Experiences of Actors On Tour Told At Luncheon

History Of Group Told

Many Trials In Life of Actor Recounted at English Club Luncheon

"Not the play itself, but the life it depicts and the soul of the actors has been the chief concern of the Cornish company of players from the beginning of its career."

Keinart Wolfe, speaking for the company, made this declaration at the luncheon which the English club gave in the Blue Bucket in honor of the famous players, who paused in Moscow on their tour of the Northwest and California long enough to produce their play, "The Wind and the Rain" in the university auditorium crowded with spectators, and lunch with members of the English club, in Pullman Friday, evening they will produce the "Wizard of Oz" in puppets.

Lead Hectic Ancient background scene bedecked with gay butterflies and roses, often for audiences which had never before seen living actors; rushing from one stop to another with insufficient time to remove their make-up and costumes are a few of the experiences which have come to the group of actors and actresses since they began their series of tours four years ago, according to Keinart, Cornish schools' history and development since its founding by Nellie C. Cornish 40 years ago was given by Cornish.

"Our hardest problem," he declared, "is finding a play suitable to all types of audiences. For example some of the high school parents were quite shocked at the drinking in "The Wind and the Rain."

Martha Nash, chairman of the Cornish players, expressed the appreciation of the players to Dr. George Morey Miller, sponsor of the English club. From Spokane, "the meeting with you and your club members will be a high spot in the season's tour. We are sincerely hoping for another visit to your city," she said.

Personnel of the company includes: Martha Nash, Keinart Wolff Arthur DeHuff, Myrtle Mary Moss, Martha Picken, Ford Rainey, Charles Trainor, Hector Cant, Edgar Johnson.

'Mural Debaters Decide Questions

Small Representation Passes A Unanimous Vote On Questions

Two questions were decided upon tentatively at a meeting of intramural debaters held Tuesday at the S. A. E. house.

The question passed unanimously by a meagre representation of houses were: For the men: Resolved, that the practice of compulsory military training at the University of Idaho should be abandoned. For the women: Resolved, that the University of Idaho should adopt the fail or pass method of grading.

Cecil Greathouse, intramural complained that but five men's houses and four women's groups were represented. This made it impossible to do other than make those questions tentative on the debate schedule. Group houses who were not represented Tuesday should choose their representative immediately. The next meeting will probably be held early in December. At that time representatives must be present as the rules and time limit for debates will be discussed.

Two new cups have been put up for this year's winning teams. It is hoped to state the schedule at the beginning of the second semester.

Mary Catherine Steele, ex-'30, of Coeur d'Alene, was married on October 27 to Frederick J. McGarry of Spokane. After returning from a trip through Canada, the McGarrys will make their home in Spokane. Mrs. McGarry is a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

Church steeples are descended from the tower of Babel, architecturally. The ancient idea was to approach heaven as nearly as possible in worship.

A radio broadcast Saturday over Spokane station KFPY, direct from the University of California stadium at Berkeley, will bring to Idaho fans a description of the game between the Golden Bears and the Vandals. "The broadcast is not by wire report, but is a direct play by play account by a Columbia system announcer," said Graduate Manager George Horton, yesterday. It is assumed that, since all conference games start at 2 o'clock, the broadcast will begin at about 1:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Anderson and Barbee Give Pep Talks to Rooters Before Entering

A peppy and enthusiastic bunch of students met at the Phi Gam corner last night and escorted the Vandals to the station where they entrained for the Golden Bear camp at Berkeley. At the station a spirited rally was held with brisk and snappy university songs, cheers, and Pep Band selections. "Let's go Vandals—we're all behind you and we want to see you bring back the 'bear skin' when you return," said Barney Anderson and Jack Barbee in their respective speeches just before the train pulled out.

"Even though the Vandals have had tough luck and considering too that it was an inopportune time for a rally—being held during the nine-week examinations—there was a good crowd and we were delighted with the enthusiasm shown," said Paul Kerr, yell king, commenting on the rally. "We want, just the same, every rally in the future to be bigger and better."

ASUI Purchases Storage Cabinet For Gem

A large storage cabinet for use in the Gem office has recently been purchased by the ASUI, according to George E. Horton, graduate manager. The cabinet is a tall green metal rectangle with two glass doors. Five wide shelves provide accommodations for old Gems, and any annuals which are received in exchanges with other schools. Previously, these files have been kept in the office of the graduate manager. The new cabinet will help overcome the crowded condition existing there in the outer office. The cabinet can now be seen in the Argonaut-Gem of the Mountain office. The shelves are already well filled with annuals which are kept securely locked behind the locked doors. Easy access to these files will be valuable in references for the make-up of future annuals.

A Worcester, Mass., college professor recently "sprung" a very complex equation on his class. Major O'Connell Finds Idaho Different Than Anticipated

"The country around Moscow is entirely different from what I had expected to find," stated Maj. B. O. O'Connell when asked about his impressions of Moscow. "At the time of the last war I was stationed at Fort George Wright, Spokane, and during this period I had several occasions to make trips over into northern Idaho. When I received orders to come to Moscow I had it in mind as being closely surrounded by wooded hills. Thus, I was greatly surprised by the sight of the rolling hills as I drove into Moscow for the first time by way of Lewiston."

Maj. O'Connell comes this year to the University of Idaho as professor of military science and tactics, after four years at the United States infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia. Previous to this time he was engaged in ROTC detail at New York university and at one time was commandant of Fort Wright in Spokane.

Fort Benning is a relatively new post, modern in every detail, and represents an investment of $30,000,000 on the part of the United States government. It covers approximately 1000 acres and has a population of 9000 people.

Major O'Connell made the trip partly by automobile and partly by boat. He drove from Georgia to New York from Georgia and sailed on an army transport via the Panama Canal to San Francisco, continuing on to Moscow by automobile.

"The most memorable incident of the trip," the major said, "occurred just after landing on the dock at Fort Mason, San Francisco. I was walking along the pier when I was suddenly greeted by a former army sergeant whom I had not seen for 14 years. He had served under me during the war and following the armistice had received his honorable discharge. He jumped out of a truck and ran about a block toward me before I recognized him."

Major O'Connell said that he was pleased with the detail here at the university and with the cordial reception by faculty, students, and the people of Moscow. His reception committee which welcomed him consisted of one student who had been in his CCC camp near Los Angeles a year ago. This man hailed the major as he was leaving the memorial gym shortly after arriving in Moscow.

"I believe the caliber of the students, campus, loyalty of the student body, and the attitude of the school authorities to be far superior to that found in the east," Major O'Connell stated in closing.

collegiate title, and although he has only been out of the infirmary for three days, looks to be in fine shape and able to put up plenty of scrap.

Gene Brado, a 200-pounder, was also there and it is probable that he will substitute for Bill Morrow, who has been laid up for the past week with an infected foot. Brado is a good fighter and will give plenty of opposition to Lind. George Riddie, the Pacific Coast featherweight champion, was shadow boxing in a corner of the room and he states that he is in tip-top shape.

Idaho Fighters In Good Shape

A look at the shower room showed some of the other Idaho men—Luke Parcell, Walt Morgan, Morey Fickes, Ralph Crowley and Earl Spencer—all looking to-be-in-condition-to deal out plenty of hard knocks as well as boxing tonight.

has Morey Fickes on his high horse. Marion Skelton is reported as saying he will take Fickes in the second round, so this bout looks to be a real grudge battle.

Reports from the Cougar camp are to the effect that their men are in excellent shape and ready to mix with the Idaho boxers, George Boyd, their frosh protege and incidentally a hard hitter as well as a clever boxer, is out to upset Denton, which according to fight critics will not be impossible for him to do. Slim Lind will attempt to prove to the Idaho fight fans that the decision he holds over Bill Morrow was fully deserved. Bob Griffiths and Henry Lyons are also ready to show their stuff, and if possible, carry victories back to Pullman.

"Wildcat" Triple "C" To appear

Additional bouts to be staged appear to be good, as the men are the type of fighters that mix it up from bell to bell. Sam "Wildcat" Perry, from the CCC camp has had previous ring experience and from reports, always attempts to live up to his nickname. The other Idaho fighters, although this is their first card, are determined to create a name for themselves in local boxing circles.

This card will run off according to the amateur ruling, in three two-minute rounds, starting at 8 p. m. at the Memorial gymnasium. Admission will be 15 cents for students and 40 cents for all others.

Many Noted People Have Been Entertained by Club

The luncheon in honor of the Cornish Players Tuesday was another of a long series of entertainments sponsored by the English club for distinguished entertainers who have been brought to the university. Under the supervision of Dr. George Morey Miller, the English club has been able to present celebrities before special meetings of the English honorary for the 17 years of its existence.

The late Stoddard King, well known columnist for the Spokesman-Review, made his first public appearance as the guest of honor at an English club reception held 17 years ago in Ridenbaugh Hall. Dr. Miller tells the amusing incident of Mr. King's extreme nervousness on the occasion. His shyness and stage fright became so great that his chief concern was finding a chair rather than entertaining the guests.

Actor Entertained
Another event of importance in the history of the club was the reception given some years ago for Serbian actor, and his wife. After Robert Mantell, the great Shakespeare interpretation of "King Lear" had been presented in the university auditorium, the reception was held in what is now President M. G. Neale's office.

One of the most successful achievements of the English club was the presentation of Charles Rann Kennedy and his wife, Edith Wynne Matthison, in "The Chastening". Mr. Kennedy is the author of "Servant in the House" and many other excellent dramas.

Among the other entertainers featured by the English club have been the Abbey players, one of the three great dramatic companies in the world; "A. E.", the famous Irish poet and publicist; and Gay MacLaren, the versatile impersonator.

The outstanding guest brought before the English club last year was Carl Sandburg. After his appearance at the assembly, he was guest of honor at an evening entertainment at the Blue Bucket for English club members and their guests. Mr. Sandburg sang a number of ballads from his "song-bag" collection with the accompaniment of his guitar.

Grins and Gripes

TO THE EDITOR

Sir: A band is as good as its individual players. Never yet has good looks or personality plus made a band which could play music that inspired its listeners. Musicians, not Beau Brummels or Lord Chestertields, make a band. Good musicians should be preferable to worshippers at the shrine of Esquire.

The widespread fame of Idaho's Pep Band in past years has brought much distinction and praise to this representative group of Idaho musicians. The university has sent the Pep Band throughout the Northwest as musical exponents of our slogan, "Idaho flights." The service rendered by the Pep Band in past years has been indispensable in rousing enthusiasm for athletic contests, and acting as Idaho's official student band.

Has the Pep Band this year lived up to their past reputations? The spectacular one hundred piece Washington State band definitely showed them up at Pullman last Saturday, even to playing our Idaho songs to perfection. They outplayed, outmarched, and outclassed them.

What has caused the Pep Band to fall from the high pinnacle it had attained? As answers: too many personal grudges, too many Beau Brummels, not enough musicians.

Why make the Idaho Pep Band a training school for mediocre high school musicians? Let's have real tryouts which will fill vacancies with musicians, not tin horn, horn toters. Give us men who can play as well as carry their horns to perfection. Give us a Pep Band! G. M. B.

Co-eds at the University of Oklahoma who have expressed themselves on the subject, favor an "ideal man" who a few years ago might have seemed a bit old-fashioned—one, in fact, more like grandfather than anyone else.

CALENDAR COMMITTEE ASKS EARLY SCHEDULING OF DATES

In view of the perennial congestion of events on the calendar during the spring, the calendar committee resolved last year to issue an appeal to organizations to make applications for program dates earlier. The difficulty has been caused not so much by the number of such entertainments—Pep Band, Stunt, Fest, ASUI plays, Military ball, recitals of the music students, and faculty, Taps and Terps, and glee club concert—as by the failure of organizations to stick to a date once assigned them.

The committee recommends strongly that every organization and department in a position to plan ahead will follow the example of Prof. Fred S. Blanchard and set a date as soon as possible toward which they work as a goal. The committee announces that dates once set cannot be changed after March 15, after which time unnecessary confusion will be avoided by a strict adherence to this injunction.

Plain And Fancy Dives Shown By Swimmers

Group on Tour of United States; Will Appear At W.S.C. Saturday

In an evening exhibition last night sponsored by the Hell Divers club, Harry E. Pierson and his Ambassador Hotel Lido Swimming club of Los Angeles gave a complete program of plain and fancy diving.

The troupe was composed of T. N. Tucker, Southeastern A. A. U. champion for four years, Middle Atlantic champion for four years, middle states champion for one year, second junior national finalist 1934, and senior national 1934; Bill Lewin, former Canadian national high dive champion and a place winner in the British empire games; Harry E. Pierson, coach of the India swimming team for the Olympic games 1932 and a judge of diving selections for the American Olympic team 1932. A fourth member of the troupe, Jack Rath, was unable to perform, having recently suffered a broken leg.

The group, which is on a tour of the United States, gave an exhibition in the afternoon at the Washington State college and are scheduled to appear there again Saturday night.

Harry E. Pierson, leader of the troupe, has instructed in swimming a great number of movie notables, among whom were Joe Penner, John Boles, Dick Arlen, Charles Farrell, Ted Florito, and Minna Gombel.

Members of the Hell Divers introduced the program with a relay race between two picked teams.

30 tubs of water for one washing!

"No wonder our clothes are so clean!" said Mrs. S.

YOUR laundress probably thinks she is unusually sanitary if she changes the water four times. But here at our laundry we use over six hundred gallons of rainwater to every washing. We provide a separate washing formula for every type of fabric and every grade of color, with the proper temperatures, soaps and baths to conserve the fabric.

That, as we explained to Mrs. S., is one reason why clothes washed our way are cleaner and last longer.

NEED MORE ENERGY?...

GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

POPULAR NEW YORK DEBUTANTE: "Smoking a Camel is the quickest way to relieve fatigue that I know," says Miss Mimi Richardson. "It always refreshes me. And I love the taste of Camels. They seem to be milder and smoother!"

LEAF TOBACCO EXPERTS AGREE:

"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

DAVID H. JARVIS, '36—STUDENT OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERING. "Poring over charts and figures for that Mechanical Engineering degree makes a fellow pretty tired at times—but smoking Camels helps a lot," reports David Jarvis. "When I feel my alertness and energy slipping away, I light a Camel. In no time I lose that 'all in' feeling. I like the taste of Camels better, too. It is a fact that Camels are different—richer, milder. And I can smoke them one after another without ever bothering my nerves."

to place before every newspaper reader the fact in this all-important question. "What is needed is a series of serious world-wide studies by educational institutions in France, England, and the United States, the chief democracies of the world, which should take the lead in making international news not only the sinews of public opinion, but the sinews of peace."—Brown Herald.

Lights!—Camera!

Columns of newspaper space are devoted each year to the highest scorers in intercollegiate football. It's quite a natural human failing. The crowd always follows the fellow who carries the ball. Figuratively, that is true all through the social scheme. The men who make the sensational plays are the ones who usually get the credit. The thousands who do the blocking, who run the interference, don't get much attention. The general gets the credit for a military victory. It is the man in the ranks who does the fighting. The captain of industry wins acclaim and wealth. His workmen, thousands of them, are not heard of as a rule. It's what the public wants. The commonplace, routine tasks of life are hard to applaud, even though they are highly important. The public likes to watch the scorer. But when the scorer fails—when the general is defeated—when the captain of industry guesses wrong and his wealth vanishes. . . . Well, that's when the man in the ranks may decide that even if he doesn't get in the spotlight he's a pretty lucky fellow after all.—Spokane Chronicle.

should boost him a notch higher toward stardom. at the Vandal—The story of the life—and loves—of Egypt's most famous queen, Cleopatra, is probably the most romantic theme ever to be printed on the pages of fiction. Hundreds of thousands of words have been written on this subject, and now Cecil B. DeMille, pioneer motion picture director, has taken the noted queen's last and most important love and with this as a basis for his screen story, has produced Claudette Colbert as Cleopatra which is now playing. Starting Sunday is "She Loves Me Not," the smash stage hit, starring Bing Crosby and Mirlam Hopkins, with Kitty Carlisle featured. The story depicts the escape of a night-club dancer from the scene of a Philadelphia murder, her concealment at Princeton and her subsequent entry into motion pictures with a wild fanfare of publicity, and at the same time develops a tender romance between Bing Crosby, as student, and Kitty Carlisle, as the dean's daughter.

We attribute the lack of activity this week to the fact that all our little cut-ups were busy with nine-weeks examinations, but we predict that this weekend will be very lively and we should have some choice bits for the next edition. Oral and written quizzes, textbook learning, stereotyped recitations in classrooms and final examinations will all fall before the new system which has been instituted at Olivet College.

They're Our Own Noses

Noses are quite as useful parts of our anatomy as they are ornamental. Some are more decorative than others, but all have a definite and important function to perform. Cutting other people up is bad enough. When we starting committing mayhem upon our own persons it is time something be done! We are slicing great chunks off our own snozzles by failing to back our athletic teams, refusing to participate in yell rallies, and generally making it impossible for the Vandals to count on us for support, unless the student body checks up right now, looks ahead a little, and stops its selfish attitude at once, the future of athletics at Idaho is doomed for many more years than we care to think about. Now while the team is gone to California we want to have a talk with the students. The team has been disgusted with your attitude, and it has a right to be. You have booed our own players, practically yelled for the other team, and done everything to defeat Idaho that a spectator can possibly do. We have watched the poorest "rooting" section Idaho has ever had sit silently by while eleven men fought their hearts out to bring home a victory from the school across the line. In spite of the students they put up a wonderful battle. What kind of a sales talk do you think those boys are going to have for Idaho when they meet prospective athletes and students around the state this summer? They certainly won't ask them to come here when we can't give ordinary support to the team we have now. Southern Cal's Trojans are drifting farther and farther down in the lists of conference standings. They aren't getting student support either. There is an example well worth watching. We can't afford to let Idaho experience be our teacher. Experience is too cruel and her punishment, next year and the year after, too lasting. We can't afford a major athletic depression! Forget your personal prejudices! It's not only this year we must think of, but the next, and the next. Before long it won't be noses. Idaho's whole face is going to go! It's a lot to ask of most of you to think, but something revolutionary must be done and it may as well begin with each of us. Let's stop swinging meat axes and start pulling together! Incidentally, let's all meet the team when it comes home from Berkeley.

Good Point

Urging a world-wide study of international journalism to determine whether unrestricted dissemination of news is not one of the best guarantees of peace, Carl W. Ackerman, dean of Columbia's School of Journalism, recently proposed that the Morningside Heights institution should become a clearing house for such a survey. Dean Ackerman cites the suppression of 1000 newspapers in Germany under the Nazi regime and the universal influence of dictatorships through the world as indications of the present trend toward serious infringement upon the rights of a free press. With these threats menacing honest presentation of important news, and with the increasing necessity for close communication between nations, it is clear that something must be done to enable journalism to continue its proper course. Newspapers in every land are the crucibles in which the diplomatic and economic policies of governments are subjected to the acid test of popular opinion. When facts are garbled to suit the policies of a bureaucracy or the ambitions of a dictator, this function of journalism becomes invalid. Certainly the delicate health of world peace today demands every precaution against disturbances. A forthright, uninhibited reporting of vital news is essential. Through such a survey as Dean Ackerman proposes, we can discover how great the need for a free press must be. We heartily endorse the movement

It is the gripping story of a young bank robber, who, against his will, is turned loose on a college campus to play football and become a gridiron hero for "good old Belford College!" Drama—pathos—human interest—and a fair sprinkling of wholesome humor—all these are to be found in the new picture, "Straight is the Way" which opens Sunday. Franchot Tone tops the cast with his portrayal of Benny, the boy just out of prison. It is an entirely new characterization for Tone, one proving his ability to handle difficult dramatic roles and

BERKELEY'S

Foggy bay district will be the scene of Vandal activities this weekend. Tomorrow's game marks the last schedule between the Vandals and the Golden Bears, at least for a few years. Last year's tight squeak, upon which occasion the Golden Gate's "Bearly" managed to eke out a lone touchdown win in the last minutes of the game, frightened the boys down south so badly that they refused to place Idaho on their schedule for 1935. Just a case of a so called "breather" team becoming too much of a stubber for awkward Bear paws. The same thing happened with our neighbors across the line, California refusing to take Washington State on this year because of the danger of a mauling from the fighting Cougars. This was to be Cal's big year, but something bogged down someplace and the Bears have failed to show up in the expected fashion.

to facts, history, and whatnot, tomorrow's game down south should end up with both clubs staggeringly clutching a goose egg. Back in 1931 the first time the Vandals mixed with the Bears, California came out of it with a three touchdown win. In '32 the margin was whittled down to two touchdowns. A further paring last season cut the Bear victory to one touchdown, and according to precedent, a tie game should be on the books for tomorrow. That doesn't mean that Idaho should win next year, for the simple reason that, as stated before, there won't be a Idaho-California clash in 1935.

—SS—

"NAVY BILL"

Ingram, Bear whip-cracker, is taking no chances these days. According to the latest dope from the Golden Gate, Ingram has decided to keep Arleigh Williams, three-star Bear back, in cotton batting until the Stanford game. And well he ought. Practically everything accomplished so far this season has been due to the kicking, passing, or running ability of the versatile Williams. But we'll bet on this. If the going gets tough for a certain Berkeley outfit, a gentleman by the name of Williams will be playing ball for California in no time.

should get their money's worth tonight. Coach Louie August has arranged a really good card for the very nominal assessment of fifteen centavos, which should bring out even the most frugal "Sandys" and "Maes" around the diggings. Louie has several new boys who have been showing up in great style, and with Louie Denton on the card, plenty of excitement should be furnished. "That price of fifteen cents can't last unless the students turn out in good shape," warned August. "If they don't support us well enough at that, we'll have to raise it to two-bits, which is the price all the other schools in the northwest charge."

—SS—

have a tough assignment tomorrow, when they meet the Cougar Kittens at Pullman. Always strong, the Cougar yearlings are reported by Washington State frosh coach Carl Schlademan as the best yearling club at Pullman in years. Cheney normal was barely able to turn them back 6 to 0, while the teachers lapped the Vandal frosh 26 to 6. But that doesn't mean anything. Coach Otto Anderson's green lids held the strong Gonzaga frosh to a 6 to 6 tie, while Gonzaga's yearlings dumped the Kittens 12 to 7. Which all goes to show that you can't tell anything by comparative scores, price tags, or the price of cat steak in Pullman.

—SS—

back to last week's game. Dr. John R. Neely, dean of Spokane and northwest timekeepers, came up with some shocking statistics. While Idaho and Washington State battled through a total of 136 plays in their two hour and 20 minute engagement at Pullman, the ball was in play only 14 minutes and five seconds! The average time for each play was 6.2 seconds, and the average time for an incomplete forward pass play was 4.2 seconds. Now if Dr. Neely had also compiled how many grey hairs were sprouted by the gentlemen of the press box, who were trying to follow some of those incomplete passes through too many feet of pea soup fog, we'd be even more indebted to him.

—SS—

back a little further. A few weeks ago Jack Barbee got a "bird" from the Idaho student body for tackling little Hoobler, C. of I atom quarterback, rather roughly. Maybe the students think this game of football is a "pink tea" or somethin'. But after all Jack just did his duty, and did it well—he really deserved a hand.

After he tossed Hoob to the ground he said he felt like patting the little devil on the back when he jumped up ready for more. Following the game they had a hand shake and a good laugh about the situation at the Bucket. Just couple of Idaho chappies, trying to get along.

—SS—

CREIGHTON

Idaho's intersectional opponent at Omaha on Thanksgiving day, has something in the way of a passing threat too. In a game a few weeks out on top by chalking up... tally came in the go they were trailing 6 to 0 with three minutes to go, but finally came last ten seconds, via a pass which netted 60 yards. Not bad, boys, not bad.

—SS—

there's that one on Theron Swede, Feets, Gladstone, Suitecase, or what have you) Ward. He was visiting the lead-silver smelter at Kellogg, when a "smart" employee asked him to lift two lead pigs which were lying on top of each other at Ward's feet. Swede bent over nonchalantly, like you or I would pick up a feather, and holding the pigs chest high, asked "Where do you want 'em?" Was that "wise" employee's mouth wide open, or was it! The darn things only weigh 100 pounds each!

—SS—

diving exhibition, presented by the Ambassador Hotel Lido swimming club, was what might be called an exhibition of the first water, and call it punning if you like. For the benefit of those who might have missed out on the show yesterday, the same act will be put on in the men's gym at Pullman Saturday night, for the same price of two-bits, the fourth part of a dollar.

Freshman Team Primed For Annual Clash With Kittens

For the second time this year a University of Idaho football team meets a W. S. C. team, when the Vandal yearlings play the Cougar Kittens Saturday morning at Pullman. After suffering a 6 to 0 defeat from the hands of the Boise Junior college last week, the Babes are gunning to win their last game. Earlier in the season all the dope pointed to a W. S. C. victory; Cheney normal just nosing out the Kittens 6 to 0 while they won from Idaho 26 to 6. After the Cheney game however, the Babes tied the Gonzaga frosh 6 to 6 and last week the Gonzagans won from the Kittens 12 to 7.

The two lines are nearly the same in weight and power and it will be a victory for the team that can show the headiest backfield. The Kittens have produced a team that is especially strong in bucking the line and have developed a good aerial offense. They will be depending on Matheson, Swanson, Simmons, and Smith to do most of their ball packing and passing.

Tough Workouts

This past week coach Otto Anderson has been drilling his boys in some of the toughest workouts they have had this year. He has been running them through plays, perfecting many little faults in each, and has still been drilling fundamentals. The Babes have also been perfecting their passing attack.

The absence of Jere Maupin, triple threat quarter, due to two cracked ribs, will materially lessen the chances for an Idaho victory. The passes from Maupin to Absher have been important factors in the Babe offense all season and with Maupin warming the bench, Idaho prospects are not too bright. Louie Rich, powerful half who nearly won the B. J. C. game last week, is also in fighting trim and raring to add a cougar skin to his list of pelts.

Vandals To Battle California Tomorrow In Final Conference Tilt

Defeated by Narrow Margin Last Year; Nutting Left Home

Intent on bringing back the pelts of California's Golden Bears, whom they meet Saturday, 29 Vandals boarded the train Wednesday night for Berkeley. Memories of the narrow defeat at the hands of

BILL INGRAM

"Navy Bill" Ingram's charges last year were uppermost in the minds of team members, who are determined that a conference victory for Idaho shall be chalked up at the expense of Sunny California. Dick Nutting, veteran guard, who will not have a chance to play in the final conference game of his career, because of torn ligaments sustained in the Cougar fracas last week, is the only member of the squad in the sick bay, the rest of the club being in good trim for Saturday's tilt.

A new member of the traveling squad was James Keyes, 177 pound sophomore tackle. He is a son of Karl Keyes of Council, Idaho, a famous old Idaho fullback, who weighed 165 pounds, and who was credited in newspaper stories with having punted a ball 35 yards while three Oregon players hung on his back in a game at Portland in 1907.

The Vandal aerial attack, which, after much bogging down in the first half, again started to function in the last frame of the W. S. C. game last week, will be the main spring in the Idaho ticker against California. Saturday's "Millions" in the foggy bay district will have the opportunity to train eyes long accustomed to fog on the 40 and 50 yard heaves of McCue to Iverson and Anderson, pass receiving Vandal ends.

Holmes Starting Quarter at California

ington State, and who has been performing well in relief roles in the last few games, is slated for the starting quarterback berth down south. Two years ago, as regular frosh quarter, he gained a reputation as a ball packer, and of late has been showing up in great style.

Filling the shoes of John Norby, star in the California game last year, will be Paul Berg at the defensive half post. It was Norby who, time after time last year, crashed through the heavy Bear line to spill Cal ball packers for losses or no gain.

Latest reports from California indicate that Arleigh Williams, brilliant half on the Bear club, will not be in action against the Vandals. Coach Ingram is taking no chances on the versatile backfield ace not being in shape for the annual game between Stanford and California next week. A true triple threat, Williams combines great passing and running with an especially stand-out brand of punting, his long spirals having helped the Bears out of several holes already this season.

Hopes For Win Depend on Bears

Vandal hopes for bringing back the winning tally depend largely upon how far Bill Ingram's boys have come up in the last few weeks. Potentially the strongest club in the conference, the Californians have been playing disjointed ball all season, but with the win over U. S. C. last week acting as balm to low Bear spirits, tomorrow's game may find them at a peak. In the event that the Californians are "on", Idaho's chances to come out on top look less optimistic. Coach Leo B. Calland and his assistant, Glen "Red" Jacoby, accompanied the squad along with Trainer Ralph Hutchinson, Student Manager William Hunt, and David Kendrick, president of the student body.

Moscow High School Meets Boise In North-South Fight

Intersectional Battle Called for One-thirty o'Clock Saturday

Boise and Moscow high schools play tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on MacLean field in what will be the first meeting between north and south Idaho teams in eight years. While the game cannot be said to settle the state championship, it should go a long way towards deciding the heated controversy concerning which end of the state plays the best high school football.

The hour was advanced to insure four quarters of the game under clear skies, anticipating that the daily descent of fog each afternoon might continue to Saturday.

A special price of 40 cents is being made for university students. Regular admission is 75 cents. Moscow business houses will close for the game.

Coach Gale Mix's Bears are favored to win the tussle because of their more impressive record. Moscow hasn't lost a regularly scheduled game in three years, her only setback being at the hands of the Jefferson high school of Portland in a post-season game two years ago.

While the Boise outfit cannot boast of any such undefeated record, Coach Dusty Kline, former Idaho star, has developed a fast, powerful eleven in the Capitol city, and should give the Bears their toughest game of the season.

Coach Mix has been shifting his boys around in practice sessions during the past week in an effort to put drive into the Bear attack. The Moscow mentor is promising a brand new assortment of wide open trick plays to spring on the Braves tomorrow.

PRICE OUT ON H. S. GAME

A special reduced price of 40 cents will be charged university students at the Moscow-Boise high school football game to be played at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon on MacLean field. Admission for townspeople will be 75 cents. Tickets will be sold at the gate.

Thru Conference Camps with Duffin & Daly

If this column should be forced to become but a chauvinistic essay dedicated to a local athletic activity, then we should submit the terse but forecast of future football games. Consequently, if there has been a note touching statement—We resign!

The purpose of this column, as we interpret it, is to give an unbiased of irrelevant bitterness in its content, we apologize for it. It was certainly not directed at the "I" club. Being underclassmen, we profoundly admire and respect every member in that organization. "Rather, if there has been such a note, and we are assured that such is the case, it was directed against the standing that the future seemed to hold for Idaho in the sports world. And that, in view of the purpose of the column, has also been irrelevant and we will again apologize!"

Perhaps you are surprised at our humble attitude. When one remembers the "Idaho 6, Washington State 19" prophecy, it is rather surprising. Yet, having had lots of time this week to realize how near we came to complete oblivion, we have concluded that hereinafter we would drop the role of proud prognosticators and become, as Bluebeard became, timid has-beens.

From this date on, when there is any doubt as to the returns of a game, we shall place a question mark in parentheses after the heading, husily: (?).

All in all, though, we are plenty sorry that we predicted that Washington State game as we did. From the glimpses of the battle that we caught through the fog we decided that our Vandals were determined to keep the reputation of two conceited columnists "right up in there." Every game we have called for Idaho has been played in the manner we predicted. Perhaps that was a handicap in the Washington game. But it won't be with California!

If what we say in this column makes any difference in the outcome of the Vandal games, and we admit that it seems to, then, Idaho will beat California 12 to 0 next Saturday! She can do it; she will do it! And they won't need any "oh gee" yells to help!

The game will be broadcast over KFPY in Spokane. See what the California think of our Vandals and the score!

Other games, of but minor importance, are: Oregon, 13—U. S. C., 0; Stanford, 26—Olympic club, 0; Washington, 28—Puget Sound, 6; Oregon State will beat Montana three touchdowns.

Grades To Be Issued Thursday Afternoon To House Presidents

The suspense is ended! The date of execution has been set! Prepare for the worst, you unhappy students. The nine-weeks grades—among other things—will be out next Thursday afternoon, and presidents of group houses may receive them by calling at the registrar's office between the hours of 3 and 5.

Although Miss Ella L. Olesen, is away on her vacation, her office force has gallantly declared itself willing to carry on in her absence. Can nothing stop the impending disaster of Sunday night study-tables and week-end library duty which are staring us in the face?

TWENTY WOMEN PLEDGED AT W. A. A. MEETING TUESDAY

Pledging of new girls to W. A. A. was the main feature of the W. A. A. meeting held Tuesday. Those girls now wearing the blue and gold pledge bows are: Julia Moore, Ruth Smith, Neva Eisinger, Frances Eldridge, Lillian Larson, Roberta McKissick, Marjorie Blaine, Helen Jewell, Frances Wakefield, Kathryn Katzenmeyer, Helen Heiner, Mary Rosebaugh, Jo Mitchell, Iola Grover, Pat Espe, Lucille Nelson, Ruth Miller, Pearl Summers and Edna Larson.

The W. A. A. room in the women's gym was discussed. The women have realized the success of their efforts toward securing a special furnished room for their meetings. This room is nearly complete and will be ready for use soon.

In order to further interest in W. A. A. and to initiate the volleyball season properly, a spread will take place in the women's gym next Tuesday from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Mabel Locke, faculty advisor of W. A. A., announces that an interesting program has been arranged and that a good attendance is expected. Each woman will be charged 10 cents for refreshments.

Sophomores Win

Despite the tradition that the freshmen usually win the speedball tournament, the sophomores showed their superiority by defeating the seniors 11 to 0 and were proclaimed winners for the season. This game ended the speedball season, and attention was turned toward horse-shoes. When individual scores were taken, the following girls ranked in the highest third: Ida Allen, Maxine Andrus, Ethel Briggs, Edith Brown, Carol Campbell, Evange-line Carlson, Neva Eisinger, Eileen Exelton, Ruth Evans, Marjorie Glenn, Dorothy Hohnhorst, Esther Hunt, Marion Jensen, Helen Jewel, Jo Mitchell, Roberta McKissick, Gertrude Olsen, Jane Post, Dorothy Reed, Ruth Smith, Marion Swanson, Anna Sweeley, and Frances Wakefield.

The volleyball season is next in order. It commences next Wednesday and continues until January 11, at which time another inter-class tournament will take place.

"HOLLY-DAY" TO BE HELD DECEMBER 15

A "Holly day" will be celebrated by the sophomore class, December 15. The class will put on an assembly and sponsor a dance for the occasion. All second year students will wear sprigs of holly to carry out the idea.

"This is the original sophomore 'Holly day,'" said Winston Goss, president, "and it will be held annually. We will have another meeting Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in Science 110 to appoint committees and make further plans. The dance will probably be in the women's gym."

The University of Michigan has more student fliers than any other college in the country.

A dinner and initiation to the Maya fraternity, architectural honorary, will be held Monday night at the Moscow hotel at 5:30 o'clock.

Howard Cook and Sheldon Witter are to be initiated by Hugh Burnett assisted by Eldon Melzian, faculty advisor to the organization. Burnett is the only member of the association left in school this year.

Throughout the year, Maya will sponsor architectural exhibits, banquets, and field trips, and will work toward the unification of the architectural department.
