HAWKEYE ON DUTY

The week's hilarity baffles me—finals are coming on, but still we find the dirt just more than piling up. The reason that all of you bottle-sniffers are going to be left out of this column is that the Colonel has decided to give you an even break when it comes to keeping the old apple polished. Undoubtedly the most outstanding event of the past week was the passing of an A. T. O. pin by "GHANDI" HARRIS.... the lucky girl is RUTH HONEYWELL.... "PAT" HUSTEAD became a hero early Sunday morning when he ousted the would-be burglars at the Delt house.

Aha—there's what old Hawkeye has been waiting for. Congratulations to EDITH SLATTER for she finally saw the light and now P. K. is wearing his pin. (Evidently the Colonel has got it in for you, P. K.) Oh, well, don't let it bother you for he's probably not the only one.... PATRICIA ESPE had an awful time trying to combine history and American govt. at the same time.... RACHEL PLATTE says that that so-called secret sorrow of hers exists no longer in that capacity, and that now she is kept busy hating him. HUGH MAGUIRE confronted quite a problem when he came pleading to Hawkeye for him to keep out of the column what HOMER FISHER had arranged to have published about GENE KILLY.... "WHATAMANY" RODGERS was right in his glory when he so ably escorted DORA BAIRD and MARJ GIBSON to the show Sunday afternoon. What a triangle. See DEAN GREENE for information on how it feels to eye-witness an attempted suicide.... "BUNNY" WALKER was caught telling KEN PETERSON that she was going to give him a big pain in the back.... FINKLEA accompanies SANDFORD on her Argonaut duties.... BILL MORROW takes off from the tops of buildings in his attempt to learn to fly.

Well, better close before I forget and start lowering the guns on some of you more prominent beer hounds.... this hot weather reminds me of the time so many died because of the heat-wave, hoping you are the same.... bottoms up.

The picture is the story of a maestro who tours the country with his band in an enormous bus. In his company is George Raft, a reformed convict trying to go straight.

Strange things occur during the voyage that makes Bernie think that Raft has reverted to his former ways, and Raft, smarting under that injustice of his suspicious wants to quit the company. Only his love for the troupe's little dancer, Grace Bradley, keeps him with them.

On the road, the troupe is overtaken by a desperate outlaw band and forced to hide with them. Raft's knowledge of these shady gentlemen enables him to save the band, vindicate himself and win the hand of the girl he loves.

The musical score of "Stolen Harmony" was written by Mack Gordon and Harry Revell. Hollywood's champion tunesmiths, and includes "Would There Be Love?" and "Let's Spill the Beans," two new tunes. LeRoy Prinz is responsible for the dance routines which appear in the picture directed by Alfred Werker.

Dean and Mrs. Pendleton Howard, Betty Horton, Ruth Stewart, Mary Jane Pace, Marion Johnson, Dorothy Scoggins, and Barbara Geddes were Sunday dinner guests of Delta Chi.

Hugh Maguire, president of the only Quaker college in the northwest, Dr. Pennington is widely known as a speaker and writer on religious and educational subjects. "Who's Who" reveals that he has been a farm boy, a lumberjack, a traveling salesman, a preacher, a country school teacher, an editor, and an author, as well as a college president. While a college student he won many state and inter-sectional oratorical contests. For a year, 1930-31, he engaged in a speaking tour of eastern United States and the British Isles.

Ralph York, president of the Alumni Association, has written letters to 10 members of each class scheduled to hold reunions at the commencement. These letters have urged the classes to promote aggressive reunion plans. Dr. F. W. Gall, head of the botany department, announces that the popular flower show will be repeated. Each commencement more than 2000 people view the display of blooms in the botany department.

Tennis Team Loses To Washington Quintet

Playing a well balanced University of Washington team of their own courts, Saturday, the Vandal netmen were snowed under in their second conference meet, 7-0. The Idaho players failed to win a single set. Clem Dinsmore, Dorothy Lemlest, and Leahla Foster, Boise were weekend guests of Delta Gamma.

SENIOR NOTICE

Those seniors who have not yet been measured for caps and gowns should do so at once as there are only a few left.

IDAHO GOLFERS GO TO CONFERENCE MEET

Vandal golfers will pack their clubs early Friday morning for a trek to Eugene where they will play in the conference golf meet, in which Washington, Washington State, Oregon, and Oregon State will also compete. Undeterred by last Saturday's defeat on the Washington State golf course, four Idaho men will make the trip. Jack Cummock, number one man, will head the team, and the other three men will be picked from the ladder.

Other men sure to go are Chet Rodell and Vic Warner. Alex Morgan, now number three man on the ladder, is open to challenge by Walter Budge to determine who the fourth man on the team will be. Lewis Ensign, ranking member of the team, will be unable to make the trip, which accounts for the challenge match necessary between Morgan and Budge.

BILL KATSILOMETES ELECTED "T" PREXY

At a meeting of the "T" club at the Delta Chi house last night at 7:30, officers were elected for next year. Bill Katsilometes was elected president; Norman Iverson, vice president; Merle Fisher, secretary; Ross Sundberg, treasurer; and Glen Naslund, sergeant at arms. Sigma Alpha Epsilon had a picnic Sunday in Moscow mountain, Patrons and patronesses were Capt. and Mrs. W. H. Hale, Capt. and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, Miss Pauline Lamar, and Mr. Edward Whitehead.

W. S. C. Golfers Cop Third Match From Vandal Squad

Washington State's low scoring golf club, slated to cop the conference championship at Corvallis this week, made it three straight over the Idaho golf team Saturday by a score of 12½ to 5½. The Cougar golfers won four out of six matches.

Jack Cummock, number one man on the Vandal club, shot a 73 score to win over Carl Gill, Washington State ace. Johnny Beck, Washington State, won medal honors for the day with a 72, two over par.

Annual W. S. C. field day, was featured by the stellar playing of Cummock, and Beck, both of whom played excellent golf, getting their drives off well and doing an excellent job of putting on the green.

A warm day, coupled with the excellent greens and fairways of the Cougar course, helped to produce a good brand of golf for both clubs.

Vandal golfers expressed themselves as well pleased with the new Washington State college course, although it will be even better when the greens become more firmly turfed and water is supplied.

Margaret Wernette, Boise, was a dinner guest of Delta Gamma Sunday.

10-Point Program For Fraternity

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is clipped from The Indiana Daily Student. It is interesting to note that four of the ten points advocated by Dean Sanders in his program for fraternities have been for some time a definite part of the fraternity set-up on the Idaho campus. Perhaps fraternity leaders here might find it well worthwhile to think over the remaining six as possible additions to the excellent system already in force.)

Dean William L. Sanders, dean of men at Ohio Wesleyan university, in a luncheon address before the Indiana Interfraternity conference at Bloomington, outlined to the group a ten-point program which he believes would establish the American fraternity as an instrument of great educational value. He stated that America is heading toward the type of education generally associated with Oxford university and that the fraternity must adjust itself to the new mode in education. His program, as outlined, follows:

1. Establish an interfraternity council within the university.
2. Establish a faculty and alumni fraternity council to closer relate the fraternity with the university.
3. Unite the fraternity treasurers into a group that could promote cooperative buying among the houses.
4. Require monthly examination of financial accounts by a university official or professional auditor.
5. Sponsor periodical house inspections to eliminate fire and unsanitary conditions.
6. Eliminate "hell-week."
7. Train pledge masters in the art of handling and guiding freshmen.
8. Hire housemothers to expand social privileges and improve living conditions.
9. Train social chairmen, and
10. Engage fraternity counselors as a means to better scholarship and as advisors.

Several points in Dean Sanders' program warrant elaboration. Fraternity finances have been discussed in this column before and the need for some kind of auditing was pointed out because of the ever changing membership and the unfairness of future members if a debt is allowed to accumulate. Fraternities are ever fearful of university control, but this feeling does not seem evident at institutions where the auditing of fraternity books by university officials is already in operation. At Ohio State, Dean Sanders said, the system has had a reverse effect and the various houses are thankful for the opportunity to receive assistance in the form of audits.

The advantages of the Dean's last point, the engaging of counselors who would live in fraternity houses and act as tutors, have also been discussed here. At several institutions throughout the country, the tutorial trend has gained ground until it is now firmly established in the fraternal system. A counselor serves not only as an aid to higher scholarship, but as a means of carrying on traditions and of raising the standards in fraternal life. If the proper type of men to act as tutors can be found, there seems to be no reason why groups on this campus should not give the plan a try.—Indiana Daily Student.

Handbills Cause Many to Long For Paddles

"Oh for a paddle!" sighed the more frivolous students on their way up the hill to 8 o'clock classes yesterday morning as they were forced to the edge of the sidewalk time after time in order to pass hitherto dignified members of the ASUI, all of whom were bending down to read the insignificant-looking little sheets of white paper which had been plastered all over the campus walks during the night. The sheets were entitled the "Nude Del," and spoke unflatteringly of one of our better known campus honoraries. Veracity Unknown It is unknown just how firmly the claims were based on fact, but the writer or writers of these interesting bulletins attempted to show how far below the campus scholastic average members of the honorary were, and just how dubious their claims to fame on the grounds of leadership and morality. Nor did they hesitate to name names and cite cases in point. But apparently the author was a chivalrous soul, for although he did list the alleged members of certain secret societies, he was very vague indeed when he spoke of "U of I co-eds" whose presence on a picnic "resulted in an auto accident." Some of its remarks seemed to imply that there were more editions to follow, dealing with other honoraries, but at present, "sour grapes" is the reason generally given for the unheralded appearance of the handbill.

HAZARDOUS

occupations are numerous but near the top of the list, must come that tonsil-busting duty of being a baseball umpire. Constant peril to life and limb is experienced by the poor arbiter every time he steps on the diamond. Consider a few of the poor "ump's" many troubles.

ABE LINCOLN

said, "You can't fool all the people all of the time." Neither can the umpire please all the people all of the time but he certainly has to make a big effort to satisfy a good many. Not only is his job in danger if he doesn't please the coach and officials with his ability, his reputation is in danger if he doesn't satisfy both sides of the rosters; but everyone knows baseball players are a wild bunch and an "accidental" throw can easily conk the martyred "guesser" on the dome if one of the playful team members should become irked. Another little detail which must add to the pleasure of an umpire's life is the necessity of wearing black trousers and a black, high-buttoned shirt or coat all afternoon under a blistering sun.

LITTLE CENSURE

can be placed on any umpire who must handle a game alone. It's a tough assignment to try to watch all three bases and still call the ball and strikes at home plate. A perfect example of the necessity for two umpires occurred last week when "Dutch" Altman, veteran Spokane umpire, was caught flatfooted and a play went on behind his back.

In the W. S. C. game, with two men out and a man on second base, one of the Cougars hit to the shortstop. Altman ran over to keep his eye on first base and listen for the smack of the ball into the mitt—the easiest method to call a close play. "Dutch" listened and might have been listening yet, but shouts from the crowd informed him that Geraghty had thrown the ball to third, apparently catching the man going for that base. As "Dutch" hadn't seen the out, he had to rule the runner safe after a furious pitched battle with all hands on the field.

While Altman probably should have kept track of the play, it is easy to see that he had to be in position to call a close decision at one base or the other and was likely to be in a jam which ever course he chose. Such a mix-up would hardly be possible with two umpires watching the play as is customary in most baseball leagues.

TOP-NOTCH VOCALIZING

was the chief virtue of the umpire of the present series, George Clink, ex-pitcher and player in the old Idaho-Washington league. He managed to see all the plays but managed to become the center of a furor by changing his decision on a steal to the home plate by one of the Oregon players.

After calling the runner out, Clink decided that the Vandal pitcher, Bill Black, had committed a balk, thus entitling every base runner to advance one base safely. After much argument with both coaches, Clink decided that the run counted, thus giving the Staters the margin which later resulted in victory.

A TRIPLE THREAT

man who doesn't even play football is the boast of Oregon State—personified by Earl Conklin, who will be remembered by Idaho crowds as center for the Orange basketball team, is also an excellent track man. Last Saturday, after playing baseball against W. S. C. in the morning, the versatile athlete journeyed to Moscow to win the high jump event in the track meet here that afternoon.

A SUDDEN CALL

forced the umpire of the Idaho game at Corvallis to leave the field suddenly for an inning or two. Glen "Lefty" Nashund, Idaho southpaw, was standing on the coaching line as the distressed umpire hurried by and, at a nod from both coaches, took over the task of calling them.

Apparently Lefty did better for the home team than did the official umpire, for when that individual completed his business and returned to the diamond the Oregon State fans yelled their disapproval and wanted the Idaho man to continue. But "Joe Umps," as always, took control and finished the game without further mishaps.

Beavers Nose Out Vandal Nine In Ninth Inning by Lone Tally

Final Score Is 5 to 4; Idaho Comes From Behind in Eighth to Tie Score Only to Falter in Final Stanza

George Hibbard, Oregon State shortstop, scored from first base in the ninth inning of yesterday's baseball game to give Oregon State a 5 to 4 victory over Idaho. The deciding tally came after two were down when Worthley, second baseman, drove a liner which bounded on bad ground near the foul line in left field to get away from Bill Kleiner.

Worthley got two bases on the blow but Hibbard managed to cover three bases before the ball could be returned to the playing field.

The next man up, Creider, grounded out to short retiring the side. The Vandals came back in their half of the ninth and attempted to nullify the costly break, but failed, although Wheeler walked and Summers singled only to die on base.

Beavers Score First

Oregon State opened the scoring in the first inning when Hibbard, who singled, scored on Worthley's triple, which landed between right and center near the flag pole. The Beavers collected two more runs in the fourth when they combined two hits with another break. Creider singled to open the stanza. Bergstrom was out at first. Conkling, banged out a "Ben Turpin" three banger near the right field foul line, scoring Creider. Dockery fouled out and Bentley walked.

Black then was called on a balk which advanced Bentley to second and allowed Conkling to be called safe at home. Some argument resulted in the decision at home as umpire George Clink called the runner out first and then reversed his ruling. Rasmussen fanned to retire the side. A walk, an error and a single accounted for the Beavers' counter in the seventh.

Summers Gets Double

Steve Summers scored Idaho's first run in the third inning when he opened with a double. He advanced to third when Black was retired at first. Anderson drew a pass and Summers crossed the plate when Kleiner was tossed out, Worthley to Creider.

Anderson opened the sixth inning with a long three base hit over Dockery's head in left field, and scored following Conkling's catch of Geraghty's long sacrifice fly into right. The Vandals collected their other two runs in the eighth, the result of two doubles and a single. Summers opened with a safe blow followed by a two-bagger by Black. Anderson filed out to center and Kleiner was retired at first on a grounder to second. Geraghty hit a scorcher which bounded off third base, getting two bases and scoring both Summers and Black. Katslometes was out at first to end the rally.

Geraghty Stars
Rasmussen was nicked for a total of six by the Vandals while Black allowed eight. Wally Geraghty played an outstanding game at short for the Vandals while Steve Summers led the attack at the plate with a double and two singles in four trips.

Betas Win 'Mural Golf Title; Russell Is Low

Beta Theta Pi emerged the winner in the intramural golf tournament held on the Moscow golf course last Sunday.

Warren Russell, Beta, was individual low scorer, shooting the course in 45. Koontz, Delta Chi, Gridley, A. T. O.; and Cecil Greathouse, S. A. E., finished with 47's. Gigray, Beta, was next in line with a 48.

Alpha Tau Omega was second in the meet, Phi Delta Theta, third, Phi Gamma Delta, fourth, and Delta Chi, fifth.

The championship team was composed of Warren Russell, Bill Gigray, Larry Baird, and Robert Brewer.

Vandal Trackmen Bow to Beavers

Final Tally Is 85½ to 45½ in Saturday Meet On MacLean Field

With a demonstration of general superiority, the Oregon State track team defeated the Idaho Vandals 85½ to 45½ in a conference meet on MacLean field last Saturday.

Idaho started out with a bang, and after three events was leading 10½ to 1½, but with a clean sweep in the 440-yard dash, the Orangemen soon took the lead which they never relinquished.

Wilbur Kidder, Oregon State, was high scorer of the meet, garnering first in the low and high hurdles and the broad jump for a total of 15 points. For the Vandals, Theron Ward was high point man with 10 points.

Ward came back with a vengeance after his defeat by the Washington State sprinters last week to take the 100 and 220-yard dashes followed closely by Addison Beeman who took both seconds. Ap Berg placed first in the shot put and Earl Ritzheimer took first in the discus while Paul Berg and Jack Sharp tied with Stoop and Pahl of the Beavers for first place in the pole vault at 12 feet.

O. S. C. Sweeps Quarter Mile
The Beavers swept the quarter mile when Stewart Neely became exhausted near the finish line, and took first and second in the broad jump, half-mile, high jump, javelin, high and low hurdles. Earl Ritzheimer and Jim Daneri of the Staters tied for third in the shot and Earl Alden and Stoop of Oregon State repeated in the high jump.

Idaho Fencers Meet Saturday

Meat Slicers To Settle Championship in Memorial Gymnasium

Blood, gore, and what have you will be spilled next Saturday when Idaho meat slicers settle the fencing championship on the field of honor. The field in this case will be the main floor of the Memorial gymnasium at 2 p. m.

The meet, with the added incentive of an engraved foil for the "winner," will probably be one of the finest fencing exhibitions of the season. The men have fenced with each other all season and the feeling is running high. The boys have promised to throw caution to the wind and cut off any part of anatomy that exposes itself.

Weston Challenges All
Ray Weston, who coached the team this season and who will be the "third" man at the meet, cordially invites any and all who can swing a mean foil to come and participate in this bloody tourney. Wednesday at 5 p. m. will be the last time contestants can enter. There will be no entry fee, but contestants are asked to pay their own doctor bills.

The spectacle will be public and the entire student body is invited. Special ambulance service has been provided so that weak-hearted persons need not miss the battle.

mile and came close second while Rodney Pearson gamely fought a losing battle with Shepard of O. S. C. in the two mile. Cy Adkins put up two nice races in the hurdles, but was only able to place third.

Stew Brown took third in the half mile after losing his lead to two Orangemen about 100 yards from the tape. Big Bob McCue took second in the shot and third in the discus.
