Look Back and Ahead

On Armistice Day, the thoughts of every citizen turn to wars, past and future. Inevitably they dwell longest on the most recent one, and its conclusion.

There were two things, on that fateful November 11, 1918, in which the United States placed implicit belief. One was the value of the sacrifice made by the men who lay dead in bleeding France. The other was the nobility of the actions of the United States.

Typically, the feelings of a hysterically happy and grateful country were expressed thus: "To those who died for liberty And did not die in vain! They counted light their loss that gave The world eternal gain!"

How comforting that thought must have been! "And did not die in vain!" Thus must have bereaved family have comforted bereaved family the world over. The dead had died for liberty, had died to end all war.

The other belief found typical expression in words like these: "Never in history did a great country pour fourth its resources more unselfishly, with higher devotion to a great ideal, or take less thoughts about any material interests of its own. To the country, in a broad sense, this may apply, but no one can say it truthfully of the individual citizens of the country. The appearance in America of 21,000 new millionaires after the war can scarcely have been a mere coincidence. Sordid detail after sordid detail has come to light during recent years, forming an ugly story of greed, corruption, and literal "traffic in blood."

Ruth Evans hobbling around (Rumor has it that one of the sisters bit your toe, Ruth. How about it?) Jean Pence looking for type lice. Edith Slatter out with Wally Geraghty for a Sunday a. m. spin (Wonder what Jo Betty Wickes thought?) Clarence Childs congratulating Bob Granville on Blue Key pledging. Tim Vaughn hurrying down to the hotel to borrow dad's car before sister Andrea got in her bid. Marion Delana selected a Bucket table directly in back of Beny Lutz and "Frankie" Stolle. George Bremer pulling a wry face at the Nest's coffee. Bill Ash waiting for Carol Jean Davis after the Theta Sigma breakfast. At the play—Mary Louise Murdoch, Glen Starlin, Maria Raphael, Vincent Wells, Betty Horton, Leonard Gaffney, and Bonnie Lang.

Is the other belief fated to follow this one? The drums of war are rolling in Spain, and there is danger that all of Europe may heed their call. What will the action of the United States be then? Bitterly aware that the war did not end all wars, can she still insist that it ended all wars for her?—R.H.

JANE MONTGOMERY WINS 4-H HONORS

Jane Montgomery, freshman in home economics, received word Saturday that she has won the state Montgomery-Ward records award which entitles her to a trip to Chicago.

The contest is based on the records made by the contestant during the whole 4-H career, the neatness of the records kept, the enlargement of the projects, and the awards won by the contestant. State winners in baking, canning, sewing, and the records contest leave November 27 for Milwaukee and Chicago. They return December 27.

From the "Goon" comes this contribution: "Will you be alone tonight?" "Do you want to borrow me?" "Yes, that's the principle."

"O. K., if you give me your Beta pin for security."

"I know the interest will be high—but that's the way I like it."

"Of course, you'll get your security back when you retire the loan."

"Judge for yourself—I'm walking on air."

"Happy lendings!"

Electricals Give Measly Mechanics Last Chance for Redemption

After Due Consideration E. E.s Offer To Make Heating Plant Crew Worthy To Again Approach Engineering Building

It seems that the electrical engineers were challenged by the lowly mechanics some time ago to play a game of soft ball. Instead of offering to play on grounds befitting the manly squad of electricals, the steam-engineers thought that they could save turf of the women's athletic field. No doubt their girlish customs prompted them to make this decision. Naturally, the thoughtful electricals did not want to thrash the mechanics right within sight of their own laboratory, since the defeat would be so bitter and the memory so lasting that the mechanical engineering school would never be able to live it down.

Just One More Chance However, after due consideration, the electricals have decided to give the begging mechanics another chance to make themselves worthy of being seen around the engineering school. At 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the Moscow athletic field, there will be a team of power-factor-reducing electricals ready to meet the mechanics in a game of touch football and give them the drubbing of their lives—that is, if the members of the old heating plant crew do not have too many qualms about accepting this challenge and decide to sleep in.

Idaho Fans to Cheer From Own Section At Montana

Vandal football fans planning to attend the Idaho-Montana game at Missoula, November 14 will cheer as a group from a special reserved section, thanks to the forethought of E. H. Myrick, president last year of the Idaho Alumni association. Seats in or near the Idaho section, the electricals have decided to give the begging mechanics another chance to make themselves worthy of being seen around the engineering school.

Directory Reveals 30 Idaho Smiths

Johnsons Take Second Place With 21; Wilsons Have 18 Listed

As usual, the Smiths are having their difficulties. There are 30 of them on the Idaho campus, the student directory reveals. Second place was hotly contested, but the Scandinavians won out. The Johnson clan claims 21 in its ranks, and the Wilsons take third place with 18.

Sixteen students are enrolled from foreign countries, according to the directory. There are five from the Philippine Islands, four from Alaska, four from Canada, and one each from Hawaii, Mexico, and Iran.

Washington Has Most Out-of-State Excluding our native Idahoans, neighbor Washington heads the list in the representation of the states within our country, with a total university population of 195. Fifty-eight Californians have braved the colds of Idaho to take second place. Wisconsin and Illinois tie for third place, each having 25 students enrolled.

All but 12 states are represented here at the University of Idaho. These are Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maryland, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, Mississippi, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Five Houses Hold Annual Dances For Latest Pledge Crop

Even though most pledges are sunk deep into the mire of servitude, drudgery, and labor by now, some were temporarily elevated to heights reeking less of gooney things this week-end when their illustrious superiors tendered them with lovely little pledge dances.

The Gamma Phi gave a divine dance, that is, heaven was the theme. A big bunch of angels left heaven temporarily to float gaily around the rooms of the chapter house, and a representation of the Golden City was erected in front of the fireplace.

Angelic Orchestra
Howard Chapman and all the lads looked awfully pious as they played, "When Did You Leave Heaven?" and they hadn't hidden their halos or lost their fuzzy wings. They bore such labels as "St. Chuck" and "St. Howard" so that they wouldn't be confused with St. Peter who recorded the applicants for entrance at the door.

The dance programs were "him" books in blue and gold, and bore such commandments as "thou shalt not step on my toes", etc. Patrons and patronesses were Dr. Evelyn Miller, dean of women and Mrs. E. L. Tate. Guests were Mrs. P. E. Wickes, E. J. Dillard, Mary Wickes, Spokane; Mr. G. C. Knight and Beth Knight, Caldwell.

Black and Silver
Spotlights shining on silver discs against a black background made a lovely setting for the Delta Delta Delta pledge dance Friday night. The Paris Knight's orchestra furnished the music. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyer and Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford.

Honoring their 13 pledges, Kappa Kappa Kamma had a superstition dance Saturday night. The walls were covered with black cut-outs of ladders, open umbrellas, cats, horseshoes and other symbols of superstition.

Dice and Puzzles
Dice walled-in Bert Woods and his orchestra, and on one wall was a huge crossword puzzle worked with pledges' names, in the center of which was a picture of a pledge pin. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Lenore Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Staples. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. William Robinson, Spokane; Margaret Charters and Dana Coleman, Whitman college; and Victoria Scott.

Operating on a new theory that pledge dance decorations are usually lousy anyway, according to campus opinion, the Kappa Sigs didn't have any for their dance Friday night. However, they did have an orchestra. It was Dick Baker's.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Twogood, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lyon, and Mr. and Mrs. James Kalbus. Lindley Informal
Lindley hall held an informal dance Saturday night, using Fall as the theme. A big harvest moon hung over Dick Baker's orchestra. Dance programs were cellophane on which was a silhouette of a tree. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Greene, Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Fulton G. Gale, and Dr. and Mrs. James Cooley.

W.A.A. Pledging Held Tuesday

Women's Athletic association members and those women who have made their 100 points and are ready to be pledged are to attend general meeting at the Women's gym Tuesday at 5 p.m. All new women who have just made their points must be present to be pledged into W.A.A. Experience isn't always the greatest virtue when it comes to competitive sports, as was shown last week when the freshmen women won the speedball tournament. Those on the team were Evelyn Williams, manager; Bernice Bacharach, Peggy Boyle, Minnie Falt, Ginger Galloway, Lucille Harrison, Betty Magel, Josephine McComb, Margaret Rodda, Mary Alice Spafford, and Idell Keyes. Substitutes were Dorothy Fairbrother and Ruth Balfour.

Cardinal Key Tea Sunday Afternoon

Upperclasswomen of the university were honored by Cardinal Key, service honorary for upperclasswomen, at a tea Sunday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at Hays hall. Gold candles and poms decorated the tables. Mrs. Gerald Whitney and Miss Frances Wheeler, charter members of Cardinal Key, and Mrs. William Boyer and Mrs. Hall Macklin, faculty wives, poured.

Piano numbers were presented by Miss Gertrude Gehrke and Miss Betty Mottern. Dr. Evelyn Miller, dean of women; Fay Pettijohn, president; and Ruth Haller, vice president of Cardinal Key, were in the receiving line and greeted about 75 upperclasswomen. The tea offered the opportunity for members of Cardinal Key to become better acquainted with the upperclasswomen, prior to pledging later in the month.

Active members of Cardinal Key are Fay Pettijohn, Ruth Haller, Elizabeth Coats, Doris McDermott, Jane Baker, Catherine Bjornstad, Edith Slatter, Erma Lewis, Dorothy Brown, Dorothy Rosevear, Gertrude Gehrke, Delsa Crowley, Marie Schneider, Ruth Evans, Esther Flenner and Julie Davis.

There will be dancing Tuesday evening at the L.D.S. institute. Couples will be admitted on the presentation of season tickets or 35 cents. Blaine Liljenquist, chairman of the committee, extends a hearty welcome to all couples on the campus.

St. Mary's Game Is Costly To Vandals; Four Players Seriously Injured As Result

Carberry, Green, Roise, and Smith Unable to Play Against Montana

Odds on the Montana-Idaho game at Missoula next Saturday shifted decidedly in favor of Montana Monday morning when Coach Ted Bank brought his Vandals home from the St. Mary's game at San Francisco last Saturday, which the Vandals lost 26-7.

The reason for the shift in odds from what had been predicted to be a nip-and-tuck game was the many crippled first-string men Coach Bank brought back. Four of them will be unable to play in the Montana game, and one of them, Kenneth Carberry, will be out of a suit the rest of the season, of which there remains three games to be played.

The other three players who were injured last Saturday were veteran Leon Green, end; Harold Roise, triple-threat halfback, who has consistently out-punted coast candidates for the all-American team; and Lyle Smith, center, who stars especially on defense.

LEON GREEN

Game Was Costly

"It was a costly game," the Vandal mentor said gloomily, and it certainly swings the odds in favor of Montana Saturday.

All four of the injured Idaho grid warriors were crippled early in the game, leaving the reserves to bear up as best they could under the mammoth Galloping Gaels. Roise played only three minutes before he hurt his knee, Smith stayed in the game for 12 minutes before he renewed an old shoulder injury.

Green and Carberry lasted out the quarter, but were injured soon after. Carberry dislocated a shoulder, similar to the way in which Earl Ritzheimer hurt his recently. The brilliant wingman, Green, hurt the knee over again which he first injured in the Nevada game.

Knapp Runs 75 Yards

"It wasn't a bad game at all until the last quarter," Mr. Bank said Monday, "but with so many reserves in, St. Mary's showed too much power for us. Six of my reserves each played more in that game than in the six previous games put together."

"We were behind only 14-7 until the fourth quarter, and but for a penalty, would have been even with them up until that point. One of our men was offside on a punting play, which gave St. Mary's a first down, and a touchdown soon after."

Coach Bank had nothing but praise to offer the playing of three of his reserves, George Thlessen at tackle, and "Tex" Harrell and Rolly Winter at ends.

Tony Knap, who has been a shining light at end all season, and who has been one of the "iron men" of the team, played another extraordinary game, even running a fumble he caught in mid-air 75 yards for a touchdown.

Knapp Evened Count

St. Mary's scored the first touchdown in the first quarter, making a march from the Idaho 43-yard line. Knapp evened the score at 7-7 in the second quarter.

The Gaels scored on line plunges soon after Knapp's dash, when a completed pass put them on the Idaho two-yard line. Their third touchdown came in a similar manner in the last quarter, followed by another soon after.

This was the first game the two schools have played since their 3-3 tie game in 1927. Only about 3000 fans turned out for the game.

Idaho Grads Will Rally At Utah-Idaho Game On Thanksgiving

Idaho graduates and former students in Ogden and nearby points in Utah are rallying around the Vandal banner tonight to dine, visit, form an Idaho alumni club, and promote plans for the Utah State-Idaho football game at Ogden on Thanksgiving day.

Letters were mailed from Ogden last week to Idaho alumni in northern Utah urging them to attend the informal dinner. Responsible for the letter was a self-appointed committee consisting of Ezra J. Fjeldsted, '15, secretary of the Ogden chamber of commerce; Clarence E. Favre, '14, presumably with the U. S. forest service; and Jack Sheehan, '29, Coca Cola salesman.

Mr. Fjeldsted wrote his friend, O. A. Fitzgerald, university editor, that the new alumni chapter, if formed, would sponsor a dance at Ogden the night before the game, featuring the Idaho Pep band's 13-piece dance orchestra. In the event that an alumni organization does not materialize, the self-appointed committee will carry forward the plans for the dance according to Fjeldsted.

Frosh To Meet Kittens Saturday Best Chance In Years To Win

With comparative scores giving them the best opportunity to win they have had in several years, the Vandal yearlings prepare to journey to Fullman Saturday to meet the W.S.C. freshman football squad.

Always the underdogs in previous years, this fall the Idaho frosh team ranks about even-up with the Cougar first-year men and has shown great improvement in their upset defeat of Lewiston normal two weeks ago. Both teams were defeated by Cheney: W.S.C., 19-7; Idaho, 13-7. Against Gonzaga, Idaho lost 9-6, and W.S.C. held them to a scoreless tie. Last year the state college freshmen beat the Vandal frosh 19 to 0.

Many Minor Injuries

The yearlings have suffered a number of injuries of a minor nature, none of which are expected to keep the players out of Saturday's game. Holden, guard, and Baer, halfback, have sprained ankles; Kamelevich, a hip injury; Johnson, a bad knee; and Spicuzza, halfback, a broken finger which will weaken the passing attack somewhat.

Most of this week's work has been offensive drill against a W.S.C. defense with little varsity scrimmage. Durham, halfback, who has been benched with an injured hand, and Mike Sullivan, a new halfback from San Francisco, will see action in Saturday's game.

The Dab is a species of flounder common on European coasts.

White violets grow on stalks four feet high in the Hawaiian islands.

O'Neil Awarded Gold Wrist Watch For Relay Win

A gold Waltham wrist watch with "West Coast Relays—Fresno 1936—Medley Relay" engraved on the back was received by Bill O'Neill, star Vandal distance runner, yesterday. It was his individual award for participating in the relay meet last summer as a member of the winning Olympic club team from San Francisco, which set a new world's record, 10:10, for the two and one-half-mile distance.

O'Neill says he hasn't opened the watch yet, but is sure it is a 17-jewel watch, with holes bored for several more.

O'Neill Makes Lead

Reports of the race tell how 440-yard man, Howard Upton, lost one year in the first leg; how Ben Eastman gave O'Neill a 7-yard lead in his 1:52 half; how O'Neill then gave Norman Bright a 30-yard lead over his three-quarter-mile leg, and how Bright, running the final mile, maintained the lead to run a 4:15 mile and come in one the last lap of a new world record for the event.

"O'Neill's time is amazingly good," said Coach Mike Ryan last summer when he heard of the feat. "The world record for the event has been 3:2 for 25 years. Bill came close to that."

Harry Wakefield, a sophomore in agriculture, has recovered from a serious case of pneumonia in the university infirmary.

P. E. NOTICE

All classes in P.E. 31 and 33 (swimming, tennis, and touch football), will meet on the gym floor either Friday at 8 p. m. or Saturday at 1 p. m., for nine weeks quizzes. Physical Education for Men.

Runners Travel To Walla Walla For 4 Mile Meet

With a recent victory over Montana under their belts, the Vandal cross country team leaves Wednesday morning for Walla Walla, where it will meet the Whitman cross country team in a four-mile race.

The race, according to Coach Mike Ryan, promises to be a close and thrilling one, because Whitman, substantially stronger this year, is determined to revenge the defeat handed them last year at MacLean field by the Vandals.

The men who will make the trip, along with Coach Mike Ryan and Manager Barker are: Cy Adkins, Don Klingler, Rex Fluharty, Pat Probst, Fred Millette, Freeman Snyder, Wes Lathen, Walt Kantola, "Stew" Neely, Melvin Butterfield, Jule Peacock, and Bob Vervaeke.

The race has been arranged so as to finish between halves of the Whitman-Linfield game to be held Armistice day at the Missionary stadium.

Entering the campus sick ward about a month ago during the recent epidemic of colds, Wakefield contracted pneumonia and for several days his chances of recovery were considered doubtful.

This has been the university's only serious case this year.

Idaho Wins Six of Seven Bouts From Multnomah's Squad

Distinguishing themselves as champions among champions, fighting Vandal boxers defeated the highly praised boxing champions of Portland's Multnomah club six bouts of seven Saturday night at Memorial gymnasium.

Fitzpatrick In Vicious Bout

In the wildest cheered event of the card, Idaho's Patsy Fitzpatrick, 126-pounder, took a three-round decision over Mike Saba in a fast, hard-hitting contest. Saba rushed Fitzpatrick from the first round, apparently trying for an early knockout, but the clever Vandal boxer repeatedly blocked Saba's most vicious attacks and in turn stunned his opponent with short, snapping blows.

The only knockdown came late in the first round when Fitzpatrick dropped Saba for a no-count. Saba, himself a ring-master, had Fitzpatrick groggy and bleeding momentarily in the second round.

Doone Gets Decision

In the main event, Jackie Doone decided Jack Bahlman in a bout marked for its in-fighting and clinching. Doone, the aggressor from the start, constantly bored in against the cautious Portland bantamweight, having his opponent groggy in the last of the second and third rounds.

Idaho's only loss came on Cliff Nelson's decision over Ralph Miller's defense, but absorbed hard blows from the Idaho veteran's counter attack. Stopping Miller in the first two rounds, Nelson was on the defensive in the third.

Jim Clabby, powerful, slugging Vandal freshman, was awarded a decision over Walt Barrow in a wild, hard-fought battle. Barrow, although a more orthodox fighter, nevertheless absorbed the major punishment, unable to stop Clabby's ceaseless slugging barrage. After the fight doctors discovered Barrow had several ribs broken.

Gessener-Healy Bout Good

One of the hardest fought bouts was that in which John Gessener punched a decision over red-headed Joe Healy. Gessener, continually boring in, floored Healy with an uppercut in the middle of the second round. A crowd pleaser from the first, the bout progressed into a "give and take" battle throughout the third round.

Joe Romane, Idaho 112-pounder, clearly held the upper hand against cautious Royal Twombly. Romane's failure to land a solid blow probably saved Twombly from a knockout.

Five Vandal boxers will participate in a smoker to be held in Craigmont next Friday night.

Few things that grow require all the care and cultivation it takes to raise the mild, ripe tobaccos in Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Chesterfield Wins

There is no higher standard of tobacco quality than the Chesterfield Standard.

Proper curing by the farmer gives flavor to Chesterfield tobaccos just as it does to fine hams and bacon.

Like fine wines, Chesterfield tobaccos are aged for two years or more to make them mellow and better-tasting.
