University Singers To Introduce Oratorio

"The Creation" Will Be Presented by Choral Group Sunday in Auditorium

"The Creation," under the direction of Archie N. Jones, head of the music department, will be given by the University Singers in the University auditorium, Sunday, December 6, at 8:15 p. m.

The choral group, consisting of 160 students, will not be assisted by the Moscow church choir as previously reported. Soloists are Wallace Garets, William Boyd, Robert Kircher, George Lyons, Clement O'Connor, Carl Tjerdens, Louise Paulson, Jeanne Siers, Golden Robertson, Betty Torgenson, and Frances Lewis.

Hall Macklin, assistant professor of music, will play the organ accompaniment for the climactic selection "The Heavens Are Telling."

The University Singers were organized this year, combining the A Cappella Choir with a mixed chorus to form one large group. "The Creation" is the biggest job the new group has attempted.

The orchestra has been working under the direction of Professor Carl Claus.

Professor Jones has made use of 11 soloists in order to give more students a chance to gain experience. The usual number is three. "The Creation" was given last summer by a chorus of 140 summer session students.

There will be no admission charge.

Problems involving both applied and fundamental sciences are being worked on by chemical engineering students and graduates.

Under the direction of Dr. L. C. Cady, Gerwin Taylor, '36, who is now associated with the research staff of the agricultural engineering department, is investigating the possibilities of producing higher alcohols from waste farm products. These higher alcohols form the initial materials for the production of a number of important commercial solvents.

Thermal Studies

A program of thermal studies which was started more than a year and a half ago is being worked on by Dr. H. P. Klug and his students. It is the application of thermal studies to molecular rotation in crystalline solids, and the dehydration of hydrates.

The researches on the absorption of gases on metals and various phases of the passivity of metal are being continued under the direction of Dr. W. H. Cone. This work constitutes a phase of the general problem of absorption and its relation to catalytic action.

IDAHO RHODES SCHOLAR GIVEN OXFORD HONOR

Rex Pontius, Idaho Rhodes scholar and graduate in physics, has been awarded the Scott scholarship in Physics at Oxford University. The scholarship was given by the Dr. Lee's Professor in Experimental Philosophy. Pontius returned to England last fall from his home in Lewiston, to take his fourth year of work, at the invitation of the Rhodes Scholarship Committee. He received his B. A. degree from Jesus College last summer, and is doing research work in cold temperature.

ASUI Cast Secures First Production Army Costumes

Powder Blue Uniforms and Trench Coats of Ankle-length; Used Also by the Northwestern University

Word was received late last evening from Haverhill, Mass., that Hooker & Howe, theatrical costumers, would be able to costume the ASUI production "Paths of Glory" December 11 and 12, with the same costumes that were used in the Broadway selection. This outstanding firm of theatrical costumers sent additional information that these costumes, which were used in the original Broadway production, were also used in the presentation of the play at Northwestern University.

"We are fortunate in securing these costumes for our 'Production of Paths of Glory,'" stated Jean Collette, play director, last night.

Problem Solved

The problem of assembling 30 authentic French army uniforms was becoming a serious problem. The powder-blue uniforms, complete with all the accessories, including the ankle-length trench coats, will be furnished by Hooker & Howe. Our good fortune in being able to use the original costumes will be a definite aid in producing a good show.

The costuming of the play requires 30 French army uniforms. Fifteen of these are worn by men having the rank of French officers. Others are provided for private use or enlisted men who wear also the unique steel trench helmets of the French army.

Machinery Secured From Navy Yards For Engineers

50 Horsepower Direct Current Motor and Generator to Replace Steam Engine in Department

A 50-horsepower direct current motor, a motor-generator arc welding set, and a pipe-threading machine were recently transferred to the Mechanical Engineering department of the University of Idaho by the U. S. Navy, from the Navy yards at Bremerton, Wash.

Prof. H. F. Gauss, in explaining the use to which the machines will be put, says:

"We are very fortunate in obtaining this machinery, especially the large motor, because we will use it with the large generator that we have to furnish power for the direct current, engine driven lathes, and cutters. The motor will replace the steam engine previously used for this purpose.

For Practical Use

The electric arc welding set will enable us to give students practical training in arc welding on a larger scale than before, and, as the cost of this machine alone is nearly $1,000, we were fortunate in having it given to us."

The pipe-threading machine, which takes pipe up to 4 inches in diameter, will also increase the scope of our work in pipe threading.

Wobbly Feet Venture Upon New Ice Arena As Coverage Grows

Ice skating becomes the vogue as cold weather makes it possible to use the new university skating rink constructed last summer and fall.

A plot approximately 75 yards long and 38 yards wide, adjoining the new tennis courts was set aside for this purpose. Dirt was scooped 16 inches high around the rink to insure reflooding whenever the ice becomes too rough or slushy.

Ready for Action

During the past week the lot has been flooded twice. The ice is now four inches deep. Though the rink is somewhat rough and barren in spots, a number of skaters have been visiting it regularly.

The higher temperature Wednesday and Thursday tended to make the ice slushy.

Spokane Scientist Explains Allergy To Sigma Xi

Why some people have hay fever and others do not was fully explained to Sigma Xi members Wednesday night at the Blue Bucket, when Dr. Robert Stier, of Hollister-Stier laboratories, Spokane, spoke on "Allergy, Its Practical Applications."

Allergy, Doctor Stier explained, is the condition found in a good many persons which causes them to be sensitive to "a particular thing, weed, pollen, or whatnot. Just why people are allergic to some things while others are not is still a mystery, explained Doctor Stier, but at least methods of treating it have been discovered.

Newest method is the oral treatment developed by Hollister-Stier laboratories, in which, after skin tests are taken to determine what particular object causes the trouble, an immunity is built up by taking increasingly larger doses of that same trouble-maker. Older method is that in which doses are administered hypodermically.

Several members of Pullman chapter of Sigma Xi, scientific honorary, were present. Mr. Virgil Cherrington is president of the local group.

Inter-Church Board Sponsors Program

Prof. C. W. Chenoweth Will Speak on "Christian Philosophy of Life"

The Inter-church council will sponsor an educational program at the meeting held Saturday at the L. D. S. Institute on Saturday from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. Afternoon discussion groups will be led by competent leaders; and after a 6 o'clock dinner, Prof. C. W. Chenoweth will speak on "The Christian Philosophy of Life."

It is believed by the leaders that by such cooperative association of the delegates of the different churches of Moscow, workable plans may be formulated to aid in local problems of the young people's groups.

The plan of discussion groups has been accepted as one of the best means to localize the many problems confronting churches. The groups Saturday will be: devotional, headed by Dr. Wayne Smith; missions, the Rev. Pemberton; organization, Prof. W. J. Wilde, membership, the Rev. Fairbanks; music, Dean J. G. Eldridge; social, the Rev. Swenson, and finance, Dean D. S. Jeffers.

The aims of the council are: to promote good will among the members, to give opportunity for interchanging of ideas, to assist in making each church's young people's group more stable, and to help each individual to meet the challenge of the church.

Operation On Arm Result of Fall

Lots Anderson, Student in English Department, Forced to Leave School Because of Injuries

Miss Lots Anderson, student of the University of Idaho, is recuperating from an operation on her left arm in St. Luke's hospital, Spokane. The operation took place last Saturday morning, November 28, with Doctor Greaves officiating.

The injury which made the operation necessary occurred almost six weeks ago when she fell accidentally on the steps of the Administration building.

Formerly a student of the University of Idaho southern branch, Miss Anderson entered here in the fall of this year as a junior in the English department. During her three years at the Southern Branch, she was active in dramatics and debate, ran "Elm Tree" literary column in the Bengal, and was secretary of the Associated Students Union for two years.

As a writer and poet she has won recognition. In 1933 she won an international peace medal for writing an essay on peace. The medal was offered by the F. I. D. A. C., an international women's organization for peace originating in Europe.

Until her operation she served as Secretary to Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the English department. As it will be three months or more before she will be able to use her hand, she does not intend to return to college this year but will be back next year.

Attend Senior Ball Formally Speaking In Soup and Fish

Besides Tenor Elvin Hampton's voice and Paul Ennis' nine-piece band the talent of Peggy Blomgren's dancing feet will be added to the Senior ball tomorrow night. The winter garden is all ready to move into the Blue Bucket hall, according to Winston Goss, general chairman, for the dance.

Feminine Forensics To Attend Meet In Walla Walla

Triangular Tournament, Annually Held Among Idaho, W.S.C. and Whitman, Will Begin Sunday

Four women debaters will leave Sunday for Walla Walla to attend the triangular tournament held annually among Idaho, W.S.C. and Whitman. Those making the trip are Gwendolyn Harrigan, Eleanor Butler, Annabel Wessell, and Josephine Hale.

Argue on Banking

Debaters will discuss whether or not the federal government should own and operate all banking institutions. The two teams will be in a total of eight debates. Prof. A. W. Whitehead, director of forensics, will accompany the teams.

Since this year marks the 100th debate on Monday afternoon between W.S.C. and Whitman, president E. O. Holland of W.S.C. will be present at Whitman to help celebrate this special event.

On the 12 of December, 12 Idaho men debaters will hold a triangular tournament, with the same schools at Pullman. They will discuss maximum hours and minimum wages in industry.

Yell King Plans Pep For Casaba Season; All Wind Needed

"There will be no organized cheering at the university court this season," says Yell King Most. "His reason for this postponement of organized cheering was that everyone will be too deep in studies until after vacation to secure full-house turnouts. He continued:

"But don't let that stop anyone from giving all his support to the team, starting at the first game with the Whitman Missionaries next Monday night."

Honorary Stunts

Moats has planned a peppy season at conference games. Different honorary and service organizations will present some stunt or form of entertainment between the halves of each home tilt.

"It's bound to be one of the best seasons the boys have had for a long time, and I hope it will be the best season yet for cheering."

Practice Scheduled For Rifle Team

R.O.T.C. Riflemen Begin Trials on December 1

The University of Idaho R.O.T.C. rifle team will begin practice December 1, 1936. Following is a schedule of firing each day of the week.

Mondays... 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.
Tuesdays... 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Others members of the R.O.T.C. in good standing who desire to try out for the team this year should consult the team coach, Capt. Lewis Norman, for a tryout.

Won Championship

Two years ago the Idaho rifle team won the national intercollegiate championship. This year in addition to other things, Idaho is attempting to obtain permanent possession of the trophy awarded the winning rifle team composed of Juniors who attend summer camp at Fort George Wright for advanced R.O.T.C. training. W.S.C., the University of Montana, and the University of Idaho have each won two legs on the trophy. The team from one of these schools, that wins this year obtains permanent possession of the trophy.

Last Tickets Sold at Bucket

The few tickets remaining will be sold today at 4 o'clock in the Blue Bucket. Programs will go with them, and ticket holders who bought early will get them, too. They will be a prize to hang on anyone's string of programs, with their cover made of mother of pearl celluloid and bearing the silhouette of a dancing couple.

Monarch of the Senior Rhapsody

In Black and White will be a tall dignified snow man in his best evening suit, who will stand at the far end of the hall and utter not a word all evening. Black fir trees will stand in each corner of the hall. Around its sides black lattice-work will be decorated with 600 silver ferns and dozens of large white chrysanthemums.

Come See the Flitter

Flitter? The snow man is made of it, and around the arch above and in front of Paul Ennis' band will be black pine branches contrasting with that sparkling substance called flitter.

Head of the receiving line, which forms at 8:45 o'clock, will be President and Mrs. M. G. Neale. Patrons and patronesses will include Dean and Mrs. T. S. Kerr, Dean and Mrs. J. F. Messenger, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Dean Evelyn Miller, Bert Larson, ASUI president, Esther Flenner, A.W.S. president, and Wilfred Fry, president of the senior class.

Holly Day Week Plans Completed By Committees

Awards Will Be Given for Decorations; May Change Dance Date

A five dollar award will be presented the group house which has the most attractive house decoration for Holly Day week, a group of sophomore committee heads decided at a meeting at the Kappa Sig house last night.

"Christmas will be the theme for the week," stated Jim Galloway, sophomore president, "and decorations will be judged on their cleverness and originality. Christmas offers a most comprehensive theme, and while expenses are limited to 10 dollars for any single house, we expect there will be many displays worthy of old Santa Claus himself."

The booking of a basketball game on the date originally selected for the annual Holly Day dance, December 18th, may necessitate a change in the sophomores' plans. Due to the absence of Dean Evelyn Miller, the calendar committee has been unable to act upon a proposed change of date from the 18th of December to the 17th.

"We sincerely hope the calendar will approve a change in the dance date," stated Gordon Radford, chairman of the dance committee, "for a basketball game on the same night would seriously effect the success of both functions."

Committees chosen for the dance include: General chairman—Roman Thune; assembly committee—Vincent Wells, Carl Burt, An LaRue, Helen Clough, and Jerry Ridgegway; Holly Sales committee—Marcella Geraghty, chair—Ardis Simpson, and Theodora Zilka.

Dance committee—Gordon Radford, Dick Darnell; publicity committee—Bob Daggett, and Larry Duffin, co-chairman; Helen Sullivan, Jimmy Yoder; ticket committee—Chuck Crowther and Howard Cluck.

The Demurrer

State of Dilemma,
County of Hades:

Grant Ambrose, Jule McFadden, Clayton Spear, and Al Torelle, duly incorporated under the firm name of Blackstone Flats, very much limited, complain, allege, and pray that in a recent publication of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho at Moscow, Idaho, to-wit, The IDAHO ARGONAUT, in the afternoon edition of Tuesday, December 1, 1936, appeared under the column name of, to-wit, SPY GLASS, the following mis-statement, to-wit: "Al Torelle moving into Bachelor Haven with Ambrose and McFadden."

The above designated complainants do hereby allege that the aforesaid printed matter is false, mis-stated, and incomplete for the following reasons, to-wit:

1. The colossal and right honorable Spear's name failed to appear in the aforesaid statement of printed matter, and he has thereby suffered great anguish, mental torture, and injustice.
2. The aforesaid statement of printed matter further failed to give recognition to our dearly departed brother, to-wit, the most cherished, loved, obeyed, and honored of brethren, Larry Baird, who has taken his flight from our fold in pursuit of compatible endeavors.
3. We further allege and complain that the aforesaid statement of printed matter casts the most heinous and unmitigated aspersions upon the dignity, integrity, and honor of the aforesaid incorporated firm of Blackstone Flats, very much Ltd., by using the sullied, scurilous, and scathing term of "Bachelor's Haven."

The above entitled complainants pray, for once, that the aforesaid statement or printed matter be corrected to include the aforesaid three causes of grievance. We further take this intrepid step in adducing the raucous animadversion of our omnipotent domicile in the most comituous of manner, in poignant and loquacious language, to make it the onus of the aforesaid column SPY GLASS, to correct the aforesaid mistakes.

Playwright Sidney Howard Explains "Paths of Glory" in Forward

Tragedy of War Play is Commonplace, Not Exaggeration

(Editor's note — The following consists of quoted excerpts from the foreword of "Paths of Glory" written by Playwright Sidney Howard and addressed to college theatres and all amateurs of military age.)
"Paths of Glory" is not a play about the French or their army. The fact that the novel is founded on the records of French court-martial is beside the point, nor is there anything special or exaggerated in this tragedy of three innocent men shot for the good of the army.

It was a commonplace of the first World War to send regiments back into the trenches for a punishment which might exterminate a thousand men. There can be no such thing as humane warfare. Once you have taken the initial step... you have assigned yourself to a goal of butchery and no principle other than the expedient can govern your actions. You have moved on from civilized justice and logic into the realm of military necessity, which "Paths of Glory" illustrates. "Armed are run by fear," Langlois says: "They have to be run."

No War Heroes

The play has to shoulder the disadvantages under which all anti-war opinions and agitations struggle. The cause of peace is of all causes the one most befouled by lip service.

Mussolini apart, there is scarcely a man living who will not agree with Sherman that war is hell. We admit war's horrors—we even revel in them because we love the easy excitement of war. We still think of war as a hero factory designed to supply our sculptors with subjects for monuments. Let us not be deluded about the road to world peace. It is stony and may well prove yet a thousand years long. All we can do is to put our billboards of protest.

This play was made to be another billboard. We saw in it something for which we have been waiting—namely, an indictment of war so direct as to exclude any possibility of confusion.

Played Without Scenery

I have implied my hope that you of the college theatres will produce this play. You will be able to do your work without scenery and there is no possible effective production for this play if the audience be kept waiting for settings to shift. You will see, if you study the text, that it is written in a steady statement and without accent at the endings of the scenes, that it must build continuously to its final curtain and I know what interruption does to it.

Furthermore, there is nothing here which requires scenery, nothing which could not be better done on a virtually bare stage with only light and sound, to set and direct the mood. That is, in general, the horrid truth about scenery—its day is done.

Sweet Hall's Contribution

That a university is intended primarily to teach culture and only incidentally how to make a living is a contention which has been held as long as the institutions have been in existence. Equally well established is the theory that gracious backgrounds make for gracious living. By supplying these, Willis Sweet hall justifies its existence as much as by supplying the additional living quarters needed.

Men living in fraternities have always, according to the consensus, had a greater advantage in the matter of surroundings than have sorority women over women living in the halls. Acceptance of the theory that action, taste, and personality are influenced by surrounding has thus contributed to the notion, naturally most prevalent among the Greeks themselves, of the superiority of Greeks.

A few of the larger, longer-established schools in the East have a body of tradition, a sort of heritage of culture, which molds student lives more than the students themselves are aware at the time. Here we must depend to a greater extent upon immediate surroundings, and these material surroundings assume far more importance.

The new dormitory, with its large rooms, sound-proof walls, and conveniences ranging from special lighting to combination desks and bookcases, may make for ideal study conditions, but equally important will be its contributions towards better living.—R. H.

The Movie-go-Round

Kenworthy

"The Case of the Black Cat" and "Hold That River"—Friday and Saturday.

"A Star For A Night" with Claire Trevor, Jane Darwell and Arline Judge—Sunday and Monday.

This is a sentimental drama of a blind German mother on a visit to her supposedly successful children in America. Very fine performances by Jane Darwell, Claire Trevor and Evelyn Venable.

Nuart

"Pennies From Heaven" with Bing Crosby, Edith Fellowes, Madge Evans and Donald Meek—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"Pennies from Heaven" is an example of that old adage in cinemaking: too many good ideas ruin a picture as nothing else will. You have Larry (Bing Crosby), a jailbird minstrel, in an elaborate routine involving a letter from a condemned man to Patsy Smith (Edith Fellowes) orphan of a murdered father. "Pennies from Heaven" are the currency with which Larry undertakes to support Patsy and her grandpa (Donald Meek).

One of the few good shots is when Larry is singing "So Do I" in a dim courtyard, while Patsy revolves around him in a grotesquely graceful, childish dance. From then on the screen writer dropped the "Pennies from Heaven" idea. He set his characters to making a haunted house into a night club, then switched to a carnival background, then to an orphan asylum. By that time enter Susan Sprague's (Madge Evans) efforts to put Patsy in the orphan home and the winning of the love of Larry.

Those other two songs—"One, Two—Button Your Shoe," and "Let's Call a Heart a Heart"—are beginning to suffer from the aforementioned trouble of too many good ideas.

However, if the name Louis Armstrong means anything—you'll be there in the front row to hear his band's rendition of "Skeleton in the Closet." It's the best yet.

To the editor of the Argonaut:

Without wishing to put themselves in the class of the now famous J.M. from southern California, there are some men on the campus who feel themselves to be better dancers than the beginners in the dancing school conducted by Dean Miller. This is in no sense a disparagement of those classes, for they are serving their purpose admirably.

We are wondering if there are not some women on the campus who feel as we do—that is, are able to dance but would like to learn some of the finer points of the art. It is felt that an "intermediate" class would not only be enjoyable and helpful to those who participate, but would be a pleasant way to widen friendships.

The matter of an instructor for such a group could easily be arranged, and if there is sufficient interest, the charges should be nominal.

Will all men or women who feel that they belong in such a group get in touch with the editor within a week? If there is not sufficient interest evident within a week, the project will be dropped, so let's get together.—R.S.

Editor's note: It sounds like a good idea. Drop your reactions to it in the Argonaut box in the Ad. building.

George Oram cruising around the campus in a wrecker instead of his wreck. . . Bill Boyd and Max Kenworthy munching cones whilst snow flakes flew (few and far between, but snow nonetheless). . . Johnny Moats grinning like a Cheshire cat. Reason: Jeanne Siers accepted his pin. . . Bob Wykoff and Gerald Dellinger looking very hell-weekish. . . REQUEST BLANKS BE HANDED IN

Presidents of all honorary service and club organizations on the campus who have not filled out questionnaire blanks, are asked by Argonaut editors to do so immediately.

Questionnaires will be found on the registrar's bulletin board in the main entrance of the Ad. building. After filling the blanks, drop them in the Argonaut box in the main hall of the Ad. building.

By filling out these papers, groups will be given better news coverage by the Argonaut which previously hasn't had enough information concerning aims and projects of the organizations.

OCCASIONALLY a telephone wire must be run under a rug or carpet. The twisted wire formerly used made an unsightly ridge.

So Western Electric—manufacturing, distributing and purchasing unit of the Bell System—produces a flat cord only one-eighth inch thick, seven-eighths of an inch wide. (Like this ) Within this tiny space are four conductors of insulated wire. Under the rug or carpet this cord is not seen, not even felt with bare feet.

Even to the smallest detail, the Bell System is constantly on the lookout for the better way to make telephone service more satisfactory to the customer.

Grab A Secret Sorrow, Girls, And Trip To The Annual Co-ed Prom Tonight

By Countess Serpentskatch
Come on over tonight, all you little girls, and help us send another one of those stuffy traditions by the boards. The whole idea in a nutshell is that we girls of the Home Economics club have decided that the Co-ed prom wouldn't be a prom without having those worse halves around. After all, we can spend enough of our time laughing at them at home, and they are so nice to have around at the dances—so if you give that earthly choice, "Our president," Rose Bromley, says not to let any of those men beg off because they haven't a thing to wear.

"They can wear any old thing they desire," says Prexy, "even the dirty old cords they wear to school."

Right About Face
If you don't like the face your date has," said Chairman Ann Brands, "tear one of the masks off the wall. We're going to be using them for decorations, and you should be able to find a face to suit your taste."

"Come on along, girls," said Mary Sullivan. "We all should have one swell time. Just think, we don't have to dress up and the fellows can't kick, because we do the paying. I'm sure all the girls that don't go are going to wish they had Saturday morning."

The dance, as everybody knows, is sponsored by the Home Economics club. The proceeds are to be used to finance the club's program on the campus. The two main points of this program are a charity program and a scholarship fund.

Paul Ennis and his seven-piece orchestra are going to furnish the rhythmic accompaniment for the wrestling. The tickets are to be sold at the door for "six bits" a couple and the females are to stand the gaff for the whole evening's merrymaking. Give the boys a chance to soak the women, girls, and get a date.

PACK YOUR VALISE TO GRAB SPECIAL

Everything's Still There
Coaches, sleepers, diners, and an observation car will make up the train. Berths may be reserved at the Union Pacific station any time now.

The special leaves Pocatello at 1:15 p. m. Saturday, January 2, to begin the return trip.

FLOTATION RESULTS FIRST PUBLISHED

Significant results of a study on flotations of gold ores conducted last year by the Idaho school of mines were published for the first time in the November issue of the Engineering and Mining Journal, leading technical magazines in this field.

"Pulp Density as a Factor in Flotation of Gold Ores" is the title of the article. The report represents the combined research work and conclusions of three authors: Prof. A. W. Fahrrenwald, dean of the school of mines; Joseph Newton, assistant professor of metallurgy, and P. L. McManus, research fellow in metallurgy last year.

Co-ed Prom To Feature Masks As Main Theme of Decorations

Grotesque masks will decorate the walls of the Blue Bucket for the annual Co-ed Prom, which starts tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Masks will also conceal the features of the dancers until after intermission when "masks off" will be announced. To avoid the confusion of changing dances, the first part of the evening will be spent in square dance, Virginia reels and other group dances.

A short program will be given before intermission, and prizes will be presented for the costumes judged the most outstanding.

Men are to be the guests tonight. This prom is the very first to which men have been asked.

Patronesses for the dance are Dr. Evelyn Miller, Miss Elsie Maxwell, Miss Adah Lewis, Miss R. M. Smith, Mr. T. J. Pritchard, Dean and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek, and Miss Marion Featherstone.

Varsity Meets Frosh At 4 P. M.; Meets Whitman Monday Night

The Vandal varsity hoopers will get their first taste of actual competition before the public at 4 o'clock this afternoon when they meet the freshmen squad. The game is open to everyone, free of charge.

The varsity squad is expected to get the acid-test from the freshmen, several of which are showing enough ability in nightly scrimmage with the varsity, to be able to make the varsity themselves.

"The first year men are plenty tough," Forrest Twogood, varsity coach, said Thursday. "They are good enough to hold their own with most any team around."

Play Whitman Monday
The varsity-frosh scrimmage will be a warm-up for the Idaho-Whitman game at Memorial gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night. The Missionaries have been league champions for three successive years, and are headed that way again. The game Monday should show pretty well the future of each team.

The starting men for the Missionary game will be picked from 10 men that Coach Twogood has in mind. Bill Kramer, Donald Johnson, Keith Jacobs, and Gerald Dellinger will fight it out for the guard positions the next few nights.

At center Bill Bohman, Ronald Martin, and Woody Hall are the three from which a starter will be picked. Only three men are possible choices for the starting assignment at forward—Kenny Robertson, Elmer Eddington, and Lee Peterson.

Football Men Still Crippled
The Vandal coach had counted greatly on the football team bolstering his squad for the early pre-season games, but so far football injuries have kept them out. The men—Lyle Smith, Steve Belko, Roll and Winter, and Gerald Dellinger—have been working out lightly, but only Dellinger is at all in fit condition to stand the grind.

"What little work these men have done," Mr. Twogood said, shows that they will add to the strength later on. If the starters get a sufficient lead against Whitman by any chance, which is very doubtful, I'm planning on using Belko, Smith, and Dellinger for a few minutes to get them accustomed to our new system of play in game competition."

Players Lack Zip
Coach Twogood was rather gloomy over the showing of his players Thursday, not so much because of size or ability as the mental makeup of most of them now available.

"I am not at all satisfied with them," he said. "I believe they have fair ability, and although they are lacking in size, their biggest handicap is lack of drive and determination."

"There are only two that really have the zip and pep it takes, and those two are making the grade on that attribute."

Idaho Pugs Face Stiff Schedule This Year

Thirteen major engagements against some of the best college and other amateur fighters in the United States is the ambitious schedule Coach Louie August has lined up for the University of Idaho boxing team this season.

Idaho boxers will be entered in the national and Pacific coast intercollegiate championship bouts at Sacramento; the Golden Gloves tournament at Seattle; Diamond Belt matches at Portland; and nine full-team home-guards, eight of them against top-notch college teams.

Two of the dates already have been filled. Multnomah club of Portland on November 7, and the University of North Dakota on November 21. Both of these home cards were sweeping victories for the Vandals.

Schedule
Remaining dates on the schedule follow:

- December 7 and 8—Golden Gloves tournament, Seattle
- December 12—Washington State at Moscow
- January 11 to 13—Diamond Belt matches, Portland
- January 18—University of San Francisco at Moscow
- February 28—Washington State college at Pullman
- March 3 to 5—Pacific coast intercollegiate championships, Sacramento, Calif.
- March 12—University of California, Moscow
- March 22—San Jose State college at Moscow
- March 26—University of North Dakota at Moscow
- April 6 and 7—National intercollegiate championships, Sacramento, Calif.
- April 22—University of Wisconsin at Moscow

Pitt Gets The Bid
The sporting public expected Alabama to be chosen; most football enthusiasts hoped Louisiana would get the bid; Ray Eckman, graduate manager of Washington, in charge of picking the Rose Bowl opponent for the Huskies, said "very interesting" to a score of possibilities offered; and the Huskies voted among themselves for Pittsburg, but nobody thought they would get their way.

But so they did! Eckman turned the fables on me, perhaps you, and most everybody else. Pittsburg's acceptance telegram was made public property late Thursday and the Panthers will attempt to win their first Tournament of Roses victory on what will be their fourth attempt next New Year's Day.

Defeated Thrice
Stanford was one kick better than Pitt in 1928 in that memorable 7-6 defensive battle. Southern California dug 'em to their toes in 1930, 47-14, and goose-egged them to the tune of 35-0 three years later.

Though Eckman had every one in the air with "most interesting," very interesting" and "it sounds interesting" whenever a new team was mentioned, it is doubtful if the last week's mystery could have worked out to make a better classic for January 1. The Panthers are third in the final national ranking poll released Monday, two notches higher up the ladder than the Huskies.

Took 'Em Tough
They have two little red marks against them in what was probably as tough a schedule as any team has had to face this year. These marks and a 0-0 tie with Fordham and the goose-egg of the 7-0 score with Duquesne. On the other hand they walked over Nebraska, ninth ranking team, 19-0; smothered Notre Dame, conqueror of several top teams in up sets this year, 26-0; and took other tough teams like Ohio and Carnegie Tech in their stride.

While Louisiana State placed second to Minnesota in the poll, and Alabama lit in fourth place when Pitt shoved them out of third, neither team had anywhere near the tough schedule the Panthers clawed their way through. Texas tied Louisiana, and the Crimson Tide were scared badly by Vanderbilt Thanksgiving day.

NOTICE
All candidates for varsity and freshman fencing teams are to appear Saturday, 1:30 p. m. in the fencing room Memorial gym prepared for practice.—Arthur Peterson.

Fraser Will Referee W.S.C. Fight Card Here Next Saturday

Don Fraser, former Pacific coast welterweight champion now an automobile salesman in Spokane, will referee the Idaho-W.S.C. fight card here December 12, Coach Louie August announced today.

Fraser also will act as the third judge. The other two will be Capt. Charles Mabbutt, Spokane, Olympic games boxing and wrestling official, and Alec MacDonald, Pof-latch, Washington State requested this arrangement, which was accepted as satisfactory by Coach August.

All eight bouts will be three two-minute rounds to a decision. Under intercollegiate rules, there can be no draws. Points are counted for making a man miss as well as for hitting him. Other factors also are considered, an important one being aggressiveness.

Earthquake Test To Be Installed

The officials of the United States Coast and Geodetic survey have recommended that a seismographic station be established at the University of Idaho. A recent letter from the director of the Survey states that a teleseismic instrument, which is an instrument used to study earthquake phenomena, is to be loaned to the University. The instrument will be placed in temporary operation at Washington, D. C., for a period of two months, after which it will be shipped to the University of Idaho for installation. The instrument, when it arrives, will be placed in the basement of the Engineering building.

Sundberg To Lead Idaho Boxers

Captain of the Idaho boxing team for the coming bouts with W.S.C. without a single intercollegiate fight to his credit, is Ross Sundberg, ground-gaining fullback who ended his football career a week ago.

Sundberg, a heavyweight, is the only senior on the boxing squad. His selection to the captaincy was therefore automatic. He will make his intercollegiate ring debut here a week from tomorrow on the Idaho-W.S.C. card. His opponent will be a tackle on the W.S.C. football squad, Bert Menig.

Fight fans on the campus need not fear for Sundberg. He did some boxing under Coach Louie August during his freshman year, a little in high school, and some at national guard camps.

Fought Ritzheimer
Highlight of his fist career was the intramural bout he had with Earl Ritzheimer. Fans expected the two friends on the frosh football team to spar around and stall. Instead, they put on a bout that was a honey. Both men hit the canvas for counts several times, but Sundberg finally got the decision.

The two bunged each other up more than somewhat. In fact, that is why both quit fighting. Leo Calland, then football coach, wouldn't have his players getting crippled up like that, so he gave orders against any of his footballers doing any more boxing.

NOTICE
ALL intramural volleyball games scheduled for December 7 will be played Tuesday night, December 8 instead.

Sports Day To Be December 12th

W. A. A. is sponsoring a Sports day December 12. Lewiston Normal and W. S. C. are to be invited. A free lunch will be given. Sixteen girls will participate, and any girl wishing to enter may sign on the W. A. A. board in the administration building. Activities will be held in the Women's gym. The general W. A. A. meeting has been postponed until December 15.

Billye Jane Austin
Committees which have been appointed for Sports day are as follows: entertainment—Billye Jane Austin, Doris Franson, Jean Carlson, Ardis Simpson; food—Georgina Howorth, Lorraine Goodman, Helen Abbot, Josephine McComb; program—Ruth Evans, Ada Marela Hoebel, Margaret Swayne; equipment—Pauline Brush, Ruth Woodward, Margaret Rodda, Bernice Bacharach, Evelyn Williams; clean-up or rearrangement—Georgia Christenson, Minnie Falt, Peggy Boyle, Idelle Keyes, Lucille Harrison; registration—Margaret Davis, Neva Hoffman, Sarah Walker, Betty Magel, Helen Ann Sutton, Helen Sullivan; officials—management class.

In contrast to the intramural cross-country program, volleyball has many supporters out cheering for their teams. So far, there have been no forfeitures, compared with a high percentage in cross-country and touchball.

Games scheduled for next Monday will be played on Tuesday night instead, because of the Idaho-Whitman basketball game in Memorial gymnasium.

Fellowship Offered To Combat Spread Of "Near-Wilt"

To help sidetrack the menace of "near-wilt," a comparatively new but threatening pea disease, the Crites-Moscow Growers' association has set up a $300 fellowship for graduate study in the department of plant pathology of the University of Idaho college of agriculture.

This grant was accepted by the university's board of regents at the Homecoming meeting. A graduate student, yet to be designated, will tackle the problem under the direction of Dr. W. H. Pierce, associate plant pathologist on the experiment station staff.

Reports indicate that the disease is widely distributed throughout the pea-growing sections of the Middle West and East. It is of primary concern to the growers of canning peas, as near-wilt seriously affects the quality of the pack.

"As in combating other types of diseases caused by soil-inhabiting fungi, the chief means of control lies in the developing new ones resistant to the disease."

Another Idahoan, Walter Virgin, a college of agriculture graduate in the class of 1935, is studying the near-wilt disease. He is doing his work under a graduate fellowship at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Five Vandals Given Honorable Mention On All-Coast Team

Five Idaho players received honorable mention yesterday on the Associated Press annual all-coast football team, three of them seniors. They were Stonko Pavkov, tackle; John Cooper, guard; Kenneth Carberry, guard; Clarence Devlin, halfback, and Ross Sundberg, fullback. Of these the seniors are Cooper, Devlin, and Sundberg.

Features of the choices for a first, second, and third team were the choice of George Karamatic, Gonzaga, for the fullback post; the pick of Dick Weisgerber, Willamette university, as the third team fullback; the choice of four Washington men to the first team; that Santa Clara, only major unbeaten and untied team in the nation, landed only one man, Bassi, guard; that Ed Goddard, W. S. C. quarterback, doubled the votes of his nearest competitor, was chosen to the first team, and earned the honor of backfield captain; and the recognizing of Halfback Milton Popovitch, Montana, as a second team halfback.

Janitor is Master Of Four Tongues

Chris Peterson Believes German Easier than Danish, Swedish or English

Speaker of four languages, Chris Peterson, janitor in the chemistry department since 1918, believes the German language is the easiest to learn. Danish, Swedish, and English are the other tongues which Mr. Petersen can speak.

Born in Copenhagen, Denmark, Mr. Petersen lived near enough to Norway and Sweden to learn these two Scandinavian languages. From 1901 to 1904, Mr. Peterson lived in Hamburg, Germany and learned to speak German. In 1914 he came to the United States and in 1915 settled in Moscow where his few chances to speak foreign tongues are with foreign language students.

In Denmark, Mr. Petersen followed the brick and mason trade. Although Mr. Petersen likes all the countries in which he has lived equally well, he prefers to stay in the United States rather than go back to the continent.

Nine Mittmen Leave Sunday For Golden Gloves Tourney

Nine men, most of them freshmen ineligible for intercollegiate competition, will uphold Idaho's boxing reputation at the annual Golden Gloves A. A. U. tournament at Seattle Monday and Tuesday.

Because the Seattle matches come too close to Idaho's date with W.S.C. here a week from tomorrow, Coach Louie August will take only one of the regulars matched for bouts with W.S.C. The exception will be Rolly Shumway.

Last year two Idaho men came back with Golden Gloves titles from the Seattle tournament: Luke Purcell, 125, and Louie Denton, 145. George Riddle, 126, was a runner up.

Five Freshmen Go
Coach August said last night that he probably would take the following men to Seattle: Ralph Miller, 112; Jackie Doone, 118;

Aaron Blewett and Patsy Fitzpatrick, 126; Julian Benoit, 135; Johnny Gessner and Frank O'Brien, 145; Rolly Shumway, 160; Jim Clabby, 175; and Bill Morrow, heavyweight.

Doone, Benoit, Gessner, O'Brien and Clabby are freshmen. Fitzpatrick, finishing up a subject of two at the Moscow high school this fall, will register in February.

Miller, Blewett, and Morrow are the only veterans among the men tentatively named for the Seattle trip. Morrow has used up his intercollegiate ability, but he still can fight in A.A.U. matches.

The college humor magazine's spring issue printed results of a questionnaire circulated by Editor Hazel McBride of Phoenix, Ariz. It revealed also that the men:

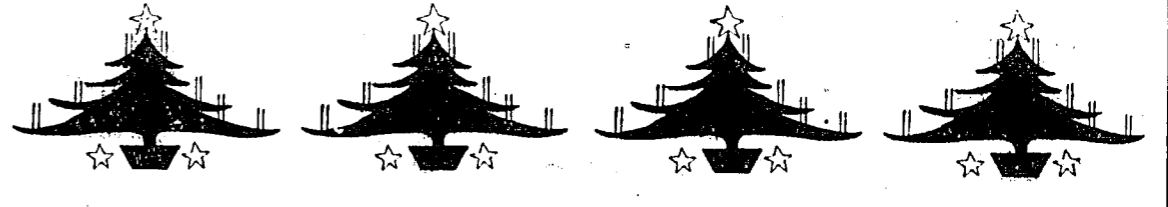

"So that's what you buy with your TWENTY GRAND savings."

WE CERTIFY that we have inspected the Turkish and Domestic Tobaccos blended in TWENTY GRAND cigarettes and find them as fine in smoking quality as those used in cigarettes costing as much as 50% more.
