Arrangements for the Publications Ball are near completion, according to members of the Press Club, which is sponsoring the affair, a sport dance. Saturday eve ning will find the interior of the Memorial gymnasium decked from floor to ceiling with billboard signs, window displays, advertising placards, and posters, and every foot of wall space will be plastered with such material from nationally known manufacturing distributing concerns.

"Tickets are going in a very sat-isfactory manner," said Raphael Gibbs, editor of the club. "Every member of the club has a number of tickets with him at all times which he will be glad to get rid of to anyone who wishes them. They are priced at 40 cents a person. The dance, by the way, is not a mixer."

Over 15,000 samples of nationally advertised merchandise will be given away at the dance, including toothpaste, facial cream, per-fume, cigarettes, cookies, razor safes, pencils, blotters, Kellogg's products, powder, shaving cream, popular remedies, and any number of others too numerous to men- University Rifle Marksmanship intion. WILL GIVE JITNEY

A Spur Jitney dance was the subject of discussion at the Spur meeting Tuesday at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. It was decided that the dance would be May 8, the night before Campus day at the Gamma Phi, Theta, and Pi Phi chapter houses. Because of the fact that there are no university func-tions on that night, a large attendance is expected. Plans were made for Campus day activities, with emphasis on pledging which takes place on that day. Meeting adjourned with the an nouncement of the next meeting which will be held at the Delta Gamma house Tuesday.

SENIOR NOTICE

Because only one-third of the seniors have availed themselves of the opportunity to order senior announcements, the time limmit for closing the order list has been moved ahead to next Monday night at 7 p. m., according to Russ Garst, chairman of the announcement committee. Town students may place their orders at the Oriole Nest until the deadline

Monday night. Representatives will be appointed today in each group house and hall to round up all the delinquent senious who have not ordered their announcements and impress upon them the necessity for conforming to this ancient and widely accepted custom.

Ags On Parade Tomorrow

Tomorrow the parade of the agriculture students will no doubt be the highlight of the day's happenings. Then in the evening they will put on their Little International Livestock show, which will be followed by the Publications Ball in the Memorial gymnasium.

The Ag students will reach the climax of a year's work when they put on the show tomorrow, and probably Monday the manager of next year's show will start making preparations for another show. Industrious boys, these Ags.

The show is not merely an activity with the students of the College of Agriculture, it is a business! They work from the time they enroll in the fall until they go home in the spring. They take a pride in their work, and their pride is displayed in their excellent specimens and products.

Maybe they are not the most popular students in the university, but we will venture to say that they are the most industrious. Their work is long and tedious one solid mass of laboratories, lectures, and trips out to the university farm. This is also true of some of the other technical schools in the university.

Tomorrow is their big day and it is up to the student body to assist them in every way possible—help entertain their guests, turn out for their parade. Try and bring back that courteous spirit for which Idahowas once noted—their guests are "the backbone of the nation." Make the visitors want to return to the Little International next year!
