Are "All Set" For Frosh Glee Dance Tonight

Class Has Plans for Big Affair at Blue Bucket Inn

Could Have No Picnic; Have Elaborate Program Worked Out

"Lack of funds made the consideration of a Frosh picnic out of the question," reported Sherman Bellwood, general chairman of Frosh Glee week. "However, with the assembly Tuesday morning and the all-college Glee, to be held in the Blue Bucket tonight, we feel that we are definitely re-establishing the Glee week tradition."

Ivar Longetelg, chairman of the decoration committee, announced the selection of an original motif for the dance, while it would not be revealed until the time of the dance, it should more than warrant the expectations of those who will see it, he said.

Program Different

Marjorie Blaine, chairman of entertainment committee, promises a card of novel entertainers picked from group houses on the campus. "Some parts of the program," Miss Blaine pointed out, "are absolutely so different from anything thus far presented to the students it will be worth the price of admission alone to see them."

Margaret Burlinger, chairman of the advertising committee, urges especially those students living down town to attend. "Many of these students," she says, "have not attended a college function of this kind all year. While the dance is open to everyone, we would be particularly pleased if the freshmen from down town would support the event. It will be the last all-college dance of the year, and the tickets are only 40 cents a couple. It should be possible for a lot of the students to come, and we shall be disappointed if this year's Glee is not the most successful ever sponsored by a freshman class."

Chuck Collins' orchestra will play. Tickets for the dance are being sold in the group houses by the freshmen. Intercollegiate Knights, Down town students will be able to purchase their tickets at Hodgins Drug store.

McArdle Crowned Cuspidor King

Dean Expectorates 15 Feet Using Loose-Leaf Style at Picnic

Senior foresters carved their mark on the tallest tree last Wednesday to total 99 points to win the contests held in connection with the Associated Foresters barbecue. Under the direction of John Hays, president of the Associated Foresters, and his committee, the barbecue, an all-day affair, took place on Randall flats, near Troy.

The contests which were run off included everything from an egg-throwing match to manipulation of Spark Plug tobacco juice. Junior lumberjacks took second place with 53 points, freshmen third with 38, and the sophomores trailed with 31 points.

Spark Plug Featured

Highlight of the meet was the tobacco spitting marathon. Using the "pucker's" tye, Ray Lyons, a senior, took first place, as far as student foresters were concerned, swishing his collection forward for a distance of 12 feet; but when Lyons met the veteran Dean R. E. McArdle, he bowed to experience. McArdle, just to show the foresters why he is a dean, wound up the cream from his round of Spark Plug and hurled it more than 15 feet. McArdle spits with the old-fashioned, loose-leaf style.

Logs Follow Beans

Following "beans," the foresters sawed logs; they sawed by two's and they sawed by one's. Then they tossed eggs—for height. Ray Lyons chopped logs faster than his opponents. A three-legged race was followed by a sack race, and a hop-step-and-jump contest. The juniors won the tug-of-war; the seniors, the 200-yard relay.

O'Neill Elected Next President Of Hell Divers

Bill O'Neill was elected president of the Hell Divers club for next year at a meeting held Thursday night at the Memorial gymnasium. Other new officers are Vernon Shook, vice president, and Jane Post, secretary-treasurer.

Hell Divers is a swimming club organized for the purpose of encouraging life-saving and enjoying other water sports. They plan to have a swimming meet with W. S. C. in the near future.

Pep Band Scores In Lewiston

Puts on Show in High School Auditorium Wednesday Night

The Pep Band went to Lewiston Wednesday night where it presented a Pep Band show in the high school auditorium, under the leadership of Bob Campbell.

In the first part of the program, the trumpet trio, "The Three Solitaires," played by Elburn Pierce, Paul Ennis, and Dick Baker, proved most popular. "Fighting Idaho," the new school song, also made a hit with the Lewiston audience.

Jitters Opens

"Jitters," by Bob Campbell opened the second part of the show. The Alpha Chi quartet sang "Chloe and Clouds," to the accompaniment of the Pep Band. "I Won't Dance," with a vocal trio, brought forth great applause.

New additions to the show were a special arrangement of "I'm Just an Ordinary Human," and informal stage entertainment by Don Ford.

After the show, the members of the Pep Band and the stage band met prospective Idaho students. The setting of the show was a hedge-enclosed garden. The band wore formal attire for the show.

Kappa Phi Has Full Program To End Year

Kappa Phi, Methodist girl's organization, will conclude its year's activities with three programs which will be carried to completion within the next two weeks.

Wednesday has been set for the annual Father's day picnic. May 29 is the date of the second semester initiation, which will be followed by a slumber party at the Taylor home. The annual Senior banquet, held for graduating members, will be given June 1.

Money making plans have been worked out to raise funds with which to send delegates to the national convention at Bemij, Minn., in June.

Alpha Zeta Holds Annual Picnic

Faculty and student members of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary, held their annual picnic at Randall Flats, Saturday afternoon. After a luncheon a short program was furnished by the new members. Jay Congleton gave a reading, called "The Bald Head and How To Use It." The "famous Irish quartet" Peterson, Rasmussen, Nelson, and Hansen, sang the "Death Song."

DR. JAHN SPEAKS IN PORTLAND

Dr. E. C. Jahn, associate professor of forestry, was in Portland over the weekend, as one of the speakers at a meeting of the Pacific Coast section of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry. He made the trip by automobile and returned to the campus Monday.

Dr. Jahn presented a paper on "Testing Fiber Building Boards and Pulp." It is the third he has presented at western conventions of pulp and paper chemists and technical men within the past three years.

C. E. WILL PICNIC

The members and friends of the university C. E. of the Presbyterian church are invited to meet at the church Saturday, May 18, at 4:30 p. m. before leaving for an outing to the mountains. Bring 25 cents to pay for supper and transportation.

THE PRESIDENT VANISHES

FANS WATCHING SWEDÉ Ward's fleet feet flit by tomorrow afternoon will be thinking just that, but the new ASUI prey won't be far away. After a mediocre showing at Pullman last Saturday, Theron is slated to make a comeback against the Beavers today. Entered in the century and the 220, Ward stands a good chance of taking both races, provided he steps in anything like the form he showed last year as a sophomore.

NEALE TO CONFER ON PWA PROJECTS

Dr. Mervin G. Neale, accompanied by Asher B. Wilson, president of the board of regents, left Moscow Wednesday night for Washington, D. C., to meet with officials of the Public Works Administration in regard to proposed projects which are under consideration on the Idaho campus. A number of extensive projects have received the approval of the board of regents and now require only the sanction of the PWA.

Kappa Phi Has Full Program To End Year

Kappa Phi, Methodist girl's organization, will conclude its year's activities with three programs which will be carried to completion within the next two weeks. Wednesday has been set for the annual Father's day picnic. May 29 is the date of the second semester initiation, which will be followed by a slumber party at the Taylor home. ## JOURNALIST GETS JOB

Keith Armstrong, 34, has recently accepted a position on a newspaper published at the Coulee dam site, Coulee, Wash. Since leaving school, Armstrong, has worked on papers in St. Maries and at Genesee. He received his degree here in journalism.

Idaho Grads Offered Chance At Aviation Training

An opportunity for young men from the University of Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana, and Wyoming to avail themselves of training in aviation has been announced by the U. S. Naval Air station at Seattle in a letter to the university here this week.

Upon acceptance by the bureau of navigation, the men selected will be trained at government expense in aviation as officers and men of the regular army and navy. These trained men will continue in the reserve, after completion of their training, for availability in the time of emergency.

Each applicant selected, and who is approved by the bureau of navigation, will receive pay from the time he reports to the naval air station at Seattle until he has completed his training after four years, or until found unqualified for further training and ordered to his home. Certain other expenses incurred in connection with the training are also

Five Are Initiated Into Blue Key Thursday Night

Five men were initiated into Blue Key, national upperclassmen's service honorary, Thursday evening at a meeting held at the Sigma Nu house. Bruce Bowler, Howard Cooke, John Crowe, Norman Iversen, and Theron Ward are the five new members of Blue Key.

Final plans for a joint dance with Cardinal Key to be held Friday night were discussed at the meeting. Plans were also laid for conducting a luncheon registration booths during commencement week-end. Blue Key is to maintain a booth at the Moscow hotel.

BANDELIN TO HEAD KAPPA DELTA PI

At the Tuesday meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary, the following officers were elected to serve next year: Betty Bandelin, president; Harvey Walker, vice president; Dorothy Regna, recording secretary; Jeanette Wines, corresponding secretary; and Wilma Mitchell, treasurer.

Groups May Picnic On Price Green

Dean McArdle Invites Organizations to Use Forestry Grounds

"With this picnic season at hand, the School of Forestry desires to extend to organized groups on the university campus an invitation to make use of Price Green as a picnic ground," according to an announcement by Dean R. E. McArdle. Price green is the grassy, tree-bordered square in the heart of the Charles Houston Shattuck arboretum. It was provided by the Associated Foresters in 1931 as their outdoor meeting place.

Thinning operations in the arboretum have provided ample wood for the groups to use in the open fireplace. Dean McArdle pointed out. This wood may be used by the groups without cost. The grounds may be used by anyone at anytime, but to be sure of having them reserved, arrangements may be made at the School of Forestry in advance.

Amateurs Exhibit Prize Photos

Annual Show of Camera Studies To Be Held in Science Hall

The second annual Amateur Photographic exhibit will be on view Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, in Room 310 Science hall. The exhibition room will be open until 9 o'clock each night.

The judges of this exhibit will be Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the department of home economics; T. S. Kerr, dean of the Junior College; and Dr. Howard B. Stough, head of the department of zoology. The judges will announce the awards tonight.

There will be over 20 prints of landscapes, sea scenes, snow scenes, portraits, children's portraits, animal pictures, flowers, trees, still lifes, and lined prints on view. A silver loving cup will be presented for the best photographic interpretation of "Winter." First prizes and honorable mention awards will be given for the best photographs of each group.

Faculty To Speak At Commencements

Nine Have Accepted 30 Engagements; Start May 15

Nine faculty members have accepted 30 commencement engagements this spring, according to a survey by the university publications department. Of this number, 26 are in Idaho and four in eastern Washington.

Twenty-eight of the engagements are for high school commencements; two are at higher educational institutions. The commencement schedule starts May 15 and continues to June 9. Several faculty members received additional invitations which they could not accept because of conflict with engagements already made.

Classes Might Complete "Old Steps" Memorial

Burton L. French, '01, Proposes Plan For Finishing Project; Students Are Enthusiastic

Idaho students are familiar with "The Old Steps" project which has been partially completed just south of the Administration Building as an entrance to the university arboretum. It was expected by those who initiated the plan to reconstruct the old administration building steps that alumni donations would provide the funds with which to finish the project. They are not coming in as expected and Burton L. French, '01, chairman of the alumni committee, proposed to a small group of prominent students a new plan for financing the work before leaving for the East recently.

Beresford Author Of Ag Bulletin

College of Agriculture Publishes Information On Farm Water Supply

To meet a demand for information revealed by the federal rural housing survey made in Idaho during the early part of 1934, the department of agricultural engineering in the College of Agriculture has published a bulletin on "Water Supply and Plumbing for the Farm Home." The author is Hubert Beresford, expert station agricultural engineer.

In the rural housing survey first hand data were obtained on 4,459 farm homes in Idaho. Of all the improvements desired in farm homes, as shown by this survey, the water system and modern plumbing ranked first. The survey indicated that about one-third of the farm homes have water piped to the house but that of this number only one-half have hot water or modern sewage disposal. About the same number that have water piped to the house also have electric light and power. The second most desired improvement for the farm homes, as revealed by the survey, was additional room, and the third was improvement in the interior walls, ceilings, and floors.

Describe Water Systems

Professor Beresford's bulletin is concerned with the two-thirds of the farms that have water piped to the house, and with the farms that have water in the house but do not have hot water or waste disposal systems. In this bulletin he describes different farm water systems, kitchen and bath room arrangements, septic tank construction, hot water systems, waste disposal, and other topics bearing on maintenance of the farm plumbing system.

Copies of this bulletin may be secured by addressing the University of Idaho agricultural extension division offices at Boise or Moscow.

Little International Prizes Awarded; Ag Club Elects

At a meeting of the Ag club Tuesday evening, prizes were given out which had been won at the Little International Stock show. Rodney Hansen was elected president of the club and Clare Hunt was elected assistant manager of the Little International for next year. Wade Wells, who served as assistant manager this year automatically becomes manager next year.

DR. GAIL ANNOUNCES PLANS OF STAFF

Dr. F. W. Gail, head of the botany department, announced the summer plans of his staff members recently. R. A. Dietter will be working in the white pine blister rust this summer. This is his third season in such work. Dr. L. A. Mullan, botany instructor, will be engaged in plant studies with relation to soil erosion work.

Miss Vada Allen will teach morphology and ecology at the Minnesota State Teacher's college. Clair Worley will make plant studies relative to their merits for growth in dry areas, wornout soils, and eroded soils.

Barton To Speak

Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the psychology department, will deliver four addresses—at Bonners Ferry, May 23; Sandpoint, May 24; Mullan, May 29; and at Lewiston

at the cinema

at the Kenworthy—Out of the most appealing of fictional triangles, "Laddie," RKO-Radio picture based on the world-famous Gene Stratton-Porter novel, builds what is said to be one of the finest of screen romances and plays Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Stratton-Porter wove so deftly the human sympathy and drama into "Laddie," that the novel is listed among the ten best sellers of the last sixty years. And it comes to screen with all the wizardry of her literary genius intact. Laddie, a son of the soil, college-bred, but preferring to follow in his father's footsteps as a farmer, meets the "Princess," an English girl of noble family. Her father symbolizes the blue-blood social level. It is a tremendous battle of, for, and by love, that ensues; with dramatic situations interwoven in the subplot and the humor threads. It is tribute to the power of the story, that it has 40,000,000 readers all over the world today; and RKO-Radio, makers of "Little Women" and "Anne of Green Gables" spared naught to give similar distinction to the photopla wrought out of the classic novel.

John Beal has the title role, and Gloria Stuart is the "Princess." Other important roles are in the hands of Gloria Shea, Charlotte Henry, Donald Cripp, Willard Robertson, Dorothy Peterson, Greta Meyer, Grady Sutton, Virginia Weidner and Jimmy Butler. George Stevens directed for RKO-Radio.

at the Vandal—"Clive of India," Darryl F. Zanuck's first million-dollar production for 20th Century Pictures, comes Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday with Ronald Colman starred in the title role.

Richard Boleslawski was borrowed from M-G-M to direct this powerful drama, which W. F. Lipscomb and R. J. Minney came all the way from England to Hollywood to adapt for the screen from their stage hit of the same name which ran over a year in London. The story, which traces the rise of Robert Clive from a $25 a year clerk in the East India company to the conqueror of a nation, stresses the private life of England's greatest hero and the part his lovely wife played in his triumphs and defeats.

Loretta Young is cast as the wife, efficiency after completing his training; be mentally, morally, physically, and psychologically fit to be a cadet; must not be a member of any other military organization except the naval militia.

Lady Clive, while Colin Clive, Francis Lister, C. Aubrey Smith and Cesar Romero are prominent among the seventy-two principals in this Joseph M. Schenck presentation.

The educational requirements are: Graduates of recognized universities or colleges, preferably (1) graduates of Naval Reserve Officers' Training corps units, who have been declared eligible; (2) those who have satisfactorily completed a course in aeronautical engineering. Candidates who can present a certificate signed by the registrar showing that they possess a mathematical education specified by the bureau; and candidates who are unable to qualify under the above provisions, but whose training is such as to give them an equivalent knowledge, are eligible under the educational requirements.

H. OWENS OBTAINS DOCTOR'S DEGREE

Herbert Owens, a chemical engineering major of the class of '31, has been granted his doctor's degree in a bio-chemistry major at Columbia university. During his assistantship at Columbia he has been working with Dr. H. C. Sherman, noted authority on vitamins. While a student at Idaho he was a member of Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity; Sigma Xi, scientific fraternity; and was editor of the Idaho Engineer magazine during his senior year.

ALPHA ZETA GIVES SENIOR DINNER

The graduating seniors of the College of Agriculture were guests at a banquet given by Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary, at the Blue Bucket Wednesday. Dean E. J. Idings was toastmaster. The program consisted of short talks by Glenn Beck, Ruard Campbell, and Fred Rasmussen and two pianos by Jeanette Wines. All seniors were asked to state their plans for next year.

Heckling and Welsh Accents Mark 7-Yr. Debate Record

One hundred and twenty-seven debates during college and so keen for more argumentation he is going into the practice of law! That's the record of Paris T. Martin of Boise, who will receive his LL.B. degree from the University of Idaho college of law this spring. When he finished Boise high school in 1928 Martin already had nearly 100 debates to his credit—quite a record by itself. The 127 college debates cover a seven-year period, four years while he was working for his bachelor's degree and taking pre-legal training, and the last three years while he has been doing advanced study in law.

Some of Martin's debate engagements have been informal appearances before groups of business men. In regularly scheduled events in the university's debate program, Martin has met representatives of most of the western colleges. More than a dozen different questions have been discussed. In one debate Martin might handle the affirmative side of a question and in the next debate the negative side of the same topic. Debate trips have given him 8,000 miles of travel through the west and mid-west.

Among the teams which have been met are representatives of Oxford, the University of London, Harvard, Stanford, University of Southern California, U. C. L. A., and colleges in Montana, Utah, Colorado, Texas, Arizona, Oregon, and Washington.

"The largest debate audience to which I have ever spoken was during the debate with the Oxford university team from England," Martin recalls. "The audience was estimated at 1,200. The question was 'Resolved: That This is the Best of All Possible Worlds.'"

Used Back Door
"The debate which I remember as most interesting was against the University of Denver.

It was held in a church in Denver on a Sunday evening in March, 1930. We were defending the capitalist system of society, much to the disapproval of a number of avowed socialists who had attended. Heckling was liberal during the debate. After the debate the audience was requested to ask questions. They made speeches instead. The debaters left by the back door.

"Probably the most difficult rebuttal which ever came my way was in 1931. The speaker whose remarks I was expected to most thoroughly spike was a Welshman whose accent made it difficult for the audience to understand him, and almost impossible for the debaters sitting behind him even to gather the subject of his remarks. Failure to meet his contentions directly seemed not to be of great importance. The audience had been listening not to what he had said, but how he had said it."

Real Leadership

America, like the rest of the world, faces an unprecedented crisis. The repercussions of this crisis, which had its origins in the prevailing economic instability, have been widespread and threaten the traditional political institutions. We, the undergraduates of today, have been imbued with the spirit of democracy inherent in our governmental structure and political philosophy. We have witnessed the innumerable benefits derived from a democratic system and are convinced that having been made to function successfully in the past it can be adapted to the changing conditions of the present day and the immediate future. But will the system be reformulated by an evolutionary process which will reduce to a negligible quantity the possibility of radical innovations or reactionary movements with which the continent is burdened today? A government of mere laws crystallizes; inevitably it results in revolution to meet changing conditions. Must our system suffer the restraints of strict constitutionality—or is it to become one primarily of men? The question can be answered indirectly by the postulate that only with real leadership will it be able to transform itself into an integrated institution of men and laws capable of solving our major problems.

But leadership is not a thing to be garnered from the trees. Leadership is a rare quality found only in a select few; in those who utilize the experience of past history and the fund of knowledge at hand. Europe is bereft of her leaders today, having lost them at the Marne and Chateau-Thierry. America is more fortunate in the possession of numerous men with true qualities of leadership who are bending every effort to maintain stability in a quaking world.

The problem confronting the student today is primarily what he will do when he gains control of the system. Nothing much can be done immediately but to learn what we can from the success and failures of others while attempting to develop real characteristics of leadership in our own generation, which will assume the reins of government soon enough.

But leadership of the type that will save our existing institutions is not that of the demagogue, not that of the monomaniac bellowing for the interests of his group alone, but that of the broad, far-seeing statesmen who take all interests into consideration in the administration of justice.

Constant intellectual bickering between student organizations from the extreme left to the extreme right—from the Student League for Industrial Democracy to the R. O. T. C.—is a sign of virility, not degeneracy. It is in this friction of conflicting interests that real leadership is born. Thus it is that democracy can be salvaged.

HAWKEYE ON DUTY

Oh, but it's been most quiet about the campus the past week. Maybe it's because the students are studying—maybe it's the weather—or in all probability it's because you frequenters of Hawkeye are learning your lesson. Nevertheless, after hunting and hunting—here's what the Colonel has to offer.

It has been learned that RACHEL FLAITE has a new love—a secret sorrow—keep it up RACHEL, because the Colonel puts his OK on him... More news about the "King Kong" KERR league—it was necessary for our friend P. K. to make a rush phone call in order for him to keep EDITH from taking off to town with one of her ex-heart-beats... Miss JEFFRIES refused to expound on Lawrence of Arabia. The candle is shorter and shorter for NORM IVERSON—he's at the end of his WICKES for tonite the arrival of BETTY BOOTH is anticipated. Here's a scoop for the Gamma Phi—SPOKANE SMITH slipped by unnoticed last Tuesday night.

Who's the sophisticated looking little fellow that JANET SANDERS has been seen with a lot lately? How was the business trip to Seattle CY GERAGHTY? Does ELSIE live there anymore? Say, GOSS, don't you know they close that new store at Lewiston at 10 p. m.

Believe it or not, but GLEN STARLIN has a first mortgage on the Gamma Phi house.

CLARENCE DEVLIN and BILL FEATHERSTONE were flipping coins to see who the lucky girl would be. (No hard feelings, fellows.)

The Colonel happened to see "Lily," a car recently purchased by VINCENT and HUNT, parked on Moscow mountains with blankets and occupants missing... We hear that "MOON" SHEPARD still has the love-darts for a certain little girl up the street.

Well, take things easy, brush your teeth, and whatever you do, quit picking your nose... That reminds me—mint juleps, please.

ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"

YOU'LL LIKE THEIR MILDNESS TOO!

Read below what leading sports champions say about Camels

With the preference of star athletes overwhelmingly for one cigarette, that cigarette has to be exceptionally mild! Its name is well known to you—Camel. Here's what an Olympic champion diver, Harold ("Dutch") Smith, says about Camels: "I've found a great deal of pleasure in Camels. They never interfere with my wind." Rip Collins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Here's the best proof I know that Camels are mild: I can smoke them steadily, and they never get my wind."

Rowland Duffon, of the New York A. C., says: "Squash is a game that requires A1 condition for tournament play. I've found that Camels are so mild I can smoke all I want, and they never upset my nerves or get my wind. That's what I call real mildness!"

Dick Shelton, world-champion steer dogger, says: "I must be sure the cigarettes I smoke are mild. Camels are very mild—don't get my wind." And those two brilliant golfers, Denny Shute and Helen Hicks, have come to the same conclusion—"Camels do not get my wind."

How this mildness is important to you too!

Camel smokers can smoke more—and enjoy smoking more, knowing that sports champions have found Camels so mild that they never jangle their nerves or get their wind.

YOUR OWN PHYSICAL CONDITION is important to you too. So remember this: Camels are so mild you can smoke all you want. Athletes say Camels never get their wind or nerves.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

Vandals Face Beavers In Track and Field Meet Saturday

SPORT SHOP

"THE BARK OF THE STARTING GUN"

The forms flashing down a white marked track, a lunge at the tape and spent runners gasping for breath—"and there we go Graham McNamee again. High powered announcers and sports commentators get a large share of their patter from the panorama afforded by the track meets held in universities all over the country. And well they might.

There's something electric about a track meet, more than in any other sport. Tomorrow's conflict between the Vandals and the Orange men from Corvallis should provide a great deal of that snap and verve which make such track annals as the Penn relays, the Drake relays, and California Intercollegiate events that the sporting world talks about all summer.

No such talent as is exhibited in the great national meets will be seen tomorrow, but the class of the northwest will be amply represented. Close races will feature the mile and two mile runs, while the dashes will be closer than anything we've seen yet this season.

THE FOURTH CALIFORNIA

Intercollegiate are also to be held in the Stanford stadium this Saturday. Southern California, California, UCLA, and Stanford, each limited to twenty-five men, will be the teams entered.

"Four quarter milers who have run under 48 seconds; five half milers who have beaten 1:55; five high hurdlers who have done 14.6 or faster; seven low hurdlers who have broken 24 seconds; three discus tossers who have surpassed 155 feet; seven pole vaulters who have climbed over 13-9 or higher; five broad jumpers who have done better than 24 feet; and six javelin throwers who have tossed the spear farther than 200 feet—" say the advance notices from the Stanford news service bureau.

An outfit like that, competing in one afternoon, should call for a flock of new adjectives from sports writers. Watch the Sunday papers for new records made by the "native sons" of California.

VANDAL TENNIS

and golf teams compete this afternoon also, the tennis players meeting the Washington Huskies at Seattle, and the golfers jaunting to Pullman to encounter the other state of Washington outfit. Only the baseball club, weary from last week's road trip and from their two games this week, take a well earned rest, in preparation for the hard sledding of next week when they break four in a row. Provided the chuckers can hold out, and the heavy sticking Vandals manage to hit in the right places, a few wins should be chalked up for the Foxmen. And that would be like prosperity after the five years depression.

LEO CALLAND,

who takes the San Diego sheets in order to keep up with the doings of his San Diego State outfit, is well pleased with his prospects for a winning team down south next year. Long and loud are his praises of one Bill Valverde, a red headed Castilian-American, who combines in one person the best qualities of a track and football man.

Valverde, which means "green valley" by the way, runs the 100 in 10 flat, and uses all his speed on the gridiron, something most track stars can't do. Instead of straight running, the only thing the majority of trackmen-turned-ball-packer can do, the little 145-pound Spaniard spins his way through the opposing offense, and when he gets away, it's nothing but too bad.

A 231 pound tackle is making Leo's eyes sparkle too, the man being a fast, hard charging boy answering to the name of Al Churchman. A fighting Mexican, Joe Lora, fills Calland's other San Diego tackle job, and does it well, regardless of his comparatively slight build, which adds up to 185 pounds. "Another Barney Anderson" is the way Leo styles his 195 pound Czechoslovakian fullback, John Duch. When things gets in a muddle, the big Czech comes in to the huddle foaming at the mouth and breathing Czechoslovakian imprecations from every pore.

Vandal Baseball Squad To Play Four Home Games Next Week

OREGON STATE—HERE I COME

COACH OTTO ANDERSON'S sophomore high hurdler is using too much breath in skipping over the timber to say anything, but that's what the expression on his face reveals. Cy will be meeting the Oregon State high stickers tomorrow in the clash between the Orange-men and the Vandals. No easy task is that outlined for Adkins, the two Oregon State high hurdlers, Kidder and Prahl, having been timed at 15 flat and 15.2 respectively. But don't "Kidder" self, O. S. C.

Richmen Take on O.S.C. And Oregon on Successive Days

The Vandal baseball squad has been having a lay-off from real game competition this week-end, but they will need the rest before the next week is over. Beginning Monday, games will be a daily proposition, four of them coming in a row.

A strong Oregon State team, at present leading the conference, plays here Monday and Tuesday, while the Oregon Webfoots, in second place with five wins and three losses, invade Vandal territory Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

"The present rest will be a boon to the team in that the pitchers will get a well-earned vacation," stated Rich Fox. The Oregon trip and the two games with Washington State the first of this week were a great strain on the chuckers.

Black Reaches Stride After being bothered with a sore arm during the early part of the season, Bill Black loosened up last Monday to pitch a three-hit game against Washington State. With this week's rest, he should be in top shape for the Oregon invasion.

Though possessed of one of the strongest batting orders in the conference, errors have put the Vandals on the bottom of the percentage list in games won and lost. In several of their dropped games, the Vandals have out-hit their opponents, but a bunching of errors on their part and a bunching of hits on their opponents' parts has meant games lost.

Work on Infield Plays Coach Fox has been working on infield plays and fundamentals since the Oregon trip, and improvement in the team is obvious. Strenuous practice has knit the infield into a more compact unit and cooperation between the basemen and batteries is much better.

Rain kept the Vandal nine inside Thursday afternoon, but they had a good indoor practice and chalk talk. Given good weather Friday and Saturday afternoons, the Idaho team will be in top shape to show "Slats" Gill's Organemen and Bill Reinhart's Web-feet a lot of fireworks.

W. A. A. To Award Pins to Rifle Team Members At the annual W. A. A. meeting to be held soon, members of the women's rifle team will be presented with the rifle team pin, which consists of crossed rifles with "W. R. T." superimposed upon the topmost rifle.

Mining Machinery Dropped From Air By Idaho Grad

An airplane was used to drop machinery to the isolated Sunnyside mine in the Thunder mountain district last week, according to a report in The Payette Lakes Star, McCall.

The plane was piloted by Bob King, McCall, and the machinery was dropped into a snowbank at the property, there being no landing field at the camp. Robert McRae, McCall, and E. C. Hughes, Spokane, interested in operation of the mine, were passengers in the plane.

McRae and Hughes were flown to the landing field at Sunnyside and then donned snowshoes and doubled back to the mine on foot, a distance of 30 miles through mountains covered with from 8 to 15 feet of snow. They will start preparations for work at the mine when the snow melts.

Two Class of '33 McRae, '33 is a graduate of the School of Mines, with highest honors. The summer before he registered as a freshman, he prospected near his home in the Thunder Mountain country. He located some pay dirt, started placer operations, rigged up a gasoline drag saw to operate his rocker, and in 45 days actual operation had cleaned up $1800.

When this story was released, together with a picture of McRae panning gold, it was so widely published in newspapers and magazines that McRae was literally swamped with hundreds of letters, some foolish, others plain fan mail, and many an honest inquiry about mining in Idaho and the West. He even received several proposals of marriage.

Prof. Chenoweth Speaks at Seven H. S. Exercises

Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, head of the philosophy department, left Wednesday noon for Grangeville where he gave the commencement address to the high school graduating class that evening. From Grangeville Mr. Chenoweth will go to Cascade, Welsler, and south to Lava Hot Springs, making talks to the graduating classes in each town. On the way back his tour will include St. Maries, Hay, and Malden, Wash., the last address to be given June 2. The subject of his speech will be "Has Democracy Worked?"

BARNEY ANDERSON HAS COACHING JOB

Clarence "Barney" Anderson, who has been catching his way to athletic fame, will become coach at Nez Perce high school next fall. His appointment was announced this week.

Anderson is the 165-pound Vandal football end who snagged so many of Bob McCue's howitzer passes last fall. This spring he is doing heavy duty on Coach Rich Fox's baseball nine as regular catcher. He was recently married to Lucile Stephenson, senior, also from Lewiston.

One-Man Track Team Shows Prospects For Varsity

For the benefit of those who are wondering just how Don Johnson, the "big, smiling lad from Troy," who won the state high school track meet at Boise last year single-handed, has been doing at Idaho, his records made in the Washington State-Idaho frosh track meet last Saturday are reprinted here. While they wouldn't stack up too high in varsity competition, they show lots of possibilities for a freshman. First in shot put, 44 feet 4 1/2 inches; first in discus throw, 134 feet; and first in javelin throw, 184 feet 6 inches.

Johnson has the faculty of relaxation and coordination under stress of competition that is present in all really outstanding athletes. In the Washington State-Idaho meet, he was tossing the shot consistently about 40 feet, just leading Sabutis of the Cougars. Then Sabutis stretched out to 44 feet 1/2 inch and Johnson

Idaho Will Be Lucky To Garner 50 Points, Says Coach Anderson

The Idaho track squad will be host to the Oregon Beavers in a dual track and field meet on McLean field tomorrow afternoon. Coach Grant Swan will bring a team of 18 men.

"We might possibly garner 50 points," says Coach Anderson's forecast. "They are just as strong, if not more so, in the distances, which are our strong points." The meet held last year at Corvallis was closely contested, being decided by the last event, the broad jump, in which the Oregon State men made a clean sweep.

Gladder Is Star This year O. S. C. has the edge, and is bolstered by Jim Danerl, halfback on the varsity football team, who has proved a sensation in his first season in track. His javelin throw of 201 feet 5 inches in the meet with Pacific and Willamette universities is the best ever made by an Oregon State man. He is also entered in the dashes, low hurdles, discus, and shot put.

All track events will be fairly close except the hurdles in which the stagers have a possible clean sweep. Kidder, Beaver hurdler, has been timed in the high hurdles at 15 seconds flat and Prahl at 15.2.

Theron Ward failed to display his usual speed against W. S. C. last week, but Coach Anderson is expecting him to gather in the firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Bill O'Neill and Glenn Orton will have a tough battle in the mile against Guggisberg and Shepard who have been clocked as low as 4:26. The outcome of the two-mile is doubtful and Rodney Pearson will be hard pressed to win.

In the field events Idaho has strong possibilities in the shot, pole vault, and discus with the rest decidedly in favor of the Beavers. Bob McCue may bring home first in the discus. Jack Sharp shows comparative superiority in the pole vault, and Ap Berg should take the shot with little difficulty.

Dr. Graeme Hammond, 77, president emeritus of the A. A. U. and former Columbia University track star, runs three miles twice a week to keep in shape.

Beer-Nurtured Picnickers Presage Sturdy Race

Laden with food, blankets, pillows, and beer, party after party sets out these fine days for Moscow mountain or vicinity, all set for a picnic—or picknick, if you really want to be technical.

The greatest difficulty generally presents itself in getting the model T— for it is rarely a better car than that to its destination. Each has its little idiosyncrasies, and the owner must humor them by making it a rule always to back up hill, or keep the brakes on during the downward coasts, or some other little trick.

Slow Travel
Anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour and a half is needed for this part of the excursion, and then the boys and girls leap out to enjoy the balmy air, while gambling (spelled with or without the "o") on the green or hiking gaily over the mountain. Hours later, dirty, exhausted, and staggering just a little, the merry-makers return home. But this training is good for one thing, at least: The youth of Idaho is developing the makings of a race of remarkably sturdy pioneers.

Last A. W. S. Meeting Will Be Held May 23

The last general meeting of the Associated Women Students will be in the form of an outdoor desert meeting on the lawn in front of Hays hall, next Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

"Since this will be the last meeting of the A. W. S., we would like to see every member there," stated Ethlyn O'Neal, retiring president.

Features of the meeting will be reports upon the national A. W. S. convention held at the University of Indiana last month, given by Ethlyn O'Neal and Dorothy Dole, next year's president. Ruth Farley will report upon the A. W. S.

Senior Examination Schedule

By action of the university faculty seniors are not exempt from final examinations. They will be given special examinations on May 27, 28, 29, and May 31. Instructors may rarely use their own class rooms due to conflicting classes. Science 201 may be used for morning examinations and afternoon exams may be held in Ad. 201. During certain periods additional assignments may be possible by arrangement in the Registrar's office.
