

The Golden Fleece

JUSTIFIED
Congratulations are in order for our distinguished chief Bucketeer for putting on the campus the first humor magazine that has justified its existence in a long time. There was the usual run of insipid gags, but it is gratifying to know that there are students who have genuine talent along Blue Bucket lines. A few more issues like the last one and we might even be convinced that Bucket publication should continue—a question of some doubt with us for some time.

ARGUMENTS
Chief Bucketeer had a pretty good stand on those insane arguments advanced by Idaho boosters in Boise who want Graduate Manager Horton to schedule a game down there for next season. He gave several good reasons why nothing of the kind should be done and left several unsaid. At the risk of boring some of you, may we repeat his best point for the benefit of those who may not include the worthy Bucketeer in their reading habits:

"The gate receipts of a game in Boise might pay one-third of the total expense. The students at Idaho pay the rest out of the ASUI treasury." (Note to IBIB: See Bucket for some other reasons.)

PLEADERS
Add to the Boiseites' plea that of the sponsors of a "University of Idaho game in Twin Falls in 1935" movement launched last week by L. A. Thomas, Kimberly superintendent of schools.

DRINKERS
WE UNDERSTAND SPOKANE WAS OVER-RUN WITH FIRE-CRACKER-DRINKERS OVER THE WEEKEND. YOU GUESSED IT, PHILBERT—NO GOOD AFTER THE 4TH.

SHOCKED
Aware of the foregone conclusion that an athlete must forsake his sheepskin for a pigskin if he is to become adept in the art he possesses, we were, nevertheless, distressingly shocked to learn that eight out of 11 of the frosh football regulars went or were continued on school probation at the nine weeks. Does this smack of the old cry of "over-emphasis?" Right here on the Idaho campus too, of all places! There are explanations, of course. Maybe the Idaho faculty should recognize the problem and make due allowances. Do we hear echoes of that disreputable old Idaho ditty that ends up with this strain?—"We're here to college but we're not here for knowledge."

MODELS
Never a cloud without a silver lining. . . Never a brick without a bouquet. . . We can't pass the frosh football scholarship situation without a word of commendation for that little tow-headed triple-threat quarterback, Jere Washington Maupin. Besides being a top-notch varsity prospect, we hear he pulled down a rosy 6.0 for a nine-weeks' average in the engineering school.

To Scholar Maupin and the other two members of the frosh team—the one who entered on probation and got off at the nine weeks and the one who wasn't on probation to begin with and stayed that way—our congratulations. May they serve as models of industry to their less scholastically inclined brethren.

UNPRINTABLE
In "Time" of Nov. 26 appears a letter from Francis A. Thomson, proxy of Montana School of Mines and former mines dean at Idaho, in which he adds an amusing incident to the life story of "that prince of good fellows—American mining engineer, Italian nobleman, soldier, and ambassador—Prince Gelasio Caetani." Quite unquotable in "The Argonaut" because of the profane words that that remarkable gentleman is reported to have used on the occasion of a commencement banquet on this very campus but perfectly proper for "Time," the letter, nevertheless, should be of intense interest to Idaho students, not by reason of the humorous incident but because of the deceased nobleman's connection with our own university. If you don't look it up it's your own loss. (Time—Nov. 5 & Nov. 26.)

Supreme Court Upholds College Military Training

The right of the University of California and other land-grant colleges to compel students to take military training was upheld today by the supreme court, according to a dispatch received here from Washington, D. C.

The unanimous decision was delivered by Justice Butler. It sustained the action of the university in suspending two students who declined to take the training because of conscientious objections.

Elbert W. Hamilton and W. Alonzo Reynolds, Jr., entering the University in 1933, asked to be exempted from military training on the ground that they believed training for war was immoral, in violation of the tenets of the Methodist Episcopal church, and violated the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war.

Seniors To Frolic On Saturday Night

Tickets On Sale Wednesday For $1.25; Feature Egyptian Idea

The Senior Ball to be held at the Blue Bucket Saturday is one of the highlights on the social calendar this year. The Blue Devils will furnish the music for the dance. Tickets will be sold through salesmen at each group house at $1.25 a couple starting Wednesday.

Students are urged to get their tickets as soon as possible. The dance is not an upperclassmen's dance as all Freshmen and sophomores are equally welcome to join in the fun, say those in charge.

Egyptian Theme
The hall will be decorated to carry out an Egyptian idea. The elaborate programs are of white suede with a picture of the Memorial gymnasium on the front.

"This is to be a gala affair and will draw a large crowd," said Brennan Davis, chairman. "Everyone should try to be there."

Kappa Sigma Leading In Men's Section; Deadline Soon

With the first photograph returns tabulated, the same usual slowness in securing Gem sittings prevails. Kappa Sigma leads the fraternities with 60 per cent of their pictures taken while Alpha Phi leads the sororities with 86 per cent perfect.

"There is no fooling about the deadline this year," says Frank Bevington, assistant business manager of the Gem, "as after the final date no pictures will be taken." The Gem staff urges everyone to make their picture appointments at once since all pictures are paid for and every student should use his ticket.

Town men or women may secure tickets at either Hutchinson's or Sturner's studios.

About 125 At Scabbard And Blade Convention

About 125 representatives of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary for military men, attended the biennial convention held this year at the Netherland Plaza hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio. Gerald Fogle, first sergeant and the Idaho representative, has just returned from the convention.

According to Fogle, many prominent men were present at the convention. They included Charles A. Taylor and Leo M. Cook, two of the founders of Scabbard and Blade; Lt. Col. Ralph C. Bishop, secretary of Civilian Military Educational fund; National Commander James E. Van Zandt, Veteran of Foreign Wars; and Major A. J. Bowley, commanding general of the 5th corps.

Condie Says Officials May Retain Calland

No Formal Consideration of Situation Has Been Made

Regents Will Meet Soon

Little Likelihood of Discussion of Changes in Coaches However

In a press dispatch from Boise received here Monday, John W. Condie, state superintendent of public instruction, said that he believed the board of regents of the university of which he is a member, will vote to retain Leo Calland as football coach and director of athletics.

The board recognizes the work Calland has done in organizing a broad athletic program which includes nearly every student at the university, Condie said.

"As to whether Calland will get another contract," Condie added, "that is another question as we rarely give contracts to instructors at the university. They are given contracts when they are first employed and thereafter they just continue on without a contract. That may be the case with Calland."

The coach's contract expires next August, the superintendent said. Condie said he knew of no applicants for Calland's position and he added that if any had been presented they likely would be in the hands of President M. G. Neale at the university.

He said members of the board are "very much in support of Calland" and he expressed the belief that the student body also approved of him.

Not At Fault
"There may have been some complaint from the alumni that he has not turned out winning teams," Condie continued, "but that may not be his fault. He is in a conference competing with schools which have dollars to spend for athletics where Idaho has only cents."

He said the board of education has not considered formally the possibility of a change of conferences for the university. Condie commented, however, that "in the Rocky Mountain Conference the school would be more nearly in with its class."

Participation in the Rocky Mountain Conference, he said, would be more expensive because of travel to Utah and Colorado, the home states of most of the members.

Condie said he was expressing only his own views, adding that the board had not formally considered the matter. The board will meet in Boise December 17, he said, but he commented that it was unlikely there would be much discussion of the coaching situation.

When approached for statements in the light of superintendent Condie's remarks, neither M. G. Neale, president of the university, nor Coach Calland would make any comment.

Dean McArdle is also scheduled to speak before a general assembly and also at the forester's banquet.

Vandal Rates All-American Mention

BOB McCUE, WHO HAS been an outstanding Vandal threat all season because of his famed passing ability, was on the delivering end of the 36-yard pass which scored the second touchdown for Idaho in their Thanksgiving day victory over Creighton. McCue has received honorable mention on nearly all the All-Coast teams selected this fall. He has one more year of varsity competition.

Idaho Women Participate In Triangular Debate

Varsity Debaters Leave For Walla Walla to Compete With W. S. C. and Whitman

Four women of the varsity debate team will leave for Walla Walla this coming Wednesday to participate in a triangular debate meet between Whitman, Washington State college, and Idaho. The women are Ann Sweeley, Emma Lewis, Josephine Mitchell, and Virginia Merrick, debate manager. The question is—Resolved: That the United States set a maximum limit on incomes and inheritances. Each team will debate twice on the affirmative and the negative.

Debates to be Broadcast

The debates will last all day Thursday with one or two debates being broadcast. The women's team will meet Mr. Whitehead, Lewis Orland, and Cecil Great-house, who have been debating in Salt Lake City and several of the schools along the way. The women accompanied by Mrs. R. Hall, will be gone from Wednesday through Friday. The judges of the debates will be professors from the three colleges, and the decision will be announced Thursday night.

Alpha Lambda Delta Gives Informal Tea For Freshman Women

Members of Alpha Lambda Delta, underclasswomen's scholastic honorary, were hostesses at an informal tea Tuesday evening at Hays hall.

Approximately 50 freshman women who had a 5.0 grade or above were invited. Vivian Reed, president of the honorary, welcomed the guests in behalf of the members. She urged the guests to raise their grades to 5.5 or better, which is the standard set for membership in this organization. She also urged them to participate in numerous activities.

Miss Fernie French gave a short talk. Bob Parker gave a series of readings. Mrs. M. G. Neale, an honorary member, also was present.

Dr. Hubert Goes To Washington

To Discuss Blister Rust Work at National Entomology Bureau

Dr. E. E. Hubert has left for Washington, D. C., where he will attend a hearing of the national bureau of entomology and plant quarantine called for an impartial discussion of the blister rust control work.

This bureau has recently been separated from the bureau of plant industry and placed under the direction of Lee Strong, who has arranged for this hearing, at which interests throughout the nation may voice their opinions freely.

Represents Three Interests
Dr. Hubert will represent three interests: the school of forestry, the university, and the North Idaho Forest Protective association, the latter paying a part of his expenses.

The University of Idaho is especially concerned with the outcome of this hearing since it is the possessor of 386,000 acres of timber, a large part of which is white pine. Dr. Hubert is a particularly valuable representative for this mission since he is the only technical expert from the west according to Dean Richard E. McArdle of the School of Forestry.

President Hears Graduate Speak

E. K. Lindley, '20, Addresses University Prexies' Meeting

The president of the University of Idaho had the pleasant experience last Thursday night of hearing one of the most distinguished graduates of the institution deliver the principal address before the annual banquet of the Association of Presidents of State Universities at Washington, D. C. The speaker was Ernest K. Lindley, a member of the class of 1920, and now Washington correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune and one of the foremost political analysts in the national capital.

"Mr. Lindley's address on the subject 'The President, Franklin D. Roosevelt' was a genuine classic, said President Neale upon his return Saturday morning. Dr. Neale, accompanied by Dean Iddings of the college of agriculture, attended national conventions in Washington. Both attended the sessions of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, November 19 to 21. At the conclusion of this meeting Dean Iddings returned home through southern Idaho, visiting extension offices in that part of the state and arriving in Moscow Friday. Dr. Neale remained in Washington for the second convention, November 21 to 23, also returning through southern Idaho and attending the state educational association meeting at Boise. He also visited the southern branch.

Visited With Him
"I enjoyed a most pleasant visit with Ernest Lindley," said Dr. Neale. "He was most anxious that I bring his regards to all of his friends in Moscow. He is anxious to visit Moscow and there is a chance that he may be out this way in the spring."

The young man who is making such a big name for himself is the son of former president Lindley, now chancellor at the University of Kansas. His book, "The Roosevelt Revolution," was one of the first and most authoritative treatises on the "New Deal." Dr. Neale reports that a new book in the same field has just been completed. Lindley is a regular contributor to outstanding national magazines.

Large Savings Effected Thru Co-op Buying

Alpha Kappa Psi Is Investigating Pool Buying by Co-op Dormitories

May Reduce House Bills

Co-op Organizations Have Proved Successful on Oregon State Campus

That substantial savings are being made through pool buying of food products by the "co-op" dormitories was noticed by some members of Alpha Kappa Psi. These savings are leading to great reductions in board bills. Believing that such savings would be possible through "co-op" action by fraternities and sororities, Alpha Kappa Psi has been investigating the opportunities in this field with the idea that such savings if they could be effected would be passed along to members of organized houses in the form of reduced house bills.

"It has been discussed that there might be a possibility that such an organization might well be fostered on the Idaho campus. It was found that the problem has been discussed here on a number of occasions during recent years. The failure of those discussions was attributed to the fact that an impartial organization has never sponsored a definite program or that the plans presented to the groups for approval were sponsored by an individual for his own personal gains. As a professional project, Alpha Kappa Psi is endeavoring to determine a feasible plan.

Committees Formed
The members and pledges have been divided into committee groups. One committee has been formulating a plan for a corporate business organization. It has been the aim of this committee to formulate a plan of business organization that is financially sound, that meets the legal requirements, and that is devoid of campus political influence.

Another committee has been investigating the sources of food supplies from which such an organization might buy, and the relative prices at which these goods may be obtained. A third committee is working on solution of problems that might arise in connection with the operation of co-operative business organization. A general committee is supervising the general operation of the work.

Since the work began the members of the various committees have made extensive studies of these various fields. They have familiarized themselves with the structure and operations of similar organizations at other schools. They have investigated the costs of operation of various representative houses on the campus, and the prices paid by those house managers for their produce as compared with the prices at which these goods might have been obtained by pool buying. They have endeavored to understand the basic economic justification of such a co-operative.

It has been found that there are

Scottish Players To Be Featured At Assembly

"The Cotter's Saturday Night" to be Enacted For Students December 11

The Scottish Musical players will present something different in plays at the assembly Tuesday, December 11, from 10 to 12 o'clock. The play to be presented is "The Cotter's Saturday Night," adapted from Robert Burns' immortal poem.

"This promises to be a real treat for the students, and one well worth their while," said Dean T. S. Kerr, chairman of the public events committee.

"The Cotter's Saturday Night" gives a realistic glimpse of the simple pleasures of the Scotch country folk, their naturalness and sincerity, and best of all, the lilting Scotch ballads that have lived and been loved through the years, all delightfully and differently presented.

We Nominate

For having "what it takes" in the face of the adverse criticism which it has been forced to put up with since the middle of the season we pick the 1934 Vandal football squad. Thanksgiving day it played a not-so-little Creighton football team off its feet and wound up the year by taking a 13 to 0 victory.

Beginning after the Gonzaga game, condemnations of every kind came from every conceivable source for the team and its coaches. Most of them came from those ever present Idaho "supporters" who have to have something to gripe about. A few honestly thought they knew what they were talking about. The major proportion knew nothing about it, but had to say something because "it was being done."

That criticism had its effect on the campus and its instigators should be satisfied. Never before in the history of the student body has it been so demoralized and spiritless as this year. The students couldn't be told that their selfish attitude could cost dollars and games, now and in the future. Harder than any game on the football field was the struggle on the part of the team to throw aside the desire to toss in the sponge and call it quits.

Herculean as the task was, the Vandal squad chose to ignore the scathing criticism of its "supporters" and its resultant effect on the Idaho student body, and finish the season with as good a brand of ball as the cooperation of its 30 odd number could turn out. It did a good job. A reflection of the student body's feeling still persisted, however. We feel sure that, had it not done so, a number of points could have been added to Idaho's scores in every game played thereafter.

The Creighton game was the last gridiron battle under the silver and gold colors for nine of the Idaho men. We regretfully, but no less sincerely, congratulate them on a fine and truly Idahoan spirit both on and off the field. They and their teammates have been a credit to the name, Vandals, and the slogan, "Idaho Fights!"

The nine are Harold Klumb, tackle; Bob Moser, tackle; Jack Barbee, center; Cy Geraghty, quarter-back; Paul Berg, halfback and captain; Alfred Berg, guard; Charles Wilson, guard; Earl Smith, quarter-back; and Dick Nutting, guard. Gentlemen, you are graduated from participation in football at Idaho "magna cum laude."

 yes, and here's why—

We know that smoking a pipe is different from smoking a cigar or cigarette... and in trying to find the tobacco best suited for pipes...

We found out that the best tobacco for use in a pipe grows down in the Blue Grass Section of Kentucky, and it is called White Burley.

There is a certain kind of this tobacco that is between the tobacco used for cigarettes and the kind that is used for chewing tobacco.

This is the kind of tobacco that we use, year after year, for Granger Rough Cut. We got the right pipe tobacco, made it by the right process... Wellman's Process... we cut it right... rough cut.

SOCIETY

THANKSGIVING vacation took so many students from the campus that there were no events planned ahead for the weekend. Those that stayed on the campus, however, managed to have a good time at a number of informal affairs. Alpha Phi and Alpha Tau Omega held informal vacation dances, while Ridenbaugh hall entertained at an informal fireside and dance.

The main event last week was the dance given Tuesday in honor of the Cardinal Key pledges at the Phi Beta Phi house following a banquet held at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Alpha Phis hold Vacation Dance
Large yellow and white chrysanthemums and yellow candles were the featured decorations at the Alpha Phi house Wednesday night when the women staying over the vacation entertained their dates at an informal dance. Mrs. William F. Fedder was the patroness.

A. T. O.s Entertain At Informal
Alpha Tau Omega entertained Saturday evening at an informal vacation dance. The patron and patroness were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brenn.

Fireside Held At Ridenbaugh
Ridenbaugh hall entertained Hays hall, Forney hall, and College Women's club at an informal fireside and guest exchange Friday evening.

Alpha Phi entertained the following guests at Thanksgiving dinner: Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith, Portland, Ore.; Jean Fedder, Charles Crowley, William Maclear, Everett Card, Egon Kroll, William Black, Ernest Smith, Donald Porter, Virgil Shepard, Fred Sanger, and Raymond Rhodes.

Alpha Chi Omega entertained the following guests for Thanksgiving dinner: Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Campbell, Dwayne Vincent, Frank Titus, Robert Lambert, and Jack Gray.

Women Debaters Make Many Plans

Proportional Representation To be Subject; Will Start in February

In a meeting held last Tuesday at the Tri-Delt house, the women representatives of Intramural debate decided to start debate shortly after the final examinations in February. The question, originally on the grading system, was changed to: Resolved: That proportional representation is adaptable to the Idaho campus. The women felt that this question was of interest to students because the question of representation is being debated and discussed by the executive board and will come before student vote during the second semester. "It is hoped that the women show great interest in intramural debate this year as a cup will be awarded to the winning group," stated Virginia Merrick. "A double elimination contest will determine the winner. These schedules will be arranged in February."

Faculty to Judge
The purpose of intramural debate is to stimulate interest among the women's groups in problems of interest to university women. Varsity and freshman debaters are eliminated, but anyone else who wishes to participate may do so. The judges for the various debates will be members of the faculty. The intramural debate representatives are: Mildred Carson, Deleth Teth Gmel; Josephine Mitchell, College Girls club; Frances Wimer, Alpha Chi Omega; Helen Latimore, Alpha Phi; Dorothy Williams, Delta Delta; Mary Jane Pace, Hays hall; Elizabeth Coats, Forney hall; Mary Ellen Brown, Delta Gamma; Ruth Farley, Gamma Phi Beta; Erma Lewis, Kappa Alpha Theta; Dorothy Dole, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Eleanor Stewart, Phi Beta Phi.

savings to be made. Alpha Kappa Psi will soon invite representatives of the group houses to review the findings and the plans they have made.

Confident of Success
The members of Alpha Kappa Psi are confident that the plan would succeed. The organization and its members have gained much from the investigations. They have impartially undertaken the task in an attempt to justify the organization's existence as a professional fraternity on the Idaho campus. The only pecuniary gain to the members would come through reduced house bills at the group houses at which they live. If the plan falls there is nothing for them to lose. For these reasons organized social groups should give this plan more consideration than they have those which were presented to them in the past.

and the Co-operative Bookstore association. After bills are paid by the Manager's association, customers each month, the co-op deducts its costs and from the balance sets aside 15 per cent as guaranty for the major refund made each day. Any cash left over is returned as a monthly rebate. Usually the rebate exceeds 15 per cent and has reached 21.75 per cent. Dividends from the bookstore have varied from 5 to 11 per cent cash to its members, based on year incomes ranging from $5000 at its start 18 years ago to more than $100,000 in recent years. Dividends are annually returned to a membership of from 500 to 2000 stockholders.

EVIDENTLY

the waving cornstalks of Nebraska, laden with screeching Bluejays, failed to impress the Vandals last turkey day. At least not enough to keep Calland's club from bringing back a 13 to 0 win over the Creighton outfit. Despite a boggy field composed mostly of good old Nebraska clay, the Vandals turned loose a running and passing attack that kept the Bluejays rocking on their heels all afternoon, the only Creighton threat being the 72-yard run on an intercepted pass by Pat Holland, Bluejay center, who was doused on the 3 yard line by Housowetz.

MILLIONS

are in prospect for yours truly, Coach Leo Calland, and Senior Manager Bill Hunt. "Want a chance to split a million three ways?" glibbed Coach Calland last night. "Sure," says yours truly. "O. K. then," says Leo. "I'll furnish the team, you furnish the publicity and Bill can manage things. We'll clean up a million bringing rain to various and sundry communities that have been praying for it. Every place the Vandals have gone this year, the moisture has started to fall all over the place. At Montana it rained, at Pullman it rained, at California it rained, and at Creighton, as soon as we got on the train at Moscow, it started to rain. That was the first rain they'd had in those parts for ages, practically, and we started it. Yes sir, I say the Vandals broke the great Nebraska drouth, so why aren't we worth a million bucks anyplace?"

POPEYE

is the latest monicker attached to Les Holmes, quarter on the Vandal squad. It all happened this way. Les caught a pass last Thursday and was all set for a touchdown, except for two obnoxious Bluejay tacklers who were in the way. The slippery Holmes started to sidestep, but skidded down to his knees in the mire. Meanwhile the two Creighton tacklers converged just in front of the ambitious Les. Regardless of his slip in the mud, he was still anxious to go places, and charged smack dab into the two Bluejays. "You could hear that smack clear over to the press box," said Coach Calland. "Both the Creighton boys were knocked out, colder than a cookie, but Les got up and trotted off." Hence, folks, the title of Popeye attached to Mr. Holmes. When he can do things like that without spinach, what could he do with some?"

PRESENTED

to Leo Calland by the 1934 football squad." Thus reads the inscription on the back of a fine gold watch which the boys surprised Leo with after the game. Football players aren't any better blessed with shekels than anyone else, but they thought enough of their coach to not only stick by him all season, but to present him with a definite token of the esteem in which they hold him. School spirit is certainly not lacking on the football squad, but Lord, what a mess some of the school grippers are making out of it.

BABE

Hollingsbery's green suit may be a talisman against most of the bad luck that overtakes football clubs, but there was one thing against which the above mentioned piece of cloth was powerless. We are referring to the jinx that the Catholic fathers seem to have cast over Babe, at least for this year. Coholders with Stanford of the Pacific Coast conference title, undefeated in all conference tilts, the Cougars lost all three of their non-conference games, all of which were with Catholic schools. First came the unexpected Gonzaga upset, next the rapping by St. Mary's, and finally Detroit's 7 to 1 defeat of Washington State last Saturday. The powers of prayer are many and mighty, aren't they, Babe?

"After The Ball Was Over" Fun Began For The Vandals

"After the ball was over... After the game was done... After the ball was over... Then the fun began." (Tra la) "The ball means—an air-filled pig's skin; "over" refers directly to Creighton's goal marker; "game" has something to do with the Vandals and the Bluejays; "fun" means—well, what if? Football season is over. Isn't it?

A pigskin ball might have gone over the goal line twice, but there was another ball of a different kind that went much farther and covered much more territory. Namely: a gathering of victorious Vandals in the club room of the Hotel Fontenelle—way back there in Omaha.

Anderson is Toastmaster. Barney Anderson was toastmaster. The entire squad was either there or represented. A small wobbly speech written out on a bit of questionable stationery took the place of Harold Klumb, tackle, who was "regretfully detained." Irregardless of this major handicap, Barney Anderson called the meeting to order, or something. About this time Ap Berg, guard, jumped up with a Box of cigars in honor of his marriage. Someone else did something and then all the seniors gave short talks. Bob Moser, Paul Berg, Ap Berg, Chick Wilson, Barney Anderson, Jack Barbee, Dick Nutting, Earl Smith, Cy Geraghty, Ralph Villiers, all-around star of the Rinkydink team, honored the group with various discussions on matters of moment.

The banquet then assumed a more serious air and Paul Berg was elected Idaho honorary captain for 1934. In that capacity he presented Leo Calland with a gold watch. "Red" Jacoby was given a combination cigarette lighter. Both articles were given as tokens of the team's appreciation and friendship. Coach Leo Calland was introduced by Barney Anderson. (Imagine Leo being introduced to his own team!) Giving a short talk, he expressed his opinion of the fellows "who had stuck by him through thick and thin throughout the year." "Red" Jacoby, assistant coach, also addressed the group. Amid the applause that followed, Anderson, McCue, Hesse, and Sundberg slipped out into the lobby to look after some "college" girls. As soon as their absence was discovered and the cause ascertained, the banquet adjourned.

Alabama Is Reds' Rose Bowl Choice

Fourth Appearance of Coach Frank Thomas' Men; Is Still Undefeated

"Stars fell on Alabama." So runs the lyric to a current ditty, and such will be the case in the Pasadena Rose Bowl on New Year's day, following the announcement by Alfred Masters, Stanford graduate manager, that Alabama has been selected to represent the East in the annual classic. The Crimson tide will roll again in Palo Alto, having finished up an undefeated season in the east with a stunning 34 to 0 upset over Vanderbilt on Thanksgiving day.

The selection of Coach Frank Thomas' team, according to an Associated Press story, meant that Alabama will make its fourth Rose Bowl appearance in less than ten years, with its record at Pasadena still unspotted by defeat.

The invaders were tied in 1927, and by coincidence that game was with Stanford. Victories over Washington and Washington State marked the other Tidal trips.

Indians Have Tough Luck In Rose Bowl

Contrasting with the victorious cotton picker record, the Indians have enjoyed little success in their Rose tournament assignments. Back in 1925 the Notre Dame horsemen rode over them, 27 to 10. Two years later Alabama and Stanford played their 7 to 7 tie, but in 1928 the Palo Alto party won a 7 to 6 victory over Pittsburgh. The unexpected tumble given the Indians last New Year's day by the Columbia Lions is still fresh in the memory of the Cardinals.

On the basis of comparative scores, the AP story continues, Stanford boasts a defensive record superior to Alabama with only two touchdowns scored against it in 10 defeatless games. One of these however, by Santa Clara, cost it a tie.

Creighton Bows To Vandals 13-0; Paul Berg Elected Captain

Idaho Takes Last Game of Season Thanksgiving Day in Omaha

Before a small crowd of shivering fans the Idaho Vandals won their last game of the season 13 to 0 from the Creighton Bluejays, on Thanksgiving day.

Idaho's two scores came in the first and second quarters as the results of an end run and a long pass. The field was soggy and slow and the weather was unusually cold. Prior to the game Idaho was the betting favorite, outweighing the Creighton team five pounds per man.

The Vandal's first score came after Devlin had received a punt on his own 40 yard line, and without moving handed the ball to Housowetz who scampered through the broken field to the Creighton 26-yard line. Devlin hit center for five yards. A pass by Housowetz was knocked down, and on the third down Sundberg drove through center for a first down on the Bluejay 15. Devlin drove into the left side of the line for three yards and Berg skirted end for five more. Sundberg drove over center for one yard. With the count fourth down and one yard to go, Devlin scored on an end run. Moser's kick was low.

ANDERSON SNATCHES PAY-OFF PASS

Late in the second quarter Geraghty replaced Devlin, received a punt on his own 35, and ran it back to his 39-yard line. A pass by McCue to Creighton's 25-yard line was taken by Anderson, who managed to around the neck but managed to squirm loose and run the rest of the way untouched. Bob Moser's try for point was good.

Creighton threatened Idaho only twice, once in the third quarter when Devlin fumbled a punt on his own 20 and again late in the fourth quarter when Holland intercepted an Idaho pass and ran 82 yards to the Vandal 3-yard line where Housowetz pulled him down. The next four plays netted Creighton a 12-yard loss.

SLIPPERY FIELD PREVENTS TWO SCORES

The Idaho scoring threats were terminated by the slippery condition of the field, the Vandal ballpackers having virtually an unobstructed path to pay dirt on both occasions. Ross Sundberg shook

STELLAR BATTERS ALSO HOOP STARS

Good baseball batters make good basketball shots, or vice-versa, is the growing conviction on the University of Idaho campus.

Four of the men who have been looping in most of the baskets during daily workouts this week hold baseball batting averages of better than 300 per cent. Wally Geraghty, a dead-eye letterman guard on the basketball quintet, batted .306 last spring in baseball. Bill Katsilometes, who is developing into a long shot basketball artist, batted .328. Two transfers from the University of Idaho Southern Branch, Bob Mulica and Walter Carte, good shots on the mapecourt, bat well over .300. Merle Fisher, who is looming as a leading scorer for the Vandals, however, got no nearer the baseball diamond last spring than the gate, where he sold tickets.

loose on one scamper and was headed for the goal with four interference men between him and the lone Creighton safety, when a sidestep on the uncertain footing caused him to go down.

Late in the fourth period, Les Holmes, quarter, snared a pass and was almost away until he slipped on the muddy field.

Pat Holland, all-conference center, and Mike O'Leary both played fine defensive and offensive ball for Creighton while Sundberg, Devlin, and McCue were the Idaho stars of the day.

Idaho Falls Man Chosen Captain at Banquet in Omaha After Game

Paul Berg, Idaho blocking half-back from Idaho Falls and a senior, was elected honorary captain of his team at a banquet held in Omaha, following the Thanksgiving day game with Creighton, which ended in a 13 to 0 victory for the Idahoans.

Berg, who was an understudy last year to John Norby, honorary captain of the 1933 aggregation, was the iron man of this year's team. During the whole season, altogether he missed less than a quarter of play. He started all games except the last two with California and Creighton, which opened with Don Spaugy, who earned his letter on these starts. Berg played 60 minutes per game for the Washington, Gonzaga, Oregon, and Montana contests.

Also Vandal Captain

Captaincy of Idaho teams runs in the Berg family. Howard Berg, brother of Paul, was captain of the 1930 Vandal eleven. Alfred Berg, another brother of Paul, is also a graduating senior on this year's football team. "Ap" is a veteran at the running guard position.

Paul is a senior in the department of civil engineering, and won letters in track and wrestling as well as in football.

As another feature of the Omaha banquet, a gold watch was presented by the team to Coach Leo Calland. On the back was engraved, "Presented to Leo Calland by the 1934 football squad."

Maple Court Artists Take Over Limelight From Grid Players

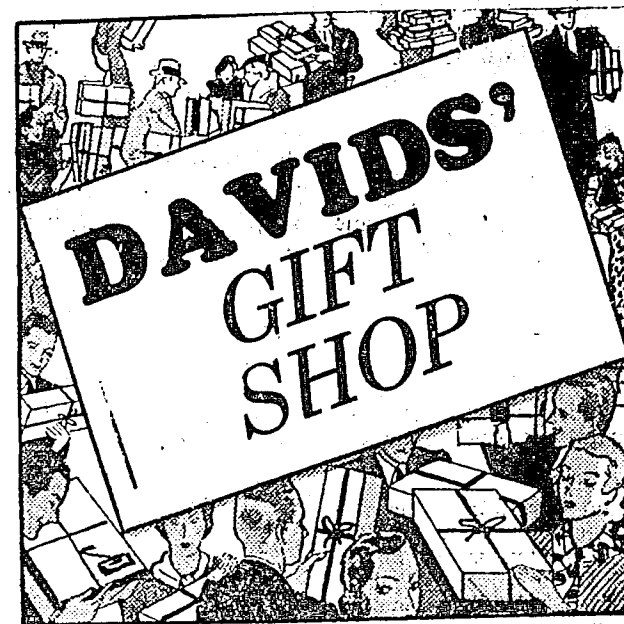

Basketball stepped into the limelight today! The maple court artists are ready to take over the spot that the gridmen relinquished Thursday when they played their season finale with Creighton.

It'll be baskets now instead of touchdowns. And if the practice shooting of the Vandal hoop squad is any indication, Coach Rich Fox is going to have some real sharp shooters.

Daily practice was held during Thanksgiving vacation for the members of the squad who did not go home. Busy sessions are expected this week to get the men in trim for their opening games December 11 and 12 at Walla Walla with the Whitman Missionaries. Lewiston Normal will open the home schedule when they meet the Vandals here December 15. Plans for a trip through the southern part of the state during the Christmas holidays have been abandoned due to the impossibility of arranging a suitable schedule.
