

Cornish Players To Appear At Next Assembly

Present "Wind and Rain;" Sponsored by Public Events Committee Tuesday

Written By Merton Hodge

Was Last Season's Success on New York and London Stages

The Cornish Players of Seattle will present "The Wind and the Rain" at a public events assembly at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The play is a college story in six episodes by Merton Hodge. Miss Ellen Van Volkenburg will direct the players who are on a tour of the northwest.

The play, called by a famous eastern critic, "witty and irresistible" concerns the misadventures and triumphs, the hopes and fears, and the inevitable working out of the destinies of a group of likeable young medical students in an Edinborough boarding house. Compared by observers to "Young Woodley" and "Merton of the Movies" the play has something in common with both since it combines the humor and good spirits of the latter with the poignant appeal of the former.

Founders of Little Theatre Movement

Cornish players are famous as founders of the little theatre movement in the United States. This is the fourth season that they have toured the western states. As graduates of the Cornish school, a school of professional dramatics, the players present a complete repertoire which has been very popular with audiences in many cities.

Outstanding members of the Cornish players professional touring group who take the important roles are Arthur De Huff, Keimart Wolf, Ford Rainey, Myrtle Moss, and Martha Nash.

"The Wind and the Rain" was last season's success on the New York and London stage and is being put on by the Cornish players, this year, for the first time in the west.

Aram Announces Assembly Plan

Committee Head Gives Out Rules for Programs Presented by Honoraries

"Assembly programs presented by the undergraduate honoraries on the campus are to be held every two weeks," said John Aram, chairman of the assembly committee, which has been authorized by the Executive board to plan future assembly programs. An outline of the plan has been approved by the Executive board and, although no definite dates have been set, it will be put into effect in the near future.

The following has been decided upon: The Executive board will award a $10.00 cash prize for the best assembly program, providing that no expense has been made in its preparation. 2—The judging committee will be composed of two faculty members and one student. 3—The theme is left to the choice of the honoraries. 4—The time limit will be 15 minutes. 5—The programs will be judged for presentation, originality, appeal, and material. 6—The honoraries will be notified two weeks in advance. 7—Those not wishing to compete must notify the Assembly committee within a week's time. 8—Hope to Create Interest

The purpose of these programs is to create a greater interest in student body affairs and assemblies. Eileen O'Dea and Edward Woods

Campus Wooing Neglected As 9-Week's Exams Loom

Wooing and courtship have suffered a severe abandonment for the last week or so, because students are just beginning to realize that nine-week's exams are now staring them in the face. It is understood that up until now, they have been more or less evading this minor issue of school life—studies. Books have supplanted dates in the minds of most of the students, and are being diligently perused.

All of the exams, if they have not yet been given, will come within

No Holiday Monday After Armistice Day Declares Registrar

"If a governor declares a holiday you'd think a school could!" "Yeah. And they say even the President declared one!"

Thus ran the comments of disgruntled students as thrilling plans for a long and exciting weekend in Spokane and blissful dreams on an entire Monday to be spent just loafing around were alike shattered today when word came from the registrar's office that Monday following Armistice day would not be a holiday.

Perhaps a branch of the Society of the Black Hand—or this case Black Tongue—has been formed on the campus, for this is the second astonishing rumor about holidays we have heard. The first was about Thanksgiving, as you doubtless remember. There is a certain sinister subtlety about them, a shockingly hideous purpose, that makes them bad for the nervous system. Whoever is guilty, will you please disband your criminal organization? For a few weeks, at least, lay off!

Luncheon Series Started By Spurs

Chapter Will Attend Pullman Game; Entertained At Washington Hotel

Plans for the Idaho chapter of Spurs to be guests of the W. S. C. Spurs at a luncheon to be given in Pullman were made at the Spur luncheon in the Blue Bucket Tuesday. The local chapter will have a special chartered bus taking them directly to the Washington hotel for the 11:30 luncheon. A special section has been reserved at the stadium so that the two groups may attend the Idaho-W. S. C. game together.

These neighboring chapters enjoy the unique advantage of being the only two national Spur chapters situated close enough together to enjoy personal group contacts. Visiting back and forth for the Idaho-W. S. C. game has become a tradition within the last few years, and each group profits in friendships and ideas after these exchanges.

Margaret Misselhorn of Pullman is national Spur president; and Marjorie Wurster, an Idaho Spur, holds the office of national vice-president and secretary.

She, along with Mrs. W. H. Boyer and Lols Davies will accompany the group as special guests of honor of the Pullman chapter. Mrs. Boyer is the faculty advisor, and Lols Davies is the alumnae advisor.

A discussion was also held at Tuesday's meeting on a project to be presented at the national convention this summer. Further plans were made for the alumnae party. The committee in charge of this is composed of Charlotte Kennedy, Mary Ferguson, and Vivian Reed.

Hand painted wooden plaques found at Corin shed new light on the variety of colors used by ancient artists there.

Those honoraries eligible for competition are: Mortar Board, Silver Lance, Blue Key, Cardinal Key, Sigma Tau, Xi Sigma Pi, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, Alpha Zeta, Sigma Alpha Iota, Kappa Delta Pi, The Curtain, Delta Sigma Rho, Theta Sigma, The Press Club, Intercollegiate Knights, The Spurs, Alpha Kappa Psi, Phi Chi Theta, Phi Alpha Delta, and Scabbard and Blade.

Theta Sigma Asks 78 To Breakfast

Journalism Honorary Will Honor Coed Members of Argonaut Sunday

Seventy-eight invitations have been issued to women members on the Argonaut staff for the breakfast to be given at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the Blue Bucket Inn by Theta Sigma, local women's journalistic society.

The breakfast has been an annual event of the Theta Sigma for the past several years and is always attended by a large number of The Argonaut staff. The invitations for this year were the second edition of a miniature newspaper, the first edition of which was published last year. Acceptances should be given to Marjorie Wurster at the Delta Gamma house or Mary Kay Riley at the Gamma Phi house by 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Entertainment for the breakfast will be provided by Mrs. Edith Dolan Riley, Spokane newspaper woman, who will give a short talk. Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Dick, past president of Theta Sigma, will also talk. Musical entertainment will be contributed by Rosella Rosecrans and the Beta brass trio composed of Mirian Severin, Robert Seymour, and Clayton Spear, accompanied by Orin Tracy.

The associated students' election at Ventura junior college has been postponed because there were too few candidates to hold an election.

Foresters To Hold Big Dance Tonight

Big Annual Affair To Be Held in Women's Gymnasium

Tonight is the night that the Associated Foresters will deck the walls of the Women's gymnasium with boughs of cedar and spruce for their big annual dance. The plan is to resemble as much as possible the outdoor effects of a logging camp. The walls and ceiling will be covered with cedar and spruce and wall figures will be placed about the room. A sawmill will be rigged up with a carriage to announce the dance numbers.

Paul Bunyon and his famous blue ox will be there in person. Punch will trickle over the bar in the old fashioned way. The bar will be to suit the loggers' delight with foot-rails and spittoons.

Jessie Will Dance The music will be furnished by Tom Armour and his Blue Devils. At the intermission Jessie Hutchinson will furnish dancing entertainment.

The programs seem to give a dual warning. On the cover is a picture of the typical logger swinging his number 10 corked boots in a very graceful manner in an attempt to dance with his fair lady. The dances are given some rather grotesque names and it is hoped that no one will get hurt in such numbers as "Skidding Trail," "Lightning Landing" and the "Gypo Gilde." Tickets may be obtained from Gray Reynolds at Lindley hall and from representatives in the group houses.

"I" club meeting will be at the A. T. O. house Sunday morning at 11:00. Be sure to bring your dimes for the "kitty."

Minor "I" club meets at the Phi Delt house Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Idaho Student Sentiment Is Against Such Practice, Says President

An Associated Press dispatch received here early this afternoon reported that with paint daubed buildings all around him, President E. O. Holland of Washington State college today threatened to break off football relations with the University of Idaho.

This president found nearly every building on the campus smeared with great yellow letters that Washington State students said were put there by students from the University of Idaho just across the line. Idaho and Washington State play at Pullman tomorrow, and the visit was described as another outbreak of the intense athletic rivalry that has threatened between the two schools periodically since they started playing football together in 1893.

Previously as early as Wednesday night, Idaho students complain, the letter "W" in red paint, believed to be the emblem of Washington State college, was found smeared on many buildings and at the athletic field.

"If this sort of rowdism is not eliminated, we may have to discontinue this game," said Dr. Holland as he surveyed the damage done to Washington State buildings early this morning.

"Under no circumstances can we tolerate such defacing of the college buildings. I know that President Neale of the University of Idaho will not countenance this sort of vandalism and will support me in my stand.

"I have just been informed that the buildings on the campus of the University of Idaho were injured last night. I am humiliated to think that any group of men representing the state college would be guilty of such an offense. True sportsmanship is against conduct of this sort."

When President M. G. Neale learned of the Washington State president's wrathful statement, he made the following statement to The Argonaut: "The department of buildings and grounds reported to me early Wednesday morning that someone had defaced with paint the water tower, the front and back of the stadium guest box, and the gridiron goal posts. Thursday night there was painting generally all over the campus and on downtown bridges. Other places smeared

Rally—fireworks—free dance. The rally starts at 6:45 in front of the Tri Delt house, will proceed through the campus gathering students as it goes, then to the stadium, where the din of bombs and sky-rockets will mingle with Idaho songs and yells to split the atmosphere. Then, the crucial moment, off to the Memorial gym for the big free pep rally dance with Chuck Collins and his music. Let's go, Idaho! Idaho fights

The following statement was made by Brennon Davis: "I trust that those students holding red dance tickets will co-operate with the Senior class by making it possible for the Senior ball to be held at the Blue Bucket."

Seattle Symphony To Be Here On December 16

Orchestra Has Personnel of About 50; Conducted by Basil Cameron

Students of the university and townspeople will have the opportunity of hearing the Seattle Symphony orchestra here in the university auditorium on December 16. Basil Cameron, conductor of Seattle's outstanding musical organization, is an Englishman with high reputation on the Pacific coast. The personnel of the orchestra is said to be around 50. The price will be announced shortly.

"George E. Horton, graduate manager, and the ASUI are to be highly commended on the effort they have made to give Idaho students a chance to hear such a great performance," said Carleton Cummings music department head. "Since this is the first time in the history of the school that students and townspeople have had the opportunity to hear a professional orchestra, this performance will serve as a test as to whether another chance will be given to have other noted performances brought here."

"These pep rallies are not given for individual groups or factions, but are given for the promotion of spirit in the entire university and to show our team that we will back them to the utmost," said Paul Kerr, yell king. "In the game Saturday, the team will give us everything they have; let's give them everything we have!

Wear "I" Caps

"Saturday, everyone wear an 'I' cap, take a pennant-cane, a whistle and lots of pep. Buses will leave for Pullman from the Moscow hotel at 12:30 Friday and will get there in plenty of time for the game. As soon as a bus is filled it will go to the Washington hotel in Pullman. Return service to Moscow will start shortly after the game. The fare is 30 cents for the round trip. Let's go to town."

President Neale, in commenting on tomorrow's game said, "Everyone acquainted with Idaho's record will expect to see a thrilling game Saturday. The relationships between the schools are a fine example of the improvement that has come about in athletic relations between rival institutions during the past 30 years. There is a fine spirit about the annual game, which is all the more remarkable because the schools are only nine miles apart."

New Arrangements

The Idaho students will have a special section in the Pullman stadium. The Pep Band, under the direction of Bob Campbell, with two new members, Winston Goss and Sam Ryan promises new marches and arrangements. The Pep Band heads the rally tonight.

The Idaho chapter of Intercollegiate Knights will be guests of the W.S.C. Knights during the game.

Honorary Will Be Installed Today

National Secretary Arrives to Conduct Installation; Hold Banquet

G. Herbert Smith, dean of freshmen men at De Pauw university, Indiana, and national secretary of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary for freshman men, arrived on the University of Idaho campus early this morning. While here Dean Smith will conduct the formal installation of Phi Eta Sigma.

The petition of nine university men to install this honorary here was granted recently. Credentials for membership are a 5.5 or over average during the freshman year. Wark is President

Installation will be held at 5:30 this evening at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity and will be followed by a banquet at the Blue Bucket Inn. Guests at the banquet besides Dean Smith will be Dean J. G. Eldridge, head of the modern languages department, and dean of the university faculty, and Lawrence Chamberlain, political science instructor. Mr. Chamberlain was recently selected by the group as its faculty sponsor.

At a meeting held last Friday, officers for the coming year were elected. Judson Wark, Nampa, was chosen president; John Brosnan, Moscow, vice-president; and Sherman Kelly, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer. Lewis Ensign, Boise, was selected as the group's upper-classman representative.

At noon today a group picture was taken. Drawing up of by-laws and plans for pledging will be the business of the meeting.

Albright College has set up a bargain rate of $30 a month for board, room and tuition for deserving students.

To Loyal Idahoans

The Vandals are going to give everything they have at Pullman tomorrow. For 60 minutes of that game they are going to pass over, run around, and smash through everything Washington State has to offer. The Cougar's tail is going to get twisted by an Idaho team as firmly determined to bring back victory to Vandalville as has ever set out from Moscow.

We're going to move in on Pullman en masse. Every loyal Idaho student is going. It won't be a social call and no time is going to be spent in unnecessary preliminaries. We'll be there to help eleven men perform just one task—BEAT W.S.C.! That's all any loyal Idaho student will find interest in at Pullman Saturday.

The tickets have been going fast. The Idaho section on Rogers field will be jammed. On the lips of every Idahoan will be a yell of defiance for the crimson and grey and a song with meaning behind every word—

"We're here to win, and we will never give in.
We're here to win, and we'll come through with a grin.
So fight right through, old Vandals, we're behind you
Forever, together, we'll conquer our foes.
Through all the years we'll raise our fight cry on high.
For victory we're here to do or to die,
So fight right through with hearts so true.
Fight on old Idaho!"

Armistice Day

By One Born During the War

(Editor's Note—From time to time during the year editorials are released by the department of journalism which are written by members of a class in editorial writing. The following was written by Mary Kay Riley, '36.)

Armistice day, like Christmas, Thanksgiving, and other holidays, is fast becoming a day of sentiment and selfish pleasure with little regard for the significance of the day it commemorates. Those of us who had no part in the activities of November 11, 1918, scarcely know that Armistice day is different from other days, except for the two minutes' silence that injects itself into the ordinary routine of affairs.

It is the passage of years, the healing gulf of time, that dims the bitterness and dulls the good intentions that day caused. The war to end war was ended, and the world was soon to become safe for democracy. Everyone, regardless of nationality, was going to forget his prejudices and love his neighbor.

We who were not there are tempted to laugh at such mass enthusiasm for a seemingly impossible human ideal. Why should we be so passionately opposed to war when you who have experienced its horror have been so little affected by it. We hate war only theoretically—it is ethically repulsive, economically unnecessary, and personally dangerous. Practically, it seems to have fitted neatly into the cycles of civilization and to have been accepted by the greater part of the people.

If war is so horrible as you tell us, if you are so infinitely against it, why has there been so little progress toward its abolition these last 16 years? Do you pretend that a few successfully uphold it in the face of international opposition? Sooner or later, the matters of our governments—the dictators, the diplomats, the statesmen, concede to the wishes of their people. Is it creditable that war is so undesirable and still has been countenanced, even promoted, for 16 years?

Agitators for world peace cannot hope to have the vigorous support of us who were not there until they have the support of those who were! How are they to overcome the lethargy of the latter?

"High School Stuff"

It seems that a W.S.C.-Idaho game can't come and go without some form of mutilation or defacement of one or the other of the two campuses by overly zealous supporters of the Cougars or the Vandals. We deplore the practice and hope every year to see its end.

A few days ago some Washington State students with a misdirected sense of humor crossed the state line and decorated the bleachers and the "I" tank with flaming red "W's."

It is a long standing tradition that the Idaho freshmen guard the campus each year from such invasion by our rivals. Where were you, frosh?

We seem to recall a statement made by The Evergreen two years ago. It seems that some Idaho students threatened to kidnap "Butch" Meeker, the Washington State pet cougar. The paper condemned the action, saying that W.S.C. students were above such "high school" practices.

Idaho students were guilty of a like defacement of buildings at Pullman last night, and W. S. C. students, not content with the work they did here Wednesday, returned to add some finishing touches. The situation is getting out of control. We call upon Washington state student leaders to bring a halt to this practice. We are going to do everything we can to end it here.

It is time that such "high school stuff" be stopped! We cannot afford to risk a severing of relations between our two schools!

HAWKEYE

ON DUTY

We are surprised to see so much activity among our more prominent students with nine-weeks exams staring us in the face. However, some of these people just can't behave, so here it is. We saw: GLENN CAUGHLAN picking them young in Spokane Wednesday night... HOWARD COOK getting himself into a mess and SANGER fixing him all up... JOHN LUKENS and MARY ELLEN BROWN getting into a car in front of the Beta house under cover of darkness... BOB "BUTTERBALL" WOODS getting a big kick out of his new name... FRANNY BUCHANAN sending a whole carload of roses to a certain Gamma Phi during her stay at the infirmary... CURT MANN still standing on the Kappa front porch... CASADY TAYLOR not looking so well lately... HUGH MAGUIRE promising to do a John Alden for one of the boys... BOB STRAWN waiting and waiting for the Phi Deltas to release his "Toots"... The FROSH all sleeping peacefully while the W. S. C. raiders paint the campus... ED METZ-GAR making plenty of trips to the Gamma Phi house... MORFITT not trusting his brothers with one of his proteges... CLAYTON SPEAR turning student much to the chagrin of a certain Theta. Again we have an interesting little triangle on the campus. An entirely new setting and everything. It involves three prominent seniors, and from all indications it will be a battle royal. Maybe we can let you in on this next week. Until then, watch yourself!

the "I" seat in front of the Administration building." President Neale further said that conversation with Idaho student leaders convinced him that the overwhelming sentiment on the Idaho campus was against any such conduct. "The student sentiment is so overwhelmingly against such conduct," he said, "that it would not be necessary to go to any such extremes as severing athletic relationships between the two institutions in order to stop the practice."

The Idaho raiders, who apparently were retaliating for earlier visits of W. S. C. students, worked between 1 and 4 a. m. Friday after W. S. C. guards had retired. Black and silver paint was used to smear hit "I's" on college buildings. Four such letter decorated the gymnasium.

Washington State students, Idaho authorities reported, visited the campus Wednesday night and again last night to smear "everything in sight." All evidence of this raid was immediately obliterated except for several large "W's" which could be seen by the Idaho football team as it practiced.

"He who has a reputation for getting up early may lie in bed until noon!" (Ling Po)

Finally, after months of diligent work (and deliberate lies) our reputation is made. Forever our names shall be smeared in washable ink in the annuals of football columnists. For the last fortnight we have been waiting patiently for an offer from the Associated Press. And the first check—ahhh! We shall divide it evenly and both go down to Sherfey's and get weighed!

Perhaps we have been exceptionally fortunate these last few articles, battling 1,000 per cent for the last 12 predictions. Yet, no one denies that we have not been amazingly accurate. The method we use does not seem to matter, as long as we can brag about the results.

We promise never to stoop to a fish bowl seance again. If we hadn't been almost desperate such an insidious procedure would never have been considered. That College of Idaho display had us worried. We don't mind admitting that we are glad that it is over. Let us hope that such a measure will not have to be resorted to in future years.

After sleeping, as you know, until noon, we haven't the time to delve into the fourth dimension for the outcome of the gridiron parties this weekend. Then too, we thought we would have no further use for such a contraption and threw the fish bowl away. Thus, with nothing but a worn out copy of Shepard's "Paul Bunyon" to use as a reference, we sheepishly announce the following catastrophes:

Babe Hollingbery Discusses Vandal Football Situation

"We realize that Idaho will give us one of our toughest games next Saturday, but don't let them think that they are going to break our record without a fight. If you take our record back to Moscow, it will be over our dead bodies, and you'll know that you've played a ball game."

This was the message that Coach "Babe" Hollingbery asked to be taken back to Idaho when he was interviewed by an Argonaut reporter recently.

Mental Side Counts

Dressed in his traditional green suit, the "Babe" said that he was having a tough job making his boys realize that they didn't have the game already on the win column. In his opinion, mental attitude counts about 60 per cent in the winning of a game. It was the lack of the proper attitude which had lost both the St. Mary's and Gonzaga games.

Hollingbery was loud in his praises of his rival coach, saying: "Leo is one of the most popular coaches on the coast. He works hard, fights hard to win, is a wonderful man morally to have over a bunch of fellows. Above all, is a real credit and outstanding representative for Idaho."

Praises Idaho

The Cougar coach believes that Idaho uses one of the toughest offenses possible against which to perfect a defense.

"Idaho has so many different formations from which to run plays and has so many capable passers that you can't use a set style of defense," he said.

The Cougar coach compared Calland's and his own situations in that they both came from small schools that play some of the biggest and best equipped schools in the country.

"Too much emphasis is placed nowadays on the winning of the game, no matter how," he commented. The one point between a 7 to 6 score is important to the students and public."

Likes Idaho Victories

He commended Idaho on their Washington game this year, especially since Washington has now blossomed forth with one of the best teams on the coast.

"The only times I don't like to see Idaho win is naturally when they play us," he concluded. "At all other times, I'm behind you, hoping that you'll come through."

Boxing Card Schedule Gives Promise of Thrill

Louis Denton-George Boyd Scrap To Be Main Event On Card

Following definite completion of the boxing card scheduled for November 16, an ample evening's entertainment is promised the fight fans of the district," reports Louis August, arbitrator of the squared circle adherents.

Boxing enthusiasts will have the opportunity of witnessing many promising Pacific coast intercollegiate title contenders, with the Louis Denton-George Boyd scrap heading the list. Denton, Idaho veteran, and winner of the Pacific coast intercollegiate championship in the 145 pound class last year, is reputed to be in excellent condition and should show up well. This bout will be the first chance that the fans will have to see him in action since his winning of the championship last year. The Washington State opposition to him is George Boyd, who has won his first two fights this year, and will be out to give Denton plenty of competition.

The grudge battle of the evening will be the tiff between Bill Morrow, Idaho, and Slim Lind, W. S. C., at 180 pounds.

Vandals Ready To Add Third Blemish To Hollingbery's Records

Vandals After "Babe's" Biggest Record—Never Lost On Home Field

By Eddie Mayer

"Ready and in top shape," was the last word concerning the Vandals from Coach Leo B. Calland. But in Leo's actions was the hint that he is looking forward to adding the third blemish to Hollingbery's coaching records this Saturday.

Gonzaga upset Washington State's record of having never been beaten in the Inland Empire and then St. Mary's victory last Friday resulted in the first game Hollingbery had lost as a college coach by the margin of a point scored by a kick.

Calland and the Vandals are after "Babe's" biggest record—never having lost on his home field.

Not since "Nelle" Nelson scooped up a fumble and scampered 65 yards for a touchdown, have the Vandals defeated the Cougars—nine long years ago. Last fall, although out-playing the cow collegers for the full 60 minutes, the victory went across the line, 13 to 6. All of which left the Calland proteges with a bad taste which they are out to avenge this year.

VANDALS UNDAUNTED AT UNDERDOG RATING

The Vandals will be at their peak for the Cougars. Past history proves that regardless of the odds, the W. S. C.-Idaho game is no "pink tea." According to a report circulating, Coach Hollingbery stated early in the season that if the Cougars could get over the Vandals safely they then would have a chance to top conference honors: Being the underdog will mean nothing to the Vandals, as dope-sheets comparative scores and the like are non-plus as indicators of the annual feud.

Strange fields seem to agree with the Vandals this fall. Their top games this season have been the Washington and Montana encounters, both played away from home. Low spots have been the Gonzaga and Oregon tussles, while the C. of I. fracas saw the Vandals under "wraps," giving their running attack a good work-out.

WHEELER OFF INJURY LIST

Except for Joe Wheeler, 200-pound center, who has been nursing a stiff leg since the College of Idaho game, the squad is free of injuries. Over Pullman way the injury problem is causing a little consternation, but all the regulars are expected to be ready for action. The biggest question seems to be whether Rodger Dougherty, star fullback, will have his sore shoulders in shape for the game. "Twisty" Christy Christofersen, big blonde half, has been complaining of "chills" but it is a safe bet that he'll be in the starting lineup.

The return of Dwight Scheyer, big tackle who alternates with "Lammie" Theodorat us, has cheered the Cougar supporters. Scheyer had been on the hospital list since early in the season.

The cheering news here concerns Bob McCue, who since the first game of the season has not been tossing these bullet passes "bullet" enough. McCue received a hand injury in the Bulldog battle but the paw is "oke" now.

WEATHER TO DECIDE OFFENCE

If the rain will hold off, the Vandals will have plenty in the way of offensive threats. An improved running attack coupled with some tricky plays and the always dangerous aerial threat will give the Cougars something to do besides think of their offensive plays. Should the Vandals be confronted with a soggy field the burden of the attack will probably rest on the line driving of Ross Sundberg, fullback.

Frosh To Invade Boise Saturday

Maupin-Absher Pass Combination To Be Serious Threat

The power, strength, and the speed that will shoulder the football hopes for Idaho in the following years will be spread forth in battle array for the benefit of Boise spectators tomorrow, as Coach Otto Anderson leads the Vandal frosh into the state capital to match touchdown supremacy with the Boise Junior college.

The frosh, playing top notch ball against the Ellensburg teachers last week, are in good condition and are raring to get another victory to their credit before they meet the W. S. C. frosh. Maupin, flashy signal caller and triple threat man for the frosh has partially recovered from a hip injury the normal game and the Maupin Absher aerial combination will again be a serious threat.

Word comes from Boise that the game offers possibilities of developing into a battle featuring the power of rival fullbacks. Gus Urrest, powerful fullback for the college, who has been out the last few games with a wrenched knee, sent word that he is going after Louie Rich, Idaho back. Rich, undaunted by Urrest's record as one of the most powerful backs on the Santa Clara frosh team last year, says, "go ahead."

The college has lost only one game, that to the Albion normal, and include among their vanquished the powerful Ricks college team which defeated the Southern branch. Coach Max Elden, assistant coach for the babes last year, is out to build up a record for the Bronchos and will use all the strength he can muster.

The defensive and offensive power of the yearlings have been improving from day to day and they have just about reached a height for the season.

Blond Threat

Ted Christofferson, blond Cougar backfield ace from Hawaii, playing his second year as the Cougar's chief pass snagging threat. The Vandals will have a weather eye out for him tomorrow.
