

Cornish Players Give "The Wind And Rain"

Is Most Appealing Of Last Season's London And New York Successes;
Students Enjoy Play
By Hodge

One of the brightest and most appealing of last season's London and New York stage successes, "The Wind and the Rain," by Merton Hodge, was chosen by the Cornish players of Seattle for presentation at the public events assembly this morning at 10 o'clock in the university auditorium.

The Cornish Players, who are at the present time on a tour of the Northwest, are a group of graduates from the Cornish School of Dance, Drama, and Music in Seattle. The players were organized about four years ago and have toured the Pacific coast successfully, giving many plays which have been selected by their director, Ellen Van Volkenburg, as outstanding stage successes.

Fred Blanchard, dramatic instructor, was formerly a member of the Cornish players for two years. The Cornish players are famous as founders of the little theatre movement in the United States. As graduates of the Cornish school, the players present a complete repertoire which has been very popular with audiences in many cities. Outstanding members of the group of professional players who take important roles in "The Wind and the Rain" are Arthur De Huff, Keimert Wolfe, Ford Rainey, Myrtle Moss, and Martha Nash.

Play Carefully Selected
When she was in London last June, Ellen Van Volkenburg, producers, chose Merton Hodge's piece from among a dozen successful plays currently running on the London stage as the most likely play to find favor with Northwest audiences. Miss Van Volkenburg saw the London production while it was playing to packed houses near the end of a long run and was so charmed with the play that she immediately set about acquiring the rights for the Cornish players.

The story of the play, "The Wind and the Rain," written with a rich sympathy for, and a deep understanding of, the adolescent mind, concerns the tragic and comic fluctuations of the lives of a likeable group of young medical students in an Edinburgh boarding house. Combining robust humor with appealing pathos, plus a measure of genuine tragedy, the play covers those five vital years in the lives of an assorted group of healthy boys when they are preparing for life in the professional world. Triumphs and defeat, heartbreak and happiness, comes to each and the reaction of each to the increasing impingement of life, makes what is probably the most fascinating study of youth since "Young Woodley."

Young Men Get Roles
The leading roles naturally fall to the young men of the company, with Arthur DeHuff giving one of his finest performances as Charles Tritton, the introspective student whose life is variously dominated by his love for his mother, his fiancée, and for the understanding woman who helps him to stand on his own feet. Ford Rainey cleverly injects much brisk comedy and Edgar Johnson and Keimert Wolff give

She was a member of The Curtain, a dramatics fraternity and is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority.

Executive Board Will Donate Loving Cups For Delta Sigma Rho

Delta Sigma Rho, the debate honorary, is now formulating plans for the intramural debate. A meeting is to be held the latter part of this week when the debate question will be settled by representatives from each house.

Every year the club sponsors this debate in which two debaters from each house participate. Last year the Kappa Alpha Thetas won the woman's cup permanently, having kept the cup for three successive years.

The Sigma Nu's also won the men's cup permanently last year. Due to this fact, there are two new silver loving cups to be awarded this year. The executive board of the ASUI are furnishing the silver loving cups for the Delta Sigma Rho.

DEBATE PLANS GET UNDERWAY TODAY

A representative from each Greek letter fraternity is requested to meet with Cecil Greathouse at 7:30 Tuesday night at the S. A. E. house to discuss plans for intramural debate.

Each representative should be prepared to suggest a question for debate so that they can be voted upon at the meeting, Greathouse said. A convenient time for the debates to be held and rules governing them will be discussed. The teams which will represent the different houses have not yet been chosen.

Dangerous Corner Cast Completed

Rehearsals Underway; Production to be on December 7 and 8

Casting for "Dangerous Corner" has been completed by Fred C. Blanchard, director, and rehearsals are well under way. December 7 and 8 are the dates set for the production.

Dorothy Pearce has been cast in the leading role of Freda Chatfield, she was prominent a few years ago, her last part being Judith in Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" which was presented here under the direction of John Cushman.

Owen is played by Alline King who has had two year's experience in the dramatic field at the Southern branch. Her last role there was Lu in "The Good Fairy" by Ferenc Molnar.

Selby Has Part
Paul Selby, who has appeared on the university stage in "Hawk Island," "The Living Corpse" and "Trelawny at the Wells," will play Charles Stanton in "Dangerous Corner." Eldred Stephensen is cast as Robert Chatfield. Stephensen had parts last year in "The Living Corpse" and "The Strategy of Grandma Gates."

Herrick in Cast
Bob Herrick is the member of the cast with the most experience on the Idaho stage. Besides a number of minor roles in other plays, he had good roles in "Ladies of the Jury," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Hawk Island" and "Trelawny at the Wells." Herrick plays Gordon in the next production.

Ethlyn O'Neal, who plays Maud Mockridge, is also familiar to university audiences. She has appeared in a number of productions the last three years, with leads in "The Living Corpse" and "The Strategy of Grandma Gates." Nina Varian, cast as Betty Whitehouse, has also had experience in past productions.

"Dangerous Corner" is a psychological mystery by J. B. Priestley. Its settings and situations are modern, piquant, and situated in that subtle, entertaining manner of which the author is master. After its production early in December, work will be begun on "Night Over Taos."

Dean Iddings Gives Advice to Ag Frosh At Annual Bullfest

Advice as to what would be expected of students after they were graduated and how they might best prepare themselves for this work was given by Dean E. J. Iddings at the first annual "Frosh bullfest." This is given by Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, in honor of the freshmen and faculty of the College of Agriculture. Dean Iddings traced the history of honorary organizations, stating their purposes. He also stated that the qualities of scholarship and achievement on which Alpha Zeta members are chosen are ideals to which any one should aspire, even though he does not reach his ultimate goal.

Mixed and several short talks constituted the remainder of the program.

Cornish Players

PICTURED ABOVE ARE TWO players, Myrtle Mary Moss, and Arthur Huff, who had leading parts in the production, "The Wind and the Rain," presented at public events assembly this morning. The play was a college story in six episodes by Merton Hodge.

Gerald Fogle Leaves to Attend Convention of Military Honorary

Gerald Fogle left Sunday for the national Scabbard and Blade convention to be held at the University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, November 15, 16, 17. Fogle is First Sergeant of Idaho's Scabbard and Blade chapter at the university. The captain of the Washington State college chapter accompanied him.

This marks the 30th year for Scabbard and Blade, an honorary organization of advanced course R. O. T. C. students, whose members are chosen for proficiency and interest in military subjects and active participation in a program of national defense. Each company sends one delegate at the expense of the organization to the national convention held every other year.

Phi Eta Sigma Installed Friday

National Secretary of Freshman Honorary Conducts Installation

Installation of the University of Idaho chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary for freshmen men, was held Friday at 5:30 p. m. at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. G. Herbert Smith, dean of freshmen men at De Pauw university, Indiana, conducted the ceremony.

Following the installation, a banquet was held at the Blue Bucket Inn. Dean Smith delivered the principal speech, while Lawrence Chamberlain, political science instructor, and J. G. Eldridge, head of the modern languages department and dean of the University of Idaho faculty, gave short talks. Dean Eldridge and Mr. Chamberlain both were initiated as honorary members. Mr. Chamberlain was selected by the group as faculty sponsor.

Advances Scholarship
Dean Smith outlined in his address the aims of Phi Eta Sigma, its past history, and suggested plans for the activities of the University of Idaho chapter. He pointed out cases in which statistics show a definite increase in scholastic attainment among freshmen in schools after the honorary had been installed. The principal aim of the fraternity is to awaken an interest in gaining a high scholarship record among first year men. According to Dean Smith, a good start on a university career generally insures a good record during the remaining three years.

Judson Wark, newly elected president, presided over the banquet. Other officers for the coming year are John Brosnan, vice-president; and Sherman Kelly, secretary-treasurer. Other men who became charter members of the honorary are: Lewis Mann, Robert Chambers, Henry Wellner, Fred Rasmussen, Louis Garrison, and Allison Beeman. Lewis Ensign was chosen as upper-classman representative.

Idaho's chapter of Phi Eta Sigma is the furthest west of any present chapter, the chapter to previously hold this record being located at Bozeman, Montana. The honorary was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, and is now composed of 25 chapters. A 5.5 average is the standard set for membership.

Large 'I' Party Wednesday

University "I" men will have plenty of chance to loosen up the muscles in the old arm this week at their weekly social gathering in front of the Administration building at 12:45 p. m. on Wednesday. To be exact, 45 "guests" are invited, and are warned by the club that failure to show up will result in a horrible penalty.

At a meeting of the "I" club Sunday at the A. I. O. house, a joint dance with W.S.C. lettermen and "I" men after the last basketball game was planned. Initiation dance for the new members of the club will be held sometime before Christmas, they decided.

Five New Men Approved By Board For Rhodes Scholarship

Decision Made Saturday

List to be sent to State Committee for Choosing of two Candidates

The applications of W. Babcock, Jr., Lloyd Berg, Harold W. Ellingson, David Kendrick, and William B. Wetherall for the Rhodes Scholarship award have been approved by the local committee. Mr. Babcock is now a senior in the Michigan Law school; Mr. Berg is an instructor in the Psychology department, and the other applicants are seniors in the University.

The local committee, which is composed of Professor Eugene Taylor, chairman, Dean T. S. Kerr, and Professor Harold Axtell, was given the task of approving these applications.

The committee met Friday and Saturday to make their decision. This list of names will be sent to C. J. Bowden, the secretary of the state committee. This committee will decide on the two applicants, who will then report to the district committee which will meet in Spokane on January 7.

Forensic Squad Plans Itinerary

Full Schedule Arranged For Year With Extensive Southern Trip

The university debate squad under the direction of Coach A. E. Whitehead is making final preparations for the debate schedule with the Northwest Nazarene college at Nampa on November 23. The topic for debate is Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions.

The Idaho debaters face one of the stiffest schedules in recent years, according to Coach Whitehead. The itinerary will include southern Idaho and northern Utah. They will stop at Pocatello November 24, at the Southern Branch, November 26, they will debate the Utah Aggies. From November 27, to December 2, they will be in Salt Lake City in attendance at the annual convention of Western Association of Speech Instructors. The squad will debate in the tournament held during the convention, and two members will compete in the extemporaneous speaking contest. On their return, the squad will debate at Kimberly high school, and also in Twin Falls, December 3. On December 4 they will debate before the Kiwanis club in Boise and again that evening with the Boise Junior college.

Upon arriving in Walla Walla, December 6, four of the women will debate with Whitman and W.S.C. on the subject, Resolved: That the government should establish maximum limits on inheritance and incomes.

In January the university squad will match their wits with the University of California debaters here. Later in April the University of Montana, Stanford, and the University of Hawaii debaters are scheduled to be in Moscow.

Coach Whitehead spoke optimistically of the Idaho prospects this year, for he has much experienced material from last year. The men and women on the varsity squad are: Lewis Orland, William McCrea, Ddwain Vincent, Earl Carlson, Charles Sanders, Donald Peterson, Clyde Kooontz, Anna Sweely, Irma Lewis, Jane Merrick, Elizabeth Coates, Josephine Mitchell, and Dorothy Rosevear.

Demonstration Given On Canned Goods By Seattle Expert

Mr. F. X. Bathurst of Seattle, one of the recognized leading authorities on canned goods in the northwest, was speaker at a demonstration of canned foods held in the foods laboratory of the home economics department Thursday. Miss Katherine Jensen with the cooperation of the Phi Epsilon Omicron, home economics honorary, conducted the meeting. The demonstration was given for the benefit of a class in problems of buying for the consumer. It was sponsored by the American Association of University Women,

Argonaut Meeting Wednesday

W.S.C. Spurs Host To Idaho Chapter

Exchange Luncheon Held Saturday Before Idaho-W. S. C. Game

The Idaho Chapter of the Spurs returned from their luncheon exchange with the W. S. C. chapter bringing back with them new enthusiasm and ideas. The Spurs went to Pullman Saturday in a special bus. They arrived in time for a get-together talk before the luncheon which was served in the Washington hotel.

Favors were crimson and gray paper replicas of the official Spur emblem. There are 44 Spurs in the W. S. C. chapter while the membership of the Idaho chapter totals 22. Dorothy Loquum, a Spur of the hostess chapter acted as toastmistress of the occasion. The president of the Pullman chapter welcomed the guests and urged the organizations to try to have these exchanges more frequently. Dorothy Brown responded as president from the local chapter.

Boyer Speaks

Miss Permel J. French was not able to be present for the luncheon, and was represented by Mrs. W. H. Boyer. Marjorie Wurster, national vice-president, spoke to the group concerning the unique advantage of the proximity of the two chapters. Both chapters introduced their respective group songs as well as the Vandal and Cougar songs.

After luncheon, the Idaho Spurs visited the various houses on the campus until they again met in a body to attend the Idaho-W. S. C. football game.

PRIZE STEERS ARE PUBLICIZED

Recent issues of The Shorthorn World, official journal of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, contain written and pictorial tribute to the University of Idaho's fine Shorthorn herd. The Idaho herd, one of the outstanding college-owned Shorthorn herds in the United States, was written-up briefly in the August 25 issue by Frank D. Tomson, Kansas Shorthorn breeder who made a western tour as a representative of the national association. After describing the merits of the Idaho herd, Mr. Tomson concludes by saying it certainly is a credit to the institution.

The write-up pays particular tribute to Prof. C. W. Hickman, head of the animal husbandry department, who has been largely responsible for the development of this fine herd. The October 25 issue of the Shorthorn World carries a picture of the Idaho herd, taken on the University farm, as the cover illustration.

Series Of Dances To Begin Saturday

Will be Held Weekly at Memorial Gymnasium; Charge 15c Couple

A series of weekly dances will start next Saturday at 8:30 in the Memorial gymnasium. The project has been passed upon by the executive board, but the continuation of the dances for the rest of the year depends upon their success.

Only ASUI students are admitted to these dances, and they must present their ASUI tickets at the door. The charge will be 15 cents a couple. Special invitations are extended to President M. G. Neale, the deans of all schools, and faculty members.

A date agency has been started in the women's halls so men can get dates for these dances and become acquainted with women on the campus. Those in charge are: Hays Hall, Arlene Blackwell first floor; Peggy Myrick, second floor; Marjorie Consalus, third floor; Forney hall, Jeannette Wines, second floor; Maurine Kinghorn, third floor; College Girl's club, Edith Brown. Bill Armstrong, Bob Kerr, Orval Goodsell, and Maurine Kinghorn have been appointed by Dave Kendrick to take charge of arrangements for the dances.

Vandals Are Setting Sights For California

Light Scrimmages and Defense Tactics Are Stressed For California Tilt

"California, Straight Ahead!" This is the slogan of University of Idaho gridders are following this week.

No heavy scrimmage has been scheduled for the three days before the men depart for Berkeley, following the hard tussle with Washington State Saturday. Light drills, especially on California defense tactics, have been ordered by Coach Leo Calland in preparing for the last conference battle of the season.

6-0 Last Year

Last year's memorable contest with California, which was supposed to be a breather for the Bears, turned out to be a real set of breathing exercises. Bill Ingram's men, with their chief away watching Stanford play Montana, managed to punch over one precious touchdown late in the third quarter, which saved them from a scoreless tie. Ingram is expected to stay in Berkeley this year.

Paul Berg, brilliant blocking half-back for Idaho this season, sat on the bench last year and watched John Norby star against California. A large share of the credit for balking the Bears' plans to breeze through the afternoon went to Norby, whose defensive work materialized into one of the best line-backing exhibitions seen at Berkeley that season. "Iron Man" Berg is expected to turn in a stellar performance Saturday styled after the master.

An old flintlock rifle, bearing the date 1839 near the hammer, is buried through the trunk of an oak tree at Chehalis, Wash. It has been said that the rifle was placed in the fork of the young oak as a friendly gesture after peace had been made with the redmen.

Attention, C. R. S., Jr.

The Argonaut resents the implication by Charles R. Stark, Jr., sports editor of The Spokesman-Review, that the president of the university is, to put it mildly, a prevaricator.

Under the heading, "Complete Reorganization of Idaho Athletic Department Is Forseen," in the Review for Monday, Mr. Stark printed over his signature a series of "rumors" which said that the board of regents met after the Oregon-Idaho football game, October 20, and "voted unanimously not to renew the contracts of Leo Calland and his assistant, 'Red' Jacoby. The board went further," the story read, "and voted, it is understood, that when the contracts of the other coaches expire at the end of their seasons they would not be renewed."

We recognize the technicality upon which Mr. Stark excuses the printing of rumors, the fact that he signed the article and it passes as editorial opinion. We fail to see the excuse for it on ethical grounds when, had he used only ordinary precautions to check the veracity of his statements, he could have established their falsity.

Mr. Stark included in the story a denial by President M. G. Neale of any foundation to the rumors. The president's statement was not asked for by the sports editor when he wrote his story and it was only by accident that Dr. Neale learned that it was to be run. He supplied information which should have been sufficient to kill the article. The denial read, "the matter has never been discussed by the board of regents, or by myself with anyone. Leo Calland has a contract that runs until next September. If any action is taken on his contract, it will not be until it expires."

Mr. Stark, has, in the vernacular, taken a "long shot" which cannot find any substantiation in fact. Dare we intimate that there was malicious intent behind his printing of a story in the same issue of Harold Telford's record as basketball coach at Coeur d'Alene high school? Mr. Stark admits in his article that "members of the board and college officials have said nothing until Dr. Neale's statement." He then adds—"however, the news—that action was taken—has become almost common property around the Idaho campus."

We challenge the authority upon which Mr. Stark makes this statement! It can be nothing more than the elaboration on the rumor which is made the substance of his entire article. We are not prone to accept the circulation of rumors as news. On the same score we brand the inference that the campus as a whole is in possession of inside information not already released regarding that board meeting as an unqualified lie!

If The Argonaut staff can be judged to be composed of students representing a fair cross section of the student body on the Idaho campus we assure Mr. Stark that we have heard nothing of any action, official or otherwise, on the part of the board regarding changes in the personnel of the Idaho coaching staff. We have no information which contradicts that given out by the president, Dr. Neale. If Mr. Stark cannot accept his word, perhaps that of the students may bear some weight.

Mr. Stark—Leo Calland is football coach at the University of Idaho and will continue to be so until the "powers that be" see fit to make a change. We are behind him 100 per cent! The Argonaut, the alumni, and the student body highly resent your action in "selling short" the coach and the team. It would have only one possible result—demoralization of a Vandal eleven which yet has two games on its 1934 schedule.

Idaho plays in a tough league, the fastest in the country. An Idaho coach is "on the spot" from the start. The Vandals' journey to California this weekend and the coaches and the team all know that we want them to win, but win or lose, they have our support right down to the last ditch!

"Grins and Gripes"

And still they come!—those unsigned "To the Editor" contributions.

In a statement of Argonaut policy several weeks ago, we invited student comment for the "Grins and Gripes" column with the obvious precaution of insisting that the authors sign their full names to the contributions, (initials only to be printed.) Since that time, numerous letters have been dropped into The Argonaut box in the lower hall of the Administration building, some carefully written and containing facts and logic that deserve to be brought to light for the student body's consideration, but all of them signed with only faked initials. They are absolutely anonymous, for if we can believe the new student directory to be correct, no persons having the initials signed to these articles are in attendance at the university.

Is asking that the writer stay within reasonable limits of common decency and truth and be proud enough of his handicraft to sign it too much to ask?

Last year, hardly an issue of The Argonaut came off the press without at least one or two "Grins and Gripes" contributions. This year, student comment has been so lacking that some individuals might well be of the opinion that a policy of ignoring all student comment is being observed by the present staff. This would be an entirely false assumption; there have been no signed student convictions, and consequently there have been none to print.

We do welcome student comment, and urge that more be turned in. Every student has a right to have his opinion published in The Argonaut; the existence of an opinion column can exert a powerful influence in developing the best student thinking and in bringing to light various conditions on the campus that should be corrected. We believe that a student opinion column is a barometer in that it shows to what extent students are actively thinking about their environment, but we will be forced to conclude that Idaho students "don't give a hang" about their own institution and affairs if we don't find some letters in that "Grins and Gripes" department.

HAWKEYE

ON DUTY

Even though we came out on the short end of the score at W. S. C. it didn't seem to dampen the spirit of these loyal Idaho students. Among other things we saw: JO BRECKENRIDGE and MARK FELT doing some plain and fancy dancing at the Bucket Friday night. JIM McCABE not feeling well after a very busy evening with some of the brothers. BOB WEATHER-ELL waiting a long time for KAY LANE and finally spending the evening at home. HELEN LATIMORE being very happy and wearing a great big smile last Friday night. BING CROSBY wanting to lead the PEP BAND at the game Saturday. BENNY LUTZ giving himself a big farewell party. BOB HERRICK doing his bit toward making the Curtain dance a success. MARY KAY RILEY getting a little sleep on ED MEYZGARS' shoulder at the dance Friday night. Some of the W. S. C. students doing a little gloating over their victory to the distress of some of the Bucket dancers. THE CAM-PUS AT LARGE being very concerned over the article by C. R. STARK, JR. in the Spokesman Review yesterday. BILL MACLEAR passing out little what-nots at the Fiji house Saturday night. MARGARET WYCOFF and WAYNE HILL getting the boot from a car in front of the Sigma Nu house Sunday evening. No doubt you remember our mentioning a triangle existing on the campus with three of our worthy seniors involved? Well, we've been bribed into not using names, but maybe we can give you an idea anyway. The young lady in the triangle is a Pi Phi; one of the gentlemen is a husher at the same house; the other gentleman is a bald-headed Fiji. Now figure it out.

Things That Matter

Button, button, and once again the very essence of style and chic is denoted by so trivial thing as a button. At least it was once trivial to the extent that it was hidden, but now button designers are in their prime with fads and fashions demanding them at their best.

One of the most novel and interesting has been designed for a wine-red frock of Jean Stewart's. The large silver buttons are unusual in that they give the effect of matted wire with no special pattern being followed in the button itself. All of which go to make the unusual out of simplicity.

Mary Jane Pace decorates a simple brown woolen dress with large wooden buttons. They are flat, polished, and plain, and prove to be the very "making" of the dress. Wooden buttons are highly decreed by fashion critics and this is one of the many types and ways of us-

Symbolic as they are to anyone on a campus, the buttons which decorate an afternoon frock of Marjorie Collins hold double meaning to her. The dress is modeled after sailor design, being of navy blue taffeta with a white collar. In each of the four corners is firmly sewed a large blue anchor.

While we've mentioned it, this is the year for sailor styles, but we'll hear more of that later.

Idaho Roster Could Outdo All-Americans in Unusual Names

Notre Dame, St. Mary's, and Washington have too much unnecessary publicity about the unusual names of their football players. If Coach Leo Calland wanted to choose players from the student body because of unusual names he would have no difficulty at all in securing men who would make the All American list look insignificant.

Remember the big five-day football game with Rome's All-American team, when Plato ran five yards for a winning touchdown during the last day to play? Well, his team won with a Smith and Jones.

What do you think this first team (our choice) could do with Bill Berkenbosch, tackle; Adam Czehatowski, quarter; Blondell Groseclose, guard; Dick Gugmundsen, guard; Eino Hietala, tackle; Bill Katsilometes, end; Carlazo Malalang, end; Eino Nuttala, center; Art Schwartzenhauer, full; Iran Turrentine, half; and Victor Ziminski, half.

Our second team would consist of Rienhard Beyersdorf, tackle; Mod-ell Christiansen, end; Dick Finklea, guard; Bertil Gunnarson, guard; Jack Heinzerling, center; Gus Kohlidakis, full; Iver Lonsteig, end; Clinton Quesnel, quarter; Roscoe Smolinski, half; Louis Verber-moes, tackle; and Andrew Yahraus, half.

Five Men Honored By Irate "T" Men At Sunday "Party"

Five especially luckless and deliberate offenders of the cords and green cap tradition as enforced by the "T" club, felt the strong arm of the law no less than 30 times Sunday morning. These "hardened criminals" were given special attention due to the fact that even though cordial invitations have been extended to them time and again to attend the Wednesday noon gatherings, they have rudely neglected to come.

The five, Ross Sundberg, Joey August, "New York" Nelson, Duffy Reed, and Speed Gray were dragged unmercifully out of their respective houses and given the "works" in real he-man style.

A professor at Roanoke College claims that many of his students will be as famous as Napoleon at the rate they are going down in history.

STUDENT RECITAL PRESENTED SUNDAY

A recital of students of the university music department will be presented next Sunday in the auditorium at 4 o'clock. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

This is the second of a series given by these students in order that their accomplishments may be heard throughout the year by all others interested. These recitals are scheduled so that a number will appear twice a month.

THERE are two reasons why Prince Albert is called "The National Joy Smoke" by pipe smokers. The first—it is a secret blend of choice, top-quality tobaccos. The second—this excellent blend is treated by a special process which absolutely removes all "bite." Get a big red tin of "P.A." yourself and find out how good your pipe can really taste.

SOCIETY

THE danced motifs this weekend were varied, including a modernistic black and gold design at the Delta Delta Delta pledge dance, an Armistice dance at Lindley hall, the traditional forest of Foresters' ball, and the house colors at the Chi Alpha Pi pledge dance. Many houses had guests over the weekend, as the football game with Pullman attracted many alumni.

Tri-Delta hold Modernistic Dance

A modernistic design of black and gold was used for the decorations of the Delta Delta Delta pledge dance held at the chapter house Saturday. Lamp shades of black and gold created indirect lighting from the walls and ceilings. Black and gold streamers were draped from the chandeliers to the corners of the room and a large black and gold pledge pin was lighted above the fireplace. The programs were triangular shapes of black suede paper, lined with gold. A cut-out of the pledge pin on the outside showed this lining. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chamberlain, Dean and Mrs. Ralph Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor, and Mrs. Miriam Ritchie. The Blue Devils orchestra furnished the music.

Foresters Ball Held Friday

The Foresters' Ball decorations were effectively carried out to give the idea of a deep forest. Pine trees lined the walls and a low ceiling of cedar boughs completely covered the hall. The entrance was fashioned as a log cabin with the rough log-siding to give it a back-woods appearance. Patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. Richard McArdle, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Hubert, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Gail, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Jahn, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Otter. Music was furnished by the Blue Devils orchestra.

Chi Alpha Pi's hold Pledge dance

Decorations and changing lights in the house colors made a charming background for the Chi Alpha Pi pledge dance Saturday. Programs were of tinted parchment. Chuck Collins' orchestra played. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Stella Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Janssen, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Boelker.

Armistice Theme at Lindley Dance

Carrying out the mode of Armistice day, Lindley hall entertained at an informal dance Saturday. The programs and decorations were in red, white, and blue. A. C. Whittaker's orchestra furnished the music. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greene, Dean and Mrs. J. I. Messenger, and Prof. E. E. Whitehead.

Lambda Chi Alpha entertained James Doyle, Wallace; Hoyt Fritchman, Welsler; Clifford Hallivick, Coeur d'Alene, over the week-end.

Week-end guests of Alpha Phi were Mrs. Ada B. Short, Boise; Mrs. W. A. Gray, Buhl; and Lucille McDonald, St. Anthony.

Alpha Phi entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gray, Buhl; and Winton Gray at dinner Saturday.

Robert Thurston and Dexter Whalen of Payette were Sigma Chi house guests over the week-end.

Sigma Chis serenaded the Pi Beta Phi and the Delta Gamma sororities Sunday night. Several group songs were sung, as well as a trio number by Robert and Raymond Strawn and James Perry.

Delta Chi entertained informally Saturday evening with a bridge dance. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Wally Steffans and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pierce. Guests were Rosamunde Aram, Ruth Eggert, Mary Jane Pace, Julie Mae Mitchell, Grace Larsen, Barbara Lipps, Nellie Irwin, Ruth Stewart, Charlotte Thyer, Bernice Sather, Bernice Levy, Jean Irwin, Barbara Geddes, Irma Bryson, Verna Wilson, and Gertrude Gnaedinger.

Sunday dinner guests of Gamma Phi Beta were Marie Haasch and Kathleen Bailey.

Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Delta Delta were Agda Waldon, Helen Wallen, Janet Sanders, Jean Dunkle, and Robert Bell, Spokane.

Girls Show Enthusiasm In Speed-ball Tourney

Two Games yet to be Played Before Winners can be Announced

Keen competition has been shown in the W. A. A. inter-class speed-ball tournament. Each team in trying to out-play the other has put forth its best efforts resulting in some remarkable playing. Friday evening the sophomores downed the freshmen, 11 to 0, with Lillian Larson, Edith Slatter, Dorothy Roseyear, and Laurina Nichols doing the scoring. Monday the juniors were victors, getting 7 points to the seniors 1. Tuesday the freshmen staged a comeback by overpowering the seniors, 9 to 6. There are yet two games to be played before the winning team can be determined.

Mabel Locke, faculty advisor, announces that there will be a general W. A. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock; also there will be a board meeting the same day at 12:00 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Honorary degrees to 244 world leaders in various fields of human endeavor have been awarded by the University of Wisconsin during the past 60 years.

Injuries To Instructor Require Plastic Surgery

Auto Accident Causes Severe Injury to State Supervisor of Home Economics

Miss Iva I. Sell, state supervisor of home economics, and teacher at the university, was injured in an automobile accident October 24 near Preston, Idaho. Plastic surgery will have to be applied to the face of Miss Sell before she can be removed from the general hospital where she is reported to be making rapid progress toward regaining her health.

Miss Sell's facial wounds were received when the car in which she was riding ran off the road smashing into a tree about 20 miles from Preston.

excellent portrayals. Martha Nash is stunning as Tritton's sympathetic sweetheart, and Myrtle Mary Moss, Martha Flecken, Hector Cant and Charles Trainor also give capable portrayals.

"The ultimate test of an actor or an actress" says Ellen Van Volkenburg, "is that he or she shall be able not only to feel and be the character in which he is cast, but that he shall be able to project it across the footlights so that the audience too, can feel and understand the character no matter how strange it may be to them." And that, Miss Van Volkenburg believes, is what the Cornish players have achieved in their production of this sensitive, modern play "The Wind and the Rain." They have surpassed themselves in projecting to the audience the very souls of these amusing and pathetic young Englishmen trying so courageously and sometimes so ridiculously to adapt themselves to the realities of life."

REFUSING

to be heckled by a 19 to 0 loss at the hands of the Cougars, the Vandals are concentrating this week on getting ready to do a little heckling of their own, at the expense of the Golden Bears of California, whom they meet up with next Saturday. The Bears, under the tutelage of "Navy Bill" Ingram, haven't found the going so good this season, either, although they did manage to beat Southern Cal 7 to 2 this last weekend. But that doesn't mean anything, every Greek in the country has been scaling the walls of Troy with nothing more than a stepladder. Last year Idaho scared the Bears so badly with a 6 to 0 defeat that California refused to schedule a game for 1935. The Vandals would like nothing better than to put the skids under an already slipping California club just as a parting shot, or shove, or something.

SAY PULLMAN

though it may grieve us that you fellows gave us such a thorough wallop, we still have to hand it to you. You won last Saturday's game on straight, clever football, you played fair ball, and you played darn good ball too. We admit that we would have liked to have broken that nine-year "no defeats on the home field" record, that we would have liked to have annexed another conference victory, but we couldn't do it. We hope that you trim the Huskies on the 24th as decisively as you licked us, and if wishing would do you any good, we'd like to see you in the Rose Bowl fracas.

STANFORD'S

Cardinals seem slated to get the Rose Bowl bid again this season. The big red team, under the leadership of Bobby Grayson, former Portland, Oregon, high school star, moved on in their merry undefeated fashion last Saturday when they smashed the hitherto unconquered Washington club down to a 24 to 0 topping of Husky Rose Bowl hopes. Jimmy Phelan had it all doped that it was time for seven years of plenty after the seven lean Washington years, but evidently he isn't as good a prophet as a certain well-known gent named Joseph.

THIS

Stanford outfit is unique not only in that they keep winning games in this year of grid upsets, but in that they have known their tilts with very little use of the forward pass, the "big sticks" in the Vandal offense. The Cardinals depend on the punting and running ability of their two great backs "Bones" Hamilton and Bobby Grayson. Grayson, touted as the greatest back on the Pacific coast since Ernie Nevers, counts on the hefty Red forward wall to hold out the opposing offense, and on his own and Hamilton's slashing running attack to pile up the Cardinal scores.

SPEAKING

of All-Americans, we think we have one as a next door neighbor, practically. Ted Christofferson, the blond Scandinavian who came clear from Honolulu to play for Babe Hollingbery, is the gent we have in mind. The open field running and pass snatching of the lanky halfback puts him in All-American running as far as we're concerned, for in addition to his genuine ability, "Honolulu Ted" has color and crowd appeal. It's a well-known fact that many gridgers have exceptional ability, but without the knack of getting the press box notices, they never get a prayer on the All-American ratings. Don't get the idea that Christofferson is a publicity hound, for the contrary is the case. After the Oregon State game at Pullman this year, Ted was down town all by himself while the rest of the student body celebrated the victory up on the campus. He wasn't looking for any bouquets.

FOG

over Rogers field. Last Saturday's fog bank which settled down over proceedings early in the game made the worst visibility George Varnell, Varsity referee, had ever seen, and he's been officiating at grid tiffs these many years. The Washington State band did a nice job on "Cross-eyed Kelly" the lad from Penn., and also on the aerially inclined "Man on the Flying Trapeze," but a spirited rendition of "Lost in a Fog Without You" would have hit the nail on the head, we're thinking.

CY

Geraghty looked like a rubber ball bouncing off a brick wall when he threw a block into "Lammie" Theodoratus Saturday. After Cyril hit the ground he had to take a look to see if maybe he hadn't connected with the grandstand, or the fieldhouse. Nope, "Lammie" isn't spelled "Lamby," and it shouldn't be either, ask Cy.

CALLAND

has been sorta rubbing Ap Berg. By playing some odd 50 minutes against the Cougars, Ap garnered just enough minutes to entice him to his letter, and then he had to be taken from the battle due to an injury. Leo has been claiming that Ap is a "gold-bricker." However, it's only in fun. Ap played a bang-up game. Incidentally, brother Paul turned in another 60 minutes of action. His understudy, Don Spaugy, has a grand total of one and one half minutes. But then Paul had to wait two years while Captain John Norby pulled the "iron mask" stunt.

BILL HUNT

tells one on the fellow at either Utah or Oregon, we don't remember which, who got disgusted with the varsity football team. He got so riled that he turned out to help the "rinkydinks" scrimmage against the first string men. At the end of the first week he was a first stringer. Now, you guys that are beefing about the football club, come on down, get a suit and scrimmage the varsity, we'd like to see some of you gripers spilled hard a couple times.

Boise J.C. Wins From Frosh; 6-0

First Quarter Drive By Junior College Nets Victory

Staging a 60-yard drive in the first quarter, the Boise Junior college Broncos gained a 6 to 0 victory over the Idaho frosh last Saturday at Boise. Though the Broncos were decisively outweighted, they entered the field as the favorites and lived up to expectations. The Babes played a good hard game, but except for a brief spurt in the last few minutes of the second quarter, their attack failed to get underway.

Shaw, quarterback, scored for B. J. C. after he and Urresti, highly touted fullback, had lugged the ball down the field. A penalty ruled the extra point out.

In the second quarter, Louie Rich, fighting halfback for the yearlings, got into action and the frosh unleashed an attack which twice got within scoring distance. The Babes first threatened when Rich broke away in midfield for a 30-yard run. A short pass then put the ball on the 8 yard line. Here the attack stopped, three plays bringing no gain, and then a pass completed out side the playing field gave the ball to the junior college on their own 20-yard line. The second drive carried the ball to the 18-yard line as the half ended.

During the entire second half neither teams offense was effective, both lines playing fine offensive ball. A desperate aerial attack by the frosh in the last period yielded no yardage and an interception gave the ball to the college in the yearlings' territory.

Vandals Befogged By Mist and Brilliant Play of W. S. C. Cougars

W.S.C.'s 19-0 Victory Gets Start From Christofferson's Initial Score

A disastrous first quarter, in which "Honolulu" Christofferson, top hand on the Hollingbery crew, ran wild, crushed the hopes of the Vandals in last Saturday's 19 to 0 renewal of the Idaho-W. S. C. rivalry. A crowd of 12,000 saw the game, with play almost obliterated in the fourth period by a dense fog which began rolling over the field early in the second quarter.

Coach Leo E. Calland's proteges fought a game, uphill fight, not giving up until the final play, although the chance to win the contest looked practically nil from the time Christofferson swept off his left tackle, for a 65-yard touchdown jaunt on the initial play of the game.

The Cougars had the best ball club, one of the best they have ever had, but after the opening assault, the Vandals steadied and gave the winners enough opposition to let them know they were in a ball game. Ap Berg, Paul Berg, and Russ Hansowetz played the outstanding games for the Vandals while Sundberg, Iverson and McCue drew the more spectacular roles.

High tension, trying too hard, had a great deal to do with the ragged manner in which the Vandals opened the game. They were so set on upsetting the Cougars that they were unsteady and tense. The result was especially prominent in the ability if the Cougars with their double shift, a feature that the Vandals had mastered in practice.

Following Christofferson's opening dash, which electrified the Cougar rosters and which broke the hearts of the Vandal supporters, the Cougars kicked to the Vandals, the ball going over the goal line for a touchback. Three passes were incomplete and Idaho kicked to the middle of the field where Washington State started their march for the second score.

Goddard, Christofferson, and Daugherty alternated packing the oval with Goddard carrying the ball over for the touchdown. Daugherty failed to convert this time, the ball going wide, giving the Cougars a 13 to 0 lead with only five minutes of the game played.

Third Score on Blocked Punt

Later in the first quarter Sundberg's punt was partially blocked and the Cougars took possession on Idaho's 38. Three plays netted a first down on the 23 as the quarter ended, leaving the ball in position for the third and final score of the game.

W. S. C. opened the second stanza with a pass, netting 12 yards, and then Arbelide smashed over the pay line on a running play. Daugherty again failed to convert.

The third period witnessed a more stubborn fight and the final period saw the Vandals throwing pass after pass in an attempt to chalk up a score. All told, the Vandals attempted 34 passes during the contest, completing 10, eight of which were in the final stanza. Of the total of 177 yards from scrimmage, 123 were the result of these 10 passes.

Cougars Ahead on First Downs

The Cougars made 11 first downs to the Vandals 10 and annexed a total yardage of 210 yards, of which 49 resulted from four completed passes. The Cougars attempted 18. Four were intercepted.

Goddard was probably the outstanding player on the field. His kicking and running was outstanding while his passing could not be termed "bad." Smith at center, Brett and Hawley at end, and Christofferson and Daugherty in the backfield were also in the limelight.

Boxers To Match Leather In 17 Bouts Friday Night

Idaho, W. S. C., and CCC Men to Put on Show for 15 Cents

A fistie rendezvous, with University of Idaho glove slingers, CCC strong men, and Washington State college scrappers in attendance, is scheduled to take place at the university gymnasium Friday night at 8 o'clock.

The George Riddle-Henry Lyons go gives promise of being the fastest bout of the evening. Riddle, holder of the Pacific coast amateur featherweight title, will be up against plenty of opposition. Lyons, W. S. C. freshman, hails from Tacoma where he is a holder of the city title, and from advance reports, is fast as well as a hard hitter. Riddle, a newcomer to the Idaho team, is planning to uphold his previous reputation and accordingly the battle promises to be a thriller.

Heavyweights Fight

Two 190-pounders, Bill Morrow of Idaho and Slim Lind, Washington State, are due to stage a real slugfest. In this fight Morrow is out to prove the decision Lind won over him in their last fight was phoney. These boys fought last month at Pullman, and the judges awarded the bout to Lind with a great amount of dissension on the part of the spectators. A newcomer to the Idaho string is Ralph Crowley, who will show his wares against Carl Stock, W. S. C. at 160 pounds.

A headliner on the program is the Denton-Boyd bout. Denton, Idaho veteran, will make his first appearance since garnering the 145-pound Pacific Coast intercollegiate title last year. George Boyd, W. S. C., is reputed as being one of the hardest hitters on the Coast. He has appeared on two cards this season chalking up victories both times.

The Morrey Pickes, Idaho, Marlin Skelton, CCC bout should prove to be outstanding. Both men have good reputations and the ability to put up a colorful scrap. These men weigh in at 147 pounds. Other scheduled fights are: Frank Harvey, CCC vs. Willis Hall, I, 150; Earl Spenser, I, vs. Sam Perry, CCC, 135; Luke Purcell, I, vs. Wait Morgan, I, 118; Roy Hanford, I, vs. Bob Griffiths, W. S. C., 165.

In addition to the above bouts there will be five novice bouts.

Coach Louie August states: "I would like to see the entire student body cooperate with the boxers in making the card successful, the price is nominal—only 15 cents. There are 17 bouts in all."
