GONZAGA STUDENTS DEFEAT OPPONENTS IN FORENSIC MEET

Win 3 Out of 4 Debates in Underclassmen's
Gabfest

SCORED 75 PERCENT

Yakima Normal School Is Second;
Washington State College
Ranks Third

Gonzaga university, winning three out of four debates, won the underclassmen's debate tournament held here at the university, Saturday. They scored 75 percent, Yakima Normal school, whose teams won two out of three debates with 68 percent was second, Washington State college, with 12 wins out of 20 and 60 percent was third. The Idaho teams won seven out of 13 with 54 percent.

Lewiston had four wins out of 12 and 33 percent, and Whitworth had two out of eight with 25 percent.

Four Rounds

Nearly 50 debaters from these six different schools participated in the tournament. There were 32 debates—four rounds each with eight debates. The rounds started at 8:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 3:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. Saturday in the different classrooms in the Ad building.

The question debated was: "Resolved—the powers of the president should be substantially increased."

The judges were Father Lemieux of Gonzaga, Professor Veatch of W. S. C., Prof. R. M. Brooking, Lewiston, Professor Montgomery, Yakima Normal school; and Mr. A. E. Whitehead.

Professor Veatch brought five of his advanced students of argumentation to act as judges. Mr. Whitehead, likewise, used some of his varsity debaters, including John Farquhar, Karl Hobson, William Wetherall, and Paris Martin.

Permanent League

At the business meeting, it was decided to organize a permanent league so that these tournaments may become an annual affair. This league will be expanded to include oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests also. Mr. Whitehead of Idaho was elected to draw up a constitution for this organization.

The tournament held Saturday was the first of its kind to be held in this part of the country. The representatives from the different schools considered is an excellent idea, and felt that it should be continued.

The Idaho participants were: Cecil Greathouse, Robert Baker, Elizabeth Coats, William McCrea, Branch Walker, Karl Jeppson, Clyde Koonz, Lewis Orland, Theron Ward, Edgar Gibb, Joe Herndon, Dallas Watkins, Charles Sanders, and William Watson.

"I" CLUB PLANS YEAR'S PROGRAM

Five Men Initiated Sunday;
Are Four More to Receive Rights

Very impressive ceremonies marked the initiation of new members into the "I" club Sunday at the Kappa Sigma house. Only five of the men that are eligible to be members were initiated however, the rest of them taking their turn next Sunday.

In the past the initiation rites of the "I" club have comprised a great deal of hacking and little else. However, a new ritual prepared by Orville Schmitz and Russ Garst has added considerably to the ceremony. Elbert Inman, Robert McCue, Chick Wilson, Theron Ward, and Herschel Swann who were initiated Sunday were the first to enter the "I" club when the new ritual was used.

Next Sunday Harold Klumb, Russ Honsowetz, Norman Iverson, and George Rich will be initiated.

An old annual custom will be followed again this year, when the new "I" men furnish entertainment for spectators between the halves at basketball games. A treat is promised tonight, when the "I" players make their initial bow as dramatic leaders. A stunt will be provided by three members of the "I" club, and something good in the way of dramatic endeavor is promised. Three more men will provide a skit at the game tomorrow night, and at all the home games in the future there will be three men to keep the crowd from growing weary during the half.

Sweaters to Faithful
A new amendment to the constitution was offered at the meeting Sunday, and is expected to pass, which would award sweaters

LIBRARY GETS FOSTER'S WORKS

Composer Is Noted for Such Songs as "Swanee River" and Many Others

The Foster Hall reproductions of the songs, compositions, and arrangements of Stephen C. Foster have been presented to the university library by Josiah Kirby Lilly, editor. The collection comprises of three volumes of Foster's works, each piece being separately bound. Foster is noted for such songs as "Old Folks at Home," "Nelly Gray," and "Swanee River." Although the bulk of the composer's works were written and arranged as long ago as 1855 and were classified among the "popular" songs of the day rather than as classics, they have lived and their popularity has continued up to the present day. The composer died in 1864.

NEW RUSH RULES ARE INAUGURATED

Will Add New Dates; Rushes
Must Live on the Campus

Several alterations to the present rushing rules were presented at the last meeting of the Interfraternity council which met last Thursday night at the L. D. S. Institute at 9:30 p. m.

Among these alterations was the suggestion which originated two new second rush dates, one for the afternoon on which the special arrives, and a second for the same evening. The motion was approved by the council. It was also suggested that the time on dinner dates be extended from 5:30 to 8:30 which gives an extra hour over the past time, 5:30 to 7:30. The motion further stipulated that all rushing dates be off at 11:30 p. m.

Another suggestion proposed that all rushes should be required to live on the campus during rush week. A committee consisting of Dock Hogue and Allen Severn was appointed by Claude Marcus, president of the council, to meet with the president of the university, or with other executives, to consider problems which might come up concerning housing of rushees during the rushing period. Marcus will also act with the committee.

The new date cards will be out sometime during the coming term according to those working on them. It was stipulated at the meeting that the old date card were to be used for rushing before the coming semester.

The many suggestions made at the meeting will be voted on some time in the future after all houses have had a chance to look them over and give their opinions on them. If the new rules are approved by a vote of the council, they will not be effective until the rushing period next fall.

A system which proposed a central filing system for information on prospective rushees to be kept in Moscow during the summer for the benefit of all fraternities was voted down at the meeting.

MEN'S CHORUS HONORS LEADER

Orville Westburg Honored at Banquet Before Leaving for Chicago Sunday

Friday evening at 6 o'clock the members of the ASUI male chorus met at the Blue Bucket Inn for a formal dinner in honor of Orville Westburg, director of the group, who left Moscow Sunday morning for Chicago where he has accepted a position with a woodwork firm.

Westburg
Friday evening at 6 o'clock the members of the ASUI male chorus met at the Blue Bucket Inn for a formal dinner in honor of Orville Westburg, director of the group, who left Moscow Sunday morning for Chicago where he has accepted a position with a woodwork firm.

Charles Dimond took a picture of the group at the conclusion of the dinner and the affair was ended with singing and a number of the songs which they have been working on this fall.

Twelve prominent women students were formally installed here Saturday as charter members of the Idaho chapter of Cardinal Key, new national service organization for upperclasswomen.

The new group was launched by Blue Key, national service organization for junior and senior men, which has had an active chapter on the campus since 1925. Cardinal Key will function as a sister organization to Blue Key in service projects for the university and student body in much the same manner as a chamber of commerce works for civic betterment. Membership to both organizations is based on campus activities, scholarship, and personality.

Hold Banquet

The banquet was presided over by Clayne Robison and the program consisted of speeches and songs. Dean French thanked the organizations from "A Deans Point of View." Jess Buchanan of the university faculty and Blue Key alumnus spoke on "The Duties of Blue Key and Cardinal Key to the University and the State." Richard Stanton, Blue Key president, and Margaret Moulton, Cardinal Key president, responded to toasts pertaining to their respective organizations. Doctor and Mrs. M. G. Neale each responded to short toasts.

The formal pledging of Cardinal Key pledges was administered by Richard Stanton.

After the initiation a formal

MITCHELL OBTAINS YAKIMA POSITION

Jack Mitchell, ex-'33, was recently transferred to the Yakima store of the Montgomery, Ward and company. He has been with the company since last July where he was located at Bellingham, Wash. While he was attending the university, Mitchell was a member of Blue Key, a national officer of Intercollegiate Knights, and an ex-dux of that organization. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

BEGINNING CLASS PRESENTS PLAYS

Four One-Act Dramas Given
By Elementary Students Friday

An interesting exhibition of student work was seen last Friday evening in the program of four one-act plays which were directed, acted, and produced by students in Fred C. Blanchard's elementary production classes.

"The Winner," written by Evelyn Cross, senior, was a light comedy, entertaining to actors and audience. Murva James gave a convincing performance as an exuberant, feather-brained young coed in love with the very youthful, stammering Curtis McIntosh (Frank Bevington). Charles Cherington as the father, was a well-shaken mixture of Will Rogers and an absentminded professor. Dorothy Requa played the mother.

George Ade's "Speaking to Father" proved the most amusing to an enthusiastic audience. Alma Lauder as the poetic, match making Mrs. Pickering and Harold Fisk

Large Crowd Hears Idaho Symphony Orchestra Sunday

The university symphony orchestra presented a program, which critics believe to be most advanced from a standpoint of execution and technique, at the auditorium Sunday afternoon before a crowd of about 800 people. Patricia Kennard, Moscow music student, appeared as a violin soloist in the second number, Mozart concerto in A Major for the violin and orchestra.

"Miss Kennard demonstrated a flawless technique, absolute precision, and musicianship which comes only through innate artistry," said Prof. Carleton Cummings, head of the music department. "She has been a pupil of Carl Claus for the past seven years. Her name will be added to the increasing list of young artists of whom the University of Idaho may well be proud," he said.

Many Encores
Under the direction of Prof. Carl Claus, the 48-piece organization concluded the program with Beethoven's symphony No. 5 in C Minor.

ARGONAUT STAFF MEETING

The entire Argonaut staff will meet tomorrow afternoon in Room 201 of the Ad building at 4 p. m. It is particularly important that all members be there on time. One's absence will signify his desire to be omitted from the staff list, unless previously excused by one of the editors.

Applications of others wishing to try out for the staff will also be received. Opportunities for feature writing, and column writing will be offered to the present members, particularly to those on the campus staff.

CLASS CUT SHORT FOR ASSEMBLY WEDNESDAY AT 10

Norman Haggood Will Lecture; Give Scholarship Trophies

CURTAIN AT 10:40 A. M.

Speaker Has Varied Career; Noted For Knowledge in Public Affairs

Ten o'clock classes will be dismissed at 10:30 Wednesday morning to give the students ample time to get seats in the auditorium for the assembly which will be called at 10:40. The public events committee will present Norman Haggood for the entertainment of the students.

President M. G. Neale will present the scholarship cups to the winning groups at the assembly. Following the presentation Mr. Haggood will speak on a topic that is of interest to present day students.

Haggood has a varied career, having graduated from the Harvard Law school, practiced law, edited magazines, reported for newspapers, lectured, written novels, foreign minister, and a member of the board of directors in the family conserve factory.

Harvard Graduate
After graduating from Harvard Haggood entered the Harvard Law school and graduated from that institution. He practiced law for only a short time. After leaving the law practice he reported on newspapers in Milwaukee, Wis., Chicago, and New York. He was always hired as the political reporter and spent some time in Washington, D. C., in that capacity.

Quitting the newspaper business the lecturer went to work for the Collier Publishing company where he edited Collier's magazine for a number of years. After leaving the Collier company he edited Harper's weekly, another influential and widely read magazine in the United States.

Minister to Denmark
Haggood's journalistic career was interrupted by his appointment as minister to Denmark in 1919 by the late President Woodrow Wilson. The foreign minister boasts the intimate acquaintanceships with all the presidents from Roosevelt to Roosevelt.

According to Harold R. Peat, New York city, "Haggood is one who can tell us exactly what industrial Democracy is and how it works—one of the most forceful and inspiring speakers in American life, and he discusses this subject not from theory, but from years of first hand experience."

Vandals Primed To Cross Up Beaver Defense; Cheering Section Planned For Game

Rally Committee Begins Action

North Side of Gymnasium
Will be "Roped Off" for Tonight's Game

The starting of an organized cheering section, beginning with tonight's game, was the main topic of the newly organized rally committee which met last night at the Kappa Sigma house. Lloyd Rutel, yell king is chairman of the committee.

After several hours of discussion the committee decided to encourage students to sit on the north side of the gymnasium. The abolishing of the ruling of "no dates allowed" at athletic contests was also discussed at the meeting.

Pep Band on South Side

The pep band will not sit on the north side of the gymnasium for tonight's contest. The band will occupy a similar position on the south side of the gymnasium. The Spurs will occupy the space formerly occupied by the pep band. The women's organization in conjunction with the intercollegiate knights will form the nucleus of the newly organized cheering section.

The purpose of encouraging the students to find seats on the north side of the gymnasium is to bring about the need of a more concentrated group of enthusiastic students. The section of the gymnasium will be reserved for students.

The intercollegiate knights and the Spurs will assist the rally committee in reserving the section for the students. Two knights and two Spurs will stand at the first landing in the gymnasium to direct the students to the proper place in the balcony. A like number of Spurs and knights will be stationed at the entrance to the north section of the balcony to reserve the space for the students. No out-of-town or townspeople will be allowed in this section. It is for the students who are spirit conscious!

Discuss Projects

The rally committee also discussed several projects to carry out after the start of the new semester. The plans are not definite at this time, but will add a new spirit to athletic contests at Idaho. The committee approved of the idea of entertainment between the halves of the games. The preference for entertainment will always be given to the "I" club which has always handled the acts in the past years.

Discussion of the duties of the new committee was brought before the group and ideas that have not been undertaken at any of the other coast institutions were planned by the group. Torch parades and all of the trimmings might come to pass on the Vandal home lot.

The committee will meet with campus officials over the week end and will hold another session February 1 to make definite arrangements for the remainder of the basketball season.

The committee which is composed of a representative from each of the leading campus groups is as follows: Lloyd Rutel, chairman, Chester Rodell, Lois Davies, Carrol Livingston, Ruth Kehrer, Hugh Eldridge, Jerome Brubaker, Marjorie Wurster, and Perry Culp, Jr.

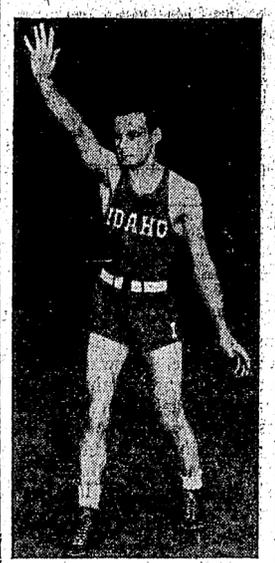

SPEECH CONTEST IS WON BY KOONTZ

The annual speech contest was held Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Ad 201. Clyde Koonz, with his speech on "Upperclass Tyranny," won first place. "Capital Punishment" presented by Mr. Miller took second place, and "Sunken Treasure" by Robert Little won third.

The contestants were chosen from the members of the elementary speech classes conducted by A. E. Whitehead and by Prof. Fred Blanchard. The winners will receive cash prizes.

The judges were John Farquhar, William Wetherall, and Cecil Greathouse, members of the varsity debate team.

Melon Hoister

VIC WARNER was one of the Vandal "giant killers" who upset the title bound Oregon State Beavers in the crucial second game at Corvallis last year, and found their "percentage" style of play just to his liking. He played most of the game at Pullman last Saturday, and is slated for the starting lineup tonight.

PEP BAND SHOW PLANS ARE MADE

Begins Rehearsals After Finals; to be Given in March

As soon as the final exams are over, the pep band will begin a month and a half of hard work in preparation for its annual show and concert which will probably be given sometime during the latter part of March.

A committee, composed of Bill Ames, Don Wolfe, Glen Exum, Richard Stanton, and Bob Campbell met last Sunday morning to complete plans for the actual show. According to Bill Ames, leader of the band, the show will be divided into three parts: the formal concert, and the stage show, consisting of the augmented pep band orchestra and other entertainment, such as dancing, singing, and humor, and the band in regular uniform. In the formal concert, the band will appear in full evening dress playing a program of varied classical music.

It is planned to keep as much of the entertainment as possible within the pep band itself and use little or no outside talent. Ames expressed the opinion that there is enough talent within the pep band to put on a show of the highest type, and one hard to surpass.

Although Ames was a little reluctant in giving out any early information concerning some of the features and numbers of the show, he said that he has appointed Don Wolfe, who has written several feature numbers for the pep band shows for the past three years, and Bob Campbell, who wrote one of the arrangements for the show last year, and who is now a student here and the "hot" trombonist of the band, to write three arrangements for the orchestra. Wolfe has already gotten busy and wrote out a concert arrangement of that popular tune of a few seasons ago, "My Melancholy Baby." Campbell is now at work on an original symphonic arrangement of the alma mater song, "Here We Have Idaho" and also an arrangement of a "hot" tune in which every member of the stage orchestra will have a chance to show his stuff, and "go to town" as the musicians say.

W. S. C. PROF ON AIR FRIDAY

President Roosevelt's latest proposal, the devaluation of the gold dollar by reducing its metallic content will be discussed by Dr. R. B. Heflebower of the business administration faculty over KWSC, state college broadcasting station, Friday evening. His talk will be on the air at 8:15 o'clock.

Big Ed Lewis Gone From O.S.C. Squad

New Combination Will Probably Take Floor
For Idaho

Oregon State's Coast basketball champions invade Moscow tonight to battle with the Vandals in the second of a four-game series in the Inland Empire. After a second Vandal-Beaver clash the Orangemen move to Pullman where they will meet the Washington State Cougars Friday and Saturday.

The Vandal battles with the Orangemen are crucial ones for both teams, and pre-game dope gives no appreciable edge to either outfit. Should the Oregonians lose one or both of their games with Idaho it will virtually blast their hopes for any chance to overcome the leading Huskies. Idaho, if she wins the Oregon State series, will find herself definitely out of the cellar and probably the closest challenger of the conference leading Washington team.

O'Connell Back

The champions boast a veteran lineup this season, built around the high scoring ace, Skeet O'Connell, forward. Fred MacDonald, Carl Lenchitsky, and Fred Hill, guards, and George Hibbard and Merle Taylor, forwards, are all lettermen from last season's championship quintet. Bob Bergstrom and Walter Palmberg are a pair of sophomores who have worked into the traveling squad.

The center position has given "Slats" Gill, Oregon State coach, much trouble this year as he has been trying to replace All-American Ed Lewis. Honors so far seem well divided between Cliff Folen, a six foot six inch skyscraper, and Wilbur Kidder, a six foot four inch sophomore.

Ed's Not Here
Exponents of the "percentage" style of basketball and masters of the block play, the Oregon State game is in direct contrast to the whirlwind tactics used by Washington here last week. Many of Oregon State's shots at the hoop come from elaborate manuevers which require excellent teamwork

STATE FORESTER SPEAKS AT MEET

A. W. Middleton Discusses
C. C. C. Plans at Xi
Sigma Pi Dinner

A. W. Middleton, Idaho state forester spoke on the C. C. C. plans for this year at the monthly dinner meeting of Xi Sigma Pi, forestry honorary, at the Blue Bucket Inn, Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock.

C. K. McHarg of the regional offices at Missoula, Mont., talked on the bill now before Congress, to transfer the department of public domain to the Forest Service or to establish a separate bureau of grazing.

Brown Speaks
Stewart Brown, Xi Sigma Pi, spoke on the recreational use of the forests. He said that in some states, especially Michigan, the present income from recreation in the forests is greater than that from the lumbering industry at its peak.

UNIVERSITY SENDS OUT QUESTIONNAIRE

The Idaho high school senior census, taken annually by the university through the office of O. A. Fitzgerald, university editor, is now in operation.

Questionnaires has been sent out to all the seniors in the state. They ask questions concerning school preference, vocational interest, and other information. The direct object of the questions is to determine as closely as possible the attitude of all Idaho high school seniors toward high education.

Approximately 6000 of these questionnaires were sent out this year.

Comparable to Any

The university symphony orchestra played a difficult concert Sunday afternoon to a full house. As was clearly evidenced in that appearance, there is an organization of which the students of the University of Idaho can be proud. Those 50 students who rehearse twice each week for the entire year have accomplished something worthwhile.

To Mr. Carl Claus, the Argonaut expresses appreciation and congratulations. His work for many years has been of the utmost value to Idaho—His building up of such a fine musical organization as represented the students in the first of its concerts Sunday afternoon has been excellent and cannot be unnoticed.

Students, you may take pride in saying that your symphony orchestra is comparable with any student organization on the Pacific coast or in the West.

There will be another orchestra concert in the spring. A greater number of students in the audience then would be appreciated.

Norman Hapgood, Wednesday

Again the public events committee offers a prominent speaker to the students in assembly—Norman Hapgood, erstwhile American statesman, ex-minister to Denmark, and former editor of Collier's weekly. Several times this year we have the opportunity of hearing famous men and women. There are more to come—tomorrow, for instance. As a reminder, let us remember it is to our advantage to attend.

The new rally committee, appointed by Student Body President Robert Newhouse several days ago, has started to function. Let us assure them our cooperation so that they many feel worthy of promoting spirit for the entire student body rather than the loyal few.

Fruit Every Day Keeps Your Blood Going Okay

Doctors and dietitians who advise eating more fruits and vegetables are supported by the soundest of chemical reasons, says Prof. R. S. Snyder, agricultural chemist at the university.

Fruits and vegetables furnish the body with necessary alkalies to balance the acids in the blood stream. The fine balance between acids and alkalies in the blood is an extremely important factor in health, Professor Snyder explains. The blood reaction normally is neutral or slightly alkaline, and is constant within a very narrow range. If this balance shifts even slightly to the acid or alkaline side, ill health is a certainty. And if the unbalanced condition continues, death results.

Energy and heat requirements of the body are supplied by organic or fuel materials in food. When a diet doesn't furnish enough of these materials, body substances are burned up to meet the deficiency. Conversion of the organic materials in food leaves the alkalies and acids free in the blood stream. As most diets usually contain more foods that form acids than alkalies, the body must have some means of balancing the two.

First Line of Defense

The blood is the first line of defense, containing as it does "buffer" compounds which can take up relatively large quantities of either acids or alkalies with little change in themselves. Too much acid in the blood saturates these compounds to the point where they can no longer hold the blood stream neutral. When that happens, the kidneys take up the battle and eliminate the acids through the urine. The kidneys also tend to restore the alkali reserve of the blood by supplying it with more of the buffer compounds.

Prolonged use of a high-acid diet in the end overburdens the kidneys. Even though the kidneys manage to keep the acids out of the blood, the excess of acid in the urine may cause uric acid crystals to form. The result is the disease commonly called kidney "stones."

Content Varies

Foods vary widely as potential sources of acids and alkalies, Professor Snyder says. Foods excessive in acids are meats of all kinds, fish, shellfish, and eggs. Bread-stuffs and cereals such as oatmeal, rice, and wheat show a slight acidity. Most of the fruits and vegetables are decidedly alkaline, with milk and cream slightly so. These foods enrich the diet in minerals and vitamins, improve intestinal conditions, and yield alkaline residues when burned in the body.

Taste is no guide in determining whether a food is acid or alkaline. Many fruits and fruit juices have an acid reaction when eaten, but are changed to alkalies within the body. This is true of all the citrus fruits. Tartaric acid in grape juice may cause acid reaction if taken in too large quantities. Cranberries, plums, and prunes all contain hippuric acid which the body cannot burn, and are definitely acid in their reactions.

and perfect timing to execute. The Beavers often take much time to work into position for their plays, but once the play starts it moves lightning fast. A few swift passes, a legally executed block, and someone, usually the "dead-eye" O'Connell is under the basket for a clean shot.

The Gillmen miss the amazingly clever ball-handling of Lewis this year, but still are able to run their smooth attack successfully. So far this season they have won and lost one game to the University of Oregon and Washington State college.

Against the champions' veteran lineup, Coach Rich Fox will probably start Howard Grenier, Harold Klumb, Wally Geraghty, Merle Fisher, and Vic Warner.

Grenier, Idaho's all-coast center candidate, and Klumb, are the two largest men playing regular positions in this conference and are leading their teammates in scoring. The two work well together and have proved an invaluable asset in taking backboard rebounds and making them into scores for the Vandals.

Wally Checks Skeet

Wally Geraghty, a flashy speedster who is playing his first season of varsity ball, has been playing a fighting, heads-up game throughout the season which has won him a definite berth on the first string. He played an excellent game against the Huskies, his beautiful checking holding the famed Willis to a lone point while he garnered seven for himself. His outstanding work has won him the difficult assignment of guarding Skeet O'Connell, the famous Oregon State deadeye and leading scorer. The work of these two men should provide some interesting entertainment in itself.

Viv Warner, junior letterman, who has picked up steam rather slowly this season, has come along fast in the last week of practice. Warner played outstanding ball against the Beavers last year, finding their style of play especially to his liking. Against W. S. C. last Saturday he turned in the best game of his college career, and showed such aggressiveness and smoothness that he will probably occupy a starting post against the Oregon State outfit tonight.

Merle Fisher, a newcomer in the Idaho lineup at the Washington game, proved himself another sophomore whose smoothness and floorwork will probably win conference acclaim in the next few years. Although the W. S. C. conference game was Fisher's first game of the season and his first work against high-calibre competition, he came through with some nice offensive work. His accurate passing and general smoothness of play seemed to aid the team materially in holding down the usual tendencies toward wildness. Fisher's play probably won him a definite place on the Vandal first string and as he gets more experience under his belt he will probably be one of the main cogs on Fox's machine.

Attack Improves

Glen Naslund and Norm Iverson, sophomores, and Bill Katsilometes, a transfer from the southern branch, are the three more who are most likely to see a good deal of action.

The Idaho attack, ragged at the start of the season, has shown signs of great improvement. Oregon State's style of attack demands possession of the ball most of the game, and if Fox's boys can hang onto the leather more than they have done in games so far, the visitors will leave on the short end of the score.

The games will start at 7:30 in the Memorial gymnasium. Students will be admitted on ASUI cards and general admission will be 40 cents.

her as the fresh young college boy, gave interesting characterizations. Mark Felt was a shirt-sleeved bossy Pickle King, Tillie Johnson, the Pickles Princess, and Howard Russell, the spectacled Professor Bliss.

Well Handled

Dorothy Dole in the title role of "Marthe" gave an excellent performance at the blind, crippled old Irish woman whose hard will, fiery, indomitable spirit and pathetic little romance and color given the entire play. Rosalind Essick as the subdued, sturdy neighbor woman was also outstanding. Willa St. Clair and Bill Cherrington were the picturesque young lovers who re-enact the quaint love scene of Marthe, with the song that "haunts her still." Mary O'Neil and Alldrich Bowler were cast in character roles.

"Bread" was a play on the farm problem that dealt unflinchingly with horrid pitfalls for young men, sweet patience, and stark poverty. A difficult play for young actors, they managed to make it amusing. Halle Hansen handled well the lines of the cantankerous old "grandma." Dorothy Regus had a difficult role in the hardworking mother, fighting for the happiness of her children. Barage Walker, Eugene Ryan, Harvard Luke, and Murva James were cast as the rest of the members of the family.

Vandal Babes Beat Kittens

Clever Floor Work and Trick Shots Win for Idaho Boys

Combining clever ball-hawking with stellar basket work, Coach "Red" Jacoby's yearling basketball club neatly decided the Washington State frosh last Friday night, piling up 41 counters to 30 for the Cougar kittens. Though ragged in spots, the game brought out flashes of play that were almost of conference caliber, both teams using a spectacular wide-open style of play especially attractive from the spectator's standpoint.

The W. S. C. yearlings opened the tilt with a rush to pile up a brace of baskets only to have Larson and Kerns tip in a pair of goals for Idaho. Hall, playing a beautiful game at guard for Idaho, then sank one, making the score 8 to 7 for the Vandal Babes.

Eighty-one editors, publishers, and advertising men from all over the state of Oregon met last week end at the University of Oregon for the sixteenth annual convalescence of the Oregon State Editorial Association there, according to an item in The Oregon Emerald for January 20. On the program for the session were a number of talks to the association by various editors, the award of a certificate to The Hood River News, best 1932 weekly newspaper, and the award made to Oregon's best 1933 weekly or semi-weekly newspaper.

If you recall, we mentioned just after vacation the story from The Evergreen, Washington State college paper, telling of the loss of the light from the rear end of the W. S. C. student special. Well, the light has been found and the student body, wholly or severally, are exonerated from all blame. Following is a portion of the story printed last week end:

"Mystery that cloaked the disappearance of the Union Pacific railway's special 'Cougar tail-light' was partially solved yesterday after its unexplained return to the U. P. depot Wednesday evening. It was believed for a time that some prankish student had made off with the drum sign.

"That belief was entirely disrupted, however, after it was discovered this week by George Chail, equipment man of the men's gym, who noticed an odd looking article, which proved to be the light, discarded alongside a fence near the bottom of Military Hill. The finder returned it to a responsible party, who in turn deposited it at the front door of the depot."

Perhaps you have never heard of a "cram" school, but students at UCLA have just such an organization made available to them in preparing for their final examinations. The Sawyer School of Coaching ran a three column, 15 in advertisement in The California Daily Bruin recently with this heading: "Fool your finals with an Akaqanyela (meaning Seminar)." The ad went on to describe the various courses which would be completely reviewed for those subscribing to the seminar. The names of the courses, and the date and hour of the seminar were given. "A systematic review of lecture and text enables the students to maintain a creditable scholarship," said the advertisement. The course was advertised at $1 with individual coaching offered also.

to men who have consistently stayed with the team in a sport for three years and who have earnestly tried and given their best to the game without making a letter. The sweater will be the regulation "I" sweater, however without the stripe. It will have a gold "I" in place of the regulation white. Two men in the past three years have come up against this situation, and the "I" club is rewarding them with sweaters and will initiate them as honorary members Sunday. They are Oliver Davis and George Hogan. In the past Coach Calland has provided gold footballs to men he thought deserving, but who had not earned enough minutes to give them a letter. This was done at his own expense, and the "I" club feels that they owe it to the men to show their recognition of the good sportsmanship and tenacity shown. A joint dance with Pullman was discussed and was favorably considered. This will be a joint dance between the "I" club and the "W" club, and will probably be held in Pullman.

An Old Custom

An old custom, almost forgotten in recent years is to be revived this year. The members of the "I" club are to sit in the "W" section of the Pullman gym when Idaho plays W. S. C. at Pullman, and "W" men are to sit in the "I" club section of the Idaho gym when W. S. C. plays Idaho here. Neither the "I" men nor the "W" men will have to pay admission to games between the two schools. This custom was discontinued sometime ago because the courtesy was abused in that other men borrowed lettermen's sweaters to get into the games. It is hoped that the condition will not arise again. After all, the men at W. S. C. and at Idaho are friendly when they are not in some contest.

The "I" club is taking an active part in reviving old traditions and enforcing them on the campus. The next semester probably will show a lot of change for the better in school spirit if the efforts of the "I" club are taken with good spirit. They believe spirit can be kept alive by having and keeping traditions.

"From all indications the 'I' club is going to be more active this next semester than it ever has been before," reports Orville Schmitz, vice president.

Formal and Informal Dances Carried Out Unusual Themes

Social activities on the campus this last week end were numerous and varied. Formal and informals vied for the spotlight of popular favor. Each dance used a very different theme for purposes of decoration. These varied from the modernistic motif of the Gamma Phis to the good old fashion-

Banquet and Dance Given By Groups

The joint initiation and installation banquet for charter members of Cardinal Key and for new members of Blue Key was held Saturday night at the Blue Bucket. The table was decorated with blue and cardinal flowers and candles. Programs were black with the names of both organizations in blue and cardinal. Clayne Robinson was toastmaster for the occasion and speeches were made by President M. G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, Jess Buchanan, Richard Stanton, and Margaret Moulton. Guests were: Miss Jean Collette, faculty advisor for Cardinal Key, President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, and Jess Buchanan.

Following the banquet a dance was held at the Delta Delta Delta chapter house. Decorations were in blue and cardinal, and over the lights were shades made of cellophane with silhouettes of keys. On the mantle was a large key. Programs were of gold with a key on the cover, half of which was blue, and half cardinal. Patrons and patronesses were: President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Buchanan, and Mr. and Mrs. George Horton. Bert Woods orchestra provided the music for the dance.

Dinner Dance Given By Gamma Phi

Those invited to the Gamma Phi Beta upperclassmen's formal dinner dance, spent the evening in an atmosphere of one of the better night clubs. The motif was modernistic with many bright colors on a background of black. The table decorations and the place cards carried out the futuristic design also, with the table done in black and silver, and the place cards black with a silver crest. Miss S. H. Devereaux was the patroness. Music was furnished by Bert Woods' orchestra. Guests were: Richard Burke, Earl Bopp, Wilber Braham, Nat Congdon, Frank Rogers, Carl Lettice, Afton Barrett, Wanek Stein, Reg Lyons, Joseph Gilgon, John Norby, William Tison, Arthur Davidson, Wayne Harper, Richard Stanton, Paul Ward, Ralph Utt, and Warren Russell.

Banquet Given For Director

The ASUI Men's chorus had a formal banquet Friday night at the Blue Bucket in honor of Orville Westburg, the director, who is leaving school. Fred Sanger, manager of the club acted as toastmaster. During the evening the group sang several songs. Dr. F. C. Church, faculty advisor of the group, was present.

Blue Books Serve As Dance Programs

Examination grades were unusually high at the Blue Book informal dance given Saturday night by Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Blue books were suspended from the ceilings of the two rooms which were used for dancing, and chemical equations, pictures of faculty members, and quiz questions were written on blackboards on the walls. In one room there was a "Special," on which students who leave school after semester exams may return home. Dance programs were miniature blue books. Music was furnished by Chuck Collins' dance band. Patrons and patronesses: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davison, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Sowder. The guest list included: Ellamae Walters, Mary Jane Pace, Jean Ricker, Lillian Kroh, Bonnie Low, Janet McCoy, Bertha Wilburn, Peggy Hair, Mary Hartley, Dorothy Kerr, Dorothy Walton, Charlotte Kennedy, Iris Curkhalter, Charlotte Ahlquist, Helen Blackaby, Ruth Smith, Lois Davies, Murva James, Dorothy Yturri, Frances Pains, Dorothy Rosevear, Christine Orchard, Mrs. James Potter, Lillian Sorenson, Judy Hoover, Marie Schneider, Margarethe Kjosness, Margaret Hol-

Beta Theta Pi had an informal dance at the chapter house Saturday night. Mrs. J. W. Barton was the patroness.

Miss Lillian Selgler, and Miss Helen McCrea, Spokane, were week end guests of Delta Delta Delta.

Thursday dinner guests of Alpha Phi were: Dr. and Mrs. Erwin Graue, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schuldt, Dr. F. C. Church, and Arthur Beattie.

Ellen Francis was the Sunday dinner guest of Alpha Phi.

Sunday dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boyer, Dr. and Mrs. George Morey Miller, George Morey, Jr., Marian Graham, and Margaret Henry, Pullman.

Harold Sprague, Lewiston, was a week end guest of Beta Theta Pi.

Miss Jean Collette, and Miss Virginia Peck were Sunday dinner guests of Delta Delta Delta.

I may be taking a lot for granted in discussing Spring so soon—but we need something to brighten up the next few weeks even if it's just planning our spring wardrobe on the back of our blue books.

But before I begin on that extensive discussion—fashions, not blue books—let me say that Bee Fisher again makes "Promenade" in an all red outfit, a glowing dark red, as she wore it Friday night at the Bucket.

And Friday night, too, at the Gamma Phi dinner dance, Fritzie Smith was a symphony of red and gold. Her sandals were of gold in harmony. The molded lines of the gown fell into a slight train. The only trimming was a narrow braid of the self material attached to the neckline.

Maybe we didn't have a white winter—but we are doomed to a white spring—a black and white, a brown and white, a navy and white, and just white.

These severe combinations are made intriguing by freshening up with the earthy colors of a "back-to-nature" season—greyed green, dusty pink, and muddy brown. Iron grey is the current shade of that hue. Everything has turned elemental—even to a wind swept silhouette. And upon closer examination—"closer examination," well more later, I've lost the mood.

Scholarship Average Is 4.0; Upperclassmen Can Have 15 Points and Underclassmen 10

Individual women's activities were filed in Miss French's office Wednesday following a meeting of the A. W. S. cabinet at which the cards were passed out to be filled. The scholarship average for all women carrying activities must not be lower than 4.0. There are three groups of activities, A, B, and C. From group A a woman may select only one activity. If she has one in A, she may have only one in B, but if she has none in A, she may have two in B. A woman may choose whatever she wishes from group C but her total number of points may not exceed 15 for upperclassmen and 10 for underclassmen.

"Handsome Brute" No Longer Rates With Weaker Sex

Physical and mental fitness are the most necessary characteristics of the ideal husband, according to papers written by women in Miss Jeannette Wirt's personal hygiene classes. He must also be educated, intelligent, cheerful, peppy, and have a sense of humor and similar interests. Neatness and cleanliness were desired, but otherwise appearance was scarcely mentioned, one writer even saying "Heaven deliver me from a handsome brute." Other preferred characteristics were a mind of his own, liking children, and total abstinence. The first requirement, it is interesting to note corresponds exactly with that in several other recent contests, one in the Physical Culture magazine and another by Brigham Young university. In choice of their own vocations, teaching led, with secretary or business woman next and home-making a close third. Others ranged from ministerial work to running a stock ranch.

The ideal friend must first of all be able to keep confidences. She must also be loyal, understanding, and willing to offer helpful criticism. A sense of humor is also desirable.

Edgar Lacy, who graduated from the university last spring is now coaching in the Rupert high school.

S. A. I. PLANS SONG CONTEST

Rehburg in Charge; Won Last Year by Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Delta Theta

Martha Jean Rehburg, junior in the department of music and a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, has been appointed general chairman for the song contest sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, national music honorary for women, which will be held during the latter part of March. This contest, which is conducted every year by the honorary, is open to each group house, and a silver cup is awarded both to the men's house and the women's house which is judged the best. Last year's chairman was Mae Belle Donaldson, and the two cups went to Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Delta Theta.

Miss Rehburg will appoint group chairmen for each house in the near future. Judges have not been decided upon yet, but will probably be picked from the music departments of nearby schools, according to Patricia Kennard, president of the honorary.

In the California Daily a young coed is advertising for some gigolo to escort her to the Senior informal. She states that she will be in front of a certain hall, in a V-16 Cadillac. She is five feet three, weighs 100 pounds. She states that she will pay all expenses.

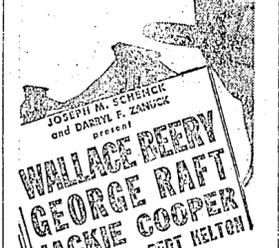

A recent survey shows that there are more Harvard students at nudist colonies than from all the other American schools combined.

Four Campus Bands to Play Saturday Night at Blue Bucket Inn

Reversing the old tradition that musicians are supposed to play and not dance, the musicians of the dance orchestras of the campus will sponsor an all college dance Saturday night at the Blue Bucket.

This novel dance is the first of its kind to ever be put on by the musicians, is the culmination of several weeks planning on the part of the various orchestra leaders. Next Saturday night was chosen because none of the orchestras are no social activities scheduled. The music for the dance will be furnished by the Blue Bucket band, Chuck McConnell's orchestra, Tom Armour's Blue Devils, and Wood and Woodard's Tune Tallors, each playing at 45 minute intervals.

According to Chuck McConnell, who is in charge of the arrangements, there will be plenty of music to suit everyone and each band will try to outdo the other in the quality of the dance arrangements and entertainment.

"This will probably be the only opportunity for students to dance to all the bands of the campus in one night, and I'm sure that there are no better musicians on any campus as we have right here among us," said McConnell.

VANDALS THUMP COUGARS, 34-28; O.S.C. NEXT

By BILL McCREA

This week appears to be the crucial period in the race for conference honors. Although the University of Washington has an option on the pennant, this week will probably disclose whether or not she is to be given any competition. Oregon State takes the road for a brace of games with both the Vandals and the Cougars. If the last year's champions can win all of these contests, they will still be in a good position to combat the Huskies right for the title.

Oregon State is rated as having the best chance to fight it out with Washington for the crown. With five lettermen back, three of them regulars from their 1933 championship team, the Beavers have great possibilities. Coach Slat's Gill was worried for some time over a replacement for Ed Lewis, but now has Wilbur Kluder, a 6 ft. 4 in. pivot man, and Cliff Folen, a 6 ft. 6 in. beanpole.

The fans are slated to watch a lot of ball passing tonight. The Beavers depend almost entirely upon block plays from a set offense. These necessitate passing the ball around until the play can get set, and produce a type of play which is slow and not particularly interesting to the spectator. Idaho's fast-passing, quick-breaking style is in direct contrast, and the game should provide an interesting clash of styles of play.

Oregon and Oregon State played a game Friday with both teams playing the slow type of ball. According to Gregory, of The Oregonian, he counted on the average of 40 passes before each shot until he got tired watching and decided that chess would be a more interesting game to watch.

The Vandal victory over Washington State proved an interesting game in more ways than one. The Idaho attack showed much improvement and a great increase in smoothness and lack of wild passes. Wally Geraghty played perhaps the outstanding game of the evening in holding down "long shot" Willis to a lone point. In the meantime Wally went out and picked off seven points for himself.

Vic Warner, junior letterman, again showed the high calibre brand of ball which he displayed against Oregon State last year. Vic plays an unusual type of ball in that, in spite of being an aggressive forward, his value is in his checking and passing rather than in his scoring. Vic played most of the W. S. C. game without scoring a point, but proved so valuable to the team that his lack of points was easily compensated for.

Merle Fisher, a sophomore who played last year for St. Martin's in Lacey, Washington, appears to be slated to start the rest of the games for the Vandals. His polished work had a steadying effect on the passing attack and his play, in his first college competition, proved that Coach Fox has one more smooth sophomore for his future teams.

The Vandals have greatly improved their foul shooting accuracy since the opening contests with Washington. Against W. S. C. the Vandals sank 10 out of 13 free shots and in the last Washington game they made 12 out of 15 attempts. Such a percentage helps a lot in this league.

URGE FOOTBALL GAME AT BOISE

Boise Junior Chamber Wires Invitation to Play College There

Featured on the sports page of the Idaho (Boise) Statesman for Saturday is a story asserting that an invitation for a football game to be played at Boise between the University of Idaho and College of Idaho, on any of four dates next fall, had been forwarded to George E. Horton, graduate manager for the Vandals.

Manager Horton, informed of the story Monday morning, said he had received such an invitation by telegram Saturday but said schedule matters for games other than coast conference contests still were undecided and he could not say yet whether it would be possible for the Idaho team to journey to Boise on any of the dates offered—October 13, November 3, November 24 or November 29.

The offer came from the Boise junior chamber of commerce, which met with L. H. Basler, coach of the Caldwell eleven.

Fox Finds A Combination That Clicks; Willis Is Checked to One Point

Playing their best game this season, Idaho defeated W. S. C. 34 to 28 in the opening basketball game of their four tilt series Saturday night at Pullman. The score was tied three times in the first few minutes, but after the count was 6 to 6, Idaho forged to the front and kept their lead throughout the game.

With Howard Grenier and Wally Geraghty leading the way, Idaho ran the count to 22 to 14 at the half time. Washington State came back in the second half and showed her strength as a team but it was not enough. Harold Klumb, big sophomore forward, counted nine points in the second half to prove Idaho's winning factor.

COUGARS' SPURT GIVES VANDALS THE JITTERS

Putting forth her best effort, W. S. C. slowly crept upon Idaho until with only two minutes to go Idaho was leading 28 to 27. Here Klumb sank two goals in quick succession and Grenier added a free throw for good measure. During the same time McPhee made a free throw for W. S. C.

Coach Rich Fox found a combination of players that baffled the Cougars with a high class brand of basket shooting. Howard Grenier and Harold Klumb were the big elements in the scoring department of this combination. They lead the scoring with 11 and 10 points respectively.

WARNER & FISHER WERE RIGHT IN THERE

Vic Warner and Merle Fisher completed the combination. Warner replaced "Lefty" Naslund early in the game, and played high class ball the rest of the evening. He proved himself especially adept at checking the set offense of the Cougars that resembles the Oregon State style, and won a berth on the starting lineup for tonight's game.

Fisher, playing his first conference game, and without the experience that 15 games this season have given his teammates, turned in a real game. His steady passing was a real boost to the Foxmen's offense, and this 180-pound boy will be checking as

IDAHO FENCERS TRY THEIR WINGS

The Idaho fencing team directed by Fred C. Blanchard met its first competition at Pullman Saturday. The match was a three-way encounter, W. S. C., Spokane Athletic club, and Idaho each entered three men. W. S. C. made the best showing capturing 13 matches. The Spokane Athletic club was in second place with 11 matches and Idaho was last with four victories.

Bob Harris was the best performer for the Idaho team, winning the majority of Idaho's matches. Hugo Kramer and Morey Miller are the other members of the team. Another match between these three contestants has been scheduled for February 4.

CONFERENCE RACE NEARLY AT PEAK

Idaho Has Strong Chance of Reaching the Top Position

Tuesday and Wednesday—Idaho versus Oregon State at Moscow. Friday and Saturday—Oregon vs. Washington at Seattle and Oregon State vs. Washington State at Pullman.

The crucial week in the conference race seems to have been reached. With six games on tap, the week will probably determine who will be holding which positions at the end of the race.

Oregon State goes on the road for the first time this season and must win at least three out of her four games to be considered still in the race for the championship. One loss might not do any harm, particularly if Oregon should manage to tumble Washington once or twice. Should Oregon lose both the games she will be virtually out of the race. If they should manage to upset the Huskies twice, the race would still be wide open, but the possibilities seem quite remote.

W. S. C. is out. Washington State is practically out of the picture with five defeats already chalked up on the record sheet. Idaho has the possibility of finishing strong if she should strike a hot streak and win the next 10 out of her 11 games. Even should they make a clean sweep of their remaining contests, the Husky horde would have to be humbled by someone to leave any possible opening.

Idaho has an opportunity to get out of the cellar by winning either or both of her games. If the Vandals can win both contests they will have a good chance of being second in the conference standings when the week is over. If Washington defeats the Webfoots and O. S. C. defeats the Cougars once, the Vandals will find themselves transformed from cellar occupants to the runners-up to the conference leaders—this is all providing that the Foxmen do defeat Oregon State twice.

Next week will find O.S.C. meeting the Huskies on the Corvallis court. Should Oregon, who looks to have the best chance of providing any competition for the Huskies, win four of her games this week, that series may prove the crucial one.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Lindley hall annexed the intramural swimming championship in the meet last night with a total of 27 points. Delta Chi was next with 17, S. A. E. third with nine, Phi Delta Theta and Independents tied for fourth place, Delta Tau Delta came in fifth with a total of four points, the Chi Alpha Pi was third and three, and T. M. A. was last with two points. The Sigma Nus were deducted 20 points for failing to have their entry compete in the finals. This victory gives Lindley hall a big lead in the intramural cup race. The exact points for the different group houses have not been decided upon, but the standings will be given out in an early issue.

The results of the meet last night were: McKibbin, Lindley hall, first, Kleiner, Delta Chi, second, and LeFavour, Independents, third in the 50-yard free-style, time 28 seconds. "FISH" NOW IN SWIM FOR REGULAR LINEUP

Oregon State has her Gill, but Idaho now has a whole "fish". Merle Fisher is his real name, and while not much has been heard from this 180-pound transfer from St. Martin's Junior college so far this season, he started raising some thunder with the Cougars at Pullman last Saturday, and there'll be plenty heard from

"Fish" from now on. He played in his first game of the season last Saturday, and even minus the experience 15 games already played have given his teammates, he fitted in smoothly in the attack that beat the Cougars. He will probably start at guard tonight against the Beavers.
