Oh, What a Big Crowd We Had at May time!

The Queen's Hair Glistened Like Spun Gold in the Sun; Spurs Fantastically Tripped the May Pole; Tap-Tap

Attended by a galaxy of chivalry and beauty which would have done honor to the proudest capitals of Europe, the May Fete was presented Saturday as a thrilling part of Mothers' Weekend. This was the 28th annual festival.

The scene was one of unrivalled splendor. Three honoraries pledged, a May pole dance was performed by a talented group of young ladies, and—oh, my beating heart!—Nellie Baker was crowned May Queen!

Evermore to be members of the campus' proudest female group, Nellie Haasch, Nellie McFall, Nellie McKinley, Nellie Paulson, Nellie Walden, and Nellie Gehrke were pledged to Mortar Board.

In their hearts, if no longer on their breasts, the flaming symbol of their organization, Archibald Ennis, Archibald McFarland, Archibald Maclear, Archibald Baker, Archibald Hokanson, Archibald Fitzgerald, and Archibald Banks were pledged to Silver Lance.

Pinning flashing scarlet and golden ribbons on seven agitated young ladies, Cardinal Key pledged Nellie Dawson, Nellie Glenn, Nellie Kostalek, Nellie Mattes, Nellie Murtha, Nellie Moore, and Nellie Wetzel.

Aroused from the sleep of innocence in the early golden dawn, these lassies were condemned to wear silver spurs on their ankles for several days to show their membership in a national honorary for sophomore women; Nellie Knuckles, Nellie Thomas, Nellie McFarland, Nellie Moffat, Nellie Wegner, Nellie Cunningham, Nellie Kerr, Nellie Zachow, Nellie Marcus, Nellie Taggart, Nellie Gridley, Nellie Holt, Nellie Leighton, Nellie Hill, Nellie Allison, Nellie Hon, Nellie Tweedy, Nellie Peterson, Nellie Williams, and Nellie Ingersoll.

awarded a golden cup, rising from a brown base like a pure, sweet lily, as a token of the esteem and affection of the Women's Athletic association.

Members of the party of the Queen, a gorgeous blonde creature clad in a flowing white gown, black cape, and satin train, were Nellie Davis, a page whose crown of red-gold hair was set off by a black and white costume of briefly starting to a few, and Nellie Blackman, maid of honor. This young lady wore a pink lace gown and white picture hat, and 'twas she who placed the wreath of lilies of the valley on the fair white brow of the queen.

A group of pure and innocent children, Nellie Lorrain, Nellie Magnusen, Nellie Janssen, and Nellie Fitzgerald, were flower girls.

The stirring music of the Pep Band accompanied the processional and recessional.

FIGURES WERE INITIATED INTO the mining honorary, Sigma Gamma Epsilon on Thursday. The Archibalds taken in were Mibelich, Merke, Vervaeke, Poole, Neff, Wood, Pennington, and McAllister. After an enjoyable initiation, the entire group repaired to the Moscow hotel where all partook of a goodly dinner. Prof. Archie Hull spoke to the mining engineers and told them of the trials and tribulations of the big outside world which they would encounter upon their big venture to make good.

Faculty members at the dinner were Dean Archie Fahrwald, Mr. Archibald Staley, and Mr. Arch Sheid—archly speaking. Election of officers was held. Bob Archibald Anderson was chosen president of the praiseworthy group, and indeed, has warranted this honor by his blameless and honorable record. Archie Preston was chosen by his fellow associates to be vice president. Archibald Page will hold the glorious position of secretary-treasurer, while Archie Lincoln will guard the Sigma Gam records at historian. And now, ladies and gentlemen, this is the best patent medicine on the market today in the entire United States, nay, world.... It cures all, kills all, puts all under by its influence.... Only 10 single pennies, one single dime, a tenth of a dollar for this cure of all ills, step right this way....

Record Come Tonite

Is Predicted for The Press Club Ball Tuesday Night, As An Attendance Over Any

dance in history is expected. The $250 guarantee for the Griff Williams orchestra is already posted and everyone is looking forward anxiously and eagerly for the big night to arrive.

The dance is informal and tickets have been sold to the public as well as to university students. Next day is campus day, a holiday, another reason why the dance should be exceptionally popular with the students.

Two grand pianos are required by Griff Williams, that virtuoso of the popular swing time tunes, and fine musical arrangements are played by him as featured soloist. This promises to be THE event of the year. Jack McKinney is ticket chairman.

Women will be given 12:30 o'clock permissions.

Golden Voices

Blended in a Rhapsody of Song Sunday When, unrivaled beauty in the university auditorium, the University Singers presented "The Erl King's Daughter", a melodious climax to Mothers' Week-end.

The cantata is based on a Danish folk legend.

The charming and romantic voices of Nellie Paulsen, Nellie Quist, and Archibald Kircher were heard for the solo selections.

Soul-stirring strains from the university orchestra accompanied them.

The presentation was cheered to the echo.

fronts will not gleam at this year's Pope oratorical contest, following a decision on the contestants to appear in less formal attire. Slated for 7:30 Thursday, the contest will be held in the chapel of L. D. S. Institute.

Senator James P. Pope, sponsor of the contest, has contributed this year, as last, fifty dollars to be divided among the three contestants placing highest. Speeches will be 10 minutes long, will be original.

Those entering the contest are as follows: Roy Stark, Joe Carr, Clifford Dobler, Robert Stephen, Melvin Butterfield, Ira Jacobsen, and Victor Skiles.

A sensible girl is not so sensible as she looks because a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible.

A BANQUET AT THE BLUE BUCKET, THE

inimitable Doctor Graue, economics head, as toastmaster, honorary organizations of the school of business administration, Alpha Kappa Psi and Phi Chi Theta, will present P. W. McEntee, Spokane, as feature speaker.

The program will include that charming trio of feminine loveliness, Ludeen Waldram, Ann Larue, and Clara Young; a tap dance by the versatile Lucille Collins and an accordion solo by the well-liked entertainer, Chuck Collins. A surprise feature is also promised for the evening.

The sale of tickets under the able management of Betty Obermeyer and Tom Painter has been very successful and Mr. Painter says the organization is expecting around 150 present.

Closing With

A Roundtable Discussion of New Type Dress For Newspapers, Streamline Typographers, and Latest

advertising methods, Sigma Delta, recently organized Journalism honorary, saw their first banquet pass into history Sunday evening. Nearly 50 members and guests feasted bounteously at the Blue Bucket inn, and listened with deep attention to introductions by the suave and talented president, Phil Haring, to a masterly presentation of the problems of publicity work by Louis A. Boas, managing editor of the Star-Mirror, and an enlightening and entertaining explanation of the journalism curriculum as presented at the university by Elmer F. Beth, assistant professor of journalism.

Guests who graciously responded to the invitation extended them by Sigma Delta by being present at the banquet were: O. A. Fitzgerald, Perry Culp, W. C. Abbott, Tom McCall, Porter Ward, John Montgomery, Bob Moore, Eugene Burns, W. T. Marneau, scheduled for an address on the relations of the small town editor to his public was unfortunately called out of town. Cecil Hagen and W. A. Greene were also unable to attend.

Besides the prominent town journalists, men students in the elements class and a number of freshmen interested in journalism were guests.

In dealing with the publicity work, Mr. Boas, who worked in the publicity department of Westinghouse Electrical company at Pittsburgh, Pa., following his graduation from the University of Idaho, said that for the student interested in news and the literary angle, publicity work had a deadening tendency. The work, he said, is so organized and carefully classified that only one small section of the subject is handled by each employee, and the work soon becomes very routine.

The curriculum for the journalism department, said Mr. Beth, was arranged by E. F. Mason, first head of the journalism department, to meet the requirements of the American association of schools and departments of journalism for professional instruction in journalism. The courses as now given are fundamentally the same, the only changes made have been in emphasis on certain phases of the work. The only change needed at present is the incorporation of the new developments in the newspaper field into the courses now offered.

Mr. Haring told of the interest and enthusiasm engendered during the winter by various "bull fests" at which problems of current interest to the journalistic profession were discussed, and expressed his fond hope that the new men's honorary would encourage and promulgate more of these occasions.

Miss Marie and Miss Jean, associate editor, have been making plans, and they expect this last issue of the Azure Fall to be a climax to the year's efforts.

song, and young voices thrill with emotion when it rises sweetly. "Silver and Gold in the Sunlight Blaze!" That will be the theme of the Gem of the Mountains, soon to be in the hands of Idaho students, who will again be thrilled with emotion.

"Your face is like a book," said the Bard, but this book will contain many views of the human physiognomy. In fact, so many, both posed and taken by the candid kodak, will appear, that this year's Jewel of the Hills will be much larger than usual.

Odd views of the campus and university personalities promised by the amateur photography staff of young gentlemen and ladies. Dean emeritus Permeal J. French, ex-president M. G. Neale, and Lt. Col. Allen Fletcher will be honored by dedications.

Glen Whiteasel, newly selected pep band leader, will lead for the first time at the frosh assembly Thursday, May 13, as the former leader Jim McFarland fades to the background with a trombone to his lips. This event will be the first time a pep band leader has made a public appearance the same semester that he was appointed.

Whiteasel has played the drum for three years in famous Idaho pep band, and has been outstanding as a swing drummer. He has also won recognition as a musician in Spokane, his home town.

All His Glory Could Not Outshine the Class of 1937

as it will appear at commencement June 14. A possible total of 478—think of it!—men and females may receive the cherished sheepskin on this long-looked-forward-to day.

A new all-time record will be set by the number, which will exceed the total for the first 21 years in the university's history. If our forefathers could see us now!

Applications on file for bachelor's degrees now total 398—count 'em—398—and for master's 80.

Ah, the Glory and grandeur of that ceremony, which will take place a week later than usual! Ah, the hopes that will stir in young bosoms! Ah, the sadness of leaving college forever! Ah, nuts!

Dr. Albert William Beaven, who was born in this very city of Moscow, but unfortunately 12 years before the university flung open its portals, will be the commencement speaker. This talented man is president of Colgate-Rochester divinity school, situated in the lovely community of Rochester, N. Y.

Commencement will be preceded by two heavenly days furnishing a constant round of entertainment.

Saturday, June 12, will be alumni day. A luncheon business meeting and the annual banquet will appeal to the gourmand and gourmet alike. The infirmary and Willis Sweet hall will be dedicated then.

Baccalaureate services will take place on the Sabbath. Dr. William Henry Boddy, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon.

Tragedy Was

Melodramatized at the U Hut Last Night in The Charming, Though Sad Production

"Tuberoses," directed by the able personality, Nellie Clifford. Amid the flourishing of handkerchiefs wiping away the tears of sorrow, the inspired cast ably enacted the drama concerning efforts of two related sisters to provide for the third sister, really a genius. The errors resulted in a chain of one of them! The suspense was tremendous.

Nellie Shields emoted tragically in the part of Della Muir, and the attractive Nellie Rand portrayed Francine Holt. Nellie Hillman reflected the weak sister, Jessica Muir, and the popular Nellie Magee had the audience in the aisles with her abunty. Sniff, sniff, father, on father, come home with me now!

spirit and performance was the other one-act play—a "Triangle" farce, stated Archibald Souers, the able teacher. Nellie Cuddy directed the future stars of burlesque in the play dealing with an artist and his wife's success in breaking up one of his innumerable situations. Tak, tak—the blackguard! Nellie Abbott, Archie Clark, Nellie McLean completed the cast in the witty, racy out of drama.

One-act plays are acted by members in the elementary play production class and directed by a member in the advanced class. They serve to give these dear young people experience (alas, the only true teacher in life) in a variety of different diversity of types of plays. About two more of these entertaining plays will be produced this semester, remarked Archibald Solters, genial leader.

Mr. Haller is the second assistant in the department of chemistry to receive an award from Northwestern in recent years. Charles E. Moser, who received his M. S. in chemistry at Idaho two years ago, is reported to be doing exceptional work and is expected to receive his Ph. D. degree in a somewhat shorter period than that usually required.

Organized Since

1932, Theta Sigma, local journalism honorary for women professionally interested in journalism, has organized a series of activities for each year. These include a high school mimeographed and printed newspaper contest for schools in the state, a breakfast for all women working on the Argonaut, Matrix table, at which pledges are announced, and the editing of the Theta Sigma Argonaut. This year Theta Sigma started the first in a series of alum letters reporting the activities of all journalism alums.

Theta Sigma endeavors to interest high school students and university women in journalism fields, and to develop common interests among these women and journalism majors.

In this Theta Sigma Argonaut we have built our theme around the elaborate style of writing used during the 1890's. We have enjoyed publishing this edition, and hope you enjoy reading it.—I.F.

SAFETY and SANITY By Hie Ring

Since gentlemen have deemed it proper to appear in public places with male escorts, unchaperoned, we of the Bustle Rustles staff have been forced to realize, loathe as we are to do it, that the young man of today has deteriorated markedly in his respectful and chivalrous attentions to his lady fair.

Is this unspeakable laxity national, or is it our own local problem? However widespread it may be, the women of Idaho should not be made to suffer because of the ignorance, or shall we say, carelessness, of modern youths.

The following rules must surely be strictly followed:

It is suggestive of parsimony for a young gentleman to count up the items on the restaurant check. Refrain from doing it.

A husband, wife, mother, son, or a brother and sister may walk together arm in arm in the country; but even in the country, and notwithstanding the fact that he is met, and all dressed in his best store clothes, does a gentleman take a lady's arm, or shove her along by her elbow. To an old lady or an invalid may a gentleman offer his arm.

There is no more agreeable way of entertaining a lady than to ask her to "dine and go to the play."

Younger people rarely go to see each other without first telephoning.

A young man may go to see a young girl as often as he feels inclined. If she continually asks to be excused, or in any way shows that he annoys or bores her, his visits should cease.

A ball or formal dance is not a dancing school. Whether a man taking his best girl to a matinee shall take her chocolates to eat or flowers to wear is up to the girl.

Heed these laws, men of the Idaho campus, and find co-educational life more pleasant.

Suddenly in the midst of moodiness, a trio of native hulas sing the "Spring Fever" of the islands. Furiously all the inhabitants of the water-encircled kingdom gather on the shore and sing "Gone With the Wind".

Fashions

Smartly attired young ladies are always good news. A galaxy of spring styles was shown this last fortnight on the university campus, that center of America's fashions. The wide brimmed be-plumed picture hat that Miss Ardis Simpson wore to evening devotions remains fast whatsoever.

Miss Kay McLane, Okegon debutante, astonished the pastor and congregation by displaying her 14 inch high top corset shoes, fastened with 36 mother of pearl buttons.

Idaho's May Queen, blonde Miss Jane Baker, returned from the Golden Gate metropolis wearing the latest thing in cycling habits.

A fashion revolution is to be expected with the advent of summer, and the accompanying growth in popularity of swimming and beach-basking among the younger set. It has been rumored that on New York's best bathing beaches, the more daring are discarding their bathing hosiery. May we state that such exposure should not be accepted on this campus.

Dean of the School of Education Writes "The Art of Going to College"

Under the heading "Inspirational Books," the 1937 fall book list from Thomas Y. Crowell, New York publishers of educational books, announces a new text by Dean J. F. Messenger of the University of Idaho school of education.

The new book, which will come out some time during the summer, carries the title "The Art of Going to College." Of it the publisher says: "An inspiring little book (150 pages) for teachers, parents, and students. The author's approach to the subject of 'How to Study' and other problems of youth is sympathetic and sensible throughout."

Dean Messenger reveals that inspiration and material for this book were gathered during four years teaching Education 11, Student Problems, which is required of all freshmen in education. Aim of this course has been to help the beginning student become adjusted to college life, to plan his course, to study, and to get ready for the position he expects to fill after graduation.

Psychology Major, '29, Research Associate At Mayo Institute

Dwight J. Ingle, 1929 Psychology major, is a research associate at the Mayo Institute of Experimental Medicine at Rochester, Minn. He is conducting studies on the psychologic functions of adrenal cortex hormone and on factors influencing the successful regeneration of transplanted endocrine glands. This is his third year at the Mayo clinic. Before going there he spent three years as a teaching fellow at the University of Minnesota.

The Minnesota psychology department rated Ingle one of the best research students it had had in years.

Personality

Has it ever occurred to you that your personality is a determining factor in the type of perfume you should use? Perhaps at one time or another you have liked a certain scent worn by one of your friends. Before you make up your mind to get some of it for yourself, be sure that it will suit your type.

Perfumes vary from the breezy, outdoor scents to the heavy, exotic aromas. If you are a sweet retiring person, a perfume such as Heliotrope would suit you, while the same fragrance will create an unpleasant incongruity when used by your more dashing friend.

Spicy Perfumes Sandalwood, Chinese Temple, Christian Dream, and Fleurs d'Orient (Flowers of the Orient) are good examples of the heavier, spicy perfumes. These scents should not be worn in warm weather.

If you are not quite certain as to what type you are, you will be safe in using any of the less extreme fragrances. Among these are Espoir d'Amour (Hope of Love), Black Tulp, Black Narcissus, and Rhythm. The latter is especially good for college girls.

Beam of Light Proves Effective Form Of Telepathy For Use on Field Trips

Dr. G. W. Hammar, head of the physics department, has been modestly keeping an important little beam of light in the dark.

Several years ago Doctor Hammar and Lawrence Foskett, now with the United States bureau of standards, conceived the idea of having an inexpensive and practical form of telepathy, something that would work more effectively on field trips, than the system of wig-wagging with lanterns or flags. The result of this was a form of a telephone which is worked by the effect of the voice on a beam of light.

Two flat metal boxes are used. The persons operating must be able to see each other, although one of the boxes may be at a different elevation from the other.

One box is equipped with an acetylene gas burner and a mirror. On the bottom of the burner is a transmitter made from gold beaded skin. A piece of plain glass is in front of the box and holes for ventilation are in the top. Through the membrane at the end of the burner, the sender of the message speaks, and the flame of the burner varies with the voice of the one talking. A peep sight on the side helps to direct the beam to the receiver.

The receiving set is rectangular and is equipped with a light which catches the beam. A metal tube with a square aperture directs the beam. In the box are two small radio tubes and resistors.

The process hinges on focusing the mirror so that it will catch the light from the other set and having the light so that it will catch the sounds. Fluctuations in the flame will change the intensity with which the voice is received. In a region where there is smoke or fog this apparatus is ineffective as the region must be clear to carry the waves.

Doctor Hammar has spoken from the Science hall to Moscow cemetery. At this distance the reception is faint but still clear and intelligible. The difficulty with such an apparatus is that it must be seen from the situation of the receiver and depends on the clemency of the atmosphere.

This has never been patented, but it could be successfully carried out with very little cost, as the materials are inexpensive, and but very few are needed. Both sets weigh less than 25 pounds together, so they are easily carried from place to place.

GOING INTO THE Relay With a One Point Lead, the University of Idaho's, our alma mammy, squad of baton passers came through with a first and the necessary five points to give the Vandal track and field squad a 68 1/2 to 62 1/2 victory over the University of Montana tracksters on the Grizzly oval last Saturday afternoon.

Going into the fray with that old "sock 'em, bust 'em" spirit our favorite fleet footers took eight firsts including Millette's win in the 440-yard run; sprinter Poole's 220-yard dash push-over; Neely's first in the half mile gallop, setting a new Montana field record of 1:58.8; Powers in the 220-yard low hurdles; flying distance Ace Adkins' 9:43.5 two mile record which broke the 10 year old Montana field record of 9:51.8 set in 1927 by the Montana national intercollegiate two mile champ; Dave Ellison in the shot put; Cable's win in the high jump; Peacock's first in the broad jump, and the relay squad's victory in the baton passing event.

Archibald William Powers thrilled Coach Ryan and onlooking sport enthusiasts as he returned to form in the 220 low hurdles, having been so dashed ill for a fortnight with a strained abdominal muscles. Poole, Canadian Olympic sprinter who has suffered a strained leg muscle all season, is evidently recovering and will doubtless improve the sprinting section. In addition to his 220 dash victory, he scored a second berth in the 100. Peacock's 22 ft, 7 1/2 inch broad jump places him in competition with the kangaroo. (Don't mean to slur; simply wish to spur the lad on to bigger and better jumps, broadly speaking.)

The summary:
100-yard dash — Moore, M., first; Pool, I., second; Popovich, M., third; time :10.01.
150-yard dash — Rose, M., first; Propst, I., second; Payne, M., third; time 4:27.8.

440-yard dash — Millette, I., first; Jenkin, M., second; Price, M., third; time :50.4.

120-yard high hurdles — Eisenlein, M., first; Brown, M., second; Beeman, I., third; time :22.5.

880-yard dash — Neely, I., first; Smith, I., second; Swanborn, M., third; time 1:58.8.

220-yard low hurdles — Powers, I., first; Nibo, M., second; Eisenlein, M., third; time 24.8.

Two-mile run — Atkins, I., first; Gitchell, M., second; Rose, M., third; time 9:43.5.

Pole vault — Stein, M., first; Jacoby, M., second; Lazetich, M., and Maxson, I., tied for third; height 12 feet 6 inches.

Shot put — Ellison, I., first; Popovich, M., second; Ritzheimer, I., third; distance 44 feet 7 inches.

IN THE FOURTH

of ten home games the Idaho nine (no, this is not a lesson in mathematics) will strut right onto the diamond Tuesday at 3:30 and show our rival cow college a thing or two—I hope, I hope, I hope—I bet.

Mrs. Gregory's favorite son, the pride of Pottlatch, is scheduled to pitch—and how! "Racehorse" Halberg will hold down center right field; West, second base, field, with Atkins, short stop; Roise, right field; West, second base, Baldwin, catcher, Kramer, first base; Wishart, left field; and Summers, third plate.

SPRING, AH

Beautiful Spring Football Practice

will come to a thrilling climax Wednesday when the Reds and the Whites trip out on MacLean field at 2:30 post meridian for a ducky intersquad game. "The two teams of tall, dark, and handsome, rugged individualists all, are fairly equally matched and promise to give the fans a too, too, too, game," said Coach Archibald T. Bank. "The boys have shown such zeal, such enthusiasm, such spirit, in these few weeks in the pursuit of the acquisition of the finer points of pigskin tossin' and totin', and our fall prospects look, well—just wait and see."

The White team will be captained by manly Archibald Chrape, fullback, and the starting lineup will consist of Winter (I thought this was a spring tussle) and Osterhout, ends; Thiessen and Kaczmarek, tackles; Gray and Donovan, guards; Ashenbrenner, center; Archibald K. Sundberg, quarterback; Chrape (you again?), fullback; Willard, left half, and Archibald E. Wilson, right halfback.

Archibald, "Archie" for short, Trzuskowski is the Communist (Red; get it?) head, and his playmate sare as follows: Howard and Harrel, ends; Ober and Strang, tackles; Bennion and Sanford, guards; center, Madden; Halmes, quarterback; "Truck", fullback; Canales, left half; and "Deany Weeny" Green, right half.

In order that the feminine fans will be able to grasp the situation, "Tubby" Cooper will give a play by play description of the game over the university's public address system. The players will not be identified by numbers as is the usual practice in functions of this sort, so they tell me.

ALTHO ARCHIBALD

HOWARD TIED FOR FIRST PLACE HONORS WITH

his two firsts in the pole vault and discus heave, the Idaho freshman track and field team was thwarted by the W.S.C. yearlings Friday afternoon by the stupendous score of 82-49. Life is a husk, ah, cruel fate.

The Kittens ran as they've never run before and came out the winners in the running events. However, the Vandal babes, duplicating their elder brothers feat, scored a heavy majority of their 49 points in the field events. And this is what happened, ladies and gentlemen:

YESTERDAY WAS A BAD DAY FOR SOUTHPAWS

Opening the second half of their pennant drive for northern division baseball honors, the W. S. C. Cougars wallowed through a dismal drizzle to upset the University of Idaho 9 to 3 in the third of a four game series. The fourth will be played on MacLean field today at 3:30 o'clock.

Both southpaw pitchers gave way to right-handers, Carter, W. S. C., being replaced in the first inning by Senko, who allowed only one hit but who in the sixth walked four men in a row. Hanson relieved Halberg who had seven runs against him in two innings.

Three singles in succession by West, Kramer, and Baldwin, followed by two errors and a walk started Idaho off. Washington State tied up the out in the first, collected two more in the second on an overthrow and an outfield fly.

Atkins, Idaho short stop, and Goddard, Cougar outfield, and Ernie Bishop, second baseman, all drove three-base hits.

Following in the faltering footsteps of their elders, the "babes" met defeat at the hands of the Cougar tennis yearlings Saturday afternoon. Scared that the babes might recuperate, W.S.C. requested that the doubles matches be called off. And so it came to pass; isn't that the "deuce"?

Coffin, Skiles, Michels, Sieh, and Chisholm made the trip and lost to Egon, Haight, Clark, Rosanen, English in the order listed.

THE ASSOCIATED FORESTERS will hold a meeting in Forests 110 Wednesday, May 12, 7:30 p.m. Important.

Woe is Me,

woe is me, we got tromped on 5-2 in the W.S.C.-Idaho tennis meet over thar Saturday. They beat us onct before 7-0, too. Here's how:

Singles—Hull, Washington State, defeated Scotty, Idaho, 6-0, 2-6, 6-0; Snodgrass, W.S.C. defeated Hudson, Idaho, 8-10, 6-2, 6-3; Kalsler, W.S.C., defeated David, Idaho, 7-5, 6-0; Parrish, Idaho, defeated Jorgenson, W.S.C., 6-4, 3-6, 6-2; Borton, W.S.C., defeated Nelson, Idaho, 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles—Hull and Kaiser, W.S.C. defeated Davis and Nelson, Idaho 6-0, 6-3; Hudson and Parrish, Idaho, defeated Snodgrass and Jorgenson, W.S.C., 6-2, 6-3.

BOY! ARE THE

VARSITY BASEBALLERS EVER EMBARRASSED,

are their physiognomies maroon, are they boiled! Ya see, it's thissa way. The frosh from our neighboring enemy territory trotted over here to sixth street Saturday. We slickered 'em and brung home the bacon in the form of an 8 to 2 victory over the aforesaid Cougar kittens.

The sensation of the game was provided by quarterback Stoddard who pitched 17 strike outs in seven innings, allowing only four hits, two of which grew into runs. Spicuzza banged out the only home run of the game in his first time at bat during the first inning. Then there's a whole lot of stuff about W.S.C. scoring in the fourth and sixth; Idaho in the first, fourth, and sixth, netting three in the fourth and four in the sixth when David walked; Spicuzza doubled to score David. They tell me Ramey hit short on an error as Spicuzza came in then stole second, and scored as Miller singled. Miller came in when Woodie made first on an error through second.

"EXPERIMENTALLY—NOT ON PAPER"

SIXTEEN years or so ago, Dr. Willis R. Whitney, now Vice President in charge of General Electric research, sent a note to a research worker, suggesting experiments with a motor-generator set sealed gastight and filled with hydrogen to see if the machine ran cooler, and more efficiently. The results of those experiments promoted the use of hydrogen in synchronous condensers and established the present trend toward the use of hydrogen in turbine-generators.

Windage loss in a rotating machine is reduced about 90 per cent and noise is greatly decreased because of the low density of hydrogen. Heat is carried away much more rapidly through the higher thermal conductivity of hydrogen. Resistance to damage due to corona within the machine is increased. These characteristics increase the electrical output for a given core size and reduce inspection and maintenance expense.

The construction of several hydrogen-cooled turbine-generating units is now going on in the Schenectady turbine shop—perhaps all because of that note written by Dr. Whitney so many years ago.

The kittens retired the slide by a double play coming out of Mann's fly to short and a peg to first which caught Woodie off base. A ground out finished the Vandal scoring spurt.

Crawford To Leave In Early Fall

Dean of Engineering College Sells Home; Will be Dean at University of Kansas

Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the college of engineering, whose election as dean of the University of Kansas engineering college, was announced two weeks ago, has just sold his house at 510 East C street to Capt. Lewis S. Norman of the military department at the university.

"We will vacate the residence about commencement time," Dean Crawford said today, "but not leave the town until early fall."

Dean Crawford recently made a trip of inspection for accreditation to the University of Arizona at Tucson, and attended a meeting of the board of directors of the American Society of Civil Engineers at San Antonio, Tex. It was at San Antonio that he received a telegram from President E. H. Lindley of Kansas university asking him to meet with a regents committee at Lawrence.

From the Montana Exponent: "Speaking of Exchanges, I wonder how the Utah Aggies would like to exchange yell leaders. Maybe arrangements could be made for lessons. It's a matter worth looking into."

How about it, Frank?
Policeman: As soon as I saw you come around the bend I said to myself, "Forty-five at least."
She: "How dare you? It's this hat that makes me look so old—Utah Chronicle."

By so doing he reached sixth position, and the ladder stands with Gigray, 1; Handy, 2; Hammerland, 3; Goss, 4; Styffe, 5; Holzer, 6; Morken, 7; Brewer, 8; and Stephan, 9.

meet at Fresno, Calif., Saturday, May 15, will have to carry on without any Idaho entries on account the customary guaranty didn't materialize. Previous plans had designated the two-mile relay and the medley relay teams as representatives of the state U. The entire track and field divisions will be entered, however, in the northern division meet at Seattle, May 21 and 22.

Perhaps the time will come when the legal age for voting will be determined not by years but by some sort of intelligence test.

Alums Publish Book On University Life

Latest Number of University Bulletin Contains News of Both Students and Faculty

To keep Idaho alumni thinking of their alma mater, the university publications department issued this week its student-alumni number of the University of Idaho bulletin. In it is the news of doings of both students and faculty.

Every page contains pictures of the university activities at, near, or in connection with the university. Dominating the 10-page publication is an account of the progress of the university's building program. On the front page is a three-column picture of Neale stadium as it will look at the time of its dedication next September.

The paper was edited by Oren A. Fitzgerald, '23, university editor, and Cecil Hagen, '30, assistant. The bulletin features the activities and achievements in classrooms and laboratories.

What The Young

College Girl

Should Know

When the young Co-ed came to college her mother told her certain do's and don'ts that she should follow.

One young modern (of 1890) said that her mother told her to be sure to never be a good influence on anybody. She did give her a few gentle hints, however, on how to catch the young male—hook, line, and sink him.

- Drop a violet scented chiffon handkerchief at frequent intervals. It gives the escort that cave man feeling.
- When in doubt as to what to do—faint!
- When getting into a carriage, pull up your flowing gown a wee bit so as to reveal your dainty (?) ankle. Don't forget to blush coyly.
- Never pay unlady like sports such as croquet. Yo will become muscle bound.
- When dancing a cotillion, caressingly touch your partner with your fan.
- Keep your conversation intellectual. Never mention operations or descriptions concerning bed or bathroom.
- Lower your eyelid slightly—but not enough to give the impression of a wink.
- A kiss flung from the finger tips is sufficient reward for a pleasant evening.
