FOUR TEAMS SENT TO PORTLAND FOR JUDGING CONTESTS

Pacific International Livestock Show Held October 21 to 28

GOOD RECORDS MADE

Animal Husbandry, Agronomy, Dairy Husbandry, and Dairy Products Groups Entered

Idaho will again be well represented in Portland, October 21 to 28, at the Pacific International Livestock show, according to representatives of the College of Agriculture. Four teams have been selected. The animal husbandry, agronomy, dairy husbandry, and dairy products departments will send representative groups.

The animal husbandry team, coached by Prof. C. W. Hickman, will be composed of Worth Hodgson, Cottonwood; Arthur Bolton, Gooding; Rodney Pearson, Moore; Elbert McProud, Lewiston; Ellis Shawver, Jerome; and Edward Waggoner, Post Falls. One of the men will act as alternate. They judge classes of beef, sheep, swine, and horses.

Placed First Twice
"The team has given a good account of itself in previous year," said Professor Hickman. "They have placed first the last two years."

The members of the agronomy judging team will be Ralph Knight, Payette; Walter Virgin, Aberdeen; Hugh McKay, Aberdeen; and Henry Dunn, Blackfoot. This team coached by Prof. H. W. Hulbert will judge small grains, legumes, and corn; grade classes of hay, wheat, oats, and barley; and identify some 200 varieties of crops and 50 varieties of weeds and plant diseases, giving the scientific name and where they are grown.

"This is the tenth year that Idaho has competed in this contest and they have rated high consistently," said Professor Hulbert. "They have won the Sperry Grain grading trophy five out of the last six years and have been high team the last two years."

Good Records
Coach F. W. Atkeson, head of the dairy department, has selected the following men for the dairy cattle judging team: Victor Duxst-piva, Nampa; Harry Wellhousen, Twin Falls; Jimmy Howard, and Chester Arndt. They will judge classes of Arshire, Guernsey, Holstein, and Jersey dairy cattle. Last year this team was second high and placed first in Arshires and Guernseys.

The dairy products team will be Edwin Luthrop, Orofino; Bernard Ruger, St. Maries; Duard Campbell, Glenns Ferry; George Hoggan, Rigby; Professor H. C. Hansen is the coach this year. They will judge butter, ice cream, cheese, and milk. This team has gone to Portland for the last 13 years. They were high in 1932 and second high in 1931 and 1930.

Executive Board Approves Blue Bucket Appointments

Arthur Hagen, Brooklyn, N. Y., has been approved by the executive board as the Press club's editor of the Blue Bucket for this year, at the regular Tuesday night meeting. Harold Boyd, Moscow, as associate editor, John Cusano, Pocatello, as business manager, and Jack Flick, Harrison, as circulation manager were all approved by the board.

These men were selected by the Press club and recommended to the executive board for approval. Con Frazier has been selected art editor, and other staff officers of the magazine will be chosen by the editor, the appointments to be announced soon, according to the Blue Bucket chief. At a meeting Tuesday, about 30 students indicated a variety of interests for Blue Bucket work.

Work has already progressed on the first edition of the publication, to be released by Nov. 11, for the Homecoming game. Hagen is exercising much care in selecting a thorough and workable staff to make the Blue Bucket as great a success as possible.

Two journalists, Bill McCrea, Coeur d'Alene, and Jim Crawford, Boise, were pledged to the Press club at a dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Blue Bucket.

Tricky Ducks Who Will Bear Watching

BUTCH MORSE IS THE PASS-S NAGGING left end of the Oregon Ducks who is coming at you with the ball, and his teammate on the right is the signal-calling quarter back, Terjesen, whom "Prink" Callison has delegated to handle all Wedfoot strategy. It isn't all Mikulak and his line-crashing that accounts for Oregon's undefeated record this season, either. There's plenty of trick stuff that evolves out of those Notre Dame formations when they need a first down or two in mid-field. Oregon will be playing her first night game this year against Idaho. The Vandals experienced some difficulty with their passes under the lights at Caldwell last week, completing only one out of 12 attempts. The lighting system will be better at Eugene, and fans can look forward to some more aerial attacks originating in the big mitts of McCue, reformed tackle.

INSECTS, VALUE OF $50,000 ENDANGERED

Science Hall Blaze, Minor in Itself, Might Have Been Expensive

A collection of insects valued at $50,000 was endangered by a fire which occurred at 4:20 p. m. Wednesday on the third floor of Science hall, on the university campus.

The fire started near a constant temperature vat located in the entomology laboratory on the third floor of the huge building. Cause of the fire had not been determined by Thursday noon.

There was no one in the laboratory when the fire started and students of Dr. W. E. Shull's entomology class were unable to enter the laboratory because of gases.

Dr. Shull said Thursday it was not possible to estimate the damage as yet. "There was a collection of insects in the laboratory valued at $50,000 at least. Some of them were destroyed, but how many will not be known until we can take an inventory."

The damage did not extend to any of the other departments, although liquid from the temperature vat was spread through the two rooms immediately adjoining the laboratory. The Moscow fire department responded and extinguished the fire with chemicals. Class work was not interrupted in other parts of the building.

COUGARS, BEARS FIGHT TOMORROW

Rogers Field in Pullman Will Be Scene of Big Battle

The Bears and the Cougars will battle it out in the Cougar lar when the Coach "Navy Bill" Ingram's California Golden Bears invade Rogers field in Pullman to meet "Babe" Hollingbery's Washington State cohorts tomorrow afternoon. Fans of this section will have a chance to see in action what the critics call California's greatest team in years. When Ingram took over the coaching job at California three years ago he promised the Bear supporters a championship in 1933, and this battle with the Cougars will probably be the indication as to whether or not he has fulfilled his promise.

Washington State, which was picked to finish near the top of the conference, will await the coming of California with the intention of giving everything in order to fight their way back to a favored position in the conference. The thorough beating administered by U. S. C., followed by the scant win over the Montana Grizzlies have somewhat lowered the general estimation of the Cougars. But on the other hand, it may have served the purpose of putting them in the right psychological condition to rise to the heights of their potential ability and stage a comeback.

Arbelhide Back
Cougar stock took quite a rise this week with news that Ollie Arbelhide, star halfback, will be back in the game Saturday. Another ray of sunshine will be the appearance of "Kelly" Agee, fiery quarterback, in the lineup.

California's great comeback to defeat St. Mary's put them in the spotlight and gave them confidence and spirit which will do much in aiding them in their drive for a conference championship. The Golden Bears were defeated 7 to 2 last year by the Cougars and are out to avenge last year's defeat. Arleigh Williams, triple-threat left halfback is one of the Bears' outstanding players who will be sent against W. S. C. His playing against St. Mary's last week was sensational. Coach Ingram has been drilling his squad on aerial offense, evidently preparing to take to the air for at least part of Saturday's game.

BLUE KEY WILL USE POINT SYSTEM FOR MEMBERSHIP

Service Group Adopts New Plans for Selecting Pledges

ELIMINATE POLITICS

Extensive Preparations Made For Entertaining Homecoming Alumni and Visitors

A proposed point system, submitted by Clayne Robinson and Claude Marcus, to determine the eligibility of prospective men for membership in Blue Key, national service organization, was accepted at a Blue Key meeting Wednesday evening.

Richard Stanton, president of Blue Key, stated: "We believe we have reached a sound basis for selection of new members. I think this system in use is a much fairer basis upon which to judge men than that used before; it eliminates to a great extent, possible entrance of politics into pledging."

According to Stanton the prospective members have to have a maximum number of points before being voted upon; however, the point system puts all men before the club that are eligible.

New members were considered Wednesday night, and the pledging will take place at the ASUI assembly Tuesday morning.

"Cap" Horton graduate manager and advisor of the club, made several suggestions in connection with their service in carrying out Homecoming plans. In sponsoring this annual event, Blue Key has made extensive preparations this year. Plans are being made to set aside a reserve section for alumni letterman and for the housing of all alumni. An information bureau will be set up either on the field or in the Administration building. The entire group of Blue Key members will act as a reception committee for the visitors, they will assist the yell leaders and the Pep band, in arranging the formalities and entertainment before the game and at the half.

All possible plans for making the parade a success are being undertaken by the Blue Key. The committee headed by Max Eiden is working in conjunction with the ASUI committee, of which Rollin Hunter is in charge, in making preparations and carrying out plans for judging house decorations.

Max Eiden, chairman of the Blue Key Homecoming committee, said, "We want to do all we can in the next three weeks toward bringing school spirit to a high peak for the Homecoming game and the rally Friday night."

Robert Harris and Allan Severn were appointed by President Stanton to act as a housing committee, and will confer with group house presidents, with hall officials, and downtown hotels in an effort to determine the possible methods of accommodating visitors for Homecoming.

Stanton received a letter from Bill Smith, traffic agent for the Union Pacific, stating that he would have definite information on running a special train to Spokane for the Gonzaga game.

Further plans will be announced by the Blue Key as soon as they are made definite.

HOLD POLITICAL SCIENCE MEET

Faculty and State Officials Composed Group; County and City Government Discussed

Faculty members in the field of government met with local and state officials in a political science conference here Tuesday and Wednesday. County government was discussed all day Tuesday, and city government Tuesday evening. Village government was the subject of Wednesday morning's meeting. President Mervin G. Neale acted as chairman of the various meetings and Dr. C. C. Maxey, professor of political science at Whitman college, lead the discussions.

Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Mikulak?

WHO'S AFRAID OF THE BIG BAD MIKULAK? Well, just about every team on the Pacific coast that has a game with the mighty Oregon Webfoot included in their schedule, judging from the way they are "laying for" this bone-crusher. And Idaho is no exception. "Get Mikulak!" has been the cry on MacLean field all week, and Coach Leo Calland has been spending no small amount of time in preparing a defense against his mighty line-plunging and blocking. When he's not crashing opposing lines, he is clearing a path for the fleet Mark Temple (pictured on the right) to scamper through. Football fans in this section are inclined to discredit reports from Eugene that the tricky co-captain of the Webfoot will be out of the lineup tonight as a result of an injury received in the Washington game last week.

CLUB ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR YEAR

English Group to Publish List of Eligible Students for Membership

The English club, largest and most active organization of its type on the campus, is planning an eventful year under the guidance of Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the department of English. The officers of the club, elected by the old members at a recent meeting are: Mirlam Virtanen, president; Elizabeth Stickney, vice president; Ruth Humphreys, secretary; and Ethlyn O'Neal, treasurer. They, in conjunction with Dr. Miller and the committee chairmen, will act as an advisory board for the club.

Committees for the year are: Entertainment — Nina Varian, chairman; Wendell Olsen, Bob Herrick, and Jane Archbold. Membership — Wilbur Hogue, chairman; Jayne Jones, Helen Latimore, Marjorie Wurster, and Clayne Robinson. Chimes — Paul Rust, chairman; Fern Paulsen, and Viola Jurgensen. Book shelf — Edna Scott, chairman; Dorothy Dole, Eleanor Stewart, and Adrienne Lavette. Composition — Raphael Gibbs, chairman; Evelyn Cross, and Jane Baker. Idaho material — Walter McWilliams, chairman; Dorothy Ward and Morey Miller.

A complete list of students who are eligible for membership is now being compiled by the membership committee. This will include majors in English, journalism, and dramatics students who have made noteworthy contributions in the above mentioned fields, sophomores who received an "A" grade in freshman composition, and freshmen who received high grades in the entrance examination. This list will be published in the Argonaut in the near future.

PROPOSED BUDGET ACCEPTED BY EX-BOARD AT MEETING

Will Not Send President to N. S. F. A. Convention in Washington, D. C.

O. K. APPOINTMENTS

Will Not Pay $35 Dues to N. S. F. A. Thus Temporarily Withdrawing

The executive board Tuesday night approved the proposed student body budget which was submitted to it by George "Cap" Horton, graduate manager. The budget, which was prepared by Mr. Horton, is merely an estimate of the probable expenses; and in most cases is placed high so as to allow for unforeseen circumstances which may present themselves during the course of the year. The estimates were arrived at by means of considering the accounts of each item and activity during the past years.

"As a whole," said Horton, "the figures in the budget are higher than the expenditure will probably be. We have to do this in order to insure against a possible deficit in some sections. Any amounts left over at the end of the year will go into a reserve student body fund."
Not represented.

The board voted to not send the student body president to the National Students Federation of America convention which will be held in Washington, D. C., in December. In accordance with their conservative plan of carrying on student government, members of the board felt that the benefits to the student body from being represented at the conclave do not justify the amount of money spent in getting a man to and from the meeting. It was suggested that this money be distributed among other student functions which could put it to a better use. However, it was suggested that Idaho be represented at the Pacific coast meeting of student body presidents next spring.

The board also voted to get the same type of cup that has been used in the past for Homecoming decoration awards. Submissions by the Press club of Blue Bucket staff appointments were accepted and passed. They include: Arthur Hagen, editor; Harold Boyd, associate editor; John Cusano, business manager; and Jack Flick, circulation manager.

After discussion the members decided to not pay the $35 dues to the National Students Federation of America thus withdrawing temporarily from the association.

LOVING CUP TO BE COED PROM PRIZE

Cleverest Stunt to Receive Cup; All University Women Invited

A silver loving cup is the prize to be presented at the Co-ed Prom Saturday night to the women's group having the cleverest stunt and the highest per cent of members present.

The prom, which is sponsored every year by the Home Economics club, will start at 8:30 in the Women's gym. Helen Wiswall, president of the Home Economics club, is general chairman.

"The affair is not limited to freshmen women, all university women are invited," stated Miss Wiswall. "We have nine committees working to make this the most successful Co-ed Prom in history, and it will be an excellent opportunity for new women to meet the faculty women, all of whom have been invited."

Award Other Prizes
Besides the loving cup, two other prizes, mats of the same color and design which were woven on the hand loom in the Home Economics department, will be given. These are awarded to the couple having the most distinctive costumes.

All members of groups must dress in accordance with their entertainment. The tickets are 25 cents apiece and may be obtained

Eulene Martin Injured In Auto Crash Last Night

Eulene Martin, petite sophomore law student, was seriously injured Wednesday night when she was crushed between two automobiles when they overturned at the corner of University avenue and Elm street. Miss Martin was crossing the intersection on her way home from the law library.

The cars, driven by Warren Russell and John Farquhar, collided and turned over pinning the injured woman beneath the automobiles. Witnesses to the accident pulled the wreckage away and took Miss Martin into the Phi Gamma Delta house where Dr. Thad Beatty administered first aid and removed her to the Community hospital.

Accident at 9:15
The accident occurred at 9:15 p. m. when Russell was returning to Lindley hall after visiting a lady friend in Spokane. He was travelling west on University avenue and noticed Miss Martin crossing the intersection with her head down to avoid the stiff wind that was blowing last night, but did not see Farquhar coming from the north on Elm street.

Farquhar tried to apply his brakes, but found that they would not hold, and then tried avoiding the accident by driving close to the curbing. Russell in his attempt to miss the victim of the accident swerved toward the curbing also. Both drivers were traveling at a high rate of speed according to witnesses.

Cars Turned Over
The impact of the two automobiles caused them to turn over in the middle of the intersection pinning Miss Martin beneath the spare tire of Russell's car, a light coupe. Farquhar was driving a sedan.

Dr. Beatty after consultation with Dr. Wilder Deal of the Community hospital, posted the following bulletin at 12:30 this morning: "We find that Miss Martin is suffering from a broken right leg and broken left arm, and possible internal injuries, which cannot be determined at this time. It is possible that she is suffering from a fractured skull; consciousness at the time this bulletin was issued."

Dr. Wilder Deal, Dr. Thad Beatty, Attending physicians.

The Sun Will Still Rise

Every year during most every coach's reign as the guiding light of a squad of aspiring athletes they are the butt of a certain amount of criticism usually misdirected but nevertheless propagated. After the game at Caldwell last Friday night in which the Vandals made a poorer showing than was expected, it is rumored that our coach came in for a bit of this well known "skalping." A writer on the Idaho Statesman in an editorial handled the situation well writing in defense of all coaches. The editorial from the Statesman follows:

"The anvil chorus, one is informed, has started to demand the scalp of Coach Leo Calland because his Vandals didn't run up a score of empty millions to nothing on Coach Loren Basler's Coyotes. In some obscure way it appears this is all the fault of Mr. Calland, without any particular credit to be given to Mr. Basler, who should have lain down and let himself be decently tramped upon.

To the average non-collegiate spectator there is something perplexing in this attitude. Obviously, since there are several hundred coaches in the United States, and they must play each other, they can't win every game.

And the mere fact that Mr. Calland's Vandals discovered the Coyotes to be somewhat stronger meat than anyone expected is not necessarily a reflection upon the sterling worth of Mr. Calland. Such surprises have happened before, without causing an eclipse of the sun or something.

After all, it's a game, a pastime, a sport. It's lot of fun to win games—and incidentally, if we remember rightly, Mr. Calland did win that game, after some slight difficulties—but somebody said once there was a good deal in the way you win, as well as in winning. Something about sportsmanship, wasn't it?

And What a Help!

If a recent press report of an address concerning Adolph Hitler may be accepted as correct, there is certainly great reason to hope that those hearing the address accepted it with a certain degree of that well known seasoning called salt. It is agreed, of course, that it is difficult to appropriately evaluate gentlemen of Hitler's stamp from reading newspapers, magazines and books. The American's picture of the foreign individual must, of necessity, depend upon a world press which sometimes does not convey the ideas and sentiments of the "flaming patriots from the fatherland." Only certain clubs with a membership of individuals with an "inquiring mind" (so they say) can be expected to accept, open-mouthed and with awe, the true story of the rise of "the highest moral standards of any country in the world" in our own Mr. Hitler's Germany.

But ignoring probabilities, it is still hoped that those remarks on Hitler's value to Germany were questioned to some extent. It is hoped that there was recalled to mind the fact that the conditions of government revenue is discouraging, that German business leaders are now enjoying most unsatisfactory business conditions, that world-famous correspondents have been writing at great length on the loss of all the standards of civilization in the urban sections of Germany and the fear and trembling whenever those standards are upheld in rural Germany. It is hoped that for at least a minute some doubt existed as to Hitler's value in view of the fact as constitutional guaranties of private property are said to be handled in a way that even Socialism would not tolerate, and that as far as safety of person is concerned, Chicago is backed clear off of the map. Did someone remember that a condition of dictatorship unchecked by any question of public will, unlimited by any rights of person and property, and making its subjects toe the line drawn and executed by men who are apparently unstable in purpose and slightly fanatical in mind, is not particularly conducive to the construction of a great morality?

We hope that there were some doubts. The one, outstanding reason that we have that hope is that it is difficult to imagine how a country whose aim seems to be an intense nationalism which precludes any possibility of cooperation with other nations in bringing about a better international understanding can be particularly commended. Admitting our dependence on the world press, it still seems in view of actual occurrences in Germany, that the design of the present government is once again the creation of a great war machine. In view of those same facts it is not difficult to believe that the report is correct which credits Hitler with a desire to once again try for "the manifest destiny of the German people, which is the control of Europe." To create a country of wealth and power is perfectly agreeable, but when the maniacs doing that also entertain an idea which will result—and which is already well on the way to result—in another armed conflict, certain doubts as to the value and morality of that country are to some extent justified. Hitler's help to Germany seems to be in the wrong direction. One can't blame us for having doubts about his goodness when he does certain things which interfere with our ball game. A maniac in the society of nations is no more to be desired than in a society of individuals.

Grins and Gripes To The Editor

Yell Leader Feels Better
Sir:

The old "Idaho fight spirit" is slowly being revived again on the campus of the U. of I. I believe realize the importance of the old traditions, one of which is the fight spirit, to college life. The traditions of Idaho are known all over the West and as a student body we want to do our best to live up to them.

Last night a great demonstration of pep was shown in spite of the rain and stormy weather. If we can do that in this kind of weather think of what we can do at other times. But here is something else—you students have no idea just how much your enthusiasm meant to me. It helped in many different ways. Now, if the student body is willing to cooperate bigger and better in the future, we can have pep rallies and pep at the games that will make any team proud to call the U. of I. their school.

The Spurs, Intercollegiate Knights, and the "T" club are going to give all the help possible to this cause. All right, the rest is up to you students. Are you willing?

Sunday at noon the team gets back after playing Oregon. I know it is a bad time for students to go to the train, but let's go down anyway and show the team, win or lose, that we are behind them to the finish. O. K. now, let's be there, "Idaho fights," let's help her.

The Bird Goes to Three Houses
Sir:

Congratulations Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Gamma, and Delta Chi! on your turn out to the rally Thursday evening. You were the only houses that did not brave the rain and go to the train to see the football team leave for Oregon.

The above statement is in the form of the Bronx cheer or the bird. Why didn't you go to the rally? Is school spirit too high a price for you to pay or is your dignity a little too high for such things. Let us hope that the latter statement is false.

There is no denying the fact that you were not at the rally. The "T" club had an investigation committee on the campus during the rally and found many Kappas sitting around the fire, and there were many, many, Delta Gammass around the fire, and the Delta Chis were sure keeping their fire warm at their little brick shanty.

This is surely an oversight on the part of the three above named houses, but that is not an excuse. There is not an alibi for any of the organizations. They were all informed of the rally in time to notify the members. It is too late to ask why they were not there, but it is time to ask them if they will turn out to the next rally.

The rain was no alibi for not turning out to see the team leave for probably one of the toughest battles of the year. They play in all kinds of weather and some of them pay with serious injuries—would a few drops of rain down the neck be too much to ask the student body?

All of the other houses are to be congratulated on their turnout at the rally, from all appearances the freshmen were not made to represent the houses at the gathering last night. Many upperclassmen were standing in the drizzle, bidding the team good bye and good luck.

Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Gamma, and Delta Chi may we look for you at the next rally? Other groups are turning out for the rallies and you are no better than the rest.

A strategic point in the battle for sales

Today's intense competition calls for new and more effective merchandising methods. Several plans pioneered by Bell System men are proving helpful.

For example: the "Where to Buy It" section of the telephone book. Here local dealers are listed beneath the trade-marks of advertised products—such as Plymouth, Greyhound Lines, Exide, RCA Victor. This service helps manufacturers to reduce substitution, helps dealers to increase sales, helps you to locate the brand you want.

Le Dernier Mot

"It's always fair weather"..... When you have the right attitude. If you are one of those persons who doesn't consider the rain cozy and soothing—look to yourself.

No longer do we don a voluminous, drab affair, 12-inch galoshes, and a long face and plod to our classes. Instead, we slip into our trim Lelong or Worth model, a gray green with scarlet accessories—or a small brown and white check.

New Parisian, rainy weather garments are being designed by our leading rubber companies and not a few of them have reached our campus.

Styles range from heavy, rubberized tweed coats, as grey ones—to striking white rubber cape owned by Katherine Kimball (Stew's sister)—which is so fine that it may be carried in a purse.

Deep revers and snug collars are comfortable features. Some sleeves may be tightened at the wrists to keep the wind out. Lengths are from swagger to skirt length.

In hats it's a question, merely, of whether you like the rain to run down your forehead or drop to your nose from a brim.

Faces are bright and shiny because they just can't help it. Most make-up gets messy so just keep your lips rosier than your nose. And cheer up—in a month or so there won't be any rain—no—just snow.

Repeat 1903!

CORSAGES RULED AGAINST
"No corsages," was the recent verdict of Junior day heads at the University of California when pressed for a decision as to whether or not flowers were to be in order for the Junior prom.

"The male faction of the class is hard hit by the depression and we have listened to its protests," declared the chairman.

WOMEN EXPLAIN CHARACTERISTICS

Aims of Various Groups Will Be Discussed at A. W. S. Meeting

Presidents of all the women's organizations on the campus will be present at a meeting of the Associated Women Students of the university which will be held at Hays hall Tuesday evening, October 24.

Each one will explain the characteristics and aims of the organization of which she is president. The purpose of the meeting is to encourage women to try for member-Frances Dusault in the various organizations. All women are urged to be present, and especially those who are new to the university. Most of the groups are honoraries and to become members either high scholarship or distinction in some specific line is required. "Freshmen, especially, are asked to attend the meeting," states Frances Dusault, president.

Repeat 1903!
Marjorie Wurster—"My brother John told me of the university in 1903 and like the rest of the women on the campus I would like to repeat 1903."

Moscow Mother's Project Put Into Effect by Guild

"All girls who would like to have local 'mothers' for the year should attend the tea we are giving in the social hall of the Presbyterian church from 2:30 until 4:30 next Tuesday afternoon and receive one," says Aileen Francis, president of the Westminster Guild, an organization of the Presbyterian university women, which is sponsoring the reception. Special music will be a part of the program planned by the Guild. All women who wish to attend should see Miss Francis before Sunday.

The purpose of the "Moscow Mothers" project, undertaken for the second time this year, is to give the university women a connection with townspeople and an opportunity to share a little home life while they are in college.

Many Volunteer
Over 30 women of the Presbyterian church have volunteered their "motherhood" for the tea, when they will find their "daughters," whom they will receive into their homes and entertain during the year.

A new plan for expenses in belonging to the club is being carried out this year. According to this plan each member may pay $1 initial fee, which will cover the expenses of the monthly dinner meetings throughout the year.

FORMER STUDENT TEACHES SCHOOL

Ellen Jack, '33, a graduate of the School of Business Administration, is now teaching commercial at the Montpelier high school. While a student at the university she was a member of Phi Chi Theta, women's business honorary and president during her senior year. She also received the Phi Chi Theta scholarship award. Miss Jack is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Speed Merchants To Duel In Vandal-Webfoot Game

Willis Smith's Running to Head Attack of Revamped Vandal Team

With Willis "Little Giant" Smith in the van of a pounds heavier and much more experienced squad than in former years, Coach Leo Calland is determined to give the Oregon "Webfoots" sixty minutes of big-time football on their "illuminated" gridiron tonight.

Four days of the most grueling kind of scrimmage wound up the heavy work on this week's Idaho Vandal training schedule. Much of the time has been spent in patching up weak spots due to injuries to several regulars and alternates which have caused many new faces to appear in the first-string lineup.

A complete overhauling at left end finds Nels Fowles and George Rich holding the temporary spotlight. Fowles, letterman running end, has learned both positions this fall, and can move over to the other side of the line with little difficulty. Rich 180-pound sophomore, has been developing slowly and is about ready to break into the regular lineup. Hesse, who has been out with a bad leg, can play again if needed. Garst will start at right end.

The starting run at Eugene will find McCue, 207 pounds, and Klumb, who tips the scales at an even 200, at the tackle posts. The "King Kong" twins have gained the first string call through the sole virtue of being the best men to put in at their jobs, and two such husky tackles should go a long way towards holding out the mighty line smashes of Mike Mikulak, driving Oregon fullback. McCue will do a large part of the Vandal booting at Eugene, and will also figure largely in the passing department. Cliff Herbig, veteran tackle who was moved to guard at the start of the season, may go back to tackle to strengthen the reserve power at outside guard.

Nutting Back at Guard
At left guard will be Dick Nutting, 190-pound regular who out of the C. of I. game last week due to a leg injury. Coach Calland is not entirely certain as yet who will get the call at right guard due to injuries to two of his best guards, Ap Berg, who is bothered with a broken rib, and Chick Wilson who has a bad leg.

Filling the Anchor Post
Herschel Swann is filling the anchor post, with Jack Barbee, a reserve who was laid up in scrimmage several weeks ago, back in the harness and eager to show his stuff. This will be the first game of the season for the 196-pound Barbee. Bob Moser has been transformed from a right tackle to a reserve at center and is rapidly coming to the front.

The backfield set-up has not been changed, with Norby, Jacoby, Cordon, and Willis Smith carrying the colors for Idaho. Cordon was slightly injured in the College of Idaho game last week but will be in shape again tonight.

Offensive Plays Stressed
Coach Calland states he has been drilling the squad rigorously on offensive play, and has been giving them practice under the arc lights with a white ball. The lights on the College of Idaho field last week interfered greatly with the Vandal aerial offense, and he is determined to give the boys an even break in the Oregon game as far as the lights go at least.

The Vandals left yesterday evening for Eugene, arriving there today noon. Coach Leo Calland, Manager Phil Fikkan, and Trainer Ralph Hutchinson and twenty-eight players made the trip, including Fowles, Rich, Hesse, Garst, and Schmitz, ends; Klumb, Moore, and McCue, tackles; Nutting, Davis, Hoggan, Wilson, Spaugy, and A. Berg, guards; Swann, Moser and Barbee, centers; Jacoby, Honso-wetz, Norby, and P. Berg, half-backs; Cordon, Dayton, and Ward, fullbacks; and Willis Smith, Ger-aghty, Earl Smith, and Inman, quarterbacks.

WASHINGTON STATE HOLDS DAD'S DAY

Arrangements have been made to entertain more than 1000 fathers at the fourth annual Dad's day at Washington State college next Saturday. The visiting fathers are to register at the men's gym in the morning and receive programs.

The guests are to attend a lunch at the Commons at noon. Following the lunch the dads are to attend the University of California-Washington State football game. They will be seated in a special section of the south stand where they can witness the game and see the special stunts performed by the student rooting block and the college band across the field.

In the evening the state college fathers will be entertained at a smoker presented by the physical education department. In addition to an excellent card of bouts there will be several skits to complete the program.

Repeat 1903!
"All Hail to Washington State," was announced as the winning song submitted in a recent song writing contest at Washington State college. Maxine Armstrong of Spokane wrote the music and Carl Minor of Olympia wrote the words.

SPORT SHOP

By BILL MCCREA

Members of the Vandal football squad are going to have plenty of football this week end. After their game Friday night with the Oregon Webfoots they go to Portland to see the O. S. C.-U. S. C. clash on Saturday afternoon. Sunday they stop in Spokane to see the Gonzaga Bulldogs meet a team from the West Side Athletic club in Seattle.

The Athletic club team is the one formerly coached by R. L. Matthews, ex-Idaho mentor. This outfit, which has a great reputation, is now coached by Fanny Hunting, former Gonzaga star.

Coach Calland's varsity lineup is considerably shaken up. With Jeffries, Wilson, Ap Berg, and Beatty out because of injuries, and Howard MacInerney, veteran regular line-man, missing, Leo has had to do some real juggling to find men and reserves for each position. MacInerney has left school and is lost to the Vandals for good. Other Vandals who have minor injuries but will be able to play are: Herbig, Holmes, Owen, Barbee, Hesse, P. Berg.

Calland's cohorts have been drilling against Oregon plays this week as well as perfecting the precision of their offense. Thursday night before entraining the squad worked out in the gymnasium—regardless of the fact that the pouring rain outside would probably have been perfect conditioning for the playing weather which Oregon usually has.

Oregon State set a mark for other teams on the coast and even the old-time "ironmen" to shoot at, as only 12 players saw action against San Francisco university last Saturday. This is really something to brag about in these days of huge squads and frequent substitutions.

Oregon State is all pepped up over its victory over San Francisco and their newly found spirit. They have a better team than they have had for years and are eagerly awaiting the U. S. C. clash. They feel that the law of averages is on their side and that they may play Ulysses and fell the mighty Trojans.

And what's more, the California Bears aren't going to defeat W. S. C. without the battle of their lives. The Cougars have a lot of potential power and when they once get clicking they're going to be hard to beat. They've never been beaten on their home field since Holingbery has been coaching there and the Bears aren't going to take that distinction away without having to subdue a bunch of scrappy, fighting Cougars.

"Mighty Mike" Mikulak, Oregon superfullback who will be giving the boys plenty of trouble tonight, shouldn't be classed as a football player, as a battering ram. Mikulak, who according to reports from the coast, has a weak chest, wears in every game a steel plate covering his chest. To get around conference rules, the plate is covered by a half-inch pad of foam rubber. Supposedly this lessens the effect of the metal, but in reality is practically useless in protecting Mikulak's unfortunate opponent. And, according to coast sport writers, "Iron Mike" knows how to use effectively his little "protector."

The "new deal" in intramural athletics is here. We don't say what kind of a deal it was, but we find the six teams who finished highest last year all in one league. Should make some nice competition there, shouldn't it?

Guess who's halfbacking for Notre Dame this year! Among the Italians, Poles, Russians, Germans, and French who compose the Irish, there's a real, fullblooded Englishman. His name? Bill Shakespeare.

Which reminds us that Idaho's only "boiler-maker" name in this era of tongue-twisting lineups, is Honsowetz. Rus is a substitute halfback and is destined to become one of Idaho's best. Even that name however probably lacks a few syllables of being long enough to aid in being an All-American.

VANDAL FIGHTERS BOX ON W. S. C. CARD

Louie Denton Appears in Main Event on Dad's Day Program

Four Idaho boxers will be headliners in a fight card at Pullman tomorrow night in one of the feature events of Washington State's Dad's day celebration. The star attraction of the program will match Idaho's Lou Denton against Ed Cavanaugh, W. S. C. welterweight, in a three-round scrap.

Bud Bishop, Idaho 126-pounder, will meet Roy Petragalla, W. S. C. frosh, in one of the special events. Moray Fickes, a newcomer to Idaho, will fight Bert Johnson, W. S. C. welterweight. Lynn Moore, the other Idaho boxer, will mix with Domingo Cuesta, veteran Cougar whirlwind, at 126 pounds.

Promise Action
The Denton-Cavanaugh main event should provide the Pullman fight fans with plenty of action. Cavanaugh is one of the mainstays of the Cougar team and, although he lost a close tussle to Red McKinnon of Klamath three weeks ago, Cougar supporters reported the decision as "of the home town variety."

Louie Denton is one of the Vandals' first-stringers, and earned a reputation as a real boxer last year with an imposing string of victories against some high class talent, several by the K. O. route. Only one adverse decision mars his record to date, and that was a close one. His specialty is a hard left jab.

"Get Experience Is All!"
Captain Louie August, who has charge of the boxing squad while Ralph Hutchinson is busy with his trainer's job, doesn't give the Idaho boys much chance of coming out on top tomorrow night. "They are just going over there to pick up some much-needed experience," he said. "All the W. S. C. boxers are first-stringers, have been training since the start of school, and have already had some bouts this year. It will be the first time in the ring for two of our boys. Denton just has a fair chance, and that's all."

In spite of August's predictions, W. S. C. fans are expecting some fast leather welding, especial in the featherweight class. Roy Petragalla, regarded by many as the coming coast champion in his class, will trade punches with Bud Bishop, a young but promising Vandal. Petragalla has done battle against all of the good boys on the coast, and fought in the finals of the Pacific coast amateur championship last year. Reports from W. S. C. say he knows the tricks, can hit, and is a tough and fancy boxer. The other three events on the program will be taken over entirely by W. S. C. boys who are trying to beat each other out for places on the varsity squad. Bob Eldred, veteran W. S. C. boxer, will referee. The judges have not yet been selected.

WRESTLERS MAKE DEBUT SATURDAY

The Idaho wrestling team has some fine prospects for this year. Francis Newton, Earl Leatham, and Jack Clayton are showing up very well according to Captain Stan Skiles. Earl Eggers is an outstanding welterweight. This is his first year on the squad although he is a junior.

The team will get their first work out Saturday night at the Engineers' smoker. Jack Clayton, Earl Eggers, Earl Leatham, and Stan Skiles will wrestle at this event.

OREGON STATION BROADCASTS GAME

The Idaho-Oregon football game tonight will be broadcast over the Oregon station. KORE. The station has 50 watts power and may be hard to get in Moscow. The game will start at 8 p. m. The broadcast is being sponsored by the Associated Oil company of California.

Van Vleit's End Runs to be Smashed with Big Bad Mikulak's

Speed, concentrated in the wiry, spring-steel body of Maury Van Vleit, high-geat halfback from the University of Oregon, will probably be the big feature dish out to pigskin fans tonight at Eugene, when Oregon meets Idaho. Due to the benching of Mark Temple, ace Oregon halfback and co-captain because of the bad forehead cut sustained in the Washington game last week, the 145 pound flying Dutchman will have ample opportunity to exhibit his talents in the ball packing business. Enthusiasts who anticipate a show composed mainly of the line smashes of the booming "Iron Mike" Mikulak may enjoy a surprise, for when the color-ful Van Vleit begins to scamper anything may happen, according to sports writer L. H. Gregory.

Van Vleit, a transfer to Oregon from Citrus Junior college near Los Angeles, was taken lightly by Coach "Prink" Callison until he ran clear through the varsity twice to practice field touchdowns. In Oregon's game with Columbia the diminutive Dutchman carried the ball on three plays and got touchdowns on two of them, one after a beautiful 57-yard run. With Idaho's "Little Giant" Smith running in opposition to Van Vleit, fans should see plenty of end runs as well as the line pounding tactics of Big Mike Mikulak.

However, adherents to the Mikulak type of pigskin pushing will not be entirely disappointed, for undoubtedly the booming fullback who was one of the big factors in the Oregon win over Washington will be crashing through for first downs when the Webfoots are in need of them.

Oregon May Pass
It seems the ever cautious Coach Callison is taking no chances on a let-down after the Washington game Saturday and has been working out the Oregon club grueling-ly over the past week. Ever versatile, he has been perfecting a passing offense which he plans to put into operation against the Vandals. The Webfoots have three great pass snappers in "Butch" Morse, Bud Pozzo, and Leighton Gee, and it appears that Callison means to take full advantage of this situation. Stew Milligan, a last year's freshman who has been rapidly coming to the front, is on the tossing end. Milligan boots a nice ball as well.

Whether the Idaho Vandals come out with a creditable showing will depend whether they can hold the beefy Oregon line averaging 190 pounds from end to end. Bernie Hughes, Oregon's all-coast honors center, will probably not play all the game due to a broken thumb but has an able understudy in Chuck Swanson, a two-year letterman. To fill his guard position Callison has four men who have all had experience, Cuppoletti, Clark, McCedie, and Gagnon, and with Fry, sophomore who has been coming along fast to back them.

MAKE CHANGES IN INTRAMURALS

Competition to Start Monday; Boxing Events to Replace Cross-country

Complete reorganization of the intramural leagues was made Wednesday night by the intramural managers of the different group houses. The teams in A league are: Ridenbaugh hall, L. D. S., Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Nu, Tau Mem Aleph, Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha, Independent and Tau Kappa Epsilon. Those now composing B league are: Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Delta Chi, Lindley hall, Sigma Chi, and Chi Alpha Pi.

Another drastic change has been made by substituting boxing for cross-country. Heretofore cross-country has been the lead-off intramural sport.

This year, baseball will open the program. The first games have been scheduled for Monday night with Ridenbaugh hall playing L. D. S., and the Phi Deltis playing Lindley hall. These games are the only ones that have been arranged but full schedule will be made out and announced next week. The probable umpires will be Cy Geraghty and Ap Berg, who are the university managers of the sports for this year.
