Orland, McFadden Head Northward For Debates

Vandals Will Argue "Is Constitution Outmoded?" Before High School Assemblies, Luncheon Groups

Bob McFadden and Lewis Orland, varsity debaters, will leave Sunday on a week's debate tour of northern Idaho. The question "Is the Constitution Outmoded?" will be discussed by the two men before high school assemblies and luncheon groups.

"We have been trying to work out a plan for several years along the lines of this tour," said Orland Thursday. "This is the first time that an extended tour such as this has been attempted."

Appearances of the debaters in Coeur d'Alene, Bonners Ferry, Sandpoint, Kellogg, and Wallace will be included in the journey.

"The invitations which we have received have been enthusiastic," declared Orland. "The Coeur d'Alene chamber of commerce has sent out special printed notices to its members announcing the debate, commenting on the topic as very timely."

Though only two men are making this trip, two more similar tours have been planned, which will use different sets of debaters. The luncheon tours are an addition to the regular debate schedule of the year, which has also been extended to give increased opportunity for participation.

Bench and Bar Has Annual Banquet

Future Lawyers Hear John Carver, United States Attorney for Idaho

Approximately sixty future lawyers assembled at the Blue Bucket Thursday evening for the annual banquet of the Bench and Bar, an organization composed of students in the law school. The assembly was addressed by John A. Carver, United States attorney for the State of Idaho, and E. H. Casterlin, assistant United States attorney for the State of Idaho, who spoke on the work carried on in the office of the United States attorney.

The students displayed great interest in the talks and asked many questions concerning the remarks made by the speakers. A constructive discussion covering many points was carried on between the students and speakers.

Here for Court

Attorneys Carver and Casterlin are here primarily for the session of the United States district court being held in Moscow this week.

Carl Buell, chief justice of the Bench and Bar, presided over the meeting and Dean Pendleton Howard, head of the law school introduced the speakers.

Casady Taylor, chairman of the mock trial committee, reported that plans were being made for a sensational mock trial to be held sometime during the early part of the second semester with various legal talents from the law school displaying their ability.

VANDALS, BEAVERS RENEW RIVALRY

When Idaho and Oregon State elevens meet at Corvallis Saturday, an old gridiron rivalry will be resumed where it was left off six years ago.

Not since 1929 have Idaho and Oregon State appeared on each other's schedules. Their last meeting was disastrous for the Vandals, who lost 27 to 0. Waldemar Pederson, the "Galloping Swede," was Idaho's threat that fall, but the Beavers covered him like a tent.

The Idaho-Oregon State game before that, in 1927, still is considered one of the greatest football contests ever played in Portland. Idaho won that hammer and tongs battle, 12 to 7, with a touchdown in the last moments of the game. Oregon State scored on an intercepted pass shortly after the opening gun, then added the extra point. Idaho came back in the second quarter, but trailed most of the game, 7 to 0.

That game was the high point of a season in which Idaho was undefeated in conference play, but twice tied. Charlie Erb, then coaching the Vandals, was expounding the percentage system, kicking to the other team and waiting for the breaks.

Paul E. Jones, '32 Now in Lewiston On Tribune

After three years of varied newspaper experience, Paul E. Jones, former student in journalism, is now on the staff of The Lewiston Tribune as sports writer, copyreader, and reporter. Jones left the University in 1932 before he had completed requirements for graduation. He was editor of The Argonaut in 1930-31 and wrote a popular sports column. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

After leaving the university, Jones became news editor of the Newberg, Oregon Graphic. In June, 1933, he and a partner bought The Weekly Herald at Carlton, Oregon, and after six months he became sole owner. In 1934, he sold out and took a job as news editor and advertising manager of The Lake County Examiner at Lakeview, Oregon.

After writing continuity for station KGW, he worked on The Portland Oregonian. Soon afterward The Oregonian was reorganized under Col. Guy T. Viskniski, the nationally-known "doctor to dailies," and Jones and other new members of the staff were dismissed. Since then, he has been advertising manager of The Telephone Register, McMinnville, Oregon, one of the largest and most progressive weekly newspapers in the state.

Senator To Sponsor Oratory Contest

James P. Pope interested in Speech Activities; To Be Like Those at University of Wisconsin

Senator James P. Pope has offered to sponsor an oratorical contest for Idaho modeled upon the famous contest held at the University of Wisconsin, announced A. E. Whitehead, debate director, Thursday.

No definite plans have been made as to the details of the contest or awards, and Mr. Whitehead is now preparing a tentative schedule to be submitted to Senator Pope for approval.

"I feel that oratory still has a place in speech activities," said Mr. Whitehead, "and we are very grateful to Senator Pope in aiding us to revive contests of this sort on the Idaho campus."

AG ENGINEERS PLAN OWN PUBLICATION

A committee was appointed to consider the feasibility of having a publication of their own instead of buying space in the "Gem" at a meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in the Engineering building last Thursday.

The engineering department will soon receive some motion picture films concerning tractors and trucks from the Seattle branch of the Bureau of Mines, it was announced. These films may be shown at the next meeting of the A. S. A. E.

Idaho-Oregon Game To Be Broadcast Over KFPY

The Idaho-Oregon State football game will be broadcast tomorrow afternoon over stations KOL, KVI, and KFPY, the Spokane Columbia network station.

Art Kirkham will be at the microphone, broadcasting direct from the field starting at 1:45 o'clock.

The Gonzaga-College of Puget Sound game at Spokane will be presented over KGA, beginning at 1:45, with John Carpenter at the mike.

Followers of Washington State's Cougars can hear the W. S. C. U. S. C. game from Los Angeles over KOMO, KHQ, and KGR, with Ken Carpenter and Tom Hanlin calling the plays, starting at 2 p. m.

Christmas Program Features Recital

A Cappella Choir, Vandalers, and Student-Faculty Group Will Carol

An extensive music program for the Christmas season is being planned by the music department. A recital, singing by the newly organized a cappella choir, carols by the Vandalers, and the traditional student-faculty caroling around the campus Christmas tree, will make up the program.

Miss Velma Gildemeister, instructor in music, and Archie N. Jones, head of the department, will participate in a recital December 12 in the auditorium.

Choir's First Appearance

On Sunday afternoon, December 15, an all student program headed by the University of Idaho a cappella choir, composed of 60 mixed voices, will be given. This choir was just organized this year and this is to be its first public appearance.

Permissions have been granted by Dean French for attendance at the candle light Christmas carol service December 18, at 11 p. m. in the auditorium. The Vandalers will head the program.

Bob Granville, chairman of the sophomore class Holly day, has asked the music department to cooperate in the traditional student-faculty carol singing around the lighted Christmas tree. The carols will be sung December 19, at 7 p. m. around the big tree in front of the music hall. The tree is decorated with hundreds of colored lights each Christmas season.

Just after passing out papers for a philosophy final, a Fordham professor noticed a co-ed in the class busying herself applying a powder puff to her nose.

"My dear young lady," he remarked sarcastically, "you are not taking the make-up exam—yet."

Students Will Be Admitted Free to Concert Of Seattle Symphony Here Next Saturday

Will Cost Townspeople 75 Cents; Announce Program Of Five Numbers

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of their ASUI tickets at the concert of the Seattle symphony orchestra in the Memorial gymnasium on November 23, according to announcement made yesterday by George Horton, graduate manager. Townspeople and members of the faculty will be charged 75 cents.

The program which this 60 piece organization will play under the direction of Dr. Basil Cameron will include symphonic compositions which have been applauded as popular favorites all over the country.

Dr. Cameron and his orchestra have become famous for the refreshing and brilliant manner in which they interpret numbers well known to everyone. Through their flawless ensemble and authentic musicianship these musicians are able to draw new beauty from familiar melodies which render every performance a memorable experience, according to critics.

The following program will be presented next Saturday evening:

Overture: "The Merry Wives of Windsor"—Nicolai.

New World Symphony, Dvorak

Intermission

"Peer Gynt" Suite..... Grieg

Air on the G string, J. S. Bach

Overture: "William Tell"..... Rossini

The appearance of the Seattle group on the campus is one of a series of 20 engagements throughout Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Utah.

Directs from Memory

Dr. Basil Cameron, director of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra which plays here next Saturday evening. The distinguished English musician is so familiar with the symphonic orchestrations that he is able to direct entirely from memory. According to critics, the privilege of watching Dr. Cameron conduct is a never-to-be-forgotten experience. His movements have no tinge of the spectacular, yet every instant of his presence on the platform is filled with intense awareness, not only of the smallest technical detail, but also of the musical message he is presenting.

Christmas Program Features Recital

A Cappella Choir, Vandalers, and Student-Faculty Group Will Carol

An extensive music program for the Christmas season is being planned by the music department. A recital, singing by the newly organized a cappella choir, carols by the Vandalers, and the traditional student-faculty caroling around the campus Christmas tree, will make up the program.

Engineers' Smoker Promises Good Time to All

Absolutely free, and lots of it. Those are only two of the surprising and pleasing features of the Engineers' smoker, say the officers in charge. The smoker will be held in the armory in the Memorial gym next Saturday night at 7:30 and all engineers are invited.

There will be boxing and wrestling matches, lots of eats, and music. The Alpha Chi trio will sing and one of the campus orchestras will live things up.

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering society, will tap its pledges at the smoker. A meeting was held last night to make final arrangements. The officials promise lots of surprises, and many of the things which will take place have not been announced.

Fourteen former high school captains and eighteen players who have won all-star recognition of one kind and another were included among seventy-five candidates for the 1935 Stanford freshman football team.

Engineer's Dean Is New York Bound

Ivan C. Crawford Will Head Inspecting Committee for Western Schools

Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the college of engineering left last night for New York to attend a meeting of the national committee on the accrediting of engineering schools November 21, 22, and 23. During the session the committee will examine the engineering schools of Columbia university and Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J.

"These schools are the first to be examined for the purpose of accrediting, although 24 of the more prominent eastern engineering schools have asked for inspection," Dean Crawford said. "Just as soon as the procedure is standardized, the accrediting of engineering schools in the West will begin."

Dean Crawford is the chairman of a sub-committee to have charge of making inspections and reports for engineering schools in the states of Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. He expects work in this area will begin early in the spring of 1936.

The head committee represents the major national engineering societies of the country—the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Dean Crawford will return to the campus before Thanksgiving.

WALK CALMS TEAM, DECLARES BANK

Walking versus running on the gridiron seems to be a point of argument, since Coach Ted Bank started an innovation in the Northwest by having his Vandals walk on the field of battle, instead of coming out at a high gallop.

It's an old custom followed by Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Ted Cox of Tulane. Coach Bank declares he is following the same practice of the two famous mentors with whom he was associated at Tulane, because, he believes, walking on the field tends to calm the players who have been brought to a high degree of tenseness as game time rolls near.

He doesn't want the players to lose any of the fire of battle, but he does want them to get rid of the nervousness that causes fumbles and other blunders which are apt to lose ball games in the first few minutes of play.

In a recent intelligence quiz, Columbia university professors averaged a mental age of 20.

Dr. Lindsay Discusses Chemical Aspects Of Refrigeration

Dr. James Donald Lindsay of the chemistry department presented a discussion on "Chemical Engineering Aspects of Artificial Refrigeration" at the banquet of the Chemistry club last night at the Blue Bucket.

Dr. Lindsay is particularly well qualified to discuss this subject as he was for three years chief chemist of the Kelvinator company. More recently he has served as a chemical engineer of the Tennessee Valley Authority at Wilson dam, Alabama, from which position he came to Idaho last fall.

Englishman Speaks At ASUI Assembly

Sir Frederick Whyte Tells "Where Europe Is Going" Wednesday Morning

A record attendance of university students, faculty members, and townspeople heard Sir Frederick Whyte, prominent lawyer and member of the King's council discuss "Where Is Europe Going Today?" at an ASUI assembly Wednesday morning.

Sir Frederick Whyte, who is a native of Scotland, and who was at one time secretary to Winston Churchill, began his talk by saying that his grandfather had spent 30 years in America and that therein lay his claim to kinship with the American people.

Government Based On Sovereignty

The speaker pointed out that sovereignty is the foundation of all successful government, and that every organized state must have some supreme authority. Increasing interest in foreign affairs, however, resulted in a clash of wills because of the attempt to extend that sovereignty to world domination. The outcome of this, he declared, was the World War. That a similar situation in Europe now exists, was stated by the speaker.

Commenting upon the League of Nations, the one beneficial result of the war, Sir Frederick Whyte said that the league as planned by Woodrow Wilson and its other authors was constructed to operate in an orderly world which had some sense of cooperation.

Recent developments in regard to its treatment of the Ethiopian situation have demonstrated the sad need it suffers in that respect. It is a house divided against itself, and seems doomed to comparative inactivity until it overcomes that handicap," Sir Frederick declared.

Discusses English Struggle

In his discussion of present-day England, the speaker exposed a terrific struggle now taking place. Ever since the beginning of history, he said, Great Britain has helped maintain an equilibrium in European diplomacy. Whether it shall continue to do so is the problem confronting the English people today. Sir Frederick indicated that public opinion is divided, some wishing to maintain the status quo, and those who feel the league must be upheld at all costs.

"Neither alternative is in itself advisable," he said. "War is imminent in both courses. A successful compromise must be reached for the welfare of all Europe. Once national sovereignty has been made to apply to the whole world, we may effectually talk of avoiding all wars and conflicts, but not until then," Sir Frederick concluded.

Sir Frederick also addressed the Wednesday meeting of the Moscow chamber of commerce.

Yearbook Sponsors Contest to Find "Fair Vandals"

Each Group House to Enter One Candidate in "The Quest for Beauty," Artist to Judge

A beauty contest, in which one woman from each group house, hall, and Daleth Teth Gimmel will be entered, will be sponsored again this year by the Gem of the Mountains. A similar contest was conducted in 1933, and pictures of the winners appeared in the yearbook.

"The contest this year will be known as 'The Quest for Beauty,'" states editor Maurice Malin. "Each women's house will be asked to select one candidate for the contest. The dormitories and the town women will also be asked to enter one contestant in the 1936 quest for Vandal beauty."

"I am hoping that these organized groups will pick their representatives on the basis of beauty alone and not let personality or class in the university interfere," said editor Malin.

Such contests are often a source of criticism, but the story of the first Gem beauty section, which was in 1924, explains the aim of this section in the Gem for 1936. The following is an excerpt from the 1924 Gem: "It is hoped that this section will pave the way for other and more elaborate sections to follow in the years to come, that the 'Fair Vandals' of the future college generations may always have a place in the sun."

Artist to Judge

When each organized group has made its selection, full length and head portraits will be sent to an artist for final judging. George Petty, of Old Gold advertisement fame, has been asked to judge the contest.

A complete list of the contestants in the "Quest for Beauty," will be announced next week during "Gem week," which has been designated as the week for making it possible for everyone to buy a Gem through his general deposit. During next week tables will be placed in the Ad building, the Engineering building, and Morrill hall, where cards will be available for transferring the full price of $4 from the general deposit.

"Picture appointments are coming in fast," states Frank Bevington business manager. "All those who have not yet made appointments should do so at once to avoid last minute rushes, and to get the best attention in their Gem sittings."

Students May Hear Famous Musicians

Memberships Are Being Sold at 'Lewiston' for Artists Course at Lewiston

At least three concerts by outstanding musicians sponsored by the National Civic Music association are being made available to students and residents of Moscow and the vicinity through the Lewiston-Clarkston Civic Concert association, according to Mrs. R. D. Russell, who with Dr. Russell is a director of the association for Moscow. Memberships which entitle those who join to attend the concerts are being sold at Hodgins' drug store until Saturday, November 16.

The campaign for memberships will be closed Saturday after which time no more will be sold. No individual admissions to the concerts will be sold, it was announced. Associations under this plan are being organized throughout the country. A convenient system of reciprocity makes it possible for a local ticket holder to attend concerts in other cities belonging to this association. It is under the direction of the National Broadcasting company.

PEP RALLY SENDS TEAM TO O. S. C.

Approximately 150 students formed a pep rally last night to send the team to battle Oregon State college. "What the crowd lacked in numbers, however, it made up in spirit."

The "Iron Men" Take a Breather But Not During a Game

SIXTY MINUTES OF PLAY in six consecutive games is the record Norm Iverson and Bob McCue will carry into the Oregon State game tomorrow. Both considered good enough for all-coast rating, these two Vandals keep their subs toasting the bench while they go out to warm up the opposing players. Iverson's record had a narrow squeak last Saturday when he trotted to the bench in the last quarter. Many spectators figured another "iron man" record gone where the woodbine twineth, but Iverson whipped right back out on the field, and another reserve sat down on the bench.

Squawkeye Says---

And just to start things off wrong, a typical way to do things at "deare olde Idaho," we shall spring—now don't make any remarks about our head—already being that way—one of the more putrid puns:

There is a timid knock on the door of Joe Blow's room, and a voice asks: "Are you in bad, Joe?"

"Heavens," answers Joe, "You know I'm never in bad before midnight."

Well, take it any way, or any where, you want to: there's a rumor that the above atrocity is still a pun.

And then there was the person who decided to parade his good points, but forgot that it takes more than one to make a parade.

THE REPORT OF THE CIRCULATION MANAGER WILL ENABLE US TO KNOW WHETHER THE RECENT BLUE BUCKET WAS FILLED WITH PAY DIRT OR NOT.

At times we think that the Student Body needs one of these body building courses. Now here is a suggested exercise in order to develop the lungs. A hog calling contest should be just the thing, but one will not dare practice too loudly, since your room will probably be too small to hold all of the brothers who will respond to your practice efforts.

A. Who was that lady I saw you with last night?
B. That wasn't any lady, that was an Idaho co-ed.

FROM NOW ON OUR MOTTO IS: "A FACE IN THE OPEN IS WORTH TWO BEHIND THE BUSH."

A hen-pecked man in Hollywood is truly out of luck. A yes-man all day, and a yes-ma'am all night.

Hawkeye
On Duty

Everybody must have been pretty tired this week, what with recovering from Homecoming and quizzes and everything. . . Some of the boys weren't too tired to play "Hunt Down Hawkeye" though. A big rousing bird to Hamer Budge, who is afraid of the publicity. . . Earl Bopp, who would like to write the column again himself. . . Kent Peterson, who doesn't realize that everyone is wise to him anyway. . . and Dale Clemens, who just happened to be around. . . These cute kids thought they had it all figured out and gave John Daly the works. . . They probably got their idea from the show this week. . . Remember, wise guys, in addition to you last weekend, there were Larson. . . Cook. . . Ash. . . Wallace. . . Gray. . . Puhl. . . and several others. . . and when ten or twelve guys start talking, a lot gets around. . . Next time I'll tell about the serenades, etc. . .

Scoop. . . Why the sudden outbreak of secret marriages? . . . Charles Crowley kept his secret less than a week. . . And there is another secretly married couple on the campus who are living apart in their sorority and fraternity houses. . . If you can't find out who it is for yourselves, I'll give you the dope. . . soon. . .

Glen Coughlin, who has never felt the urge before, has passed his Sigma Nu pin to Aurel Laxton after a whirlwind courtship of two weeks. . . Ga, ga. . . Skinny St. Clair was left out in the cold when Margaret Berlinger started going steady with Norm Iverson. . . Two is company for Johnny Banks and Arline King. . .

It is a deep dark secret that the Beta Frosh are planning a sneak out of town this weekend. . . Catherine Bjornstad would like to be a scoop for Hawkeye. . . Say, Jane Harvey, who is the other girl who received a chrysanthemum from Will Thompson? . . . When is Bill Pauley going to pass his pin to Charlotte Thompson? . . . Carrol McElroy receiving a cigar from papa Ricks. . . Norma Mitchell fighting for a filthy weed. . . Tch! tch! . . . If you want any information or specifications for dates, Jean (Realsilk) Nicholson has the gals all sized up. . .

Just a word of warning to you amateur snoops. . . The hotter you get on this Hunt Down Hawkeye stuff, the more dirt I'm going to look up and publish about you. . . If you don't want your name in print, lock the doors and plug up the keyholes. . .

Grins and Gripes

"Why the Blue Bucket Upoar?"

To the Editor:

One of the most astonishing things about this ever-astonishing campus is its way of becoming suddenly excited over a condition that has existed for years. The most recent example of this is the comment on the Blue Bucket. For as long as most of us can remember, that periodical has been pursuing the same serene, if questionable, course. Now we hear the whole campus is in an uproar. Why?

The head of the journalism department praised it. The editor made a commendable change in devoting its pages to original campus material. The criticism seems to be centered at the jokes. We honestly believe that they are representative of Idaho humor. Can you remember ever sitting around up here and telling jokes of the harmless Pat and Mike variety?

Let the Blue Bucket give a true representation of the campus! It may be unflattering, but surely the fault lies in us, not the organ which is our form of expression.

Resents Forced Attendance at Prom

To the Editor:

It would seem that the annual ordeal for the Co-eds of this tradition-worshipping institution falls on Saturday eve.

All hail the Co-ed Prom! It is viewed with extreme distaste. . . by everyone. If it's so distasteful, why go? It is not as simple as all that. Co-eds are forced to go. Yes, mes amis, forced. Woe to that rugged individual who refuses.

An entrance fee of one quarter is required. While not exactly a high or exorbitant price, it is expensive misery coupled with an objection to the principle of the thing.

And adding insult to injury, the members of each group house must perform ridiculous antics by way of furnishing entertainment for the other "merry makers gathered for the gala event." These antics had to be composed, prepared, and rehearsed after and during a very busy week (i. e. Homecoming and quiz week)—time which would have been better spent in study or relaxation, than in such inanities.

Any justification for the Prom should be measured in terms of the pleasure derived from it. A fair consensus in which it is held could be obtained by having a voluntary attendance. But no, that would engender the total abolition of this simple (certainly simple) means of pleasure. . . .

Doesn't Like Extra Five Cent Charge

To the Editor:

It looks like we're going to get rooked again. Milburn Kenworthy, after profiting from university patronage for years, has now stuck another nickel on the admission price of his new theater. I don't suppose that many of us would object to this raise in price if it would mean that we would get to see a good picture once in a while. But past experience has shown that it is too much to expect that Mr. Kenworthy would ever get decent shows here, especially on week ends.

What the show business in Moscow needs is some good competition. It seems to me that Dr. Frank B. Robinson ought to start a theater. Perhaps then Mr. Kenworthy would find that he could show a good picture some of the time.

We had thought that the fight between Mr. Kenworthy and the Argonaut readers was settled for good about five or six years ago when that ace of columnists, "T"-Tank Larry, started a fuss against bum pictures at the local theaters. As was pointed out at that time and everyone with a little knowledge of the theater business knows, the system of block booking that prevails in the business limits the individual theater operator's choice of pictures very narrowly. Your statement to the effect that no good shows ever come here is a bit exaggerated, too, with two shows on at the present time to which Liberty gives 4 and 3 1-2 stars respectively.—Ed.

KENWORTHY

Friday—Saturday

SHE MARRIED HER BOSS, starring Claudette Colbert, Michael Bartlett.

Sunday

MR. DYNAMITE, featuring Edmund Lowe, Jean Dixon, Esther Ralston.

Monday

NU-ART

Friday—Saturday

HANDS ACROSS THE TABLE, starring Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray, Ralph Bellamy.

Starting Sunday

IT'S IN THE AIR, with Jack Benny, Una Merkel, Nat Pendleton, Mary Carlisle.

Miss Colbert's successor to It Happened One Night, is again, capably handled. She Married Her Boss is said to be just as outstanding as her former picture in which she co-starred with Clark Gable. What we are concerned about is whether or not her leading man will be a successor to Clark Gable? There are a lot of Melvyn Douglas's, but we all know that there is only one Clark Gable. The main theme of the play needs no explanation, since it is indicated in the title.

Dashiell Hammett scored again when his novel Mr. Dynamite was chosen for Edmund Lowe's latest thriller. It's a grand story about a nit-wit detective and his secretary (who is also a nit-wit). The gags are new, and not so plentiful that they become tiresome. Of outstanding interest is the ingenious manner in which the murder (there is one, of course) is committed. And we'll bet with you that you can't figure out how it was done until Lowe solves it.

Let's all be sure to see Monday's show. Besides the vaudeville attraction, the feature itself is worth seeing. Zazy Pitts and James Gleason cup-up for us in Hot Tip.

A new type of role for Carole Lombard is her part in Hands Across The Table. Although it is quite a come-down from her former sophisticated, lady of leisure parts, to a manicurist, she is given an opportunity to get in some good acting. Fred MacMurray does very well with his role of a man with a famous name but no money to keep it up. We felt sorry for Bellamy, who is cast in the part of an invalid, and in love with Lombard. To top off the story, the comedy that is created is not of the weak "ha-ha" type. You just have to holler.

A very popular young man is Mr. Benny. Having finished a part in Broadway Melody, he is again featured in It's In The Air. And the same can be said for Una Merkel. As funny as Benny was in Broadway Melody he should be a panic in this latest picture. Not only does he have the help of Merkel, but the producers had to throw in Nat Pendleton for good measure. That makes this picture just about all we can stand.

New Theater Opens Thursday With Luxury Galore

Thursday night marked a turning point in Moscow's theater entertainment, with the first show in the deluxe modern Nu-Art theater, especially designed for sound. The front of the building utilizes several different building materials, being constructed of two-color brick with portals of the entrance worked in block glazed tile. The Marquee is distinctive with its black and chromium. The name "Nu-Art" will be shown in neon lettering.

The interior of the building is beautiful with its modernistic lighting and furniture. Round ceiling light of glass and chromium illuminate the foyer, with long wall lights of fluted glass and chromium. The glass fixtures were imported from Czechoslovakia.

The walls and ceilings of the foyer, lounges, and theater proper are done in pastel shades of green, blue, orange, and yellow. The seats are the last word in comfort. The walls are padded to eliminate echoing and distortion.

The rest rooms are equipped with dressing tables and smoking stands. The projection booth is completely soundproof and the building air-conditioned. The auditorium seats 500.

Le Dernier Mot

Thank goodness, full skirts are back again. It is surely hard on the college girls to have to wear tight skirts, hurry up hills to classes, and still look graceful. The stylists have also accomplished something by giving us much fullness without making us look larger. Pin tucks, folds, drapes, and pleats center in the extreme front or back gives us fullness at the bottom and still makes us look even more slender. Have you noticed the plaid skirt which Audrey Parks wears so gracefully. It is pleated all the way around in an exact pattern which makes the plaid very different. The pleats are stretched together making the fullness come in the very bottom of the skirt. It is grey red, and green Scotch plaid of the smooth weave wool, very chic.

Jane Baker certainly looks like a queen in her new black crepe dinner gown. It is very plain with straight lines which makes the high stand up fan collar which frames her face, stand out all the more. It is certainly unusual and is worn as only Jane can wear it.

Surveyors Lead Hectic Life; Work Daily in Wind and Rain

The frosh aren't the only dumb ones. The other day we heard a senior remarking that as long as he had been on the campus, surveyors had been at work on it, and wasn't it about time the darned thing was about finished? It was a lowly underclassman who pointed out to him that it was part of every class's work. And it's not much fun, either.

"The next person who makes a crack about a windy day being a surveyor's paradise is going to get a sock," growled one. "We have too much to look at without bothering about the people who come past."

How would you like to go out regularly, wind or rain, and measure ground that has been checked on every year since the University was founded; particularly when your partner walks jauntily ahead with one light little pole over his shoulder, and leaves you to stagger along under all the other apparatus?

Having passers-by knock over your equipment in a playful moment doesn't help, either. Nor having them step on you, or kick your measuring-line out of the way.

Former Idaho Student To Marry

The engagement of Katherine Kendall, Spokane, was announced several weeks ago at the home of her mother to John Georg, Spokane. The young couple are to be married November 20 at the St. John's cathedral in Spokane.

Miss Kendall is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and is to be remembered by her active work on The Argonaut staff. Mr. Georg is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is associated with her father in the real estate business in Spokane.

What price education? Students of the University of California at Berkeley who receive "A's" in all of their subjects are given a refund of $5 on their tuition fee.

Former A.W.S. Prexy Addresses Women

That the way in which you cooperate here on the campus is an indication of your success later in the world, was the opinion expressed by Ethlyn O'Neal Whitney, last year's president of the Associated Women students, in a talk to the women last night in the auditorium.

"Your university needs your zest, your interest, your ability," she said. "By now you know what college means. Let us check up and find out what it might mean. The fact that you are in college is not so important as what you are doing there."

Recommends Work

The speaker stressed the importance of making the honorary in one's particular field, mentioning that all those on the Idaho campus have very high standing.

"But don't ask for honoraries," she warned. "Earn them. If you have earned something you will have something. Perhaps it will not be as tangible as the pin of the organization you are working for, but it will nevertheless be valuable."

She described briefly each of the campus honoraries for women, outlining their purposes and requirements.

This was the sixth of a series of lectures given each Thursday evening to university women.

Inez Equals Weds Robert H. Harris

Miss Inez Equals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Equals, Payette; and Robert H. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Sandpoint, were married at Caldwell, October 20.

Mrs. Harris was well known on the Idaho campus, having attended the University three years. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, and Spur.

Harris was graduated in 1934 with a B. S. degree in chemical engineering, and was an assistant in engineering drawing at the University last year.

He is a member of Beta Theta Pi, Blue Key, Sigma Tau, Silver Lance, and Intercollegiate Knights, honorary and service organizations. He was also a member of the executive board, and vice president of the ASUI during his senior year.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home in Wilder, where Mr. Harris is employed at present.

Phi Upsilon Omicron Sponsors Exhibit

The annual exhibit of Berean handicraft, sponsored by Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary, will be on display Wednesday, November 20.

The handicraft is made in a school in Berea, Kentucky, and is displayed by several home economics departments.

Plans for selling sandwiches in group houses each week were also made by the girls.

Frances Illingsworth Marries Crowley

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Frances Margaret Illingsworth, Pocatello, to Charles Raymond Crowley, Idaho Falls, on Thursday, November 7 at Colfax.

Mrs. Crowley was a transfer in her junior year from the Southern Branch. She affiliated with Alpha Phi and during her two years on the campus received highest honors. She was a member of Cardinal Key, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Phi, English club, and The Argonaut staff. At the present time, she is teaching school at Inkom.

Crowley has been attending his third year here taking a graduate in chemistry. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega of which he was president last year.

Women Start 'Mural Horseshoe Meet

The women's intramural horseshoe tournament is being held at Lewis court this week. Each group has two representatives pitching, and the groups are divided into two leagues. Results so far are:

League I: Alpha Phi, won 2, lost 1; Alpha Chi Omega, won 2, lost 1; Delta Delta Delta, won 4, lost 0; Kappa Kappa Gamma, won 2, lost 1; Delta Gamma, won 1, lost 3; Pi Beta Phi, won 0, lost 5.

League II: Kappa Alpha Theta, won 2, lost 1; Gamma Phi Beta, won 3, lost 0; Daleth Teth Gimel, won 2, lost 2; Hays hall, won 1, lost 1; Forney hall, won 0, lost 5; College Girls club, won 3, lost 1.

The winning group in League I will play the winning group in League II for the horseshoe cup which is now held by Alpha Phi.

Practices for women's volleyball will start Monday. Fresh and seniors will practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and juniors and sophomores on Mondays and Wednesdays. Nine practices will be required for team eligibility.

Prizes To Be Given At Co-ed Prom

Prizes will be awarded to the group presenting the best stunt and to the most cleverly dressed boy and girl at the Co-ed prom Saturday night. The annual affair is scheduled to take place in the women's gymnasium, with all university women participating.

Tickets, which are 25 cents for each person, may be obtained in any of the group houses, or from June Quayle, chairman of the ticket committee.

Plan Alphabet Costumes

The theme is to be an alphabet party, with such well-known initials as AWS and NRA featured. It is suggested that costumes, if possible, carry out this idea.

Committee chairmen have been appointed by Lois O'Meara, president of the Home Economics club, sponsors of the prom, and are as follows: programs, Ethel Gehrke; decorations, Helen Luke; booths, Katherine Schuettenhelm; invitations, Alma Almqvist; refreshments, Margaret Matthews; prizes, Dorothy Preuss.

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained at a formal tea dinner and reception Wednesday honoring Miss Elizabeth Robb, visiting district president.

Journalism Club Gives Breakfast

About 100 invitations have been sent to women working on The Argonaut staff to attend the annual breakfast given by Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary, which will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 a. m. at the Blue Bucket.

Mary Kay Riley, president of the group, will explain the purpose and program of Theta Sigma, and Miss Permeal J. French, dean of women, will give a short talk. Mrs. Elmer F. Beth and Mrs. Paul Wickward, a Theta Sigma alum, will be guests of honor.

This breakfast has been sponsored for several years by Theta Sigma to interest more women in journalism and to acquaint them with the organization.

Tentative plans have been made to hold Matrix table, a banquet at which some outstanding women journalist usually speaks, soon after Christmas vacation. Outstanding campus women, in journalism, and prominent town women will be invited. The last Matrix table was held in 1931.

William Hayden, Aberdeen, was a guest of Ridenbaugh hall Monday.

Adrian Anderson was a dinner guest at Forney hall Wednesday.

Along Fraternity Row

Delta Gamma guests of last weekend include Edna Simpson, Mrs. R. Strawn, Peggy Simons, Josephine Breckenridge, Shirley Davis, Lorraine Hansen, Jean Herick, Marilyn Carson, Boise; Helen Shoemaker, Betty and Eleanor Merriam, Spokane; Esther Moulton, Mrs. W.B. Galligan Kennewick; Charlotte Farley, Lewiston; Margaret Allison, Anna Lee Cobbs; Coeur d'Alene.

Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained Alpha Phi at a dinner exchange Wednesday.

Weekend guests of the College Girls' club were Frances Grismer, Coeur d'Alene; Helen and Dorothy White, Dorothea Reddekept, Lewiston; Jean and Mrs. R. Kendrick, Evelyn Quinn, Peck; Rhoda Bryans, Wilma Wright, Spokane; Anna Mary Henderson, Ione Mc-

Pherson, Moscow.

Phi Delta Theta entertained the following guests over the weekend: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stone, C. J. Northrup, Boise; Jene Ware, Coeur d'Alene; Robert Brown, Kellogg; Dan Campbell, Edward Codd, Horton Herman, and Curtis Mann, Spokane.

Dinner guests of Phi Delta Theta were Mrs. Lenore Scott, Rosalie Sanderson, Barbara Gwinn, Jane Harvey, Eleanor Echternach, Charlotte Thompson, Carol Jean Davis, Marcella Geraghty, Julia Moore, Ellen Dollard, Julie Davis, Lorraine Smedly, Lois Davies, Mary K. Riley, and Margaret Brown.

Coach Ted Bank Gives No Promise Of Vandal Victory In Oregon State Game Tomorrow

Varsity Basketball Promises Thrills

Lettermen Back on Most Squads and Sophomores Look Better Than Usual

Basketball in the northern division conference this year will produce some of the most exciting contests ever seen in northern maple courts, was the gist of an interview with Coach Rich Fox Thursday. "There isn't a team that suffered a great deal through graduation and prospects from the frosh squads are better than usual. It will be the stiffest league that hoop fans have had the privilege of witnessing for a number of years," said Fox.

From their performance of last year, the men they have lost, and the men coming up, Oregon looks on paper to be tops this winter. The Webfoot's sophomore team of last year will be greatly strengthened by reserves and transfers from Southern Oregon Normal. One of those sons, Howard Hobson, is making his debut as a major college coach at Oregon.

Idaho Prospects Fair
Idaho's prospects for this season are only fair. The Vandal combination of Geraghty, Fisher, Iverson, and Katsilometz will be a match for any team. They are all experienced, fast and clever, but lack height, and no team can depend on five men. For this reason Coach Rich Fox has been concentrating on the non-lettermen and transfers.

Regular practice started Tuesday afternoon with Fox drilling on fundamentals. The new key-hole rule prohibiting any man on the offensive team from staying within the keyhole for more than three seconds will speed up the game and partially do away with the advantages in having an exceptionally tall center. It will also make it easier for a set defense, however, and so it will be still more important to be perfect in basic fundamentals.

Lack Tall Center
The Vandals will be handicapped again this year by the lack of a tall center. The whole team will be smaller than it has been for several years. For this reason Coach Fox is striving to produce a team just a little bit cleverer and faster than any other team. His style of play will depend a lot on the individual player's natural abilities and thinking powers.

The pre-season schedule will soon be underway, a tentative game with Monmouth normal school of Oregon, being set for December 6. Two games each weekend are being planned until the conference starts in January. These games will be with Whitman, Gonzaga, and some of the normal schools.

Ted Bank Prefers To Keep Mum on W.S.C. Comments

"I could say a lot of things and perhaps feel a bit better for so doing, but it would just mean bickering with the W. S. C. coaching staff, and that I do not intend to do, especially in the newspapers."

Coach Ted Bank thus expressed himself this morning when asked if he had anything to say about a recent news story from Pullman in which Coach Babe Hollingbery was credited as roaring that Idaho was lucky not to be beaten by three more touchdowns Saturday.

"Naturally, I figured Idaho played a good game, and I was well satisfied with the way our men handled their assignments," Coach Bank said. "But there is no use to start bickering with the W. S. C. coaches through the newspapers. We lost the game, and that is all there is to it."

Various comments were to be heard on the streets recently from people who saw the game. Several remarked that it seemed strange that Hollingbery seemed so nervous and ill at ease during the game if he was so sure of its outcome as he was quoted.

Most of the people who had anything to say about the article agreed that it showed poor taste and sportsmanship on the part of Hollingbery.

NOTICE
Freshman basketball practice will not be held during the next two weeks because of regular varsity practice. It will be resumed about the first of December.

The University of Vermont has distributed a booklet on etiquette to the male contingent on the campus.

Gray, Oregon State's Sensational Sophomore Half Is Idaho's Major Threat

"That's the trouble, the other team always has one exceptionally good man to watch."

It was Coach Bank speaking, referring to the red-headed Joe Gray, Oregon State's sensational sophomore half whom the Vandals will have to stop if they beat the Orange at Corvallis tomorrow.

"But Montana and W. S. C. both had good boys in Popovich and Goddard," he was reminded, "and the team succeeded in stopping them in nice shape."

Never optimistic, the Vandal head master gave no promises of beating the Oregon Staters. Neither did he feel that the Vandals were going over as underdogs. Ross Sundberg's shoulder injury, suffered in the W. S. C. game, concerned him, but the line-smasher will be able to play with a special brace over the ailment.

Vandals Work Hard
Two days of hard workouts against an "Oregon State" outfit have acquainted the Vandals with the major Orange threats, and last night's light workout, before the squad entrained for Corvallis at 7 p. m., was a final polisher.

As always, Coach Bank was chary of speech. His selection of the same lineup that started the Washington State game last week indicated his satisfaction with the play of that outfit. Iverson, McCue, and Cooper will take care of the left side of the line, Wheeler is slated as starting snapper-back, and Pavkov, Brado, and L. Green get the right side assignments.

Starters May Change
In the backfield, Bank nominated Honsowetz, Ward, Devlin, and Sundberg, as starters, though in accordance with previous surprises, the whole lineup may be changed by game time Saturday.

"We've a few new plays that we haven't pulled yet," was Coach Bank's comment when asked about special stuff for the Orange. By that it can be assumed that the Vandals will shoot the Beavers' tricks similar to those which fooled the Cougars last Saturday.

The Idahoans left at 7 o'clock Thursday evening and arrived in Corvallis this morning. A light workout will be held on the Beaver field this afternoon.

29 Players Go
Squad members making the trip: Ends—Owen, L. Green, Don Spaugy, G. Rich, Iverson; Tackles—McCue, Brado, Moore, Thlissen; Guards—Pavkov, Cooper, Osterhout, Rettig, Gray; Centers—Wheeler, R. Spaugy, Bette; Quarterbacks—Honsowetz, Wise; Halfbacks—Devlin, Ward, D. Green, Maxson, Holmes, Walker, Inman; Fullbacks—Sundberg, Rich, Dayton.

Accompanying Coach Bank and the club will be assistants Percy Clapp and Bob Tessier, and Trainer Mike Ryan.

SQUAD GAME ENDS FROSH FOOTBALL

Frosh football players will end the season with an inter-squad game, Saturday at 2 p. m. The Squad has been divided into the Reds and the Whites, and the personnel of each will be posted in the Administration building and Memorial gymnasium this afternoon.

Intramural Sports

VOLLEYBALL:
League play in intramural volleyball will open definitely Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock with at least 14 games being scheduled for the four courts. Play will continue under this heavy schedule the remainder of the week.

League schedules will be drawn up and issued to intramural managers Monday by Director Percy Clapp. Following the first week of play, eight games will be scheduled for each evening. Games will start on Monday evenings at 7 and on Wednesday and Thursday (together being considered as one evening's play) at 8:30.

Although the equipment has, as yet, not arrived, the athletic department has secured temporary nets and fixtures. These will be set up Saturday to enable any intramural squad, desiring to do so, to practice either Saturday afternoon or Monday night.

In regard to scheduling games for Tuesday night, or any of the other nights above selected, intramural managers are asked to report any conflict or objection to that particular night for league play to Director Clapp before 10 a. m. Monday.

NOTICE
Tag Football and Tennis Exam Friday from 7 to 8 p. m.; Saturday from 1 to 2 p. m., at Memorial gymnasium.
PERCY CLAPP

R'aring to Run Four Miles Agin' a Roaring Wind

OLD TIMERS WHO boast of the hardhood engendered in the roaring '40s and '50s must take a back seat before these cross-country cruisers, who jaunt the winding and hilly Idaho 4-mile course every day as part of their training. It was these lads who defeated the Washington State runners 23 to 33 last Saturday. In the offing is a run with the University of Washington Huskies. From left to right the men are Don Klingler, Ralph Lee, Stewart Neely, Cy Adkins, Ted Alm, Walter Kantola, and Captain Bill O'Neill. O'Neill finished first against Washington State and is slated to represent Idaho in the Olympic semi-finals for this region.

Joey August-Judd Sexton Feud Headlines Smoker Tonight

Joey August (I) vs. Judd Sexton (SAC) at 135.
Paul George (I) vs. Larry Walker (SAC) at 165.
Bill Morrow (I) at 185 vs. Fred Leonard (SAC) at 208.
George Riddle (I) vs. Fritz Luntsford (SAC) at 126.
Bender Luce (I) vs. Orv Lopp (SAC) at 147.
Luke Purcell (I) vs. Rex Pegg (SAC) at 126.
Dick Lambert (I) vs. Bulldog Sloan (SAC) at 118.
Ralph Miller (I) vs. Kewpie McMillan (SAC) at 112.

Climaxing in the main event the bitter Joey August-Judd Sexton feud, the outstanding smoker of this year takes place tonight at the Memorial gymnasium with eight smashing three-round bouts.

Since that tense moment in 1933 when August was technically kayoed by Sexton in a Spokane smoker, a personal strife of increasing dimensions has arisen between the two.

August, who at the time had just returned to the ring after an 18 months retirement, has been entreating Sexton ever since for a return match. The fight tonight marks the re-match which was finally obtained.

Both boys express confidence in winning the battle, but Sexton went out of his way in Spokane to predict that he would easily enough "cool" August via the leather anaesthetist.

Is Real Headliner
"It will be a stellar fight," commented Coach Louie August, "for both boys are outstanding boxers and determined to win. I think there will be enough action in it to warrant a smoker itself. In my opinion it will end a knockout one way or the other."

The semi-final event between Paul George and Larry Walker also promises abundant color. Walker, a slashing 170 pounder from Spokane who trains regularly with Tiger Jack Fox, has intimated that he is ambitious to succeed George's Pacific Coast championship in a big way.

Another bout of great interest is the contest between Bill Morrow, Idaho's 185 pounder, and Fred Leonard, giant 208-pound slugger from S. A. C. Morrow has developed greatly under the apt tutelage of Louie August, and is expected to show up favorably in what will be his first fight this year. Common opinion has it that it will end before the three rounds are over.

Luce to Larrup
The Bender Luce-Orv Lopp bout will be a fast mixup between a scientific boxer and a rugged slugger. Lopp has an impressive record of kayos. This will mark Luce's primary comeback after a long retirement.

George Riddle has been training hard with Joey August, and is apparently in the best of shape to face Fritz Luntsford of S. A. C. Both boys are known for their slugging. Riddle, a "southpaw," for his left hand smash, and Luntsford for a swinging right

Tierney Tips

The Golden Bears of California continued their march to the championship last Saturday by turning back the Washington Huskies, 14-0. All they now have to do to assure themselves of the western bid to the Rosebowl is to trounce the mighty Stanford Cardinals the latter part of the month.

Encouraged by a perfect picking job last Saturday, bringing the season's average to .771 with a total of 37 hits in 48 attempts, the old prognosticator squints very rapidly into this week's "raffle" and ners.

IDAHO—OREGON STATE
Both teams are out to increase their conference standing. The dope points to a close and hard-fought game. Oregon State a slight favorite, but don't be surprised if Idaho wins.

CALIFORNIA—COLLEGE OF PAC.
The Bears will get a much needed rest after four tough conference battles and before tackling Stanford the following Saturday. The reserves should carry them thru.

WASH. STATE—U.S.C.
An up and down Cougar meeting a fast improving Trojan. Both teams boast fine punters. It looks like a margin slightly in favor of the Californians.

STANFORD—MONTANA
Montana's fighting squad should give anyone trouble but injury to a few stars will spoil any chance of a Grizzly win. Stanford without much difficulty.

ST. MARYS—SANTA CLARA
Two evenly matched teams. Santa Clara is really keyed up to defeat the Gaels who have been in the habit of winning in past years. The Broncos have a fine chance of taking the St. Marys eleven and probably will.

OREGON—PORTLAND
Oregon will find good competition against the Pilots who have scored in every game this year, but should win by two touchdowns.

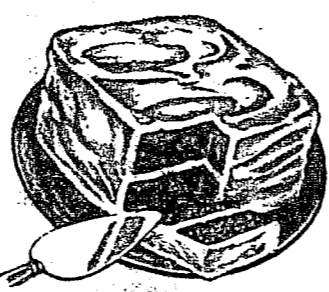

GONZAGA—PUGET SOUND
Coach Roy Sandberg, ex-Cougar star, will bring his boys into the Inland Empire for the second time this season and again is in the role of underdog. Gonzaga to win, but can't take the game too lightly.

haymaker.
Luke Purcell, whose record is still clear from defeat this year, entertains a vicious puncher in Rex Pegg of Spokane.

Boxers to Spokane
Dick Lambert will test his "steel" against Bulldog Sloan, a ring veteran who is noted as a left hook artist.

Ralph Miller will engage Kewpie McMillan, a tough uncher who in 1932 was runner-up in the Pacific Coast championships.

Saturday Coach August will take six of his fighters to participate in another Olympic tryout smoker in Spokane. Idaho men on the card are Jim Rayburn, Clark Francisco, Aaron Blewett, Ben Van Buskirk, Rex Tolman, Glenn Craig, and Carlos Perkins.

Beavers Are Tough, Reports Tessier

Orange Team Looks Good Against W.S.C., Says Scouting Coach

"They're big and fast and tough and we're in for a hard afternoon." Thus came the good word concerning the Oregon State outfit from one who ought to know. Line coach Bob Tessier scouted the Beavers when they played UCLA and W. S. C.

The big ex-Tulane tackle, a great contender during his college days, was impressed with the size of the Oregon State outfit.

"The Orange is probably the biggest team we'll play this year," said Tessier.

"When they played W.S.C. they looked like the top team for a while, starting out very fast at the beginning of each half, but they seemed to tire as the game went on."

Composed largely of sophomores, the Orange team is potentially dangerous, believes Coach Tessier.

Saw Potential Strength
"The whole team is spotty," he said. "Sometimes they appear very good on defense and then again they shine on offense. They show potential strength because of these spots of brilliance. For instance in the W.S.C. game the blocking of the opening kickoff was a result of excellent ball playing, Joe Gray getting away straight down the field for what would have been a touchdown if he had not been caught from behind.

That same Joe Gray, a carrot-thatched twister from Portland, called forth Tessier's praise. In the W.S.C. game he looked fully as good from the ball-packing angle as Ed Goddard, stated Tessier.

"Though Gray can kick and pass as well as pack the ball, the O.S.C. quarter, Woerner, is so much better a kicker that he does most of it. Bob Mountain, reserve for their regular fullback, Wayne Valley, is an outstanding punter."

"Valley," said the Idaho scout, "shone brightest at backing up the line on defense in the games I saw him in, though I have heard since that he hasn't looked so good and may be moved out in favor of Kolberg Saturday.

"Oregon State has no shift, but to date they have used three different offensive formations, single wingback, long and short punt, and the old Notre Dame basic, or 'T' formation. They throw laterals from the Notre Dame formation much in the same way the leading pro teams do."

"We're not taking them lightly at all," concluded the Idaho line coach. "It is possible that we may beat them if we play as good a game as we did against W.S.C., but we won't if we let down at all."
