ONE OF IDAHO'S traditions

that certainly deserves a revival is the S. A. I. inter-group song contest which is being put on this year after a year's lay-off. It is to be hoped that the judges they have lined up aren't too stuffy in their ideas on what constitutes an appropriate program for a group house to put on. No small amount of hard feeling has marked past songfests because some groups didn't know what the judges expected of them.

THE CONTEST has an interesting history, although the first one was held but four years ago. There were a good many entries in that songfest from both the fraternities and sororities, and Sigma Nu and Alpha Phi carried away the first prizes. Everybody thought the Phi Deltas had the best chorus, but they sang a song that wasn't strictly a fraternity number and probably lost out on that account. There were many who thought that Sigma Alpha Iota's president being an Alpha Phi might have had something to do with their success, but the Alpha Phis sang about as creditably as any of the women's groups.

NEXT YEAR the Phi Deltas weren't taking any chances and stuck closely to their own fraternity songs. Under the capable leadership of Orville Westburg, they made up for the previous year's disappointing loss and took first place in the men's division, although not without a close run with the Betas, who trailed by one-half of one per cent on the judges' score card.

GAMMA PHI BETA was outstanding in the women's division, and the Phi Phis rated honorable mention with a rather bad exhibition. A xylophone number with fancy lighting effects in the Gamma Phis' presentation marked the advent of instrumental numbers in the songfest.

As the Phi Deltas had the year before, the Betas made up for a disappointing loss by winning handsily in 1934 from the Phi Gams and S. A. Es. Although by far the outstanding chorus, they just barely nosed out the Phis because the judges didn't like one of their numbers which sounded like one of Fred Waring's arrangements. Although it went over big with the audience, the judges docked them almost to the losing point for including "jazz" on the program.

THE DELTA GAMMAS put on about the best show in the women's division, but they got even more jazzy than the Betas. A couple of very blue choruses at the end of a trio number is credited with losing them first place. The Gamma Phis proved there was no truth to the rumor that no group could win two years in a row by taking first place. Both of the winners employed instrumental numbers in their programs—the Betas a clarinet, guitar, and piano trio, and the Gamma Phis a number by able violinist Patricia Kennard.

HAYS HALL was the popular favorite in the women's division as they brought down the house with a clever original song, which explained why the various sororities on the campus haven't anything over the hall girls. They had the judges' sympathy, too, but they had far too few good voices in the chorus to present their number well enough for a first prize. This song will probably be heard again tomorrow night.

The songfest wasn't held last year. The excuse was given that there was not enough interest in it. Only three frats entered the year before. While there are only four entering this year, the lack of entrants in the male division shouldn't discourage S. A. I. from putting on such a worthy event.

MANY REASONS have been given for the lack of fraternity entries in the contest, among the most common being a lack of a capable leader to drill the chorus. Probably the most outstanding

Thirteen Group Houses to Compete In Annual Songfest Saturday

Awards Will Not Be Cups; To Be Kept Secret Until Saturday

Thirteen group houses will participate in the fourth annual campus song festival to be held in the university auditorium Saturday evening. The festival is sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, national music honorary for women.

The judges are to be Dean Herbert Kimbrough and Professor Norris of the music and fine arts department at Washington State college, and Miss Mary Granger, music supervisor at Lewiston normal.

The song fest has occasioned a great deal of enthusiasm this year.

Alpha Zeta Elects New Officers

Norval Wardle Is New Chancellor of Honorary Agricultural Fraternity

Norval Wardle, junior, of Rockland, Idaho, was elected chancellor of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, at a meeting held Monday evening in Morrill hall.

Wardle succeeds Glen Beck, senior, Aberdeen, in the chancellor post. Other officers elected are as follows: censor, Wilbur Schroeder, Moscow; scribe, Rulon Ricks, Rexburg; chronicler, Fred Rasmussen, Rexburg; treasurer, Alvin Schwendiman, Newdale.

Wardle is well qualified for this important office by virtue of his having recently won the Ag college public speaking contest, and his excellent leadership in directing various affairs sponsored by the Ag club, aside from maintaining an unusually high scholastic standing. Mr. Wardle is a major in agricultural education.

People whose hopes of making Phi Beta Kappa at the University of West Virginia have banded together in a mock organization called Phi Batar Cannar.

CRAWFORD ELECTED ENGINEER PREXY

Bud Crawford was elected president of the American Society of Civil Engineers at their meeting held last night in the Engineering building. Emile Bachand was elected vice-president, and Kent Goodell, secretary-treasurer.

The C. E.'s picnic was announced as scheduled for next Monday at Dutch flats. They leave at 3 p. m.

Science Honorary Elects New Men

Sigma Xi Admits Nine Faculty Men; 16 Students Named Associates

Nine full members and 16 associated for possible future membership were elected this week by the Idaho chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society, along with a brand new set of officers.

Sigma Xi is to the sciences what Phi Beta Kappa is to the liberal arts, and a person who can dangle a Sigma Xi key on his watch chain is a somebody. Strictly speaking, Sigma Xi does not elect members. They earn membership by contributing to the general advancement of science some piece of original research, as measured by publication of results in a recognized scientific journal. Associate members are elected, however. Promise of future achievement along scientific lines is the basis upon which associates are chosen.

Associates Advanced
Three of the new full members had previously been associates: Prof. G. Orien Baker, department of agronomy; Leslie L. Larson, '34; and Joseph L. McCarthy, fellow in wood chemistry.

Other new full members are Dr. John Ehrlich, forestry; Prof. D. L. Fourt, dairy department; Dean D. S. Jeffers, school of forestry; Clair L. Worley, fellow in botany; Frank Gerard Hinman, junior entomologist, U. S. department of agriculture, Moscow; and Thomas H. Hite, '30, junior soil surveyor, soil conservation service, Moscow.

Associate members chosen by the Idaho Sigma Xi chapter for this year are the following: Shull Arms, '36, physics; Jacob Ashcraft, graduate student in chemistry; T. Donald Bell, graduate student in animal husbandry; Richard Bickford, '36, forestry; Franklin C. David, '36, pre-medicine; Frederick Goenne, '36, forestry; David Mark Hegsted, '36, agricultural chemistry; Donald Ingvalstad, graduate student in metallurgy; James Miller, '36, electrical engineering; John B. Miller, '36, geology; Donald Murphy, graduate student in plant pathology; Lewis Nelson, '36, agronomy and soils; Laura Maurine Peterson, graduate student in zoology; Adrian Thrupp, graduate student in forestry; George Turner, '36, forestry; and John Wells, '36, geological engineering.

Buchanan is President
The new members will be initiated at a banquet meeting to be held May 20 at the Blue Bucket Inn. Prof. Eugene Taylor, retiring president, will give the address of the evening.

New officers chosen by the organization this week begin with J. E. Buchanan, assistant professor of civil engineering, president; Virgil Cherrington, assistant professor of bacteriology, vice-president; Dr. James B. Reed, chemistry department, treasurer. Dr. E. C. Jahn, secretary, was elected last year for a two-year term. The new officers will be installed at the banquet May 20.

Taps and Terps, Song Fest and Sports Meets Feature Week-end

Mothers of several hundred Idaho students will not lack for entertainment over the Mother's week end on the Idaho campus, which starts today, reports Mary Jane Pace, Bonners Ferry senior and general chairman.

Beginning Friday evening, the five special events arranged in their honor, not to mention three track meets, a tennis match, and a baseball game not listed on the program. The Mother's week end, launched this spring by the Associated Women Students as an annual event, is a cooperative venture involving all the women's organizations on the campus.

Taps and Terps First
First of the events the mothers will attend is Taps and Terpsichore, elaborate dance, festival, which climaxes the yearly activities of the Women's Athletic association. It will be held in the university auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, tonight.

Tomorrow morning the mothers will have time to tour the campus and visit with their student sons and daughters. At 1:30 in the afternoon they will attend the annual May fete, to be held on the lawn near the administration building. Ceremonies will include the traditional procession, coronation of the May queen, winding of the May pole, and pledging of new members by Silver Lance and Mortar Board, men's and women's senior honor societies, and Cardinal Key and Spurs, women's service organizations.

Attend Songfest
Saturday evening the mothers will attend a songfest in which 25 to 30 residence groups will compete for campus group singing honors. This event, set for 7 o'clock, will be sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity for women.

Next of the scheduled events for mothers will be the annual concert of Treble Clef, women's glee club at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the university auditorium. This will be followed by a reception at Hays hall, concluding the week end program.

Thirty-Two Head List Of Vandal Boosters, Announces Earl Bopp

Fully 32 students, and faculty and administration staff members have the honor of heading the list of Vandal Boosters, announced Earl Bopp, president of Blue Key, last night.

Heading the list is Dr. J. W. Barton, Vandal booster for years. Also on the roll of first signers is George K. Moody, better known as "Hap," the sage of MacLean field, who acts as deputy sheriff when not looking over Idaho athletics.

United Students Win Six Out of Nine Board Posts

In one of the quietest elections in many years, Idaho students elected nine members to the executive board yesterday.

Bert Larson was unopposed for the presidency. The United Student party won six places to three for the Campus party.

The election marked the first time that the proportional representation has been used in choosing a governing board. The election committee reported that out of 1,207 ballots cast, only 14 were invalid.

The successful candidates follow, in order of their election:

Lamphere Presents Music Scholarship

Publisher of Daily Star-Mirror Contributes to Music Department

The third scholarship has been given to the music department of the University of Idaho by George Lamphere, publisher of the Moscow Daily Star-Mirror. "No strings are attached to this scholarship," Mr. Lamphere said. "I want it to be given to a worthy, talented young musician who otherwise would be unable to study music."

Scholarships are for the amount of $30, and provide one music lesson per week for one semester. Former scholarships have been given by the Moscow chapter of the D. A. R., and O. chapter of P. E. O.

The music department hopes that a sufficient number of scholarships will be given to make it possible for a number of talented students to obtain at least a part of their tuition, and thus make it possible for Idaho to keep them at its own university.

Greenest Are Best, Says Doctor Plumb

Chief Engineer Declares Freshmen to be Finest of Bunch

"Freshmen are the finest of the bunch, because they are the greenest," declared Dr. H. T. Plumb in his talk to engineers assembled in the Science hall last Tuesday afternoon. "The longer a person stays green and fresh, the longer he will last and be useful to the world," said Plumb. "As soon as you begin to mature and ripen, the next thing is rotten!"

Doctor Plumb is the chief engineer of the Salt Lake district for the General Electric company. He previously was vice president of the national American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

He talked on the students' business—education, and compared it to the business of the engineer.

Phi Beta Kappas Hear Officer Wednesday

Dr. W. A. Shimer, National Secretary and Editor, Addresses Members and Guests; Is on Tour

Members of the Idaho chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, foremost honorary society in letters and science, received two opportunities Wednesday to hear from their national secretary, Dr. W. A. Shimer, who is on a tour visiting western chapters. At a banquet for members only, held at the Hotel Moscow, Doctor Shimer, who is also editor of the organization's quarterly, The American Scholar, discussed informally topics of interest to the society, and answered questions of the members.

Following the banquet, was the annual open meeting of Phi Beta Kappa held at the Blue Bucket Inn, attended by members and guests. Here, speaking upon "The Meaning of a Liberal Education," Doctor Shimer by his keen wit and sound philosophy endeared himself to the large audience.

Banks Introduces Speaker
Introduced by W. C. Banks of the English department and president of the Idaho chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, Doctor Shimer devoted the early part of his talk to giving the audience a rich background to add significance to his later remarks. He showed man as a part of nature, whose aim in life should not be to achieve success in politics, business, or warfare. Instead it is his duty to make each succeeding generation better than the last.

Doctor Shimer, who, although in his early forties, gives the impression of youth, emphasized that to achieve this goal of "making man more human" a system of liberal education is necessary. "The individual who becomes so engrossed with one science, or other line of work, that he loses perspective on how to make his life work fit into the whole scheme of things, is worthless to society," said Doctor Shimer. "He should not even be allowed to vote."

Advanced Broad Education
The speaker illustrated his point that a rounded education composed of an insight into literature, history, philosophy, the sciences and all the other important fields of knowledge is essential, by picturing the world as a great canvas.

"On this canvas, a master artist has sketched the outlines, and his assistants have as their duty the filling in of the details. We are those assistants. The master artist may be called God. Each with our pot of paint, we must add to the picture whether we want to or not. If we fail to catch the vision which the master had in his mind when he made the sketch, our life will be but a blot over which others must labor to wipe out. However, if we catch the picture of the whole through a liberal education, we will make a contribution toward finishing the painting, and human life will be richer because we have lived," Doctor Shimer concluded.

Karl Wilson played a violin solo accompanied by George Dawson, and Margaret Quist sang, accompanied by Marian Dwight.

The Rambling Spotlight

By JoN

Tomorrow Il Duce will formally annex the fallen empire of Ethiopia. This act will culminate the first chapter of the Fascist leader's dream of the restoration of the "glory that was Rome". The conquest of Ethiopia fulfills the first of Il Duce's promises to the Italian people that he would scrap the Versailles Treaty and the League of Nations Covenant to secure forcibly their rightful heritage—a colonial empire.

In England, Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that although the Italian victory in Ethiopia was a humiliating diplomatic defeat to English diplomacy, the League of Nations of some other international organization with similar principles must be preserved at any cost. It will be even more humiliating to English diplomats when they must publicly admit that they allowed Il Duce to outbluff the other member nations of the League.

It will be interesting to observe the methods to be employed by the English Foreign office when it attempts to justify a basis for diplomatic recognition of the new Italian colony. Since the sentiment of the English people is against the aggressive policy of Mussolini, it is most certain that the present cabinet will be replaced by another cabinet not in sympathy with the present Italian policy.

Publicity seeking Harvard students started diplomatic Washington, D. C., yesterday morning, by flying the red flag of communism from the flag-staff of the United States Supreme Court building. The banner bearing the hammer and cycle of the Soviet union was finally burned down by the fire department. The prank was for the purpose of securing publicity for the latest issue of the Harvard Lampoon, a satire on national politics.

Students at W. S. C. are reaping a good harvest of publicity from their mob-strike technique of revolt against college rules. Yesterday's strike was halted to provide the faculty-student committee more time for full consideration of necessary changes of present rules to meet student demands.

The attitude of the students represents a healthy condition of student minds attempting to express their own opinion as to rules for their conduct. The administration attitude might be expressed in the statement that "if the students don't like the present rules, they do not have to go to school here." The one major plea that the W. S. C. publicity-contact department has used to attract students to their college is that the students were in safe hands because of the rigid supervision of their behavior by the college authorities.

Agents of the department of justice bureau of investigation, popularly known as "G-men", emphatically proved their worth this week by apprehending three fugitive criminals.

A week ago the government agents captured fugitive Alvin Karpis, "Public Enemy No. 1", without firing a shot, on a sidewalk in New Orleans.

The mantle of "Public enemy No. 1" was then draped over the shoulders of Mahan, principal figure in the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser kidnaping. Mahan was captured yesterday noon in San Francisco.

Limping Harry Campbell, buddy of Alvin Karpis, was captured yesterday in Toledo, Ohio, by another group of government agents.

The bureau of investigation has not announced the name of the new "public enemy No. 1", but the obvious efficiency of the organization will certainly deter many from seeking the mantle.

Now that the Spalding Centennial celebration is in progress, we should like to make one unimportant suggestion.

According to the best authorities on the history of the Pacific Northwest, Spalding left St. Louis in March, 1836, as a member of the Doctor Whitman missionary party. This caravan stopped at various points in the Middle West, at Fort Hall, and at a fort near the present city of Boise. From here the party continued on to Fort Vancouver via Fort Walla Walla. Spalding and Whitman did not return to Fort Walla Walla until October, 1836. After spending the greater part of the winter at the fort, Spalding and a companion, Gray, left for the Lapwai country to establish a mission among the Nez Perce Indians. This mission was not founded until the spring of 1837. It would seem to us that the centennial celebration at Lewiston is one year premature. Only 99 years have elapsed.

This week-end all Idaho students will honor their mothers in the appropriate tradition of Mother's Day. Many Idaho mothers are visiting the university campus to celebrate with their sons and daughters. We are wondering what impression these visiting mothers will receive when they visit the beer garden at the Blue Bucket. We fail to understand why the AWS has not requested a ban on beer sales for the week end. Perhaps the management of the Blue Bucket should be criticized for not closing up the beer "slopper" on its own initiative. In deference to our visiting mothers, some action should be taken to avoid a misrepresentation of college life.

Grins and Gripes

The Argonaut welcomes contributions from its readers concerning matters of interest to students. Letters printed here may or may not conform with the opinions of the editor, and are not to be construed as expressing the policy of this paper. Letters should be to omit any or all of a letter deemed to be too long, or to be contrary to the best interests of the university. All letters must be signed with the true name of the writer; only the initials of the contributor will be printed, however.

To the Editor:

Perhaps the outstanding event of the year took place today in the formation of the "Idaho Student Boosters". The Argonaut reports that a membership drive is to begin immediately "to provide funds for furthering Idaho athletics." Mr. Bopp, of Blue Key fame, tells us that "Idaho student boosters will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are really backing Vandal athletics in a substantial way when they pay their fifty cents for membership cards." Miss Ferny effervesces with, "At last we have an opportunity really to show that we are behind Idaho athletics." The local merchants offer prizes to show that they, too, are behind the move. Even Coach Bank gives a "pep talk."

High-powered athletics, or at least efforts in that direction, are interesting to consider. Why are we blessed with this opportunity to "support" our school in this endeavor?

Coach Bank's interest is obvious and excusable. It is his job. The town merchants contribute because they stand to profit by week end crowds. Our "campus leaders" probably support the move because they have not seriously considered the factors involved.

But just where does all this profit the students themselves? Yes, it allows them to share in the glory of the winning team. Victory, a bit of ex-cruciating pleasure for all.

Suggestion is probably futile, although interesting to attempt.

Why not abolish intercollegiate athletics at Idaho? If part of the excuse for the system is the fame coming to the institution with winning teams, could not the same repute return to a school which has the fortitude to initiate the eventual? It would take only a short time to transfer student interest to intramural activity.

Think it over!

J. L. McC., Grad.

To the Editor:

Why wasn't there a statement in The Argonaut at the end of last semester about the financial status of the freshman class? Why isn't there likely to be one at the end of this semester?

As a member of the freshman class, I demand a statement be printed in The Argonaut about class finances for the year of 1935-1936. As a member of the class I believe it my right to know.

If a statement is not printed in the next issue of The Argonaut, there is no alternative but to join the rest and say, "Why are they afraid to do so?"

Editor's note: P. J. B.'s "demands" are a bit out of place, since The Argonaut has never and does not at present deem it one of its duties to print the financial status of the various class organizations. If P. J. B. wants to know about his class's finances, he has only to call at the graduate manager's office where the books are kept where he will be readily informed that the freshman accounts are in arrears to the extent of approximately $250, which will be made up by deductions from each freshman's $10 deposit. This deficit is due to a costly Homecoming bonfire and poor management by the class officers of the Freshman Glee, which cost the class in the neighborhood of $100.

It certainly is the right of a member of a class to know what is being done with all the money he puts out, but such information is available without a lot of fanfare.

Here n' There

All hail:

You Idaho students! How does it feel to be held up as a shining example of student independence and freedom? That's what they are doing over at W. S. C., you know. Everything they are asking for is based on what they think Idaho has in the way of student rule.

We couldn't stay away from anything so exciting. Here is the inside dope. The mess really started simmering about two months ago, when the houses objected to housing athletes. Dr. E. O. Holland accidentally set off the fire when he stated in an assembly the Tuesday before the demonstration that there should be more student action and thinking on the campus.

Incidentally, the unfortunate coincidence of taking out the liquor store also had something to do with the student indignation. After the liquor store was removed, the business men in town voted against taking it out almost 2 to 1. Too bad they didn't do that before it was too late.

Neither the dean of women nor the dean of men has anything to say for publication.

The administration rules haven't been changed at W. S. C. for 19 years, they say over there. It isn't the strike that is the surprise, it's the fact that they haven't struck before this.

Dr. Holland made a mistake when he said that the Idaho students never had later than 12 o'clock permission. We have had 12:30 permission for all-college dances all year.

Anyway, the W. S. C. students are serious. The leader of the agitation is a Phi Beta Kappa, in case you think that it is being run by Joe Colleges.

The last number on the program will be Elysian Fields, the Grecian dance drama. As Persephone is playing with her companions, Hades, the ruler of the underworld spirits her away. The Furies rush in to tell the maidens what they have seen, and their wild search is interrupted by the appearance of Demeter, Persephone's mother. Upon learning of her daughter's disappearance, this Goddess of Fruitfulness is bowed down with grief. However, when the Furies inform her who is responsible for the tragedy, she vows vengeance and decrees famine and suffering upon the earth. In the meantime, Persephone has become Hades' wife, and in the midst of the desolation of famine they return to affect a reconciliation. The order of dances will be: Persephone and the Maidens, The Search, Demeter's Dance of Grief, Famine, Reconciliation, and Rejoicing.

Theta Sigma to Edit Next Argonaut

Tuesday's edition of The Argonaut will be edited by members of Theta Sigma, local honorary for women professionally interested in journalism. The seven members of the organization will do all the writing, editing, make-up, and some typographical composition.

The theme of the paper has not yet been revealed. Mildred Carson will be editor-in-chief. Marion Johnson will be managing editor; Eileen Kennedy, news editor; Ruth Haller, day editor; Elva Anderson, night editor; Ruth Bevis, sports editor; and Irene Fisher, women's editor.

Press Club Pledges Four Wednesday

The Press club, at a meeting held at the A. T. O. house last Wednesday, pledged four men: Dwight Barton, Fred Robinson, Sam Johnson, and Larry Robinson.

Further plans were made for the Publications Ball, to be held next Tuesday night in the gymnasium.

Avon Wilson was appointed to investigate the matter of the Theta Sigma-Press club award given each year to the outstanding man and woman underclassman working on The Argonaut. Last year Avon Wilson and Mary Curtis received the award.

The Curtain Presents Three-Act Comedy For English Club

Under the auspices of Doctor George Morey Miller, head of the English department, the play "The Importance of Being Earnest," was put on by the members of The Curtain, local dramatic honorary.

The play, a high comedy, under the direction of Miss Collette, assistant dramatic instructor, was well received by an audience of approximately 100 people. The amusing situation involving two brothers, both professing the name of Earnest in order to win two feminine admirers of the name, furnished the main idea for the plot.

Starlin and Ambrose Star
The parts of the two brothers were ably played by Glenn Starlin and Grant Ambrose, while Aline King and Helen P. Wilson, as the feminine leads, were equally worthy of praise. Catherine Bjornstad and Erna Lewis furnished the greater part of the play's humor in their roles of tutor, and mother.

Others in the cast were: Eugene Ryan, Andrew James, and John Barker.
The play was given Tuesday evening at the L. D. S. for English club members and their guests. Refreshments were served after the performance, and dancing was enjoyed in the L. D. S. ballroom.

to the Mississippi river system. When you start out in life as a child of kindergarten, grade, and high school, and college join with the original spring, it grows into a quite large stream. Then business experience, representing the Missouri river, enter with its muddy particles of misjudgment, enemies, and bad luck and dirties your waterway of life.
The Ohio river comes in next, representing your married experiences, and adds to the burden of sediment which your life stream carries. Finally your river reaches the delta of later life, and the dirt and mud settles out, and a clear river flows into the gulf of old age.

COMMITTEE RECEIVES BIDS FOR TREES

James DeMers, Sandpoint, was a guest of Delta Chi during the weekend.

Kathryn Emery is general chairman; Irene Johnson and Grace Gardner, favors; and Ethel Gehrke, flowers.

Carson to Speak

A short speech by Mildred Carson, president, and a musical program in charge of Wilma Mitchell will be given.

"All members are urged to come," announces Miss Carson. "If your mothers are not here you are asked to bring guests or come alone."

Say It With Flowers Is Feature of Ball

Through the courtesy of Scott Brothers' Floral shop, an added incentive for attending the I. K. Press club ball will be the presentation of a small corsage of sweet peas to each woman.

Add to this the music of Paul Pendarvis and his nationally famous orchestra, the many worthwhile favors to be distributed, and the only possible result will be the outstanding evening of your college career.

Come one! Come all!

CAN BUY TICKETS AT DOOR

To facilitate students who find it inconvenient to buy tickets from house salesmen, to the Publications ball featuring Paul Pendarvis and his orchestra, tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the dance. Alumni and guests living out of town will be able to get tickets easier at that time, according to those in charge of the affair.

ing leader uncovered by the song-fests was Orville Westburg. After seeing him put the Phi Deltis through their paces, enthusiasm for an ASUI male chorus reached a high pitch, and soon the campus had a new musical organization.

The plan was to make the chorus a supplement to the Pep Band and form a nucleus for a rooting section at football and basketball games. The group took trips to Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene to give concerts, but when Westburg left school at the end of the year the organization faded out of existence.

Nadeau Is President Of Foresters Next Year

Leon Nadeau was elected president of the Associated Foresters for 1936-37 at the meeting held last Tuesday. Howard Johnson was elected vice-president, Bill McKee, secretary-treasurer, and Kenneth Hungerford was appointed ranger. Fred Matthews and Virgil Gould, present editor and business manager of the Idaho Forester, were retained for another year.

The newly elected officers and members of the executive council are asked to be present at the Associated Foresters council meeting next Monday at 7:30 in Morrill hall, 335, reports Ralph Jensen, president of the Associated Foresters.

TWO ENGAGEMENTS ARE REVEALED

Joint announcements of the engagements of Barbara Geddes, Winchester, to Cecil A. Sanders, Ashton; and Loanda Ricks, Rexburg, to Eugene Manwaring, Rexburg, were made at Alpha Chi Omega Wednesday at a formal dinner.

Jewel Holte and Grace Larson presented the rings to the women, and favors attached to individual corsages of roses and sweet peas announcing the engagements were presented to the guests.

Men Are Alumni

Miss Geddes and Miss Ricks are members of Alpha Chi Omega, and they both will be graduated in June. Miss Ricks is president of Phi Chi Theta, business honorary; and a member of The Argonaut staff. Miss Geddes is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary, and a former member of Vandaleers.

BUSINESS HONORARIES PLAN JOINT DANCE ON MAY 15

Alpha Kappa Psi and Phi Chi Theta, men's and women's business honoraries, are making plans for a dance to be given at the Delta Chi house on May 15. Pledging of new members will take place in about a week, said Dwight Barton, president of Alpha Kappa Psi, and they will be invited to the dance as guests.

Pendarvis' Orchestra to Replace "Moonlight and Four Roses"

Paul Pendarvis and his orchestra will really be here to play for a dance next Tuesday night! And besides, it's the Publications ball. Remember how much fun that dance was last year?

It's a chance that comes once in a life-time. All your life you've probably been turning the radio onto the programs of dreamy dance bands, and prayed that some day you'd dance to haunting music like that. Well, here it comes, right up the hill to the Memorial gymnasium, in the guise of one of those rollicking Press club dances, so don't miss it!

If you'd walk two miles for a Camel, why shouldn't you walk less than half a mile and get just as good a "lift" from the pulsating rhythm of Pendarvis' dance music? An answer, of course, is: superfluous. It's just an example of the good old rhetorical question -- the kind the pros ask, and hope that the answer is obvious. (Oh, yeah?)

Remember the motto: "Dancers wise will publicize!"

COUNCIL APPOINTS LEE, ROBINSON

The executive board appointed Rex Lee and Larry Robinson permanent members of the election board at a meeting Tuesday night.

Temporary members of the board appointed to serve for the election yesterday were Eleanor Callahan, Barbara Walker, and Barbara Geddes.

Minor sports awards for fencing, boxing, rifle, and swimming were given by the board at the meeting.

Bench and Bar Hears Spokane Speaker, William Healy

Bench and Bar, organization of the Idaho students of law, held its final dinner of the year at the Blue Bucket Inn Tuesday with William Healy of Spokane, general counsel of the federal farm credit administration, as its principal speaker. Mr. Healy's subject was "Government Owned and Controlled Corporations."

More than 40 law students were in attendance at the dinner. Mr. A. L. Morgan, local attorney and member of the Idaho State Board of Bar Commissioners, spoke briefly. Lionel Campbell, chief justice of the Bench and Bar, presided and introduced speakers.

HONORARY INITIATES THREE MEN

Delta Sigma Rho, national debating honorary, initiation was held Wednesday evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The new initiates are Bill Lee, Robert McFadden, and Lewis Orland.

Officers for the coming year were elected. Robert McFadden was elected president; Lewis Orland, vice-president; and Bill Lee, secretary.

Lamar, Whitehead To Tread Aisle

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Pauline Lamar, English instructor, to A. E. Whitehead, public speaking instructor, surprised guests at a luncheon Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan. Joint hostesses at the luncheon with Mrs. Buchanan were Miss Marion Featherstone and Miss Jean Collette.

Will Marry in Fall
The announcements, written on tiny white cards, were concealed in individual corsages which each guest found at her place. The cards were fastened to the flowers by white ribbons, on the ends of which were small silver wedding bells. The table was decorated in apple blossoms and tulips. The couple plan to be married in September.

ENGINEERS CHOOSE HOFFMAN, ARMS

Dwight Hoffman was elected president of the associated engineers for the next school year at an A. E. meeting held in Science hall last Tuesday. Walter Edelbute was chosen vice-president, and Joe Greer secretary-treasurer. All are juniors.

At the same meeting Bill Arms was unanimously elected editor of the Idaho Engineer for next year. Bob Strachan is the new business manager.

Idaho to Tangle With U. of Montana Grizzlies Here Saturday in Annual Cinder Clash

Northern Idaho Track Meet And Idaho Frosh—Cougar Babes Meet Complete The Day

A three-ringed track circus with everything but the pink lemonade will be the big feature of Saturday's sport carnival as the Vandal tracksters meet the Montana Grizzlies in the main ring at 1 o'clock.

In the second ring will be the high school cinder artists of Northern Idaho. The contest will be to determine the entries for the state meet at Boise on May 15. The final ring will hold the Cougar Babes and the petit Vandals who tangle in a battle for supremacy. The Cougars are rated as heavy favorites.

Vandals Hampered by Injuries
Beating Montana by seven points last year the Vandals will have a harder time beating the Grizzlies this year due to the large list of injured and ineligible.

The loss of Bill O'Neill and Max Kenworthy, hurdler, weakens the team considerably, necessitating the doubling up of some men in events to strengthen the line-up. George Rich, only Vandal pole vaulter, will be away to Seattle taking an examination for the marine corps.

Ryan Promises Fight
"In spite of the gloomy outlook," said Coach Mike Ryan, "we can be expected to give Montana a good run for their money."

The only division that the Idaho squad is strong in is the weight division. Coach Ryan hopes that their inability to train outside because of bad weather will cause the weight men to be in winning condition.

Probst Out With Cold
Running the dashes will be Cecil Beaman with Bill Powers helping and also running the hurdles. Stewart Neely and Fred Milette are slated to win the quarter mile, Neely and Walter Kantoina the half mile race, and Cy Adkins the mile. Pat Probst probably will not run due to a bad cold.

The high jump will suffer from the loss of Peacock, next to Bill Powers the most versatile man on the field, who spiked himself during practice and is under the doctor's care. Ray Pearson, number one high jump man, is away with the baseball team.

Fast Grizzly Appears
Conceded the advantage in the speed events with the century speedster, Bob O'Malley. Grizzly dash man, who runs the 100 in 9.8, the Vandals will rely on the field events and the distance races to match points with the northerners.

The Vandal frosh will be minus the services of their stellar sprinter, Allan Poole, and Frank Kurdy, his running partner. Poole pulled a leg muscle last week and Kurdy was declared ineligible due to grades.

Intramural Sports

SOFTBALL
To date the drawing for the league playoffs in intramural softball have not been made. However, house managers are advised to get in touch with Director Percy Clapp early this afternoon to find out what time they are to play today.

League winners will meet to determine the first four place winners. Tomorrow afternoon, the teams will meet in the finals. At the same time the four second place teams will meet to settle fifth and sixth places.

HORSESHOES
George Thiessen, in charge of horseshoes, stated that the league playoffs would be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 "without postponement." At that time, Sigma Nu, champs of League three, meet the Tekes, runner-ups of League four, and Delta Chi and Idaho club match ringers. The two winners will meet for fifth place and 25 points.

Tennis results are still incomplete, but as soon as full returns are available the drawing will be made for the league play-off Sunday morning between 10 and 12. The same type of play-off as used in horseshoes will be followed.

INTRAMURAL TRACK
Phi Delta Theta and Lindley hall led the way to league first places last night in a dual league intramural meet. Lindley hall rolled up the impressive total of 66 points, including six firsts, six seconds, and a group of third and fourths to take the League one meet.

In League two, three teams were tied with 38 points at the completion of all but two events, the discus and javelin. Spaugy's first in the javelin with a heave of 138 feet, and Lavigne's second in the discus broke the tie to give the Phi Delt 46 points and the meet. Lambda Chi placed third and fourth in both events to take second with 44 points, and Sigma Nu, failing to place in either event, won third place honors with

SPORT SHOP

By Larry Robinson
FOOTBALL is the college sport, but judging from the enthusiasm shown by the intramural lines on the soft-ball diamond, baseball is still the game of the average "Joe College."

Speaking of intramural activities brings up the delicate subject of facilities on the Idaho campus for these sports. The only trouble with the facilities here is that we haven't any. The teams have to play a "hit-and-miss" schedule by playing basketball when the varsity doesn't and baseball while the Vandals are on road trips, or play before and after the varsities have finished practice.

With a small sum compared with the good resulting, much improvement could be made. There is plenty of ground available for soft-ball diamonds if it were leveled off and put into shape. There is room for a diamond back of the Beta house and another in the space by the Idaho club.

Tennis courts would run into more money, but there is no doubt that we need them. The weather doesn't permit very long seasons for tennis so the courts are busy all the time, as you'll soon find if you try to get a court at any respectable hour of the day.

Handball, rapidly gaining in popularity, could be played if there were courts erected in Lewis court and at a negligible cost. As it is now, the handball fan must either take a class in it, or wait until the late hours of the evening before the space is available. Many students that would like to play ordinarily, can't make the terrible hours.

AND OUR swimming basin is something for the intramurals to really gripe about. A meet can be handled by only the hardest persons or those who are partially deaf, for if a swimmer lifts a finger out of the water, the noise of the splash echoes back and forth in the pool. If you like to hear yourself talk, the pool is a cinch.

We really need a new pool, but this one could certainly be fixed up better than it is. At least part of it could be sound proofed so that events could be started and the spectator might know what everything was all about.

SINCE MOSCOW is usually cursed with plenty of snow, why don't we make the best of it? This is a choice location for winter sports, and do we have any? Some of the fellows coasted down the hill in front of the Phi house minus the sled, but other than that there is no organized effort.

The hills around Moscow are ideal for tobogganing and skiing, so why couldn't a slide be built? A club house could be built within hiking distance of the campus so that weekend trips could be made. There are students on the campus who would like to do some winter hiking for the pure sport of it, and such a club house would be a real asset.

But do you think we could get one? Of course not, the students will continue to wait about there being "nothing to do during the winter in this hole," while a little organized effort might make the winter months a bit more pleasant.

38 points.
Thompson High
For individual performances, Thompson of Sigma Nu led the list. He placed first in the high jump with a 6 foot leap, and won firsts in both the high and low hurdles, to score 15 points.

The first place winners in each league, with their records are as follows (winners in League One are named first):
High hurdles, Wasserman, Lindley hall, 10:00; Thompson, Sigma Nu, 9:0; low hurdles: Richardson, Delta Tau, 15:8; Thompson, Sigma Nu, 15:0; 50-yard dash: Mills, Lindley, 6; Stokes, Lambda Chi, 5:6; 100-yard dash: Rettig, Lindley, 10:8; Stokes, Lambda Chi, 19:02; 300-yard run: Rettig, Lindley, 36.1; Crowther, Phi Delta Theta, 35.2; 600-yard run: Hatley, Lindley hall, 1:36; Pauley, Phi Delta Theta, 1:34.2; Pole Vault: Hoyt, Delta Tau, 9'5"; C. Wilson, Sigma Nu 9'5". High jump: Hoyt,

He's a Hugging Champion

He's an honest-to-gosh-grappler--is this boy Paul Jones, top wrestler of the Vandal outfit. Best 135-pounder in the Northwest, Jones recently returned from Bethlehem, Penn., where he was eliminated in the second round of the Olympic finals by an Oklahoma Aggy, who ultimately was picked for the Olympic team. No--he's no relation to John Paul Jones of maritime fame.

Joey August Wins in Pro Debut By Kayo-ing Opponent at Spokane

Battering Joey August, until recently the Vandals' star lightweight, last night made his debut into professional fighting at Spokane, when he technically kayoed Seattle's best, in the second round of a scheduled six round bout, after flooring his coast opponent five times with vicious left hooks.

August scored his first knockdown early in the first round for a one-count with a snapping left hook to the head. Soon afterward a barrage of the same punches floored Rose for a nine. At the bell ending the first round Rose could hardly find his corner. August rushed out at the beginning of the second and again dropped Rose for a nine count.

Stomach Hit Downs Him
But the Seattle lad refused to stay down. A terrific left to the abdomen cut him down again, and a moment later, August dropped his staggering opponent for the last time as the referee stopped the slaughter.

Tiger Jack Fox, top-notch Spokane Negro light-heavyweight, when approached by the reporter as to what he thought of August, replied:

Fox Praises Joey
"There's a boy who has championship caliber. There isn't any question about that. He has technique and brains. Will he get up in the championship rank? Why, if he's properly handled there's no way of keeping him out!"

Delta Tau 5'6"; Thompson, Sigma Nu 6 feet. Broad jump: Wood, Delta Tau, 19 feet; Ayre, Lambda Chi 20 feet.

Javelin: Morrow, Sigma Chi, 132'9"; Spaugy, Phi Delta Theta, 138'1". Shot put: Rettig, Lindley hall, 33'8"; Johnston, Kappa Sigma, 33'7". Discus: Morrow, Sigma Chi 110'5 1/2"; Johnston, Kappa Sigma, 93 feet.

Lindley Takes Relay
880-yard relay: League one in order of placing: Lindley hall, (Hatley, Wasserman, Haines, and Mills), 1:44; Delta Tau Delta, 1:1 League two the Phi Delta took first (Puhl, Miller, Crowther, and Pauley), in 1:42. Sigma Nu team of Anderson, Sanderson, Crosby, and Schroeder placed second.

Vandal Grapplers to Learn Eastern Tricks of the Game

By Lloyd Evans
Several new wrinkles in amateur wrestling taken from grappling artists of the East will be employed to aid Vandal wrestlers, Northwest champions for the past two years, to even greater heights next year, according to Paul Jones, Vandal 135-pound Northwest wrestling champion, who participated in the National A. A. U. wrestling tournament April 16, 17, and 18 at Lehigh university, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Inexperience Hampers Wrestlers
Jones, quiet, refined, and showing none of the usual characteristics attributed to wrestlers, named inexperience and lack of proper training the major reasons why Western grapplers failed to make a formidable showing at the national eliminations.

"Wrestling is taken seriously in the East," said Jones. "Many of the universities back there and in the South have it as a major sport. Obviously, this is an important factor in their excellence. It is not uncommon for 5,000 spectators to turn out for one card."

Easterners Better Trained
"Another tremendous disadvantage to us Westerners was the fact that a match back there goes a full 15 minutes, while on the Pacific coast our standard is nine minutes. It was always in the final minutes that the Easterners began to show their superiority through more thorough training."

"At Idaho, we who have wrestled for three years or thereabouts, are considered well on our way to becoming veterans, but in the Eastern states competing amateurs have from 10 to 20 years' experience. One fellow I met back there informed me that he had participated in wrestling as a hobby for 20 years, and had competed in five national A. A. U. tournaments. He was 47 years old. He told me that he looked on the nationals each year much the same as we do on Homecoming."

Summers' single, and Oregon was blunked in the final half of the frame.

The four run rally, started when Carl Osterhout walked, advanced on a sacrifice and a passed ball, and scored on an error. A succession of singles sent Anderson, Kramer, Wally Geraghty, and Bill Katsilometes across the plate, but Katsilometes was called out at home for motions with his hands between third and the plate. "Newt" Newton and "Lefty" Pearson were the Idaho pitchers.

Idaho to Pullman Monday
Monday will find the Vandals cavorting once more on the "strike torn" Cougar stamping ground for the second of their four-game feud.

Fred Hampf Elected Minor "I" Prexy; Men Initiated

New men were initiated and officers for the coming year were elected at a meeting of the Minor "I" club Wednesday night. Fred Hampf was elected president and Howard Scott was elected secretary-treasurer. Those initiated were Howard Scott, Ddwain Vincent, Aaron Blewett, Fremont Ogawa, Ed Aspray, Alessio Caparaso, and Fred Mueller.

Gonzaga Takes Tennis; Triangular Match Will Be Held Tomorrow

Gonzaga university tennis players added the second victory in as many days to their credit when they came within one match of white-washing the Vandals yesterday on the local courts. Winning four of the five single matches and both of the double matches the visitors walked off with a 6 to 1 victory.

Tennis rackets will sing and tennis balls will bound plenty in Moscow tomorrow when Washington State college, Montana, and Idaho meet in a triangular match. The play is scheduled to start at 9 a. m. and a full day of tennis can be expected by all local fans. Each player according to his ranking will meet the two other men in the same ranking position. The W. S. C. frosh team will mix their skill with the Idaho yearlings in the afternoon.

Scott Is Only Winner

Scott was the only Idaho player to eke out a victory against the Gonzaga men yesterday. He took his single match from Anderson by winning the last two sets 6-2, 6-4, after losing the first set 3-6.

Summary of the matches follows:

Singles

1. Scott (I) defeated Anderson (G) 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.
2. VanVoorhis (G) defeated Axtell (I), 6-4, 6-4.
3. E. Anderson (G) defeated Vincent (I), 6-2, 6-4.
4. Dirstine (G) defeated Eldridge (I), 9-7, 6-3.

Doubles

DAVIDS'

The only machine of its kind

500 camshafts can be inspected every hour by an automatic machine which has been designed and built by the Ford Motor Company. It is the only one of its kind. It has a gaging accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch.

It gages Ford camshafts at 25 points. Any dimension not within the specified limits causes electrical and mechanical devices to reject the camshaft as it leaves the machine.

There are ten inspection stations. The camshafts are placed in registered position in carriers mounted on an endless linked conveyor and carried into the machine. At each station the conveyor stops momentarily. Automatic centers engage the ends of the camshafts and hold them rigidly. Then 25 floating gage heads lower automatically, measure the shafts, then rise. As the conveyor moves the shafts to the next station, other mechanism rotates and indexes them for the next set of gage heads.

The gage heads contain hard-alloy-tipped measuring plungers which are linked to amplifying levers. Variations in shaft sizes, beyond set limits, close a set of contact points which operate two solenoids. One sets the rejection mechanism; the other raises a marking plunger which puts a daub of copper sulphate solution on the shaft where the dimension is over or under size.

When shafts come out of machine they are automatically passed or rejected. All told, there are 54 inspections on every Ford V-8 camshaft.
