Alumni Flock To Campus For 13th Homecoming

Informal Buffet Supper At Hays Hall Will Give All Grads Chance To Meet Classmates And Sing Songs

Alumni from all over the state are flocking to the campus to witness the Homecoming clash between the Vandals and the "Webfoots. Elated over the results of football games played on the Pacific coast last Saturday, grads pointed out that every game played helped boost Idaho's stock, and they are here to celebrate an Idaho victory Saturday.

Alumni will have an opportunity to get together at an informal buffet supper at Hays hall at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. An all Idaho dance will be held the same evening at 8:30 in the Memorial gymnasium.

Dovetailing with the pioneer theme of this year's Homecoming, alumni are cooperating with Blue Key in honoring all past football captains.

Alumni arriving in Moscow are being started on the Homecoming trail by Blue Key and Cardinal Key, upperclassmen's service honoraries. Blue Key is maintaining a registration and reception booth at the Moscow hotel, and Cardinal Key has a similar booth on the campus. Lists of Moscow alumni will be available at both booths so that alumni may get in touch with old Moscow friends and classmates.

Members of the service groups will do all that they can to enable grads to get in touch with students. Garber Green is chairman of the committee cooperating with students handling registration and reception.

Because of the outstanding success of the buffet supper at the 1933 Homecoming the idea is to be repeated this year. Mrs. C. W. Hickman is chairman of the arrangements committee and Mrs. L. A. Boas is chairman of the attendance committee.

A special program, featuring campus musicians and group singing of old songs under the direction of Miss Miriam Burton, is being planned.

Invitation For Game Extended To Indians

Any Arriving In Tribal Regalia Admitted Free; Special Section Reserved

Raphael Gibbs, sports publicity director for the Idaho Vandals, is expecting a large crowd of Indians at the Homecoming game Saturday. An invitation has been extended to all those from Coeur d'Alene, Tekoa, Wash., and Lapwai reservations. A section of seats has been reserved for them.

All Indians arriving in tribal regalia are to be admitted to the game free, and are to parade at the half with the covered wagons. The Tekoa group, who usually attend rodeos, are expected to arrive elaborately costumed, adding considerably to the pioneer effect of the parade.

A number of the Lapwai Indians, who attended the basketball tournament here last year, indicated to Rich Fox, basketball coach, that they would like to come up to the Homecoming game this year.

Annual Frosh Bonfire Predicted As Largest In History of School

"Mama, who are those dissipated looking people?"

"Those aren't dissipated people, Philbert. Those are the poor frosh who have been working since Thursday noon building the biggest bonfire Idaho ever had."

They have been working and doing a good job of giving this Homecoming the hottest send-off that one ever received. You old grads that don't feel that warm spot in your heart for Idaho, come down to this bonfire. You'll get plenty of heat there.

Under the leadership of Bob Mason, president of the frosh class, Ed Riley, general chairman, and Bob Granville, Glen Whisesel, Lloyd Shangle, and the representatives from each group house and town residents, the class of '38 has shown how to build a bonfire.

Tonight, follow the crowd down from the campus to the bonfire when at 7:30 Jerome J. Day will light the fire which will start off the biggest Homecoming celebration Idaho has ever had.

Big Dance Saturday Night To Be Homecoming Climax

Spokane Orchestra Hired For Dance to Be Held at Gymnasium

Saturday night in the Memorial gymnasium at 8:30, the "I" club and the Idaho Alumni association will jointly sponsor the All Idaho dance. All students, alumni, and friends of Idaho are invited to attend the affair, according to those in charge. "We're going to celebrate an Idaho victory."

Johnny McReynold's 8-piece orchestra from Spokane, which has just returned from a round-the-world tour, will play for the dance. The band has been on a tour of the world during the past year, playing on board ship, in restaurants, and over the radio. "They come highly recommended."

Tickets for the dance are to be 25 cents each, said members of the committee in charge. This admission price is being charged both men and women attending the affair. Members of the "I" club will sell tickets for the dance in all the houses and halls today and Saturday. Tickets will also be available at the door Saturday night.

CHURCH COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

At a meeting October 16, the inter-church council, a body of student representatives of the Protestant churches of Moscow, elected officers for the coming year and planned an inter-church banquet and conference to be held early in November. Newly-elected officers are Robert Walker, president; Woodrow Mitchell, vice president; and Iris Swartz, secretary-treasurer.

Mail Orders For Homecoming Tickets Augur Good Crowd

According to George Horton, graduate manager of the university, the pre-game demand for Homecoming tickets is as good as last year. The mail order is normal and there are tickets out in Lewiston, Spokane, and in the downtown district of Moscow.

The successful stunt put on by the Pep Band last year has created a greater interest in this year's game. Mr. Horton says that from all indications the crowd will be larger than last year if the weather is clear.

16TH AG BAWL SET FOR OCTOBER 26

Toy railroads are today one of the fastest growing hobbies among men in the United States.

BLUE KEY INVITES ALUMNI TO LUNCH

A Blue Key luncheon for active and alumni members will be held at the Hotel Moscow Saturday noon. Alumni members are invited to attend. The program will be short. A charge of 40 cents per plate is being made for the meal.

Homecoming Mixer Plans Completed

Alums, Guests, and Students Invited to I. K. Affair; Pep Band Plays

"Wear your costumes!" Promise of one of the most colorful of all Homecoming dances comes with the edict jointly issued by Blue Key and the Intercollegiate Knights.

Plans to carry the "End Oregon's Trail" slogan throughout all Homecoming activities have led the committees in charge of the rally and the mixer to request that students wear costumes descriptive of the theme to the rally bonfire and to the mixer Friday night. Cash prizes will be given to the couple and to the individual whose outfits are judged to be most in keeping with "Oregon Trail" spirit.

Originality Counts Picturesque pioneer costumes or other brain storms of individuality which are connected with the theme will be judged by a faculty committee. Originality, humor, aptness to the theme, and completeness are the points upon which the judges will base their decision. Everyone is urged to make an effort to deck out in unusual clothes of some sort and the committee in charge urges that each house see that its freshmen are entered in the contest. Last year's winners of a similar contest were Doris Fapesh and Duffy Reed, whose "1903" costumes were the hit of the ball.

The Idaho Pep band will furnish the music for the evening and will provide intermission numbers, one feature of which will be the chastizing of Intercollegiate Knights who are late in attending the affair. A "hack squad" led by Herb Kroll will be in charge of this phase of the entertainment.

Plenty of Room Adequate room for comfortable dancing is promised by the Knights. "The gymnasium can adequately accommodate 1500 people if the 'stags' are kept off the floor," said Frank Bevington, Duke of the Knights. "Students can be sure that this will be done. Barriers will be laid down and the entire Knight organization will be on hand to see that the dancers are given plenty of room. Every detail to make it more enjoyable is being taken care of, and we would like to have the students give us their support in putting over this part of the Homecoming program."

All visiting alumni, friends and high school students are invited to the affair," he stated, "and as this is the only entertainment on the campus that night we are expecting the students to see that the entire delegation of visitors are brought to the dance."

Spurs Will Help The Idaho chapter of Spurs, sophomore women's service organization, will work in conjunction with the Intercollegiate Knights

Rally Starts at 6 p.m.; Bonfire Be Lighted at 8

Yell King Calls For Noise Makers For Parade; Men Start at 7:30; Kick-off at 2 o'clock Saturday on MacLean Field

The Homecoming rally and bonfire will get underway tonight at 6 o'clock when the girls meet at Hays hall to begin a serpentine through the men's halls and groups houses. The girls should plan to be at the hall at 5:45 o'clock, urged Paul Kerr, yell king, last night in outlining plans for the rally.

Neale Gets Letters Praising Vandaleers

Dean of Southern Branch Lauds Musical Organization; Says Hall Packed For Concert

Generous words of praise for the Idaho Vandaleers are coming to the office of President M. G. Neale from various points in southern Idaho visited by the group on its recent tour. The Vandaleers have made a decided hit at every engagement, and already there is interest in having them make a return tour some time in the future.

Typical of the letters received is the following from C. E. Roberts, superintendent of schools at Emmett:

Emmett Superintendent Writes "We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the recent appearance of the Idaho Vandaleers in our community. You will find, I am sure, that the Vandaleers enjoyed their visit here and considered it successful in every way. We desire to be considered when you make up the itinerary of Idaho groups coming this way in the future."

The Southern branch of the University cooperated in every way to make the Vandaleers' visit to Pocatello a pleasant and successful one. Dean J. R. Nichols of the Southern branch writes that the hall was filled to capacity for the concert and everyone enjoyed the program immensely. Dean Nichols declared that the University of Idaho was "very fortunate in having such a splendid group of students to represent it over the state."

and are to be special guests for the evening. Cooperation of the Washington State chapter of the Knights has been offered and will probably be used to handle the mixer effectively and smoothly.

A checkroom will be run by the Knights in conjunction with the dance. It is also probable that a concession to sell punch at the dance will be awarded by the committee in charge. The dance will start immediately after the bonfire and rally and will be free to all women. Men will be charged 40 cents. White tickets for the Blue Bucket dance that night will also be honored at the door. Dance tickets are on sale on the campus this week and at the door tonight.

Former captains of Idaho football teams, guests of the ASUI at the game, will be introduced over the public address system during the half. The winners of the house decoration contest will be presented with their awards at this time also.

The serpentine will be led by Martha Jean Rehberg, Spur yell queen. Bombs discharged at about 7:30 o'clock on the campus will be a signal for men students to mobilize at the Tri-Delt corner where they join the women for the trek to the business section. "Bring every kind of noise maker you can find," said Kerr. "We want Eugene to hear about this!"

The Pep Band and local fire department engines will be on hand to join the parade at this point: Down Sixth to Main street, and down Main to Third is the route. At the corner of Third and Main a short rally will be held.

On To The Fire From the business section the students go to the bonfire on West Third street. A member of the board of regents will touch off the blaze. Speeches by members of the faculty and alumni, fireworks, and songs and yells make up the program at the fire.

Friday night's list of events is concluded with the Intercollegiate Knight mixer at the Memorial gymnasium and the Spur serenade after the dance.

Game at 2 o'clock The game Saturday begins at 2 o'clock. As a curtain raiser three bombs will be discharged in the air. Oregon and Idaho colors will be displayed as well as an American flag from parachutes. With the bursting of the last bomb the Pep Band will strike up the "Star Spangled Banner, while the military department raises the flag on the pole at the north end of the field.

Group houses should bring their covered wagons in at the west gate and park them behind the west bleachers preparatory to the parade and judging at half-time. The same judges who acted in the decorations competition will officiate at this affair. A group of native Indians will also add color to the parade.

Former captains of Idaho football teams, guests of the ASUI at the game, will be introduced over the public address system during the half. The winners of the house decoration contest will be presented with their awards at this time also.

DIRECTORIES SOON TO BE AVAILABLE

Student directories will be available at the registrar's office the middle of next week. One copy will be issued to each representative of a group or resident hall who calls for it. Students who live off the campus may get a copy at the registrar's office or the publications office. Only a limited number of copies have been printed.

This'n That

As we predicted, Homecoming celebrations started early and, consequently, we have an unusual amount of dirt to spread. The Kappa house should be complimented on their interest shown in the decorations phase, although they were a bit premature in their presentation. The producers of "The Covered Wagon" would get some original ideas on the dress of those times by attending the mixer held yesterday afternoon. We failed to see relation of some of the costumes to the occasion, but undoubtedly, there was some. Interesting activities of prominent campus luminaries during the past week included: the mock wedding of Budge and Persons on the Gamma Phi front porch... Morfit and Weber punching their way into the social circle... Bob Williams and John Morris failing to appreciate things because of their deafness... Bob Krummes being "spurred" on... "Scarface" Frazier attempting to explain the marring of his classic features... Marjorie Gibson raging over the failure of a certain Pen Bender to appear on time... "Cecce" Great-house unable to make connections last Sunday evening... Worth Clark failing to get an extra package of cigarettes from the gullible salesman at the Blue Bucket.

but when they were built in 1911 the idea was to have them hold the pipes of the organ which the university planned to install in a few years. However, the idea was later discarded.

Other somewhat puzzling features of the architecture of the auditorium are the squares in the back wall, a little above the regular doors. According to the original plans, there was to be a balcony stretching across the entire back of the room. The squares indicated the position of the doors that were to open onto it from the second floor. This idea, too, fell through when some optimistic soul advanced the argument that there was no necessity for such a balcony, since an entirely new auditorium would be needed shortly.

The names engraved on the stained glass windows, in case you've never gotten around to reading them, are of the various university presidents and the dates on which they were inaugurated. The windows fit in with the general architectural scheme of the auditorium, which is Gothic. One of the characteristics of this style is its emphasis on odd numbers, as shown by the grouping together of the windows in threes.

Madge Evans, Otto Kruger, Robert Young, are the principals in diverting comedy romance of expatriates who paint the French capital red. Dealing with Paris at the time of the arrival of Lindbergh, the plot follows the fortunes of a group of newspaper correspondents, a girl fashion writer and others expatriated in the festive French capitol.

Advance reports acclaim "She Was a Lady," with Helen Twelvetrees, scheduled to be shown Saturday night. It is a Fox Film with Miss Twelvetrees in the principal role. Without any mincing of words, the production is a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment and will evoke much discussion as did the publication in McCall's Magazine of the story on which it is based.

To Our Friends and Alumni

Welcome back, alumni!
 Welcome to our campus, visitors, and friends of Idaho!

This 1934 Homecoming weekend, the thirteenth in Idaho history, is dedicated to you and a pleasurable renaissance of old acquaintances. All Idaho students are bending every effort to make this year's program one which you will remember. We hope your visit will be an enjoyable one.

Many of you, have not been on the campus for a number of years. We are proud to show you the many improvements which make the "hill" a beauty spot. You will see new houses, new academic halls, acres of newly planted lawns, and recently constructed recreational facilities, all of which exemplify the growth and expansion which your school, and ours, has been experiencing within the past decade.

The largest student body in the history of the institution, 2,280 strong, is united under the "Idaho Spirit" banner to welcome you to this 1934 Homecoming.

To those alumni who have been visitors here more recently we wish to extend a no less sincere welcome. It will be your privilege to judge us more critically in the light of past and present achievements. We welcome your comments and suggestions and urge you to come again soon.

"End Oregon's Trail" is the slogan for this year's afternoon between the Vandals and the Webfoots of Homecoming. The battle on MacLean field Saturday Oregon has a meaning almost synonymous with Homecoming for us. Idaho is pointing for that game and the team will fight as it never has before, of that we are confident. We are going to be right behind them.

To many of you, recalling past games, the old "Oregon jinx" has a very real meaning. Our slogan, "End Oregon's Trail," with all its historical tieup, also means for us a challenge and a war cry. We are out to break that "jinx."

Your presence here is proof of your desire to help us. We're glad to see you. Let's beat Oregon!

Prominently displayed in one of the study rooms at Senior hall is an Idaho pennant—a pennant that once fairly blazed its glory of silver and gold, but now dimmed and worn.

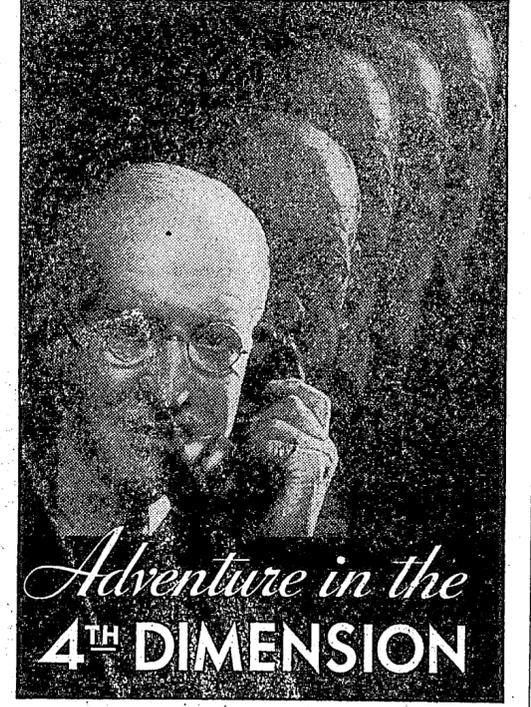

Behind this wrinkled and weather-beaten triangle of silver and gold is the story of a 3,000-mile hitch-hiking trip to the University of Idaho on the part of Victor Sellers, freshman in the school of forestry, and until last summer a resident of Pennsylvania. Sellers wrote to the university last summer enclosing six dollars and instructions to send him the biggest Idaho pennant that could be purchased for that sum. The pennant arrived, and Sellers shortly thereafter left his home in New Britain, Pa., not far from Philadelphia.

Motorists took kindly to the young man plodding down the highway with the Idaho pennant prominently displayed on his luggage, and as a result, Sellers did little plodding, and a great deal of riding, in cars of all descriptions, states of repair and splendor.

He blazed his way from Philadelphia to San Francisco in eight days. He visited the Redwoods along the California coast and then traveled up to Portland before coming to the University of Idaho.

Seller's longest ride was from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyoming. The longest hike was a 25-mile walk between California and Oregon. For three days he took in the World's fair.

Once while hiking, a motorist who shortly before had been robbed stopped him, thinking he was the

Open Season On Ducks Finds Vandals Primed And Ready To "End Oregon's Trail" Sat.

Injury Jinx Plays Hovoc, Taking Many Valuable Men From Vandal Grid Line-up

The injury jinx has hit the Idaho campus with both feet. One injury after another has taken valuable men from the football line-up. Ap Berg, Harold Klumb, and Gerald Dellinger were injured even before the season got under way.

The unfortunate illness that took "Swede" Ward, 205-pound Vandal fullback from the line-up has dealt a terrific blow. Coach Leo Calland had anticipated using Ward's number "13" to a great advantage in the Oregon game for packing the pile in over the turf.

"Swede" originated from the sage brush country of Jerome. For three years he was the outstanding athlete of Jerome high school in football and track. Since coming to the university he has shown excellent ability on the gridiron and lightning speed on the cinder paths.

Numerals in '32

Ward made his frosh numerals in football in 1932. Last year he was Doug Cordon's understudy at the fullback position. Last spring he surprised everybody by turning out for track. He proved to Otto Anderson, track coach, that brown and big feet didn't make any difference in doing 100 yards in 10 flat.

Ward, who played stellar ball in both the Gonzaga and Washington games, would have reached the peak in the Oregon game by all indications. But due to an attack of acute appendicitis last Friday, he will be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

New Plan Adopted By P. E. Department In Intramural Boxing

A new plan has been adopted for intramural boxing, the next event on the intramural program. All entrants are urged to report to room 301 in the Memorial gymnasium to get in shape for the event. The P. E. department has taken over this event and coaches will be there to show the entrants some fine points about the game.

The finals will be run off before the first of December. All men who plan on entering for their respective house will have to pass a medical examination before they will be permitted to participate.

If there is a large enough turnout, medals will be given to the university champion and a cup to the group house who wins.

All boxing lettermen and others who have had past experience, names of these men to be given out later, will be ineligible.

Future Is Rosy For Wrestlers

Grapplers Face Season Full of Possible Upsets

The bone-crushing boys are having their ups and downs these days. Champions, runners-up and even the mat sweepers are experiencing astonishing reverses of form.

Earl Leatham, 165-pound champion at Seattle last year, is being hurled about the ring and having plenty of trouble keeping his feet against Dave "Pansy" Evans, one of the boys who has been coming up the ladder since last year. Paul Jones and Don Joice are both giving Captain Stan Skiles plenty of trouble in his weight at 135 pounds. Bob Miller, a new man to the Idaho wrestling scene, is doing nicely with Kermit Woodward, the old standby of the 128-pound division.

Blind Grappler Looks Good

Frank Collins, blind matman, is causing the lads up around 175 all kinds of trouble. Collins, who is completely blind, has an uncanny knack of finding his opponent on the mat and seems to be able to handle himself perfectly well without eyesight.

Following their card with the CCC camp outside of Moscow this week, the wrestling squad has been busy getting ready for future matches with W. S. C. and the University of Washington. The abundance of new men coupled with returning champions and veterans, lends a bright pink hue to the wrestling picture, says Coach Skiles, who hopes to turn out several Pacific coast champions this season.

Starting Lineup For Idaho Is Secret; Vandals In Ugly Mood

It's open season on Ducks! And the Vandals are planning to trim the feathers from eleven or so here Saturday afternoon. It looks as though Coach Prince Callison will take home a very ugly duckling.

With the campus donning its Homecoming vim, vigor, and vitality and the Vandals in a very un-hospitable mood, things look considerably brighter for a big victory celebration Saturday evening.

Coach Leo B. Calland had no pre-game statement to issue today but his early season decree that the Vandals are out to win every ball game, without playing conservative ball just to keep the score down, still holds true. Leo will have his men out there to beat Oregon.

Starting Lineup Subject To Drastic Change

Vandal starting lineup is slightly indefinite. It is a deep, dark secret. For the first time this season the not previously publicized, that a few new names will be listed in the starting eleven.

This report, not official, circulated today following two weeks of practice during which time some of the boys from "down under" have been looking pretty good, and will receive their chance to line up for the first kick-off.

Guards and Tackles Crap for Positions

Spirited battling for the inside track for three positions featured this last week's drill. Bob Moser who has been playing 60-minutes of football in each game, is in a duel with Harold "Kewpie" Klumb who has been showing well after his retirement from the hospital list after having nursed a mean gash in his left leg, incurred three weeks ago. Klumb must still wear a protection on the scarred limb, but is ready for action. Moser has one hand gummed up with a protector for a broken bone, but he also is ready to get in there.

Chuck Wilson and Ap Berg, veterans, and Johnny Cooper, sophomore, are all scrapping for the same guard berth and right now it looks like Cooper.

Joe Wheeler, the Chaffee junior college transfer, and Jack Barbee, southern branch transfer, are still deadlocked for the center duties.

Hansowetz Slated for New Role

Russell Hansowetz of Harrison and more recently of Spokane, may be seen in a new role tomorrow. Russ has been playing a stellar game at half but may be called on to take over the signal calling job when Inman and Geraghty are not in the game.

Among those who are expected to see a good deal of action are Clarence "Devil" Devlin, Ross Sundberg, and Barney Anderson. Devlin has the best ball packing ability of any of the backs, and should be a big threat for the Vandals. Sundberg will step into the shoes of Theron "Swede" Ward at fullback. Ross has been playing a bang-up game for his first year on the varsity. Anderson, a midget end, has gained a reputation as a pass receiver. He'll probably be the target for a good number of McCue's prodigious heaves.

Comparative Scores Show Little Edge

As far as the comparative scores are concerned it may be better to omit them. The recent dope bucket smashing has made score comparisons rather perilous. But it won't hurt to mention that Idaho lost to Washington 13-0; Oregon lost to the same team 16-6. Oregon edged out Gonzaga 13-0; Idaho lost to the Bulldogs, 24-20. The Web-foot had a big afternoon against U. C. L. A., winning 26 to 3. Draw your own conclusions.

Plan For Free Dance In Spite Of Committee

Free dances are not favorable to the executive board committee which reported on the proposition at the meeting Tuesday night. The memorial gym can be used on Friday nights only, and the expense of having it cleaned is high. The committee also reported that all three available campus orchestras are engaged for every weekend from now until spring.

A troyout dance will be planned by a committee composed of one executive board member and three other students interested in the idea. The proposal was made to the executive board by many students who signed petitions asking the board to consider the matter. Some of the students feel that a free dance at the gym would be easily organized by the use of ASUI funds.

The prizes for Homecoming will be the same as last year's. A cup will be presented to the women's house that has the best decoration; one will go to the best decorated of the men's houses; and one will be awarded to the group having the best float in the parade, which will take place Saturday morning and between halves at the game.

Barks Signals

THIS IDAHO HALFBACK, Russ Hansowetz will be calling signals in one of the backfield combinations that Leo Calland has worked out. Whether he's running the team or running interference, he's a dependable cog in the Idaho Grid machine.

Pandemonium Is Reigning Over Homecoming Campus

Busy Vandal

THIS TWO-YEAR VANDAL VET, Paul Berg, will be a busy man tomorrow afternoon, running interference for Idaho ball packers, snaring passes, and backing up the line when Oregon has the ball.

By Phil Haring

THE COACHES

outside of Head Coach Leo Calland, who is having his worries, over Oregon, are having lots of fun these days with a new game some kind-hearted fan sent them. The new wrinkle consists of a board laid out like a football field with a deck of cards on which are all the different plays a team tries, together with the losses or gains. Joe Wheeler, varsity center and Ott Anderson, frosh mentor, were having a little go at it yesterday, when Joe, camped on his own 15-yard line, elected to try a field goal. Much to Ott's dismay the field goal was good and Joe won the game. "That's no way to play ball," wailed Ott, "whoever heard of a guy making a 75-yard field goal."

G G

SANDY MCDONALD

Chronic correspondent, claims the championship, having never been beaten at the easy chair grid game yet. We were tranquilly at work putting out the page yesterday when in bursts Sandy, looking like a ray of sunshine on a foggy day. "I beat Otto 18 to 0" caroled the canny Scot. "That makes me the champion. And I haven't been scored on, yet, either." Yes, but Sandy, the "Braw laddie, d'ye ken ye've but played two games so far?"

G G

GEORGE

Jessie, George is his name. For a year and a half he's been trying to find out Sandy's real name and now we know. Murder will out, said Shakespeare, and so has George. Tacked up in an inconspicuous corner of the coach's office was a little newspaper receipt slip with the name "George MacDonald." Under that famous name the present head of the house of MacDonald is carrying on in grand style, but what a heck of a job it was to find it out. From now on, "Let George do it!"

G G

is up to his old tricks again. Barney, whose last name is Anderson, is the versatile young man who plays third base for the Vandals in the spring and snags passes out of the thin blue in the fall. The other afternoon he went galloping down the field to cover the safety man. Another blocker had already enveloped the safety like a tent, so Barney, with perfectly cherubic impartiality, did the next best thing. He blocked out one of his own team's halfbacks. "Sorry," said the innocent one as he helped the poor guy to his feet, "Leo said to knock somebody down on every play, and I couldn't find nobody else."

G G

BULLET BOB

McCue, combination tackle, fullback, has known lank and long days in his life. Down in California, where the palm trees wave over soft green seas, and the mosquitoes are as big as horse flies, big Bob was playing for his former alma mater, Chaffee, Junior college. But the big Scotzman wasn't playing his usual game so

"Help us put up these decorations—is there an Elizabeth somebody in the house? she's wanted downstairs—where's my sunbonnet?"—End Oregon's Trail—coming tomorrow and I haven't the faintest idea of a date for him—some one answer that phone? It's only rung—two guns and a sombrero on the back of his head—need three more tickets for the game—if those chrysanthemums don't—should have seen him at the Mixer—they'll be here any—guess I was supposed to laugh when he made that crack about a ducky team—grant to see you—pants rolled up to show those boots—six more here for dinner—probably fall down in every house—End Oregon's Trail—simply furious because they stood up when she came into the room—just drove up and—

You bang the door shut to keep out the pandemonium in the hall, but before you can even take your hand from the knob six people come bursting in. "Honestly! That living room! You never saw such a jam! Have you the hammer?" Horrible visions of mass murder come into your mind as you dumbly hand it to them and they rush out—to finish putting the covered wagon together. Six more immediately take their place.

Oh, well. Who wants to study during Homecoming.

The Sigma Chis trounced the L. D. S. last Wednesday night in their first intramural baseball tilt to the tune of 15-1. The outstanding feature of the game was the smooth teamwork the Sig's showed, with Bill Hudson, Bill Sorenson, and Walter Shodde slamming out homers. Batteries for the winners were Hudson and Stewart and for the Institute, Hamilton, Madson and Pudcell.

Beta Theta Pi, scoring five runs in the last inning, overcame the T. M. A. S. 8 to 6 in indoor baseball. Denton, Beta, was one of the outstanding players and hitters of the game, while Ray Brubaker, Beta, knocked the only home run. Batteries for the Betas were Turner Eldridge and McPhail, and for the T. M. A. S. Driscoll and Roberts.

Delta Chi tripped up Tau Kappa Epsilon 9 to 5 in the first game Thursday night. Coon of the Delta Chis was the only man to get a round trip ticket. Kliner and Seatz were the batteries for the Delta Chis with Smlset, Horgans and Lukens for the Tekes.

Webfoots Worry About Idaho Passing Attack; Return Of Veteran Tackle Strengthens Squad

No Yardage For Webfoots in Famous Idaho-Oregon Game

The historical 1908 Idaho-Oregon game played here, in which Idaho made 347 yards from scrimmage against none for Oregon, yet lost 27 to 21 is coming to the minds of several old grads. Oregon did not even gain a yard from passes.

The individual playing of Dudley Clarke, Oregon, who consistently kicked 60 to 70 yards that day and boosted one with the wind for 90 yards, and Fred Moulten, Oregon's famed stub-toed place kicker, won the game for the Webfoots. Moulten kicked four field goals from anywhere on Idaho's side of the 50-yard line. Clarke made a touchdown from an intercepted pass, and Moulten kicked goal. Then Kiltz, Oregon, made another touchdown from an Idaho fumble. Idaho made three touchdowns from scrimmage plays.

Oregon Minus Player
Another memorable incident of this game was that Oregon ran out of substitutes and played the last 15 minutes with but 10 players on the field.

"Every time Oregon got the ball it was good for a 60-yard punt," commented Earl David, walking encyclopedia of Idaho history, who was an eye-witness to the game. "Within our 50-yard line Clarke didn't have to punt, Moulten would place kick over the cross bar for four points."

Contrary to last year's Homecoming Idaho fans are praying that history does not repeat itself.

Oregon Head Coach Has Enviably Record With Few Defeats

Prince G. (Prink) Callison, starting his third season as head coach at the University of Oregon this year, has established an enviable record in the eleven years he has been in the coaching game. Since taking up the business in 1923 after his graduation from Oregon, his teams have won sixty-seven games, tied two, and lost but eight.

After leaving Oregon Coach Callison went to Medford high school where in six years he turned out four state championship eleven. In those four years his teams were undefeated. In 1929 he was brought to Eugene to coach the Webfoot freshmen. Here again he had outstanding success. The Ducklings won 11 games, tied one, and lost but two. The 1931 team was undefeated.

His varsity coaching career is equally spectacular. The 1932 Oregon squad won six games, lost three, and tied one. His greatest success was last year when the Webfoots tied for the coast conference championship with Stanford and southern California. U. S. C. was the only team to defeat the Webfoots.

NOTICE
The "T" club will not enforce the "no date" rule at the Homecoming game. However, the club hopes that the students will observe this rule.
They are going to enforce the wearing of "T" caps for all students not attending in costumes.

Dick Nutting Turns Archaeologist

What is believed to be the remains of a 1907 edition of the University of Idaho publication, "The Argonaut," was exposed once more to the goodly Idaho air when Mr. Richard Nutting, well-known wrestler of many coles and fryer of much hamburger, drained the coffee urn at the (orio) Nest, Saturday. The paper was very well preserved in spite of its hellish interment in a boiling mass of grounds. The fact that it was so intact may lead to the scientific use of coffee for embalming purposes.

Mr. Nutting deserves exceeding praise for the ingenuity and initiative he displayed in this discovery.

Callison Counts on Stellar Halfback, Parke; Michek Fills Mike's Shoes

The Webfoots are coming! Whether they will blaze their trail across McLean field Saturday without being turned back by a band of fighting Vandals is the question confronting football fandom.

The latest report from Eugene was to the effect that the squad will be strengthened by the return of Gardner Frye, two-year letterman tackle, who has been out since the start of the season with a sprained back.

Reischman To Call Signals

Vince "Lamp" Walker, tall transfer from Oakland, Calif., is expected to start at end again this week as Bud Jones, veteran, is still out with a knee injury and is not listed to make the trip.

Johnny Reischman, 170-pounds of blocking quarterback, will probably get the call over Hugh McCredie. Reischman has been handling the job in a manner which has made Oregon fans forget the loss of Ralph Terjerson, veteran quarter who has been nursing some pulled muscles in his side.

Parke, of javelin tossing fame, is due to start at half, opposite Van Vliet with Michek at full. Van Vliet played a stellar game against U. C. L. A. and will have to be watched carefully or he will give the Vandals plenty of trouble. Gregorians claim Michek has been filling Mikulak's shoes but Idahoans still have to be shown.

Pat Pury, 200, sophomore tackle, is the only other Oregon man on the hospital list. He has some torn knee ligaments which will keep him out of the game for a few weeks.

Ducks Play In and Out Ball

Practice on the Duck field this week has been especially directed toward stopping any attempt by the Vandal to travel via the ether. The Oregon frosh have been using Idaho formations but have found it difficult to find anyone with the passing ability of "Booming" Bob McCue, who certainly booms those passes out into space. It has been reported that the yearlings failed to find the varsity's pass defense any too strong.

In the first test of the year, Callison's men had a tough afternoon battering a 13-0 decision over Gonzaga. In fact the score could have easily been 0-0. In their next appearance Oregon trounced U. C. L. A. 26 to 3, and looked like world beaters. Then came Washington to set the Ducks back in the pond with a 16 to 6 defeat. However, the coast sports critics were of the opinion that the score flattered the Huskies a little and that a 10-6 verdict would have been more appropriate.

Oregon's line is superior to its backfield. With Idaho in the same situation the two forward walls should have an interesting argument. The Ducks have the smaller backfield by a few pounds. They boast power and speed, and as a result they hope to present a troublesome running attack for the Vandals to smother.

FORESTERS' BALL TO BE HELD SOON

The Foresters' ball, dance sponsored annually by the associated foresters, will be held in the women's gymnasium November 9. Music will be furnished by Tom Arrou's Blue Devils.

Although plans have not yet been completed for the decorations, it is likely that they will be of a woodland nature, report Leon Nadeau and Grey Reynolds, who are in charge. Brennan Davis will arrange for programs.

Hefty Web-foot Quartet

THIS TOUGH LOOKING Oregon aggregation that invades the Vandal camp tomorrow includes mainstays on the Duck forward wall. Del Bjork (top left), sensational sophomore, has been moved back to his original berth at right guard with the return of Gardner Frye (top right), veteran tackle, who has been out of school since the first of the season with a sprained back. Clarence Codding (bottom left) is a reserve guard, and Alex Eagle, two-year vet, fills the other tackle post.

Goalposts In Concrete Defy Brawny Tugs By Rooters

In the old days, when Paul Bunyan and Babe, the blue ox, roamed the rolling Palouse hills, the sons of Idaho were strong and brawny men. They played football in the grand style, disdaining trainers, doctors, and whatnot as things for babies, mawkish, as it were.

In those long past times, eye, those decades ago, the gay Vandal blades were roistering, exuberant jads, with brawny hands that yearned for action. And around that, little friends, hangs a story.

Mocked Heroes
Ever since the silver and gold first started to "flying wedge" all over the place away back in the nineties, there have always been goalposts at each end of the field. Tall, gaunt spars, with straight crosspieces between them, mocked the sweating heroes of the gridiron, on whom the perspiration flowed down their flowing mustaches like tiny rivers.

All afternoon they toiled, while the sun went down behind the hills, and still those goalposts eluded them, ever seeming to dance farther away beyond interminable white lines. Now these early chaps were men of action, they conceived an intense hatred for the tall scantlings at each end of the field, and they instituted direct measures, practically drastic measures. After the games, they uprooted the offending sticks, with their own hands they tore them out of the ground and the posts lay there at last defeated.

Vandals Less Violent
Time mellowed men and traditions, and as the years passed by, and Paul Bunyan and Babe wandered on to new territories, the doughy Vandals became less and less violent, more tractable, you might say, until the stout old theory of uprooting the goal posts after every game was nered down to the mere dismantling of them after every Homecoming.

The years once more rolled on, and every fall athletic managers swore great oaths while overhauling the fallen timbers, until the air was blue, and Moscow mountain trembled and reverberated.

A Limit to Everything

Not so these days! Every year the graduate manager endured the sight of once proud goal posts in sorry dishabille, and every year he had them set up on their beam ends once more. But even graduate managers lose patience. The annual Homecoming rite of razing the posts is done for. It must take its place in the book of forgotten memories' along with Babe the blue ox, and Paul Bunyan.

Sad will beat the heart of many a vallant alumnus as he hears of why has this venerable old trade the route of this ancient tradition. Water will once more trickle from mustaches now grey, but from tears this time instead of honest sweat. dition been abandoned, booted out, as it were? Because, by heck, it cost too darn much money and was too much trouble to set the goal posts up again after every Homecoming game.

Cap Horton braved possible deluges of disapproval to establish the posts in security that they haven't had in ages. Cap swore last year that those blankety-blank posts wouldn't be torn down another time or he'd know the reason why. So guess what he up and did. He set them—in concrete!

Spurs Have Charge of Girls' Serpentine; Will Sell Pennants

The Idaho chapter of Spurs are active in helping with the success of Homecoming this year. They have charge of the annual serpentine through the men's houses tonight, and will sell pennants at noon today and at the game tomorrow. The price of these pennants are 15 cents each. The Spurs will assist the Intercollegiate Knights at the all-college mixer tonight, which will be followed by the annual Spur serenade.

Vivian Reed is general chairman of all Homecoming plans. She is acting in place of the president, Dorothy Brown.

Vandal Gridsters To Benefit By New 1934 Football Rules

by Jr. Monnett

Two years ago Oregon trampled Idaho under by a 32 to 0 score before a drenched Homecoming crowd here. The field was inches deep in mud and a slight drizzle persisted most of the game. The heavier and more experienced Webfoot naturally had a great advantage on the slippery field. The tow fleet half-backs Temple and Gee were just beginning to hit their stride with which they carried Oregon to a tie for the Conference championship last year. No one who saw them can forget the beautiful precision with which those two boys worked "Prink" Callison's intricate reverse on that day. It was in this game also that "Iron Mike" Mikulak, playing with an injured hand gained such consistent yardage on the now famous "cruncher" play. Only one of that victorious backfield combination remains, Bob Parke, the boy who generated the team for two years. This year he has been shifted to halfback to help make up for the loss of Temple and Gee by graduation. Thus far only he and "Flet" Van Vliet, Oregon's diminutive backfield ace, have been able to work with anywhere near the perfection that Temple and Gee had obtained.

Because of Idaho's much publicized passing attack, it is believed Callison will of necessity play a six man line against the Vandals and use a five man backfield to stave off the Idaho's passing threat. If the Vandal's running attack which was "sadly missing" in the Gonzaga game, has improved, Callison's men should, with a little strategy be able to easily gain yardage through this type of defense. "Prink" Callison's offense is one of the outgrowths of the famous Notre Dame system of ball. He uses a balanced line but he does not shift his ends as the Notre Dame system does. He uses a backfield shift which also resembles Rockne's fundamentally. It is from this formation that he runs his deceptive "cruncher" play and the numerous intricate variations of it that he has perfected.

Only twice in 25 games has Idaho been able to defeat Oregon, the two consecutive Vandal wins coming in 1924 and 1925. Matty Matthews was then coaching here and he had just brought that All-coast quarterback, "Skippy" Stivers into the limelight of college football. It was about this time that the Stevens brothers, "Fat" and Ray, Bob Fitzke, Dusty Kline, and Syb Kleffner were also making football history for Idaho. The year before, 1923 the two teams met and repeated their first game score of 0 to 0. The Gem of the Mountains for that year calls this 0 to 0 tie "the most spectacular and bitterly fought contest that has ever been seen on the Pacific Coast." It mentions the spectacular punting of the famous Bob Fitzke and goes on to say that "the speedy Vandal backfield was somewhat handicapped on account of a slow sawdust field." In this game a strong Oregon passing attack gained nearly half of the 26 yards made against the Vandals.

The National Football Rules committee has made three changes that will open up the game tomorrow. You'll see more forward passes, more scoring, and perhaps a new kind of quick kick that hasn't been used on the Pacific coast much.

First and most important is the rule stating that the first incomplete pass into the end zone shall be counted merely another down. Formerly such a pass was called a touchback, the ball going to the opponent on the 20-yard line. As a result few teams dared to use it. The risk was too great. Suppose, for example, Idaho was on Oregon's five yard line, third down and goal to go. Inman, as quarterback, runs his eye over the defense. He notices the drawn-in defense and says to himself, "an ideal spot for a pass."

DEFENSE MUST OPEN ON GOAL LINE

But he's got to figure the cost. If the play failed, Oregon would formerly kick on first down from the 20. If they got off a 50-yard kick he's handed them 65 yards, and Idaho faces another long march to get into scoring position. Better to try line plays and turn the ball over to Oregon on their own two or three yard line. There's always the chance that the punt may be blocked and Idaho score that way. At best, Oregon will be lucky to kick out to the 50-yard line and Idaho could work into scoring territory again.

With the new rule, Oregon, in the shadow of her own goal, won't dare to draw up her backs to stop punning plays. Men will have to lay back to guard against the pass threat. Goal line strategy will open up and Idaho's great passing combinations will be allowed to show their real power.

If a second pass should be tried over the goal, however, and it is incomplete, the touchback rule holds. It also holds if the pass is on the last down.

Second in importance is the elimination of the five yard penalty for the second incomplete forward pass in a series of downs. Idaho, and other air-minded teams are welcoming that change.

HELP TO END OREGON'S TRAIL

A third change re-defines a punt to permit one man to hold the ball while another kicks. Although it hasn't been used much on the Pacific coast, it is said to be more powerful, more accurate, and better screened than the ordinary quick kick.

Backfield Ace

BOB PARKE, chunky intercollegiate javelin king, passes, kicks, and runs with a tricky change of pace for the Webfoot outfit. He is also co-captain of the invading eleven.

Traffic Regulations Made For Speed and Convenience

R. O. T. C. Officers Will Aid Parking; Urge Cooperation

Automobile traffic on the university campus preceding the homecoming football game will be under the supervision of advanced students in military training.

Officers will be placed at intersections to assist visitors to find parking space and to direct traffic. In order to relieve traffic congestion, the following regulations have been drawn up:

1. No parking back of the administration building except by official cars.
  2. One-way traffic west and north on Line street from Eldenbaugh hall to Lewis court.
  3. Traffic going east only on University avenue from the Pullman road to Elm street.
  4. Traffic going west only on Idaho avenue from Elm street to the Pullman road.
  5. No parking on Line street.
- Parking space will be available on both sides of University and Idaho avenues. If the weather permits, additional parking space will be available on the vacant lot north of the new tennis courts on Idaho avenue, and also on Sixth street across from the heating plant. If this space is used, approximately 1500 cars can be accommodated.

Come Early
Spectators are urged to arrive at the field before the opening whistle, as Line street will be closed to all traffic except official cars after the game starts. Drivers of cars having infirm, sick or aged occupants should speak to the officer in charge at the southeast corner of the Administration building in order to obtain parking space near the athletic field.

Townpeople are urged as far as possible to leave their cars at home or park them in the downtown areas. No automobiles or pedestrians are allowed to get on the lawn or any part of the university campus.

The group is planning an investigation that will be of very much interest to the members as well as to the student body.

All Decorations Must Be Up By 2 o'clock This Afternoon

Displays Should Conform To "End Oregon's Trail" Idea

"All Homecoming decorations must be completed by 2 o'clock this afternoon" said Chuck Warner, student chairman of the homecoming celebration, yesterday.

As is the usual custom, all group houses on the campus put up on the exterior of their building some sort of decoration that will carry out the Homecoming motif of welcoming back old grads or that of the football game. This year as near as it is possible to find out, as the Argonaut goes to press, every group house on the campus is planning to participate in the competition.

The judges who are to inspect the decorations and who are to award the cup are Theodore Pritchard, Katherine Jensen, Dr. F. C. Church, and W. C. Banks. The cup will be awarded between the halves of the Idaho-Oregon game tomorrow afternoon at McLean field.

Inspect Twice
The judges will make two tours of inspection, one this afternoon shortly after the deadline at 2 o'clock, and another after supper this evening, as some of the decorations are at their best only in the evening, when certain lighting effects can be achieved.

According to Warner, the judging will be based on originality, showiness, and general conformation to the idea of "Ending Oregon's Trail", characterizing Vandal spirit, or some other general Homecoming theme.

A limit of $15 has been set by the committee in charge, so that no one group will have a scheme that is too elaborate, thus putting other houses who have less money to spend at a disadvantage.

First Blue Bucket Appears Saturday

Homecoming Number of Magazine On Sale at Group Houses

Friday afternoon the Idaho Blue Bucket comes off the press. The issue is the Homecoming number and contains 28 full pages. It is the first of six issues for the year. One of the main features of this Blue Bucket is the alumni supplement, although the general style of the magazine is similar to last year's.

However, a complete revision will take place before the Thanksgiving number is published, said Wilbur Hogue, editor. The Homecoming idea is carried out in the cover design which was done by Lang Armstrong of Spokane, and features an old grad returning to his Alma Mater.

"From all indications," said Hogue, "the Blue Bucket will be completely self-supporting this year and will not draw on the ASUI funds."

Small Number
The Blue Bucket is to be sold by Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs at the various group houses, the Argonaut's Nest, Blue Bucket Inn, and Jerry's. The sale price will be 15 cents. As the complete distribution is limited to 600 the students are advised to lose no time in getting their copies, which will be sold Saturday morning.

About 1500 cards were sent out by the Blue Bucket staff to alumni for advertising purposes, and have netted excellent returns, according to Wayne Tomning, circulation manager. The financial help for the Blue Bucket is being given by individual members of the alumni.

Alumni Chairman Predicts Successful Idaho Homecoming

"This promises to be the best Homecoming in the history of the University of Idaho," states Lawrence Huff, chairman of the Alumni association. Mr. Huff, who has done a great deal of advertising for the Homecoming celebration states that he is assured of seeing the largest crowd at the Idaho-Oregon game that has been seen at any previous Homecoming game. He has just recently returned from a trip to Wallace and Kellogg and reports that all the alumni he came in contact with are anticipating their visit in Moscow.

Ralph York, president of the alumni association, is expected here

Thursday evening from his home in Boise. He will preside at the buffet supper to be given Saturday evening at Hays hall to which all alumni, ex-students, and their guests are invited.

Burton L. French, past president of the alumni association has been invited as the guest of honor at the affair. Clency St. Clair, past president of the board of regents, from Idaho Falls, will also be present at the buffet supper.

Tom Wright, manager of the Hotel Moscow, reports that there have been more reservations for Homecoming this year than ever before. If any Moscow people have room for the visitors they are requested to call at the hotel.

That dancing is "nothing less than a 'sex orgy'" and that all those who dance will "go to hell" are said by students of the Monticello Agricultural and Mechanical College here to be the beliefs of their president, Frank Horstfall, a petition for whose removal was recently overruled by the board of trustees.

"Case of the Howling Dog"

WHEN YOU'RE TOO TIRED TO THINK—

GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

RICHARD VOIGTLANDER '38, says: "Studying electrical engineering takes as much out of me as the hardest physical effort you'd put into an active outdoor sport. I'm a Camel smoker. The harder I work the more I like to smoke, because Camels help me to keep alert and full of 'pep.' I enjoy Camel's milder flavor, and they never frazzle my nerves."

You will like this delightful way of "turning on" your flow of energy. Whenever you feel "played out," try this convenient way of ironing out fatigue and increasing your energy: Light a Camel. Soon you will enjoy a definite "lift"... an upturn in energy...and in good spirits. Smoke Camels all you wish. Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS and never interfere with healthy nerves.

ALL TOBACCO MEN KNOW:

"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

SPORTS WRITER. (Left) Pat Robinson says: "I've been smoking Camels ever since they were put on the market. I find they erase that 'done in' feeling quickly and restore my 'pep.' I smoke at least two packs of Camels a day and I find that they never interfere with my nerves."

EXPLORER. (Right) Capt. R. Stuart Murray, F.R.G.S., says: "It's great to be back! I was in Honduras—Mosquito Territory—10 months. Fortunately I had plenty of Camels. They always give me a 'pick-up' in energy when I need it. I prefer Camel's flavor, they never upset my nerves."

"Three Cornered Moon" Reaches Last Rehearsals

Hectic, hilarious, half-witted, the Rimplegar family will go into the last week of rehearsal, appearing in "Three Cornered Moon" next Friday and Saturday, October 26 and 27. The play, under the direction of Fred G. Blanchard, will be presented by the University players in the auditorium.

Tickets go on reserve at Hodgins Monday morning; students are admitted on their ASUI tickets. The curtain will be promptly at 8:20 p. m.

Merry Wit

"Three Cornered Moon" is a merry, mad comedy of modern manners and wit. It is Gertrude Tonnemog's first play that had a long run on the Broadway stage, a year and a half ago.

"Dangerous Corne," next on the dramatic program, will be presented December 7 and 8. It is a psychological mystery play by J. B. Priestley. Casting will be complete within a few days, the play going into rehearsal soon after the presentation of "Three Cornered Moon."

Maxwell Anderson's drama, "Night Over Taos" will be the third dramatic production of the season. The scene of the play is laid in Old Mexico in 1847, and has a cast of 33 speaking parts.

"Lilies of the Field" a modern English comedy by John Hastings Turner, will be presented the latter part of March.

College athletes can now carry insurance policies against injury, under a plan which is being introduced by the Sportsman's Mutual Assurance Co., Washington, D. C.

Young Republicans Organize; Will Hold Meeting Monday Night

A young Republican club was organized at a meeting of house representatives at the L. D. S. Institute, Tuesday evening. It was decided to use the name of the Stephan club in honor of Frank L. Stephan, the Republican candidate for governor.

Burton L. French will address the club later in the month and explain fully the Republican issues for the coming election.

At a meeting Monday night registration and voting for students will be discussed. Many students are under the impression that they can vote in Moscow, but according to the laws of the state, they must vote by absentee ballot. This meeting will be held at 7 o'clock at the L. D. S. Institute.

Regents Will Hold Business Meeting Sunday Morning

The board of regents of the university will meet in President M. G. Neale's office at 10 o'clock next Sunday morning for a general business meeting. Members of the board are: Asher B. Wilson, Twin Falls, president; Jerome J. Day, Wallace, vice president; Mrs. A. A. Steel, Parma, secretary; Clency St. Clair, Idaho Falls; J. F. Jenny, Cottonwood; and John W. Condie, Boise, (ex-officio).

STUDENTS RECEIVE MILLIONS FOR JOBS

More than 13 million will be dispensed among needy college men and women starting this fall by the federal emergency relief administration by paying them for part-time jobs.

The students will receive about $13,500,000 in the school year of 1934-35, or about $1,500,000 a month for nine months.

The plan is an enlargement of a movement begun last year at the suggestion of several college and university authorities some of whom took the matter before President Roosevelt personally. In part, it represents an effort to lessen unemployment this winter.

MANHATTAN BOUGHT FOR BARREL OF GIN

For a $24 barrel of "fire-water" the Indians sold Manhattan island to the Dutch.

It long has been believed that the particular brand of gargle which so appealed to the noble redmen was whisky—good rye, for example. Now it is suggested the potent spirit, with which Hudson and his Hollanders bamboozled the Indians, actually was gin.

It is pointed out that the Dutch already had been manufacturing this cocktail foundation for nearly 35 years before Hudson's voyage.

But according to messages from the "spirit" world, where the original owners of Manhattan chase the buffalo in their "Happy Hunting Ground," in those days they just called the stuff "Ug-Ug," which meant, "It nearly scorches the throat, but boy, how it warms you up."

BALKAN SITUATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Mrs. M. L. Sargent will give a lecture at 7 o'clock next Sunday evening at the L. D. S. Chapel. She will talk on present conditions in Europe. Mrs. Sargent, who is professor of modern languages here, has made frequent trips to European countries, and has spent the past summer in a study of conditions there. Also on the program will be vocal numbers by Miss Pauline Paterka of the music department.
