own houses.

Plans were also made for a party which this group will give on Thursday night for all university women who are not affiliated with any organization. This affair will be a fireside and will be held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house from 8:30 until 10 o'clock. House presidents of the women's houses will assist Mortar Board in entertaining and serving guests. An interesting program is being planned to be presented during the evening. Ellen Jack is to be chairman of this party. Invitations have been issued.

The first of March Mortar Board plans to honor all freshman women who have received high scholarship for the first semester. A party will be given for them at the home of Mrs. M. G. Neale. This has not been done in previous years, but the group feels that these women deserve some little courtesy for their efforts.

Plans are also under way for the Fashion Tea which Mortar Board will give for the first time in the first of April. If winter weather continues the Fashion Tea will necessarily have to be delayed. The Tea probably will be held at Hays Hall as it was last year. All the new spring styles will be shown, and the best of the women will be chosen to model. Bridge will be played during the afternoon and refreshments will be served at the close of the showing. Music and entertainment will complete the program. Marthalene Tanner will make arrangements for this showing.

It will be held in the auditorium, and men and women from out of town have been asked to judge the contest. Admission for the event will be 10 cents.

BASSOON CONCERT IS UNUSUAL EVENT

Recital by Harold Ensinger Shows High Quality

The bassoon concert given by Harold Ensinger of the music department Sunday afternoon was probably the first of its kind to be presented at where in this part of the country.

The audience was enthusiastic. The recital was a revelation to many people as to the range and tone quality of the bassoon. The instrument has both a wide range of tone quality and beauty of tone.

The exceptional brilliance of Edward Finch, A. T. O., was the high light of the evening's playing. Delta Delta Delta playing the same hands as the Alpha Tau Omega team made only 2550 points to the 4660 points piled up by the top men.

FIGHTING VANDALS FALL BEFORE O.S.C. BARRAGE, 46 TO 26

Beavers Cash In On Idaho Personal Fouls; Grenier Stars

(Special to Argonaut)

By George Baldwin

The hard-fighting University of Idaho Vandals put up a desperate battle here last night against the conference-leading Oregon State basketball quintet, but wilted under a barrage of baskets by Captain Lewis Taylor and O'Connell to succumb to a 46 to 26 defeat.

Coach Fox's red-clad five did its best work in the first half, which ended with Oregon State ahead 19 to 9.

Many Penalties

In their eagerness to overcome the Orangenemen, Idaho players suffered severely from penalties, being called for a total of 14 personal fouls, which the Orangenemen cashed in for 12 points.

Howard Grenier, Idaho's mammoth center, played his usual great game, getting the tip-off from Lewis a great deal of the time, as well as leading his teammates in the scoring column.

Hurley Scores First

With the game early underway, Hurley took a long pass from Grenier, and put the Vandals in the lead for a short time. A long basket by MacDonald tied the score, and until the closing minutes of the opening period, the Orangenemen were held well in check.

Hurley played a great game, holding the high-scoring Lewis to 490 baskets, until removed from the game on personal fouls.

Defense Weakens

After the terrific play of the first half, the Idaho quintet showed the effects of the tough series with Oregon, and began to weaken on its defense. Coach Fox tried to stem the Orange tide in the second half by frequent substitutions, but his men were unable to cope with the well-rested Orangenemen.

Several long shots by Barrett kept the Beavers worried.

CALIFORNIA MEN RECEIVE PRAISE

Harvard Professor Wonders at the Dirty Corps.

Characterizing University of California men as "the man promising lot of youngsters I've met in any college," Prof. Deane W. Mott of Harvard university recently inquired if they ever washed their (corduroy trousers).

"We in the eastern colleges seldom see informal clothes like that on our campus," he remarked, in a brief respite from interviewing students who wished to enter Harvard. "But what we care about at Cambridge is not how a man looks, but how he thinks."

"California men leave their cords at home when they come east, and the only way they are different from other students is that they are an exceptionally brilliant group. The 22 university alumni who are enrolled in the graduate school of business administration at the present time," he asserted, "will soon have a decided effect on west coast business."

With Sprintime Comes Pneumonia

By Evelyn McMillan

Someone is going to have pneumonia this spring. Someone always has pneumonia when the first damp winds begin to blow, when the snow melts into puddles on the sidewalks and streams in the gutters, when the sun is really bright for the first day in six weeks. Someone always has pneumonia in the spring because nearly everyone has a cold.

Spring affects everyone alike. The first thing everyone does on a damp spring morning is to open the window so that sunshine and the warm wind may come in. The moist, fresh air is delightful. No one thinks about preventing drafts. Goggles go into the closet, and coats are left open. The whole world goes for a walk that starts out beautifully in warm afternoon sunshine, but ends a bit dismally in the cold raw air after the sun goes down about four o'clock.

Catching cold is almost always the result of excessive evaporation from the skin due to drafts of air. The drafts make the blood vessels contract, and that contraction causes congestion in another part of the body. This disturbs the whole equilibrium of the blood vessels and gives the micro-organism that causes colds a splendid chance. Damp, chill, or fatigue speed up the process.

But only a few precautions are necessary to ward off these colds that lead to pneumonia. Wear goggles when it rains or thaws. Stay out of drafts when the windows are open. Wear winter clothing if you have to be out before eleven in the morning or after three in the afternoon. Keep coats buttoned against deceivingly soft spring air. Put on a jacket when you go out to work in the first warm sunshine of the year. Don't walk in the rain, and then wear the wet clothing about.

Why not take precautions? Nobody wants pneumonia.

College Students Do Not Think

By Evelyn McMillan

College students are mistaken if they believe they learn to think independently after they come to college. Their ideas change, it is true. They learn a new philosophy of life. But they do not learn by thinking independently. By the very nature of the present educational system they cannot learn to think.

Students bring with them from home a more or less traditional belief in the God they learned about in Sunday-school. Their mothers taught them to say "Now I Lay Me" when they were very small and since they stopped saying that every night they have stopped thinking about God or religion. But they have the old beliefs.

They exchange these, usually, for the teachings in behavioristic psychology. They don't question these new beliefs either. It's too much trouble. They are next subjected to a course or two in philosophy. Here they lose the idea that ethics are a simple matter of right and wrong. As many theories of ethics are introduced to them as there have been independent thinkers. The student's memorizes the theories to reproduce them in an examination. Occasionally they recite a favorite one at the dinner table. They have acquired a new philosophy of life.

They have, however, had as little to do with forming this philosophy as they had with the forming of the one they got from their mothers and Sunday-school. This new philosophy, also, is handed to them ready made.

They have memorized it to reproduce it in quizzes. They have heard it all over and over. Teachers lecture about it. Students talk about it. Only outlaws or freaks dare or bother to think anything else. Students are as far from independent thought as they were when they came to the university. Many times they are farther.

Students blame professors for this lack of original thought. They say professors do not like students who think for themselves. Professors complain that students refuse ever to attempt to think. Neither accusation is just. Certainly neither accusation will help the students to think for themselves. The situation is probably due to two factors. Most students do not want to take the trouble to think for themselves. The colleges try to educate too many people, thus bringing in a large class who could not think if they wanted to.

One thing is encouraging. The second hand philosophies that students acquire at college are, in most cases, the product of clearer thinking minds than were the philosophies they brought with them.

Norman Brokenshire Tunes Up Radio Stars for the New Year

Six nights a week—every day except Sunday—at 9 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, stars of comedy, music and song will come through the Columbia Broadcasting system over the largest coast-to-coast hook-up in radio.
Tom Howard and his partner, George Shelton are new to the other ways. An exclusive find, they are reported to have turned down some attractive stage offers, including one with (Of Thee I Sing), for an opportunity to present a new comedy-team idea on the radio. Theater goes all over the world are familiar with Howard's famous comedy sketch (The Star) introduced in the Greenwich Village Follies of 1928. It subsequently won the New York critics award as the best comedy sketch of the year and was translated into many languages. In the past years the famous comedian's time has been filled to capacity with stage and movie productions.

and he was finally persuaded to carry his inimitable drolleries into the realm of radio. The team of Howard and Shelton will be on every Tuesday and Friday. An added feature on those two nights will be Elizabeth Barthel, novelty singer in special vocal numbers.
Ruth Eiting who as Chicago's (Sweetheart of the Air) rose via Zigfield's follies and other stage successes to be America's (Queen of the Air), continues singing those heart-throb ballads for Chesterfield fans on Mondays and Thursdays. It was her voice, listeners will recall, that made (Ten Cents a Dance) a nation-wide hit over night.
Bing Crosby, who seems to conquer all fields of popular entertainment, takes over the Chesterfield microphone on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The romantic hit of his latest triumphs were in Hollywood where he starred in the (Big Broadcast) and other pictures. Crosby's Brunswick recording of the song (Please) from that movie outsold all other Brunswick records during the month of October, and for the past nine months Crosby's recordings have been the best sellers among individual vocalists.

A nightly feature of Chesterfield's stellar series is Lennie Hayton's orchestra. Hayton is another discovery—one of Broadway's younger successes. Under Chesterfield's sponsorship Hayton makes his first appearances as a star conductor, well qualified by his experience as former assistant conductor for Paul Whiteman and musical arranger and accompanist for various radio and stage headliners.
Norman Brokenshire, popular master of ceremonies, promises the year's outstanding fifteen-minute shows to his thousands of followers. "Like Chesterfield," says Brokenshire, "this new line-up is sure going to satisfy."

Green Bay Packers Defeat All-Star California Team.

Southern Californians who like their college football, watched in amazement recently as the Green Bay Packers, professional team put on a remarkable exhibition of passing to defeat an all-star eleven 19 to 6 before 10,000 persons.

The invaders tossed passes with abandon, with one Arnold Herber doing most of the throwing. Two of the three touchdowns which came one each in the first three periods, were directly the result of forward tosses.

Trees without branches were found in the Samoa Islands by Dr. W. A. Setchell, chairman of the University of California botany department. He also found a plant that makes hair stand on end; another that is used to stupefy fish, and a third that smells exactly like very old Roquefort cheese.

The extra Chaucer class will meet in Dr. G. M. Miller's office Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. This class is being offered by Dr. Miller for those students who are not able to take the course at the regular time. It is a required course for English majors. At this meeting hours for other classes will be definitely determined.

BEARS DEFEAT INDEPENDENTS

The high school and the Independent basketball teams tangled Saturday afternoon in a practice game for both quintets, the high school boys taking the long end of a 57 to 34 score.

Moscow went into a commanding lead at the start, running the first half count to 26 to 10 largely in the basket shooting of Woody Hall, center, who bagged seven field goals in the first half.

All contacts must be not more than 6 inches above the shin. Shin guards are optional equipment. If your partner remarks, "Who in Hell dealt this mess?" you are not to bid under any circumstances. To say, "I faw daown and go boom." indicates a little slam. "Boom-Boom" indicates a grand slam. About this point, your opponents will probably be able to tear a deck of cards into quarters, but think nothing of it.

TWENTY ONE TEAMS MATCH THEIR WITS

Independents Enter Bridge Match; Alpha Phi Withdraws

The Argonaut bridge tournament started last night at the Blue Bucket inn with the first four teams playing their best for a place on the ladder to the finals. Delta Delta Delta, a late entry in the contest filled in for Alpha Phi, who withdrew yesterday.

Charles Scroggin and Felix Garbon, independents have entered the contest as independents, and Alpha Chi placed Jayne Jones and Helen Kearns in the tournament as their entries.

The list of entries is now 21. The independent teams will probably draw for an opponent to play Saturday afternoon.

The playing schedule for the next three nights follows: Tuesday—Delta Gamma vs Delta Tau Delta and Gamma Phi Beta vs Hays Hall.

Wednesday—Kappa Kappa Gamma vs Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta vs Phi Gamma Delta.

Thursday—Pi Beta Phi vs Ridenbaugh hall and Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs Sigma Chi.

Referees for tonight's play will be Mrs. Lenore Scott and Mr. Harold Boyer.

Last night there was a large crowd of kibitzers at the games.

STUDENT IS HOMESICK

Did you ever hear of anyone becoming homesick when he was home? That's what happened to Edward Bagley, a sophomore, when he left the university at the end of last semester to go home to Caldwell, intending to continue his college career at the College of Idaho. However, after three days he got homesick for his alma mater and now he's back again. "It's great to be back," he says.

Few Dances This Week; Spinster's Skip Is Soon

Last weekend there were very few dances on the campus, the Blue Key dance which was held at the Alpha Tau Omega house, being the main event in the social line. The social calendar is growing rapidly, and the next few weekends will be crowded with interesting events. Informal, formal, and feature dances are a few of these. Musical recitals, and of course, the Spinster Skip, will complete the exciting weeks in store for the campus.

Shelley Olson, Bovill, has been a weekend guest at the Pi Beta Phi house.

The pledges of Pi Beta Phi gave a matinee dance Saturday afternoon at the chapter house. The guests were June Quayle, Shelley Olson, Floyd Trail, Charles Neely, Frank Bevington, William Ames, Frank McAtee, Walter Robbins, Frank Gibson, Edward Hoffman, Dick Woodward, Murray Estes, and Allen Evers.

Dinner guests of Sigma Chi Sunday were Dean and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek, and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. von Ende.

Shelley Olson was a dinner guest of Delta Delta Delta Sunday.

Dean and Mrs. R. H. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peulen, Betty Tumble, and Katherine McCaw were dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sunday.

LOOKING AT THE STARS

By Margaret Moulton

With Alberta Bergh back at work after her recovery, and Howard Altow drawing romantic positions and dramatic attitudes not only at rehearsals, but at the Buckle and in the halls of the Ad building, the attempt at Shakespeare is progressing nicely. We wonder, however, if it will arouse the storm of comment that "The Hairy Ape" succeeded in effecting. That comment in spite of its short life, was more than welcome—any play that gives life to a spark of intelligent interest and criticism is worth doing, whether half the audience understands it or not.

Differences of opinion on "Strange Interlude" seem to hit the two extremes with violence—there are no happy mediums or states of indifference. There was a diversity of reasons as to why it was a good show or why it was not. Of course there were the usual few in the audience who haven't advanced beyond the stage of crude amusement at any personal element of the thing, and then too, those who were smugly indignant at its frankness. The main objection to the show appears to be to the acting during the "thought" speeches. It seems a shame that the main feature and key note of a very successful and an excellent stage play should prove a disappointment to those who saw only the screen version merely because the facial expressions in this division of the acting was overdone. Too many fine productions have been ruined in their screen adaptations merely because the screen can not produce a high enough grade of actors, and expects to place in their stead nothing more than beautiful puppets.

Fads may come and fads may go but there are certain styles that are becoming nearly as traditional as the upperclassmen's cords. Berets, polo coats, brogans, trench coats and cardigan suits are even growing in popularity year by year.

It is the manner in which these are worn that distinguishes the fashion-wise young woman. For instance, to wear a beret on the back of one's head is distinctly 1932 but to wear it cocked forward and towards the right eye-brow—or both—is 1933—how far forward depends on the suitability to the individual. With a bit of experimentation one can find several really becoming angles.

Agnes new berets are almost as large as Tam o'Shanter's, the extra fullness drooping over the forehead. Rebois has introduced several interesting variations, dallying with the African fez as the key note.

TIME TO RETIRE ACCESSORIES SERVE AS MERCURY PROTECTION

In better homes steam heat, hot water bottles, and electric pads provide adequate warmth for this subzero weather. But in the sorority houses on the university campus, other means are used to protect the women against the cold.

Perhaps the best winter protection is shown from a member of Delta Gamma, Judy Hoover Rummaging into grandmother's trunk she produced a blue and yellow bathrobe, which she now fastens over her striped green and orange pajamas that are gathered in at the feet by draw strings. The fastenings on close examination prove to be nothing less than large hooks and eyes that have the appearance of those that grandfather used on his saddle blankets.

The Kappas seem to go in strong for old renovated sweat suits. One Kappa, Elinor Jacobs even sent home to mother to have a cap attached to the already high neck of the suit.

And then there is the Gamma Phi, Jean Harrington. No doubt she isn't accustomed to this cold western weather. It was 66 degrees above in Boston today. She wears three pairs of pajamas, two pairs of woollen bed socks, a hat, muffler, a bathrobe, and she wore a pair of shoes last night.

Marjorie Wurster, another D. G., donned practically everything in her closet last year. This included 2 pairs of pajamas, an old red knitted sweater, and cap of varying hue and a plaid muffler. Two red hot water bottles matched the outfit. But this year she's sleeping inside.

May Belle Donaldson, Pi Phi and a most sophisticated "sweet girl," wears a night cap, fitted closely over her head and tied under her chin. Other (time to attire) accessories include wool socks, pink flannel pajamas, knee length socks, and the usual sizes and shapes of hot water bottles.

But the Alpha Chis, Teresa Connaughton and Lilly Louis, just refuse to brave the cold atmosphere of the sleeping porches. Or is it that they hate to spoil their attractive feminine shapes by cumbersome flannels? Anyway they are sleeping in silk nightgowns between sheets in their rooms.

Eileen Hale, member of Alpha Phi sorority, adds besides numerous pajamas, knee length socks, a red stocking cap and orange mittens. It isn't because she doesn't know her color schemes it's because she sleeps with Bessie Claire, who just doesn't believe in cooperation.

PLEDGE W. A. A. WOMEN TODAY

Pledging of all women eligible for W. A. A. will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Women's gymnasium. The girls who have enough points in athletics this semester to be eligible have been notified.

Following pledging, there will be a short business meeting. The W. A. A. point system will be discussed and some changes made in the requirements for sweaters and blankets. Since a new major sport, soccer, and a new minor sport, golf, have been introduced in women's athletics, the required number of points for a sweater or blanket has been easier to attain. There is now a possibility of changing the requirements for a sweater from 800 points to 1000 points, and that for a blanket from 1600 to 1800 points. The matter will be voted upon at the meeting this afternoon.

Calland Discusses New Rules; Likes Clipping Penalty Change

Disapproves Establishing of Sideline Zones; Will Increase Scores

The football rules committee has adopted. Applause and protests for and against the two revisions in the code are now in order.

Coach Leo E. Calland of the Idaho Vandals has some definite ideas about the changes. "One good—the other bad," pronounced the Idaho headman in an interview yesterday.

Clipping Barred
Calland is heartily in favor of the rules committee's action which set up a new definition that will make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball. This simplifies the previous rule against throwing or dropping the body across the back of the leg or legs of the opponent below the knees.

In the interests of stricter enforcement of the rule against clipping, the penalty was reduced from 25 to 15 yards.

"I have always been in favor of this rule," said Calland. "My opinion quoted in the Argonaut last fall that most officials were afraid to call clipping because of its heavy penalty was the same view taken by the rule-makers. In his annual report to the National Football Coaches' association of which he is the Pacific coast representative, Calland made the recommendation that has recently been adopted.

"No better example for proving the need of prohibiting this 'legalized clipping' can be found than here at Idaho," continued Calland. "In the past two years, June Hanford, Mel Sackett, Howard Armerney and Pete Taylor among those on the Idaho squad who have been laid up for weeks as the result of clipping right under the very noses of officials. With the penalty reduced from 25 to 15 yards, the officials should not be afraid to call this treacherous violation."

The other change in the football code meets with Calland's strong disapproval.

"When they add rules like that new side line change, they are taking out brains and strategy—the very life of the game—and making it into a mechanical affair where brute strength and tonnage are the essentials," says Calland.

The Vandal mentor thinks that the change must have been the result of some agitation in the east, as he has heard of no such recommendations in this part of the country.

Although in Calland's style of ball offense plays an important part, he disapproves of the rule which he says will give the offensive team a great advantage.

"One of the important parts of a coaches job was to teach his quarterbacks to keep his team out of the 10-yard zones on each side of the field," observed Calland. "As they have it now, the quarterback won't have any such problem, but can run his team all over the field without regard for the sidelines. Repeated plays to some weak side will also be unrestricted, for the defense has been deprived of all sideline protection.

Calland has heard many complaints from spectators concerning the futile plays to run the ball out of bounds that only waste time.

"Many touchdowns have been lost in the (coffin corner), as gridgers call the 10 yard stripe between the defensive team's 20-yard and goal lines. The new rule and the referee will take care of what was formerly the quarterback's job in keeping out of that bad zone," concluded Calland.

WILD GAME IN GOOD CONDITION

Trips Made Sunday to Place Feed For Birds and to Check on Elk

Game throughout the country, with but few exceptions, are surviving the winter in good condition, game officials reported after making inspections Sunday. Pheasants are exceptionally active, having received considerable feed from farmers and sportsmen. Some traces of birds being killed by predatory animals were found near Viola. At one place, 17 Chinese pheasants were found in one group.

Reports of Elk starving around Bovill caused two representatives of the Izaak Walton league to make an inspection trip in that locality. They found the animals in good condition but steps were taken to prevent any future bad weather. Bovill residents reported that deer are in good condition.

VANDAL YEARLINGS BEAT W. S. C. FROSH

Win Second Game 35 to 24; Second Half Scoring Is Even

The Idaho frosh defeated the Washington State yearlings here Friday night, 35-24 in the second game of their 5-game series. The victory evened the count between the two teams as the Cougar Babes took the opening game, 31-29, at Pullman a week ago.

During the first few minutes of play Friday night it looked as if the visitors were going to make it two straight but Idaho boys checked the Cougars' opening rush and were out in front, 23-12, at half time. The Pullman cagers looped three field goals before Idaho located the rim in the opening minutes of play.

Score Evenly.
In the second half the Vandal frosh chalked up six field goals to the Cougars' four but four foul conversions gave the visitors an even break in the scoring column for the period.

The third game of the series which was to have been played at Pullman Saturday night was postponed due to the road conditions after the heavy snowfall Saturday afternoon. The frosh will journey to Pullman this week-end for the third game. Whether the game will be played Friday or Saturday has not been announced as yet.

TWO NEW CHANGES MADE IN NATIONAL CODE OF FOOTBALL

Rules Committee Eliminates Side Line Play and Lessens Penalty

The national football rules committee made only two changes in the playing code for 1933. One eliminated the side line play while the other amplifies the clipping rule with the idea of legislating that practice out of the game, decreasing the penalty from 25 to 15 yards to encourage its stricter enforcement.

The side line play will be eliminated by establishing zones, ten yards in width on both sides of the field. When the ball becomes dead within this territory, it will be moved immediately to a point 10 yards from the side line. In case the ball goes out of bounds, it will be replaced 10 yards in instead of 15 as formerly.

Eliminates Futile Plays.
The committee feels that this change will put an end to futile side line plays which usually cost the offensive team valuable downs. It will also lessen tacking out of bounds, claim the rule-makers.

In an effort to eliminate the dangerous clipping, the rule was framed to make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball. This amplifies the existing rule against throwing or dropping the body across the legs of an opponent below the knees.

Penalty 15 Yards.
In the interest of stricter enforcement of the clipping rule, the penalty was reduced from 25 to 15 yards. Officials who have been chary of calling a foul with such a stiff penalty will thus be encouraged.

Other Suggestions Made.
The committee studied the recommendations of many other coaches, officials, and others interested in the game, but definite action was taken on only the two.

In some cases, the suggestions were referred for further consideration to a newly created standing committee on football rules changes.

FILTHY WEED HELPS
Moderate smoking tends to make a student more composed and aids him to concentrate on his work. Dr. Thomas L. Houston of the Creighton university medical school declared this week.

VETERAN PLAYER HELPS ICE HOCKEY

Kenneth Nollie Plays With Spokane Americans on Trips

Competition of the Inland Empire all-star hockey teams, and experience on the University of British Columbia team, have been contributing factors in making Kenneth Nollie, university junior, one of the leading hockey players in this district.

Nollie, who plays a wing position on the Idaho team, and who has been active in promoting interest in hockey at this institution, has been included on the lineup of the Spokane Americans who are members of the Idaho-Washington hockey league. His capable and speedy playing have won invitations from Spokane hockey experts to make trips with the Spokane all-star teams. Jaunts to Portland, Oregon and Kingsgate, Canada with these teams have given Nollie an opportunity to compete with teams of high caliber.

Went to Kingsgate.
The trip to Kingsgate, which was made a short time ago, was taken on the occasion of the widely-heralded ski tournament there. A picked team from surrounding towns, which included many Canadian stars, was chosen to meet the American team. Although the game was lost 6 to 4, Nollie stated that the game proved interesting and gave him much valuable educational experience.

The Spokane all-stars are considering another trip to Portland to meet a team from that city, in which case Nollie will make the trip with them.

Nollie, who is rather small and light for hockey, more than makes up for his diminutiveness by his speed and aggressiveness. It is expected that Nollie's play will prove a great aid to the Vandal hockey team in their coming engagement with the W. S. C. team.

The University of Southern California has a tough football schedule for 1933. It plays Notre Dame at South Bend, California at Berkeley, and Oregon State at Portland in three games away from home.

IDAHO AND W. S. C. FENCERS TO MEET

The Idaho men's fencing team will meet the Washington State team in the tower room of the Memorial gymnasium Saturday, February 25.

This meet was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but because of the drifted snow on the road from Pullman to Moscow, the Cougar team was unable to make the trip.

The Idaho men who will participate are Robert Harris, Casper Beimfohr, Frank Hjort and Douglas Cruickshank.

OREGON BEAVERS LEAD CONFERENCE

Idaho and Washington State Fight for Third Place in Conference

Northern Division Standings
Oregon State	9	3 .750
Washington	7	3 .700
Washington State	6	5 .545
Idaho	4	6 .400
Oregon	1	10 .091

The Oregon State Beavers clinched a firm hold on the top rung of the northern division basketball standings last night by trouncing Idaho, 46 to 26.

Conference Favorite.
The win establishes (Slate) Gill's outfit as a strong favorite to take the sixth consecutive championship away from (Hec) Edmundson's Huskies, who now rest in second place. O. S. C. has only Oregon to contend with after the Idaho game tonight, while Washington has the hard road trip to Pullman and Moscow and then the Oregon series at Seattle yet to play. Six games in nine days, fans think, are likely to prove too much for the Huskies.

In the lower bracket, the Oregon Webfeet have virtually clinched the cellar position with only one win out of 11 starts. Washington State and Idaho are fighting it out for third place. Both have a mathematical chance at first place, but nothing is considered likely along that line. Three games between these teams remain on the schedule.

The boxing club of W. S. C. is sponsoring another card February 24 in which Hutchinson hopes to enter three or four boxers. This one is a heavyweight affair. Orville Schmitt, Bill McCallie, and Mel Sackett are those who will probably be matched against the W. S. C. fighters in the corresponding weight classes.

DENTON WINS BOUT IN ONE-SIDED TILT AT PULLMAN GYM

Coach Hutchinson Says Idaho Welterweight Has Made Good Show

Louis Denton, university welterweight, won a decision over Roy Langdon of W. S. C. in a bout on the boxing card held at the Pullman gym Friday night.

Denton easily out-boxed his opponent in the first round, using his left jab to good advantage. In the second round Denton knocked Langdon down for an exaggerated count of eight. From this point on the fight was easily Denton's. The third round was just a continuation of the one-sided struggle, the bell being a savior for Langdon. W. S. C. took the lion's share of the other matches thereby taking high point honors for the night.

Fine Showing.
"Considering that this is the boy's second fight," said Coach Ralph Hutchinson in speaking of Denton, "he has made a very fine showing. At the rate he is improving we expect a welterweight championship next year from our plucky scrapper. His first fight was in Spokane a few weeks ago. In this one he won a technical knockout. We certainly predict big things for Louis in the future."

Another protegee of Coach Hutchinson is Orville Schmitt, who will journey to Pomeroy to participate there as a headliner on a boxing card to be held next Thursday. Don Critchfield has been selected to oppose Schmitt in the main event. Schmitt has just started his fistic career, this encounter being his first. "Though a veritable beginner, Orville has already shown remarkable improvement in his speed and coordination," said (Hutch).

"We are gradually developing a presentable squad of boxers," asserted Hutchinson. "We now have a man for nearly every major weight division that will be able to hold his own against some of the best in the conference. Of course, continued (Hutch), we cannot expect too much of the fellows this year, but by next season we will have some good material which should make its bid for championship honors."

STUDENTS LIST 21 RELIGIOUS FAITHS

Nearly 80 Per Cent at U. Write in Preference for Churches

Idaho students are predominantly church minded, according to a religious census covering student registration up to February 9, compiled by Dr. Carl Douglas Wells, director of the Idaho Institute of Christian Education.

According to Dr. Wells' report, 79 per cent of the student body with the exception of one agnostic and a "free thought" advocate, is affiliated either by preference or by membership with 21 different churches, while the remaining 21 per cent specified no preference.

The Methodist Episcopal leads all other sects with almost 20 per cent of the students preferring it. The Presbyterian church claims about 15 per cent of the student body to take second place, while the Catholic church comes third on the list with approximately nine per cent of the total registration.

Rating Given
In the order named, the following churches are listed in the report: Episcopal, 8 per cent; Lutheran, 7.8 per cent; Latter Day Saints, 6.5 per cent; Christian, 4.2 per cent; Congregational, 3.5 per cent; Baptist, 2.4 per cent; Unitarian, 4 per cent; Nazarene, 1 per cent; Church of God, none the second semester; Community (union) 2 per cent; Jews, 1 per cent. One student is included in each of the following: Agnostic, Church of Brethren, Free thought, Seven-Day Adventist.

Theosophist, and Reformed. In the religious census cards which students filled out, they were requested to state whether or not they are members of, the church of their preference. Three sects claimed 100 per cent membership among the 4 per cent of the student body affiliated with them, the Nazarene, Community (union), and Jewish. Catholics and the Latter Day Saints claimed the next highest percentage of membership with a total of 92.2 per cent each, having only 7.6 per cent on the preference list. They comprise a total of almost 15 per cent of the student body.

Idaho Rangers Are Busy Keeping Up Wth Engagements

"Sing all your troubles away," seems to be the aim of a group of Moscow young men who organized two weeks ago under the name of the Idaho Rangers. Since that time they have been appearing nearly every night at lodge meetings, dances and other entertainments over the region.

The group was organized by Charles Sodorff, who leads as "sheriff." Other members of the organization are Lester Rodgers, Fred Sodorff, Allen Kirkpatrick, Albert Anderson and Melvin Sodorff. Instruments include an accordion, guitar, mandolin, banjo, "fiddle" and two harmonicas. They are scheduled to play over station KWSC, Pullman, in a week or so and appeared at the Clinton grange hall Saturday night.

ETHER GIVES REPLY

Math students at Carnegie Tech recently were telling this one to prove that science is unbeatable: A fellow student, who is also a radio amateur, was having difficulty with a calculus problem. He therefore sent out an appeal via the ether and in practically no time got a correct answer via short waves and a correct dash system. It seems that a University of Texas student in Austin also was operating his amateur radio transmitter that night.

Tobacco to smoke right has to be a different kind of tobacco from that used in cigarettes... and it has to be made by an entirely different process...

OUT in Kentucky, where they have pretty women, fast horses, and blue grass, there grows a tobacco called White Burley. It doesn't grow anywhere else in the world.

There is a type of this White Burley that is best suited for pipe smoking. It is neither too thick nor too thin. It is not light and chaffy; at the same time, it is not rank or strong. "U. S. Type 31" is the government classification for White Burley.

Since no other pipe tobacco has yet been found which seems to equal White Burley, this is what we use in making Granger Rough Cut.

Next, we use the Wellman Method, a famous 1870 method of making pipe tobacco, to give Granger its fine flavor and fragrance. Then, too, Granger is "Rough Cut"—just like they used to "whittle" their tobacco off a plug with a jack-knife. It smokes cool, lasts longer and never gums a pipe.

And finally, we want to sell Granger for 10 cents. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. So we put Granger in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. Folks seem to like it.
