Hill Billy Theme Is Employed in Annual "Taps and Terps"

Elaborately Costumed Egyptian Dance Drama Concludes Recital

By Marian Willsey

A widely varied program including Hill Billy dances, tumbling, and an Egyptian dance drama in the modern manner featured W. A. A.'s presentation of the eighth annual "Taps and Terps" last evening.

Janette Wirt's beginning and advanced classes in interpretive dancing first presented in subsequent groups a few of the fundamental principles of composition taken from the techniques of some of the outstanding leaders in the Modern Dance Movement in America today.

Dances Own Arrangement
This serious vein was broken in an abrupt manner by the appearance of Catherine Bjornstad dancing her own clever arrangement of "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain," accompanied by the Hill "Nellie" sextette—Carol Campbell, Dorothy Armstrong, Betty Bandelin, Louise Paulsen, Rosanne Roark, and Agda Walden. Much applause greeted the three following tap routines danced respectively by Charlotte Ahlquist and Mary Hamacher, Patricia Espe and Charlotte Kennedy, and Lucille Nelson.

A clog dance "Oh! Susanna" by three mountaineers, Edith Brown, Bernice Sather, and Rosalea Sanderson and a tap dance number, "Clementine," by Ernestine Wentworth added to the hilarity of this portion of the program which closed with an ensemble arranged by the clog dancing class.

Tumbling Too
The tumbling class under the direction of Mabel Locke, presented forward, backward, and crab rolls, cartwheels, and such representative couple stunts were performed with expert timing by several members of the class and the entire group appeared in a series of pyramids. Performers were Dorothy Armstrong, Alma Bissell, Leah Buchanan, Julie Davis, Frances Eldridge, Tillie Jeppesen, Helen Jewel, Margaret Lawyer, Mary McKinley, Josephine Mitchell, Mary Louise Murdoch, Lucille Nelson, Lois Pierce, Jane Post, Lois Russell, Ruth Walker, Anne Sweeley, Barbara Walker, and Helen E. Wilson.

One of the outstanding performances of the evening was the "Rumor" continuity danced by Betty Mix and members of the creative dancing classes. Dim green lights lent the proper malicious aura to the shrouded figures of the gossips whose every gesture and movement told a story without words.

A quixotic change of mood characteristic of the program as

Livestock Show To Be May 4

Students Completing Preparations for 12th "Little International"

With only two weeks left to complete their preparations, students of the University of Idaho college of agriculture are working hard to make their 12 annual "Little International" livestock show, Saturday, May 4, even better than the excellent shows of former years.

"It's going to be a big show," says Bill David, this year's manager. "Around 100 students are at work grooming their entries for the various fitting and showing contests. At least that many will take part in various judging and identification contests on the day of the show."

Student Project
Planned and executed entirely by students, Idaho's "Little International" livestock show has attained a standard of excellence which attracts several hundred regular attendants.

"This show has an educational value difficult to overestimate," believes Dean E. J. Idings of the college of agriculture. "It gives our students opportunities to show experience and general leadership which come but seldom under ordinary circumstances. In addition it offers the people of the people of the Inland Empire who have little opportunity of attending the large expositions a chance to see fine livestock in a real livestock show. We find the appreciation of this opportunity steadily growing."

Everyone interested in livestock is invited to the university students' "Little International."

Kappas Win Bridge Tourney A.T.O.s Second

Emily Gascoigne and Jane Archbold First Coeds to Win

Gus Pene and Gene Kiley Only One Point Behind Winners

Emily Gascoigne and Jane Archbold of Kappa Kappa Gamma demonstrated last night that coeds are able to do more than gossip over the bridge table by winning the Argonaut bridge tournament. This is the first time in the history of the tournament that women have offered any serious competition to men players. Out of the twenty hands played last night against selected opponents the winners were low on only three hands and were first on seven. They were able to make a total of 33½ points. Alpha Tau Omega with 32½ was second.

Guest teams played North and South and student teams played East and West. All the biddable hands seemed to fall on the east side of the board so that last night's play was more of a defensive test than an offensive one. The four teams playing last night were the result of an elimination contest which began with the teams from 16 group houses: Delta Tau Delta who had until last night been showing up exceedingly well was unable to stop any of its opponents and made a lower score than it had in any previous night of play.

For some unknown reason the T. M. A. team failed to appear last night and it was necessary for the tournament directors to select a team at random to fill in. Bill McCrea and Worth Clark playing as substitutes for the T. M. A. team were able to represent them creditably. They made 31½ points, only two points below the winners.

Mary K. Riley and Al Anderson, tournament directors, wish to express their appreciation to Major and Mrs. A. B. O'Connell, Mrs. Berniece Day Maloney, Mrs. E. R. Russell, and Del Smith for their kindness in playing as guest teams last night. They also wish to thank Mr. Bob Woods of the Blue Bucket Inn for permitting them to hold play there. The loving cup awarded by the Argonaut will be presented as soon as it arrives from the engravers.

Buchanan Receives Forestry Award

High Ranking Student Gets Membership in Society of American Foresters

The annual XI Sigma Phi award for the outstanding graduating senior of the Forestry School was presented to Thomas Stewart Buchanan of Morton, Wash., by Liter E. Spence, at the Foresters' Banquet at the Blue Bucket Inn Wednesday.

A committee composed of two faculty members and two students selects the most outstanding senior. Their selection is based 50 per cent on scholarship, 15 per cent on personality, 10 per cent on professional interest, and 10 per cent on practical experience in forestry work. To be eligible for this selection the student must not have made less than a 4.5 average in scholarship in his first two years and not less than a 5.0 average during his junior and the first semester of his senior year.

Award is Membership
The award is a junior membership to the Society of American Foresters paid for one year. Stewart Buchanan is this year's editor-in-chief of the Idaho Forester, the student forestry journal of the university. He has maintained a 6.0 average in scholarship for the past two semesters and has had seven years of experience fifth the division of forest pathology in Portland.

Dr. W. L. Badger Addresses Chemists

Dr. W. L. Badger of the University of Michigan, spoke Wednesday at the Hotel Moscow to the Washington-Idaho border section of the American Chemical Society. His subjects were Development of the Forced Circulation Evaporator, and the "Dizrenyl Heating Medium." These were technical talks dealing with heat transmission.

Two Debates Will Be Held Here Friday

Two freshman debate teams from the University of Washington will meet two teams from Idaho Friday evening at 7:30 for the purpose of debating the question, "Resolved: That the Nations of the World Should Agree to Prevent the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions." Two debates will be held simultaneously in rooms 201 and 207 of the Administration building. The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by Ray Randall and Robert Mason; Kent McQueen and Bill Reese will uphold the negative. Both teams are representing the University of Idaho.

The debate will be of the cross question type. "This form of debate is especially interesting in that a person must know a great deal more about his subject than in the ordinary type of debate so that he will be prepared to answer any and all questions that he might be asked," said A. E. Whitehead, university debate coach.

Board Declares Gladys Coiner Ineligible

Because of insufficient credit hours, Gladys Coiner, nominated on the United Students party ticket for senior woman, was declared ineligible by the executive board to run for office in the coming ASUI election. All other candidates on both Campus and U. S. party tickets were declared eligible. The election committee for the coming election will be composed of five members. The percentage of the committee will be three from one party and two from the other instead of four to one as it has been in former years.

No Write-Ins
Names cannot be written in on the ballot and every precaution is being taken to make the election clean and fair. The faculty are not entering into the election proceeding because they feel confident that the students will conduct the election on a fair basis.

"House presidents have expressed a strong opinion against egg throwing," says Dave Kendrick, president of the student body. "Presidents of each house are inducing their members to cooperate to see that there are no wholesale egg fights."

Wyckoff Discusses Blister Rust Work

Students Should Enroll in Re-employment Service

"Students seeking employment in blister rust control this summer," said S. N. Wyckoff, national director of blister rust control, "should register with the National Re-employment service as soon as possible. An office is located in Moscow to take care of such requests," he said. Mr. Wyckoff, a guest of the Associated Foresters, at their 19th annual banquet held in the Blue Bucket Inn Wednesday night, addressed about 200 people. Forestry students, faculty members from all departments, prominent foresters and timbermen attended the banquet which is the big affair of the year for the School of Forestry.

"The average American forester has an erroneous conception of the forests and the forestry methods of central Europe," said George F. Cornwall, guest of honor and managing editor of the "Timberman," leading magazine in the profession. Mr. Cornwall spent a summer in central Europe as a member of a party financed by the Oberlander Trust to study problems that Germany and the United States have in common. Last summer forestry was chosen as the subject of mutual interest to the two nations.

Jibe at Faculty
Brennon Davis, toastmaster, and Joe Wheeler as a learned doctor, were able to vent their good natured spleen at the expense of the faculty and to the amusement of the guests. The Associated Foresters furnished most of the entertainment but many people, unfamiliar with the temperament of the forester, would have received a distinct shock to hear J. C. Evenden, entomologist in charge of Forest Insect control work in Montana and Idaho, give a slant on some of the parasites that infect our forests. A. R. Waisnant, secretary of the Pacific Logging Conference, told in no uncertain, but humorous terms, the future of Idaho forestry students.

Many Noted Persons
Among other prominent guests and speakers present Wednesday night were W. A. Rockie, director of Soil Erosion control; C. L. Billings, of the Clearwater Forests; E. H. Myrick, regional forest supervisor; E. H. Steffen, Dean of the School of Forestry at W. S. C. and Dr. R. E. McArdle, Dean of the Idaho School of Forestry. Stewart E. Buchanan received the annual award of XI Sigma Phi national professional honorary, given to the senior who has shown exceptional ability and interest in the profession and whose energy and scholarship have been outstanding.

GRAD IS AUTHOR OF ARTICLES

J. L. Thomason, '29, recently was co-author of an article in "The General Electric Review." The article has to do with an impulse generator built by him which will deliver 100,000 amperes at 150,000 volts.

An earlier article, also by Thomason, appeared in "Electrical Engineering," in January, 1934. This article related to the same subject.

French Donates Fourth Scholarship Cup

Gift Made To Replace Men's Trophy Won by L.D.S. Institute Last Coeds Have No Cup

Burton L. French, '01, distinguished Idaho graduate and genial patron of scholarship among men's groups on the campus, walked briskly into the president's office Tuesday afternoon with a large bundle under his arm. Carefully removing paper and cotton packing, he placed on Dr. M. G. Neale's desk a sterling silver cup—men's scholarship trophy No. 4.

Juniors To Have Amateur Night

Harlem to Be Theme of All-College Blue Bucket Mixer

In the greatest search being conducted for good and poor talent on the campus next Tuesday night, the juniors will chase across the auditorium stage a group of green-horns. Nevertheless, they'll be headliners in the junior assembly, the curtain-raiser on junior week.

Tuesday's assembly is an amateur hour—or "hours" according to the number of timid performers who show up. Undoubtedly, some amateur will strike upon his life's profession Tuesday night—acting, singing or playing. If he doesn't, he will strike upon his head back stage as the death gong rings and a stage hook jerks him out of the lime-light, much as a shepherd snares a scared sheep.

Winner Gets Ticket
Anyway, the junior assembly will be an amateur night. The winner will receive a free ticket to the junior prom. The judges will be the audience. Should the applause handed two performers be practically equal, Dean Green, master of ceremonies, will rely on some think-quick scheme to determine the winner.

Students who feel they can put off the fateful Chase and Sarnborn strike of the amateur gong must meet with Joe Paquet, assembly chairman, in the auditorium Monday night at 7:30 p. m.

Collins to Play
Probably many amateurs will try to emit musical notes of the assembly. To keep the audience mindful of how a musical note sounds, Chuck Collins' orchestra will break in with some numbers at regular intervals, depending upon how efficient the amateurs are.

Every street will be Lennox avenue to juniors next week. Harlem moves in on the Blue Bucket for the junior all-college mixer Wednesday night. It's a no-date affair with women admitted free, but no one will be admitted without a costume. The Blue Bucket is Harlem. Costumes must show it! Too many Amos 'n Andys may not be able to gain admittance to the Cab Calloway rush.

W.S.C. Engineer Show To Be Held Today

Idaho and Washington State College Alternate Yearly; To Start at 2:30 p. m.

Idaho cooperates with W. S. C. The Associated Engineers of each school take turns putting on the annual Engineers' show. Last year Idaho put on the biggest one in history, and now Pullman claims they have topped Idaho's.

Today from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. and from 7:30 to 11 p. m., the W. S. C. show will be on and of a magnitude that is claimed to make Barnum look like a piker.

All Departments Participate
All of the engineering departments, together with the chemistry, physics, and other scientific departments will be putting on an exhibit of their equipment, and numerous experiments will be in progress. Several manufacturing processes in miniature in operation will be shown.

An invitation to the public is extended according to officers.

WEE WILLIE SMITH TURNS COACH

"Little Giant" Willis Smith, the same gridiron flash who had thirty thousand New York professional football fans chanting last fall, "We want to see the little guy," turned coach recently for several days to help Mentor Loren Basler put his College of Idaho team through its spring practice.

The new Burton L. French trophy will be awarded next fall to the men's group hanging up the best scholastic average this year. Three wins by the same group, not necessarily consecutively, will earn permanent possession of the cup. Eligibility to compete is stated as follows in the registrar's records: "... group of men students in the University of Idaho, the majority of whose members live in the same house or hall. ..."

Women's groups this year do not have the stimulus of a trophy. Kappa Alpha Theta sorority upset the women's scholastic apocryph last year by winning the Mary McClintock Upham trophy for the third and final time.

Started in 1919
Group scholastic competition on the Idaho campus dates back to 1919, when Elizabeth Kidder Lindley, wife of President E. H. Lindley, offered a handsome silver trophy for campus-wide competition. The first year's results showed the men to be hopelessly out of the running, what with their best group falling below the tallier in the women's division. Buton L. French then came to the men's rescue by offering a separate cup for which they alone would compete.

With all groups starting from scratch in the fall of 1920, Phi Gamma Delta fraternity ranked first among men for three straight years, winning the cup with no loss of time. In those days the Phi's lived in the present Teks house across town. They were installed into Phi Gamma Delta in 1921.

Mr. French put up his second trophy in 1923. Sigma Chi, installed the following spring, won it the first year. Tau Kappa Iota (later Tau Kappa Epsilon) won it for 1924-25, and Beta Chi (now Delta Tau Delta) for 1925-26. Tau Kappa Iota then rallied and won the cup permanently by ranking first for the following two years, having meanwhile been installed into Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Lasted Six Years
Competition for the third trophy began with Sigma Chi optimistically winning two legs, in 1928-29 and 1929-30. Tau Kappa Epsilon came through to win it the following year. The L. D. S. Institute appeared on the scene when its petition for eligibility to compete was granted by the academic council in 1931. Thereupon the L. D. S. men girded their loins and won themselves the cup by ranking first for three years. Their second year, 1932-33, they broke all precedent by ranking well above the highest women's group.

Rivalry in the women's division has been keener, and less expensive for donors of trophies. Phi Beta Phi won the original Elizabeth Kidder Lindley cup in 1925, with Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Gamma each managing to hold it for one-year periods.

Mary McClintock Upham, wife of Idaho's following president, donated the trophy which Kappa Alpha Theta won last year. Alpha Phi and Delta Delta Delta both held it twice, and Delta Gamma and Forestry hall once.

Rome once prohibited women's wearing more than a certain weight of gold.

Prosecuting Attorney Confident As Wetherall Case Nears Trial

"Unfortunately for the defendant, when we get through presenting our case, the defense won't have a leg to stand on," said Prosecuting Attorney Casady Taylor in discussing the case of State versus Wetherall which comes up for trial at 7:30 p. m. Monday, before the Bench and Bar court, held in room 311 of the Administration building.

"Unfortunately for the state, when we get through presenting our case, the prosecution won't have a leg to stand on," said chief defense counsel John Frederick Cromwell in discussing the same case.

Defendant Is Sullen
The defendant, William Wetherall, who sits in the murky shadows of his cell in the Latah county jail, surrounded by steel bars and old cigarette packages, had no comment, even after he had been notified yesterday in the law library, that he had been in jail since the middle of last month. He is acting under advice of counsel not even to make a front porch campaign. He won't talk. However, he is said to have made a 15 minute radio appeal last night for funds to prove his innocence.

The charge against Wetherall is that he struck and killed the late David Smith with an automobile as the result of negligent and reckless driving. The attorneys appearing on behalf of the state in the case include Ralph Armstrong, William Renfrew, William Furchner, and William Tuson. This staff has been holding sessions regularly during the past week. Reports show that they are prepared to spring a number of surprise witnesses. Some of them, it is said, actually saw the events about which they will testify.

Surprise Witnesses To Appear
Defendant's attorneys assisting Cromwell, include Clyde Boyatt, Dale Clemons, Robert Kerr, Robert Peterson, and James McCabe. They have been meeting on the case every evening during the past week. Reports from their closely guarded camps indicate that they have obtained a number of surprise witnesses also, but it has apparently not yet been decided whether they will be allowed to appear to tell the truth.

The matter came last Thursday when Cromwell, for the defense met Renfrew for the state, to discuss certain preliminary matters concerning the trial. At that time Chief Justice Carl Buell, who is handling the the preliminary ar-

Committee Submits Revision of Constitution

P.R. Will Also Be Voted Upon by Students May 2

Every Section Is Changed; Favorable Vote Will Take Publications and Managerships Out of Politics

On May 2 members of the ASUI will go to the polls to select officers of the student body. At the same time, however, they will vote on a new constitution which will be presented for their approval via the ballot box. No article of the old document has been retained as it originally appeared. Each has been changed in form if not in substance, according to Bill Wetherall, chairman of the revision committee.

The major point for the consideration of the students who vote on the constitution May 2 is the provision for proportional representation. Briefly the P. R. plan provides that the president of the ASUI shall be elected by popular vote and the executive board shall be elected by the P. R. method. The ballot will be so arranged that the student may vote on the whole constitution and may separately indicate his choice for or against proportional representation.

Board to Make Appointments
Under the new constitution, with a view to taking publications out of politics, a board will function in making appointments. The board will consist of four permanent members representing the publication.

FEATURES OF THE NEW CONSTITUTION

1. An alternative P. R. plan.
2. A Publications Board taking publications out of politics.
3. New Method of selecting Yell King and Yell Dukes.
4. Selection of May Queen, Maid of Honor, and Page by the A. W. S.
5. New set of election rules.
6. Awards brought up-to-date.
7. A Board of Arbitration for the settlement of questions of interpretation.
8. Campus rules modified.
9. Provisions for class organization.
10. Titles for all sections to promote clarity and ease of finding material.

A vote for the new constitution is a vote for a better ASUI!

members and three temporary members representing the publication in question. Provision is made for a judiciary to give final interpretation to the constitution, the deadwood and obsolete carry over has been weeded out, the point system for awards has been checked over, section titles have been provided for greater clarity, and campus rules have been brought up to date, according to Wetherall. Ratification of the constitution requires a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Wetherall, Mary Ellen Brown, Cassidy Taylor, Hamer Budge, and Keith McDaniels served on the revising committee. In revising the constitution the committee attempted to eliminate the uncertainties of the old constitution which have caused ill feelings in the past, to reduce political influences to the minimum, and to give greater consideration to minority groups through proportional representation.

"We hope the students will weigh the new constitution as a whole," said the chairman. "We have probably left many loop-holes, because it is impossible to avoid them entirely. No constitution ever did. We have tried to get a majority of opinion knowing that we could not suit everybody. We recommend proportional representation."

Following is the text of the proposed constitution:

Journalism Students See Spokane Plants

Elmer Beth Takes Group Through Paper Mill, Lithograph Company, and Chronicle Plant

"I have never had a group that was more agreeable and willing to cooperate," said Elmer J. Beth, journalism instructor, "than the journalism students who went on the field trip to Spokane Wednesday. I was delighted that we were able to conform almost to the minute with our schedule."

The group left at 5:45 a. m. in the university bus, and the first point of interest was the Inland Empire Paper company at Millwood, Wash., where the entire process of making paper, from the time the logs were split and chipped until the finished product was prepared and wrapped for the consumer was viewed.

The rest of the morning was spent at the Spokane Lithographing company, where the various methods of lithographing were explained and illustrated.

See Engraving Company. After luncheon at the Dessert Oasis, the party toured the Spokane American Engraving company. Here they were shown how photos are enlarged and the various processes involved in etching.

The rest of the afternoon until 4 o'clock was spent inspecting the business offices, composing room, stereotype department, mailing room, and press room of the Spokane Chronicle. Associated Press dispatches, syndicated material, and stock reports were coming into the offices regularly, and the varied codes they followed proved interesting, according to Professor Beth.

Egyptian Dance

An elaborately costumed Egyptian dance drama concluded the program. The head priest, Anne Sweeley, of a local temple of Isis, Beulah Moore, has read in the stars that the statue of the goddess will come to life when a certain prince, Rosaline Roark, overcome by love, shall come to sacrifice himself to the goddess. The dance of the priestesses—Harriet Aston, Velma Bever, Catherine Bjornstad, Margaret Lawyer, Mae Pugh, and Mary Schlueter—is interrupted by the entrance of the priest. The desperate prince solos his love and expires. Then Isis comes to life and dances an Oriental interpolation, but is forced to become an image once more at the priest's bidding. The incense which burned in huge braziers on the stage front increased the mystic spell of the dance.

An enthusiastic reception was accorded all of the numbers, and murmurs of "Exceptionally intelligent dancing—graceful—skillful" were heard from an appreciative audience, lingering in the aisles after the final curtain.

A record for its kind was made when 25 persons leaped with parachutes from a single airplane flying near Moscow.

Brown university students have read "Pop-eye" with a vengeance.

They rate spinach as their most popular dish, with carrots and string beans running second. Milk is the favorite beverage—and fruit for dessert.

Representative Executive Board

In this issue of The Argonaut is printed in full the proposed new constitution for the ASUI. It is the product of careful study and research on the part of the revision committee and we need hardly tell you that it is very important that every student read the new laws carefully before voting on them at the election May 2.

Incorporated on the ballot upon which the students will vote in this regard is the opportunity to select between proportional representation and popular vote as a method of selection of the members of the executive board.

We have contended throughout the discussion of this question that P. R. was desirable and necessary for the efficient conduct of student government at Idaho. Now that the new constitution is completed our point is borne out with even more forcefulness. An examination of the new constitution brings out the greater number of appointive offices which will be made in contrast to those now selected by general election. This is in line with progressive methods of revision of government advocated by political economists and incorporated into the more up to date collegiate constitutions.

However, let us point out that since a greater number of offices are to be directly or indirectly under the control of the executive board it is important that a truly representative body be selected. There is only one way to make that selection—by proportional representation.

and smoothes the way for the prodigal's homecoming. Should we try it here?

at the cinema

at the Kenworthy—"Great Expectations" comes to the screen Friday and Saturday with the real Dickens flavor untouched, right out of the pages of one of the most human, absorbing and dramatic novels conceived by this greatest of English novelists, an ever-living classic of literature for all time. The story of "Great Expectations" will never grow old. It is just as fascinating and thrilling today as it was when Dickens wrote it, almost a hundred years ago, in his beloved house at Gadshill. The story is full of descriptions of the countryside surrounding his home, of the Kentish lanes he loved so well; but it is also vivid with scenes of the London of his day, for Dickens was a great cosmopolitan figure and could write of that great city and its people with more understanding than any writer has been able to do.

"Lily and Swan" Comes to Life
A cast of unusual merit interpret the well-known characters of "Great Expectations." Henry Hull Florence Reed, Phillips Holmes and Jane Wyatt.
Singly, Edna Mae Oliver and James Gleason have been responsible for side-splitting comedy that has won each a wide following. Together they are probably the most hilarious couple on the screen.
In "The Penguin Pool Murder," and "Murder on the Blackboard," they were, respectively, as the fans will remember, the nose school-marm with a Sherlock Holmes complex and the fast-talking, know-it-all police inspector. The companion production, "Murder on a Honeymoon," coming Sunday and Monday, also an RKO-Radio picture, finds them in the same roles.

their respective schools in Idaho, Montana, and Utah, for kindness extended to us at the progressive dinner, Pep Band show, and dance at Idaho.

This would not have been written if the members of the respective sororities at which the progressive dinner took place, had not gone out of their way to make our short stay so enjoyable. We all were highly elated over the hospitality shown and have, I'm sure, carried something back to our respective camp.

Sincerely,
Keith "Scotty" McDonald, Ex-yell king, U. of W.
P. S.—If you could let some of the students know of this I'm sure they'd appreciate knowing how others feel. The cleanliness of your organized houses, the poise of both men and women students, upper and lower classmen, were other things to be remarked upon. When you do things there you do them "nut brown."
"Scotty."

Think This Over—and Then Bring Back Those Books Please

Sir:
Everyone on the campus has undoubtedly by this time heard that several of the new books from the open shelf in our library have turned up missing. Have you considered what this means to us? Perhaps you will recall that once before there was an open shelf in our library, stocked with some seven hundred books, about half, or maybe more (I'm punk at statistics) of these were taken by students who seemingly failed to have them charged out. Consequently, the open shelf was discontinued. It was started again only a short time ago. Students were largely responsible for this second attempt of the open shelf. They realized that the value of such a library facility means much to us. This proves that many students are really the cream of the crop; they aren't the kind to kill the goose just because she deposited a few good books on an open shelf.
You have also heard that unless all these missing books are returned (every one) our open shelf will be discontinued, for the second and last time.
Just to show that Dr. Miller is a square shooter, he has announced that no questions will be asked of any person returning one, or even all nine of these books. What say—I call that a man's challenge that will surely have to be accepted.

U. S. PARTY WILL NOT BOYCOTT JUNIOR WEEK
Contrary to common campus gossip the United Students party will not attempt to coerce its supporters to boycott Junior week. Despite the fact that malicious and unfounded rumors have circulated to the effect that any United Students supporters who attend Junior week will be stigmatized, this party wishes to reiterate its policy of appealing to the intelligence of its constituents. It emphatically does not intend to follow a policy of vindictiveness, although, it does still protest against the treatment that its candidates received at the hands of the executive board regarding the last class elections.

VANDAL hostilities on three fronts head-line this week's Idaho athletics. Rich Fox's baseball team will meet Nig Borleske's Missionaries today and tomorrow on the home diamond; Otto Anderson's track squad journeys to Walla Walla to tangle with the Missionary track luminaries in a dual meet, and Red Jacoby takes his frosh baseball club to Lewiston for a game with the Lewiston Teachers. Not forgetting spring football, first real scrimmage of the season is also scheduled for this afternoon. Truly, the Vandals are due for a busy week-end, provided the weather holds off sufficiently to allow all the above events to take place.

PAUL ANDERSON is definitely out of this spring's baseball picture with torn ankle ligaments. A Vandal battery, already far too small, is deprived before the season really gets underway, of a really good pitcher, and a fine outfielder. A senior this year, Paul turned in two big years of baseball for Idaho in his junior and sophomore seasons, and Rich Fox counted on him to be one of the mainstays this spring. A southpaw, Anderson had a deceptive delivery that has left many a northern division batter out on a limb in previous Vandal encounters. But that's the way accidents happen in the sports world—a quick turn or a slide and some star player gets laid up for the rest of the season. Tough luck, Paul, but you've already shown us that you've got what it takes.

MACLEAN is a veritable "No Man's Land" right now, fraught with danger for the careless. Two baseball squads, a track squad, and a huge spring football turnout combine to produce a menace to life and limb that bodes ill for the untold way spectator. Spiraling footballs whirling discuses, sky piercing javelins, and hard hit baseballs combined with the slower but more deadly 16-pound shot, produce an atmosphere clouded with missiles and sufficient to render even the most blasé a trifle leary. Provided the weather ever breaks sufficiently to dry out the new freshman baseball diamond, the biggest part of the fright-causing picture, namely the frosh baseball club, will leave the field in the comparatively safe hands of the varsity baseball and football squads. In the meantime, he who so far forgets himself as to not cast a cautious eye on an ever hazardous sky may wake up to

Vandals Face Whitman Today In First Home Game

Double-Header Is Billed For Tomorrow; Idaho Loses Pitcher

Once more the weather played tricks with the Vandals' schedule when rain prevented the Idaho nine from playing Whitman Tuesday. With the sun poking her nose out in the open again, however, Idaho fans will witness plenty of ball this week-end.

The Vandals play their first home game of the season this afternoon with the Whitman Missionaries. Saturday afternoon they play a double header. Both games begin at 2 o'clock.

The Vandal team will be greatly handicapped by the loss of their veteran chucker, Paul Anderson, a letterman from Spokane. Wednesday afternoon, Anderson dislocated his ankle when sliding into second base. The ligaments were strained badly enough to keep him from playing the rest of the season.

Concentrate on Pitching
Coach Rich Fox has been concentrating the last two days on his pitchers. With the loss of Anderson, his pitching hopes rest in just four men: Glenn "Lefty" Naslund, letterman; Francis Newton, varsity reserve; Bill Black, and Melvin Shepherd, transfers. All of these men will see action in the Whitman series today and tomorrow.

Idaho has been rapidly improving in batting and fielding during the last two weeks. The five losses to Whitman in the last series were due to these two causes. Although the Vandals out-hit the Missionaries, their batting wasn't as effective because of errors and the failure to bunch hits. Strenuous infield practice has largely eliminated the errors and hitting has become more consistent.

Naslund is Hitter
One of the biggest surprises in batting this spring is Lefty Naslund. Last season Naslund lived up to the usual reputation find himself in the land where the woodbine twineth and the mourning dove crooneth to his mate. . . .

WASHINGTON'S football team, perennially an Irish outfit, has every indication of being the same sort of a club next year. Though Coach Jimmy Phelan will be minus such sons of old Erin as Mucha, Sulkosky, Ahonen, and Muczynski, coupled with near Irish Ullin, and Burkin, a squad replete with monickers such as Shper, Starcevic, Gadke, Jacob, Markov, Lazarevich, Neibauer, Rohrscheib, Wiatrak, Papaniani, Mondata, Fulwiler, Nogrowski, Rulls, and Waskowicz should hold up the shamrock banner for yet another Husky season.

Vandal Track and Field Team Leaves For Meet With Missionaries at Walla Walla

Following a brisk warmup on their spot scrimmage and play setups take up the rest of the afternoon, with the exception of sporadic punting and passing interludes.

First actual scrimmage is to be held this afternoon, with all men helmeted and set for hard, rough play. Although the spot scrimmages have evolved into a virtual scrimmage every time they have been used, today's tiff will be more in the nature of a game with the ball moving up and down the field and the chain men and downs box coming into use.

As was expected following a new system of play, a number of changes in positions of players have been made. Four quarterbacks, Clarence Deylin and Les Holmes, of last year's varsity lettermen, and "Boots" Lanter and Jere Maupin, of the frosh, have all been shifted to halfback berths.

Bank Utilizing Dry Days To Advantage
Outdoor Practices Smooth Rough Edges; First Scrimmage Today

A rift in the clouds, a faint patch of blue, and a slender shaft of sun, and out goes Coach Ted Bank's football squad again.

Already held up a week or more by bad weather, Coach Bank is utilizing every dry day to round the squad into form by the time he had expected to have the rough edges smoothed out. Daily drills, with steady practice on blocking, tackling, ball-handling, passing, and punting, are gone through by the club, and a noticeable smoothness is the result.

The dummies (four more arrived) come in for their hour or so of practice every afternoon.

Anderson Says That Men Have Not Had Sufficient Practice

With insufficient practice but plenty of high hopes, the Vandal track team, composed of 21 participants, and the senior manager, Bill Simon, left at 1:30 this afternoon for the first scheduled engagement of the season with Whitman college at Walla Walla Saturday.

"I'm not expecting the boys to do wonders," stated Coach Anderson. "We haven't had enough workouts under proper conditions, due to the bad weather. Whatever we do will only be a partial showing of our abilities."

Rain slowed down last year's events and otherwise made the meet miserable and uninteresting to spectators.

Entered in the 100-yard dash are Theron Ward and Addison Beeman. Ward has been doing fairly well, but is a little slow in getting out of the holes. Beeman has shown improvement with a little faster start. He is also running the 220 along with Stewart Neely. The 440 yard dash will be run by Wendell Dayton and Stewart Neely. In the 880 Glenn Orton and Klinger are to participate.

Bill O'Neill and Glen Orton are entered in the mile run, while Leonard Parker and Rodney Pearson are slated for the two-mile.

Cy Adkins, Bert Larson, and Kenneth Robertson will compete in the high hurdles. A large hole was left in this event by Bill Squance who finished his three years of varsity competition last season. This is the first time Adkins has run the hurdles. He won his frosh numerals in the half mile last year. Larson is having some difficulty with a bad leg. Low hurdles will be run by Adkins and Larson.

Those participating in the shot put are Ap Berg, Bob McGue, and Earl Ritzheimer. Berg has been consistent in his distance and will probably have little difficulty with his Whitman opponent.

Three in Javelin
Javelin contestants are Earl Ritzheimer and Paul Wise. Ritzheimer, who just recently broke the long-standing record of Buck

Phillips, is expected to do 200 feet before the season is over.

Discus work is in the hands of Big Bob McGue and Earl Ritzheimer. Paul Berg and Jack Sharp are managing the pole-vault.

In the high jump event are Kenneth Robertson, Paul Berg, and Earl Alden. Theron Ward and Noble Palmer will broad jump.

The Betas continued on their victory march Wednesday night, trimming the Delta Chis two games straight, 15-2, 15-6. T. M. A. took Lambda Chi 15-8, 15-9, and then proceeded to administer a 15-13, and 16-14 drubbing to the Fijls.

Institute in one of the hardest fought games of the tournament, winning the first game 15-12, dropping the second 13-15, and rallying to win the third by a score of 16-14.

People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.

In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.

Mrs. Anderson is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. D. A. Stevenson of Lewiston. Her father is head of the geography department at Lewiston state normal school, which institution both Barney and his bride attended before coming to the university. Both are seniors here and will be graduated this spring.
