Debaters to Pick Mural Question

House Representatives Will Meet Wednesday to Select Topic; Arrange Schedule

All those groups which plan to enter intramural debate must send a representative to the meeting to be held Wednesday at 4 p. m. in Ad 206, according to an announcement by Lewis Orland. The purpose of the meeting is to select a question and arrange a schedule. It is absolutely necessary that the representatives be present, because the debates begin February 18.

It is hoped that an addition to intramural forensics this year can be made in the form of extemporaneous speaking, said Orland. "Plans will be worked out at the meeting."

Rules for intramural debating this year are as follows: 1. Any person who has not participated in intercollegiate debate is eligible. (For the purpose of these debates, junior college tournaments are not construed as intercollegiate debate.)

Dr. Neale Receives Marine Request

Second Lieutenant and Alternate To Be Chosen From R. O. T. C. Ranks

Dr. M. G. Neale has received a communication from Maj. Gen. Commandant John H. Russell of the U. S. Marine corps at Washington, D. C., asking him, after consultation with Idaho deans and professors of military science and tactics, to select one principal and one alternate from the R. O. T. C. to receive the honor of being made a second lieutenant in the Marine corps.

The letter to President Neale reads in part: "The Secretary of War having agreed to a plan whereby the navy department may offer a limited number of commissions as second lieutenants in the Marine corps to honor graduates in current classes of certain selected colleges and universities which conduct senior army R. O. T. C. units, I take the pleasure of informing you that the institution of which you are president is one of those selected to make its contribution to the officer personnel of the Marine corps."

The student to be selected soon after March 31 will be judged on these points, arranged in order of their importance: high moral integrity, that is qualities of manhood, truth, patriotism, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship; proven qualities of leadership, that is, exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his fellow students; scholastic standing; and physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports.

Harald Bergeson to Fill Vacancy Left by J. W. Robinson in Political Science Post

Six new appointments to the resident teaching and agricultural extension staff of the University of Idaho were approved by the board of regents at its meeting here Friday and Saturday, reports President M. G. Neale.

Harald Bergeson, a graduate of the College of Puget Sound with all requirements for the Ph. D. degree except a thesis, was named instructor in the department of political science. He takes the place of J. W. Robinson, who has resigned because of his mother's illness. He was a teaching fellow, acting instructor, and executive secretary of the bureau of governmental research from 1933 to 1935. Mr. Bergeson's teaching experience at the University of Washington included eight courses in political science.

Mr. Robinson, who left yesterday by automobile for his home in Los Angeles, expressed his regret at leaving the university. "I have enjoyed my work very much," he said, "and am sorry that I have to leave because of my mother's illness."

Miss Victoria Siegfried, a graduate of Stanford and the University of California, was appointed cataloguer in the library. She has had five years of semi-professional work in the catalog division of the Stanford library, and for the past three and one half years has been cataloguer at the Montana State college library. Donald Ingvaldstad was appointed research fellow in the department of metallurgy.

Pierson New Forester Royale K. Pierson, a graduate of the University of Montana with his master's degree from the University of Idaho, is Idaho's new extension forester. He succeeds Stanley C. Clarke, who resigned to join the soil conservation service. Since 1929 Pierson has been employed by the department of agriculture in blister rust control and forest disease research, having been stationed at the university for several years in this work.

Irwin W. Slater, 33, and county club agent in Bannock county, was appointed county agent in Fremont county; Herman G. Hilfiker, 33, was named 4-H club agent in Bannock county. Hilfiker farmed for one year after graduation, has been county IERA director for Twin Falls county, and field agent for the federal re-settlement administration.

Scabbard and Blade Honors Bratton

The Idaho chapter of Scabbard and Blade will honor Lt. Col. Rufus S. Bratton at a formal stag dinner Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at the Blue Bucket. Lieutenant Colonel Bratton has come to the Idaho campus to replace Major A. B. O'Connell as head of the department of military science and tactics.

"We are gathering this group of the military men of Idaho at the Blue Bucket to give the Colonel a real welcome," stated Theron Wade, captain of Scabbard and Blade. "We want to make him feel that we are ready to give him the cooperation and assistance necessary to make the Idaho military department not only an effective department of instruction but also an agreeable unit for him to work with."

Advanced Officers Present All advanced officers of the R. O. T. C. and O. R. C. officers of the National Guard will be present. The music of the evening will be presented by Professor Archie N. Jones, head of the music department, the trumpet trio, and others.

Gen. Edward R. Chrisman will act as master of ceremonies, calling for speeches from Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the college of engineering; Dr. M. G. Neale, president of the university; Major Charles F. Sutherland, professor of military science and tactics; and Lieutenant Colonel Bratton.

A campus etiquette book will be distributed to men and women students at the University of Southern California.

New Men's Dormitory 'Almost but Not Quite'

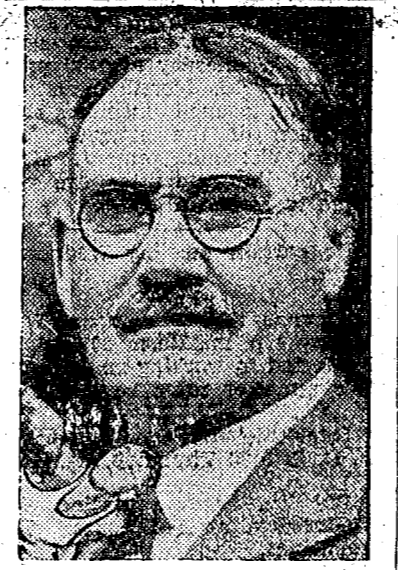

Board of Regents Considered Plans for Building $250,000 Hall by Next Fall, but Was Unable to Accept Terms Asked by Bonding House

The university board of regents, at their meeting here last Saturday, had under consideration a program expected to give the university by its opening next fall, a new $250,000 men's dormitory, but plans for the building "fell through" at the last minute when the board was unable to grant the terms asked by a Spokane bond house contemplating the purchase of a 4 per cent bond issue to finance the structure.

Pennies Will Have Their Day Friday

Students to Bring One Cent To W. S. C. Game for Naismith Fund

Pennies. Some people hoard them, some throw them away (in slot machines, etc.), and others simply ignore them. But they will have their day or night Friday when the Yandals tangle with Washington State in another basketball thriller in the university gymnasium. Friday night has been decreed as Naismith night. Thousands of Naismith nights are being held throughout the country this week.

Dr. James Naismith

More than 100 such occasions are being staged in the state by high schools, normals, and colleges, all that is needed to be a first class Naismith night is to have one penny, bring it to the game, and turn it into the fund being collected by the university.

A penny isn't much, but as the sales tax collectors are discovering, several pennies and several more add up rapidly. It is hoped that enough will be collected throughout the United States, not only to send the originator of basketball, Dr. James Naismith, and Mrs. Naismith to the Olympic games in Berlin, but to erect a suitable monument to Dr. Naismith, probably in Springfield, Ill.

It was in Springfield in 1891, that the game of basketball was originated by Dr. Naismith. It is now played the world over and has become a thrilling sport for thousands of fans. These fans are now being asked to contribute one cent to honor the man who started it all.

Pennies will be collected at the door of the gymnasium on the night of the game.

Vandalettes Organize As Girls Sextette; For New Feature

A new feature of the music department this year is the girls' sextette, the "Vandalettes." This group was organized recently and includes six women from the well known musical organization, the "Vandaleers." They are: Dorothy Brown, Lorna Jane Cornell, Margaret Quist, Agia Walden, Maxine Berger, Fay Pettijohn, with Gertrude Gehrke as accompanist.

The Vandalettes will appear as part of the Vandaleer program and various other functions, including the annual tour made by the Vandaleers. They will also broadcast from Spokane in the near future.

Forestry School Gets Gift of Land

2,768 Acres of Forest Given By Potlatch Forests, Inc.; 20 Minutes From Campus

The Moscow mountain experimental forest of the Idaho school of forestry has been increased by 2,768 acres as a result of a gift from the Potlatch Forests, Inc., of Lewiston.

This gift, the second made to the Idaho school of forestry by Potlatch Forests, was accepted by the board of regents of the university at its meeting here this weekend, reports President M. G. Neale.

"The former gift of 3,200 acres formed the nucleus for a forest experimental area recognized as second to none in the western United States," says Dean D. S. Jeffers of the forestry school. This second gift brings the total holdings of the university in the Moscow mountain experimental forest to 6,504 acres. The 2,768 acres lies eastward of what is known as the Hater Creek area.

Jeffers Likes Tract "Situated as it is within 20 minutes' ride of the university campus, the experimental forest forms an outdoor laboratory of rare proportions and opportunities," explains Dean Jeffers.

"There is not a phase of technical forestry work which cannot be illustrated on this area. Sufficient standing timber of commercial value may be used to illustrate logging and the young growth rapidly coming to maturity affords every opportunity for a wide variety of experimental work."

At the present time a CCC camp is located on the Meadow Creek unit of this experimental area and is giving all of its attention to various improvements and cultural problems, looking toward development of the unit.

ARGONAUT NOTICE

All those interested in working on The Argonaut campus staff, rewriting staff, or features and columns staff be sure to be at the meeting in Ad. 301 Wednesday at 4 p. m. Writers with some experience are especially urged to be there.

By Ailine King

The popularity of the drama is founded in the fact that the author defies convention. The crime is committed before the eyes of the audience, the plot is

The Rambling Spotlight

By JoN

Another young man makes good on the "big time." Eddie 8, the understudy of the deanish George 5, stole the show in London this week. Former "Empire-salesman" and good-will ambassador-at-large, refuses to discuss his matrimonial possibilities, and shocks the guardians of British diplomacy by taking the lead in the current show. Can the young bachelor king, who really can marry a commoner if he chooses, definitely alter the traditional conservative foreign policy?

Italy's Mussolini I scores another grand slam, if the unconfirmed reports are true that he has purchased enough oil to supply Italy for the next 18 months. If the Italian prima donna de luxe ex-news editor is unable to "colonize" Ethiopia in 18 months, he must find a new theme song. The League should abandon the "demand-forcing" system and should try the "anchor" system—"somewhere west of Suez."

A very "griped" "happy warrior" made another "farewell appearance" in Washington, D. C. Liberty applauded "brown derby" Al Smith's anti-New Deal "broadside." Despite the partial truths of his remarks, they sounded too much like the "whining of a very tired little boy who lost his marbles when playing for keeps."

The expulsion of thirty-plus "scholars" from the University of North Carolina for "cheating" is the newest argument against the college "grading system." The competition and the external "pressure" to get grades is so vicious that students are forced to attempt any extreme in securing them. Could our university abolish "A-B-C-D-F" and substitute a "pass-flunk" basis for marking?

The newest "gag-line" for the current political road show is "inflation for prosperity." This mythical, undefinable economic conception "inflation" is being used to save the political faces of many who are seeking reelection next fall. How would economic inflation really affect you? Maybe you know what it is—we don't.

The New York preview of Dr. Townsend's Wrists Get Slapped scored a good hit and several "jeers" last week with Boise (Idaho) Bill Borah in the leading role of "Little Billy." We eagerly anticipate Mr. Borah's appearance in this role sometime in the near future. The inside dopsters say that because of the vague Idaho statute on the subject, that "Prince" Borah can run for president and senator at the same time. He can't lose with two "hole" cards!

Here n' There

Dear Readers:
 Now is the time to start agitating for a student book store. At most of the other large colleges in the northwest they have student book stores, and we believe that Idaho would be much better off with one than they are now.

Of course, we realize that there are quite a few books that are not to be sold for less than the price set by the publishers, but then there are quite a few books that could be sold for less than the price we are now having to pay.

Some people say that a book store would not be a paying proposition since the demands for books only come twice a year. At the University of Washington they have not had any trouble with this. Besides books, they handle almost every kind of thing that one would want to have. Just a few weeks ago they held a big sale on skis and other winter sports equipment.

While we are on the subject of books, why is it that some of the pros in this university change their books every year? Unless some great change is made in a subject that makes obsolete all the previous texts, we see no reason why pros can't struggle along with a book for at least two years. We know some pros, and they are considered very good in their fields, who manage to get along for more than two years with the same texts. When you have to pay about $20 a year for books you sometimes are very willing to save a little money. Sometimes $20 doesn't mean much, but we sure would like to have it now.

Honest John.

On Duty

Next to Homecoming the Little Kernal can't remember any weekend which quite compares with this last one. . . . And, frankly, the Little Kernal remembers very little. . . . However, out of the haze a few incidents stand out. . . .

Among the Prodigals returned, I noticed "Man Mountain" Peters complete with a new car, an apparently unquenchable thirst, and a hat two sizes too small. . . . Paul "Croon-to-Me" Rust looking around for a vulnerable throat to try to cut. . . . Johnny "Playboy" Chestnut being as much a boor as ever. . . .

Tootie Dollard practicing on an unknown dummy. . . . that man Sundberg has been getting around lately. . . . Bea Fisher trading partners twice in one dance without being asked. . . . "Toots" Davies squiring upperclasswomen. . . .

Riding habits are out of vogue until the next nine weeks quizzes roll around. . . . If all the Deltas are as loud as Bill Brewer, I pity the inmates of the new infirmary. . . . When Mary E. Smith tires of dancing, she bounces around the floor. . . . Happy landings. . . . Athletes Cooper and Green enjoying the terspichore together at the Bucket. . . .

Mary K. Riley spending the whole weekend on one big farewell party. . . . Bunny Goldsmith, Reggie Burns, and Lawyer had a "fine" time convincing the judge they were just trying to put the parts together—and that is a scoop—And as a final observation I noticed that Barbara Geddes is out of hibernation at last. . . .

That's all for now. . . . Most of you guys and gals got off easy because old Hawkeye finished his quizzes too. . . . But now that I'm on the wagon. . . . a mint julp, please, Chalmers.

Grins and Gripes

To the Editor:

After all these years of scheming and planning we finally got a new infirmary. Now we only need to wait ten years or so for a new library.

The need for a new library has been felt and voiced for as many years as the campaign for a new infirmary has been going on. Why the infirmary, question was given the preference over that of a library may or may not be hard to understand.

Possibly the need of a better infirmary received more publicity. Surely there has been more criticism on the need of better hospital facilities for the university than there has been on the crowded reading space, book space, and general lack of adequate room for a proper university library.

A library is used as much at the university as is an infirmary and probably more. The former is used every day by many more students than is the latter. A college could not survive without a library of some sort. This university in the last few years has grown so rapidly that our library which was overcrowded ten years ago, is now distressingly inadequate for the purposes that it must serve in the education of the students.

Of course it may be argued that the infirmary is more necessary because it pertains to the personal health of the students. Last year there was only one time that the infirmary was really overcrowded, while the library was handicapped for space starting with the day when the freshmen registered, using the library space in which to do it.

The need for the infirmary was felt more keenly because it was brought to the attention of people more often and more forcibly. Now, since we have an infirmary, is the time to start campaigning vigorously for a library which will efficiently supply the needs of our university, if we expect to get one within at least a decade.

Gallop'n' Tintypes

KENWORTHY
 Tuesday-Wednesday—"The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," starring Ronald Colman.
 Thursday-Friday—"Coronado," with Johnny Downs, Betty Burgess, Jack Haley, Andy Devine, Eddie Duchin.

NU-ART
 Starting Wednesday—"Ceiling Zero," starring James Cagney, Pat O'Brien.

Producers are evidently living up to their promises of "bigger and better pictures" for 1936. Last week gave us several smash hits, and this week undoubtedly will follow suit. Mr. Colman must have gained good favor with his studio. We can't remember having seen him so often before as we have seen him this year. We also wish we knew why he has made so few pictures per year. He has a wonderful personality, is a good actor, and all his portrayals have been successful, yet if we saw him three times a year we were lucky.

But it now seems he has a number of plays ahead of him, his latest being the Monte Carlo story. We all remember that character-romantic, carefree, lucky—and we should consider ourselves fortunate in being able to see Colman in the title role. We can think of no one who could do a better job of being the man who "broke the bank." If the new semester is proving too much of a strain, relax—and enjoy Tuesday's new picture.

Next on the program is "Coronado." And there is plenty of comedy, several trick dance routines, and a number of new tunes in this story of a song writer in a band who wins the love of a crooner-ess by the simple device of making her believe he's poor but honest (the simpleton). Johnny Downs is the boy, and Miss Burgess the girl, and society spot Coronado the background. And don't forget Andy Devine will be around.

And now for one of the hottest pictures you've had the privilege to witness in quite some time. We doubt that the film is dry from the laboratory. "Ceiling Zero" crowds everything that has happened in the last 10 years in the air transport business into the happenings of one picture, plus all the bad weather. If the story has a moral, it is don't marry an air pilot (they aren't guaranteed to give long service). Cagney is given a chance to do a little different type of work. His role is typical, but he isn't quite so rough with the ladies as usual. Pat O'Brien offers an unusual amount of fireworks, considering his customary quota.

Gem Activity Blanks to be Out Thursday; February 10 Is Set as Picture Deadline

May 1 Set Tentatively as Publication Date; Covers Arrive

Activity blanks for the Gem of the Mountains will be out on Thursday according to an announcement made today by Maurice Mallin, editor. These blanks will be handled in the organized groups by the Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs, while ample supplies will be placed at Hutchison's and Sterner's studios, and at the Gem office for those not living in a group. The blanks are to be filled in by upperclass students only.

Individual pictures must be taken by the end of this week. The deadline has been put into effect, but due to bookings already made, both studios are authorized to take pictures until February 10. All pictures must be taken and proofs returned by that time. "Pictures received after that date just can't get in the book this year," warns Mallin.

Work Begins
 Real organized work of intensive nature on the book gets now in order to make a goal set in the fall—a Gem on May 1. The book is completely laid out and planned and the engraving and printing is already well under way. Actual covers for the 1936 Gem are already in the hands of the editor, and are different from any used before at Idaho, both in construction and design. Pictures of the Fair Vandalonians have been mailed to George B. Petty and results will soon be known—but kept until the Gem comes out in May.

"Write To Cantor" Say Universities

Comedian Offers Scholarship For Best Essay On America's War Status

Eddie Cantor's essay question, "How Can America Stay Out of War," the subject of a $5,000 scholarship competition, is being discussed in classrooms of leading colleges and universities as well as numerous high schools throughout the country.

In the three weeks that have elapsed since the competition was announced by Cantor, more than 58,000 entries have been received. The writer of the best 500-word essay will be provided with tuition and complete maintenance for four years at any college or university. This offer by Cantor is a personal one; having no commercial affiliation. In the event the winner is not in a position to attend college, he or she may designate the recipient of the award.

Universities Start Drive
 The suggestion that educational institutions feature the issue in their classes dealing with modern problems was first advanced by the Daily Illini, campus publication at the University of Illinois.

"It would be a wise step indeed," stated the student newspaper, "if the universities which deal in advancing intellectual, moral, social, and physical standards were to assist Mr. Cantor in unearthing constructive answers to this question."

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago and one of the judges, immediately declared he would approve of such a program at the institution which he heads. The editor of the Daily Maroon, university newspaper, is planning to further the movement.

The Stanford Daily at Stanford university, editorially commended the radio comedian for his efforts to promote peace, remarking:

"Both Cantor's purpose and his sentiments in sponsoring the contest deserve support. The essays submitted may furnish a constructive and practical suggestion for insuring American non-participation in a future world war."

High Schools Cooperate
 In addition to the universities, more than 1,200 high schools are co-operating. Many of the schools have informed Cantor that they are conducting their own elimination contests among the pupils. The best letters from each of these schools will be entered.

Four noted educators, each the president of a prominent educational institution, are serving as judges. They are Frederick Bertrand Robinson, College of the City of New York; Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford university; Henry Noble MacCracken of Vassar college; and Robert M. Hutchins, University of Chicago.

Cantor will announce the decision on Sunday, April 5. The competition closes on Washington's birthday, February 22. Letters are to be addressed to Eddie Cantor, General Post Office, New York City.

Try Counting Arboretum Trees; You Will Find Thousands

You've probably always been too busy to count the number of trees in the arboretum, haven't you? You've probably just accepted the fact that there is a lot of nice shade and a lot of nice foliage to enjoy up there, and maybe once, in a moment of bountiful graciousness, you have offered a vote of thanks to the far-sighted individual who started it. Well, it may astound you to know that there are over 10,000 individual trees of approximately 100 species in the Idaho arboretum, which is one of the largest and most widely-known arboretums in the West. It was started by the former Prof. C. H. Shattuck in 1909. Nurseryman (of the arboretum) C. L. Price has worked with it ever since its beginning.

Transplanted From Other Soils

The interesting feature of the arboretum is the fact that so many trees which are definitely native to other soils and other climes have been transplanted to this soil and are thriving. Naturally, since it is too expensive to send a forestry class all the way "from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands" to study trees, the simplest and most sensible thing to do is to bring the trees here. The Idaho school of forestry has already gone far toward the achievement of this goal.

The Russian olive tree which comes from Asia (it probably didn't like communism), the Siberian pea tree, and the European mountain ash are doing exceedingly well here.

"Yes, we have no bananas," but there are plenty of black walnuts, Chinese walnuts, and English walnuts. It is interesting to note that English walnuts do not come from England. They are natives of Mediterranean countries, and the Idaho climate is almost too cold for them.

California won't always be the only state to brag about its giant sequoias. Idaho has a beautiful specimen of one now. It is already 30 feet high and 12 inches in diameter, and the largest it can possibly get is around 300 feet tall and 30 feet through, and it's really doing remarkably well here. The giant sequoia is excellent in diameter by no other kind of tree and in height only by its big sister species, the redwood.

Many Come From Europe

Europe has contributed larches, spruces, oaks, sycamore, maple, Norway maple, and European horse-chestnut, and there are also United States specimens of these same trees.

There are, of course, many specimens of Douglas fir, the most important timber tree in America, besides both eastern and western true firs.

Here are just a few of the other species found in the Idaho arboretum: elm, magnolia, hemlock, eastern black cherry, honey locust, black locust, and chestnut.

From the maple family comes the boxelder, eastern sugar maple, silver maple, and western Oregon maple.

Many in Pine Family

The pine family is just about like the "old woman in the shoe" family. To name off its members would be like listing the unemployed but here are a few of them: sugar pine and Jeffrey pine from California, eastern white pine, pinon pine from the Southwest, limber pine from the Rocky mountain region, Norway pine and jack pine from the Lake states, pitch pine from the Appalachian mountains, western white pine which is famous in northern Idaho, ponderosa pine which also grows native here, shortleaf pine from the southeastern states, and Austrian and Scotch pine from Europe.

The cedar family is also well represented. Incense cedar from California, eastern red cedar, northern white cedar, western red cedar, and Port Orford cedar from southwestern Oregon are a few of these.

Because of this excellent arboretum which has a nursery with it, Moscow has as fine a display of street planting of trees as can be found in any city hereabouts. They have given the city a real urge to plant trees. Have you ever noticed that either?

The Passing Parade

By Helen Madson

With the thermometer registering freezing weather, sport fiends begin looking for clothes in which they can try their skill. The first prerequisite for an outdoor costume must be warm, and nothing quite takes the place of a woolen ski suit. Colors run riot in the wildest combinations, including red and green, blue, and orange, in fact, any color can be placed side by side with its fiercest enemy when worn for those clothes of action. Blue or raised woolen trousers lead the field in popularity, especially when combined with plaid skirts or heavy sweaters.

If fuzzy caps have a habit of itching your ears, brighten your outfit with a brilliant woolen kerchief tied under your chin in peasant fashion.

He is highly recommended by Dean D. S. Jeffers of the school of forestry here. Dean Jeffers formerly worked under Mr. Franger in the forest service.

Silence rules, which forbid telephoning, note sending, talking, and dating with men, go into effect as soon as the rusher reaches the campus. No special privileges are given sisters and daughters, however, although they are allowed to pledge early in the fall.

Sororities entertaining throughout the week will be Gamma Phi Beta, supper Wednesday; Delta Gamma, fireside Wednesday; Alpha Chi Omega, supper Thursday; and Alpha Phi, fireside Thursday. Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Delta Delta were hostesses Monday evening.

Women registered in the fall can be pledged only during the last week of the second semester.

Tough Game Looms For Idaho Friday

Washington State Warns Vandals to Beware of Second Tilt

With the warning from Washington State that "we'll be right back at you," Idaho varsity basketball players are drilling hard this week. The two teams meet again at Moscow Friday night and at Pullman Saturday night.

Not only are the Vandals drilling hard, but their workouts have plenty of snap and zoom this week since their 33 to 30 victory over the Cougars at Pullman Saturday. Idaho had a good non-conference season, winning eight out of nine games, but ran into snags, brambles, and other hazards to drop six straight conference tilts till the upset over Washington State.

Idaho was slow getting started in last week's Washington State game, sinking only two field goals during the first half. Improved foul shooting was the only thing that kept the Vandals in the game during the first 20 minutes. They started rambling in the second half, however, holding Washington State to three field goals and finding the hoop themselves in rapid succession. Coach Rich Fox hopes to have his men making more of a "warm weather start" in the game this weekend.

Geraghty Is High

After being held down in earlier games, Wally Geraghty, Idaho guard, counted for 12 points against the Cougars Saturday and should be a heavy offensive threat in the coming games. Gilbert Doll, Vandal center transfer, played most of the game last Saturday and looked the smoothest of any time this season. He battled under the backboard, passed accurately and got the tip-off a good share of the time from towering Ivar Nelson of the Cougars.

Friday night's game at Moscow will be "Naimith night," and all attending are being requested to bring one penny to contribute to the national fund honoring the originator of basketball.

Spokane Team Meets University Fencers Here Saturday

Fencers of the Spokane Athletic club and the University of Idaho will hold a dual meet here Saturday afternoon.

This meet should prove very interesting as several former college stars will fence with the Spokane team. The personnel of the three-man Spokane squad was not certain today, but it is expected to include Robert Hyslop, a former Washington State college fencer ace, and Ray Weston, a former Idaho star.

Cruickshank Confident

From records made by these two men while enrolled in their respective schools, the Idaho fencers should expect their skill, speed, and endurance to be taxed to the limit. Regardless of the fine competition that he can expect from these former stars, Coach Douglas Cruickshank believes that his fencers will defeat their opponents in Saturday's matches.

Representing the Vandal team will be Clyde Inman, Emmett, a letterman from last year, Bob Harris, Plummer; also a letterman, and Art Petersen, Irvington, New Jersey. These three men are the outstanding members on the Idaho squad, and are best fitted to represent the university in the coming matches.

For all who are interested in fencing, it is certain that these matches will be very interesting.

Idaho Rallies in Second Half to Topple Cougars for First Conference Win This Year

SPORT SHOP

By Bill Pauley
THE IMPORTANCE of foul shooting was truly shown last Saturday night when the Vandals defeated Washington State college 33 to 30. Idaho came back in the second half with a marvelous brand of ball, but after the gun ended the game, they were still behind in field goals, 10 to 11.

WITH TWO MINUTES to go they had completed 13 out of 17 tries at "gift" tossing, however. In the last two minutes their averages were lowered by two misses, making it 13 out of 19, but their superior foul-shooting still gave them enough margin to win.

A foul shot also won for the frosh. Fouled in the last second of play, Jerry Stevens was faced with the prospect of winning or perhaps losing the game. If he made his foul shot the game would be over and the Vandal Babes would register their first victory this year over the Cougar frosh. If he missed, the game would have to go into an overtime period. Stevens made the shot, however, making it four foul shots made and one missed for the evening.

THIS IS A NICE percentage for anyone. It takes plenty of nerve to consistently make foul shots, and an average of 80 per cent is good for anyone. Wally Geraghty was the only one to make a better average for the evening. He missed his first chance and then came through with six shots made and an average of 85.7 per cent.

A PERSON who had a right to be one of the proudest men on the floor at the Idaho-W. S. C. games last Saturday was Elra "Squinty" Hunter, basketball coach at Lewis and Clark high school in Spokane.

Half-Time Score 21-15; Foxmen Come Back to Win 33-30

Staging a furious "Frank Merriwell" comeback in the final half, the Vandals bagged their first conference win of the season at the expense of the Washington State Cougars at Pullman Saturday night, 33-30.

Trailing 13 points early in the game and six points at the half, the Vandals came from behind in the second canto to leave the Cougars stung with defeat in the first of the four-game series of W. S. C.-Idaho conference games.

Ten minutes after the opening whistle, the Cougars had rung up a lead of 13 points before the Idaho men came to life. Seven points of the States' opening attack were garnered by Iyar "The Terrible" Nelson, rangy Cougar center who ran wild until Coach Rich Fox substituted Gilbert Doll, reserve center, for Don Johnson. Doll held Nelson to a lone free throw for the remainder of the game besides collecting four points himself.

Gilbert Doll

Geraghty Starts Rally
 Wally Geraghty, Vandal guard, finally started the Foxmen on their victory march by tossing Idaho's first field goal at the 10-minute mark. Norm Iverson, playing a consistent game at the forward post, followed Geraghty with another basket. At the half the Vandals were still trailing the Cougars by six points with the score at 21-16. In less than two minutes of second half play, Geraghty collected a pair of field goals and a free toss to place Idaho one point behind the W. S. C. hoopsters who were threatened for the first time. Bill Dahlke, Cougar guard, tossed a long one from deep center, to give W. S. C. a three-point lead, but Bill Katsilometes and Iverson, shoved Idaho in front for the first time when each scored a field goal.

"Squinty," who graduated from Idaho in '25 after playing three years of basketball for the Vandals, a few years earlier coached four of the stars in those games, Wally Geraghty, on the Idaho varsity; Ray Lavigne and Jerry Stevens on the Idaho frosh; and Don Lageson on the Washington State frosh.

Score Tied
 The lead changed hands on the following play when Sewell Carlson, Cougar guard, scored on a near side shot, but Geraghty knotted the count at 26-all on a free throw.

Merle Fisher, taking the ball on an out-of-bounds double block in W. S. C. territory, then shot the basket which gave Idaho a lead they never relinquished. During the desperate play in the final moments of the game two Idaho men, Geraghty and Fisher, and Clyde Carlson of Washington State went out on fouls.

Idaho gained a lead of five points before Johnson, Cougar reserve, dropped a long shot in to end the scoring with the Vandals three points in front.

Wally Geraghty carried off the scoring honors by totaling 12 points—six of which were personal foul conversions. Iverson accounted for six points, and Fisher proved to be invaluable to the Vandals in ball-hawking and effective guarding. Nelson and Carlson collected eight points apiece to make the best record for the Cougars.

In contrast to the poor free-throwing in the game against the Beavers of Oregon State, in which only six tries out of 21 were good, the Vandals converted 13 of 19 tries, which provided the margin of victory.

Intramural competition resumed in a rush Monday night, as 15 teams took the floor for the honor of old "Eta Beta Pi."

Despite a cessation of quiz-time worries, eight of the teams were unable to go through to victory. In only one game, Senior hall-Lambda Chi, was the score close enough to make even a blonde excited. Knotted at 20 all, with 2½ minutes left to go, Pearson clicked on a free throw to put the Seniors a notch ahead. Two additional baskets by Williams and Day put the Lambda Chis even deeper in the dumps.

Despite the number of games, high point men were few, Ford, Idaho club, and Clouser, Fiji, leading with 12 counters apiece.

Foul Decides Victors In Frosh Game

Vandal Yearlings Defeat Kittens; Stevens Sinks Gift Shot After Gun

A foul throw made after the gun had been shot proved to be the point that meant a win for the Idaho frosh in their third game with the Washington State Kittens. With the score tied at 45-all, Jerry Stevens was fouled just as the gun was fired. He made the point.

Playing a fast-breaking, loose checking game that saw a lot of fouling and a lot of scoring, first the Idaho frosh and then the W. S. C. yearlings would forge ahead. Idaho led the States' frosh 18 to 16 in baskets made, but the Kittens led the Idaho yearlings 13 to 10 in "gift" tosses.

W. S. C. Has Early Lead

The Washington State frosh led off with an early lead and soon ran the score up to 20 to 13. Here the Vandal Babes took things into their own hands, however, and were within two points, 28 to 26, at the rest period.

The second half, the Idaho Babes soon gained a lead of four points which was again overcome by the Kittens. With five minutes to go the Idaho yearlings again took the lead, with a five-point margin.

Kosich, big Kitten forward, tied the score at 43-all with less than two minutes to go by converting a pair of foul shots. Ray Lavigne in turn took the ball after the tip-off and made a beautiful pivot shot to put the Vandal frosh once more in the lead. Kosich retaliated by a long shot that was good and again tied the score. It was here, not three seconds before the gun was fired, that Stevens was fouled.

Kosich High

Kosich was high point man for the game by virtue of 17 points. Stevens led the Idaho frosh with 16 points. Lavigne made nine points.

Card Matches Vandal Boxers With Best Canadian Mittmen

Vandal Men Train For Mile Race Next Month

Cream of western Canada boxers will fight the Vandals' best sluggers here February 14 in reputedly the biggest boxing program Idaho has ever had.

An extensive tournament is now in session to eliminate to the eight toughest fighters in western Canada to engage the Idaho boxers. They are fighting under the auspices of the Meraloma Athletic club.

Canadians Tough

"Unless our boxers get in superb condition by next week, we're due for a pasting," declared Idaho's energetic boxing coach, Louie August. "Those Canadian boys are really tough!"

The Meraloma club is engaging the Vandal boxing team under a "home and home" basis. Idaho will have a return engagement against the Canadian mittmen some time in the spring.

Idaho's ace lightweight, brother of Coach August, and Diamond Belt champion, Joey August, is rapidly recovering from a sinus operation and may possibly appear against the Meraloma champs.

Denton to Appear

Louie Denton, 147-pound Golden Gloves champion, will definitely appear as Idaho's welterweight contender. Although suffering from a back injury, Luke Purcell will probably appear in the 126 pound division.

Glen Craig will represent the Vandals at 160 pounds, Bill Morrow in heavyweight class, Rolly Shumway at 175 pounds, and Ralph Miller at 112. In case of August's inability to fight, Earl Spencer will enter in the 135-pound class.

The Idaho first year men will attempt to even the count with the Cougar frosh here Friday night. They play on a double header bill with Washington State here Friday and in Pullman Saturday.

Vandal Men Train For Mile Race Next Month

Bill O'Neill and Cy Adkins will probably be chosen to represent Idaho against the leading millers of the country at Hill Military academy's track meet to be held March 27 in Portland, Mike Ryan, Idaho track coach, said yesterday.

Idaho will also send a relay team to the meet, but the personnel of the team is uncertain as yet. Track meets at Spokane and San Francisco are being negotiated, but the dates have not been fixed.

Two indoor meets in Memorial gymnasium are definitely planned and will be held as soon as the men are in shape, Ryan stated. Medals for the winners of the inter-class meet, the first to be run in the gymnasium and a cup for the group house winning the intramural indoor meet will be ordered.

"We're sending the call for track men at this time, because we don't want to be beaten by W. S. C. or any other school as we were last season. They beat Idaho with a score of 96-35 last year, and there is no reason why they should do it again," the coach said.

All weight men are asked to report to Ryan this week to be assigned workouts in Lewis court. Sprinters and distance men will work out from 2 until 4 o'clock every afternoon in the gymnasium, but men who can't report at this time are requested to report to get assignments.

This week will serve to toughen the men into the regular routine. Work on the bar, calisthenics, and sprint work will make up the track "menu" for the week.
