Is College Worth While?

John R. Tunis, a member of Harvard's class of 1911, attempts to answer "Was College Worth While?" in a recent book by that name, basing his conclusions on five years' research into the lives and opinions of his classmates.

Most of his data is of interest to more than Harvard students. It seems to have fairly universal application, especially his answer to the essential question.

Mr. Tunis doubts whether college was worth while for the majority of the members of his class. He makes much of "the mediocrity of our ambitions," and says that the "lamp of learning, tended by the ancient Greeks, blown white and high in the medieval universities and handed down to us in a direct line through Paris, Oxford, and Cambridge, has at last produced a group of men whose chief ambition, if their record tells the truth, is to vote the Republican ticket, to keep out of the bread line, and to break 100 at golf."

Much the same is probably true of many of Idaho's graduates. But is it not to be expected? A number of them, and therefore probably of us, are far different. Some become first-rate scientists, first-rate business men, leaders in their own fields. College certainly is worth while for these.

As for the rest, some of us may maintain our original mediocrity despite our university training, but at least most of us are having four happy years, are as well off here as we would be anywhere else, are developing more interests, and have a better chance of happiness because of these four years.—R.H.

And Here We Have Hi-de-ho

By Hoebel

Well, the election is over, so there'll be no more fun until someone starts another fight. Have you heard the new Republican dirge. They are singing, "Out, out, damned spot, will these lands ne'er come clean?"

You Democrats just remember, though, that as the good old picture show says, "It only takes the count of 10 to turn a champ into a chump," and Roosevelt sometimes says pretty big figures. Remember the national debt.

"Oh, Susanna, I love you just the way you look tonight, but I guess your star fell out of heaven," sang the Donkeys Tuesday night. "But happy days are here again!"

"Give me a little South Sea Island Magic," retorted the elephant. Yes, wouldn't it be nice to find a little peace somewhere in the next four years?

"Three Married Men" and "The Big Game"—Friday and Saturday.

Gay, wise-cracking dialogue by Dorothy Parker and Alan Campbell does much to raise "Three Married Men" from an otherwise trivial picture to top-notch entertainment. The plot concerns the marriage of Mary Brian, and Roscoe Karns, whose respective families have long been enemies, and the opposition the bride and groom meet from both factions. Much of the action takes place on the wedding night of Mary and Roscoe, and specifically revolves around the plain everyday bridegroom's efforts to be super-romantic in a pair of oh-too dashing pajamas copies after those of a famous screen lover. Also on the Double Feature is "The Big Game."

"All-American Chump"

"All-American Chump" with Stuart Erwin, Betty Furness and Robert Armstrong Sunday and Monday.

Tournament bridge is the latest indoor sport to be perpetuated for posterity in the films in a mildly amusing, not-too-plausible manner. When a slick carnival rife composed of Robert Armstrong, Betty Furness, and Edmund Gwenn discover in dumb-pat Stuart Erwin the ability to do amazing mathematical calculations in his head, they seize on him as a sure-fire hit. Unfortunately, the public attending carnivals does not agree, and it is not until the human adding-machine is forced in to his first bridge game, and by virtue of his rapid figuring manages to beat the world's champion, that fame comes to him and his exploiters. You'll like and be worried to tears about Edmund Gwen as Betty Furness' alcoholic father.

"Murder with Pictures"—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

A different sort of mystery yarn in which a criminal lawyer's death provides the murder mystery. The story involves a newspaper photographer, a girl very beautiful, and gangsters. Lew Ayers does a good job in the part of the ace photographer who becomes involved in the murder. Gail Patrick is the beautiful girl (and she is beautiful) who is suspected, and Lew must act as her protector. The only clue to the mystery is a plate exposed by a dub photographer. You could overlook it.

Looking for trouble with a smile

His job is to look for trouble before it happens. He is one of many who inspect telephone apparatus regularly, even when nothing is wrong. His work is called "preventive maintenance." This work is of the highest importance. It helps to prevent interruptions to the service; often forestalls costly repairs, or replacements; helps keep telephone service at highest efficiency.

To plan this work requires management with imaginative foresight and the ability to balance the many factors involved in the maintenance problem.

First Fight Card Presents Vandals vs. Multnomah Saturday

THE CARD

M.A.C. IDAHO
 Jack Bahlman, 118 pounds, vs. Jackie Doone, 118 pounds
 Cliff Nelson, 112, vs. Ralph Miller, 112
 Frank Cuney, 147, vs. Bud O'Brien, 147
 Bob Jenkins, 128, vs. Aaron Blewett, 128
 Joe Healy, 147, vs. John Gessner, 144
 Jerry Buckley, 135, vs. Ken Doty, 138
 Elmer Griffin, 173, vs. Jim Clabby, 173
 Royal Twombly, 112, vs. Joey Romane, 112
 Mike Saba, 126, vs.

Multnomah's classy string of boxers, who engage the Vandals here Saturday night, appeared even more formidable to Idaho when another Portland West coast champion, Mike Saba, was added to the card to fight Patsy Fitzpatrick. This addition makes the score read on the Portland club's team, seven tournament champions out of nine.
 Eight o'clock is the time set for the opening bout. Admission prices are 65 cents for ringside, 40 cents general admission, and 15 cents for students.

Multnomah club long has brought fame to Portland for their habit of taking a major bulk of championships regardless of the tough tournaments they entered. The organization is operated and managed by Tom Louttit, famous Portland sportsman and football referee.

Two bouts stood out among fans as probable thrillers, namely Jackie Doone vs. Jack Bohman and Ralph Miller vs. Cliff Nelson. Doone and Bohman both are sectional champions, and supporters of both claim there isn't a man the same weight who can defeat them. Bohman's skill runs more toward being a polished boxer, while Doone hits so hard he is often referred to as the "Little Shumway."

In the Miller bout, the Idaho midweight will be out to seek revenge from Nelson who last year KO'd him. Coach August said he expected a knockout one way or the other in this bout, because of the fury certain to be displayed by both.

Intramural Sports

TENNIS

The tennis championship was won by the Delta Tau Delta aggregation. Lindley hall came through to place a close second.

Third and fourth places will be determined by a game between Kappa Sigma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, which will be played on Sunday. Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Theta won fifth and sixth places respectively. Other games to be played Sunday to determine positions are: Ridenbaugh hall and Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Delta Chi and Alpha Tau Omega. Sunday will be the last day for tennis games.

Vandals Travel Toward Moraga With High Hopes Of Victory

Still remembering their overwhelming victory over Gonzaga, Idaho's Vandal traveling squad left last night to tangle with St. Mary's Gaels at San Francisco, Saturday.

Up against the heaviest football team in the country the Vandals are outweighed in every division. The St. Mary's line tips the beam at 210 pounds with an average of 200 pounds carrying the ball. The beef in Idaho's line weighs 190 pounds, with a 184 pound backfield when Ross Sundberg is in at fullback, and 174 pounds when George Willott replaces him.

"This is the best team Idaho has met since Washington," said Coach Ted Bank, "but after beating Gonzaga the men have confidence and the morale is high. I am convinced that with a few breaks the Vandals will come through with a close score."
 Idaho's hopes lie in Sundberg's line plunging, Clarence Devlin's end runs, Walt Musial's quarterbacking, and Harold Roise's toe to keep them out of danger.

Here They Are

Ends making the trip are, Leon Green, Tony Knapp, Roland Winter, Milton Osterhout, Joe Harrell, Tackles — Dick Trzuskowski, Stonko Pavkov, Jim Moore, George Thlissen, and Dale Sanner. Guards — John Cooper, Ken Carberry, Jasper Nuttlog, Roy Grey, Rudy Ashenbrenner (guard or center). Centers — Lyle Smith, Ralph Spaugy. Quarterbacks — Walt Musial, Steve Belko, Keith Sundberg (quarter or full).

Fullbacks — Ross Sundberg, George Willott. Halfbacks, Hal Roise, Rex Willard, Willie Maxson, Gerry Dellinger, Clarence Devlin, Roy Gregory, Jimmy Johnston.

Three are Injured
 Leon Green, Tony Knapp, and "Truck" Trzuskowski have been on the bench all week because of injuries, but it is hoped that they will get to play in Saturday's game.

Accompanying Coach Bank and the team were Assistants Percy Clapp and Bob Tessler, Trainer Mike Ryan, and student managers Maurice Byrne and Fred Mueller.

Rival Engineer Factions in Muddle As Electricals Forfeit Game

By a Student Mechanical Engineer
 The mechanical engineers battled their way to a triumph over the much bewildered electrical engineers in a soft ball game played Wednesday afternoon. The game wasn't a hard fought contest with the lead changing hands frequently, nor was it a game in which there was doubt as to the winner. There wasn't a score made and yet it wasn't a scoreless tie. The electricals were forced to forfeit the game because they could not muster a full team.

To lose a game by a score of 11 to 0 is glory compared to forfeiting it because of a lack of players!
 For the past week the electricals have been making sly remarks about the ability of the honorable mechanicals as baseball players, but when it came to a show down, only four of their humble members were present. And did the mechanicals come out in force. Three full teams raring to go, supported by substitutes and a cheer section were present, but only four electricals were to be found. The mechanicals, trying to be good sports about the whole affair, are hushing up the result as much as possible to save the electricals faces, but after all what excuse can they offer. It didn't rain or snow; nor was there a boiling sun or a blizzard.

 It doesn't seem right to come out and say that they were afraid, but after all some conclusion must be made.

Grab-Bag Gridmen Grow Greater

Idaho football fans have selected from the roster of Idaho students two mighty teams, which they propose to match in the Idaho student directory against any team that might be selected—they challenge all.
 Rudolf Aschenbrenner is held to be the greatest of all quarterbacks, with possibilities for All-American. Aschenbrenner will play for the Gas House Gushers with Compagnoni, Kameleviz, and Kaczmarek in the backfield. For solid line the Gushers will have that big and mighty Aloysius Tabaczynski, an 11 letter man. He will play at center. For ends we have the rangy John Schuettenhelm and Robert Verberkomes. At guard will be Edgar Largilliere and Robert Verveake. Pete Leguineche and Theodore Pyzyk will play at tackle.

Invincible Wall
 Against this invincible wall of muscle, gristle and steel, John Smith charges his Wingar Works Weasles. Charles Kijanczyk, Blaine Liljenquist, Roscoe Charles Smolinski, and Robert Rorhback are his famous four horsemen of the backfield.

Joe Antoinette Unternahrer, Mark Tschakero, Richard Alois Zarek, Theodore Pyzyk, and Donald Trzuskowski, Joe Spiczka, Isadore ad Bernard Rothiesberger, are Smith's high hopes for a strong line. James Brown will be referee.

Cy Adkins Leads Vandal Trackmen In 39-22 Victory Over Montana

Coming within one second of tying the MacLean field track record, Cy Adkins, varsity distance runner, led the Vandal trackmen to a 39-22 victory over Montana yesterday when he paced the 44 mile course in 24:59.

With a time 12 seconds better than his best time of last year, Adkins barely missed the course record of 24:58, set by Bill O'Neill in the Washington State meet last year.

Adkins took the lead from the first and held it throughout the race, finishing about 25 yards in front of the second place winner. Jack Rose of Montana came in second with a time of 25:11, with Rex Fluharty, promising Idaho sophomore, taking third in 25:15. Fourth place was won by Phil Payne, Montana, with 25:44. The next five places all went to Idaho men.

Idaho entered seven men in the meet and Montana five with the agreement that the points garnered by the first five men on each team should be added up and the team with the lowest total declared winner.

Points for each event were awarded according to the way the runners came in, giving the first man one point, the second man two, and so on.

Summary of places:
 Adkins, Idaho—24:59; Rose, Montana—25:11; Fluharty, Idaho—25:15; Payne, Montana—25:44; Probst, Idaho—25:54; Millette, Idaho—26:48; Lathen, Idaho—27:35; Klingler, Idaho—27:36; Snyder, Idaho—29:00; Citchell, Montana—30:09; Swanburg, Montana—31:17; Shaw, Montana—39:10.

Prof. H. E. Lattig of the college of agriculture and several seniors of that college have not yet returned from their tour of high schools of South Idaho. They are, however, expected to return sometime the latter part of this week.

Spirit Not Dampened By Rain at Rally; Moats Pleased

In spite of rain, the spirit at the pep rally Wednesday night was all it should have been thought Johnny Moats, yell king.

The students met at the Fiji corner at 8:45 p. m. where they cheered and rang with the pep band. Then they followed behind the band to the depot and enthusiastically cheered the departing team.

Moats was pleased at the good turnout. "It was great," he said. "If Idaho beats St. Maries, there won't be room enough on the campus to hold a rally."

Wrestlers Train For Active Year In Fight Ring

While drilling on fundamentals and working to get in shape, Paul Jones and his wrestlers are looking forward to a season of action. The squad is whipping into shape rapidly, but several of the most promising men are being kept out of wrestling for the present for various reasons.

Some of the more promising and experienced men have already seen a little action—the engineers' smoker last week. These were only exhibition matches, but unfortunately the resulted in slight injuries to two of the men, Noel Hallett and Jack Smith, both juniors. The matches, besides furnishing entertainment for the engineers, served to give the grapplers a little added experience.

Participants In Smokers Will Be:
 Matches at the smoker included: Otto Baltuth, 158, and Jim Pence, 148; Vic Nygren and Roy Van Sickle, heavyweights; Noel Hallett and Joe Mills, each 128; Bert Huntington and Jack Smith, 160 pound transfers from the southern branch. According to Coach Jones, there are several men, besides those listed above, who are showing up well in practice. Among them are Max Hymas and George Nelson, both 148 pounders, and Orvil English.

Bob Miller, two year letterman, is being held out of practice temporarily.
 Stonko Pavkov, Dean Green, and Dale Sanner, all veterans, are now playing football and are not taking their workouts on the mat for that reason. Other football players, too, are expected to report after the gridiron season has ended.

Twogood Sees Possibilities In Hoopsters as Drill Begins

Still a comparatively ragged ball club, the Vandal basketball tossers start regular afternoon practice Monday.

"Ragged ball handling, inaccurate shooting, and bad defense are still in evidence," said Coach Forrest Twogood, "but their willingness to learn gives them possibilities."

Guard Position Undecided
 Don Johnson and Bill Kramer are improving and look the best in the guard position, with Jim McCall and George Grogen making them hustle to keep their berths. Ray Lavigne, ineligible this semester but eligible next semester, is showing up among the top contenders for the guard position.

The center stall is still a toss-up among William Peterson, Bill Bohman, Ron Martin, and Oscar Cable.

Forwards not Placed
 Elmer Eddington and Mark Robinson have the inside track on the forward position; with Woody Hall and Keith Jacob, giving them a battle.

All in all, nobody is sure of any place yet but the next month of regular practice will probably place the men in their best suited positions.
