VANDALEERS GIVE VARIED PROGRAM TO LARGE CROWD

Cummings Praises Work of Organization in Its First Concert

WAS DRAMATIC MUSIC

Chorus Presents Beautiful and Religious Russian Liturgy

The Vandaleers, an official ASUI mixed chorus of 20 voices, presented its first performance this year, Sunday afternoon in the university auditorium. An exceptionally large audience witnessed the presentations and satisfaction was expressed by much applause. "The Vandaleers presented, Sunday, the best program they have ever given," commented Prof. Carleton Cummings, founder of this group. "The music was more difficult than usual, and it was presented with a spontaneity that added to the spirit of the entire program. The soloists, too, should be congratulated upon their excellent performances."

This program marked the last appearance of Miss Annie Snow with the organization. Miss Snow is the last of the charter members.

Twenty Members

The Idaho Vandaleers are made up of the following voices: Barbara Geddes, Ruth Johnson, Dorothy Brown, Mary Hartley, Jean Clough, Jessie Kenney—sopranos; Alice Bell, Carol Campbell, Bertha Wilburn, Fay Pettijohn—altos; Reg Lyons, Wayne Hampton, Donald Klinger, Raymond Vaughn, Elburn Pierce—tenors; Al Blair, Robert Harris, Paul Rust, Don Tracy—basses; and Annie Snow—accompanist. Very Dramatic
The first three numbers represented the most beautiful and religious of the Russian liturgy. You are asked to picture yourself in one of the great Russian cathedrals during the reign of the Czar. "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" is in the style of a hymn and is deeply religious. "Light Celestial," a vesper song from Kief, is of the type used in closing a religious service. "O God, Hear My Prayer," one of the most difficult and inspired of all choral music, represents the various colors and moods of the great Russian masses who lift their voices in divine supplication. Toward the middle of the number the rejoicing of the great bells is heard. The climax of this intensely dramatic composition, however, comes in the closing chords when the voices, blended together, resembles a mighty organ.

ROBERT T. BANKS TALKS TO MINERS

Robert T. Banks, former president of the Northwest Mining association, spoke before the Associated Miners at a meeting held at the Phi Gamma Delta house, Thursday. Mr. Banks told of many of his mining experiences and expressed much optimism about the prospects of the metallurgical field in the near future.

Dean Arthur E. Drucker of the Mining and Geological department of Washington State college and 10 students of that school were also present.

BLUE BUCKET NEEDS WRITERS

Room for Freshmen and Sophomore Contributors on Magazine Staff

Ample opportunity has arisen for freshmen and sophomores to become regular staff members according to Arthur Hagen, editor. A permanent staff for the year has not yet been selected, as there will be at least two and perhaps three more issues of the Bucket to come before the end of the year.

Since the Bucket has been revived by the Press club at the beginning of the past semester, the increasing sales and popularity of the publication have created a great demand for more and varied stories and articles.

Looking for Talent

"I am constantly on the lookout for new talent and I will offer every encouragement and help to those who show a desire to contribute to the increasing success of the Blue Bucket. The type of material used in the Bucket is such that the writer is given almost free rein in the nature of his contributions," Hagen said.

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER CHOSEN

The Rev. Samuel A. Eliot of Boston Will Deliver Address June 10

The Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, pastor of the Arlington Street church, Boston, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the 1934 graduating class at the University of Idaho Sunday, June 10, announces President M. G. Neale.

The Rev. Eliot will fill three commencement engagements in the Pacific Northwest this spring. The University of Washington, Washington State college, and the University of Idaho are cooperating to bring the distinguished Boston clergyman west.

These engagements bring the Rev. Eliot back to the scene of his first ministry. At the age of 27 he held his first pastorate in Seattle. "A boy preacher" is the way he recalls his first ministry.

Forty-Five Years

In his 45 years in the ministry he has become one of the better known American clergymen. He has been pastor of Arlington church since 1927. Prior to accepting this pastorate he was in the ministry in Denver. He is chairman of the United States Board of Indian Commissioners and president of the Boston Federation of Churches.

The 1934 commencement at the University of Idaho will be the thirty-ninth in the institution's history. Saturday, June 9, will be Alumni day. Commencement proper will be Monday, June 11. Negotiations are now under way for the selection of a commencement speaker.

MINOR "I" CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Plans Discussed on Advisability of Minor Sports Intercollegiate Contests

The major topic of discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the minor "I" club held last Monday evening at the Delta Tau Delta house was minor sports intercollegiate meets. The purpose of the discussion was to consider the advisability of proposing Idaho's participation in future events of the kind. It is reported that the entire situation was well taken care of by being left in the hands of a committee.

A topic of discussion off of the record was the matter of inviting people who like to bog at athletic events to attend minor sports encounters. It was felt that such a move would insure greater crowds than are usual at such contests. The suggestion was not seriously made that licensing of boogers would also raise a tidy sum in the way of gate receipts.

The meeting was attended by 20 members of minor sports teams and was presided over by Ray Souder. Bill Lewis presented a report on the matter of publicizing minor sports events. A committee report on the matter of obtaining sweater stripes to differentiate between the minor sports was also presented.

The minor "I" club was organized during the last semester for all wearers of minor sports "I's" on the campus. Meetings are held on the first Monday of every month.

JOHN R. NICHOLS IS INSTALLED AS DEAN AT BRANCH

Formally Installed on February 7 by President M. G. Neale

TO SUCCEED BALDWIN

State Board Meets in Pocatello to Pass on 1934-1935 Calendar

Dr. John Ralph Nichols was formally installed as executive dean of the Southern Branch of the university Wednesday, February 7, by Dr. M. G. Neale. The installation took place at a student assembly at the branch. Other executives attending the meeting were the members of the state board of education.

Dr. Nichols succeeds Dr. Ernest J. Baldwin who has been acting dean of the school since the death of Dean John R. Dyer last summer.

Dr. Nichols comes to the southern branch with a very good record. He received his undergraduate degree from Oregon State college, an A. M. and a Ph.D. from Stanford and was decorated for services in the World War. The 35-year-old dean was an instructor in citizenship at Stanford for three years and commandant of a military academy for some time.

Dr. Neale, while in Pocatello, attended the meeting of the state board of education which took up customary business and passed on a calendar for the university for the school year of 1934-35. A copy of the calendar appears elsewhere in this issue. The calendar, to be ratified, had to be passed by the academic council, approved by the university faculty, and then again approved by the state board of education. The calendar allows 17 days for the next Christmas vacation.

Plans are being made for the club for an all-college dance on March 17, which is the last night of the state high school basketball tournament. All of the visiting athletes will be guests of the "I" club at the affair. Funds received from the dance will be used to buy a new trophy case for the gym.

DEAN JOHN FINCH LEAVES FOR EAST TO ATTEND MEET

Is Columbia Representative of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers

TO RETURN MARCH 1

Also Plans to Attend Convention of American Geologists in Washington

Dean John W. Finch of the School of Mines, scheduled to leave the campus tomorrow for New York city, isn't looking forward to his trip with any degree of anticipation, at least not while the newspapers publish stories about the record eastern cold wave. Dean Finch is going east to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, as the representative of the Columbia section of the organization. He will also attend meetings of the Society of Economic Geologists and the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America. After the New York meetings he will go to Washington, D. C., to attend the annual convention of the American Association of State Geologists.

Three Committees

The A. I. M. E. program lists Dean Finch on three committees: mining economics, mineral industries, education, and mining geology. The meetings, Dr. Finch predicts, will be particularly lively this year, what with discussions coming up on the relation of government to mining, public works and government funds for more geological and geodetic surveys.

The New York meetings will be held at the Engineers' building, which houses the four founder societies represented on the Idaho campus: American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

All candidates running on the newly organized United Students ticket came out victorious in the class elections held at 11 a. m. today. The voting in most all positions indicated that both the Campus and United Students partisans were virtually solid behind their men with the Students holding a majority of the voters present.

The four new class presidents elected this morning are John Norby, senior; Earl Bopp, junior; Ruth Farley, sophomore; and Ross Sundberg, freshman.

There was very little opposition to Sundberg, the Student's candidate for the freshman class presidency, who polled 155 votes. Three other men were nominated for that position. Roy Gray drew 88 votes, Gene Nicholson, 9, and Chuck Collins withdrew his nomination before the voting.

A close battle of the morning election was waged between Norby and Bill Ames. Norby ended with an 18 vote margin over the well-known Pep band leader. One hundred and twenty votes were cast with one being thrown out in each of the three lower senior class positions because of irregularities in the ballot. Fred Quist, Mildred Richardson, and Gilbert St. Clair were the other three seniors elected.

The race for the high office in the sophomore class was close with Ruth Farley drawing 85 votes to 77 for the Campus party candidate, Louis August. John Daly with 99, Helen Winkler with 100, and Ruth Evans with 96 completed the winning group of sophomores.

Earl Bopp carried off the junior honors with 115 votes as the Student backers were practically solid. The other three junior class officers each polled around 115 votes to from 75 to 80 for the Campus candidates.

Unusual Programs and Special Entertainment Will Feature Party

Unusual is the key word of the engineer's dance to be held Saturday, February 17 at the Blue Bucket Inn. Everything will be done up in the most professional manner with novelty slide shows as programs. Also the decorations will be such that everyone will feel at home and the engineers will remain in the atmosphere of their profession. Throughout the dancing and during the intermissions there will be plenty of novelty feature numbers and other types of entertainment, which will make for an enjoyable evening.

"If you haven't your ticket and are planning to go, you had better get it now, as there will be only 100 tickets sold," said Ferd Koch, general chairman of the dance committee.

IDAHO TO DEBATE WITH U. OF NEVADA

The University of Idaho debate team meets the University of Nevada in a debate to be held Monday, February 19, in the university auditorium. Idaho debates the negative side of the question, "Resolved that the powers of the president should be substantially increased as a settled policy."

The Idaho team also meets Gonzaga here sometime early in March. Cecil Greathouse and Bill Wetherall comprise the Idaho debate team.

Plans for a delegation to the annual International Relations convention to be held this year in Tacoma March 16 and 17 were discussed at a business meeting of the International Relations club held Friday afternoon for the dual purpose of planning for the convention and the visit of Sir Herbert Ames, first treasurer of the League of Nations and lecturer on international affairs who will be on the campus March 11.

This year will be the first that the International Relations club will be represented at the national annual conference where authorities on international affairs will meet with clubs interested in world relations.

It was decided that an informal meeting with the club would begin Sir Herbert's series of lectures here. An 11 o'clock assembly Tuesday, March 12, was decided as the occasion for his second lecture, while Wednesday he will deliver talks to sociology and political science classes.

The Sun Was Shining

It began to look just as though the long termed "dirty" political situation at Idaho was taking a new turn for the better, and that things were going to be on the up and up for awhile—at least theoretically. The women, who held out last fall to do their part in straightening things out, who really told the party leaders what they thought, denounced the old cut system, and demanded cleaner politics and an even break, were noble.

The Campus party, when it organized last spring and carried the student body election, also had a meritorious platform, noble ideals, high standards, and appeared to be shooting in the right direction.

The women got their wish. Only a few weeks ago they and eight men's houses joined under the name of the United Students party, both realizing that politics could be handled in a much more gentlemanly manner. They also built a creditable platform, formed higher political ideals, and organized so that the best men in every position would be placed on the ticket instead of the man whose house "was due for a cut."

Things really looked like they were evolving from the crudeness of the old order. From now on it was to be a battle between two high-moralled parties, each trying to do right by the entire student body, by giving it good, capable leaders. The sun was shining brightly—even dyed-in-the-wool political enemies were speaking quite cordially, too. But what have we now?

Without any advance notice a sign is placed in front of four buildings exposing the fact that class elections would take place the following morning at 11 a. m. The constitution doesn't cover class elections so we can't cry about its being an unconstitutional act. If one person was going to call the elections, as it appears to have been done, by all rights of "fair play" he should have caused it to be published in the Argonaut a reasonable length of time before the class meetings. Evidently, class presidents no longer call their own meetings.

Regardless of how it was done or who did it, the entire student body was not notified in an adequate manner. The Argonaut is usually run off the press at 11:30 a. m. The elections were scheduled at 11 a. m. That's why this sheet today came off the press at 8 a. m., after considerable extra work. All we ask for is "fairness."

It's A Good Idea

The Rally Committee and the student body as a whole are to be commended on their rousing support of the team as it left Thursday night for Oregon. Such a show of Idaho spirit is an indication that the Rally committee is an efficacious organ for the bolstering of spirit and that the students are cooperating whole heartedly.

Now, after defeat, the team needs encouragement as it never did before. There must be no let-down.

The team arrives home at 8:45 Thursday morning, making it impossible for most students to meet them. Why can't some service organization such as Blue Key or the Intercollegiate Knights go to meet the team? One or both of these groups could bring the team to the Administration building where the Pep band and students could greet them in a five-minute rally. The team would appreciate it. There is no reason that they should not be accorded such an honor after fighting to uphold Idaho last week.

Come on, let's have no let-down in Idaho spirit. Through victory or defeat we should back our team and show that we still are behind them with unwavering support no matter how the game ends.

Some men are born to be great in this world, but others are just would-be politicians.

::: A Valentine History :::

Valentine's day, in the minds of most students, is a day set aside by somebody for the purpose of sending prettily colored hearts to the girl friend, and vice versa, conveying a short message of admiration.

The modern Valentine's day is just that and nothing more, but in centuries past it has meant great feasting in the reverence of saints. The way history has passed the

These gifts have grown into red hearts—symbolizing love for fellow man. The verse has been brought down through the centuries from the time the old gentleman sent his greetings from his bed.

Titled After Death
After his death the old gentleman was given the title of Saint Valentine for his courageous and kind work among the children. This latter story is probably a myth and its origin and veracity cannot be ascertained.

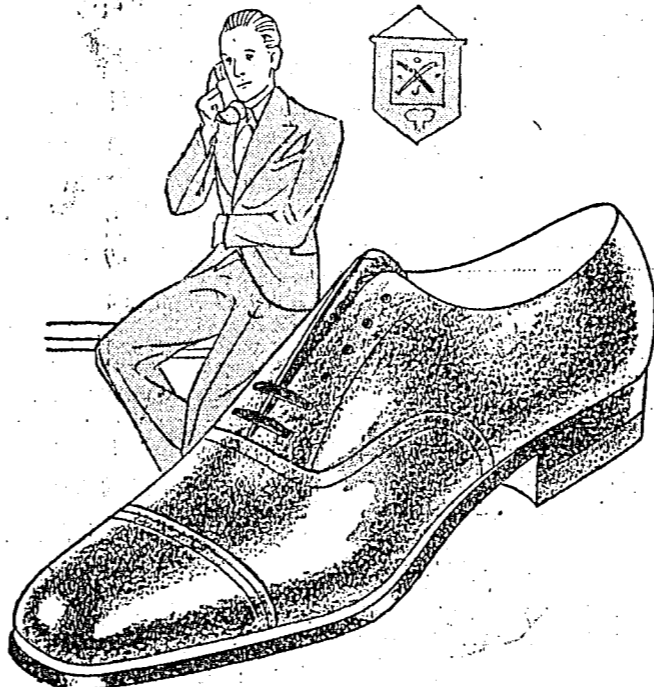

The Valentine of today means some sort of a lacy piece of paper superimposed upon a red heart with a boy and a girl looking at each other. There is probably a verse underneath the illustration describing the scene.

The collegiate Valentine consists of probably a bouquet of violets for the young lady, and then again it may be a cheap slip of paper telling you what a sap you are and that you are the most egotistical person that ever graced the campus.

Ten hours of practice will be required of each woman eligible to be chosen on the class team, and, in addition, she must be able to do one standard dive and one optional. By BILL MCCREA

The officials down Oregon way evidently developed a severe case of whistle-itis during the series between the Vandals and the Webfoots. Fifty-two personal fouls were called in those two games and were about evenly divided between the two quintets. The Vandals were guilty of 27 violations and the Webfoots got caught 25 times. These foul contests mark a new high for the conference season.

And were they sinking those foul tosses the first night? The Oregon outfit stepped up to the foul line eleven times and eleven times the old casaba dropped through the net for another point. One hundred per cent, 11 out of 11, is a good enough average for any corner lot team. Everybody was dropping free throws that night—the Vandals made 9 out of 12 for an average of 75%. Twenty points by the way of gift shots would mean a lot in the average game but with the high scoring of that game, it didn't look so big.

The second game found the Webfoots still hot on their foul shooting and they sunk 11 out of 14 tries to give themselves a total of 22 points on free throws for the two evenings. The Vandals were able to part the net but eight times in 15 attempts that night. The series must have looked more like a basketball game, and as such, the Oregonians still ran away with the honors.

Idaho, up until last night's game, had an average score of 28.5 points per game for 10 games. Offensively, the Vandals rate on a par with the rest of the teams of the league but are weak defensively. Vandal opponents have rung up an average of 32.6 points per game—one of the highest averages in the conference.

The league-leading Huskies have held their opponents to 28.25 points per game and have used their fast attack to average 13.66 points per game against their opponents. The Oregon State zone defense has had but 22.1 points per game scored against it, but have scored only 24.5 points per game—or had until last night's game.

The Vandal athletic factory has taken on so much added activity lately that the Idaho athletic grounds have become much too small—particularly as much of it is unplayable at this time of the year. Varsity and freshman basketball are still in full swing, as are varsity and frosh boxing, wrestling, fencing, and swimming. Now spring football and track blossom forth, and baseball men are already limbering up in various corners. The "Palm beach" weather has also brought out the first of the golf and tennis aspirants. So don't be surprised if the Ad building lawn, or the campus streets seem to be swarming with busy athletes—they're only trying to work out and still avoid the brown snow which handicaps them so greatly.

With the resumption of the northwest baseball conference the old hit and run game will again regain some of its prominence and popularity which it has been lacking the last few years. And the rumor is that Coach Fox has far better material on hand than has been available in previous seasons and is quite optimistic about the coming season. Rumor has it that, if another vacant lot can be found around town, freshmen baseball may have its chance here.

And so the Vandals pass completely out of the conference picture and the Oregon State Beavers are still clinging desperately to their chance of catching the Washington Huskies. The Beavers' only chance is to come through this week undefeated. Another win over Idaho tonight and a pair of victories over the Huskies this week end are the tough accomplishments which would climax the comeback of the 1933 coast champions. Either they do this week, or they fail altogether—these three games tell the tale.

FENCERS MEET COUGARS AGAIN

The Idaho fencing team will enter its second contest of the season against the W. S. C. team at Pullman on February 24. Idaho will be the host to the W. S. C. team on the following week. W. S. C. won the first match which was also held in Pullman. The winner of these three matches will earn the right to go to Seattle and enter the Northwest fencing tournament to be held the first week of March. Six men will compose the team going to Pullman. Four of this

Vandals Can't Hit Hoop; Grenier Is Outstanding for Idaho

(Special to Argonaut) By Bentley Galligan

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 12—Oregon State climbed one notch higher toward a tie with the conference leading Washington Huskies here tonight by downing Idaho in a lop-sided game, 40 to 14. The Beavers took the lead in the first two minutes of play when Hibbard dribbled in for a close shot, and were never headed, although Grenier tied the score at 5 with a follow-up field goal. After the first five minutes, though, the Beavers started scoring in earnest, and piled up a half-time score of 21 to 8.

Except for big Howard Grenier, Vandal center, who dominated the backboard re-bounds and scored half of his team's points, the Idaho squad was kept tightly in check by the O. S. C. zone defense. Harold Klumb, leading Vandal scorer, finished his third straight conference game without scoring a field goal.

Coach Slat's Gill sent in his second string players in the last five minutes, who continued the scoring spree that the regulars started. Idaho was completely outplayed both on offense and defense.

FIGHTERS MAY GO TO COAST TOURNEY

Three Idaho boxers hope for chance at intercollegiate honors

Three Vandals boxers, Louis August, Louie Denton, and Morrey Fickes, will represent Idaho at the Pacific Coast intercollegiate tournament at Sacramento, Cal., on March 8 and 9, according to tentative plans that got underway last night.

August received notice from Coach Ike Deater of Washington State that he was taking three fighters to the tourney all in different weight divisions from the prospective Idaho participants. The combined boxing talent of these two rival schools should be strong enough to bring the Pacific Coast boxing honors home to the Palouse country, agreed local fight followers who heard the news last night.

Start Hard Work Now
The Idaho fighters will start intensive training immediately to qualify for the necessary weight divisions. August will fight at 129 pounds, Denton at 149 pounds, and Fickes at 155 pounds. W. S. C. fighters entering the tourney will be Lammie Theodoratus, defending heavyweight champion, Al Pechuls, 165 pounds, and Bud Taylor, former 135-pound title-holder. The six fighters mentioned are recognized as the cream of the boxing talent of their respective schools.

Registration cards have not been sent in to tournament officials yet, and definite word concerning the Idaho fighters' participation will not be available for several days.

Traveling expenses of the teams entered in the tourney are met from the proceeds taken in from tickets.

DUCKS COP DOUBLE VICTORY OFF IDAHO

Vandals Can't Sink 'em as Re-vamped Webfeet Win, 43-29, and 31-22

The Idaho Vandals were set down to a tie for last place in the northern division scoring race over the week end, losing two ragged games to the Oregon Webfeet by scores of 43 to 29, and 31 to 22.

After losing four straight to Washington, Coach Bill Reinhardt decided on a change in style for his boys, and they resorted to a wide-open "grab the ball and shoot for the basket" game that proved effective against the Vandals both nights.

Idaho Can't Sink 'em
Both teams resorted to rushing up and down the floor, but Oregon was sinking baskets while Idaho was missing badly. A total of 52 fouls were called in the series, and aimless and wild passing further marred the games.

Little Gib Ollinger, captain of the Ducks, played what was described by coast fans, as the best ball of his career in the first game, feeding the ball to the Jones boys, Willie and Bud, and breaking up the Vandals' attack with high, leaping interceptions. Oregon got off to a 6-point lead in the first two minutes, and were never headed, although Grenier, Geraghty, and Naslund went to work and brought the score up to 8-7 at one time. The Webfeet began clicking then, and ran the score up to 27-16 at the half.

Klumb Checked
Wally Geraghty went out of the game early with three personal fouls against him, but was in long enough to win the praise of fans and sport writers who saw the game, with some beautiful long shots and flashing speed.

The Webfeet climbed all over big Harold Klumb, Idaho's leading scorer, and he failed to drop a field goal during the whole game. All five of his points came by the free throw route. Klumb and Howard Grenier grabbed most of the re-while the W. S. C. outfit amassed 19. With five minutes of the first half to go, Larsen sank a shot and Martin two more. Fuller added another two points with a quick on-handed shot. The score at the half was 23 to 11.

In the second half the Idaho frosh began to work as an organized unit and showed what they really could do. Led by Martin, who made 11 points in the second half, the Vandal Babes amassed 19 points while the W. S. C. frosh could count but 11. Martin was high point man for the game, with five counters the first half and 11 the second, he totaled 16 points. Kasch was high point man for W. S. C. with 10 points.

FROSH DROP GAME TO BABY COUGARS

Martin Was High Pointer of Game; Kasch, WSC Was Second

A rally in the second half, to overcome a 12-point lead, fell short and the Vandal freshmen lost the second Cougar Babe game 34 to 30 last Saturday night. This game, at Pullman, was the second of a six series with the W. S. C. frosh.

During the first 15 minutes, the Idaho frosh couldn't get going. They made but three free throws the half the score was 9 to 3 in favor of the Fijls.

In the second half the Kappa Sig came out of their truce and almost tied the score. The Fijls held the lead by the snappy shots of Thompson, left guard of the Fijls. Thompson was high point man of the game with 8 points and McNeally, of the Kappa Sig, was second with 5 points.

The second game of the evening resulted in an upset by the Delta Tau Deltas by trouncing the Sigma Nus 25 to 5. This defeat was unexpected and surprising to the audience. The Sigma Nu quintet is rated as one of the best on the campus and were the pick for the winner. Only one field goal was registered by the Sigma Nus and three free throws. The Sigma Nus made three out of 12 free throws and missed many field goals. The Deltas have a fast working team and accurate on passing and shooting. Dowdy of the Deltas was high point man with 7 points. Lutz and Leute tied for high honors on the Sigma Nu squad with 2 points each.

The next game scheduled on the intramural program is Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. between the S. A. E. and Delta Chi. The second game between T. M. A. and A. T. O. begins at 8:30 p. m.
