

The Golden Fleece

EXHORTED

For several weeks there has appeared on the Ad. bldg. bulletin board a proclamation issued by an assortment of seven national student committees, federations, leagues, and whatnot, exhorting students "... to oppose the R.O.T.C. and other military propaganda existing on the campus." Among those that joined in this "united proclamation to the students of America" was that pink organization, the National Students League. You will recall that it was five members of the U.C.L.A. chapter of this league who were recently expelled from college for a year by Provost Earnest Moore for using their student body offices, the Ucla head man said, "to destroy the university by handing it over to an organized group of Communists."

CONTEMPT

The appeal has evidently fallen on deaf ears at Idaho. Aside from Scabbard and Bladers taking a hand to squelch a meeting held on the campus recently to discuss compulsory R.O.T.C. training, no move has been made on either side of the question. Scabbard and Bladers, those avowed defenders of Americanism and military preparedness, haven't even deemed it necessary to remove this anti-R.O.T.C. propaganda from the eyes of Idaho students, indicating either a tolerance hitherto unperceived in the worthy S. & B. boys; a contempt on their part of what harm this bit of pinkish propaganda could possibly do; or a sublime confidence that the Idaho students are immune from the R.O.T.C. revolts that have visited several of our sister institutions on the Coast.

WILLING

We think such appeals will continue to fall on deaf ears on this campus. The way General Chrisman and his cohorts dish up R.O.T.C. work, we not only take it but we really like it. Idaho students seem more than willing to spend 50 hours a semester or so in R.O.T.C. work if Uncle Sam says such training is what young college students should have for doing their part in protecting the good old U.S.A.

REVOLTERS

Advocates of abolishing compulsory military training were knocked down another notch this week when the Supreme Court decided against pleaders from the University of California who wanted to go to school but didn't want to do the monkey suits and drill with the rest of the boys. "You'll take it, or else!" pronounced all nine justices, the "else" meaning they could go to some other school where the faculty doesn't think so highly of compulsory R.O.T.C. work. Editor of the local Star-Mirror, Louis Boas, Idaho '23, rightly concluded in an editorial Wednesday night that "in the future, objectors can squarely be looked upon as violators of American law."

SIMILES

As inert as the Interfraternity Council. As lethargic as the Interfraternity Council. As stagnant as the Interfraternity Council. As pottering as the Interfraternity Council. As torpid as the Interfraternity Council.

OBLIVION

WE NOMINATE FOR OBLIVION—PEOPLE WHO SAY "I DON'T KNOW A BLOOMIN' THING ABOUT THIS PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION IDEA, BUT I'M AGAINST IT."

NOISE

We'll go to "Dangerous Corner" this evening with nerves on edge. According to advance reports on the mystery thriller, sudden gun shots and piercing screams are included in the business. They can talk all they want about the poor acoustics of our auditorium, but when they turn loose those firearms and hysterical women—hang on to your seats.

Alpha Zeta Pledges Five; Atkeson To Be Associate Member

Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary, last Monday pledged five new members to help in promoting the science of agriculture. Prof. F. W. Atkeson was chosen to become an associate member. Student members selected were Yale Holland, Shelley, Lewis Nelson, Emmett, Mark Peterson, Rexburg; and LeRoy Williams, Rexburg.

Professor Atkeson, now head of the department of dairy husbandry, was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1918. He took his masters degree at the Kansas State Agricultural college in 1929.

Mystery Play Is Set For Tonight

J. B. Priestley's "Dangerous Corners" to Begin at 8:20 o'clock

Tonight and tomorrow night the university players under the direction of Fred C. Blanchard, present "Dangerous Corner," a psychological mystery by J. B. Priestley.

Fred Blanchard, director of the play "Dangerous Corners."

Into the quiet "easy going" household of the Robert Chatfields insidiously creeps the memory of Martin Chatfield, Robert's brother, who committed suicide 15 months earlier, and thru-out the play to the height of all the dramatic revelations, this specter of the dead Martin stalks the stage, as real and vital as his living relatives.

Alline King is Olwen. Olwen Peel, secretary to the publishers, and bound to this intimate family group by emotional ties stronger than her own will, is the only one who emerges from that dinner at the Chatfield home "as sound as she went in." Alline King is cast as Olwen.

Freda Chatfield, Robert's wife, is played by Dorothy Pierce, Robert Herrick is cast in the role of her brother, Gordon; and Eldred Stephenson plays Robert. The third member of the publishing firm, Charles Stanton, is played by Paul Selby.

The set, representing the lovely country home of the Chatfields, was designed by Theodore Pritchard, head of the Art department.

The curtain both nights will be promptly at 8:20.

Scottish Players Here December 11

To Present "The Cotter's Saturday Night," Highly Praised

"The Cotter's Saturday Night" will be presented by the Scottish Musical players next Tuesday at 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Public Events committee of the university.

Dr. G. M. Miller, head of the English department, who has acted as the agent of the committee in securing the Scottish Musical players, said:

"This is probably one of the most pleasant occasion of the college year. The Scottish Musical Players are making their third trans-continental tour. They have been at the University of Washington twice and are going their second time to Spokane. They are going to the Lewiston normal school and to Washington State college.

"The musical play to be presented is a picture of Burn's own family life as he presented it himself in "The Cotter's Saturday Night." The program is made up of a two-act play with a large number of Scottish songs and ballads interspersed. The scene is a peasant's cottage about 1790. The presentation is one which might have occurred in any cotter's home any Saturday night."

"Each Person Soloist"

The committee believes that no similar type of entertainment will be secured for some time to come. It is a combination of music and drama and simple stage setting. The Spokesman-Review, for example, in commenting on the appearance of the company last year said:

"Each person is a musical soloist and in their acting and musical numbers, they give something for one to remember for a long time."

Exec. Board Hears Partial Report On P.R.

Selection of A.S.U.I. Prexy Stumps Investigation Committee

Amendment Is Approved

Swimming Awards to be Changed; Hazel Gentry Is Handbook Editor

A partial report from the committee investigating P. R. was heard by the executive board at its regular meeting Tuesday night. Norman Roberts, chairman of the committee, indicated in his report that the members seemed to favor the plan as it might be applied in student body elections on the Idaho campus. He said, however, that the committee was finding the problem of selecting the president of the ASUI its biggest difficulty.

"As a whole the idea seems sound," said Roberts. "There have been four methods suggested for the selection of the president, but all of them present difficulties which at present have the committee at a standstill. A letter has been sent to Thomas Hare of New York, the chief exponent of proportional representation, and his reply should aid us in solving our problems. A complete report will be given as soon as possible."

The consensus seemed to be to have other officers, vice president and secretary, selected by the board from among its membership after it took office, Roberts said. It was felt, however, that the selection of the president in this manner would find a good deal of opposition among the students who might wish to have a more direct voice in his selection, since he represents the student body on so many occasions. Whether or not that is true to be decided along with the other plans, he said.

Another method was to have a popular election along with the P. R. election for the one office of president. This would necessitate a primary, he pointed out, and would bar from a vote on the executive board since that would destroy the true proportion of the representation on the board. It would also eliminate his opponent from student body office for the year since he obviously could not be a candidate for membership on the board and the office of president too.

A third plan for selection of president, Roberts reported, was the picking of the man with the highest number of first choice ballots in the first count. This, however, it was felt would destroy the accuracy of the P. R. election since there would be too much concentration on a few men with less regard to representation on the board as a whole. A fourth plan was to have the president picked by student from among those who were elected to the board after it took office. This was generally discredited, however, because of the necessity of a second election—a primary—and a third—a general election—to choose him.

Dave Kendrick, ASUI president, directed the committee to continue its investigation.

Change Amendment

The board approved of an amendment change in Section I, Article 4, of the ASUI constitution. The new form will be read at the next assembly and voted upon by the student body in two weeks. Through the new amendment swimming awards, it was felt, would be raised to a par with other minor sports. The section will be changed to read:

"In two dual conference meets or shall place in a triangular conference meet, or win one first place in a dual conference meet—or its equivalent—the relay counting two points per man if the relay team wins shall be awarded a minor sports "I."

The board appointed Hazel Gentry as handbook editor. Each year the editor is chosen from the staff of assistant editors of the previous year. Bill Wetherall, the other assistant on last year's book, is a member of the executive board and was automatically eliminated.

said: "The Cotter's Saturday Night" gave the audience such pleasures of the Scotch country folk that they were virtually transported back to the eighteenth century to join with them in the evening's fun; naturalness and sincerity are paramount in the portrayals of this talented group of actors as well as their singing of the lilted ballads that have lived and been loved through the years."

Two New Officials Will Start Season With Game Dec. 22

Two new conference officials, who will make their debut this season, are Cal Smith and Archie Buckley of Spokane.

These men were added to the list of officials at the request of Coach Rich Fox of Idaho and Coach Jack Friel of Washington State.

Official Shortage

"The Inland Empire was faced with a scarcity of resident officials this season when Jimmy Mitchell of Spokane moved to Seattle and Roger Folgate of Walla Walla went east," said Coach Fox. "Both of the new men have had considerable experience in basketball, and should make good conference officials."

Smith played basketball at Lewis and Clark in Spokane and later for the Spokane Sparklers. Buckley, who is football coach at North Central, was a three-year letterman basketball star at W.S.C.

These officials will referee their first Idaho game in the non-conference meeting with Vic Desert's all-star team in Spokane, December 22.

Represents Idaho

DEAN IVAN C. CRAWFORD who left the campus Wednesday to attend the Pacific Coast conference meeting at Palm Springs, Calif., where he will meet with other faculty representatives, graduate managers, and coaches, to lay out the 1935 football schedule. Radio broadcasting of football games will also be discussed by the conference representatives.

Many Innovations Used In Yearbook

Colored Photography and "Bleeding" Pictures To Be Used

Colored photography and "bleeding" pictures will be new innovations used in the "Gem of the Mountains" this year, according to Robert Herrick, editor.

"Bleeding pictures," he explained, "are those which run to the edge of the page having no border or margin. Photography will be the main theme of the book with little art design or work being used. The map division pages will be built around this one theme."

More action shots will be included in the book. Not only will there be pictures of the main athletic teams in action, but action shots will be used for intramural minor, and women's sport sections.

Herrick will leave for Seattle Sunday to make the final arrangements with Walt Irvine, representative of the Western Engraving and Colorotype company. He will be gone about a week.

Railroads Offer New Xmas Rates

Union Pacific Special Leaves For South Idaho at 4:30 Thursday

Special rates are being offered by both the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific railroads to students going home over Christmas vacation.

A special Union Pacific train for students only, leaves Moscow for points in southern Idaho at 4:30 p. m. Thursday. The train will arrive in Weiser at 8:25 a. m. Friday, in Boise at 10:40 a. m., in Mountain Home at 12 p. m., and in Pocatello at 5 p. m. Round trip rates to Weiser are $11.70; to Boise, $14.70; to Pocatello $19.55. Pullman and diner accommodations are offered to the students.

At 4:45 p. m. a train leaves the Northern Pacific depot to make connections with trains for Portland, Seattle, Butte, and towns in southern Idaho. Round trip rates offered by the Northern Pacific are $19.65 to Idaho Falls, $31.51 to Seattle, $31.25 to Portland, $2.51 to Spokane.

KNIGHTS INITIATE TWO NEW MEN

Robert Strawn and Fred Campbell were initiated into Intercollegiate Knights Wednesday night at the Beta house. A special initiation was held for these men, the regular initiation not coming until spring. Plans for installation of a chapter of Knights at the College of Idaho were discussed. Probably a group of Idaho men will go to Caldwell soon after the Christmas holidays to install the chapter.

Stewart Kimball, '30, former Duke of the Knights, attended the meeting and spoke a few words to the members.

Calland, Horton, and Crawford To Conference Meeting

The University of Idaho's delegation to the semi-annual meeting of the Pacific Coast conference, being held December 7 to 12, left Moscow in installments. Coach Leo Calland, Vandal mentor, entrained Monday for Palm Springs, Calif., a desert winter resort near Los Angeles, where the delegates are to convene.

George E. Horton, graduate manager, got away Tuesday evening and Dean Ivan C. Crawford, faculty representative, could not arrange to leave Moscow until Wednesday. Matters regarding the final arrangement of the 1935 football schedule will be the major items of business under consideration by the delegations from all the schools in the conference.

Mr. Horton and Dean Crawford plan to return to Moscow directly after the session. Coach Calland will also see the Rose Bowl classic between Alabama's southern conference champions and the Stanford Indians New Year's day.

"Holly-Day" To Be Gala Affair

Assembly, Dance, Serenade To Be Highlight of Sophomore Day

Colossal, stupendous, magnificent, are some of the ejaculations coming from the various committees in charge of the sophomore "Holly-Day" on December 18.

"Starting with the opening strains of Bob Campbell's 15 piece "Nazamova" band until the last fading note of the Christmas serenade is promised to be packed full of fun and entertainment," said Winston Goss, president of the sophomore class. "All members of the class will wear sprigs of Holly to carry out the idea of "Holly-day."

"Holly-Day" officially opens at 11 a. m. with an assembly featuring a take-off of a famous radio program broadcast throughout the auditorium by public address system. Special feature numbers are now being worked out by the assembly committee consisting of Jim McFarland, chairman; Avon Wilson, Bert Larson, Murva James, and Mary Ferguson.

Beginning at 8 p. m. a strictly informal Christmas dance is scheduled for all college students at the Blue Bucket Inn which is sponsored by the sophomore class. Dean Permeal J. French has declared open night until 10:45 p. m. for all undergraduates. The decorations will carry out the Christmas motif and are planned to be entirely new to the Idaho campus.

Will Serenade

Immediately after the dance a serenade of Christmas carols will be sung by the sophomore men which will close the day's festivities.

Members of the holly committee are Esther Flenner, chairman, Jo Betty Wickes, and Edith Slatter. On the dance committee are Roy Grey, chairman, Ed Fotts, Earl Bullock, Bea Fisher, Jack Dyer, J. T. Anderson, and Jack McKibbin.

"Holly-Day" was originated by this year's sophomore class with the purpose of forming a day of entertainment for all students to fill the gap in the social calendar between Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations. If successful, members of the class hope that it will become an annual affair.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council went on record at its meeting last night as favoring the further consideration of the cooperative buying plan set forth by Alpha Kappa Psi. The council felt that the plan if put into effect would benefit all fraternities and sororities on the campus and expressed a willingness to work with Alpha Kappa Psi in putting such a plan into operation.

During the meeting there was a discussion on whether or not the men should send corsages to the women. It was decided that the matter should be left up to the individual. However, it was felt that should a man be unable to send a corsage he should not consider that he had violated any form. The Council postponed its annual dance until after Christmas.

Alpha Kappa Psi that each house would select a person to represent it on the general committee, who would attend all committee meetings and be interested in carrying on the work.

A pamphlet of by-laws, drawn up by Leo Kraemer, that could be used to form the proposed organization were handed out to persons present at the meeting.

Seventeen men's houses were represented at the meeting. Three of the eight sororities had a member present.

Coulee Engineer Is Speaker At Sigma Xi Meet

S. A. Banks, Construction Engineer, Discusses Big Project

Guests Are Introduced

Sixty-Five Are Present At Meeting In Blue Bucket Wednesday Evening

Frank A. Banks, Almira, Wash., construction engineer for the United States bureau of reclamation in charge at Grand Coulee dam, spoke to an attentive audience of 65 engineering students Wednesday evening at a 6 o'clock banquet of Sigma Xi, national scientific honorary, at the Blue Bucket Inn. Mr. Banks discussed his experiences during his many years as a civil engineer. Although the speaker told of the many projects in which he has been a prominent figure, he concentrated upon the Grand Coulee.

Vigor and vitality radiate from this man who has played an important part in such great national irrigation projects as the Arrowrock, Jackson Lake, American Falls, and Owyhee dams, and who is now directing construction of the Grand Coulee dam.

Engineers Are Guests

Before Mr. Banks began his talk, several guests were introduced. Harvey J. Smith, city engineer; Prof. J. W. Howard, college of engineering; R. W. Lind, building and ground superintendent, University of Idaho; J. J. McCree, district highway engineer of Lewiston; Bert Johnson, resident engineer, of Moscow; and H. E. Phelps, civil engineering department, Washington State college, were those introduced. The introduction of Mr. Banks was by Prof. H. F. Gauss, head of the mechanical engineering department.

A graduate of the University of Maine, Mr. Banks came to the west in 1908.

Original plans for the huge Arrowrock dam near Boise were drawn by Mr. Banks. This dam was completed in 1915 at a cost of over $15,000,000. Mr. Banks said at the time work on Arrowrock was proceeding he was already at work on plans for Jackson Lake dam in western Wyoming.

Was Isolated

Jackson Lake dam was 70 miles from civilization. Difficulties in securing right-of-way privileges were constantly arising as both Indians and landowners showed little cooperation. "Entire towns had to be moved for miles," he said, "and we always had difficulty as everyone wanted to chart out a model neighborhood for himself and choose his neighbors. The Indians were notably uncooperative, and it was often necessary to hold long parleys to get tribal lands necessary to the project."

"What is at present the world's highest dam was the next undertaking for Mr. Banks. This is the Owyhee dam in Oregon. This 595 foot record for height still stands, but may eventually be topped by Boulder dam," he said.

Grand Coulee dam is not merely a huge construction enterprise, it is probably the most gigantic building project, with the possible exception of the pyramids of Egypt, undertaken in the history of the world.

"About $180,000,000 will be the final sum entailed in the Coulee project," said Mr. Banks.

John Banks, a student at the University of Idaho, is the son of Mr. Banks.

Ten New Men Initiated Into "I" Club Wed.

Plans Made For Dance Held Tonight at A. T. O. House; Committees Appointed

At an initiation Wednesday evening, the "I" club took in 10 new members, Jack Barbee, John Cooper, Clarence Devlin, Ross Sundberg, Don Spaugy, Les Holmes, Wendell Dayton, Frank Williams, Leon Green, and Howard Hesse.

The lettermen will also petition the executive board for letters for Ralph Villers and Walter Mitchell, seniors out for the squad who did not have the required minutes of play for letters.

Plans for the "I" club dance to be held tonight at the A. T. O. house were discussed. A decoration committee was named including: Bob Felton, Bill Katsilometes, Wendell Dayton, Bob McCue and Clarence Anderson.

Minor "I" club meeting at Sigma Chi house Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Very important—be there!

Freedom of The Press

Under date of November 27, an Associated Press dispatch from Baton Rouge, La., tells the following story:

Publication of the Reveille, Louisiana State university student newspaper, was held up today for want of an editorial staff.

Across the door of the shop which prints the semi-weekly publication hung the sign: "Killed by suppression."

Jesse H. Cutrer, editor and business manager, said the staff resigned when informed by James M. Smith, president of the university, that the staff must accept the "censorship" of a "faculty supervisor."

"I asked President Smith whether the faculty supervisor would allow any criticism of Senator Long to appear in the Reveille," Cutrer said. "The president stated that no criticism of Long or any university official would be permitted."

Two weeks ago Long received an advance proof of an item criticizing him for naming Abe Mickal, football star, a state senator—a part Mickal refused to accept. The item was ordered expunged and a staff protest followed.

The printing presses were stopped, guards were posted at the door and scores of printed copies were destroyed. The issue appeared only after the objectionable matter was deleted.

Senator Long was quoted recently as saying that he was "the kind of a President this country needs." If the action in regard to the student newspaper at Louisiana State university is any criterion of his attitude toward the press, American newspapers should know what to expect if he should realize his ambition.

Furthermore, what has just taken place at Baton Rouge furnishes material for some interesting speculation.

Shall teachers of journalism at a state university in the future instruct their students that there is freedom of the press in America, except when a political dictator says that there shall not be?

And can the student editors at Louisiana State look to the publishers, who raised the issue of press freedom during code negotiations last year, for support in being allowed to publish their newspaper without threat of censorship or suppression?

Or are those publishers too busy with plans for another celebration honoring the memory of John Peter Zenger, champion of a free press 200 years ago, to be mindful of a press freedom issue in the state Louisiana in this year 1934?—Publishers' Auxiliary no longer require two years of marching for graduation. It asks that those students who see the absolute fool-hardiness of war, and see preparation as one of its primary causes, and who get no aesthetic appreciation from learning to kill, may not be forced to become a soldier.

I should also like to call the attention of the dear Idiot-or to the November 19th issue of Time, in which the efforts "to sow the seeds of communism among college men and women" that have so upset him, are 'exposed' as agitation to secure an open forum on the U. C. L. A. campus, and tagged "communist," as Time puts it, by Provest Moore's "hypersensitiveness to Red". And that makes me wonder if I haven't taken the Idiot-or wrong; maybe he has been wearing red goggles since the snow storm.

HAWKEYE

ON DUTY

Since the last issue of the Argonaut, poor old Hawkeye hasn't had a minute's rest. We think this is probably due to the fact that some of the celebrities mentioned in this column last issue have no sense of humor. However, the aforementioned didn't succeed in their dastardly attempt to rid the campus of the all-seeing Hawkeye.

Just a few things to mention this time. If you want to know anything about the price of jeweled pledge pins ask BILL ASH. And if you would like to know how to get a Fraternity pin on quick notice see BETTY "ORANGE" GROVES because if we aren't mistaken, she was wearing "BO" PALMER'S pin after their second date. The Kappa pledges are already worrying about Hell Week—anyway, that's what we gathered from their conversation in the library the other day. Also, just try to find out very much about the FIJ dance that's coming off this Saturday. Maybe we should mention the big send-off given JACK O'NEAL by the brothers—some of them looked pretty gloomy the next morning. And here we have

Grins and Gripes

TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

My conclusions after reading paragraph five, page twelve of the last issue of the Blue Bucket are that our Idiot-or (what?) in his mental wanderings has apparently heard someone mention the organization nationally known as "The Student League for Industrial Democracy" which has just been organized by students on this campus. Poor boy! It has caused all sorts of distressing fantasies in his hitherto passive and restrained mental state. Won't some kind friend take time to point out to him that correct information on the L. I. D. can be easily obtained from the leaders of that organization (one of whom he seems to know) or by going to a few of the meetings of the organization?

Until he can obtain such information for himself, however, it might ease his unfortunate condition to know that the Student L. I. D. has never thought of abolishing the fraternities and sororities of Idaho. It seems we must give him credit for the idea. Perhaps that is why it seemed so frightful to him, so dangerously real—a child of his remarkable brain! And he must not think the L. I. D. is going to take away from him that lovely new uniform. We know he must get an awful wallop from wearing it—it fits so snug and neat—marching with a regular army rifle on his big square shoulder; being a real soldier, a true American.

But regardless of his belief that military training is regarded as good sport, there are a few of us who get no thrill from carrying a musket and romping around MacLean Field. Some who think that type of patriotism the weeds that has for its foundation flag waving and a credulous hatred of all that "big shots" tag "Un-American." The L. I. D. does intend to carry on a campaign against COMPULSORY military training. It asks that the U. of I. become as progressive as many other schools and

SOCIETY

CHRISTMAS is already having an effect on campus society, with many dances being planned using Christmas themes. Dances are plentiful this weekend, too. Forney hall, L. D. S. Institute, Phi Gamma Delta and the "T" club will hold informals. The Delta Gamma upperclassmen are having a formal dinner dance. The Senior Ball will be held at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Dean Permeal J. French was honored at a dinner given by Delta Delta Delta at which the deans of the university were invited.

Forney will have Informal dance

It's not easy to fight off exhaustion at times. I have discovered a good way of bringing back my energy when I need it. I smoke a Camel and a feeling of renewed energy quickly comes to my aid, and I can carry on! I enjoy Camels all I wish, for it has been my experience that Camels don't upset my nerves."

THE SHOUTING

and the tumult dies" and with its decease disappears from college stadium Old Man Football, to be very presently replaced by a spryer fellow, Basketball. All-Americans have been chosen, both big and little, and seasons for the majority of the schools have ended. Notre Dame and Southern Cal meet in a post-season game within the walls of Troy Saturday. Stanford and Alabama look ahead to the Rose Bowl fray, but outside of those major tiffs, football is practically squeezed, until another year.

—SS—

LITTLE MEN

what now? You fellows from small colleges, from Podunk, and Grass Valley college, and Arkansas Teachers, how can you rate an All-American berth? What chance have you to make the big time without the ballyhoo connected with huge concrete stadiums, brass bands, tricky uniforms and high salaried coaches? Those are the questions which bothered AP sports writers for years, and with the birth of a Little All-America team, composed of stars from small schools alone, the "little men" will get some share of the football spotlight. This year's Little All-America was picked from the out of the way schools, Catawba, West Virginia, Tufts, Illinois, Wesleyan, Tulsa, College of the Pacific, Davidson, Ohio Wesleyan, Gonzaga, North Dakota State and Williamette. "Ike" Peterson, "hiking" delegate from Gonzaga, and Loren Grannis, 195-pound guard from Williamette, were the northwesterners who received berths on the first team. To help out the fast moving Ike in the backfield are Johnny Mackorell from Davidson in the South, John Turley of Ohio Wesleyan, and Fritz Hanson of North Dakota State.

Bill Grinnell, of undefeated Tufts in the East, and Tod Goodwin from West Virginia, are the wingmen. The tackles are Tony Blazine of Ohio Wesleyan and Joe Garland of Catawba, and the guardmate of Grannis is Cris Kjeldsen from College of Pacific. The southwest contributed the center in Rudy Prochaska, co-captain of the Tulsa team. They may not be known outside of their own backyards, but plenty of dough could be raised to put on the "little men" if they could be matched against the big All-America club. Why? Because, if you ever noticed, half the men on the big pro teams in the East aren't from the big universities, but hail from just little outfits as these listed above. They know their football. "Little Giant" Smith is evidence for that.

Sports Newshawk Sez Cap Horton "Done Him Wrong"

My Dear Mister Horton:

It is with a deep feeling of regret I send this here missive to you as I think you are an honorable gentleman. Howsomer, you has went and got me fired because there ain't no horseshoes on the campus of this here institution.

You see it was this way. I was the poor, hard-working cup-reporter who was covering these here intramural fracas and the other day Mr. Haring says to me, he says, "Where in h... are your stories lately?" Well, I says that I'll be a gettin' some tales in, so I takes a saunter down to see Mr. "Chick" Wilson, who is a right Joe and who is bigshotting these affairs along with Mr. "Ap" Berg, who is another fine fellow as long as he is on your side of the alley.

Well "Chick" comes to the door and I says, "Chick", I says, "What's happened to this horse shoe racket, this intramural game, what you and "Ap" was rumpling so fine." Chick looks at me with the tears wallin' up in those big round eyes of his and he sobs out, "We ain't got no more racket cause we ain't got no horseshoes and we ain't goin' to be able to play any horseshoes until we get some horse-oxfords (that's a horse on Oxford).

So I says, "Chick, you gotta have some horseshoes, 'cause of you ain't got any horseshoes, I ain't got no story and, if I ain't got no story, I ain't got no job." "Chick" didn't have no horseshoes. I didn't have no story. Mr. Haring says I ain't got no job. Thanking you in advance for the horseshoes.

Sincerely, "Honest John"

FRESH NOTICE

Freshmen basketball players report in the gym Monday night at 7:30. Turn out in the regular freshman gym suits.

Vandal Basketeers Face Heavy Schedule; Meet Huskies Jan. 6

Nonconference Game With Whitman Set For Tuesday

The Idaho Vandal basketball team starts its season this next week by playing two nonconference games with Whitman at Walla Walla next Tuesday and Wednesday and another with the Lewiston Normal in Moscow the following Saturday. The team's schedule then rapidly forms with several games being scheduled over the Christmas holidays and the first conference game with Washington, January 6 in Seattle.

Now that football season is over the squad has been enriched by the presence of Norm Iverson and Harold Klumb. Iverson, scrappy backboard artist, was one of the hardest men to guard in the conference last year, while Klumb's set shots and free throws kept him among the leading scorers.

RICH HAS NO SET COMBINATION YET

Coach Rich Fox has not been playing any regular combination as yet, but has been mixing the men around and playing them in different positions. Wally Geraghty, the diminutive flash who earned the moniker "Le Pages" for his excellent guarding last year, apparently has his old birth back again while Merle Fisher, the best long shot on the squad will be playing but there is a lacking of tall men. Kenny Robertson, a transfer from Boise Junior College, Bill Katsilometes, a veteran from last year, and Paul Fuller, center on the freshman team from last year are working in the pivot position.

The squad is developing rapidly and by the time the Christmas holidays are over they will be in good condition. A cutting and passing attack is being developed. This style of play can be used to the best advantage by a speedy team and the lack of height is not such a handicap.

Intramural horseshoes are to begin Monday. Notices will be sent out concerning the schedule, and a complete schedule will be printed in Tuesday's Argonaut.

The first round of intramural wrestling is set for Wednesday night at 7:30. No league are represented in wrestling, groups entering individual men in different weight classes.

Idaho Men In Shape For December 14 Card

Heavyweights to be Headliners, says Louis August, Boxing Coach

"Heavyweights will be the headliners on our next fight card at the university gymnasium, December 14," said Louis August, University of Idaho boxing coach.

"We have not definitely scheduled any bouts yet, but Don Fraser, boxing instructor for the Spokane American Legion, has assured me that he can get some good matches in Spokane for both Bob Sitterlee and Gene Brado."

Sitterlee is a 220-pounder and former Spokane boxer. He has been doing heavy duty the last couple of months as a tackle on the freshman football squad.

Brado, a transfer from the University of Idaho Southern Branch, who will be making his first appearance before Moscow fans, has fought the best time in the ring of any Idaho boxer. In his first fight last week at Pocatello with Sam Lind, runner-up for the Pacific Coast amateur heavyweight championship, Brado knocked out his man in the first three seconds of the first round. Two fights with his left hand and one good sock with his right did the trick. Brado weighs in at about 200 pounds even.

MATCH IN VIEW FOR AUGUST THE YOUNGER

Coach August is also trying to get a match for his younger brother, Joe, who won the coast bantamweight title in 1932. Joe also took third place in the national amateur championship held at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Last Friday he fought an exhibition match in Spokane with Al Penna of the S. A. C. This fight was marked with a good brand of boxing, and although there was no decision awarded, it gave the fans an opportunity to witness the Idaho boxer in action.

This card, according to coach August, will be as good, if not better, than the previous fights staged here. The Idaho boxers are in good condition, and they will be out to continue their winning streak. They will be up against stiff competition in the S. A. C. fighters.
