

Campus Party Candidates Win 8 Of 12 Offices

Presidents Are: Art Hagen, Norm Iverson, and Winston Goss

Elections Went Off Smoothly; First Election Outlawed By Stuffed Ballot Boxes

After one of the most heated class election campaigns ever held on the Idaho campus, the second balloting on the nominees for the various offices resulted Wednesday in a Campus party victory in eight of the twelve offices up for vote. The first election held a week ago was outlawed because of claims of fraud. Definite evidence of Campus strength was shown in the two upper classes while an equally strong swing toward the United Students party was shown in the sophomore class.

In the senior class Art Hagen was elected president over Bill Simon by a margin of 11 votes; Jack Barbee won over Chet Rodell with a goodly margin of 40 votes; Helen Thornhill then beat Sue Evans by 23 votes; Howard Arnett was elected as treasurer over Lucille Stephenson by 38 votes.

Junior Vote Close
The Junior class election was much closer and a tie resulted between Betty Goodwin and Benny Lutz for secretary of the class with 125 votes apiece. The flip of a coin gave Miss Goodwin the office. Norm Iverson won a close vote over Mark Hegsted to become president, the vote being 130 to 122. Jane Post was made vice president by a margin of 10 votes over Dorothy Dole. The United Students then put Wally Geraghty into office by a margin of four votes over Earl Latham.

In the sophomore election the United Students put Winston Goss into the president's office by a vote of 177 to 166 to defeat Jack McKibbin. Jim McFarland also a United Student's candidate beat Esther Flenner by five votes. Jo Betty Wickes then won over Murva James by the widest margin that the United Students party had of 18 votes. The Campus party's candidate for treasurer, Roy Gray, nosed out Don Tracy by three votes.

"The election went off very smoothly," stated Norm Roberts, chairman of the election committee. "There was no trouble of any sort, and I hope that the same method of voting—by the Australian secret ballot—will be employed next semester. It is much more satisfactory than the former method, which left too much room for graft."

Idaho Livestock Takes 70 Awards

Four Grand Championships Bagged; 20 Firsts Won on Swine

University of Idaho livestock winnings at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, Portland, last week totaled nearly 70 high awards, reports E. J. Iddings, dean of the College of Agriculture. Topping the list were grand championships on a Holstein cow, a Duro-Jersey sow, a pen of three Duro-Jersey barrows, and an individual Poland China barrow. These animals also won championship awards. Another championship award was won on a Shorthorn steer. Of the 26 first awards won by university livestock, 20 were won on swine exhibits. The top pure breed barrow class included 12 seven fat barrow classes. Other one and two thirds, one fourth, and two fifths.

Shorthorn Calves Win
First awards in two classes of Winnings on fat steers included shorthorn steer calves, and champion shorthorn steer. Another first award was won on an Angus steer calf. Second awards were won on groups of three Shorthorn and Angus steers, respectively.

In the fat sheep division, university Southdown wethers won first and second premiums in both singles and pens of three. Other awards were taken by grade wethers and by Lincoln and Rambouillet breeding stock.

Enrollment at Los Angeles Junior College was so large this year that police reserves had to be called out to keep the students in line during registration.

Eleven Permitted To Omit English 1 After Passing Test

Eleven students passed the proficiency test and have the privilege of omitting English 1. Several of these students, however, expect to be English majors or to take subjects in the Arts. Consequently, a number of them will take English 1 voluntarily as definite assistance to their future work in college.

Coach Announces Debate Schedule

All Students Interested in Debate Urged to Turn-out Next Tuesday

Announcement of the questions and schedule for debate this year was made yesterday at a meeting called by A. E. Whitehead, debate coach.

Mr. Whitehead said that he expected an outstanding season in spite of the fact that several good debaters have graduated or for some other reason are unable to debate.

The men's question, is "Resolved, that the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions." Women will debate the question, "Resolved, that the federal government should fix maximum incomes and inheritances."

First Debate at Walla Walla
The first contest this year will be the women's triangular debate in Walla Walla, December 8th. Two teams will be sent to this debate. Both sides of the question must be prepared.

December 15 will mark the annual men's triangular debate, with teams from Whitman and Washington State colleges competing with Idaho. Four men will be used in this contest and both sides of the question must be prepared.

Freshmen and sophomores will participate in a debate tournament in January in Spokane. Washington State college, Whitman, Gonzaga, Whitworth, Spokane Junior college, Lewiston Normal, and Coeur d'Alene Junior college will take part. About fifteen Idaho debaters will be required for the tournament. It is planned to use the "Idaho Special" to transport the Idaho contestants to Spokane. Last year a similar tournament was held here with considerable success.

Pacific Forensic League to Meet
The annual meeting of the Pacific forensic league, which was held at Stanford last year, will be held at Walla Walla in April. Contestants will include teams from all schools on the Pacific coast. Extensive speaking, after-dinner speaking, oratorical contests, and debates will take place at this meeting.

This year, following last year's successful plan, two debaters will tour the state, holding open forum discussions before lunch clubs. They will discuss phases of the "New Deal."

There are a number of other debate trips which have not passed the tentative stage. Mr. Whitehead announced that he desired all students interested in debate to meet with him Tuesday in a large number of opportunities for freshmen and upper classes. There are freshmen and Ad 206. There are freshmen and upper classes with experience are especially desired.

To run for a student office at the University of Illinois one must be a member of one of the six campus political parties.

Alumni President's Letter

Dear Fellow Alumni:

The annual Homecoming for the University of Idaho is Saturday, October 20, just one week away. On that day the Idaho Vandals meet the Oregon Webfeet. Coach Calland and his team are pointing for the game and promise to upset the Oregon jinx forever.

As an organization, the Idaho Alumni association should assume its share of the responsibility in making Homecoming a success. I would like to see a party of alumni organized in every community to come to the campus for Homecoming. Why not get together and organize a party in your town?

I would suggest that you make your hotel reservations early. The fraternities and sororities can take care of only a limited number of guests as the enrollment on the campus is the largest that it has ever been and all of the student residences are crowded. If you desire reservations, please communicate immediately with Lawrence Huff, Moscow, vice president of the association, who will endeavor to see that all alumni are properly accommodated for Homecoming.

The pre-game rally and fire will be Friday evening, the big game on Saturday and the alumni buffet supper and reunion Saturday night. The informal alumni buffet supper and reunion inaugurated last year was one of the most successful Homecoming events ever held, and we want to duplicate the success this year.

With keenest anticipation of meeting you in Moscow and knowing that we will see a wonderful game, I am

Sincerely yours,

RALPH W. YORK, Boise, ex-'19

Students May Enjoy Weekly Dances Soon

Students Circulate Petition Asking Executive Board to Sanction New Plan

Members of the associated students may soon enjoy weekly dances sponsored by the association, according to members of the executive board. For the past week petitions have circulated on the campus, asking the board to sanction such a plan and the major portion of the time at the Tuesday meeting of that body was taken up with discussion of the project.

Plans as presented in the petition call for the dances to be held each week in the women's gymnasium. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and the president, Dave Kendrick, urged that every angle of the proposal be inquired into before action is taken. Among other things facing the committee will be the problems of the use of the gym floor, admission price, and possibility of conflicts with other student functions.

Further action in the matter will be delayed until the next executive board meeting October 16, when a full report from the committee is expected.

Knights Announce Plans For Mixer

Dance Will Be Only Campus October 19

Final plans for the 1934 annual Intercollegiate Knight mixer to be held on October 19, immediately after the big rally and bonfire include many new ideas. A cash prize will be awarded to the best dressed couple, representing "End Oregon to Idaho". Music will be furnished by the Pep Band orchestra. Also, the mixer is the only entertainment taking place on the campus that night.

The mixer is sponsored yearly by the Ball and Chain chapter of Intercollegiate Knights. It is one of the best attended of the campus functions. Special arrangements are being made for the handling of the crowd so that the dancers will not be crowded into the middle of the floor. Also, provision is made for the checking of coats.

Spurs Cooperate
"The Knights are making every effort to make the mixer an enjoyable affair," stated William McCrea, chairman of the mixer committee. "The Idaho chapter of Spurs is also cooperating to make the dance a success, and the W. S. C. chapter of Knights will be called on to further insure the success of the dance."

Patrons and patronesses are: Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barton, Dean and Mrs. T. S. Kerr, and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Horton. Invitations have also been extended to President and Mrs. Neale and to all the deans of the university.

Admission is 40 cents for the men and all women get in free. White Bucket tickets will also be honored at the door. Tickets go on sale in the group houses this week and may be purchased from any intercollegiate Knight. The committee in charge of the dance includes, Bill McCrea, chairman; Earl Bullock, Bob Strachan, Bob Strawn, Clyde Koontz, and Mark Robinson.

Extensive Plans For 1934 Homecoming Get Under Way As Alumni And Student Committees Start Work On Yearly Affair

Moscow Grads Arrange Full Program For Homecoming Visitors

As their contribution toward making Idaho's 1934 Homecoming a memorable occasion, rivalling the best in Vandal history, Moscow alumni have arranged events which will keep all returning alumni and former students busy every minute of their stay on the campus.

Headline events on the alumni program include an informal buffet supper at Hays hall at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and an alumni dance at the memorial gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock the same evening.

Dovetailing with the pioneer theme of this year's Homecoming, alumni are cooperating with the Blue Key in honoring all past football captains. At the general alumni meeting at the Elks temple Thursday night, called by Lawrence Huff, vice president of the Idaho Alumni association, T. E. Hunter of Moscow suggested that special invitations be issued to all men who have captained Vandal eleven. The suggestion was received with enthusiasm and Mr. Hunter was appointed to head an alumni committee to cooperate with Blue Key in bringing back all of the old Vandal grid leaders whose whereabouts are known. Blue Key will honor these men in an appropriate way, Robert Herrick, president of the organization, indicated.

Issue Invited

This issue of the Idaho Argonaut, being sent to alumni, constitutes an official invitation to the 1934 Homecoming. Upon their arrival in Moscow, alumni will be started on the Homecoming trail by members of Blue Key and Cardinal Key, upperclass honorary service groups. Blue Key will maintain a registration and reception booth at the Hotel Moscow, starting Friday morning. Cardinal Key will have a booth on the campus starting Friday afternoon. At both places lists of Moscow alumni will be available to facilitate visitors getting in touch with Moscow friends. Members of the service groups also will get visitors in touch with any university students they desire to see. Garber Green is chairman of the alumni committee cooperating with the service groups in registration and reception. Charles Warner is the Blue Key representative and Esther Hunt the representative of Cardinal Key.

Because of the outstanding success of the informal buffet supper at the 1933 Homecoming the idea is to be repeated this year. Mrs. C. W. Hickman is chairman of the arrangements and entertainment committee and Mrs. L. A. Boas is chairman of the attendance committee for this event. Last year the supper was held at Forney hall but the turn-out was so large the event is being moved to Hays hall this year. The additional space available in Hays hall will make it possible to handle conveniently a crowd even larger than that which crowded into Forney last Homecoming.

Special Program
A special program, featuring campus musicians and group singing of old Idaho songs under the direction of Miss Miriam Burton, is being prepared. Moscow alumni, at their general meeting last night, brushed up on a number of these old campus favorites, thereby getting a week's start in building up a Homecoming atmosphere. Immediately following the buffet supper alumni will move en masse over to the memorial gymnasium for the annual Homecoming dance. Arrangements for this event are being handled by a committee of which Brick Heath is chairman.

Mr. Huff read to Moscow alumni a letter from Ralph E. York, Boise, president of the Idaho Alumni Association, in which he told of activity underway to foster interest in Homecoming among southern Idaho alumni. Mr. York said he was making a trip through the southern part of the state, meeting the regional vice-presidents of the association and urging them to head Homecoming parties. He also informed Moscow alumni he would be on the campus shortly before Homecoming to assist in making last-minute arrangements.

Moscow Alumni Turn Out
Chairmen of the several committees are making a special effort to assure a hundred per cent turnout of Moscow alumni. There are over 300 university grads living in Moscow and the committees want every one to participate in this year's Homecoming. "One of the best ways to show our visitors a good time and to make their visit enjoyable will be for every Moscow alumni to give full support to the

Alumni 'I' Men Must Register at Graduate Manager's Office

"All alumni 'I' men must register before getting a ticket to the Homecoming game this year," states Cap Horton, graduate manager.

This means that they must check into the graduate manager at his office in the gym before the game. The policy is different from anything that has ever been tried before. In the games before this year they were simply admitted at the gate in the showing of their "I" club card. This year they must pay a federal tax for their ticket. A section will be reserved to take care of these past lettermen.

All former captains of football games are to be the special guests of the university on Homecoming. Each captain should either write or personally register with the graduate manager at his office in the Memorial gym.

No More Frontiers Read By B. James

Students Enjoy Play by Former Idaho Student At Assembly

At the first public events assembly of the year, Benton W. James, University of Washington dramatics instructor, read "No More Frontiers," a play written by Talbot Jennings, former Idaho student. Mr. James' appearance before the Idaho students was made possible by Dean T. S. Kerr, chairman of public events committee.

Mr. James was introduced by George Morey Miller, head of the English department. He was formerly with the Neighborhood playhouse in New York city and was afterward connected with the Cornish School of the Theatre, in Seattle, and the University of Washington department of drama.

Deal With Idaho
The play, "No More Frontiers" was exceedingly interesting to the Idaho students because it had to do with the settlement and development of the state of Idaho. The play was ably read by Mr. James. His wife was formerly a resident of Poecattello, which is near the locale of the play.

The play had to deal with the life of a man who came to Idaho in the early days, settled down on a piece of land, went in partnership with another man, and were both made rich by the finding of some gold underneath the floor of the shack. Then followed the history of Idaho down to the present day and ended with this pioneer, old now, wanting "more frontiers" and with his grandson wondering "if they will ever find a way to the moon."

Homecoming events," declared Vice President Huff.

As indicated in Mr. York's letter to alumni all visitors not already cared for in the matter of housing are urged to communicate with Mr. Huff. Local alumni will see that all returning grads are accommodated during their two days on the campus.

The committee in charge of general arrangements for this year's Homecoming include Mr. Huff, Cecil Hagen, Mrs. J. H. Einhouse, and Harold Cornellison.

'Three Cornered Moon' Will Be Presented Here October 26-27

"A Rimplegar is always the same—he never tampers with logic," but is one of a moonstruck family that spends his time inventing complicated methods of suicide or departing impulsively on journeys that take him to the ends of the earth.

A Rimplegar never does, says, or thinks anything except by accident, or on rare occasions, under compulsion. He has the usual number of features and would at first glance appear perfectly normal except for his surroundings, his natural habitat being a madhouse.

"Beautiful Inanity"
This madhouse goes on the boards as Gertrude Tonkonog's "Three Cornered Moon," to be presented in the university auditorium October 26 and 27. The play is a "beautiful inanity" that amused Broadway for weeks in its decadent

Pioneer Idea Will Be Theme of 1934 Homecoming Celebration

Indian's from all tribes have been invited to the Homecoming football game here Oct. 20, providing they appear in full regalia, thus adding another feature to an already colorful program. The appearance of the redmen will add much to the atmosphere of pioneer days and they will do their bit toward ending "Oregon's Trail" by appearing in the parade between halves. Tribesmen appearing at the gate in costume will be admitted free, according to Cap Horton, graduate manager.

Special speakers and entertainment will be supplied at the ASUI assembly next Tuesday to add the final dash of pep to an already enthusiastic student body. All arrangements for the assembly are in charge of a committee headed by John Aram, general chairman, Eileen O'Dea, and Ed Wood. "With the aid of speakers, yell leaders, and the Pep Band," said Charles Warner, Homecoming chairman, "We feel confident that the Vandals will know that Idaho students are sincerely behind them."

Reports from group houses indicate that students are busy planning decorations and are scouting around for covered wagons to roll back the years to the days of Jason Lee and the frontiersmen.

Members of the freshman class under the guidance of Ed Wiley, general chairman. Glen Whitsel, and Bob Granville, are busy looking for fuel to make a blaze that will be visible, according to them, from Moscow to Eugene. The bonfire and rally on Friday, Oct. 19, will climax preparations for the Vandals 12th annual Homecoming which was started in 1922 with the coming of the Trojans.

Homecoming

Plans for Homecoming and the annual gathering of alumni on the Idaho campus are rapidly taking shape. With committees hard at work on the details of the 1934 celebration, indications point definitely, we believe, to one of the best Homecoming weekends yet.

The Argonaut wishes to supplement the remarks addressed to Idaho alumni by Ralph W. York, alumni association president, by extending an "Idaho Spirited" invitation to every alumnus of the university to attend the 1934 Homecoming, to help us beat the Oregon Webfoots, and to meet in reunion members of their respective classes and old friends.

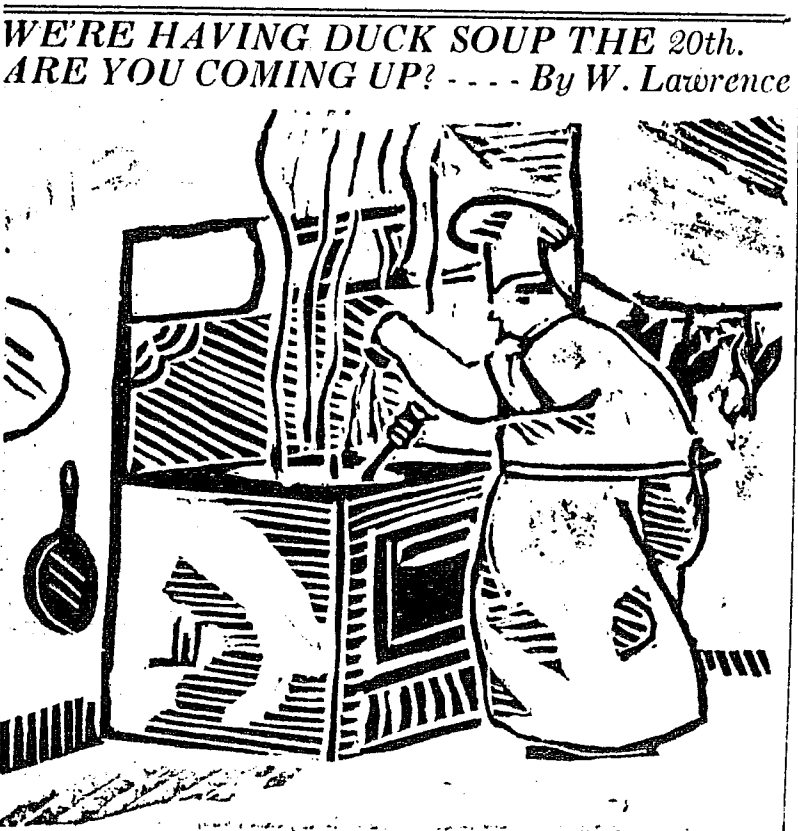

Over 2,200 Idaho students, the largest student body in the history of the institution, are looking forward expectantly to the exciting events of Homecoming weekend. That event, always the highpoint of the school year, has every indication of being the peppiest, most spirited one we have seen.

"End Oregon's Trail," the slogan adopted for the 1934 Homecoming, means just what it says and typifies the spirit with which Idaho is going into the football game with Oregon on October 20. It's the "Idaho Spirit" in another setting. Every Idaho alumnus and every Idaho undergraduate will be on MacLean field when the whistle blows to open the feature event of our Homecoming, and not a seat will be vacated until the final gun is sounded. We know we can beat Oregon and end that trail of victories alluded to as the "Oregon jinx."

Although the game is the highlight of the Homecoming parade of events for visiting alumni there will be other affairs of interest to graduates of Idaho. Suppers, dances, meetings, and class reunions will fill their time to overflowing. And don't forget the bonfire rally before the game. There is not one Idaho alumnus who does not vividly remember his first, his second, or even his fifteenth rally bonfire. We urge you to be here Friday to see that Homecoming opener.

And in parting, alumni, here is something to think of. If you haven't been back on the campus for the last 10 years, or even just the last three or four years, you are due for a surprise. Campus improvements during that time have changed the "hill" until you will hardly recognize it. New concrete roadways, acres of green grass, and plots of attractive shrubbery make it a beauty spot of which we are all proud. Try to plan to come back for a visit next weekend. We'd be glad to see you, no fooling.

This'n That

After having been covered with political literature for the past week, the sidewalks are again becoming visible. Incidentally, we wonder if someone lost a dime under the sidewalk in front of the Engineering building. If so, effort is not being spared in recovering the lost shekel. Old grads returning for Homecoming won't recognize the old place after the drastic renovation by the C. W. A. Even now, some of the old students are having trouble establishing new short cuts to classes. (This has nothing to do with the celebrated "cut" system).

Probably the most interesting revelation of the week was the fact that many of our co-eds have taken up pipe smoking. Tobacco companies will be changing the titles of their brands soon. For instance, we will have Princess Albert, Mrs. Walter Raleigh, and Velveten. We hope the girls don't get in the habit of smoking cigars. Just think, fellows, of going on a date with a pocketful of El Ropos.

We couldn't help but observe the peace and quiet around the Music hall since the Vandaleers have gone on their trip. The familiar "mi-mi-mo, la-la-lee, etc." is conspicuously absent. However, those few musicians left behind are trying valiantly to uphold the honors of the department and every so often manage to make themselves heard above the roar and din of campus life.

"Et tu Brute!"
And history repeats itself. Treason! Betrayal!
Our phantom friends from the intangible world of the here-after, literally threw us over last Saturday. Perhaps we should be consoled by the fact that all our fellow Pacific Coast gridiron prognosticators were also out in the cold, so to speak. Nevertheless, we, instead of Washington State college, crashed from the clouds into the mire of pig-skin has-beens.

Never again will we brag of hats, size eight and one half. We tried on a 'dink' cap last Saturday night and it looked like a football helmet. As we elbow for room among the common horde of football columnists, we hear a familiar voice.

"Never mind," it says, "no one reads your column anyway."
Thus, with our spirits now completely revived, we gleefully sit down to our cheery task of holding another seance.
It is going to be hard, very hard, but it has to be done. With feverish fingers we grip the crystal in one hand and our inferiority complex in the other. Daly is concentrating. His eyes are becoming glassy! Yes—no—yes! Here it is!

The first game to break into the crystal is the W.S.C.-Gonzaga battle. Rather unexciting. W.S.C. takes the lead in the first quarter and keeps it until the final gun. Score—W.S.C., 26; Gonzaga 12.

The Oregon vs. Washington scramble. Spectacular fray with Oregon looking just plenty good. Final score—Oregon, 12; Washington 7. We just received a severe shock. For a moment we thought the incense had exploded, but it was the stadium at Pittsburg. The smoke seemingly blinds the boys from sunny southern California. Result—Pittsburg, 19; U. S. C., 6.

The Golden Bears from the University of California do not seem to have a drop of respect for the grand old man of football, Alonzo Stagg, and whip his fighting contingent from the College of the Pacific twelve to nothing.

O. S. C. submerges Columbia in a dull battle at Portland. The University of California at Los Angeles puts the Montana Grizzlies to bed at eighteen to seven.

The final game to appear is the Stanford vs. Northwestern special. Stanford still has the appearance of Pacific Coast champions, but have a pretty tough time squeezing out two touchdowns to clinch the game.

If these spry old spirits are still pulling whizzers on us we will buy some of those that put in their appearance at the annual Homecoming game. (Pun.)

"General" Calland Preparing To Lay Heavy Barrage On Invading Webfoots

Running Attack Gets Attention; Klumb Back in Uniform

All's quiet on the Idaho front this week-end. That is, as far as attack from the enemy is concerned. But, down in the trenches "General" Leo B. Calland has the men working plenty hard so that a week from this Saturday it will be Idaho and not the University of Oregon that goes "over the top" on McLean battle field.

Rated the underdog, the Vandals will be fighting mad when they line up against the Ducks. The defeat at the hands of Washington and then the humbling handed out by Gonzaga has not set well with the Calland proteges. On the other hand, Oregon is pointing for Washington this Saturday and the squad is due for a let down when they get the Huskies off their chests.

Ducks Point For Huskies

Coach Prink Callison is getting to face a tough assignment in getting his boys into a fighting frame of mind for the Vandals, that is if his men put up any kind of scrap at all with the Huskies. And, from present indications, the Oregon men have a good chance to chalk up a victory.

In preparing for Oregon Coach Calland has been drilling the Vandals on their running attack which was spotted against Gonzaga. In the lengthy scrimmage Wednesday night passes were tabooed, and the reserves were informed the play which the regulars were going to "pull." With this disadvantage the first stringers showed signs of developing a running attack.

Hurt Hand

Few injuries were reported in the Gonzaga game. Bob McCue injured his passing hand, but the paw is being given plenty of attention this week so that it will be ready for Oregon. This injury which happened in the first half, accounts for the small number of passes "Booming Bob" heaved in the last two quarters.

The return of Harold Klumb to the squad sounded a cheery note yesterday. Klumb's services at tackle, where he starred last season, will bolster that department a great deal. Wilbur Braham, a reserve tackle, pulled a couple of tendons in practice this week and will probably be out of action for the remainder of the season.

PICTURES PREVENT TRANSFER

Student photographs, affixed in passport manner to identification cards, will make the loaning of student privileges difficult at the University of Kansas this year.

The pictures are taken at the time of registration. Identification cards must be presented at all football games, dramatic productions, debates, lectures, and concerts.

Intramural Sports Will Get Under Way Soon

Playground Baseball Will Be First Intramural Event In Leagues

Ice hockey, ping pong, and a duel track meet between the two leagues were discussed at the first meeting of the intramural managers held last night at the Memorial gymnasium. The meeting was called by Coach Leo B. Calland and the intramural managers, Ap Berg and "Chick" Wilson.

Playground baseball will be the first event on the schedule. The other events will be run off according to the frosh handbook schedule. Last year wrestling was omitted from the program, but this event has been included in the intramural sports for the coming year.

Managers Chosen

It was agreed by the managers to allow the frosh who are out for frosh track to participate in the intramural track. The frosh will have only telegraphic meets this year.

The houses and managers included in A league are: Glenn Owen, Phi Gamma Delta; Dean Green, Kappa Sigma; Allison Berg, Lambda Chi Alpha; Louis August,

Delta Tau Delta; Bob Tucker, Beta Theta P. Bernard Peterson, Tau Mem Aleph; Donald Holmes, Delta Chi; Russ Hansowetz, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Jay Macy, senior hall. In B. league, Ed Metzgar, Phi Delta Theta; Bill Katsilometes, Lindley hall; Robert Lambert, Sigma Nu; John Crowe, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Bert Larson, Alpha Tau Omega; Dale Eddington, Ridenbaugh hall; Yale Holland, L. D. S.; Bill Hudson, Sigma Chi; Verne Greco, University club; Elmer Johnson, Chi Alpha Pi.

All freshmen who are interested are urged to turn out. There are plenty of facilities to accommodate the participants.

Yearlings Tackle Cheney Tomorrow

Win First Game 19-0; Jerry Maupin Is Triple Threat

After clearing the first hazardous hurdle on their schedule by a 19 to 0 victory over Lewiston normal last Friday, Idaho freshmen will again invade dangerous normal school territory when they play Cheney normal at Cheney Saturday.

buoyed up by Bob McCue, the second, otherwise Jerry Maupin from Glendale Calif., who is a triple-threat artist and long-distance passes, the Idaho first year men have a lot of class and plenty of scoring punch. Maupin holds down the quarterback job. With him in the backfield are three of the greatest backs to loom up on an Idaho freshman squad in recent years. They are Louis Rich, left halfback from Filer, who alternates at quarterback with Maupin; Stan Pavkov, hard-plunging right halfback from Gooding; and Merwin Prince, 180-pound fullback from Wendell.

Vandals, Smarting From Two Defeats, Plan Upset For Oregonians

Coach Prink Callison Will Bring Well-Balanced Eleven

The Webfoots will have a tough time putting six points over the Idaho line in the Homecoming game next week.

With the upset defeat from Gonzaga a week ago, "Sunday morning quarterbacks" give the Ducks the edge on the score, but the Vandals smarting from an unsuccessful season so far are determined to stage a real comeback.

With Prink Callison, one of the greatest young coaches in the country, handling the Ducks, they undoubtedly have an even chance. Oregon has a good ball club, a club that is big, rugged and one that will be one of the toughest defensive clubs in the league.

PRINK CALLISON HAS GREAT LINE

This was the message that Jimmy Phelan, University of Washington coach, brought back with him from Oregon two weeks ago after watching the Webfoots trounce the surprised U. C. L. A. outfit in Portland.

The Webfoots have two great ends in Morse and Jones. That pair will be mighty tough to get around.

Eagles and Frye, with Pat Fury to back them up, make the tackle jobs tight and in the guard hockets Callison is mighty strong. Con Fury at center is taking care of the passing job without any trouble and acting like a veteran. The Oregon line is great, no less. And it is surely big.

PARKE IS SHINING LIGHT IN BACKFIELD

Parke is a big thrill in the backfield. He can run, kick, and pass and do all of these things well. Mchek, the fullback who is stepping into Mikulak's shoes, is a worthy successor. He really is a big surprise of the Oregon team. He has everything and plenty of it. Terjeson, who quarterbacks the team and does a fine job of it, also backs up the line, and what a

Pride of Geraghty Family Has Earned Seven Letters

Every university has some brain storms, general nuisances, or athletic wonders that they like to point out and say, "Yes, we know them. They go to the same school we do." There are several on the Idaho campus who fall under this heading, but among those most outstanding are the brothers Geraghty.

Both Cy and Wally are two of the best and most versatile athletes who have ever gone to the University of Idaho, but Cy is the oldest and the family football player we shall dwell on his achievements.

Cy first began his athletic career as a very small child. It is said that he could throw or kick infant Wally nearly as far as big brother could. By stealing apples and throwing rocks through the neighbor's windows, he not only made a name for himself but he developed into a good athlete. Two years at Gonzaga high school gave him two letters in his favorite sport, baseball, and one in basketball. He then transferred to Lewis and Clark high school and acquired double stripes in football, baseball, and basketball.

When Cy came to our dear old Alma Mater he began right in to collect the rewards of his hobbies—sweaters and letters. At the present time he has seven. He is the only athlete on the campus with letters in three major sports.

He learned plenty from watching Mikulak and he will make it tough sledding for the backs trying to gain over the Oregon line this season. Reischman, a good ball player.

at the other half from Parke, is Oregon may be a bit shy on reserve stuff, but otherwise the Webfoots are plenty tough medicine.

Cy will be one of the main figures to watch in our homecoming game with Oregon. He was the biggest threat in the Oregon night game last fall; and even though Geraghty is always at his best at night, they are plenty hot in the daylight too.

First Idaho-Oregon Game Held In 1901

"Repeat 1924" will be the Vandal warcry for this year's homecoming game with the University of Oregon. Of the 25 games in which the two schools have competed against one another, Idaho has come out on top only twice—the games of 1924 and 1925.

The Vandal victory of exactly a decade ago was the first since the two universities began their series of annual football games back in the dim dark days of 1901. The second win for Idaho came in 1925 and since then the Webfoots have managed to keep on the large end of the score with the exception of a scoreless game in 1927 which made the fourth tie of the series.
