

The Golden Fleece

Rumor has it that Cap Horton will be back from the conference meeting at Palm Springs this weekend with six conference games on the Idaho schedule instead of the customary five for the 1935 season.

About the only effect this change will have will be that Idaho will lose five conference games instead of the usual four.

One Act Play To Be Presented Thursday In University "Hut"

"The Romance of the Willow Pattern," a one-act play by Ethel Vanderveer, will be presented in the Laboratory theatre in the U Hut Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Students from Miss Jean Collette's elementary play production classes are producing the show. Jane Merriek is the student director.

The story is an adaptation of the tragic old Chinese legend of how the willow pattern for china was designed, and of its significance. The play is written and produced after the technique of the Chinese theatre, in which the whole staging is highly imaginative.

D. Kenworthy has Part Dolores Kenworthy plays Koong-see who flees with Chang (Eugene Jay) to escape the cruel machinations of Mandarin (Harry Humphrey). Dorothy Rosevear is cast as Incense Bearer, and Jack James as Property Man.

A play reading will complete this program which is a regular project sponsored by Fred C. Blanchard, head of the dramatics department.

Buying Committee Starts Organizing

Meeting Called to Form Plans on Cooperative Project

Organization of the general committee working on cooperative buying by group houses on the Idaho campus will be started immediately, according to John Aram chairman of the committee.

The first work of the committee will consist in studying the details of the intended system, Aram explained. Essential data on prices of food stuffs and other necessities as well as the cost of distribution of purchases, etc., will be obtained.

"We ourselves know the bad purchasing conditions on the campus and are interested in showing them to everyone."

Former Student of Philippine Islands Has Ye School Spirit

So-o-o-o-o... Idaho's school spirit is on the skids, huh? And the old enthusiasm and loyalty that used to characterize students at Idaho has passed mournfully into the dear, dead days beyond recall, huh?

"I am just sick to think of my Alma Mater and how I wish to be back over there and see once more my old companions. The spirit of Idaho in general and the fine associations I have had with her students far and near are still fresh in my mind and I am crazy to get back. Tell all my professor friends 'hello' for me."

Pampilo graduated from the university in 1932, with a degree in pre-med, and is now attending his own native medical school in the Philippines. The excerpt above is from a letter which he wrote recently to Don Wolfe, prominent campus musician, who graduated last spring and is now employed at the state custodial school of Washington, at Medical Lake.

Says Don, of the young Filipino, "I have been writing to 'Pam' for the last two years, and three years ago I met his relatives while I was traveling in the Islands. His folks were more than grateful for what Idaho was doing for their boy."

Idaho Debaters Chalk Up High Marks On Trip

Were Among Last Six Teams to be Eliminated Out of 42

Whitman Puts Out Idaho

Whitman Defeated by Stanford For Championship; Will Rogers' Son Stanford Debater

Being among the last six teams to be eliminated in the varsity section of a tournament involving 42 debate squads was the record chalked up by Lewis Orland and Cecil Greathouse, Idaho debaters at a tournament held in Salt Lake city November 27 to December 3.

The Idaho team was eliminated in the seventh round of the tournament by the Whitman college squad, which debated Stanford for the championship.

Affirmative Side Wins

"It is interesting to note," said A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, "that Whitman defeated Stanford on the same side of the question as they defeated Idaho—the affirmative. However, when the sides were reversed in the finals, Stanford gained the decision, and the championship."

Another Humorous In Offing

Debating on the Stanford team was Will Rogers, Jr., son of the famous humorist. "There is a remarkable resemblance between Will and his father," said Mr. Whitehead. "His voice is almost identical and his appearance, even to the cowlick, is strikingly similar."

Aside from the debate tournament, the Western association of teachers of speech held sections in which speech, pathology, phonetics, elements of persuasive speech, and other subjects concerning speech were discussed.

En route to Salt Lake city the team met debaters of the Southern Branch and the Utah Aggies in non-decision debates. On their return, debates were held in Kimberly, Idaho and before the Kiwanis club in Boise.

In commenting on his impressions of the University of Utah, Mr. Whitehead stated that he was surprised that a school with only a third more students should have such a fine plant.

"They have a Union building that is finer than any building on our campus," he said. "In it are offices for all student body officers, a cafeteria, beauty parlor, barber shop, a large stage, and a dance floor."

HEAVYWEIGHT AND FEATHERWEIGHT are exchanging punches in this picture, which shows Gene Brado, 200-pounder from Pocatello and Joey August, 130-pounder from Spokane. These two fighters are headliners on the boxing card in the Memorial gym next Friday night. Brado holds the Inland Empire record for quick knockouts, putting Slim Lind of W. S. C. "on ice" in three minutes in his last fight. August is Pacific coast amateur champion.

Story In Boise Statesman Alleges Misunderstanding

Meeting of the general committee planning cooperative buying in Ad. 206, at 7:30 o'clock tonight (Tuesday). Each house send a member to represent it on the committee who will be able to attend all future meetings and is interested in carrying out the plans for pool buying.

Real Need for Cooperative Spirit, Capitol City Writer Believes

Headlined "Misunderstandings Arise Following Effort to Bring Vandals Here in Grid Game," and assertedly written by "the sports editor," Sunday's Idaho (Boise) Statesman carries a two-column article giving "Boise's side of the story" as to why University of Idaho football teams haven't played at the capital city and what sport fans there are urging a Vandal game there next fall.

After referring to articles appearing in student publications on the Boise-Vandal athletic situation, the Statesman article declares: "As matters stand at present there is a real need for a cooperative spirit to be developed. Misunderstandings must be ironed out and imaginary or real injuries forgotten. Boise has its side of the story...."

After discussing one of the campus publication articles, referring to alleged unsportsmanlike treatment of the university's freshman team on its recent visit to Boise, and a statement that "the gate receipts might pay one-third of the total expense," the Statesman declares:

"Several years ago the University of Idaho played the College of Idaho in Boise and each school made several hundred dollars on the game. Two years ago the two schools played at Caldwell and again there was a profit. Games infrequent.

"Idaho games in Boise have been infrequent in late years. For a time, some 12 years ago, an Idaho game was an annual event and there is no existing record in Boise of the Vandals ever suffering any stupendous losses from those games. There remains one game which did not result in complete financial satisfaction. This was in 1932 when the Utah Aggies and the Vandals met in Boise.

"On January 19, 1933, Graduate Manager George Horton sent the Boise school board a financial statement on the game which was not entirely complete, which listed total receipts at $4827.70, and total expenses at 5,089.60, showing a net loss of $261.81.

"This statement, compiled nearly 50 days after the game, came after the school board had written for rental on the field. The first request from the school board was mailed December 13, and a reply from Horton was not received. The matter was taken up with president M. G. Neale January 10. January 17, Neale sent a copy of a letter from Horton, who was then on the Pacific coast, explaining it was his (Horton's) understanding no rental was to be paid as there had been no profit from the game. Horton's preliminary financial statement reached Boise late in January, and on January 27 the school board answered reminding Horton that the no-rent

Idaho Women Debaters Lose Contest To W.S.C.

Washington State College Triumphs Over Idaho and Whitman at Walla Walla

W. S. C. won seven out of eight of the triangular women's debates Thursday at Walla Walla. Whitman and Idaho each won two out of eight.

These debates were participated in by women only. The question was: "Resolved, that the government should place maximum limits on income and inheritance taxes." Each team debated both affirmatively and negatively.

The teams from Idaho included Anne Sweeley and Irma Lewis, and Josephine Mitchell and Virginia Merrick.

Idaho Debaters Meet Pullman Here Thursday

Team Composed of Orland and Greathouse; Is Part of Triangular Tourney

A varsity debate team composed of Lewis Orland and Cecil Greathouse will meet a team from W. S. C. here Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Ad. 201.

The Idaho team will uphold the affirmative of the question, Resolved, that the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions."

The debate to be held is one of the debates of the Idaho-W. S. C.-Whitman triangular meet to be held in Pullman on Saturday. It is through a conflict in the schedules of debates for the meet on Saturday that this debate is slated here prior to the tournament.

Idaho to have Two Teams

At the triangular meet in Pullman, Idaho will be represented by two teams, one composed of Orland and Greathouse, and another team, the members of which have not been announced. The tournament will run for four rounds and ratings for the schools represented will be determined on a percentage basis.

A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, stated that all freshmen and sophomore men and women who plan to debate in the Junior College tournament in January are expected to attend the debate here Thursday evening.

NOTICE

A meeting of the Campus Party will be held at the Delta Chi house Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to discuss Proportional Representation and the advisability of the party's supporting its adoption for student body elections. Leaders of Campus Party organizations who are interested in a discussion of the merits and defects of PR from all angles are invited to attend the meeting.

Clayne Robison, '34, is teaching in the Burley high school. He was a member of Silver Lance, Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, Curtain, Intercollegiate Knights, English club, and Minor "I" club. He was editor of the 1934 "Gem of the Mountains," and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Scottish Players Give "Cotter's Saturday Night"

Scene Laid in Scotland; Musical Background Is First Presented Here

Ballads Well Received

Presents Robert Burns' Own Family Life as Pictured By Him

A large and enthusiastic student audience attended the play, "The Cotter's Saturday Night," given by the Scottish Musical players at the ASUI assembly this morning.

The scene of this musical play was laid in a peasant's cottage in Scotland, about the year 1790. The individual parts were played sympathetically and naturally, giving each member of the audience the feeling that they were participating in the simple joys in the life of any Scotch cotter. The play with its musical background was different from anything the Idaho student body has ever before been able to see. The lulling ballads which have been loved by the Scotch people through the years were especially well received.

Are on Tour

The Scottish Musical players are here under the auspices of the public events committee of the university. They are making their third transcontinental tour. They will go to Lewiston Normal school, Washington State college, and to Spokane.

The play was a picture of Robert, Burn's own family life as he presented it himself in "The Cotter's Saturday Night." The play is in two acts and represents the life in the typical cotter's home on any Saturday night.

Fractures Arm And Leg In Fall

Miss Jensen In Hospital As Result of Accident Sunday

Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department at the university, sustained a broken right arm and right leg in a bad fall at the home economics practice cottage on the campus at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening. She was removed to the Grifman hospital where the fractures were reduced by Dr. J. G. Wilson. He pronounced the breaks not unusually serious, but estimated that Miss Jensen would be confined to her bed for about six weeks.

According to Miss Jensen's story, she was starting down a flight of stairs leading into the basement of the house. The stairway was not lighted and, misjudging the position of the first few steps, she fell. Students in the house taking the practice cottage course, heard her fall and came to her assistance.

The break in the arm was just above the wrist. The leg fracture was in the lower part of the leg. The doctor was called immediately.

This is the second serious injury to a member of the staff of the department of home economics this year. Miss Iva I. Sell, state supervisor of home economics and an instructor at the university, was severely injured about the face and head in an automobile accident October 24 near Preston. Plastic surgery was necessary to remove the marks of disfiguring cuts and Miss Sell is reported as on the road to recovery.

FINAL PLANS MADE BY SOPHOMORES

With a breakfast at the Blue Bucket last Sunday, members of the three sophomore committees met for final arrangements for the Sophomore "Holly-Day" to be held December 13. Announcements were made regarding the assembly, dance, and holly-selling committees.

First "Griper"

In this issue of The Argonaut appears a letter under the head, "Grins and Gripes to the Editor," which reveals student opinion regarding the athletic situation. As far as we can determine it does just that when it asks, "Why can't something be done about the athletic situation at Idaho?" A bit late, we'd say, is this question, but none the less important.

Three cheers to our "griper" for submitting to these columns the first hint of a written student opinion on a question which has been discussed by fireside quarterbacks on the campus throughout the entire football season just past! A solution?—no, but the student consensus is that something should be done if this "gripe" is any indication.

The Argonaut is just a bit disappointed at finding that our editorial columns evidently are not read, but we feel that had the writer of the gripe paid a little closer attention to them he would have found that for which he searched. We are charged with gross negligence in refusing to recognize "the dissention and the ill-feeling that is prevalent among the students of this institution," and failure to record true student opinion.

We did the one thing we thought was necessary during the season. We consistently and vehemently fought the attitude of the student body and some alumni as destructive and detrimental to the best interests of the institution. Nothing constructive toward a solution of the athletic problem was offered and we of the athletic system was becoming dangerously undermined with the attendant threat of complete destruction. We would have been disregarding our obligations entirely if we had not warned the students of that possibility. We did so, more than once.

Alumni throughout the state and in nearby cities have been most instrumental in molding student opinion into a spirit of dissatisfaction with the present coaching staff. More fertile ground could not have been found for sowing such seeds. Witness the spirit of the rooting sections at Idaho games this year.

Perhaps a change in the coaching staff is necessary. Perhaps other courses are open. We are not prepared, nor do we feel capable of saying. What little we and the majority of students know about football coaching would not fill a very big hat—anyhow, the alumni and a few students seem to know all about it. We'll leave discussion of that part of it to them if you don't mind—that is, as long as they stay within reasonable limits.

We hope that the situation is being investigated and discussed thoroughly and sanely. Sometimes, however, it has not been discussed wisely, but too well. We have not failed to express ourselves at those times.

If it's "Huey Long" censorship of The Argonaut that the writer is worried about he might be interested in knowing that no administrative official has ever hinted a desire to dictate what shall or what shall not be printed in the student paper. Any time that is true the editorial chair will be occupied by someone other than the present editor.

Brother, hold up your head and look your friends and relatives in the eye! You, at least, of all the students on the Idaho campus have shown a more than passive interest in athletics at Idaho by contributing the one and only letter to the student opinion column about them! We both agree that something constructive should be done. What?

University President Pays Tribute To Italian Prince

"That prince of good fellows—American mining engineer, Italian nobleman, soldier and ambassador—Prince Gelasio Caetani" is how this one-time resident of Idaho, who died last month, is described by President Francis Thomson of the Montana School of Mines, and former dean at Idaho, at whose suggestion the University of Idaho conferred an honorary degree of LL.D. upon the Prince in 1924.

Concealing the knowledge of his origin, which he said "would have spoiled my camaraderie with my fellow-miners," he sought a job mining lead ore in Kellogg in 1904. Many years later at a commencement breakfast, the man who was then Royal Italian Ambassador said in an address to the mining students who were honoring him, "If any of you boys are working in the mines in the summer time and you want somebody to help you push the car, you just send for Caetani—that is the way I got my start."

Before he was employed in the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining company, the Prince had been graduated from the School of Mines of Columbia university. He had fled there from the gloomy palace in Rome where lived the last members of the house of Caetani, which traces its descent with certainty for eleven centuries and includes two popes in its ancestry.

Entered War

At the outbreak of the World War Caetani left his successful San Francisco engineering firm to serve in the Italian army as a mining engineer. He captured one of the most valuable Italian lookouts, an outpost known as "The Eye of the Austrian Army," which was located on a 9,000-foot, cone-shaped mountain. Nearly 10,000 Italians had lost their lives attempting to get possession of it before Lieut. Caetani calmly proposed blowing off the entire mountain top. After he did this successfully by putting five tons of nitroglycerin in a half-mile tunnel it was an easy matter for the Italians to take possession of the smoking crater.

After his ambassadorship to the United States following the war, he returned to Italy, where, as an American trained engineer, he was fascinated by Mussolini's concept of land reclamation.

In a recent letter to Time magazine, President Thomson said "Every inch a nobleman and a gentleman; at home, in court, in a mining camp, on the battlefield."

Grins and Gripes

TO THE EDITOR

Not An Answer—Just Telling Him He's Wrong; Was Misinformed

Sir: This letter is not being written as an answer to the one which appeared in this column last Friday. It is intended merely to let that writer, to whom I shall refer as Mr. J., know that his arguments have been read, considered, and appreciated. I respect his sincerity, but must remark that he is the misinformed person, not the editor of the BLUE BUCKET.

Differences in opinion have always existed. They help to make this rather dull existence much more interesting. The Idiot-orial section which appeared in the Thanksgiving issue, however, was based on facts and not opinions—facts which remain despite the effort of Mr. J. to tear them down.

With your permission, sir, I would like to present a few points to show just where Mr. J. has erred. These remarks I hope to keep as clear as possible of personal references as they are unnecessary in almost any argument.

1. The editor of the BLUE BUCKET is quite well informed on the Student L. I. D.—so well informed that he can ask pertinent questions which would embarrass any L. I. D. leader.

2. The L. I. D. (League of Industrial Democracy) is a socialistic organization with Norman Thomas, the former Socialist presidential candidate, as one of its two executive directors. Socialism in its very essence is opposed definitely to, and seeks the abolition of fraternities, sororities, and similar groups. The local attempt at an L. I. D. organization must take that same stand if it is to carry out the platform that is behind it.

3. Every man who takes part in military training at the University of Idaho receives one and one-half credits per semester for the time which he puts in. This is very fair compensation for the effort required and is additional to the excellent training received. What, I ask, could be more fair?

4. Mr. J. stated that the editor of the BLUE BUCKET was wrong in his slant on the recent situation at U. C. L. A. because his remarks did not correspond with TIME magazine. Apparently Mr. J. places TIME next in importance to the BOOK OF MORMON or the BIBLE. It so happens however, that one person who was on the inside of the recent strife down at U. C. L. A. and who took an important part in the whole affair supplied his friend, the editor of the BLUE BUCKET, with all vital information concerning the matter. For once, the said editor can laugh at TIME and Mr. J. and say, "Get your own facts straight before you call me again."

Wants Something Done About Athletic Situation; Charges "No Guts"

Sir: Why can't something be done about the athletic situation at Idaho? It seems to be a great game of "hide and seek" or "you're it" or something. Why doesn't somebody get guts enough to come out in the open and discuss the dissention and the ill-feeling that is prevalent among the students of this institution? This last gripe is a direct dig at the Argonaut. As I understand it, the Argonaut is a college paper, published by and for the students—for the students in the sense that the paper will be published for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the university throughout the Northwest. (omitting that terrible person Hawkeye.) As for expressing student opinion, that's a big laugh, and another big laugh was the AP dispatch in the Spokesman the other day that the students at the University of Idaho are very well satisfied with the present coaching staff.

Here's what I would like to see the Argonaut do: run editorials or news items on what the morale of the students really is regarding the present situation so that we can once more read your editorials and news columns with a feeling that we are reading something that is true. The ostrich-like attitude of the Argonaut toward the whole situation would lead one to believe that somebody had the state militia out to clamp a "Huey Long" censorship on the paper in case anything unfavorable to the present staff was printed, but I don't believe that this University's administration believes in the kind of censorship that stifles expression on topics that vitally concern them. If the Argonaut would face the truth instead of "sticking its head in the sand," we might go home at Christmas and look our friends and relatives in the eye and say that no longer are Idaho students assuming a passive attitude about their own interests, but are at least voicing their opinions.

Ohio university (Athens) officials have leased a hotel which is being used as a cooperative rooming house for 65 men students.

"Dangerous Corner" Is Well Received By Playgoers

Swept into the dramatic mood on a wave of screams, suicides, confessions, and tense situations, university audiences were delighted last Friday and Saturday nights by Fred Blanchard's production of "Dangerous Corner."

J. B. Priestley's clever and exciting mystery was effectively staged through the artistic mediums of light, color, line, and movement, as well as from the dramatic standpoint. The set, designed by Theodore Prichard, was so unusual and effective as to place the show, from the first curtain, far beyond the line of the ordinary. It was the paneled interior of an English country home, the lovely floor length window at center left, approached by steps and providing a perfect background for characters and action.

Director and actors imbued the somewhat thin frame of the play with such vitality, color, and variety as to make the show a very real and exciting one, appealing strongly from the intellectual viewpoint as the emotional.

Pierce Appears

Dorothy Pierce, as Freda, put in her first appearance on the Idaho stage since she was cast as the temperamental actress of Coward's "Hay Fever." To her more serious sophisticated role of Freda, Mrs. Pierce brought intelligence and experience which combined to make her performance an outstanding one, distinctly satisfying.

Alline King made her first appearance at Idaho in the rather arduous role of Olwen Peel, which she handled capably and well, and with a distinct charm that added much to the show. She was supported by Paul Selby who again shows up in a darksome role, this time as Charles Stanton, the man-without-evident-scruples. But a good and intelligent conception allowed Selby to take advantage of the leeway afforded by the character, and brought to the role an individual power and interpretation that put him beyond the usual heavy.

Bob Herrick as Gordon and Eldred Stephenson as Robert, both added to their list of performances another consistent, well thought out and capably executed role. Herrick, playing the erratic, unbalanced, Gordon, displayed a sure instinct for the dramatic along with his experienced handling of lines and situations.

The conscientious, honest Robert who sees his illusions shattered as they bump fatally against sordid reality, was played by Stephenson with a steadiness and sincerity that made the role convincing.

Ethlyn O'Neal as Maud Mockridge, and Nina Varian as Betty Whitehouse, Gordon's wife, completed the cast.

MANY and varied were the decoration schemes used at the dances this weekend, and they were all very effective. The Senior Ball with its Egyptian theme was the most outstanding. The "I" club used for its motif "I" blankets and "I" sweaters. Colors were used by both the Delta Gamma upperclassmen in their formal dinner dance, and by members of the L. D. S. Institute for their winter informal. The D. G. S. chose blue and silver, L. D. S., silver and red. Both used a winter motif. The Phi Gamma Deltas went winter in a big way, with their house changed into an Eskimo igloo for the occasion of their informal.

Egyptian Theme Used For Senior Ball

The mystery that is Egypt dominated the atmosphere of the Senior Ball held Saturday at the Blue Bucket. Indirect lighting from behind panels of pyramids and palm trees, separated by realistic drawings of sand dunes gave an effect of the richness of the East, which was accentuated by the dull colors and Egyptian pillars. At the far end of the hall a huge Egyptian head watched the dance with the wise eyes of age. The programs were of white suede with a picture of the Memorial gymnasium on the cover. Guests of honor were Governor and Mrs. C. Ben Ross, Senator and Mrs. William E. Borah, Senator and Mrs. James P. Pope, Congressman and Mrs. Compton I. White, Congressman and Mrs. D. Worth Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Asher B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Day, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Steel, Mr. and Mrs. Clency St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Condie, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jenny, Dean Permeal J. French, Miss Ethlyn O'Neal, and Mr. David Kendrick. Patrons and patronesses were Pres. and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford.

D. G. Upperclassmen Held Dinner Dance

Blue and silver were the predominating colors used at the Delta Gamma upperclassmen's formal dinner held Friday night at the chapter house. In the center of the table was a small lighted tree. Silver candles in blue holders and silvered cedar boughs completed the decorations of the dinner table. The dancing rooms were decorated with cedar boughs covered with icicles. Programs were silver, with a Christmas tree on the cover. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. E. C. Given, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard David. Music was furnished by Chuck Collins' orchestra. Lambda Chi Alpha announces the pledging of Harold Luoma, Caldwell.

"I" Club Held Initiation Dance

"I" blankets and "I" sweaters were the decorations for the "I" club initiation dance held Friday at the Alpha Tau Omega chapter house. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson, and Mr. Glenn Jacoby. Music was furnished by A. C. Whitaker's orchestra.

T. M. A. Holds Christmas Dance

The Christmas motif was carried out at the T. M. A. dance held at the L. D. S. hall last Saturday. Red and green programs were in keeping with the decoration scheme. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. William Banks, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chamberlain, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilde.

L. D. S. Informal Held Friday

Silver and red was the decoration scheme of the L. D. S. winter informal which was held Friday night. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Iddings, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chamberlain, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Tanner.

Eskimo Theme Used For Fiji Dance

The Phi Gamma Delta house became a veritable Eskimo land Saturday night during the annual Christmas dance. Entrance to the house was through a passage-way resembling that of an igloo, and the entire house was decorated to carry out that theme. An arrangement of lights at the windows produced the effect of northern lights. Programs had sketches of igloos on the covers and the dances were typically named. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poulton, Mr. John Beckwith, and Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Coope. Music was furnished by Chuck Collins' orchestra.

Forney hall entertained at their informal dance Friday evening. Christmas wreaths and green and red yuletide ropes consisted of the decorations. Programs were white with a silver star with brilliant green cords. The patronesses were Dean Permeal French, Miss Shoup, Miss Evans, and Miss Kelley

Juniors Honor Seniors Of Home Ec Department

Banquet Held in Form of Old English Christmas Party Saturday Evening

In honor of the senior women majoring in home economics, the juniors sponsored a banquet Saturday evening in the form of an old English Christmas party. The program was under the direction of Miss Adah Lewis, associate professor of home economics and was held in the home economics rooms. Some English food customs and their accompanying pageantry were revived. These included the Yule log year; pheasant pie, decorated with the head and feathers of a pheasant; roasted boar's head with an apple in its mouth and garnished with ivy and holly; and an English plum pudding encircled in flame and decorated with holly. Costumes lend atmosphere. These events were accompanied by appropriate carols sung by a family of "waits" in peasant attire. Four waitresses, dressed in serving men's costumes of the 17th century, served a typical English menu.

Mortar Board "Dime" Drive For Orphans Is Now Underway

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, is conducting its annual Christmas "dime" drive to raise money for the two orphanages in Idaho. Each person in a group house is asked to contribute 10 cents to the fund. The money will be used to buy candy and other foods to fill the children's stockings. The members of Mortar Board feel that this small sum from each of these students is not too much to ask, in that it will provide a way to give these children a happier Christmas.

agreement was only effective in case the receipts were less than the guarantee to the visiting team. The Utah Aggies had been guaranteed $2500. On this basis the school board asked the university to pay the customary 10 per cent rental, or $482.77.

More Correspondence
The article continues to relate purported correspondence between Moscow and Boise school officials and other interested persons, and then continues with the final statement from Manager Horton, showing a loss on the game of $1163.56.

Continuing, the article declares that "The Boise Junior chamber of commerce during the last year met with the school board and worked out a percentage agreement, which eliminates the item of rental in case the game results in a financial loss."

"If the university will delve into the true feeling at Boise, it will find that the capital city is more than willing to cooperate," the statement declares in conclusion. "Naturally, any Boise organization that is willing to guarantee expenses for a game also want the right to supervise the expenses of the game..."

In the manufacture of Granger Rough Cut Pipe Tobacco the Wellman Process is used.

The Wellman Process is different from any other process or method and we believe it gives more enjoyment to pipe smokers.

- ...it gives the tobacco an extra flavor and aroma
- ...it makes the tobacco act right in a pipe—burn slower and smoke cooler
- ...it makes the tobacco milder

He Covers the Sports Pages—that's Otto Anderson, pessimistic handy man down liniment lane. Besides giving the frosh Ps and Qs on football and the varsity "guys" pointers during the track season, Ott has become general handy man for the publicity manager and the Argonaut sports staff.

Anytime you want to know if Whozzis got third against Whazzis in say, 1929, just inquire of mentor Anderson for particulars. He's the answer to that one, Did You Ever See a Sports Encyclopedia Walking? Whoa—

But with all kidding aside, Ott reads every exchange and daily paper that reaches The Argonaut or athletic offices. And don't pun him on the fact, or he'll pull that one about the man from Montana. It seems that few years ago Montana had a javelin tosser named Lockwood, or something, who was tossing the spear about 200 feet. Ott noticed in the Kaminin, Montana student paper, that Lockwood was being groomed to take first against Idaho in a dual meet. Digging back in his memory Ott decided this gent was ineligible. He had it investigated and the officials found that Lockwood had already had his three years of competition. Moral for coaches—to acquire Ott's yen for reading sports pages.

Roger Johnson, writing "side lines," a column in the Daily Californian, came up with one like this: "McCue, a few years ago, certainly was not material for an all-anything football team. As a high school student at South Pasadena he suffered from paralysis in the legs. He was advised to go out for swimming. A little splashing about, and not long afterward, became a beeg strong man and went to Idaho where he played football—with a vengeance."

The only thing wrong with the yarn is that when questioned by Ray Gibbs, publicity man for the athletic department, McCue denied ever having any intimate relations with a par-o-lices or paralysis. Incidentally all this publicity in the California paper was due to the fact that Bob was picked at tackle on the all-opponent first team of the Golden Bears.

Oregon takes a 3000-mile jaunt this weekend to play Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday. Two years ago the two clubs met on a frozen field with Oregon, winning, 12 to 0. The Oregonians may come back senators, colonels, or something, should Huey Long decide to bestow his favor upon the boys.

Vandal Fighters To Tangle With Champions On Friday

Three Well-Known Battlers To Meet Vandals at Memorial Gym

The "meeting of the champions" could well be the title of the next fistic performance to be staged at the Memorial gymnasium next Friday night.

Five title holders are scheduled to mix gloves in the fight card, which is the second to be held in Moscow this season. Idaho has two Pacific coast champions matched, and three of the opponents hold title.

The main bout of the evening will be between Joey August, Idaho, Pacific coast champion, and Young Walden, Moscow Athletic club. Walden has 10 years of fistic experience to his credit, and is expected to be in condition to make a fast and furious exchange of punches with August. He has a five-pound edge on weight, tipping the scales at 135 pounds against 130 for August.

"Taken off the Friday boxing card because of a sprained leg, Bob Sitterlee, 120-pound Idaho frosh, will be replaced by Bill Morrow," announced Coach Louis August. MORROW TO MEET COEUR D'ALENE CHAMP

Morrow, a former Golden Glove champion of North Dakota, will afford a more even match for Bill Woodruff, heavyweight champion of Coeur d'Alene. Woodruff has won his last three fights by knockouts, and he is reported as being plenty tough. Both weigh in at 195 pounds.

Brado, who substituted for Morrow two weeks ago at Potlatch, will meet Toby Hepp, another heavyweight champion from Spokane. Brado, 200 pounds, created quite a reputation for himself when he knocked out his man in the first three seconds of his last fight.

GOLDEN GLOVE CHAMPION TO APPEAR

Roy Hanford, Idaho, 165-pounder, is scheduled to fight Bob Haas, Golden Glove champion of Chicago. Haas is short, rugged, and has the appearance of a wrestler.

The grudge battle of the evening is between George Riddle, Idaho, and Billy Morro, Spokane athletic club. Moro has been trying to get a fight ever since Riddle won the coast championship. Just previous to this, Riddle won a decision over Moro. Both men weigh in at 120 pounds.

PRELIMS TO FEATURE CLASSY FIGHTERS

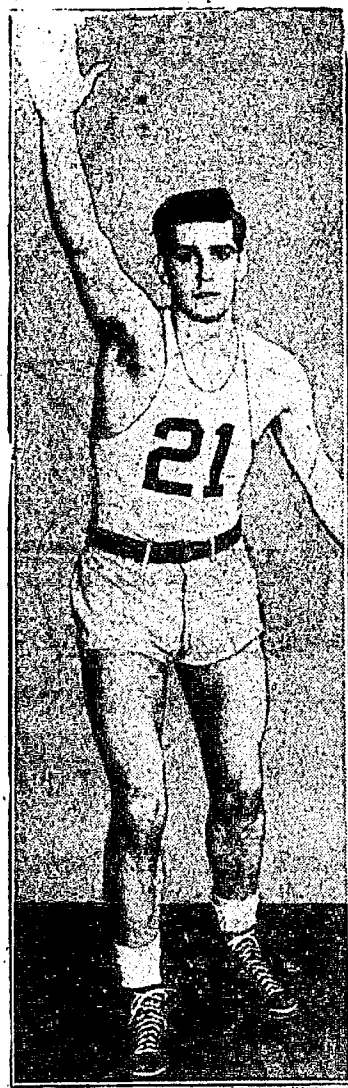

A number of good fighters are scheduled for the preliminaries. Morrey Fickes, who has won two out of three fights this season, Luke Purcell, a hard fighter, Earl Spencer, and Roy Hanford. The men that the Spokane American Legion is sending have established reputations in Spokane boxing circles.

FOIL-MASK CLUB HOLDS INITIATION

The Foil and Mask club, fencing organization, initiated 11 members of the University of Idaho's fencing squad last Saturday at the Blue Bucket Inn. Frank Bevington, Clyde Inman, Arthur Nelson, Frank Beach, Alfred Nugent, Rex McDowell, Ray Rhodes, Fred Rasmussen, Henry Rosevear, and Harold Ellington were those who were initiated. Robert Hyslop, Spokane; Maurice Castle, W. S. C.; Don Morrison, W. S. C.; and Goldsworthy, W. S. C. were the initiation officers.

Fencing Squad Loses To W. S. C. by Score of 5-4 in Close Contest

Idaho's foil and maskers lost a close decision to the fencing team from W.S.C. in a contest held in the Memorial gym last Saturday.

"Many of the new men look exceptionally good," stated Ray West-son, coach of the Idaho squad, after the meet. "Only one letterman took part in the contest, yet Idaho was defeated by only one touch, the final score being 5 to 4 in favor of W. S. C."

The results of the individual contests were: Beach, Idaho, defeated Goldsworthy, W.S.C.—5-3; Nugent, Idaho, defeated Ricketts, W.S.C., 5 to 4; Marrison, W.S.C., defeated Weston, Idaho, 5 to 4; Goldsworthy, W.S.C., defeated Nugent, Idaho, 5 to 3; Beach, Idaho, defeated Ricketts, W.S.C., 5 to 2; Marrison, W.S.C., defeated Nugent, Idaho, 5 to 1; Weston, Idaho, defeated Ricketts, W.S.C., 5 to 3; Marrison, W.S.C., defeated Beach, Idaho, 5 to 2; Goldsworthy, W.S.C., defeated Weston, Idaho, 5 to 4.

The contest was refereed by Bob Hyslop of Spokane.

New head coaches have taken office this fall at 27 football-playing colleges in eastern United States.

Speculation as to Coach Rich Fox's starting line-up tonight at Walla Walla, when the Vandals line up against the fast Whitman five, was slightly quelled shortly before the team left this noon when Fox intimated that Bert Larson, Bob Mulica, Norm Iverson, Wally Geraghty, and Merle Fisher will get the call.

Twelve men—including those already mentioned, Ron Martin, Don Snedaker, Ken Robertson, Vic Warner, Walt Carte, Woody Hall, and Paul Fuller—made the trip along with student manager Clem March.

ALL TWELVE WILL GET CHANGE

"It's a toss-up at present for positions," Coach Fox was quoted as saying yesterday, adding that the non-conference, tilts between now and the first of the month will undoubtedly determine the "first-stringers." "All the men will be used against the Missionaries, for the object of the two-game invasion is to give me a chance to look the men over in action," he said.

Both Larson and Mulica, who will start at forward, are sophomores. Larson starred on last season's frosh club, while Mulica is a transfer from the Southern Branch where he was a luminary in Coach Guy Wicks' quintet last winter. Iverson, one-year veteran at guard, will be given a test at center filling in the vital spot left vacant by the graduation of Howard Grenier, last year's all-conference center.

VETERAN GUARDS WILL GET CALL

At guard Geraghty and Fisher, both juniors, will take over the posts at which they were outstanding last season. In practice, Martin and Snedaker, forwards, Robertson, center, and Warner and Carte, guards, have been scrimmaging as a unit against Fox's tentative starting five, so some substituting along unit lines might be in store for Nig Borleske's hoopmen. However, before the

Railroad Rates To Remain Unchanged

Reduction of Fares During Year Make Special Rates Impossible

The special rates offered by the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific railways for students going home for Christmas will not be lowered. Rumors to the effect that the rates will be reduced a few days before the vacation have been definitely denied by the ticket agents at both stations.

The rate is determined by the Interstate Commerce Commission approximately 30 days prior to the vacation and is the same for students and other passengers all over the United States. Formerly a special cent-a-mile vacation rate has been offered, but the railways have cooperated in reducing all fares during the past year, making an additional reduction impossible.

Record Frosh Turnout of 53 Answers Call For Hoop Material

A record freshmen turnout of 53 men covered the maple court in the gym last night in the initial practice for the Vandal "Babes" basketball club.

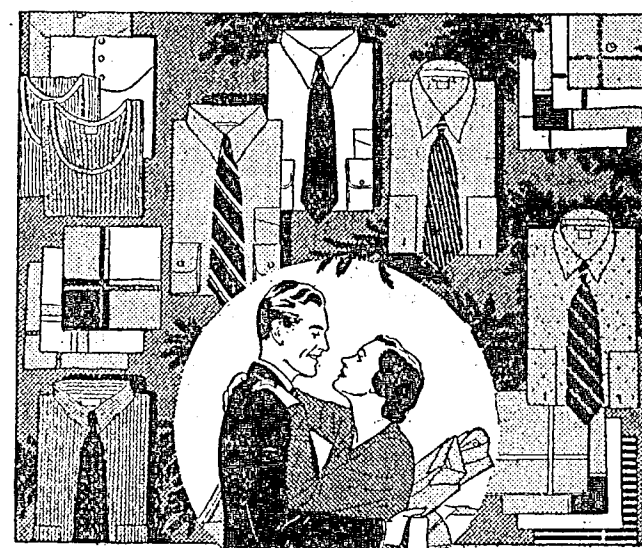

"Nothing can be definitely said about the prospects of the squad so early in the season," was Coach Red Jacoby's comment. "Several all-state high school stars have turned out, and more can be told the later part of the week when the squad will be cut to 15 men."

Practice in Afternoon Practice for the team is scheduled to begin at 4 p. m. Tuesday and Wednesday this week. Following the return of the varsity, practice for the frosh will be changed to 7:30 p. m.
