

Yell Duke Try-outs Take Place Thursday Memorial Gymnasium

Two Assistant Yell Kings Will Be Chosen By Paul Kerr

Day: Thursday
Time: 5 p. m.
Place: Memorial gym
Who: Everybody interested
What for: Yell/Duke try-outs
The above outline just about covers all the information that prospective yell duke aspirants will want to know before they report for the try-outs scheduled for Thursday afternoon on the basketball floor of the Memorial gym by Paul Kerr, yell king.

Two dukes, official assistants of the yell king in leading the cheering sections at ball games and conducting pep rallies, will be chosen by Kerr after the tryouts. The names of those selected will be announced in next Friday's issue of The Argonaut.

Chance for Advancement
There are no restrictions as to the eligibility of the aspirants, although members of the first three classes in school are given preference as the yell duke positions usually serve as stepping stones to the higher post of yell king.

Kerr stressed the importance of everyone interested in the activity trying out for the positions whether they have had previous experience in leading yells or not.

Big Year in Prospect
"High school cheer leading experience will help to some extent," he said, "but it is not necessary. The men will be selected on the basis of their co-ordination and natural aptitude they display toward developing into first class yell leaders. Freshmen are particularly urged to try out."

Considerable honor is attached to these yell duke positions on the Idaho campus as they are the instigators of one of the oldest university traditions—the "Idaho spirit." With the biggest year in history in prospect for the football season and other student activities, Kerr is particularly anxious to secure two capable assistants to help with the rally committee in arousing the student body to back the teams.

University Violin Trio Now Heard Over National Broadcast

Are Now Featured With Al Pearce's Gang of Radio Entertainers

From university musicales to a featured spot with Al Pearce's Gang of radio entertainers is the step recently taken by three University of Idaho violinists, Bill Ames, Boise; Wendell Olsen, Montpelier; and Dick Edwards, Kellogg.

Formerly known as the "University Trio," the young men now are called as the "Fiddlers Three" on the Pierce program, which is heard every afternoon except Sunday, over the National Broadcasting company hook-up. The violin arrangements are among the few instrumental numbers featured on this program.

Heard in Spokane

The University of Idaho trio received its first audition with Al Pearce's Gang early in May when he and his troupe appeared in Spokane. For the second time in the history of these popular radio entertainers, they included outside talent in their program by having as guest stars the Idaho violinists.

At the University of Idaho last year, the trio played for musical shows, assemblies, and dances. Ames was leader of the Idaho Pep band for two years. Both Ames and Olsen were graduated in June, but Edwards will be a junior this year.

Several Changes Occur In Faculty

Board of Regents Will Appoint Men to Fill Remaining Vacancies

Three new deans, two professors, and a bandmaster make up the major changes in the faculty this year, according to records in the president's office. Other faculty changes approved by the board of regents represent a normal turnover in personnel—many of the changes being of routine nature.

Three important positions, dean of the School of Mines, professor of European history, and professor of horticulture, have yet to be filled. The board of regents will appoint men to fill these vacancies at a meeting of the board in Boise this Saturday.

The mines post was left vacant when John W. Finch, dean of the School of Mines since 1930, resigned to become director of the United States bureau of mines in the department of the interior. The recent deaths of Prof. J. E. Retherford and Prof. C. G. Vincent left vacancies in the history and horticulture departments.

New Deans
New deans of forestry and law assume their posts this year. Dr. Richard E. McArdle, associate silviculturist with the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment station at Portland, becomes dean of forestry, succeeding the late Francis G. Miller, whose death this spring terminated 17 years as head of the Idaho forestry school.

Dr. Pendleton Howard, professor of law since 1929, is advanced to the deanship of the law school, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Dean W. E. Master-son to become dean of law at the University of Missouri. Dr. Howard returns to the campus after a year's leave as visiting professor of law at Northwestern university.

The new forestry dean come to Idaho preceded by glowing recommendations from leading men in lumbering and forestry throughout the United States. His training and experience covers all phases of the industry. Dr. McArdle received the B. S., M. S., and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Michigan.

Robert B. Lyon assumes the post of assistant professor of music and director of the R. O. T. C. military band, succeeding Bernat Nelson, leader of the military band since 1918, who died in April. Mr. Lyon comes to Idaho enthusiastically endorsed by national authorities in his field of music.

At Evanston
The music appointee holds two degrees from the University of Illinois and during the summer has been doing graduate study at Northwestern. He has been connected with several prominent bands, was a trumpet player with the Chicago symphony orchestra, has been director of high school and college bands, and a judge at a number of state and national band concerts.

Clarence H. Schowalter, a Wisconsin graduate, has been appointed an instructor in mechanical engineering. He has had three years experience on aircraft engine design with two large eastern manufacturing companies.

Dr. Lowell A. Mullen joins the faculty as an instructor in botany. He holds his bachelor's degree from Butler university, his master's from Indiana, and his doctorate from Washington State, where he taught during four summer terms. Dr. Vernon S. Scheid will be a new instructor in geology. He is a Johns Hopkins university graduate. Dr. J. Harold Wayland, '31, returns as an instructor in mathematics. Since 1931 he has been a graduate student and part time teacher at the California Institute of Technology, where he received his Ph. D. in June.

Dr. Michael Peech is the new assistant in agricultural chemistry. He received his doctorate degree from Ohio State in 1933. Five instructors have been appointed for one year, four to serve during leaves of absence of other faculty members. John L. Barnhardt joins the dairy department staff for next year. Positions of similar rank will be held by Katy Rae Boyer, instructor in the department of women's physical education; Lillie Gallagher, '31, school of business; Robert A. Fisher, '34, department of entomology; and Dr. W. D. Miller, School of Forestry.

Welcome Home To School

"We wish to extend a sincere welcome to both old and new students coming to Idaho this fall."

What a worn out and tattered old phrase! Yet it is one which has never meant more in its repetition than it does right now. Every year that same expression appears on these pages in some form or other and every year it is made just as sincerely. It was never said before, however, with as great a feeling of optimism for a great school year as this has every indication of being.

Registration forecasts tend to predict an enrollment above any in the history of the university. Old students are returning in numbers exceeding our fondest hopes. Group houses are experiencing a much greater chance of getting the required number of "bean eaters." Businessmen in Moscow and all over the state have expressed themselves as being in a better position financially than has been true for some time.

Striking such a pleasant note at the beginning of another year at Idaho is not propaganda. It happens to be the truth and all the more pleasant because of its truthfulness. Idaho students will have every opportunity to make the most of some of the most favorable conditions with which they have been surrounded for many moons.

To the new students who step into our halls for the first time it is our wish to make you doubly welcome. Idaho has many traditions and customs to which it clings tenaciously and in which we feel are the foundations of the "Idaho Spirit" of which we are so proud and which we cherish so ardently. Some of these customs may seem silly or, in the vernacular, "small time," to you. We know, however, that when you get acquainted with Idaho students and Idaho's many friends your attitude can be none other than one of whole hearted support of "that old Idaho spirit" which exists, not only on the athletic field, but on the campus, in the houses, and wherever there are Idaho students.

Old S.A.E. House To Be Fourth of Student Co-ops

Plan Worked Well Last Year; Charge Only $1 A Week For Rooms

So successful was last year's venture in providing three co-operative rooming and boarding houses for university students that another is being added for the coming year to take care of the steadily increasing number of applications. The former Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will be utilized, and will accommodate approximately 40 university men.

More recently known as the Community hospital, the two-story building situated on the corner of Deakin and College avenues will be equipped so that living expenses will be cut so low that many will be able to attend the university who ordinarily could not. The men will be charged $1 a week for their rooms, and will do all of the waiting and a certain amount of kitchen work.

Robert Greene, proctor of men, will be in charge of the house. He will be assisted by George S. Tanner, director of the Latter Day Saints institute.

The three successful "co-op" houses which were inaugurated last year will continue. The plan was carried out at Ridebaugh and Senior halls for men and at the College Girl's club for women.

A photographic studio will continue to occupy the front rooms of the building, while the kitchen, dining room, and second floor will be at the disposal of the students.

1934 Vandal Gridders Given Stiff Workout In Initial Practice Saturday

Squad Working Hard to Get In Shape for Huskies

A Vandal horde, forty strong, moved out on MacLean field at 1:30 Saturday afternoon to start the initial football practice at the University of Idaho. Eager to get underway, one of the gridsters, asked Coach Leo Calland to "give him the works," and the Idaho mentor surprised him and his teammates by doing that very thing. He started putting the squad through as stiff a workout as it will probably get all year.

In top condition after doing manual labor during the summer, the varsity candidates showed to advantage in the drill. Most of the men have been employed during the last three months in blister rust control, bucking sacks of grain, holding lumber and in other capacities which make football seem a mild pastime.

HEFTY TACKLE FROM WAY BACK JOINS SQUAD

Standouts among the hefty linemen to report, were Bob McCue, Harold Klumb, and Bob Moser, all tackles who will sag the scales at 200 pounds or better. The blonde head of Art Roose from Kellogg, who played on the 1929 freshman squad, stood out above the other six feet and some inches in the air. He weighs about 225 pounds, and plays at either guard or tackle. He is entering college again after being out for four years.

Heaviest damage done in the line by graduation last June centered around the end positions, due to the loss of Orville Schmitz, LaVerne Randall, Nels Fowles and Russell Garst, all regular ends. Being groomed for these positions this year, are Norman Iverson and George Rich, a pair of 180-pound lettermen; Earl Ritzheimer, 185, 1933 freshman squad; Frank Williams, 190, also from the freshman team; and Harvie Walker, 170, varsity reserve.

IT'S UP TO BERG THIS SEASON

Looking very promising among the backfield candidates, were Paul Berg, Idaho Falls letterman, who was an understudy to John Norby in the blocking halfback role last year. This job is just about up to him for the 1934 season. Charging across the backfield at a speed that is going to be an important scoring factor for Idaho this year, was Theron Ward, fullback from Jerome.

Elbert "Lefty" Inman, quarterback from Lewiston, was tossing the unfamiliar, smaller sized football with lightning effectiveness. McCue, who made the third longest scoring pass in the United States last year, complained of the light weight of the new ball. He was having difficulty getting off some of his famous 70-yard thrusts down the field. The ball seemed to wobble at 65 yards.

LEO TO WORK 'EM LONG AND HARD

Practice will be every afternoon for the next two weeks and the sessions will be long, said Calland. "We will probably hold our first scrimmage Thursday." The Idaho mentor is not kidding himself about Washington, with whom the first game of the season will be played, September 29. He is convinced Washington has one of the toughest teams in the conference, with a backfield that slows up for no one.

PRAISE MRS. MASON'S WORK

Iowa newspapers are commenting enthusiastically on the ability of Mrs. Edward F. Mason, wife of the former professor of journalism at the University of Idaho, as sculptress. Two years ago Mrs. Mason started studying sculpture and since that time has molded busts of eight prominent Iowa persons. Mrs. Mason had little art training before she began studying at Iowa. Experts have declared that her work is of the finest quality, considering the comparatively little art training she has had.

Oil is being substituted for molasses and water in grasshopper bait because it dries out less quickly.

Two Gridsters Featured On Cover

Two University of Idaho football stars, Bob McCue, hefty tackle, and Paul Berg, blocking halfback, are featured on the cover of the new 1934 Football Annual now on the newsstands. The oil painting on the cover, done by a New York artist, is taken from two action pictures of the Idaho gridsters. The original photographs were taken by Charles Dimond, Moscow photographer. Wishing to express the utmost in football action, the artist in his painting did not cover up the torn jersey of McCue, which the big tackle insisted on wearing most of the year.

Berg and McCue are both outstanding men on the 1934 Idaho squad. Berg is taking over the blocking halfback job of John Norby, and McCue is rated as one of the best long-distance passers on the Pacific coast.

The football annual, featuring these two men, gives a nationwide survey of the coming season.

FROSH BIBLE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

The 1934-35 Handbook, edited by Oliver Davis, is ready for distribution when the freshmen register. This book is the university guide for new students, and is published and presented to them by the associated students of the University of Idaho. It is published for the purpose of explaining to new students the traditions, activities, and social life of the campus. Included in this booklet is the constitution and by-laws of the ASUI.

McCue's Pass -- Smith's Return Rate 3rd in U.S.

Giant Tackle's 53-yard Toss to Iverson Recognized by Parke Davis

Pacific Coast football fans expect to see some A-No. 1 aerial work when the Idaho Vandals go on the field this fall.

Bob McCue, 210-pound tackle, who will be in grid fighting clothes again this year, now rates with the best passers in the nation. He holds third place in the United States for the longest forward pass of 1933 to score a touchdown, according to a new set of statistics recently compiled by Parke H. Davis, famous football authority, who died shortly after completing them.

Davis gives John Walton (Denver) credit for the longest scoring pass, a thrust of 58 yards made in a game with Utah. The 55-yard pass of Thomas Leech (Lawrence) in a game with St. Norbert, was second longest. McCue's pass to Norm Iverson in last season's Whitman game, which ranked him third place, was 53 yards. In the same game, the big Vandal tackle made a total of 161 yards in completed passes.

Third in the United States last year for longest scoring runs in returning back kicks, according to Davis, was a teammate of McCue, the one and only "Little Giant" Willis Smith, now with a professional ball club, the New York Giants. The long run by Smith was his 86-yard dash in the 1933 homecoming game with Washington State college. James Boring (Penn State) was first in the nation with a 100-yard run, and James Peele (Purdue) second with a 90-yard run.

Gold in paying quantities was recently reported discovered in Coleman county, Texas.

Calland's Huskies Keep In Trim During Summer Doing Blister Rust Control Work

That's football players in them that mount, stranger!

If you don't believe it, read the roster of University of Idaho gridsters who kept in top physical and financial condition this summer by doing blister rust control work. By shifting a couple of men in the line, Coach Leo Calland can boast a complete eleven who worked in the tall timber, though he adds that no conference rules against early practice were broken, as the team was scattered over every mountainside in northern Idaho.

From the tree troupers whose first love is football under the silver and gold banner, a complete backfield can be formed. They include Cy Geraghty, veteran quarterback; Spokane, Russ Honsowetz, letterman halfback; Harrison; Paul "Nutz" Wise, a halfback transfer from Chaffee Junior college; and Theron "Suitcase" Ward, high-speed fullback.

In the line are Norm "Kid" Iverson and Harvie "Slug" Walker; ends: Harold "Kewpie" Klumb, tackle; Alfred Berg, guard, Idaho Falls; and Ralph Spaugy, center, Moscow. By shifting two of the Vandal woodsmen, "Flano" Joe" Wheeler, 200-pound center transfer from Chaffee, to a tackle berth, and Earl Ritzheimer, end from Coeur d'Alene, to guard, the eleven is complete.

EVERETT MOLANDER DIES

Word was received here recently of the death of a former Idaho student, Everett Molander of Buhl. Everett attended the university in 1930 and '31, enrolling in engineering. Death was caused by complications following an appendicitis operation at the Twin Falls general hospital on September 4. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Molander, and a brother and sister.

Calland Gives Stanford Edge in Coast Battle

Southern Cal Will Probably Give Indians Most Trouble, Says Leo

A "Calland's eye view" of the 1934 Pacific Coast Football conference race shows Stanford leading the field. The Idaho football mentor figures the Indians will not have much trouble—that is, not too much—in coming down the gridiron home stretch first.

Last year, Leo Calland rated Southern California as the strongest team in the conference. He was almost right, as the Trojans were the high scorers in the conference with 85 points to 23 for opposing teams. Stanford, however, though scoring only 53 points to 23 for the opposition, won the right to represent the Coast in the Rose Bowl game.

Calland figures U.S.C. will probably give Stanford most trouble for claiming conference honors this year, and California will also be somewhat of a nuisance. He gives strong ratings to Washington and Washington State. Any further down the list, he said he would rather rate them from Saturday to Sunday.

NOTICE: All candidates for freshman football managers report to Bill Hunt at MacLean field any time Monday.

NORBY AND SMITH WITH PRO LEAGUE

Heading for another gridiron round-up, John Norby, Rupert, former Idaho star halfback, and Willis Smith, lightning quarterback of last year, are now with the New York Giants in the National Professional Football League. They started practice September 1.

"Beeg" John" and "Wee Willie" were two of Idaho's most popular gridsters last year. They made an inevitable and outstanding pair, Beeg John holding back the enemy, while Wee Willie scampered around, over, or through.

Norby was rated by coast sports authorities as one of the finest defensive players in the conference, topping off his amateur career with a smashing exhibition of blocking and tackling in the annual East-West Shrine classic at San Francisco on New Year's day. Smith, who never weighed more than 160, was regarded as one of the most dangerous open-field runners in the country.

Idaho Athletic Stars of Former Years Land Many Coaching Posts

Many new athletic coaches will be on the job when Idaho high schools open this month.

Idaho 1934 graduates who make their debut as coaches this fall include the former Vandal football stars, Orville Schmitz, Lewiston veteran end, who will be at Emmett; and Oliver Davis, Boise guard, who goes to Challis. Max Eiden, Boise, guard, will direct athletics at Boise Junior college. William Felton, Moscow, quarterback will coach at Enterprise, Ore.

Former Vandal hoopers who go into coaching jobs for the first time this year are Pete Wicks, Moscow, and Arton Barrett, Pocatello. Both played three years as varsity forwards under Basketball Coach Rich Fox. Wicks goes to Cratmond, and Barrett to Troy. George Wilson, Moscow, flashy quarterback on the Idaho 1930, '31, and '32 teams, will coach at Endicott, Wash.

Many Parties For Fall Rush

With the new Pan-Hellenic rules calling for more parties than ever before held during rush week, every sorority house on the campus is bustling with details for entertaining the 200 or more new women who are arriving on the Special Sunday morning. And yet, according to the stories heard of summer parties, this first week will only be the climax of a series of brilliant parties held in all parts of the state wherever a number of university women wearing the same pin could get together. These summer rush parties were of all types, ranging from formal dinner dances or teas to very informal tavern dinners or bridge parties.

The next week will be filled with such parties, as under the new rush system each sorority will hold a breakfast, luncheon, fireside, and formal dinner before all the new women are settled in the house or hall of their choice for the year.

The latest campus marriage is that of Lois Naylor and Wade Patterson, both of Moscow. They were married Sept. 8, at Moscow. Both have attended the University for the last two years. Mr. Patterson is a member of Sigma Chi. Mrs. Patterson is a member of Delta Gamma. They will live in Rosalia, Wash.

New Rules Forbid Rush Week Dates

Men Must Forego Dates With Fresh Women for Week

Perhaps the most interesting change made in Pan-Hellenic rushing rules this year is the fact that during the week when freshmen women are being rushed, they cannot accept dates with men. This includes dates in the daytime as well as dates at night. It is absolutely necessary that the rushees observe this rule because penalties for breaking it is the loss by the rushee of a group of parties (first, second or third parties).

Because of the fact that in recent years the system used was very unsatisfactory, the whole principle of the thing has been changed with the idea of making it more competitive than before.

The Pan-Hellenic tea will be the same as usual on Sunday afternoon, the time being changed to three o'clock. On Monday and Tuesday, first parties are given, the rushees being allowed to go to any of the eight parties to which she is invited. Wednesday and Thursday are filled with a second group of parties, the rushees being required to eliminate four out of the eight houses. On Friday, each house gives two parties, making a total of sixteen parties in all, of which the rushee can go to only two. For the purpose of simplifying this, date cards will be issued to the rushee before each group of parties. These cards must be filled out the same night and turned in to the representative at the hall. There are no conflicts in parties between houses.

Formal Important
Invitations to formal dinner on Saturday night are of greater importance this year, acceptance of which being acceptance of a bid. Pledging will close at eight o'clock on Saturday night, thus eliminating the "parade" on Sunday. It is to be stressed that once invitations are answered, the answers are final and cannot be changed. It is to be hoped that this system will prove more satisfactory than that which has been used before. It is not adopted from any other school, but has been worked out by the members of Pan-Hellenic to fill the individual needs of this school. Certain features have been taken from several different universities, and combined to form a system which should be far better than any which has been used before at the University of Idaho, according to rushing officials.

A personal inspection tour is being made by the committee and a list of the places passed by them will be soon completed. The regulations are not applicable to married couples or to faculty members.

An increase of 91 per cent in the number of visitors to General Grant National park in California this year brought the number of visitors to nearly 4,000,000.

HOUSE MOTHER DIES AFTER OPERATION

The death of Mrs. M. G. Reed, Alpha Phi house mother, September 9, at the Deaconess hospital in Spokane, came as a shock to friends on the Idaho campus. Mrs. Reed died of heart complications following an operation. She had been house mother for the Alpha Phi's for the last two years. Her home was in Seattle, but she was spending the summer in Spokane with her daughter Mrs. Walter Starkey. The funeral services were held in Spokane Wednesday. She is survived by Mrs. Starkey and two grandchildren, Katherine and Jane Starkey.

HOUSING COMMITTEE ON INSPECTION TOUR

The keynote of the housing regulations at the University of Idaho is briefly: men students living off the campus must live in places approved by the housing regulations committee. This committee is composed of Dean T. S. Kerr, Junior College head; Prof. J. M. Reader of the College of Agriculture; and Prof. E. E. Hubert of the School of Forestry.
