A. W. S. Plans Events To Honor Mothers

Mother's Day Will Be Expanded to Entire Week-End, May 8, 9, and 10 Under Sponsorship of A. W. S.; Mary Jane Pace Chairman

Mother's day at the University of Idaho this spring will be expanded to an entire weekend, May 8, 9, and 10, under sponsorship of the Associated Women students, reports Mary Jane Pace, general chairman. Idaho students will invite their mothers to join them on the campus for a series of special spring events being crowded into one weekend in their honor. New at Idaho, this plan will help put into deeds what too often is left to sentiment, Miss Pace said. Idaho students in past years have for the most part observed Mother's day by wearing carnations and attending special church services.

Women's Groups Help

All of the women's service and honorary organizations on the campus will cooperate in the Mother's weekend project. Each group will be assigned a certain part of the program. Committees will be put to work immediately.

First of the special events on the weekend program will be Taps and Terpsichore, annual dance festival which climaxes the extensive yearly program of the Women's Athletic association. It will be Friday night, May 8.

Festival May 9

Idaho's annual May festival and campus day celebration will be held Saturday, May 9. The May festival—with its traditional pageant, queen and her attendants, and winding of the May pole—will be held Saturday afternoon. Related events will be the "tapping of new members by Silver Lance and Mortar Board, men's and women's senior honor societies; Blue Key and Cardinal Key, upperclass men's and women's service groups; and Sigma Kappa, women's service organization. Saturday evening, Sigma Alpha Iota, women's national honorary music fraternity, will stage its annual songfest. This really is a contest to determine the best group singers among the 30 student living groups on the campus.

Mother's day, Sunday May 10, is listed on the program for a reception for all visiting mothers on the campus. It will be held at Hays hall, women's residence, in the afternoon.

Minor "I" Club Prexy Says Dance Tonight Will Be Swell

All plans have been completed for the Managers-Minor "I" club dance, which will be held tonight at the Beta Theta Pi house, according to Dick Axtell, president of the athletes.

"This dance will without doubt be one of the classiest, zippiest, peepiest, cleverest, and most entertaining affairs of its kind to be held during the entire year," stated Axtell. "Everybody lucky enough to possess a ticket will not regret it." Dave Evans is in charge of ticket sales.

The oldest living graduate of Syracuse university, the Rev. Dr. Francis Blakeslee, class of 1872, celebrated his 90th birthday in Los Angeles recently.

DEAN IVAN CRAWFORD SPEAKS AT BOOSTER CLUB BANQUET

Dean Ivan C. Crawford left Wednesday for Lewiston where he will give a talk to the Vandal Booster club. They are giving a banquet honoring Lewiston high school and State normal's basketball teams.

Lecturer Discussed Remedies to Lessen Automobile Mortality Rates

"Statistics show that 5 per cent of the drivers are responsible for more than 60 per cent of all auto accidents," declared J. Riley Chase in a discussion of "The State as an Experimental Laboratory," a talk which he gave to the Idaho law, manual, and civics class last Thursday.

Poor Lights Result In Injury to Boy

Filing of Charges Against Student Awaits Recovery Of Billy Hughes

BULLETIN

Billy Hughes, entering his 80th hour of unconsciousness as The Argonaut went to press this afternoon, was still holding his own, according to Dr. C. J. Klaaren, attending physician.

Charges of reckless driving or manslaughter will be filed against Iver Longteig, University of Idaho sophomore in pre-law, for striking Billy Hughes, 14-year old Moscow boy, and knocking him from his bicycle Monday evening about 7:30 p. m., at the corner of Sixth and Almon streets. Longteig was driving a light car with only one light and did not see the boy, who had no light on his bike.

Sustains Skull Injury

The boy received a skull fracture extending from the base of the skull to the right eye, and had not regained consciousness at last reports. The charge against Longteig will depend upon whether or not the youth recovers. Longteig's driving with one light will stand against him, but the boy's riding without a light, required by state law, will be a mitigating circumstance. Longteig is from Craigmont and is a member of Chi Alpha Pi.

Debaters To Hold Tournament Here

Junior College Students Will Debate With Lewiston Normal and W. S. C.

A new junior college debate tournament will hold its first session here on Saturday, March 23. This additional activity has been initiated to provide more activity in underclassmen debate work. The three schools which will participate are Lewiston State normal, Washington State college, and Idaho.

Mr. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, has been instrumental in bringing about this addition, his feeling being that training during the freshmen and sophomore years has not been extensive enough in the past.

Four Rounds

There will be four rounds of debate, one at 10, 1:30, 3:30, and 7:30.

Idaho will enter eight men and the teams will debate both sides. Those participating for Idaho are as follows: Robert Stephan, Leonard Arrington, Louis Racine, Ralph Baker, Clifford Dobler, and Robert Mason.

This ASUI activity is carried on with the cooperation of the English department headed by Dr. George Morrey Miller.

Future Vets Scored By Legion Critics

Might Aid in Overthrowing Government, Says National Vice Commander

Criticism from many sources has descended upon the Veterans of Future Wars since their organization was founded here last Sunday, most of the rebukes emanating from officials in the World War veterans' groups.

In a 1,200-word letter to Shull Arms, commander of the William Randolph Hearst post, Oscar W. Worthwine, Boise attorney and national vice commander of the American Legion, cautioned Idaho university students not to take too lightly their responsibilities to their country. He hinted that the Future Vets might be encouraging Communists who want to overthrow the United States government.

"Might Aid Communists"
"Judging from press report," Worthwine wrote, "one would assume students participating in formation of these organizations are having a considerable amount of amusement out of it, but one of the things that occurs to the outsider is whether the participants appreciate that possibly they are rendering aid and encouragement to those that would destroy our system of government."

Health Committee Calls Meeting

Heads of Group Houses Called Together; Sickness Is Prevalent

At a meeting Wednesday night in U. C. B. 103, Professor W. V. Halversen, chairman of the committee on health and housing, called together the heads of the various group houses to notify them of the seriousness of the health situation. Instructions were given as to the manner in which the students might cope with the spread of the many communicable diseases which are prevalent here and throughout the state.

"It is my hope," stated Professor Halversen, "that by taking sanitary precautions in the living quarters of the students, it will not be necessary to discontinue social functions."

There is no epidemic of influenza or any other disease, according to Miss Edna Peterson, resident nurse of the infirmary, but there has been an average of 31 or 32 cases of various ailments which have kept 12 nurses busy. There have been cases of influenza, measles, mumps, and other communicable diseases including scarlet fever. None of the cases have been serious, but many are very sick, according to Miss Peterson.

Beresford Speaks At Conference

Two representatives from the University of Idaho college of agriculture are attending the two-day conference of agriculture, industry and science at Fresno, Calif., which ends today.

Prof. Hobart Beresford, head of the department of agricultural engineering, is listed on the program as Idaho's representative in a discussion meeting covering the serious crop situation in the western states and progress toward finding new industrial outlets.

Harry Miller, instructor in agricultural engineering who recently resigned from the Idaho faculty to become director of a midwestern experimental farm alcohol plant, spoke on alcohol-gasoline blends as motor fuel, a subject on which he has done considerable research.

The purpose of the conference is to advance the industrial use of American farm products through applied science. It is sponsored by the Farm Chemurgic council and the Chemical foundation.

A prominent visiting scientist who recently spoke before agricultural engineering students on the Idaho campus predicted that within 10 years agriculture will have as many acres growing crops for industrial use as it has for food for man and beast today.

W. R. H. Post of Future Vets Denounces Subversive Influence of American Student Union; Plan Counter Attack

Pushing forward with their patriotic plans to lift the country out of the depression through the spending of a $10,000,000,000 bonus, the newly formed Veterans of Future Wars, through their general headquarters staff, elected Horace H. Hiffsniffle as chairman of the public relations committee of the William Randolph Hearst post to handle all future official and patriotic pronouncements which the organization sees fit to promulgate.

Former U. Student Dies in Car Wreck

Bill Chatterton Has Neck Broken; Joe Paquet Also Injured

William Chatterton, 21, of Boise, former University of Idaho student, met "sudden death" when an automobile taking him and two other students of Duke university of Miami for a vacation, struck a cow and overturned near Brunswick, Georgia. Chatterton's neck was broken. His two companions, Paul Graebner, 19, of Lakewood, Ohio, and Joe Paquet, 20, of Portland, Oregon, received minor injuries.

Both Chatterton and Paquet were students at the University of Idaho last year and the year before. They entered Duke university this year to study medicine. Chatterton was the son of Harry R. Chatterton, prominent businessman, and Mrs. Chatterton of Boise. He attended Boise junior college before coming to the university. He was active in campus affairs, being chairman of Junior Week last year.

Paquet had attended Idaho for two years, leaving the institution as a sophomore last spring. Both were members of the Idaho chapter of Beta Theta Pi.

Dean Permeal French was a dinner guest of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Tuesday.

Forestry Students Get Fellowships

Potlatch Forests, Inc., to Renew $400 Fund Again Next Year

Potlatch Forests, Inc., of Lewiston, Idaho, the world's largest white pine plant, has renewed its two fellowships to the University of Idaho school of forestry for next year. These fellowships, amounting to $400 each, are in the field of wood chemistry and utilization, under the direction of Dr. E. C. Jahn.

For the past two years these fellowships have been held by Leslie Larson of Blackfoot and Joseph McCarthy of Spokane. Mr. Larson is a graduate in chemistry from the University of Idaho, and Mr. McCarthy graduated in chemical engineering from the University of Washington. Both men will receive their master's degree this year.

Utilize Sawmill Wastes

The work done under these fellowships is concerned with the coalescence and plasticization of sawmill wastes. Very hard homogeneous materials have been made in the laboratory, but a great deal of fundamental research remains to be done. This field of work is a most promising one for the utilization of sawmill wastes.

"By aiding this work at Idaho, Potlatch Forests shows its real active interest in a field which is important not only to the industry but to the state as a whole," says Dr. Jahn.

Find Meaning of Subversive

"In particular I wish to thank," continued Hiffsniffle, "one particular friend who has defined for us the term 'subversive.' Since we have discovered the meaning of this word, we have decided that the American Student Union is a subversive influence of the deepest red in our colleges and universities, because of the nation-wide walkout of students on April 22 which it is sponsoring.

"In order to show our contempt for this subversive influence which is poisoning the minds of American youth, we propose to hold a May Day parade on April 1 as a protest against this strike of protest against war.

Favor R. O. T. C. Benefits

"Since the American student union is unequivocally opposed to the R. O. T. C. and compulsory military training in our land grant colleges, we wish to go on record at this time as unambiguously favoring the vast benefits to be derived from such training."

"Sniffy," as he is affectionately called by his friends, also indicated that at the meeting of the V. F. W. next Sunday, a resolution will be brought before the group demanding that an oath of allegiance be extracted every morning from everyone having any influence, direct or indirect, upon the minds of young Americans.

"We are particularly insistent that Dizzy Dean and Dick Tracy be included among those to take this oath," commented Sniffy.

Further plans for the new organization, as outlined by Hiffsniffle last night, include the enlistment of young American women to knit red, white, and blue sweaters for all members of the Future Veterans organization.

Want Training For Girls

The Veterans are also advocating the compulsory training for girls to fit them to become Red Cross nurses and ambulance drivers, according to Hiffsniffle.

"We are also advocating that, women's place being in the kitchen, all K. P. work in future wars be done by women to leave the manpower of the nation free to make the world unsafe for subversive influences."

The Rambling Spotlight

By JoN

The overseas diplomatic show has not altered much in the past few days. The League of Nations committee is impatiently awaiting the recommendations of Der Fuehrer Hitler for a settlement of the Rhine valley misunderstanding.

In London, dapper diplomat Eden, British foreign secretary, told parliament that England had pledged herself to maintain the security of Belgium and France, and added that no military alliances existed with those countries. He explained that the success of this pledge, in delaying war, was contingent upon the cooperation of France.

Another chapter in the scrapbook of international diplomacy was written day before yesterday. The London Naval conference turned out another caveat to satisfy the people at home that they had accomplished something. The gesture is futile. The history of naval pacts both bilateral and multilateral will readily show the futility of this particular branch of international diplomacy. Nations do not want parity or limitations upon their programs for competition in the world-wide armament race.

The Townsend old-age pension plan now pending before a congressional committee may prove to be a boomerang. If there are no derogatory developments, the organization of the movement will gain a lot of free publicity at the expense of the federal government.

A new triple-A substitute machinery, is finding it rather difficult to secure the necessary state cooperation for the new setup. National economic planning on a large scale is difficult enough to baffle the minds of experts, what chance has the average man? This very complicated machinery will be firmly established by summer despite the activity of campaigning politicians.

We have always secretly entertained the idea that the theory of free trade was superior to artificial tariff barriers. Last week in the March 21, 1936 issue of the New York Times Magazine Pictorial an article appeared which changed our mind. The article dealt with the possibility of Japan "dumping" her cotton products on American markets under new trade agreements. The article pointed out that the use of cheap child labor enables the Japanese manufacturer of cotton to produce at a very small labor cost.

The system of cheap child labor was illustrated by one of the largest cotton-spinning mills in the world, in Osaka, which employs 20,000 girls at a wage of 16 cents a day for ten hours. The young girls are hired from their parents under a long-term contract. The girls work, live, sleep, eat at the factory, where their entire lives are regulated and supervised like clockwork. Uniforms, street calls, and prison cell rooms are all part of the regimentation. The resulting efficiency enables the Japanese to become one of the most important exporters of cotton bales. The spinners are sold in the United States much below the price of American manufacture.

The position of the Japanese market is becoming more favorable at this time because of the depreciation of the yen from 50 to 20 cents. With approximately 20 million unemployed in the United States, we are espousing the cause of the capitalists, insisting on stiff tariff barriers against Japan.

To the Editor:
 On Sunday last a group of slightly more than 70 boys—many of whom did not know each other either by sight or name—sembled. This in response to a single announcement that a meeting of all those interested in the formation of an organization to be known as "The Veterans of Future Wars" would be held at a designated time and place. The meeting occurred as scheduled and has caused a great deal of comment.

The inspiration for the meeting was found in an Associated Press dispatch in the Spokesman-Review of Monday, March 16, stating that an organization of the same name had been formed at Princeton, New Jersey. What the ideals of this organization were, we had no means of knowing; from the tone of the news article the whole procedure was a joke—although a rather grim joke.

The organization here at Moscow has no connection with the University of Idaho except that some, perhaps most, of the members are at the present time attending the University. I have no authority to speak for the organization here, except, inasmuch as the group signified their intention that I be "post commander" with duties not designated and power equally vague. I believe however, that the following is a fair statement of the state of mind of most of the young men who were present at that meeting.

When I was in grammar school, I was taught that the "Great War" of 1914-18 was the last war, the war to end all wars. I was taught that henceforth the world would settle its differences by a more sane means. I was taught that Congress was a group of super men sitting in lofty deliberation upon the problems of our country. In short, I was taught that this was the best of all possible worlds, or would be as soon as the city council passed an anti-smoke ordinance and prohibition was a little better enforced.

Now, though my mind may not be mature, I can see that further war is inevitable, starting possibly in Europe, possibly in the East; starting possibly in some as yet unnoted place over a yet unknown quarrel. I have discovered, although I was never quite as naive as Tom Sawyer, that our Congress is composed of men and women not very different from my mother and father, or the butcher, or the man next door; possibly a bit wiser, and perhaps a bit more overworked, but still human, very human. I have learned that this is not the best of all worlds.

I still believe in the future of this world and especially in the future of this, my own country. I have some doubts as to whether this is the best of all the countries that ever were, and serious doubts as to whether this country is now the best that ever will be. But I do believe that this country with all its faults is the best that now exists on the face of this earth.

And so I look about me—at the strife—at the lackings—at the faults of my brothers—at the feet of clay on my pants. I look at the inevitability of the reborn chance my country has of escaping being drawn into such a war—at the certainty of my participation in this war and of my returning home, if I do return, perhaps maimed; at least hater at being sent to fight battles that mean nothing, prove nothing, and settle nothing. And so I am afraid.

For, should war come, I know that I will go, and that my friends will go, and my brother, if not willingly, at least quickly and silently. Being young and impatient, and afraid, I may do either of two things. I may laugh and jibe, or I may cower and tremble. I choose to laugh, and if I laugh at you, you too are better, for I am no more a product of my environment and heritage than you, and if you are older than I you will have at least partially solved your problems and will not understand mine.

So, 35 of me and 35 who were there to watch the fireworks met Sunday last and formed the "William Randolph Hearst Chapter of the Veterans of Future Wars," and had our name printed in the newspapers.

At present, that is the status of this organization. Apparently we have reached upon a subject very close to the emotions of a great number of people. Perhaps it would be best to have our laugh and let the matter drop. Perhaps it would be better to continue as a serious organization with some definite goal. I do not know. I do know that any charges of communistic influences in this group are without basis in fact. Most of the group would rather fight a struggle were they to meet one unless, by some happy fluke, he did and would help himself.

In conclusion, may I say that I have no desire to see the day come when I have no desire to die at all. I have no desire to see the day when I can serve my country in any way other than by being a good citizen.

steps in processing cull potatoes into alcohol to be used as motor fuel will be shown."

Another part of the exhibit will be composed of the latest ideas on home improvement with respect to remodeling, insulating, etc.

Another Exhibit
 A. S. A. E. will also have the additional problem of exhibiting something of similar nature at the Little International show, which occurs on the same day as the Engineers' show. Seymour Beck is chairman for the booth exhibit, and Woodrow Arrington is in charge of the float exhibit.

At the present time the trip to Oregon State college is the chief concern of the agricultural engineers. During spring vacation both Idaho and Washington State branches of A. S. A. E. will make the trip.

"Possibly new ideas, obtained during the trip, can be worked out in time for the Engineers' show," states Klaas.

"Because such a large amount of work is necessary to make two major exhibits a success, everyone is willingly doing his share in working on the projects, and it is the intention of everyone to provide something educational, entertaining, and altogether worth seeing," commented Klaas.

Lester F. Albert, state adjutant of the American Legion said: "Disrespectful to Legion"

"That is unfair criticism of the men who went to their country's aid in time of dire need and is not worthy of recognition. I feel that whoever advocates that sort of propaganda for the minds of youth of the country instills not only disrespect for the American Legion but disrespect and disregard for all forms of orderly constituted government."

At the Southern Branch, Lehnoff Ferguson, president of the student body, yesterday announced his candidacy for future president of the United States and pledged himself to veto all bonus legislation that might be enacted for the benefits of "Veterans of Future Wars."

Would Veto Bonus
 "The Future War veterans are getting a strong hold on our country and we cannot start too early in our opposition to this move," Ferguson said.

"I promise, if the people of the country see fit to elect me president at some future general election, to throw my pen and ink out of the White House window when the Future Veterans' bonus bill is brought before me."

Meanwhile, students of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute have organized a "Profiteers of Future Wars."

Massachusetts tried compulsory insurance, the number of accidents increased. Obviously, this was due to the attitude that developed: Let's go as fast as we want to. We are insured. A better way seems to have been found which actually reduced the accidents. Insurance is granted on a basis of risk to the company. Only drivers with good records could obtain insurance. This lowers the risk that the company must take, and as a result drivers can obtain insurance at lower rates. In Massachusetts, under compulsory insurance, higher rates resulted because of increased risk and number of accidents.

"Oregon is experimenting with a new law that tends to make drivers more careful," according to Chase. "In case of a wreck the car of the person responsible for the damage is held until compensation is made to anyone suffering loss. This system deters drivers from taking unnecessary chances use of their machine, however in-regard with life and property, because considerate they may be in-regard drivers do not want to lose the to the rights of others.

Tennis Tournament Opens Next Month

Got a hangover from burning the midnight oil and the candle at both ends, girls? Well, now that the Junior Cabaret is over, and you have passed your nine weeks' quizzes with grades that will put beams on the proud parents' faces, why not buy a pair of shoestrings for those old tennis shoes of yours and go out for tennis? It's a sure way to rid yourself of kinks in the neck and headaches, besides earning points for W. A. A.

Tennis instruction and practice begins March 30 and will end April 6. Four practices under instruction are required before a woman may enter the ladder tournament, April 20 to May 8.

The three highest women on the ladder will represent their classes in the inter-class tournament beginning May 11, and will receive 100 points for W. A. A. Others participating in two matches will receive ten points.

All women interested in tennis are urged to turn out, if only for instruction, at the women's gymnasium at 4 o'clock Monday.

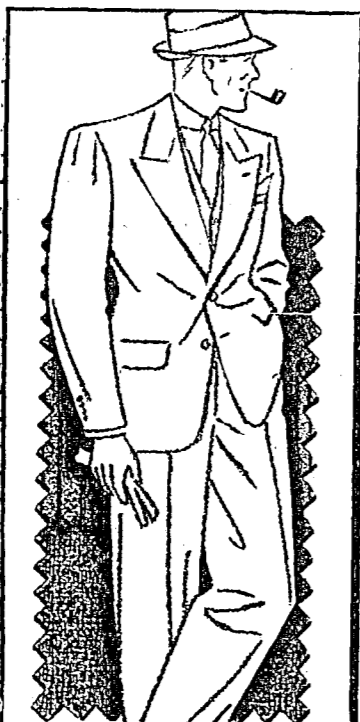

Theta Sigma Will Continue Judging

Mimeographed Papers in Mimeographed papers which are being judged at present, have been received from the following high schools: Elk River, Wallace, Grand View, Wilder, Eagle, Payette, Clifton, St. Maries, Greenleaf, Wendell, Blackfoot, Firth, Emmett, Pierce, Twin Falls, Glenns Ferry, Malta, Midvale, Gooding, Eden, and Jerome.

For Digestion's Sake—smoke Camels

"BONING UP" puts extra strain on your digestion. Camels help you ease off, by stimulating and promoting digestion. Camels are mild, smooth. They set you right. And never get on your nerves.

Smoking Camels found to have a positive beneficial effect upon Digestion...

Our modern "eat-and-run" way of living is hard on digestion. Experiences with indigestion are all too common! Hence unusual interest attaches to the following fact: that smoking Camels has been found to have a marked beneficial effect in aiding digestive action. You'll find

Camels milder too, more delicate in flavor, packed with the rich enjoyment of choice tobaccos.

Turn to Camels for your digestion's sake... for the greater pleasure to be found in smoking Camel's costlier tobaccos.

Camels set you right!

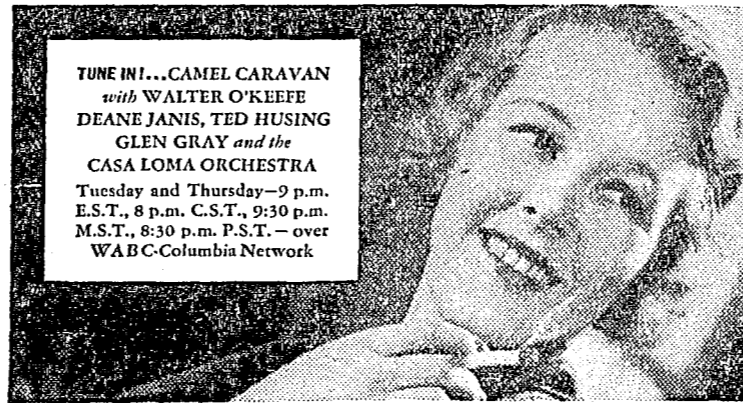

"CAMELS ARE A FAVORITE with us here," says Mr. Joe Moss, who presides over New York's Hollywood Restaurant (above), where diners flock to enjoy fine food! "As I look over the crowd, I see Camels on lots of tables. We've found that success comes through giving people the best. The fact that Camel uses costlier tobaccos and people prefer Camels shows that they appreciate the best."

A SENSATION! Henry Taft Snowdon, '34, intercollegiate wrestling champion. Snowdon says: "Smoking Camels after meals and between meals aids digestion."

OTIS BARTON, scientist-inventor, who dives in the "bathysphere," says: "Camels make my food taste better and help it to digest."

T.M.A. Wins Interfraternity Meet With 19 Points

By Larry Robinson
 PROBING into the results of the Pacific Coast boxing bouts in Sacramento, we find some facts that give a bit of rime and reason to the Vandals' poor showing.

Bill Morrow, Vandal heavy, entered the ring at the tournament weighing only 177 pounds—and he fought in the heavyweight division. The tiny boxer who defeated him weighed only a little over 250.

AND GLENN CRAIG, middleweight, lost one of the most unpopular decisions of the matches. The crowd booed for better than 15 minutes—and they weren't Idaho fans!

Louis Denton, weakened by his hard fight against the Diamond Belt champ from Seattle the week before, went down on a "rabbit punch" illegal when the referee sees it!

—SS—

LUKE PURCELL ran into the champion in his bout, and if the California fighter had not landed a hefty blow late in the second round, Purcell would have taken the decision. He pounded the "champ" to the mat twice during the first round.

—SS—

THE BEST WAY to pick a winner in any athletic contest is to take the one that the sports writer doesn't—referring to my comments of last week when I stated that the Oregon State basketball squad didn't have a Chinaman's chance. The Beavers won 33-23.

It was a case of a team against one man, and the one man, Hank Luisetti, was completely off his game. The Staters held him to a measly six points—two field goals and two free throws. In one of the games against Washington, the Stanford flash scored 32 points. Compare that against the six he made against the Beavers and the result will be clear.

—SS—

WASHINGTON'S Huskies partly redeemed their drubbing at the hands of Stanford by taking U. S. C. to a 41-27 victory. The sad part of the Northwest's sudden show of basketball of championship calibre is that it comes too late to hold the title here. Stanford has that tucked safely away.

Idaho Riflers Fire In Hearst Meet

R. O. T. C. Five Man Team Sible 1000

Shoots 929 Out of Pos-

Nicking the bull's eye for a score of 929, Idaho's R. O. T. C. gunners did their firing for the Hearst trophy last week.

Five man teams shoot in Hearst trophy matches, and the firing is done in four stages—prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing. Earl Ritzheimer, Judson Wark, Douglas Smith, Otto Nelson, and John Elder—firing as the Idaho team—shot the prone in 244; sitting, 244; kneeling, 235; and standing, 206 with all scores out of a possible 250.

Ritzheimer and Wark tied for the high man position with a score of 191 out of 200.

Hearst Offers Trophies

The numerous Hearst trophies were first offered several years ago by William Randolph Hearst to further the cause of good marksmanship. First, second, and third place plaques together with individual team medals are given to the winners in each of the corps areas of the United States, of which there are nine. The team firing the highest score in the corps area matches is declared the national champion and is entitled to the finest of the Hearst trophies, which is a championship cup and individual medals.

Last year Idaho won third in the Ninth Corps area, but the results of this year's matches have not yet been received.

Varsity and Freshmen Start Regular Work On Grid Practice

Freshman football players will have this weekend of ease, and then real work starts. Next Monday regular workouts will begin, and the Friday following a game will be held between two teams of new men picked from the squad. On the Monday following

The leaping legs of Ray Pearson and the eyes of the crowd as he performed a jump of 6 feet in the last of a series of indoor track meets held in the Memorial gymnasium, as the Independents swooped to victory with 48 points.

The interfraternity meet ended the indoor track program. Group championship went to T. M. A., since the independents are not considered as a group as most of them are trackmen.

Group standings were: T. M. A., first, 19 points; Phi Gamma Delta, second, 18 points; Senior hall, third, 16 points; Delta Tau Delta, fourth, 11 points; Lindley hall and Kappa Sig, 8 points; Betas, 6 points; Phi Delta and Delta Chi, 4 points; U. D. S., three points; Sigma Chi, two points; and Lambda Chi, one point.

Indoor Meets Annual Event

Coach Mike Ryan in an interview stated that he was well pleased with the number of group houses on the program and the ability that the men showed during the events.

"It can easily be said that these indoor track meets have been established as a regular spring sport event here at the university," said Ryan. "As this was only an experiment to determine how well the student body would like the indoor track meets, we had no background to build from, this being the first time anything of this kind had been tried here. Next spring we can look forward to a better organized indoor sport with possibly some other schools competing."

Pole Better's Mark

Poole's time of 4.7 seconds for the 40-yard dash knocked off one second of time from his inter-class record of last week. Inman Back

Varsity prospects for the coming season were bolstered with the returning of Elbert "Leity" Inman.

Vandal Track Men Compete In Northwestern Indoor Meet

Six Vandals left last night to pit their strength against colleges and universities of the Northwest in the fifth annual indoor meet at the Hill Military academy in Portland.

Leaving last night by train, Coach Ryan accompanied the men to arrive in Portland this morning.

Vandal hopes were high although they have to compete against men who have been given the edge on them. Probably the strongest contender will be the University of Oregon, who has had the chance of training their men in the armory, the place where the meet will be run.

Cunningham Will Appear

Running against Glenn Cunningham, world's record holder for the mile, Pat Probst and Cy Adkins, Vandal distance men, have a chance to show the world's champion what racing in the West is like. Coach Ryan doesn't expect his men to win but in their present physical condition the race will be no set-up.

Resulting from two week's trials in which 40 men participated, track coach Ryan finally picked Bill Powers, Stewart Neely, Walter Kantola, and Bernard Peterson to represent the university in the mile relay, a well balanced relay team.

Peterson Wins Out

A toss up for the fourth man on the relay squad, Bernard Peterson, Moscow, finally beat Max Kenworthy, sophomore hurdler, in trials that lasted up until the final moment of leaving for the meet.

Other schools competing besides the University of Oregon are Linfield college, Portland university, Pacific university, Willamette university, and Albany college.

Students at the University of California at Los Angeles stand 2134 opposed to compulsory military training as against 951 who favor R. O. T. C. Voluntary training is favored by 1738 students, while 391 desire abolition of all undergraduate courses in military training.

Vandal Rapier Men Meet Inland Empire Fencers for Cup

Fencing will be brought to a close for the season next Saturday when the Vandal rapier men compete for the Inland Empire trophy at the Memorial gymnasium here at Moscow. The meet is to take place Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

The trophy is a cup presented by the Association annually to the member winning the meet; a round-robin affair in which each team meets the others. It is now in the possession of the Spokane Athletic club. The Association is composed of the Spokane Athletic club, Idaho, Washington State, and Whitman.

Vandal Chances Good

Coach Douglas Cruikshank believes the Vandals to have an excellent chance to win tomorrow's meet. He bases his conclusion on the facts of previous meets, Idaho having won from Whitman and won one and lost one for an even break with Washington State. The only stumbling block in these calculations is the fact that the Spokane Athletic club gave the Vandals quite a trimming in their dual meet, Bill Gigray winning the only victory for the Vandals. However, the coach points out the fact that this was an early season meet, and he confidently hopes that the boys have improved sufficiently to take the Spokane aggregation.

Veterans Hard Pressed

Fencers participating for Idaho will be: Bob Harris, Eugene Jay, Bill Gigray, and Wendell Lawrence. Harris and Jay are veterans at the game but they are hard-pressed to keep their positions as first and second, respectively, on the squad by the two sophomores, Gigray and Lawrence. Jay is also a sophomore but had had fencing experience prior to this year.

Dr. and Mrs. Sophus Keith Winther of Seattle were in Moscow Tuesday and Wednesday visiting with friends. Doctor Winther, who is professor of English at the University of Washington, is the author of "The Realistic War Novel," and of "Eugene O'Neill, a Critical Study." A week ago his novel, "Take All to Nebraska," was published. This book is the first volume of a trilogy, to be published by MacMillan company.

August, Shumway Win Champions Honor at Salt Lake

Joey August, 135-pound Vandal scrapper, battered his way into an Intermountain A. A. U. championship last night at Salt Lake city, outpointing John Togle of Butte, Mont.

A default gave 175-pound Rolly Shumway, August's teammate, the crown in his division. Shumway

Idaho's other fighters who reached the finals in the annual tournament lost their final bouts, both by decisions. Louis Nelson of Salt Lake City won from Ralph Miller in the 112-pound bout, and Lee Roberts of Salt Lake was crowned heavyweight champion over Bill Morrow.
