Enthusiastic Students Greet Returning Team

Nearly 200 Forego Beds to Bid Victorious Vandals Welcome Home
Singing and cheering, about 200 men paraded to the station early Monday morning to welcome the Vandal football team, which was returning victorious from Missoula, where they defeated the University of Montana last Saturday. A large crowd formed at the Phil Delt house, and then proceeded to the Phi corner and Lindley hall, where they were joined by groups from other houses.

Undiscouraged by a half-hour wait for the train, the crowd showed much enthusiasm. "I hope this much pep continues to be shown, and that we can have rallies like this after each future game," said Paul Kerr, yell king.

O'Connell Addresses at Banquet Saturday

The Scabbard and Blade held a banquet last Saturday noon at the Blue Bucket Inn observing national Scabbard and Blade day. Paris Kall officiated as toast-master, and impromptu speeches were delivered by General E. R. Chrisman, Col. J. C. Crawford, and Lieutenant C. E. Hart.

The main address was given by Major Augustus O'Connell, who told of his experiences in the military department of New York university.

Vacation Rumors Prove False

Students have been wondering how many days of vacation there will be for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Rumors have been spread over the campus that there would be only one day for Thanksgiving and three weeks for Christmas.

According to Registrar Ella L. Olesen, Thanksgiving begins Wednesday, November 28 at 5 o'clock and ends Monday morning, December 2. Eighteen days have been set aside for Christmas vacation which will begin Thursday, December 20 at 5 o'clock and end Monday morning at 8 o'clock, January 7.

University Actors Turn In Fine Work

"Three Corned Moon" Directed by Fred Blanchard, Delights Crowds

When once a blue moon happens, and happens to be three cornered to boot, then we have a show like that produced by the University players last week end.

It takes wit, humor, rare intuition, and a sure, light treading of the delicate line between delightful inanity and insipid stupidity to produce "Three Corned Moon." Under Fred C. Blanchard's direction the vehicle was a bright hilarious melee of fast lines, crazy situations, and colorful characters that sparkled along to form a light gay pattern, touched only now and then by gray spots of seriousness and ending in a glorious, typical Rimplegar jumble.

Actors Please
Aldrich Bowler in the role of Donald gave a fine and understanding interpretation of a difficult and unsympathetic part.

Helen Wilson did a good piece of work as the attractive, animated Elizabeth Rimplegar, well supported by Burnell Baker as the steady Dr. Stevens. Erma Lewis gave a consistent performance of the dizzy Mrs. Rimplegar. The brothers, as played by George Oram, Jack James, and John Daly, were a spritely, refreshing trio whose gymnastics and asides, found much favor with the audience. Jean Ricker's bit as the slightly demented Kitty was done with understanding and color. Catherine Bjornstad played Jenny, the Rimplegar's long suffering maid.

Direction, setting, actors, and play combined to make an unusually good evening's entertainment, and to give a strong impetus to the dramatic season which is well into the swing now with rehearsals for "Dangerous Corner" to be soon underway.

Editor Calls Argonaut Staff Meeting

A meeting of the campus and copy desk staffs of The Argonaut is to be held in Ad. 201 at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, announced Harold Boyd, editor, yesterday.

Roll will be taken by Dwain Vincent, news editor, and absence from the meeting will be taken as an indication of the offending member's desire to discontinue work on the paper, he said.

Matters of importance for all reporters and copy readers will be taken up at the meeting, said the editor.

Extended Hours Give Slight Improvement For Library Problem

The congested conditions in the library have been reduced only slightly by the extended hours put into service a few weeks ago, according to Miss Belle Sweet, librarian. The majority of the seniors, and the men students are not availing themselves of the hour 9:30 to 10:30 p. m.

The morning hours from 9 until 11 usually see the library filled to capacity. On Tuesday morning, when there is no ASUI assembly, students overrun the library to study or to chat with their friends, according to the librarian.

Miss Sweet is not yet ready to give any data on the number of books that the university library has at the present time. The librarians have been so busy accommodating the students that they have had no time to take an inventory as yet. No funds have been available for the purchase of new books, but a plan is now under consideration to get an appropriation for the books needed for use in the reference library.

Driving Vandals Conquer Grizzlies, 13-6

Tough Meat For Coyotes!

FIGURING IN THE BATTLE for state supremacy between the College of Idaho and the university storm Saturday on MacLean field, will be this quartet of Vandals. Earl Smith is Coach Leo Calland's stormy weather kicker and ball packer; Paul Berg is a 60-minute "iron man", playing that length of time in all games to date; Dick Nutting is a two-year veteran guard, tough as they come; and Elbert Inman is a field general who calls his signals right and tosses passes left.

First Student Recital Will Be Presented Sunday Afternoon

The first student recital of the school year will be presented next Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the university auditorium. These recitals are given by members of the university music department and will be presented to the public every two weeks throughout the school year.

Last year their recitals proved to be a success and the music department urges all students who possibly can to attend these concerts. No admission will be charged.

Greathouse Urges All Students to Make Appointments Early

Cecil Greathouse, business manager of the Gem of the Mountains, reports that appointments for pictures for the year book may now be made at the Serner and Hutchinson studios.

Tickets, which have been signed by Greathouse, have been given to the different house managers on the campus. They will sell for $1 and will entitle the holder to four different poses. Individuals are to get their tickets from the house manager on receipt of $1 which will go to the Gem staff.

Four Groups First
Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Beta Theta Pi are scheduled to make their appointments between today and next Monday. Greathouse urges that students in these groups give their cooperation so that the studio will have a chance to do their best work without being rushed.

Students may phone for their appointments at the studios.

A debate tournament to be held in Salt Lake City, November 27 to 30, will give the Idaho team an opportunity to meet nine western college teams in a series of elimination debates. On the way to Salt Lake, the team will speak in Boise, Twin Falls, and Pocatello, and debate at the College of Idaho and the Southern Branch.

The topic will be: Resolved, That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions. The teams will debate both sides of the question. All teams that have two or more defeats in the six round series will be eliminated.

Strain and Struggle Lads to Turn Out For Practice Bouts

"All men interested in intramural wrestling will turn out Wednesday," announced Captain Stan Skiles yesterday. "The intramural wrestling is to be run off the first of December, and in order for fellows interested to get in shape they should be turning out now," he continued.

With several new men out for varsity wrestling, the matmen are busy initiating the aspirants to the bone-crushing game. No cards have been scheduled at present, but with a goodly number of veterans working hard, Idaho met enthusiasts may look forward to plenty of bouts this season, says Coach Skiles.

No freshman caps will be worn at the University of Utah this year. Expense of the head-gear and the probable inability of second year students to enforce their wearing account for the abandonment of the custom.

Idaho Overcomes First Half Lead; Spoils Montana's Chance

Sundberg, Devlin, And Dayton Provide Power For Idaho's Running Attack; Tackles Are Praised By Coach Calland

By Eddie Mayer

Uncorking a power-driving attack in the second half, the Vandals whirled through the Grizzly defense Saturday at Missoula, overcoming a 6-0 first-half lead to win, 13 to 6.

Coach Leo B. Calland had a flower shop to divide among the men yesterday. He tossed extra fancy bouquets to Moser, Klumb, and Hesse, who performed the tackle duties in elaborate manner, and to Hansowetz, Devlin, Sundberg, Dayton, and Berg, who were outstanding in the backfield.

The field was dry, in perfect condition for the game. The opening quarter was replete with punts, neither team emerging from its own territory during the play. Sundberg held the advantage in the punting by a small margin, but this was modified by Montana's ability to regain the lost yardage by garnering a few more on returns.

The first score of the battle came in the second canto when Montana tallied following the recovery of McCue's fumble on the Idaho 15-yard line. Blastic, Grizzly quarter, packed the oval on five consecutive plays, going over the pay line on the fifth. Hilleman failed to convert.

Blastic Stars
Montana's opening rush in the second half almost caught the Vandals off guard. Finally things got under control and stopped the Grizzly attack on the Idaho 10-yard line. Blastic carried the kick-off 62 yards. Olson gained 13 on a pass to the Vandal 10. Four more plays netted Oakes' proteges but one yard.

With Devlin and Sundberg alternating the Vandals marched on the Montana 35 to the goal line shortly after the Grizzly threat had been thwarted. Devlin scored from the one yard line and Moser converted from placement for the extra point, giving Idaho the lead, 7 to 6.

Later in the same quarter the Vandals started another drive which was momentarily halted on the Montana 36-yard line by the gun ending the period. With the opening of the final quarter, Dayton took over Sundberg's duties, Ross going out with an injured arm. With Devlin, Dayton, advanced the remaining 36 yards for the second touchdown. Devlin went around end for the final yard.

Montana rallied to carry the ball deep into Idaho territory via the aerial route, but was finally halted on the 16. In this advance two passes were ruled complete when Idaho players interfered with the receivers. Two penalties and two incomplete passes were instrumental in stopping the march. Hansowetz knocked down the second pass which was intended for Rhinehart who was across the goal line. In the closing minutes of play, Hansowetz intercepted a pass which allowed the Vandals to start another goalward crusade, but the final gun ended the attack.

Devlin and Dayton
The Vandals made something like twice as many first downs as the Montanans could garner. The official number was not reported but was believed to be in the neighborhood of 15 to 8. Devlin and Dayton made a spectacular combination in the second scoring drive—Calland described them as a couple of "gold dust twins." They showed more speed than Idaho's running attack has shown at any time this year.

Coach Calland also reported that the A. P. reports failed to explain the "Geraghty goal-line punt snagging" in the proper light, and that credit for Sundberg's passing was given to McCue. A costly fumble, which led to Montana's score, was charged against Sundberg when it was "Booming Bob's" misfortune, and weight differences in the teams appeared to be exaggerated.

Geraghty in Tight Place
The questionable situation which arose over Geraghty catching a punt on or behind his goal line placed Cy in a bad light in the manner in which the newspapers described the scene. According to Vandal fans, they believe Cy was behind his goal line when the ball was caught, thereby making it an automatic touchback with the ball.

All of the freshmen at the University of Maryland are requested to work on the student newspaper one day out of each week.

Band Concert Set For Next March
Special Number Will Be Modern Composition Entitled "Headlines"

Plans for the military band concert to be given next March are well under way, even to a special number which is being developed. This will be a modern composition entitled "Headlines" and which is written on the order of the famous "Rhapsody in Blue."

The band is divided into two distinct organizations in the nature of a junior and senior band. The senior group is called the concert band and boasts of 55 members. The second group is the first regimental band and consists of 45 members.

Need Wood Winds
"The purpose of the military band is to give players of brass and wood wind instruments an opportunity to play in some organization," stated Prof. Robert B. Lyon, director. "A musical training along with other work may prove to be very helpful in later life or in the prospect of obtaining a teaching position in public schools; therefore, the military band training will not only prove helpful now but also in the future," he continued.

Professor Lyon is enthusiastic about the organization this year and believes that they have a promising future. He stated that there is a need for more students who play woodwind instruments and those interested may get in touch with him at Bartley cottage or the Memorial gymnasium.

The concert band is scheduled to play at the Grange banquet Wednesday evening under the direction of Professor Lyon.

Welcome, Grangers

Through the medium of The Argonaut the student body of the University of Idaho wishes to extend a sincere welcome to the members of the Idaho State Grange, now in convention in Moscow. In your visit of the campus Wednesday, Grangers, we know that you will find reason to share with us a justifiable pride in your state institution.
 Many of you now have children attending school here. Many more of you have sons or daughters who have matriculated here or are planning to come in the future. We now invite you to inspect the university with a critical eye. We have nothing to hide, no doors will be barred to you, make yourselves at home.
 For many years representatives of the university agricultural experiment station and extension division have been visiting your farms and homes throughout the state, helping with your agricultural problems. Now you have an opportunity to see those departments at work and to more completely understand the work which they have set for themselves as a service to agriculture in Idaho.
 Besides seeing the campus proper you will be taken on a tour of inspection of the university's fine livestock and dairy herds. Research laboratories, from which have come data helpful to you in meeting many of your perplexing problems, will be thrown open to your inspection. If you wish to see other departments not included in the regular tour you are directed to contact the publications and information office in Room 105, Administration building.
 Wednesday evening a banquet will be held for you in the Memorial gymnasium. Entertainment for this affair will be provided by university students. Mervin G. Neale, president of the university, will preside at the banquet. We all welcome you—we're glad to see you—come again!

The speedball season in the W. A. A. is nearing a close according to Miss Mabel Locke, faculty advisor of W. A. A.

The following managers were chosen for the class teams last week: freshmen, Julia Moore; sophomores, Vivian Larsen; and juniors, Ruth Evans. Miss Locke announces that because of the unfavorable weather speedball season will be extended until the end of next week, at which time teams will be chosen.

She also urges the tennis players in the tournament to play off their matches as soon as the weather permits.

Basler Brings Coyotes To Continue Civil War With Calland's Vandals

College of Idaho Outfit Invades Moscow With Perfect Record For Season; Vandals Plan to "Give 'em the Works"

The Civil war begins next Saturday afternoon. A warring College of Idaho squad, full of the confidence inspired by five straight victories in the southern part of the state marches into north Idaho territory in the annual North-South Idaho classic.

The Coyotes' latest victory was over the Southern Branch to the tune of 19 to 14. Coach Loren Basler's boys have rolled up scores on Albion Normal, College of Puget Sound, Eastern Oregon Normal, and Albany, the last two by scores of 20 to 0 and 20 to 6 respectively.

Grudge Battle

The southern outfit has been pointing all season for the tiff here Saturday, and with a strong line and a speedy backfield, have their best chance in years to conquer the Vandals. The Tyson brothers, Sam and Bob, having 385 pounds of weight between them, are the bulwarks of the Coyote forward wall, while Hayman and MacReynolds, first string College ends, present plenty of weight in the wing positions, Hayman tipping the scales at 190 and MacReynolds at 185.

In the Basler backfield appear two former Boise high school stars, Jess Swann and Bobby Hoobler, who when Basler, former Boise coach, took up the reins on the Coyote field, elected to stick with their coach.

Swann is Mainstay

Swann, quarterback, is one of the best backs in the southern end of the state, having made consistent yardage against all Coyote opponents this year. In the night game last year at Caldwell, Swann was the slippery back, who gave the Vandals scare after scare before the final whistle. In Hoobler is found the extremely unusual picture of a 130-pound man holding out in college ball. Hoobler, a fast, snaky halfback, has the knack of slipping through mammoth lines and backfields for long gains, and like another Boise product, Willis Smith, has proved that he can take the hard knocks of the big time and keep going.

In the Vandal camp, preparations for a warm reception for the invaders are going on at full speed. No false confidence is registered on the Idaho squad when contemplating the tiff with the Coyotes. The tight squeeze at Caldwell last year, coupled with the impressive victory march of the Baslerites this season, has impressed the local club considerably, but with the Coyotes on MacLean field, Calland's men intend to run the score up as far as possible. Followers of the game will remember the last time the College of Idaho journeyed to Moscow territory during the reign of "Matty" Matthews as a score being 83 to 0 for the Van-

At last the Vandals are above some one besides Montana in the conference standings. Idaho with one win against two losses stands above the mighty Trojans of U. S. C. and Oregon State. The

HOW THEY STAND

W. S. C.	3	0	0	1.000
Washington	3	0	0	1.000
Stanford	2	0	0	1.000

Oregon State	0	2	1	.000
U. S. C.	0	2	1	.000
Montana	0	3	0	.000

Trojans have had two losses and one tie to place them eighth in conference standings above Montana with three straight losses. The Football Annual, the sporting magazine that annually picks Idaho and Montana to be the tail-enders of the coast conference, may have to change its prediction if Howard Jones's warriors continue any farther on their downward trail.

Jimmy Phelan at last is free from the football wolves—at least for a while. Every since he went to Washington with the express purpose of producing a coast championship, the hie and cry of downtown coaches has been against him. This, so far, has been a very successful season for his Washington Huskies and his critics are now satisfied. Down south the coaches have not been so lucky. "Navy Bill" Ingram is on the proverbial spot because of his loss to Washington Saturday. He was brought to California from Annapolis to produce a winning team and as yet has not succeeded. Howard Jones for years the king-pin of coast football, has also faced several upsets and now instead of the cheers of multitudes, he hears only the jeers of the press.

Another one of these unique football incidents happened at Montana. It seems that Dick Nutting, acting as captain of the Idaho team was hit on the head just before the half. At the end of the half he left the field and went to the dressing room acting as though nothing were the matter. It was not until the start of the second half that he came to and realized just where he was. He didn't remember a thing about the half or anything that had happened since the blow on his coco.

Vandal Babes Tie Bull Pups

Score Is 6 to 6; Both Teams Throw Away Chances of Victory

Gonzaga university freshmen found in the Idaho yearlings last Saturday on MacLean field a combination they couldn't fox. The score was 6 to 6.

The game proved a thriller for the 800 fans. Idaho drew first blood scoring in the first five minutes. Maupin, Idaho, took a punt on his own 48-yard line, returned through a broken field to the Gonzaga 31. He then skirted end for 16 yards, three line crashes went to the four, and Maupin went over off tackle. Driskill's kick for point was low.

Gonzaga's only tally was the result of a "break" 30 seconds before the end of the first half. Michaels, Gonzaga right guard, scooped a blocked punt off the ground and ran untouched across the goal. The try for point was blocked.

Both Missed Chances

It would be difficult to tell which outfit should be the more disgusted for failing to win the game. Gonzaga muffed a golden chance to win in the last period when Justice, left end, catching a 25-yard passon Idaho's one-foot line calmly stepped out of bounds instead of over the goal line.

One play put the ball an inch or two from touchdown territory. An offside penalty lost Gonzaga five yards, an attempted end run failed and a place kick on the 4th down went low.

Idaho promptly regained the ball after punting out of danger when Abshear intercepted a pass in midfield. Two passes put the ball on the Gonzaga 9-yard line, where the scoring thrust failed, and Driskill attempted a field goal with 10 seconds to play, on the fourth down which also failed.

The yearlings' next game is with the tough Ellensburg normal outfit next Saturday at Ellensburg.

coming out to the 20-yard line. After catching the ball, Cy looked toward the officials to see why they had not blown their whistles, and deciding that apparently they were not going to do so, Cy ran in order to get across the line and save the Vandals from being held for a 2-point safety.

Most of the papers read that Geraghty caught the ball, ran wide behind his own goal line, and just managed to get across in time.

Montana's attempts to "pull" some tricky plays met with a sad end as time after time during the game the Vandals threw the Grizzlies for long losses when they attempted to handle the ball very much in the backfield.

Paul Berg turned in another 60 minutes of play to remain the only Vandal to have played every minute of every game this season.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

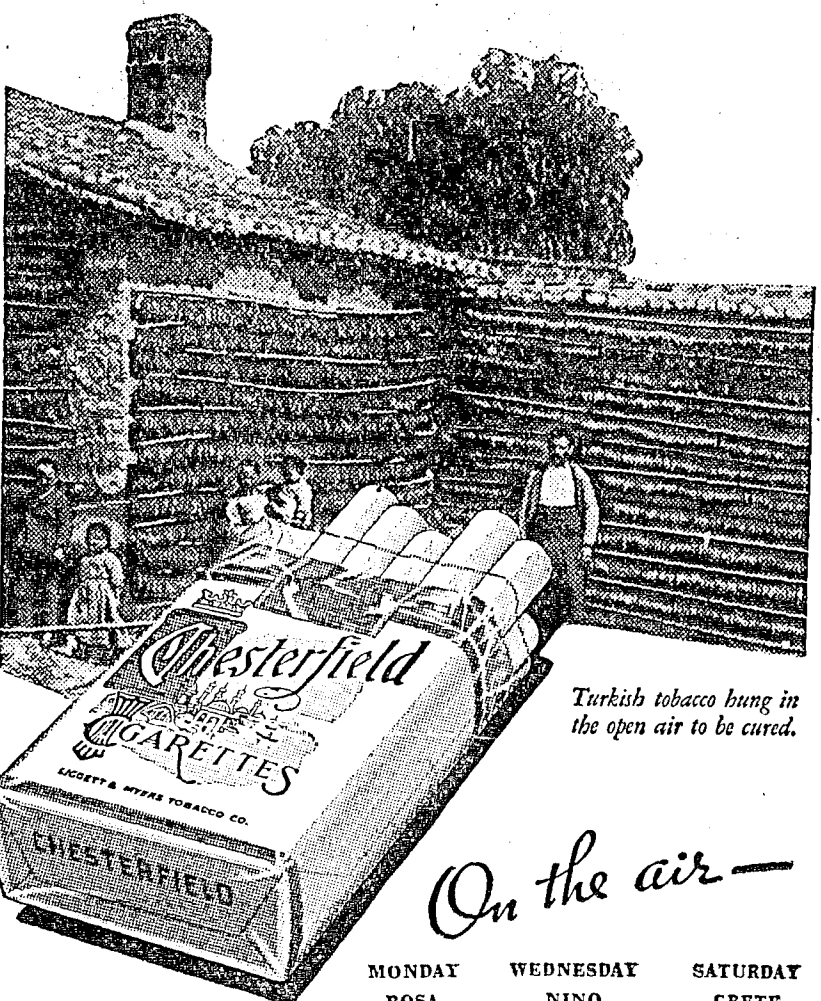

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna... in the fertile fields of Macedonia... along the shores of the Black Sea... grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes. Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
