Curtain on "A Doll's House" at 8:15 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Tickets at Hodgins.

Pre-Holiday Absence To Cost Students Ten Per Cent

"Students who absent themselves from class immediately before or after vacations (exclusive of single holidays) shall have their final grade reduced 10 points in each course in which absence was incurred," read the instructions in the university students' handbook.

Curtain will rise on Henrik Ibsen's immortal three-act drama "A Doll's House" at 8:15 o'clock, Thursday and Friday nights, December 9 and 10, at the University auditorium.

Beautiful costumes of 1879 to be worn in the play have been acquired by Miss Marlon Featherstone and Naomi Hillman.

Eleven-inch Loving Cups Ordered For Houses Winning Christmas Decorations Contest

The boys of 1940 stoking their "Christmas Special," their novelty assembly; this campus lit up like a Christmas tree in the decorations of all group houses and dormitories; serenaders who can sing—these are the elements of a complete Holly Day week. Yes, next week!

"Two cups will be awarded the winners of house decorations," announced Mick Gridley and Ron Park, co-heads of the decoration committee.

"These decorations—their cost limited to $10—must be up, ready for the judges, by 6 o'clock Saturday night."

Judging of decorations will take place that night—the judges: Dr. Evelyn Miller, Dr. F. C. Church, and Bob Green, proctor of men.

At the Holly Day assembly say the "shots," presentation of the men's and women's cups will be made. Sophomore class is buying two 11-inch silver "containers"—mounted on ebony pedestals.

Basis for Judging "These are the bases for judging decorations," declared Stan Howe, class president. "First, how well do they carry out the Christmas theme? Then comes originality and cleverness in construction." Six o'clock is the absolute deadline for "falling in," declared Hume, Parks, and Gridley. They assert that a decoration erected after that hour won't be considered.

Theme of the "40ers" dance—"Christmas Special." Featured will be Engineer Glen Whitesel and 10 of his train crew, composing the most musicians yet assembled in a student dance orchestra.

Although posters announcing the Holly Day dance came out yesterday, committee men were quick to point out the inaccuracy of time stated for the assembly.

Instead of Wednesday at 7 p.m., as "postered," it's set for Tuesday at 6:30 with 7:15 p.m. permission. Social conflicts caused the date change, according to Chairman Bud Morse.

A feature assembly wov has been announced as Ed Albany's Harmonica band in its biggest campus debut. They'll be there—and so will three trios, tap dancers, novelty leaders, and 18-pieces of orchestra, swingster jammers.

The Black Chapel! No dispute, there's a mystery tied up with this Holly Day dance. It's no fluke. If you get as far as this in the Holly Day story every time, you'll know of the mystery; if you get as far as the dance, you'll partake of the secret itself.

Game Management Topic of Conference

Wildlife Authorities Gather Here for 3-Day Conclave December 8, 9, 10.

Idaho's first technical conference on game management, under the guidance of Dr. A. B. Hatch, assistant professor of game management at the university, will start tomorrow morning at nine a.m. at the Blue Bucket Inn.

'Messiah' Greeted By Full House

Oratorio Presented by Chorus of 200 Voices to Enthusiastic Audience

A full house responded enthusiastically to Handel's oratorio presented Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the University auditorium by a chorus of 200 voices.

"The Messiah was the most successful oratorio presented on the campus in the last three years," said Archie N. Jones, head of the music department.

The University symphony orchestra, directed by Prof. Carl Claus, furnished the orchestral accompaniment. Soloists included Howard Corless, Robert MacKinnon, Wallace Garets, Loren Bruns, Louise Paulsen, Helen Clough, Mildred Paulson, Agda Walden, Carl Tjerdansen, Betty Torgensen, and James Stone.

Musicians Chosen By Phi Mu Alpha

Vandal Debaters Meet W.S.C. Tomorrow Night

Idaho's debate squad will meet a W.S.C. team tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in Room 311 of the Administration building in the first of eight triangular debates between W.S.C., Whitman, and Idaho.

The question is: "Resolved that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all labor disputes." Idaho will be represented by Leonard Arrington and Leslie McCarthy.

The remaining seven debates will be held at Pullman next Saturday. Idaho's debate teams scheduled to make the trip, according to Debate Coach A. E. Whitehead, will be composed of the following men: Leonard Arrington and Leslie McCarthy; Joseph Carr and Norman Rhodes, Lewis Levering and Gerald Richardson, John Young and Hubert Miller, and Roy Stark and Clifford Dabler.

Class I railroads in the first nine months of this year "in-I knew little about flying a stalled 5,307 new freight carplane, I managed somehow until in service, the largest number the pilot was again able to take for any like period of time sinceover." "Bo" later made more trips

Spurs To Canvass For Ticket Sale

All group houses will be canvassed by Spurs Wednesday at 12:30 to push the sale of tickets to the sophomore Holly Day week dance scheduled for December 16. As programs for the dance are of a limited number, the first to buy tickets will receive them, according to the committee.

Wreaths for house decoration will go on sale Friday followed by sales of holly sprigs Monday.

Burt Starts Drive For Gem Sales

Form Letters Distributed By Busines Staff Describing Coming Edition

Five hundred personal letters are being distributed by the business staff of the Gem of the Mountains, to Idaho graduates throughout the United States and some foreign fields in a comprehensive campaign to increase Gem sales and in so doing to lower the student price of $4, if possible, according to an announcement by Carl Burt, business manager.

Student Cooperation Asked

These form letters describe the special features of the 1938 edition and make an appeal to former students to keep in touch with their friends, campus activities, and professors. An addressed penny postal accompanies the letter and requests a definite response from the addressee—either they do or do not wish to subscribe for an annual.

Gunners To Start Shooting Practice

The rifle team is anxious to get only the best shots," according to Capt. Edwin Waters, this year's rifle team coach. "All new men will be given instruction on rifle marksmanship, and they will have a chance to demonstrate their ability. We will give them plenty of time in trying out, to make sure we don't overlook any good shots." The captain said he expected to get members of last year's team firing before Christmas, to get them warmed up before the matches. Don Burnett and John Elder, top shots of last year, will be back battering the backboards with 22 pellets again this year, as will Robert Abbey, Joe Couch, Bill McVeigh, Bob Abbott, James Nixon, Jerry Price, Tom McGill, Bill Mason, Otto Nelson, and Bob Frazier.

Recital To Start 4:30 Wednesday

The fourth university recital will be given at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the University auditorium.

The program will consist of "Schwan da, der Dudeseskepfeler," Welberger-Blasses, by Lucille Wilson, pianist; "In Questa Tomba," Beethoven, "Caro Mio Ben," Giordani, sung by Bill Aston, baritone; "Intermezzo," Brahms, featuring Marion Dwight, pianist; "Rhapsody in C Major," Dohnanyi, Jean Illingsworth, pianist; and "Trio in G Major," Allegro, Mozart, featuring Grace Boren, violinist, Melissa Stone, cellist, and Mary Hoover, pianist.

'Bo' Palmer Relates Story Of Summer In Primitive Area

"Tell them that I helped build a log scow, and then floated it down the river of no return," expounded Noble "Bo" Palmer last night. Palmer was fortunate enough to spend a summer in the heart of Idaho's primitive area working for the Salmon River Placer company, located about 50 miles up the main Salmon river from Riggs.

"We figure that two heads are better'n one," say Editors Haasch and Hoebel, "and since it has always had one editor in the past, this issue should be twice as good as any other."

As yet a theme has not been chosen, but one will be announced soon.

Staff members other than those named above are as follows:

Former Coach Thinks Idaho Team Has Chance for National Title

"The rifle team is anxious to get only the best shots," according to Capt. Edwin Waters, this year's rifle team coach. We were flying machinery into the mine from McCall; about half way through our trip the pilot had a heart attack, and I had to take over the controls. Though I knew little about flying a stalled 5,307 new freight carplane, I managed somehow until in service, the largest number the pilot was again able to take for any like period of time sinceover." ## Seeing The Shows

Quart—Wednesday-Saturday.
"STAGE DOOR"—starring Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, and Adolphe Menjou. Summing up in realistic way the lives and careers of stage struck girls everywhere, "STAGE DOOR" brings these three stars together for the first time. Based on the famous stage play, most of the action takes place in a theatrical boarding house where scores of eager and ambitious girls live and strive for footlight fame. Should be fair entertainment.

Kynworthy—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday.
"DOUBLE WEDDING"—starring Myrna Loy and William Powell in a comedy based on the stage success "GREAT LOVE." Although not quite up to other Loy-Powell successes, "DOUBLE WEDDING" gives America's ideal married couple a chance to demonstrate their laugh getting possibilities. This picture should be highly entertaining.

Dates 'n' Doo Dads

"Was one of the best Senior balls we've ever had," said Benny Lutz for organizer "one of the best bands on campus has ever danced to here, doncha think?" It was plenty sharp! Good atmosphere at the dance—no too stiff, and not too many stiffs.
Flash! Kappa Sig melody notes float through the air. Saturday night and Ron Hunter's Jeweled Gadget float down Alpha Chi way to Audrey Oberg. Don't know why all the sudden pin passin'—maybe because the days are so much shorter in December—but the rumor's runnin' around that a Phi Delta pin was planted recently, too. Can you think whose it was?
Wendell Gannon still can't figure out how he happened to take Belva Budge home at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Bet she's wonderin's too.
Plenty of playing goin' on Friday night, wasn't there? It made these old eyes pop to watch Iam McFall doin' it too. Who had more fun than "Mr. and Mrs. Anne Lalue" playin' "sniff"?
Emmy Lou "I sure get in the column" Smith musta been playin' Ritz Brother when she broke the baton at the ball.
Susie Black is an entertaining companion, isn't she, Grant Ambrose? Spicy stories are so much fun!
Cupid "lost more damn arrows that way" Saturday night round Dexter Whalen 'n' Gertie Eliason. They weren't doin' the big apple, either.
Couldn't figure out what Phyllis Rand was waiting for at the Nobby Inn Friday night. She sat there with a girl friend for a whole afternoon 'n' evening.
The old love element is always interesting, isn't it? Now there's Mary K. Nelson 'n' Dick Phinney who have been goin' steady ever since last Wednesday.
Wally McGill 'n' Ernie Wentworth sure made the Pullman Tri Delt's green just watchin' them do the big apple Friday night. The apple was a little over-ripe, though, methinks.
Ralph Radford, a very hairy chest, and a scanty pair of pants were knock-knocking at Mary's door last night. Wonder where he lost his shirt? Poor Jane Brodhead just can't stand popularity—when John Elder called her up, she fainted!
Understand that one of the alto's got into the soprano section in the "Messiah", and had to sing soprano all evening. Tsk! Tsk!
Does Ellen Scott turn to the interests of a down-town boy friend for the same reason that the fellers are usually on the look-out for town gals to go out with?

Guess Elnky McFadden didn't even take time out to go home and change his tux. He was breakfasting at it Sunday morning at the Bucket.
Hubert "I like publicity" Miller was sure to either over the Lewiston Normal dean of women, Dean) Saturday noon.
Isn't she supply charming, girls," he asked.
If the Thetas wouldn't cut up so much, I'd have room to write about gals from other houses. One it's a while. Slow down, will you?
Luff 'n' hisses from your old reptile in the meadow! (Patent applied for—by somebody else!)

In the Spot

"The Doll's House" by Hendrik Ibsen will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings in the auditorium. This play will likely strike a responsive note in many a persons memory as it is so well-known. Carol Jean Davis will play the leading role of Nora, the supposedly naive, childlike wife and mother who comes forth with a real fight for her independence and walks out to have a life of her own. This characterization will be difficult but Carol Jean has been doing very fine work in the practices. "The show must go on!" So the old saying goes and it will regardless of the fact that Sheila Janssen managed to get the whooping cough. Her understanding—so to speak—will get to go in this important role and will be a success and a star overnight! So the story goes.
The few snow flakes Monday morning will undoubtedly put everyone in a Christmas state of mind; and well it will be, too, with a real Christmas tree and real Christmas celebrating going on in the show Thursday and Friday nights. Peter Dodds will give the last touches.
And so, you theater goers, don't forget your student body book when you go down to Hodgins to get your tickets. The show will be extra good is our guess. We will see you all Thursday or Friday when the stage-manager, Harold Wennstrom says:
"STAGELIGHTS! HOUSE-LIGHTS! CURTAIN!"
Andersons Entertained
The Rev and Mrs. Andrew E. F. Anderson were Sunday dinner guests of Alpha Phi. Fourteen of the Sigma Chi's entertained their dates at a formal dinner Saturday evening before the Senior ball.

There will be a general meeting of the Sigma Chi at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday.
The ASUI audit for the past fiscal year shows about $1,400 profit for the Gem of the Malintaitis. Last year's Gem sold for $400. It is only reasonable to believe that if the books were sold for about $1,400 a solvent of their college days.
I don't doubt that for what ever the Gem sells for this year, I'll be a purchaser. However, I don't expect my money's worth, and if last year's Gem made a profit of $1,400 that is a great thing. I would seem to the best interests of the students to have it applied to bring this fine book to Idaho students for as low as $3.
Respectfully yours,

"Out Back"

By "Honest John"

Hello,
Too bad that I can't think of anything to write about. Too bad for you three people that read this column. In fact it would be a darn good idea if you would all stop reading it right now. Dirtiest crack of the week was made by the person who wrote the head for the soph Holy Day story in the last Argonaut. The most abused man on the campus is the manager of the S.U.B. Besides having to do more work than one man can handle he has to follow the policies of some one else. Tough methods. He gets the blame for someone else's misjudgment of what should and what should not be.
Where is the wolfing of the coach by the alumni this year. There was quite a bit during the middle of the season. Funny how a win changes their idea of the coach's ability. A football player who is one of the best ones around here told me that the only reason he didn't quit was because everyone would consider him a quitter.
The new bandstand in the S.U.B. sure improves the music. Enables the band to get a better setup and doesn't have it going seven million different ways. Seniors sure had good decorations at the ball. The outfit that put it up really had it down to a science. Fun to watch them work. How about getting the grand piano from the gym for the S.U.B. It seems that it has been talked of quite seriously for some time.
I hear Louie August is turning out his regular fine teams. We should be right up in there this year.
Who will win the game tonight? Idaho. Why are they having a game after everybody leaves school? It should be an awfully good game. Hate to miss it. Anybody tried the Derby yet? Wonder how their hamburgers are? Guess I'll have to investigate. Not now, later.
All Sigma Nu with a six point will hold a meeting in the phone booth. Oh nuts. If I ever needed a drink I need it now. Bagging Alpha Gamis.
See You Friday.

DON JOHNSON is fighting tonight in the forward position. His sprained ankle has improved so as to allow him to see action against the Cheney Teachers tonight.

Vandal Hoopmen Open Against Cheney Tonight 7:30 On Home Court

Idaho Sophomores and Veteran Court Artists To Face Experienced Normal Team

Vandal hoopmen, off to a good start against Whitman last week, will attempt to keep up the pace tonight in the first home game of the season when they meet Cheney normal in the Memorial gym.

Starters against the experienced Cheney team will be Don Johnson and Steve Belko, veteran forwards; Brendon Barrett, sophomore center; and Lyle Smith and Bill Kramer, veteran guards.

Winter is Versatile Rolly Winter, first-string guard last year and now playing the utility role, will probably play most of the game in one of the three positions he has been mastering.

Sophomores Shine Especially encouraging in the Whitman game, Coach Twogood said, were the performances of his "sophomore hopes", Ramey, Dvorak, English, and Barrett.

Adding strength, too, are the performances of Belko, Winter, and Smith, recent arrivals from the football squad; and Don Johnson, last year's center who has been transferred to a forward position.

Tonight's game will be the first played on the home floor this season. The next will be Whitman in a return engagement here Friday.

Officially for tonight's game are E. L. "Squinty" Hunter, and Harvey Nelson, both from Spokane.

Guests Revel At Cabaret Jimmy Clark and a 10-piece orchestra will start things off next Saturday night at the Willis Sweet "200 club cabaret".

---From The Bench---

On the face of it, Idaho's 32 to 31 win over Whitman coupled with Washington State's 45 to 42 loss to the same team would seem to rate the Vandals three points above the Cougars.

However, the comparison does prove that Idaho is starting out in a determined, business-like fashion toward 1937-38 basketball recognition.

An added incentive to members of the hoop squad during the next two weeks is the fact that Coach Twogood will choose his 11-man traveling squad for the South Idaho Christmas road trip from players who show up well in the four games with Cheney, Whitman, and U.C.L.A.

Back again to another football post-mortem. To the wave of "initial clubs" sweeping Pacific Coast campuses, we should like to add our little bubble, Oregon may have its C. C. C. C. (Can Coach Callison Club); Washington its laborious P. P. P. P. (Phire Phooey Phenon Phenatics); for Idaho, we present the B. B. B. B. (Big Ben Betten, Boosters Behind Bank).

25 To Be Tapped By Ed. Honorary Kappa Delta Pi Selects Outstanding Lower Classmen In Education School Twenty-five educational students of the university will be pledged this evening at a meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, national educational fraternity, at the home of Dean and Mrs. J. F. Messenger.

Students selected are outstanding lowerclassmen in the educational school. Dr. A. A. Cleveland, dean of the school of education at Washington State, will the principal speaker of the evening.

Plans for the trip of an Idaho delegate to Kappa Delta Pi national convention are being completed, Elmer Wagner, president of the honorary, will represent the fraternity at the February convention at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Vandal Boxers Take Decision Over W. S. C.

University of Idaho varsity boxers took the count over Washington State by winning five matches out of the scheduled eight Friday night in Memorial gymnasium.

The card was headed by the fight between Idaho's Forest Ober and Washington State's Jess Willard, Jr. Willard won the fight in the third round by a most decided knockout.

In the final match, Julian Benoit, Idaho, put on a good exhibition against Capt. Paul Waller of the Washington State crew. Benoit won the match by a decision.

Milton Osterhout, Idaho, came out and took the first two rounds against Tom Tarbox, Washington State, to win his match by a decision.

Andy Tedrick, Washington State, won a technical K. O. from Idaho's Aaron Blewett in the opening third round. Tedrick, outclassed Blewett throughout the fight.

The three preliminary bouts got under way with all the boys mixing it rather freely. Although they lacked experience, all the preliminary boxers were willing to slug it out.

August To Sponsor Box Tournament

A novel boxing tournament, the first ever held at Idaho, will be run off in the boxing room of the gym Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Matches will consist of three rounds to a decision. Rounds will be restricted to three-fourths of a minute each, but otherwise the matches will be fought under intercollegiate rules.

"We want to give every man in the school who is interested in boxing some actual experience and a chance to try out without endangering his health," Coach August explained.

Alpha Zeta Holds Initiation of Six At Morrill Hall

Alpha Zeta, national agriculture honorary sponsored an initiation at Morrill hall and a banquet at the Moscow hotel Saturday night for Carl Sterk, Fernol Murdock, Walter Mrachek, George Olmstead, Claude Johnson, and Robert Haynes who are this year's pledges.

Vandal Rope Artist

The most amusing bout of the evening was between Idaho's wind mill rope artist Joe Fallini and Joe Hostetler, Washington State. Fallini pilled the ropes as his campaign during the three rounds, and had Mr. Hostetler swinging free gratis extra blows most of the evening.

Andy Tedrick, Washington State, won a technical K. O. from Idaho's Aaron Blewett in the opening third round. Tedrick, outclassed Blewett throughout the fight.

"Big Apple" Formal Declared A Success

In a setting of "Big Apples" women students and their tuxedoed escorts danced Saturday night at the Senior ball at the Student Union ballroom. Cut-outs of red apples and dancing girls featured decorations.

Programs of black stude were enclosed in small black envelopes. From a raised platform, Benny Lutz and his 10 "Appletonians" swung out popular tunes. A grand march around the ballroom preceded dancing.

Guests of honor included: Governor and Mrs. Barzilla W. Clark, President and Mrs. H. C. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Day, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Clency St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Condie, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Swin, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jenny, Dr. Evelyn Miller, Miss Mary McKinley, Mr. John V. Banks, Mr. Chris Rumberg, and Mr. Herman Hahner.

Dean and Mrs. D. S. Jeffers, Dean and Mrs. J. F. Messenger, Major and Mrs. Charles F. Sutherland, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tesser were patrons and patronesses.

Committee chairmen were: Glandon Davis, tickets; Ed Hokanson, programs; Jack McKinney, publicity; Spokane Smith, decorations; John Banks, band and hall; and Dean Green, general chairman.

Dean Is Opposed To Date Breaking

Dean of Women Asks Cooperation of House Mothers To Prevent Date Breaking

The prevention of date breaking by campus women was asked by Dr. Evelyn Miller, dean of women, in a meeting of house mothers and hostesses yesterday afternoon.

"It is a sign of bad manners," Doctor Miller said, "when a woman breaks a date with a young man. It is easy for the women to break dates because there are twice as many men on the campus. I don't agree with it at all."

This matter was brought to the attention of the house mothers with particular emphasis that women are not to do this. Women will be watched closely on this and may be subject to rules in case of violations.

Doctor Miller talked to the staff about what had been suggested to her by house mothers and fathers with whom she talked recently on her extended tour of southern Idaho. Many regulations that are in force were suggested by the mothers.

Several additional rules are to be enforced in the future. The rule requiring women to have special permission from home before allowed to drive cars will be one of the regulations to be watched more closely. Doctor Miller urged the house mothers to see that women get more sleep than formerly.

Special housing facilities will be arranged for women students who are remaining on the campus over the Christmas vacation, according to Doctor Miller.

Home Ec To Go Weaving Exhibit

Plans for sponsoring a Berea college exhibit of hand woven table runners, towels, scarfs, and mittens were made at a Phi Upsilon Omicron meeting last Monday.

The honorary also plans to give a Christmas party for members and new initiates next Monday afternoon. Initiates Sunday evening were Neva Newman, Payette; Helen Turinsky, Moscow; Mary Sullivan, Chatolet; Mary Stevens, Deary; Alberta Dee Hill, Emmett; and Martha Berg, Pocatello.

Home cooked chicken and steak dinners, a new modernized lobby, and a new masonite dance floor for free dinner dancing are the features of the recently remodeled Inland hotel at Troy, Idaho, under the management of Mrs. Wm. H. Field.

Idaho W.A.A Host To Many Saturday

Saturday, December 4, Idaho W.A.A. women entertained Pullman and Lewiston W.A.A. women at a play-day. Registration was handled in the front part of the Women's gym and small cards were given each person designating the names of the teams in which they were placed. They then followed the schedules presented and competed for honors in volley ball, badminton, shuffle board, and table tennis during the morning.

At noon all women were entertained at a luncheon given at the Blue Bucket Inn. During the luncheon, school songs from each school were sung. The Theta trio, composed of Laura Jean Stewart, Helen Clough, and Louise Paulsen, sang two musi-

W.S.C. Debaters Place First In Women's Meet

The women's debate teams of Washington state college took first place in the tournament held at Whitman college last Saturday. The teams from Whitman and the University of Idaho fell into second and third places respectively. Those making the trip from Moscow were Vera Biggart, Mary Ethel Stickney, Peggy Foley, and Annabel Wetzel, accompanied by A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, and Mrs. Whitehead.

The question discussed concerned popular referendum for declaration of war. According to Mr. Whitehead, this concludes activities for women debaters until after Christmas. The next activity for the department will be held next Saturday at Pullman, where the National Labor Relations board question will be discussed.

STUDENTS TO SING CAROLS FOR SICK

Any student planning to stay in Moscow for the Christmas vacation is urged to get in touch with Ray Stone, phone 6792, in regard to singing carols on Christmas eve.

"Strange, perhaps, but it wouldn't seem like Christmas if I weren't able to sing 'glad tidings of great joy' to the sick and shut-ins on Christmas eve," enthused Stone.

Christmas Spirit Dominates Pre-Holiday Informals

The festivity of the holiday season and the story of Christmas were combined in the theme of the Beta Theta Pi dance, Friday evening. Eight hundred red and green balloons were hung from the ceiling. The doorways were decorated with tinsel and red and green paper rope. Red and green wreaths were hung around the walls, and the words "Merry Christmas" were placed over the fireplace. Lighted silhouettes of Christmas scenes were in front of the fireplace.

Patrons were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyer, Dr. Charles Moritz, Miss Phoebe Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Chamberlain.

The dance floor at the L. D. S. institute was transformed into a skating pond, Friday at the L. D. S. informal. Snow banks lined the pond, and sleds, skis, and skates were placed around the walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Klages, Dr. and Mrs. James A. Cooley, and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Tanner were patrons.

Christmas, done in blue and silver, was the theme of the Forney hall informal dance on Friday evening. A false ceiling of silver tinsel glittered the reflection of blue spot lights. Christmas trees and poinsettias added the seasonal touch.

Patrons were Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Trueblood, Mr. and Mrs. John Beckwith, Miss Marion Featherstone, and Miss Helen Haller.

Dr. Miller wore a black flowered print with a single band around the neck. Ada Marcia Hoebel and Mrs. Tessier wore black veils with little bouquets; Mrs. Sutherland looked especially nice in a silver satin trimmed in wine velvet. Orchids to all the gals who were
