Serum Is Preventative

The best prevention, advised Dr. Gildow, is to take the spotted fever serum before being exposed to tick bite. He advocated the following treatment in case of tick bite: pull the tick out gently. Don't be afraid of claws staying in. Remain Quiet. Apply no oils on the bite and do not irritate in any way. The tick will usually lodge in the hair, according to Dr. Gildow, and it is several hours before the poison is injected. It is advisable when in a tick infested area to wear leggings or high boots so that the ticks may be brushed off easily.
