

Idaho and W. S. C. Cross Bats in Season Opener

Tennis Matches Begin Saturday

To Start at 3:30 P. M. On MacLean Field; Return Game Saturday

A sharp "play ball" from veteran referee Dutch Altman, and Idaho Vandals will open northern division baseball hostilities against Washington State Cougars this afternoon at 3:30. Saturday afternoon the Vandals play a return game with the Cougars on the Pullman diamond.

In Eugene, Oregon State will meet the Oregon Webfoots as the warfare begins on two fronts.

All the dope seems to give the Cougars the edge in today's Inland Empire opener. On pre-conference records they are well ahead of the Vandals, having won five out of eight starts with Whitman while Idaho won two out of eight. Idaho has been climbing rapidly during the last week, however, especially in the hitting department. Coach Rich Fox has refused to join the camps, either the optimist or the pessimist. The two games that the Vandals did win from the Missionaries were the last two played.

Practiced With Frosh This last week the varsity has been working out with the frosh. This sort of practice gives all of them a lot of batting practice, and lets them work out their plays under all sorts of conditions. The results have been a great improvement in their base running and their infield work.

Extra impetus will be given to the hitters with the award of prizes by local merchants for the first home run, first triple, two, and one base hits. The first safe bunt will also be given an award.

Albee at First Idaho's tentative line-up announced today by Coach Fox has Les Albee at first base; Stephen Summers, second; Wally Geraghty short stop; Henry Schoder, third; Bill Katsilometes, center field; Bill Kleiner, left field; and Joe Wheeler or Clarence Anderson, right field. Idaho's starting battery will not be announced before game time. Steward or Hanford will probably be on the receiving end for Idaho.

Banks to Make Trans-Continental Flight in June

Keeping up his reputation for not wasting any time, Coach Ted Bank is now planning a cross-continental flight to keep a June appointment.

Bank, who has been signed to assist Mentor Bernie Bierman of Minnesota at the Inland Empire coaching school, to be held in Spokane June 10-16, plans to come from New Orleans by air. He is leaving Moscow on May 9 for Tulane university to finish the school year there, and he said he will probably be obliged to use the air routes to return to Spokane for the opening day of the coaching school.

Bierman and Bank first worked together in 1929 when Bierman was head coach at Tulane university and called Bank to the southern school to serve as freshman coach to replace Ted Cox who was promoted to varsity line coach. When Bierman left for Minnesota, Cox was promoted to head coach. He chose Ted Bank as assistant to help develop the varsity and made him head scout. Bank has now brought Bierman's basic system, with his own innovations, to Idaho.

of the body was, but it was finally concluded, after lengthy cross-examination that it was apt to be anywhere. Another defense witness who has to prove his veracity is Eugene Hargraves who gave testimony impeaching the state's star witness, Dick Burke. Hargraves testified that Mr. Burke enjoys a wide reputation as an "awful liar." Mr. Burke is reported to be resenting such implications.

The court room was crowded during the last session of the trial held last Tuesday evening, many of the spectators coming especially to sleep through the concluding arguments of Attorneys Fred Cromwell, for the defense, and Casady Taylor for the State. Actually, however, practicing attorneys who were present at the trial are reported as saying that both arguments were commendable examples of trial procedure.

First Vote 10-2 The first vote of the jury was 10 to 2 for acquittal, but as a unanimous decision was necessary for a decision under the laws of Idaho, that result could not be reached as a verdict.

The trial was held under the auspices of the Bench and Bar asso-

Spring Weather Proves Blessing as Vandal Football Squad Begins Regular Scrimmages

Classes Clash in Saturday Meet

Ap Berg Captains Veterans; "Swede" Ward Heads "In-Betweens"

Juniors and freshmen versus seniors and sophomores.

The old class rivalry angle will be the big factor in Saturday's track meet, to be held at 2 p. m., between the junior and freshmen members of the Vandal track team and the senior and sophomore class men.

The idea is to stimulate interest before our next meet on May 11," said Coach Otto Anderson. "The squad is divided into class lines and real rivalry is being developed for the meet. Several men have been turning in good performances lately, and the meet should be very interesting."

The two squads are each headed by a captain, Ap Berg for the veterans and second year men, and Swede Ward for the in-betweeners.

Beeman and Neely will represent the Berg faction in the century and 220, while Ward and Kenally will enter the same events for the Wardmen. Brown will run against Dayton, Kantola, and Haynes in the 440, and Orton and Klingner, both sophomores, will match strides with O'Neill, March, English and Norbeck in the half mile. Pearson and Parker will be running with O'Neill and Probst in the mile. In the high hurdles, Adkins and Larson will meet Robertson and Anderson, with Kenworthy replacing Anderson in the lows against the same two sophomore men.

Ritzheimer to Jump Palmer and Ritzheimer will broad jump against Ward and Kenally, while Paul Berg and Alden will represent the Bergmen in the high jump, against Wardmen Cable, Robertson, and Peacock. In the weights, Berg, Ritzheimer, and Sharp will toss against McCue, Johnson, and Hokanson.

Ritzheimer and Alden will throw the Bergian javelin, and Wise, Hokanson, Johnson, and Evans will team together for the Warders.

Paul Berg and Sharp will pole vault against Maxson, sole Warder bamboo man.

A meet between high schools of the White Pine sub-district will be held on the varsity track tomorrow morning.

Darwin Burgher To Fill Boise Post

Darwin Burgher of Rupert, former football track and basketball star at the University of Idaho, has been named director of physical education at the Boise high school, W. D. Vincent, superintendent of Boise schools, announced Thursday.

For the past five years Burgher has been coaching athletics at the high school in Medford, Ore. He succeeds Morris W. (Dusty) Kline, former Rupert coach, who has directed Boise high school athletics for the past two years.

Kline resigned last week. He did not give any reason for his action.

Undeclared on the gridiron for two years is the record of Medford high football teams under the coaching of Darwin Burgher. In 1933 Medford high was undefeated and untied and one of the claimants of the mythical football championship of Oregon. Last fall the big Peapackers played Washington high. Portland champions, for the mythical championship of the state and the teams battled to a 6-6 tie.

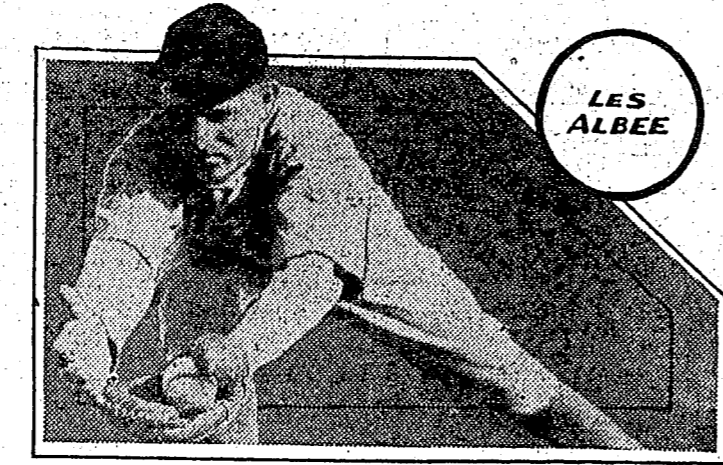

While at Idaho Burgher played on the teams of Coach Charlie Erb and was captain of both the football and basketball teams during his senior year in 1928-'29.

He was married in the summer of 1931 to Maureen Johnson of Parma, a University of Oregon graduate.

Moscow Merchants Offer Prizes For "First" in Today's Game

Large List of Valuable Prizes Tempt Players "Show Stuff"

As an added attraction to make the Vandal sluggers do big things in the game this afternoon with W. S. C., several Moscow merchants have offered various prizes. With an assortment almost as varied as the different types of athletes, the prizes range all the way from a yellow bowl pipe to shaving lotion.

A pitiful remembrance is brought up at this time about the prizes given away last year. Clarence "Barney" Anderson had managed to knock out a three bagger which so happened to run itself into four of the prizes. A sudden downpour of rain in the fifth inning stopped the game, however, and poor Barney couldn't collect. This nearly broke his heart as he had had his mind set on a most beautiful straw hat. The J. C. Penny company could finally resist his pitiful condition no longer, and presented him with a hat anyway.

Goodly Assortment

The complete list of prizes for the game today are: first home run—a billfold by Carter's Drug; first three base hit—a yellow bowl pipe by Jerry's; first two base hit—$1.00 credit at the Moscow pharmacy; first single—Woodbury Shaving set from the Corner Drug; first stolen base—box of Brown and Haley's chocolates from Wright's fountain; first man to score—shave and a haircut at the Moscow Barber shop; winning pitcher—Hickock tie chain at David's.

First fly ball caught—a pair of Manito socks from Creightons; first put out—Rexall shaving lotion from the Owl Drug; first assist—Grayco tie from Hostley's; first safe bunt—$1.00 Kodak photo finishing at Sterners; and to the man hitting in the most runs goes a sport belt from J. C. Penny's.

If any of the prizes are not won in the first game, they will be awarded in other home games.

Ted Bank Praises Vandal Spirit

Tells Booster Club Idaho Athletes Should Come to U. of I.

A vanguard of the new revival in Idaho football enthusiasm, about 50 Moscow members of the recently organized Vandal Booster Club, met at the Moscow hotel Thursday night. They had as their special guests at the dinner Coaches Ted Bank and Bob Tessler and representatives from Lewiston, Coeur d'Alene, Orofino, and Spokane.

As main speaker, Coach Bank commended the spirit shown by the different alumni groups with which he had come in contact. He also spoke of the spirit shown by his group of spring practice candidates, which he said was superior to that demonstrated by any group in his experience.

Want Idaho Men

"Idaho athletes in their own state school" was a point stressed by Bank. "Idaho produces good men and we want them," he said.

Other Vandal Booster clubs, composed of university alumni and interested Idahoans, have or are being organized, and it is the plan of the various groups to hold a central meeting once a year at Moscow during the annual university homecoming.

Entertainment for the banquet was furnished by the Idaho Pep band, and Joe Zeb, ventriloquist, who had Coach Bank convinced Babe Hollingbery was calling outside—almost.

DIAMOND POSITIONS OPEN TO FROSH

A call for additional freshmen to turn out for baseball was issued today by assistant freshman coach Cy Geraghty. All freshman interested in learning something of the game are urged to turn out Monday.

"We would like to see several more men out," said Geraghty. "There is an opportunity for those interested to really benefit from the practice as well as to enjoy themselves. Chances for positions on the frosh team are still in existence, and though men already out have an advantage, bad weather has held practice up sufficiently to give new men a chance."

Gloves and some kind of shoes will have to be furnished by men turning out because of the shortage of baseball equipment.

Practice will be held on the varsity diamond following the departure for the coast trip, the freshman field not being in condition as yet.

Backfield Material Plentiful But Linemen Are Scarce

A quick, hurried conference in the huddle a trot to the line of scrimmage, a snap of the ball, and Coach Ted Bank's spring football aspirants are off on another ground gaining jaunt.

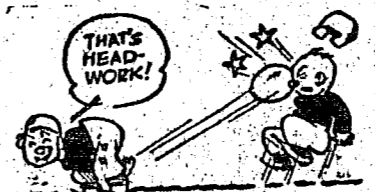

A clear sky overhead and a dry turf underfoot have gone far toward bringing the Vandal spring squad to mid-season peak. This week's sunshiny interlude, coming after days of rain, has already been a big factor in smoothing out kinks in the new system being inaugurated, and one of the largest Idaho squads in history looks ahead to victories next fall.

Fundamental practice on blocking and tackling has been largely superseded by organized scrimmages, conducted two or three times a week. Drill on the fundamentals has been delegated to warming-up work as the real tests take their place.

Need Linemen

Fairly well satisfied by the material in view for the Vandal back field next fall, Coach Bank is still looking for more good linemen. Such veterans as Norm Iverson and Bob McCue are showing up well. Iverson, noted on the coast for his pass-snatching last season, looks to fill in well with the Bank system, and McCue has shown more than average ability without considering his long passing talents.

Two freshmen, Perry Gamble, tackle, and Walt Betts, center, are among the best line recruits from the frosh squad, with John Cooper, submarine guard last season, representing the cream of the guards at present.

Many Backfield Reserves A backfield with plenty of capable reserves is in sight for next fall's club. Four men, Les Holmes, Jere Maupin, Clarence Devlin, and Curly Maxson, are fighting it out for the left half post, with none conceded more than a fractional edge. Maxson is a transfer from Chaffey junior college

Frosh and Varsity Will Play Singles and Doubles Matches

The first competitive tennis matches of the season will be played Saturday at the university courts between the varsity and the freshmen teams. Singles and doubles matches will be played starting at 2 o'clock.

Paul Rust, High Eldridge, Dick Axtell, Bill Martin, John Wells, and Paris Martin are lined up to hold the frosh in their respective places. The frosh lineup has not been completely organized, but Vern Irvine, John Gaskill, Irving McDonald, and Bob Morley are likely competitors.

There will be extra matches for men who are out for the varsity ladder. It will be necessary in order to rate on the varsity ladder for each man to play at least two challenge matches during the next week. The first conference match of the season will be held on May 4 on the Idaho courts.

MONTANA U. GETS CHICAGO H. S. COACH

MISSOULA, Mont. — Douglas A. Fessenden of Chicago today was announced as the selection of the athletic committee of Montana State university as football coach. Fessenden, who will be physical education head, succeeds B. F. "Bunny" Oakes, who resigned to take a similar position at Colorado State university. The committee said he had accepted.

Fessenden, graduate of Illinois, has been coaching 10 years and is now coaching at Fenger high school in Chicago, where in three out of five years his teams have entered the city finals.

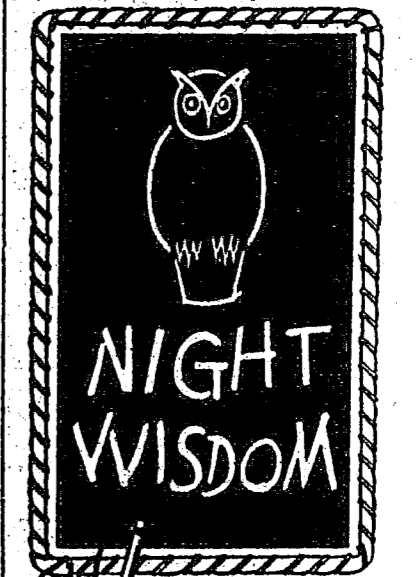

in California.

Dean Green, Lefty Inman, and Harvie Walker, all candidates for the other halfback job, will probably alternate at that position while Russ Honsowetz, Don Spaugy, and Paul Wise, now the best of the quarters, have plenty of inside competition.

Fullbacks Lewis Rich, freshman, and Ross Sundberg, one-year letterman, look to fill that job very capably, neither having a margin over the other.

Scrimmages are being conducted daily between the grays and the blues, with all men having an opportunity to play. Practice will end May 9, when Coaches Bank and Tessler will leave for New Orleans.

No definite spring games will be played.

Cupid and Night Watchman Declare Armed Truce

Cupid and G. O. Ruddell, although not exactly on the best of terms, have at least reached a sort of gentlemen's agreement, based upon mutual respect and not unmixed, on the part of the former at least, with a little fear.

"We may not see eye to eye," the agreement runs, "but we'll try to give students a break whenever we can, and a sporting chance to satisfy us both."

In his capacity of night watchman on Idaho's campus Ruddell has, for nearly eight years, patrolled the grounds from 8 o'clock in the evening until 5 o'clock in the morning, keeping a lookout for fires, burglars, and students who believe in the creed expressed by Tim Fan alley in the words "Let's go cuddle in a corner, any cosy little corner."

"I've got the couples pretty well broke now, though, so they'll stay out in front where they belong," Ruddell commented, his blue eyes twinkling from beneath singularly spiky eyebrows. "It's been pretty quiet here for the past six weeks."

But he expects a change with the coming of warm weather. When spring night covers the campus with a soft warm blackness that is scarcely penetrated by the twinkling stars, the white-gold gleam of lamps along the walks, and the slightly pink glow from the streets of Moscow below, the sound of occasional sharp footfalls becomes a continuous soft slur, and it is then that Ruddell is kept busy. And the things he sees!

"There was one fellow here last spring that was engaged to three or four different girls at the same time," he commented with a chuckle. "And lots of couples used to go upstairs in the Ad building until the boys started locking the classroom doors. We kept them locked, too, even though the first night we tried it one of the girls made an awfully nasty face at a janitor as she came back down!"

"I get amused at the girls that go to the music halls to practice at nights. They open the window wide and pound the piano for all they're worth. If no one comes they go home in about 20 minutes. But if there are men practicing, too, I practically have to throw them out at 10:30."

At that hour most of the buildings are locked and all of them vacated by everyone except a few instructors and students with special permission to stay. Ruddell gets to know these after a month or two. But in reality very few people are on the campus then except in cars, and he keeps a pretty close watch on them.

"Last spring when those fraternity houses were robbed I told the police they were wrong in thinking it was an inside job. I told them how, for several nights, I'd seen two or three men in a car parked by the U hut or some other place where they could make a quick get-away. I knew at the time they were up to something, and it turned out I was right."

Ag Student Named Western Fieldman For Seed Company

George Albert Fitzpatrick, Idaho Falls, who will receive his degree from the College of Agriculture this spring, has been appointed a western fieldman for F. H. Woodruff and Sons Seed company, a national concern with headquarters in Connecticut. Fitzpatrick has been assigned to work at the company's Basin, Wyo., station.

Fitzpatrick's appointment is the fourth to be made already this spring out of this year's graduating class of the college of agriculture. Previous appointments include Ralph Knight, appointed to the position of agronomy field superintendent for the Idaho agricultural experiment station; John Schwendiman, Newdale, appointed Smith-Hughes agricultural instructor at Rexburg; and Frank Stevens, Richfield, appointed as a trainee in the United States soil erosion service.

Brilliant Seniors May Receive 100 For Answers

If Huey Long is a lightweight boxer and Fiorello LaGuardia the dictator of Spain, two seniors received "100" in their quiz on current events.

Lawrence Chamberlain, instructor in political science, turned these and other answers over to the Associated Press the other day. One student came closer on the LaGuardia question by saying that the mayor of New York, whose ancestors were Italians, is the ambassador from Italy.

Bernard Baruch, New York capitalist, who made headlines recently on his testimony in the senate munitions quiz, was identified variously as an orchestra leader, a professional baseball player, a radio singer, and a motion picture director.

Gertrude Stein, the author who writes poetry and prose that few people can understand, is, according to three students, a social service worker, a communist famous for seditious writings, and a famous German contralto.

The Mayo brothers, widely known surgeons of Rochester, Minn., are a team of movie actors, one student said.

IDAHO JERSEY COW RECEIVES MEDAL

A silver medal has been awarded the university Jersey cow, Idaho Xenia Finesse, for meritorious production. As a junior two-year old she produced 434 pounds of fat from 7,928 pounds of milk in the 305-day test period.

Idaho Xenia Finesse is the seventh silver medal cow bred and developed in the university herd. Three of the medals have been awarded by the American Jersey Cattle club during the past three months, indicating the productive progress being made in the University of Idaho Jersey herd.

Over 70 per cent of the wage earners of Idaho are engaged in sawmill and logging operations and the total value of the timber products produced in the state exceeds those of any other industry.

Former Instructor Visits Idaho Campus

Alberto Vazquez Left Idaho to Accept Yale Fellowship; To Receive Doctor's Degree

Alberto Vazquez, former language instructor here, visited the Idaho campus a few days ago before sailing again for Europe where he has been engaged in research work.

Mr. Vazquez received his B. A. degree from the University of Idaho in 1925 and his M. A. degree in 1928. His doctor's degree will be granted by Yale university this year.

After graduating Dr. Vazquez became an assistant and later an instructor in Spanish and French at this institution.

He spent the year 1931 and 1932 in the Yale graduate school, having gone there on a fellowship. During 1932-34 he was awarded a traveling fellowship in Europe and has been doing research work in Spain, Italy, France and Belgium, particularly in the field of diplomatic correspondence of the time of Emperor Charles V.

About the middle of this month, after having completed his doctor's examinations at Yale, Mr. Vazquez sailed again for Europe for an additional year or two of research. This will be made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller fund of the Yale graduate school. He will publish his doctor's dissertation in Spain the title of which is "El Fraasco de Don Diego Hura de Toscana."
