

"I" CLUB BACKS RALLY COMMITTEE'S PLANS FOR GAME

Lettermen Okay Dates at all Games except Football Battles

INITIATE 4 MORE MEN

Wilson Can't Find Costume; Stunt at W. S. C. Game Saturday

Four men were initiated into the "I" club Sunday morning at Lindley hall, Harold Klumb, Norman Iverson, and Russell Honsowetz as regular members, and Oliver Davis as an honorary member.

Carroll Livingston's report on the progress of the pep committee lead to quite a discussion on boosing. The "I" club members unanimously agreed that the boosing must stop, and to accomplish the ban on boosing, they have worked out the following plan, and they ask that the student body give it the proper support, and refrain from taking an antagonistic attitude towards the "I" men. They will be there to help and an antagonistic attitude will show very poor sportsmanship.

There will be an "I" man seated in each section of the gym, and he will have his "I" sweater on. When any boosing is done in that section, he will ask the person doing it to stop. If the offender does not stop, he will be invited to a party in front of the Ad. building at some future date. The "I" men will not have their paddles at the game, and will not do any hacking at that time.

The "I" men want it known that their organization has as its aim the betterment of student life and activity upon the campus, and also wish it known that they do not want the club to be disliked because of excessive use of the paddle. They do not commend its too frequent use.

Dates Are O. K.

There were some comments in regard to dates at games, and it was decided that as far as the "I" club was concerned, dates were in order at all athletic contests except football games. Any dates at football games will be noted, and sufficient action taken to provide against a re-occurrence of the offense.

A motion to allow the yell king to become an honorary member of the "I" club was voted down because it was pointed out that there was a definite purpose in view in the awarding of the "I", and while the yell king worked with the "I" club most of the time, he did not do the work which is required of the "I" aspirant. Plans were also discussed for the joint dance with the "W" club, and the committee reports that all arrangements have been made with the exception of naming the date it is to be held.

The stunt promised for last Wednesday evening between the halves of the O. S. C.-Idaho game was cancelled because the "I" club was unable to find a costume that would fit Chick Wilson. There will be a stunt between the halves of the W. S. C.-Idaho tilt Saturday night.

MOUNTAINEER IS ROYALTY GUEST

Former Idaho Student Is On Way to Visit Duke of Windsor

According to information received here yesterday, Paul Petzoldt, a former Idaho student, who has been acting as guide in the Teton National park for tourists and Alpine enthusiasts, is in Chicago enroute to England where he will be the guest of the Duke of Windsor.

Petzoldt and Glenn Exum, a student at the university, have acted as guides in the Grand Tetons for several seasons. It was there that Petzoldt met the Duke of Windsor and guided his party to the summit of the Grand Teton, one of the most difficult to ascend in America. Petzoldt has an enviable reputation as a mountaineer among climbers in America, according to Exum. Petzoldt and Exum are responsible for discovering a new route to the top of the Grand Teton. Exum is a member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity and Petzoldt is a Kappa Sigma.

BURSAR'S NOTICE

If you have no old accounts to settle and no mistakes to correct in your present fee statement, it will relieve congestion for you to mail your statement and check to the Bursar's office or deposit through the cashier's door. Act at once.

WATER POLO IS NEWEST SPORT

Swimmers Adopt New Tank Sport for Coming Tank Season; May Organize Team

Water polo, a new sport at the university, has been started and is being developed by the Idaho tank enthusiasts. There have been no intercollegiate meets so far, but it is hoped that there will be in the near future. If W. S. C. can organize a team from their swimming squad an attempt will be made to schedule a match with them. The only games played thus far have been between the men on the varsity swimming squad and a team from the Hell Divers. Plans are to select a freshman team.

The necessary equipment for regulation polo meets is now available and plans are now in effect to deepen part of the pool to meet the regulations. The pool must be five feet deep. Goals and polo balls have been purchased for the teams.

FLORISTS HONOR THOMAS ASHLEE

University Botanist Will be Contributor to Garden Dictionary

Two distinct honors recently have been conferred upon Thomas R. Ashlee, florist at the university. Mr. Ashlee, whose writings on garden subjects are widely known throughout the United States and Canada, has been invited to be a major contributor to a new national garden dictionary and to assist in selecting a regional vice-president for the new American Rock Garden society.

900-Page Book

The garden dictionary will be a 900-page book under the sponsorship of Houghton Mifflin company. Because of his extensive writings on all phases of gardening, Mr. Ashlee has been invited by the editor of the new dictionary to indicate the subjects upon which he wishes to write for this book. The plan of the publishers is to bring together leading garden authorities of the United States in all phases of flower, fruit, vegetable, shrub, and tree growing.

The editor of the Gardeners' Chronicle of America has asked Mr. Ashlee to cooperate with two Colorado garden specialists in selecting some enthusiastic amateur rock gardeners as a vice president for the new American Rock Garden society. This regional vice president will direct the affairs of the society in the states of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, and Idaho. Because of the tremendous rise in interest in rock gardening this new organization promises to develop into one of the largest rock garden societies in the country.

Campus Cannons Have Boomed Their Last Boom

Because of their service in the Civil War, the two cannons in front of the Ad. building have been valued as historical pieces ever since they were sent to the university in 1894, and, after about eleven years usage by the then-existing artillery department, set up as companion pieces to the memorial statue. But all this has not prevented their being used for many practical jokes.

Threatened Imposter

Two Boer war generals whom the students decided were imposters were threatened by them; on another occasion they made the echoes reverberate all through the hills around Lewiston. And one midnight they were fired simultaneously in front of General Chrisman's home, then opposite Hutchison's studio. Incidentally, when the culprits were found, they had to drag them back up the hill where they belonged through mud that seemed yards deep, since this was before Moscow could boast paved streets.

Swiped by W. S. C.

The most recent episode in which they figured occurred about seven years ago at that most opportune time, the Idaho-W. S. C. game. Several Pullman men managed to evade the guards, get possession of the cannons, and hide them in a shed near their stadium. Next day they were fired each time Washington made a touchdown. It was only after much correspondence between the two military departments that they were returned unharmed.

TEETH FILLED BY MEDALS

A Detroit City college track star, in need of dental work, but out of funds, took three large gold medals to his dentist, which the medical man melted, using part of the gold for filling the teeth and accepting the rest in payment.

TO HOLD MUCKERS DANCE SATURDAY

Miners Sponsor Annual Ball at Blue Bucket Inn for Coming Weekend

The Associated Miners will sponsor their annual Muckers' Ball Friday, February 3, at the Blue Bucket Inn. The admission is 75 cents per couple, and the tickets are going fast according to Carroll Livingston, business manager. There will be programs on which each dance will be named after a senior in the School of Mines. Along with the name will also be an associated name to show the particular mining qualities of the individual. The decorations will bear out the idea of mines and mining.

The Associated Miners who have held the Muckers' Ball nearly every year for the last 25 years are associated with American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers and have been a part of the University of Idaho since the School of Mines began. The proceeds of the Muckers' Ball have always gone to help the projects of the Associated Miners who this year plan to use the funds on a magazine. It was impossible to obtain a convenient date for the Muckers' Ball last year. "These dances have always been well attended," said Carroll Livingston, "and we are expecting a good crowd this time."

U. STUDENTS TURN LEISURE TO PROFIT

CWA Earnings Over $12,000 To January 18; Many On Payroll

Many University of Idaho students are using leisure time profitably by taking advantage of CWA work projects offered through the university in connection with the national program.

With the third week of the CWA work under way 104 women are now employed with the total number of hours assigned at 1215. The first week the number of women working was 68 for a total of 890 hours. In the second week the number increased by 30 for a total of 98.

They will continue to work during the leisure time until February 20 when it will be discontinued unless given permission to extend to or beyond the May deadline as set forth by President Roosevelt. The women are working in the university library, typing and office work, stenography, specified work in arts, making costumes and equipment for dramatics and music, sewing and mending for the halls, kitchen helpers, service in public offices, filing research, and one timekeeper. The total amount of money expended through January 18 was $1050.

Men working on the university CWA projects, which number 12, were 266 through January 18 and total expenditure $11,015.23.

CWA COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

Members of the CWA committee discussed plans for several petitions to be drawn up in regard to the work being done on the campus at a meeting held in Dean T. S. Kerr's office January 25. There have been no more applications for CWA work and no more students have been employed.

"LePages" Geraghty

THIS FLASHY SOPHOMORE guard was given the job of holding in check Ken Wills of W. S. C. and Skeet O'Connell of O. S. C. two high-scoring former All-Coast forwards, who had been leading the scoring of their respective teams. Between them, they got three points in just as many games. He doesn't confine himself to defensive activity either, and frequently bores in for set-ups or sinks long ones at the right times.

Rally Committee to Meet Thursday P. M. to Discuss Plans

The rally committee of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Argonaut office in the Memorial gymnasium.

The committee will meet to hear the reports of several members who were appointed to investigate the possibilities of having rallies and parades before basketball games. The "I" club will assist the committee in the seating arrangements for the coming games. The club has lifted the ban of not having dates at athletic contests for the remainder of the year.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT SCORES ARE POSTED

At the Contract Bridge tournament held Saturday afternoon at the Blue Bucket Inn, Mrs. Ralph Russell and Mrs. Fred Bock held high honors, with 34 1/2 points.

There will be a tournament Wednesday, January 31 at 8:30 p. m. and also one the following Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p. m.

FARLEY WORKING FOR UNITED PRESS

Idaho Alumnus Is Night Wire Editor at Salt Lake Office

When the night wire of the United Press is filed from Salt Lake City, Utah, Wayne Farley, '32, is the man that relays the news to many clients for the morning editions. After his graduation Farley secured a position with the Boise Capital News and held many positions on that paper. He was official sports editor, reporter, city, county, and state house reporter, besides handling wire news for the paper.

During his undergraduate days Farley was a member of the Argonaut and Gem staffs. He was also president of the Press club. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Accomplished Writer

Farley received a great deal of prominence through an account he wrote of the opening of the Vale, Oregon irrigation project. His story of the construction and final opening of the project was printed in many Northwest newspapers.

Working for a press association is considered by journalists as one of the greatest steps toward success. Farley has been with the United Press since December.

Ruth Farley, a sister, is a sophomore in the Junior college and a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

TO HOLD POULTRY DISCUSSION HERE

Annual Two Day Short Session to Meet Thursday and Friday

Practical ways and means of making the average poultry flock pay dividends will be featured at the annual two-day poultry short course to be held at the university poultry plant February 1 and 2.

Discussions will deal specifically with problems commonly experienced by those keeping poultry. Recent developments and practices will be explained by staff members of the poultry department. Topics listed on the program include selection of laying hens, recent trends in housing, health of the laying flock, ration for early chicks, thrifty pullets, fowl paralysis, quality in market eggs, and disease problems.

Inspection Soon

Inspection of the university's modern poultry plant is also scheduled, and a basket lunch the second day, the poultry department furnishing plenty of hot coffee and chicken. The following will lecture and lead discussion: Prof. C. E. Lammman, head of the poultry department; J. K. Williams, assistant poultry husbandman, with the general agricultural experiment station; George Van, poultry plant foreman; and Dr. E. M. Gildow, experiment station veterinarian.

STUDENTS TOSS TEAR GAS

Confusion was spread on the University of California campus recently when home made tear gas said by police possibly to have been manufactured by chemistry students, was hurled at a student member of a club with radical leanings who was selling radical literature on a street on the campus.

GEM SALES ARE BOOSTED TO 655

Books Sold By Spurs and Knights; Many Sign Up at the Halls

To date, 655 orders have been taken for the Gem of the Mountains by the Knights and Spurs in the group houses and halls, and through the use of the list on the bulletin board in the Administration building. By these orders it meant that this number of students have signed over part or all of the amount of the cost to their general deposits.

The cost of the Gem this year is only $4, a reduction of 75 cents from last year. The opportunity to sign over the general deposits is good only until February 15. After that time, the price will be raised 25 cents. All students who have not already signed up and wish an annual, are urged to make arrangements with a Knight or a Spur, or sign on the slip in the Administration building immediately.

BAND TO PRESENT "BIG TIME" SHOW

March 22 and 23 Is Date Set for Annual Production of Group

"Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" If you haven't you will most certainly see them at the annual Pep Band show, March 22 and 23. Such things as you have never dreamed of before, according to Bill Ames, director.

This year a special effort is being made by a member of the band to present a show with enough variety to please everyone. Special song and dance numbers are being planned, concert arrangements for a large stage band of the same type as those played by Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, and many novelties, the nature of which will be announced later. Also as in the past, there will be several surprise numbers.

Clever Settings

The stage settings for the show have not yet been selected but Ames promises the audience as clever a stage setting as has ever been used here in a musical show. A special stress will be placed upon lighting, stage effects and costumes.

"We are especially desirous to put over a high class show this year, because of the fact that twelve members of the band will graduate. These men feel that they want to give a production that will uphold the standards of past programs and will give succeeding bands something to work for," said Ames, "and we hope to present a show that will please the popular tastes."

The Pep band orchestra of 14 pieces has already started rehearsals for the second informal section of the show. Special arrangements by Bob Campbell and Don Wolfe, members of the band, occupied the orchestra's time Sunday morning. Wolfe's has a concert arrangement of "Melancholy Baby" and Campbell's is a "long-haired" scoring of "Here we have Idaho" the first of its kind to be presented on the Idaho campus.

GAIN IS SHOWN IN REGISTRATION

Registration Does Not Disclose Increase; More Registration Permits Mailed Than in '33

Preregistration for the second semester shows an increase over last year, according to Ella Oleson, registrar. Just how much the increase amounted to was not divulged by the registrar. It was also learned that there have been more permits to register mailed out than were in 1933.

"There can be no estimate as to how many old students are returning to the university this semester," said Miss Oleson. "There is no way of checking up." It is believed that there are a good many.

YEARBOOKS TO BE SHOWN THURSDAY

A myriad of college and university annuals will be on display at the Gem of the Mountains office in the Memorial gymnasium Thursday. The yearbook display is open to all students interested in that type of work.

The exhibit is travelling over the northwest through the courtesy of the Zellerbach Paper company and the S. D. Warren company.

POPULAR ARTISTS TO SELECT WINNERS OF GEM CONTEST

Either Barclay or Flagg to Judge Pictures of Eight Women

ASK FOR MORE SNAPS

Percentage of Groups in Studio Pictures is Very Low

The eight university women who tied for first place in the beauty contest conducted by the Gem of the Mountains early last fall, have had their pictures taken. The pictures will be sent to some nationally known artist to be judged. MacClelland Barclay and James Montgomery Flagg are the artists that Editor Clayne Robison has been negotiating with during the past few weeks to judge the pictures. Both artists are widely known for their illustrations of beautiful women and are well qualified for the judging position. The names of the women who tied for first honors will be kept by the editor and the first public notice of the winner will be made when the Gem is distributed on the campus next spring.

Plea for Snapshots

The editor of the yearbook is also making a plea for snapshots suitable to print in the book. "We need a lot of snapshots," Robison said, "and the more we get the greater the selection will be for a better feature pages in the Gem." Snaps should be turned in to the editor at the Gem office in the Memorial gymnasium.

The group picture situation has grown serious with many students paying their dollar for their picture and then forfeiting the money. There will be no refunds for pictures that are not taken. The studios may be able to make appointments this week and the first of next week. Those who have not had their pictures taken are urged by the editor to try and get into the studios before the final deadline.

List Percentages

The numbers in the group and the number that have had their pictures taken appear in the following table:

FIRST GEM COPY IS SENT TO BOISE

Printers in Capital City Will Receive First Shipment of Yearbook Material

Typewriters have been humming in the Gem of the Mountains office the past week and the first shipment of copy to the printers in Boise was mailed Tuesday. The contract with the printers call for the early delivery of copy so that the publication may be off the press in time for early spring delivery.

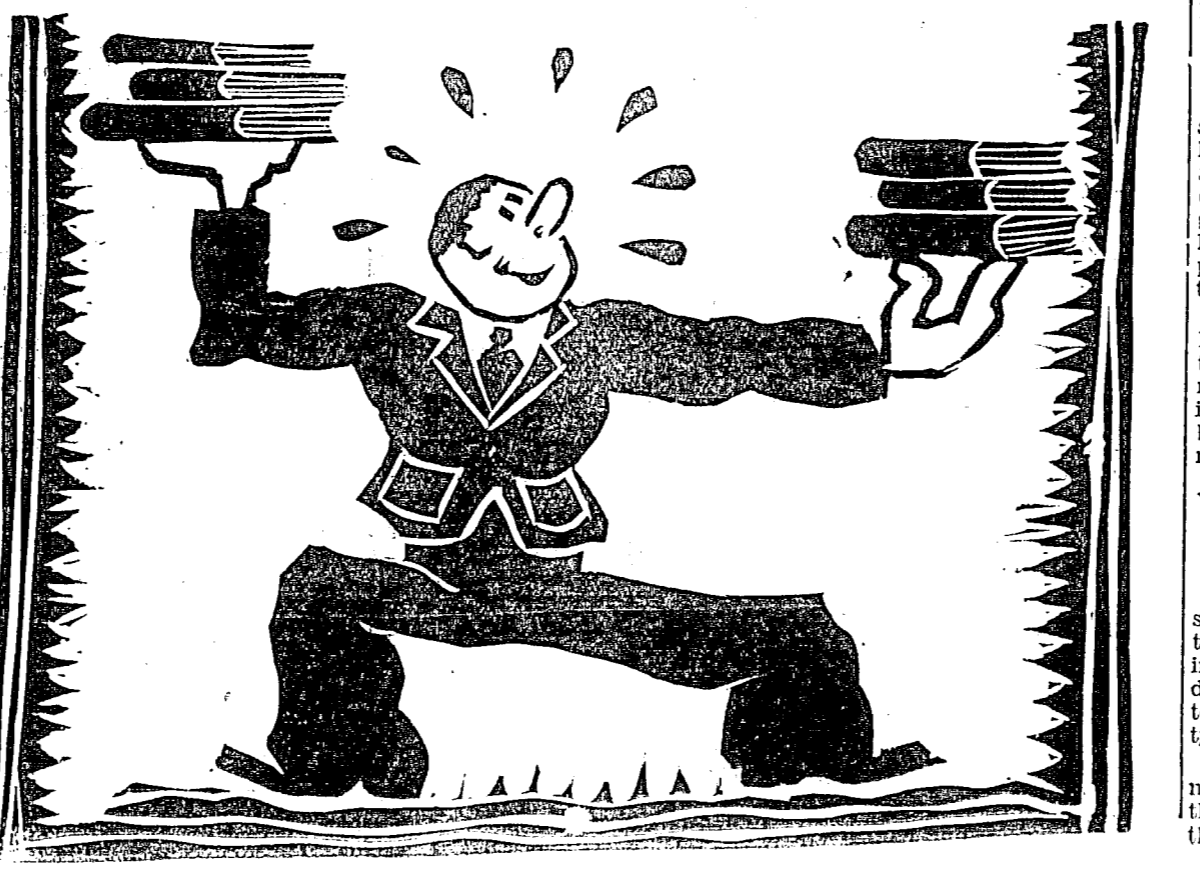

Several sections of the book are nearing completion under the editorship of Clayne Robison. The first shipment of pictures left Moscow for the engraving company in Seattle Monday.

The latest deadline for all copy to be sent to the printers has been set for March 15. The editor feels that his staff will prove competent and have the copy in the office of the printer before that time. The S. Y. M. C. company of Boise will print the book again this year.

Though final examinations are in their first stages, the Gem staff sandwiches editorial work and studies together with a bigger and better Gem of the Mountains in view.

There is just one week left in which to have your Gem pictures taken and the proofs returned. Get that Gem picture taken and return your proof to the studio now.

Idaho On Top

Statistics have been compiled by the National Student Federation of America showing an increase in college enrollment of 8.4 per cent increase over that of the fall term of 1932.

The University of Idaho leads the freshman class increase records with a 16 per cent higher enrollment than recorded the year before. Idaho has the smallest total increase with one per cent over the previous year.

This figure (8.4 per cent) represents the average trend in 12 out of 23 colleges in 16 states. Every type of institution is included on the list: large colleges and small ones. In seven of the colleges reporting a total increase, there was also a rise in freshman registration. Five colleges showing the same total enrollment as last year reported larger freshman classes.

Of the 23 colleges, four show no change in registration, and five report an average decrease of 4 per cent.

The college showing the largest increase in total registration is Southwestern (Winfield, Kansas) with a rise of 23 per cent. Contrasted with this is the Idaho increase of one per cent. Beloit college reports a registration equal to the largest the college has ever had. Smith college is next to Idaho with the greatest increase in the freshman class with 10 per cent.

Reports from almost all colleges indicate that the increase is contrary to expectation. With few exceptions the colleges surveyed have experienced a marked decrease in enrollment since 1930, and the increase this year is attributed to the unusually large number of freshmen.

It is distinguishing to be classed among those who have recorded increases in both freshman and total enrollment. Although our total increase was slight, it was nevertheless an increase and to the credit of the university and the state. The freshman increase of 16 per cent leads the list of colleges in the United States.

Behind those figures are facts all of which are significant to us. The intangible, but the result was by no means only accidental. Whatever be the cause, the effect of the same is known, and is something of which we should be proud, especially when we look around us at numerous enrollment decreases.

Hail Borah, Spuds, Idaho

The Daily again is obliged to take notice of its own inaccuracy, especially in the small matters which are most likely to annoy the readers and those who furnish the sources for information.

Many things have been brought to our attention during the course of the present volume, wherein the Daily had erred in giving the facts in a news story. We have tried to do away with the evil. But now it crops up again in a very serious form, since the mistake concerns the native health of a member of the Editorial Board, Idaho.

A student connected with the production of "Distant Drums" brought the fact to the attention of Director Harold Helvenson that the action of one act took place between two historic places in Idaho, Fort Boise and Fort Hall. Mr. Helvenson, interested, gave the information to a Daily reporter, who in turn made it the center of that day's story. But sadly enough the forts were placed in Iowa. That is too bad, for aside from explosive Mr. Borah and the potato, Idaho gets very little publicity, and its sons and daughters are very jealous that it gets its due.

When the deadline nears the presses' roar fills our ears, we sometimes trample heavily on someone's special field. So Hail, Borah! Hail, the Spud! Hail Idaho!

—The Stanford Daily

Campus Clips

By BOYD

Just what is one supposed to do when he is told to fill up his column for today's Argonaut and he can't find a thing to put in? That is a predicament, or some other horse of approximately the same color.

We won't have a Campus Clips column today and perhaps it might be appropriate to explain just why, not that anyone cares, but explanations are sometimes interesting. Anyway no one will read this so we might as well do it. You know, there is an old saying that one should never make explanations. Your friends don't need it and your enemies won't believe you anyway.

Quizzes are rather a bother, don't you think so?—Or maybe you are here for an education. On the other hand the fact that they most certainly do have a place in the securing of an education—a most definite place as we found out just this afternoon. But getting back to the subject, those quizzes are just the things which make the Argonaut such a dull thing to read at times like this. No reporters, no news, no features, not even any advertising, what are we going to do? Bear with us please until this week of torture is over.

If one was to look in on the Argonaut staff this afternoon all would appear on the surface to be on the up and up. Reporters are clacking away at their typewriters, pausing for a moment now and then to pass some remark about a tough quiz they just took or how they were going to fox the "old sore-head" on the next one. The sports editor is crying around because he has no copy and wonders how he is going to fill his page. Editorial writers and columnists, are also at work.

I strongly suspect, however, that if one were to peek over the shoulders of one of these industrious individuals to see what he is writing he would find, written time after time, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party" or some other such equally popular phrase.

I heard a good talk over the radio recently—can't recall who gave it, but he remarked about the fact that "Now is the time, etc." is the first thing a person writes on a typewriter that he is trying out. He enlarged upon the fact that those words are far from being the best with which to test out the mechanical fitness of the machine. "The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog" includes every letter of the alphabet and would be a much more accurate test than that other more popular phrase. Well, we'll just have to let it go because we're very inapt at changing people's opinions.

Hope you'll excuse the fact that there is no column today. Maybe we can have one for next time. See you 'round.

A survey undertaken at the University of Iowa reports that only one out of 11 college engagements ends in marriage.

To Gem Gernts

Hear ye...ye would be editors and journalists, ye who edit a publication once a year, ye who take enough time in your editorial work to publish a whole library.

LISTEN... to the MEN of the staff of the Idaho Argonaut, who are the journalists supreme of the Idaho campus, we of The Argonaut staff publish 72 papers while you play around getting together one book.

We of the newspaper issue you a challenge to show our supremacy.

We will play you a basketball game whenever you wish. The answer to this challenge must take a quicker course than your snail pace editorial work.

We hope that you will be in the best of condition and will be able to pass the ball down the floor before March 15.

Ye are the slow, snail, seven-year itch journalists of the world.

Whereas, let us hear your answer before the sun sets on another week.

Yes there are

Many women in the university are enrolled in courses that are not common among their sex. The Idaho Argonaut tells all about them at one time or another during the course of publication in a year.

You like every college student, cannot sit down and tell your parents of all the interesting happenings around the university.

For just $1.00 The Idaho Argonaut will be sent to your home folks without one bit of trouble to you. The circulation department will have the paper in the mail the same day of publication, and most of your folks will receive the paper the next afternoon.

Pay that dollar to Charles Warner, circulation manager, or call at the Graduate Manager's office in the Memorial gymnasium and make the payment before the new semester starts.

Finals Cramp Social Life

Campus activities became second rate last week end, the preference going to studying for semester exams. However, with finals in the background again for some time, the social calendar will soon be up to standard. The feature for last week end was the Blue Bucket dance for which four of the campus orchestras played.

Dinner guests of Delta Chi on Sunday were; Patricia Parks, Murva James, Claudia Jones, Helen Winkler, Dorothy Yturri, Dorothy Scoggin, and William Anderson, Pullman.

William T. Reed, Coeur d'Alene, was a dinner guest of Sigma Alpha Epsilon on Friday.

Wednesday dinner guests at Hays hall were Bessie Blevins, and Edna Lowman.

Pluvius Pours Plenty of Rain Over Moscow

Twice as much rainfall so far this year as normally is indicated by the records of F. L. Burkhardt, government cooperative weather observer here. The average normal precipitation for Moscow and vicinity is 8.44 inches up to January 1, while records for this season show 15.94 inches for the same period.

The normal mean temperature for December computed on a basis of records taken over a 40 year period is 30 degrees for Moscow. This year again proves to be an exception with a mean temperature of 38 degrees for the same month.

Last year 109 inches of snow fell. This year only 19 inches have fallen.

One season, 1917-1918, is comparable to our present unusual winter. In that season the mean temperature for December was 39.3, or slightly over 1 degree higher than for the corresponding period this year. The whole winter of 1917-1918 was extremely mild with the exception of one short spell in January when the mercury dropped to 3 below zero.

With that year as a guide, present indications point to the possibility of mild weather continuing indefinitely.

Varied Courses Presented Under New Curriculum

Rumor has it that a new major will be added to the curriculum of the University of Idaho. It will be called "Nestology" and all classes will be held in the campus eating establishment, The Oriole Nest.

Required courses for the new pursuit will probably include such studies as "Booth Sitting," "Elementary and Advanced Greasy Deck Bridge," and "Campus Terms and Conversation." Approximately 700 hours sitting and 550 hours standing will be required for graduation. It is said that further stipulation will make it compulsory for students to have to their credit 50 hours per semester of class cutting, the time being spent in The Oriole Nest.

Two lab courses, "Coffee Cup Technique" and "Pound Addition," may be made compulsory in the future. These may now be supplemented with courses in the home economics department, however.

WOMEN'S "T" CLUB TO RECEIVE PINS

Members of the women's "T" club have selected pins for their organization, and they have been ordered, according to Mildred Richardson, president. The new pins are diamond shape with a black l raised on black with gold edge. This is the first time the women's "T" club has had a pin.

At their last meeting, the club elected Marie Roseau as new secretary to succeed Ellen Frazier. Plans were discussed for initiation of five new members, as soon as their "T" sweaters arrive. These will be presented to them in the next student assembly.

RUSHING WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Women's Groups Decide on Functions and Dates for Mid-Semester Rushing

Women's mid-year rushing will begin Monday, it was decided at a meeting of Pan-Hellenic at the Alpha Phi house Monday afternoon. Each sorority house will have two parties, during the week, one dinner, fireside, or luncheon on one of the first four days and a formal dinner on Saturday. Pledging will take place February 11.

Dates Set

Dates for the parties during the week were drawn with the following results: Monday dinner, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Tuesday dinner, Alpha Phi; Tuesday fireside or luncheon, Pi Beta Phi; Wednesday dinner, Alpha Chi Omega; Wednesday luncheon or fireside, Gamma Phi Beta; Thursday dinner, Delta Gamma; and, Friday dinner, Kappa Alpha Theta. The invitations to the parties will be left with Miss Shoup at Hays hall, and bids must be in before midnight Saturday.

"Silent rules go on the minute a new student reaches the campus," said Ivy McPherson, president, "and rushing rules must be observed. There will be no rushing girls who have been in the hall the first part of the year, and there will be no telephoning to the new students at the hall."

COMMITTEE GIVEN SPUR COOPERATION

The Spurs voted to help the Intercollegiate Knights carry out the seating arrangement for basketball games at their regular meeting Tuesday noon at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. A report was given by Lois Davies on the plans made by the rally committee, and the Spurs were enthusiastic in their support of those plans.

Further plans were made for the tea to be given for the freshmen women soon after the beginning of the new semester. It was decided that because of final examinations, there will not be a Spur meeting Tuesday, but a luncheon will be held at the Blue Bucket February 6, 1934.

PROSPECTIVE $1000 BILL DISPLAYED HERE

An interesting exhibit is being shown in the art and architecture department in Science hall. A special feature of this exhibit is the designs for a new thousand dollar bill which will be submitted to the treasury department. The originator of the accepted design receives one of the bills. The remainder of the exhibit includes archaeological projects and sketches of a sculptor's studio.

The exhibit includes work from New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois universities, Yale, Columbia, and T square atelier.

WOMEN'S RIFLE PRACTICE STARTS

Interclass Meets to be Held Under Direction of Lt. Sheehy

Rifle practice for women under the instruction of Lieut. John Sheehy, will begin Monday. Jean Clough is W. A. A. rifle manager. Interclass meets will be held this year as a new innovation. Formerly a team of 15 women was chosen from all those who turned out and this team held telegraphic matches with those in other colleges. This year Lieutenant Sheehy will pick eight women from each class for that class' first team.

Practices will be held for two weeks and open hours will be from 2 to 5 on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday. After the two weeks, the teams will be chosen, and matches will begin. Each woman making the first team of her class will receive 100 points in W. A. A.

"Just because a woman has never shot before is no reason she should not come out for rifle," said Ruth Kehrer, president of W. A. A. "Former shooting may hinder her rather than help, for the prone system of shooting will be used. This is a major sport, and all women are encouraged to try and make her class team."

Southern Idaho transportation lines brought Jack Gray, Twin Falls; Jack Gallagher, Boise; and Robert Denton, Kimberly to the campus over the week end.

WOMEN TO START HOOP PRACTICE

Basketball practice for women will begin Monday under the supervision of Miss Mabel Locke, physical education instructor. Practices will be held on Monday and Wednesday for freshmen and juniors, and Tuesday and Thursday for sophomores and seniors. To make a class team, a woman must have participated in nine practices, according to June Eimers, W. A. A. basketball manager.

At the end of the practices, teams will be chosen to represent each class in a tournament. Members of the winning first team will receive 125 W. A. A. points, those on the first team of each class will receive 100 points, and 50 points will be awarded the members of the second teams.

BRUNETTES HOLD SWAY

Brunettes reign at Colorado Woman's college. Of the seven most beautiful girls who have been nominated as candidates for Skyline beauty contest, only one is a blond. James Montgomery Flagg, nationally famous illustrator of beautiful women, will judge the contest and choose three girls whose pictures will appear in the Skyline, year-book.

STUDENTS ENTER VAPEX CONTEST

Virgil Dahlberg Submits Best Copy From Idaho

Idaho business students took part in an advertising contest sponsored by the Vapex company of New York. Although Idaho students won no national awards in this contest in which 1500 contestants took part, they did gain practical advertising experience in developing copy on a particular product under a given set of instructions," said T. S. Davidson, professor in the School of Business Administration.

The best copy submitted at the University of Idaho was that of Virgil Dahlberg, and second best that of Jean Kingsbury.

The copies were judged by a committee of advertising agents in New York. They were judged for the placing of all copy submitted throughout the United States and for the best and second best copy submitted by each school. "Very creditable work was done by most of those submitting copy from the university," said Professor Davidson.

Idaho is, as usual, getting those cheerful writeups in every sport column on the probability of holding down last place in the conference. Even the Oregonian, through their sport expert, L. H. Gregory, declares, "Forget all about Idaho—they're definitely out except the possibility of bumping off one of the leaders and so mixing up the race." We might remind Mr. Gregory that Idaho has but one more loss than his two Oregon teams and that the Vandals have at least a fair opportunity of winding up in second place.

Idaho should split with Oregon State and win at least three from Oregon. The Vandals will also probably take the Cougars for a loss at least twice more. Oregon State will probably win about three games out of their series with Idaho, Oregon, and Washington State. Should they win four, and the Vandals come up to expectations, the Webfoots will still find themselves only in a tie for second place.

The Idaho team is certainly made up of men who do their work in such a way as to leave impressions of their play in the minds of those who watch.

Lefty Naslund's trick southpaw smooth passing and accurate hook, Norm Iverson's deadly long shots, Merle Fisher's shooting, Howard Grenier's consistent guarding and his smooth floor work, Harold Klumb's ability to sink the old pill when Idaho is in a tight place, and Wally Geraghty's plaster-tight guarding and spectacular speedy style of shot and play—all these are factors which combine to make the Vandals one of the most feared teams in the conference.

And the best of it is that these same men will be displaying these same wares for Idaho for the next year or two. The Washington Huskies will next year find themselves where Idaho was at the beginning of this season. They lose four veteran lettermen from their first team, retaining only their center. Oregon State and Washington State will also lose a number of key men, but Oregon and Idaho, with their sophomore teams now, will be the ones whom the conference will fear in the next two years.

"Big Mike" Mikulak, Oregon's premier football player and All-American fullback, has organized a basketball team similar in beef and antics to Buck Bailey's Angels, that famous set of behemoths who have showed basketball what football really is in this section of the country. With several of Mike's football teammates as the basis, Mike's team is gaining fame in the Oregon country for its beef, its tactics, and its habit of making new basketball rules as it plays.

Last Saturday Big Mike's gang took on the Union Oil team of Portland, who are the king of the independents in that sector, and who include Ed Lewis and many other famed stars on their roster. The Union Oil outfit took the game very lightly—in fact did not even have all of its first string lineup at the game. The contest became highly amusing and the Union Oil players fell into the comedy spirit and made no effort to pile the usual score. However they had fallen in with a better bunch of comedians and to their astonishment found the score at 23 to 21 against them with but one minute to play. In vain they tried to put on a spurt and save their record, but it was Mike's outfit which scored again and the game ended 25 to 21.

Mikulak himself does not play because of ineligibility through being in a professional football game, but he has Bernie Hughes, Bree Cuppoletti, and Chuck Wishard of the Oregon team playing for him. Bolstered by other stars Mike has quite a credible outfit and will furnish entertainment for any crowd or any team.

IDAHO GRADUATE IS HOOP MENTOR

Wiley B. Taylor, an Idaho graduate is now engaged as basketball coach at University college, Los Angeles. He was graduated in 1926 with a degree in physical education, and immediately afterwards received a position as a faculty member at Grangeville. From there he was promoted to the superintendency of schools at Nez Perce. He received his master's degree in California.

FROSH SQUAD TAKES "A FIVE"

Coach Jacoby Is Away on Trip; Cougar Kittens Next on Schedule

Because of the absence of Coach Red Jacoby, the frosh basketball squad is having a temporary rest during final examinations. Most of the squad works out informally, some working with the varsity squad.

Strenuous practice will continue the first of the second semester, when Jacoby will whip the squad into shape for their second game with the Cougar Kittens, the tenth of February at Pullman. The squad has had its third cut, now being composed of ten men.

This smaller squad makes individual work more possible and will result in a better organized unit. Those composing the frosh squad are: Hall, Fuller, Martin, Kearns, Larsen, Fry, Gauss, Gwilliams, Tracy, and Hill.

VANDALS TAME BULLDOGS FRIDAY

Naslund Sinks 16 Points; Final Windup Brings 48 to 19 Score

In a game that was more than basketball—some football, baseball, and track being introduced, Idaho beat Gonzaga 48 to 19 Friday night. The game was slow in parts but proved interesting to the spectators in its free-for-all aspects.

Van Voorhis, Gonzaga forward, sank the first counter but Glenn Naslund, Idaho trick shot artist, matched it and sank another to give Idaho the lead. The Vandals kept the lead until the end of the game, making more than two counters to every one of Gonzaga's. The score at half time was Idaho 23, Gonzaga 10.

Naslund Sinks 'em In the second half Idaho steadily increased her lead, Naslund sinking his tricky left-handed shot and Fisher finding the hoop on some long shots. With about eight minutes to go, Rich Fox, Vandal mentor, sent in his first string. This combination quickly raised the score from 32 to 48 while Gonzaga was adding 3 points to their 16 counters.

Naslund was high point man for the game by virtue of 16 points. Howard Grenier, Idaho's big first string center and Merle Fisher, accounted for 9 and 8 points respectively. Relly and Van Voorhis, Gonzaga forwards, were high point men for Gonzaga, each accounting for 6 counters.

The lineups and summary are: Gonzaga (49) G F TP Relly, rf 2 2 8 Van Voorhis, rf 0 0 0 Van Sistine, c 0 0 0 Rowles, lg 1 2 4 Flajole, lg 0 1 1 Cunningham, rg 1 0 2

IDAHO BATTLES W. S. C. THIS WEEK

Cougars to Invade Vandal Camp Friday and Saturday for Games

The second battle of the 1934 Cougar-Vandal series is to be the final celebration of examination week for the Idaho students. Saturday night the Washington State outfit will invade Moscow in an attempt to avenge the 34 to 28 defeat handed them two weeks ago.

Coach Rich Fox is drilling the team principally on the fast-breaking attack which has made Idaho teams feared throughout the conference. Starting places have evidently been clinched by Merle Fisher, Wally Geraghty, Klumb, and Howard Grenier, leaving the other forward berth open for battle. Fisher has played in but three conference games for the Vandals but his steadiness and accurate shooting have won him a berth on the first team. Geraghty and Klumb have both been displaying an excellent brand of ball, and have taken their place beside Grenier as varsity regulars.

Vic Warner, junior letterman, and Glenn "Lefty" Naslund, sophomore southpaw, are the leading contenders for the open forward position. Both men are outstanding players, yet play as different types of basketball as it is possible

This week's schedule—Friday and Saturday, Stanford vs. California, at Berkeley; U. C. L. A. vs. Southern California at Los Angeles.

Oregon State, back on their own campus court after a none-too-successful tour, is preparing to meet the invasion of the Washington Huskies next Friday and Saturday. The Huskies are going after the defending champions in search of the two games which will mean a mathematical certainty that Washington will not lose the title this year. If the Huskies do succeed in tripping the Orangemen, the only possibility which could keep them from the title is that they lose all their remaining games while Oregon or Oregon State win all theirs. This remote chance would see the conference season end in a tie, with a playoff between the Huskies and the contenders necessary.

The coming games between the Huskies and the Beavers will be doubly interesting because of the jinx which the Orangemen have always held over the Washingtonians. In years gone by it has been fairly customary for the famous nose defense of the Beaver to check the speed-burning, long-lobbing, Huskies.

Slats Gill, Oregon mentor, will need more than an even break in the two clashes as a defeat will practically put the defending champs on the shelf. The Beavers would thus lose both division title and their coast title which they won by trimming Southern California in two out of three post-for them to do. Warner is a steady defense man, an accurate passer, but his chief offensive value is in rustling the ball rather than in shooting. Naslund plays a fast-passing, quick-cutting game which calls for much shooting. Lefty has developed a trick toss with that hindmost arm which seldom fails to roll through the hoop.

season games.

Oregon, coached by Bill Reinhardt, is practically out of the picture but will probably be Oregon State's chief opponent for runner-up honors. The Webfoots, dark horse entry this year, has shown vast improvement over last season's form with her sophomore team. Willie Jones and Bud Jones, transfers, center and guard, have had much to do with the improvement and will be the basis of Oregon's combination next year.

The end of this week will mark the halfway point of the basketball season but Oregon will still have 10 of her 18 games yet to play. Half of these games will be on their home floor and the other half on the road. Oregon will have a full week before their meeting with the Huskies next Monday and Tuesday. Bill Reinhardt will have ample time to prepare for Edmundson's men and will also have an opportunity to take his men to Corvallis to watch the Huskies and the Beavers battle.

Idaho and Washington State, holding down the bottom rungs of the conference ladder, seem to both be in a hopeless position as far as doing anything in the race is concerned. Either of them may, however, definitely affect the race by bumping off one of the leaders at an opportune moment.

Idaho, with but five losses, has an opportunity to wind up among the leaders if her unseasoned team can develop the necessary smoothness to run the majority of her conference games with wins. The Vandals' game with the two teams from Oregon will, in all probability, decide who is to hold second position in the league this year. The

LIST FOULS FOR HOOP LEADERS

Galer of Washington Has Only 12 Fouls Against Him

That a large number of fouls does not necessarily go with a big number in the scoring column is shown by the comparison of the number of fouls made by the leading scorers of the conference. Galer, top man, has only 12 personal fouls, while his nearest competitor, Huntled McPhee, has 20 black marks against him. In contract to his teammate, Wills of Washington State has only nine fouls to mar his record. Lee and Hibbard, tied for fourth, differ widely in this respect. Lee having 15 personal fouls on his slate, while Hibbard has the lowest personal foul total of any player in the conference, only three being counted against him in eight games.

Among the main Idaho scorers, Fisher holds the low side of the foul record with six against him in three games, "Lefty" Naslund is next with 11 personal fouls, then Foxmen still have four games to play on the Oregon courts and must win at least three of these if they are to finish near the top.

Washington State is undisputedly in the cellar and seems to have little to hope for except a good break in her series with Idaho. The Vandals have already defeated the Cougars once on the Pullman court and will meet them three times more. The next Idaho-W.S.C. game is next Saturday night in Moscow. On March 2 and 3 the two schools will complete their series, the first game to be held in Pullman and the second at Idaho.

In the southern division of the conference, California, victor over UCLA in two games, heads the race with Southern California, defending champs, a notch behind. Stanford upset the Trojans in one of their two clashes and now holds third place. The Uclans, with but one win to their credit, are in last position. Southern California has opportunity to go into the lead this week if she wins and UCLA makes a comeback to defeat the Bears.
