Seeing The Shows

KENWORTHY—Friday, Saturday—Double Feature
JUDGE PRIEST—Starring—Will Rogers, Rochelle Hudson, Tom Brown and Stepin Fetchit—Will Rogers contributes a memorable portrait of the ex-Confederate soldier, who through his kindness, saves from disaster a helpless girl and the father she has never known. Human interest blends with laughter and tears in this tale of a sleepy southern town by Irvin S. Cobb.

TEXAS TRAIL—Starring—William Boyd and Judith Allen Sunday, Monday—Double Feature.
 TARZAN'S REVENGE—Starring—Glenn Morris and Eleanor Holm—Another of Edgar Rice Burroughs' jungle tales in which swimming star, Eleanor Holm and a 11-around winner at Olympic Games, Glenn Morris, perform some dangerous feats.

THE GAME THAT KILLS—Starring—Charles Quigley and Rita Hayworth—Hockey enthusiasts will see a good exhibition of ice hockey on the screen.

NUART—Showing Now
EBB TIDE—Starring—Ray Mischa Auer, Bert Lahr and Alice Brady—with so many good comedians this skeddaddling music comedy has its virtues. Baritone Lahr's "Song of the Woodman" is worth mentioning. Also Jimmy Savo, exquisite pantomimist, adulated Alice Brady, and Mischa Auer, as a lean and bony swimmer, all live up to their usual good performances. Foster fathers Savo, Lahr, House and Auer combine their comic efforts in cementing the romance of their theatre-born ward, Joy Hodges, and Scion John King. Since this scheme merely involves hoodwinking Alice Brady, it turns out to be not too difficult, and actress Brady is properly taken in.

Letters To the Editor

The letters appearing in this column do not necessarily reflect the policy of the Argonaut, nor the opinions of the editor. The Argonaut invites the opinions of its readers and discusses them in its columns, but reserves the right to censor any contribution. All letters must be addressed "to the editor" and must be signed by the author.—Ed.

Dear Editor: I want to express my hearty congratulations to Carl Burt, quasi-editor of the Gem of the Mountains, for the ingenuity and originality he has displayed in publicizing this year's annual, and I also want to express Carl Burt's congratulations. He has demonstrated commendable qualities of initiative and foresight in this recent sales campaign. Still, as far as I am concerned, something seems noticeably absent. We all know the Book sells for $4, but where's the price tag on Carl?

The methods employed are certainly a delightful departure from those used in past years, but it appears to me that they haven't been developed sufficiently nor carried to their logical conclusion. By borrowing a few tactics from Safeway or J. C. Penney, I think the Ad. building exhibit could be enhanced immeasurably. The addition of red and green or blue and yellow streamers artistically draped from the walls would not only lend an atmosphere of charm and enchantment, but might permit a line of canned cash to be run in for a little side profit.

Of course, Barnum and Bailey aren't so small time either, and their buffoons and three-ring circuses donate another suggestion. Unless it might be considered illegal restraint of trade or cut-throat competition, we could build two more rings, hire a couple more business managers, and run them out of business.

Then again, museums aren't so retrogressive as is popularly imagined, and can present a few interesting and constructive ideas that might find application in our "Greater Gem for the Business Manager" campaign. There is the possibility of embalming a few annuals and mounting them in pottery.

some extra editors that are lying around. They could always be put in glass jars for display purposes.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Colored People, with their week for the Prevention of Cruelty to Colored People, or the Migratory Steatopygous Ornithological Specimen society, with their week for the Protection of Migratory Steatopygous Ornithological specimens, would seem to recommend the inauguration of a similar week at Idaho—say "Gem Week." Speculation upon this idea suggests innumerable plans and results in startling developments.

Among these may I list a few:
 1. Have the Idaho swingsters hold only Gem sessions during this week.
 2. For this length of time, put Gem Yoder vice president of the annual or on a pension.
 3. Get athletics in line. For a week call it the Memorial Gemnasium.
 4. Print handbills... vote for the Chum of the Mountains.
 5. After all these overtures and preludes to publication, have Bert Wood lead the Idaho Symphony orchestra in a concert featuring Rimsky-Korsakoff's arrangement of Tommy Dorsey's "Song of India" and other musical Gems.
 6. Censor letters to the editors. Amour and Osculations.

Yours very drooly,
 (R. H.)

INVENTION PROVES BOON TO THINKERS
 A new oxygen mask to protect mental workers from fatigue caused by thinking has been perfected by Prof. Arthur Bills of the University of Cincinnati. The use of the mask cuts in half the number of pauses per minute that come to those engaged in brain work. Delivering about 50 per cent pure oxygen mixed with air to the breather, the mask seems to prove the theory that fatigue is due not so much to the brain becoming "tired" as so failure of the blood to supply all the oxygen wanted.

Donald Mackenzie, commend the skill of the Shoshoni Indians for their skill in making annuals and mounting pottery.

Dates 'n Doo Dads

The writin' of this yere column gets as dull as the readin' of it when all you college cut-ups quit caperin' and begin bookin'. The only activity that hasn't ceased functioning is the love-kindlin'. Now Helen Luke is wearin' Max Kenworthy's pin. No wonder she's devoting all her time to the home ec department this year, 'n never bein' seen about the campus.

Forgot to congratulate Margie Barton on the acquisition of a great big beautiful brilliant rock from Kenny Fitzgerald during the holidays.

'n I hear that Marianna Robinson has at last donned the little some kind of a pin which she received last summer from the fellow back home.

Best-bit-of-the-week department: Carl "I wanta be student body president" Burt havin' trouble with the local gendarmes over a bit of petty thievery. Not quite the thing for such an important person, what do you think, Windy?

I guess I've decided that I'll begin organization of a "Cutest Couple on the Campus" department (C.C.C.C.) in these hyar parts. Any suggestions which you might want to submit to the Argo office would be duly appreciated. How 'bout Dale Lawrence 'n Gladys Grace Warren for this week? Phyllis Morrison 'n Bill McKinley look pretty good in there, too.

Been hearin' that a lotta the frosh around here just "cain't take it." Marion Shaw has already pulled camp 'n departed. Guess Gus Folkman 'n Jack Wilson are gonna fold their tents 'n quietly steal away, also Bud Ingersoll. D'ya suppose Jo Enger will be a-followin' her "true-love"?

Course we mentioned Jo Cook in the column last time, but we'll give her one more piece of publicity since she's leavin' at the semester anyway. 'N we'll hate to see her go, too.

'Tis rumored that Frankie Stolle is also tired of the place. The Gamma Kappas will miss her, too. Also the "S.A.s." (Hope she knows what that means.)

A couple of Thetas have been venturin' down to the Bucket quite frequently of late. Seems good to see some new faces down that way—Josephine McKissick and Elizabeth McFarland are the gals.

We think Frankie Severn 'n Bob Knudsen are "Blue Bucket's Best Beau Brummels." Get it? (Just between you 'n me, is this writin' gettin' any better, or is he gettin' worse, about gettin' a variety of names in here? Suggestions and criticisms would really be appreciated.)

Ray Givens seems to be in a daze over a recent event... The Christmas spirit seems to induce giving as well as receiving. Xmas vacation proved expensive to Ed Iddings who dug deep to pay for a diamond studded Delt pin for Nell Anne Pierson from W. S. C. and for repeated long-distance phone calls to her home town.

In the Spot

"Is that necessary?" shrieked Mrs. Sollers during rehearsal of the "Merchant of Venice" this week when someone blew a terrific blast outside the basement costume room. Apparently it was because the script called for a distant hunting bugle note, and who are we to wrangle with the immortal Shakespeare about the necessity of a particular musical selection?

Francis Cannon, brother of Lee Cannon, who was well known in dramatics some years back, stands as a living example to the old saying—"the theater gets in your blood." Francis is cast ably as "Balthasar" in this next play. Ned Bowler, younger brother of Aldrich, plays the part of the moon-struck "Lorenzo."

With his Charlie Ruggles type of humor, Blaine Crawford, a newcomer to the university stage, carries off his comic role of Launcelet Gobbo exceptionally well. Playing with him in a witty scene is Jerry Mills as his blind father.

George "Shylock" Oram is still having the same old difficulty of getting on the stage at the right time, a bad time. Wednesday night when he tried to run right over chair and all.

Things are popping right along toward making the big production one of the best ever, from all angles—costumary, staging, lighting effects, and characterization.

The Wilson Price Hunt party the first white men to cross southern Idaho entered Idaho near where Victor, Teton county is now located.

Campus Calendar

There will be an executive council meeting of the W.A.A. Monday evening in the Women's gym at 5 o'clock. A general W.A.A. meeting will be held in the Women's gym Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock.

Blue Bucket staff will meet at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, January 19, in the Argonaut office.

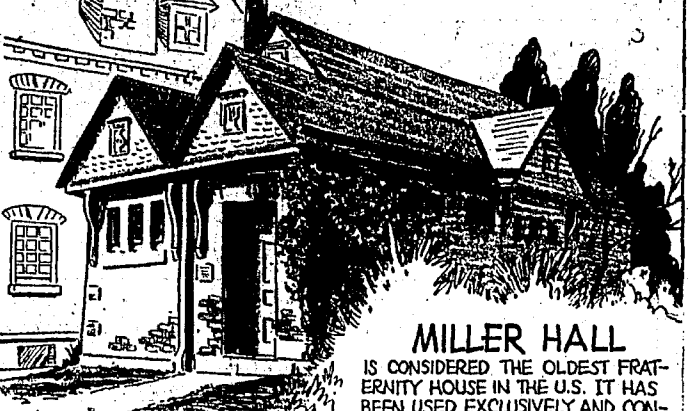

DeSmet club, composed of Catholic university students, will have a breakfast next Sunday after the 8 o'clock mass at which they will receive communion in the group.

W.A.A. will take an organized hike Saturday, January 15. Hikers must meet at the Women's gym at 12:30 p.m. To have hiking miles count for points the women must go on at least one organized hike a semester. The last chance!

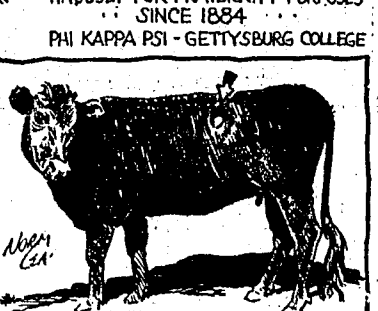

LOST: A Black Sheaffer fountain pen, probably near the Delta Chi corner. Will finder please call Gladys Bryant at 8721? Reward offered.

Blue Key meeting, 10 p.m. Tuesday at Sigma Chi house.

There will be a meeting of members and pledges of Scabbard and Blade Monday night at 10 p.m. at the Phi Delt house.

The Camera club has adopted a constitution, and has voted to hold its next meeting on the first Monday in February, according to the acting secretary, Jimmy Guy. Until the next meeting of the club a person may sign up and become a charter member.

The club was organized to further photography on the campus, both as a hobby and as a profession. Anyone may join the club whether he has had experience in photography or not. Members will be instructed in both the art and technique of photography. The club plans to sponsor contests and exhibits over the entire Northwest.

Vandal Cagers Meet Washington Cougars in Brace of Games

Johnson's Slump, Belko's Condition Bring Consternation To Coach Forrest Twogood

"Our star scorer is in a slump and can't hit, and our 'spark plug' is sick and perhaps can't play. Otherwise, our prospects look good for the game tonight." That is the Idaho basketball situation as seen by Coach Forrest Twogood, as he grooms his men for the Washington State fracas in Pullman tonight.

Vandal Personalities

Bill McGowan
One of Forrest Twogood's outstanding sophomore melon tossers on this year's Vandal squad comes from the little town of Kendrick. Roy Ramey, a 6 ft., 165 pounder, is the fiery little sparkplug who is expected to step into one of the forward starting positions on next year's quintet.

In high school, Ramey won his letter four times in basketball, and the experience he gained there has helped him to develop into a hard-playing, capable man. He is especially adept at making breaks for shots at the hoop, and he is equally as fast at taking advantage of the openings that present themselves.

Collegiate basketball, to Roy, is much faster and harder than prep school ball. "Too much time is wasted in the high school game," he said. "Every movement in collegiate basketball is made to count, and there seems to be more purpose in each of the steps."

Belko Problematical
"Belko, in the infirmary Wednesday, has been 'under the weather' all week and may still be too weak to spark the team against the Cougars. Roy Ramey or 'Whitey' Price may relieve him in the forward position early in the game. Lyle Smith, veteran guard, will start at the other forward post, his new regular position. Brenn Barrett will be at his usual center job.

Tonight's game will be the first of a four-game series with W. S. C., the second to be played here tomorrow night. Reports from Pullman indicate the Cougars are anxious to prove in these games that they have not lost all the material necessary for another northern division championship. The freshman teams of the two schools play after both contests.

Frosh Cagers Are Anxious For Game

Play Cougar Kittens Tonight and Saturday Night In First Encounters

"Rarin' to go", in their first game of the year, are 10 still-eligible members of the freshman basketball team as they prepare to meet the Washington State Cougar Kittens in a game to follow the varsity in Pullman tonight and the game here Saturday.

The yearlings are apparently in top physical condition, though the squad will be weakened by the loss of Wood, Watfing, Smith, Rudeen, and Gaetan via the eligibility route. Otis Hilton, center; Dave Marshall, and Milo Anderson, forwards; and Kenny Woods and Irvin Hopkins, guards, will probably be the starting lineup.

"The boys are anxious to play," commented Coach Al Paddock. "I believe they will be in good physical shape. I don't expect them to be smooth all the way 'round yet, but I hope that will come with experience."

The complete squad of eligible players who will make the trip are: Otis Hilton, Dave Marshall, Milo Anderson, Kenny Woods, Irvin Hopkins, Dick Armstrong, Johann Lang, Ora Wildman, and Bob Revelli.

King Asks Rooters To Support Team

A full force of loyal rooters to see the Vandals tackle the first home conference game Saturday night was urged by Charlie Finnell, yell leader, today.

Following the game at Pullman tonight, the fans will have their first chance to see the hoopsters in action since their recent trip to Seattle, where they tipped the Washington Huskies, and the team will get its first idea of the support they are to receive this season.

The Pep band will furnish the fight music at the contest.

Boxers Swing Into Action Against Potlatch Club Jan. 20

After a six week layoff, Coach Louie August's mitt slingers are looking forward to their match with the Potlatch glove artists January 20 at Potlatch. With their win over the W.S.C. boxers last December 3 still fresh in mind, the Vandals are anxious to keep their 100 per cent average.

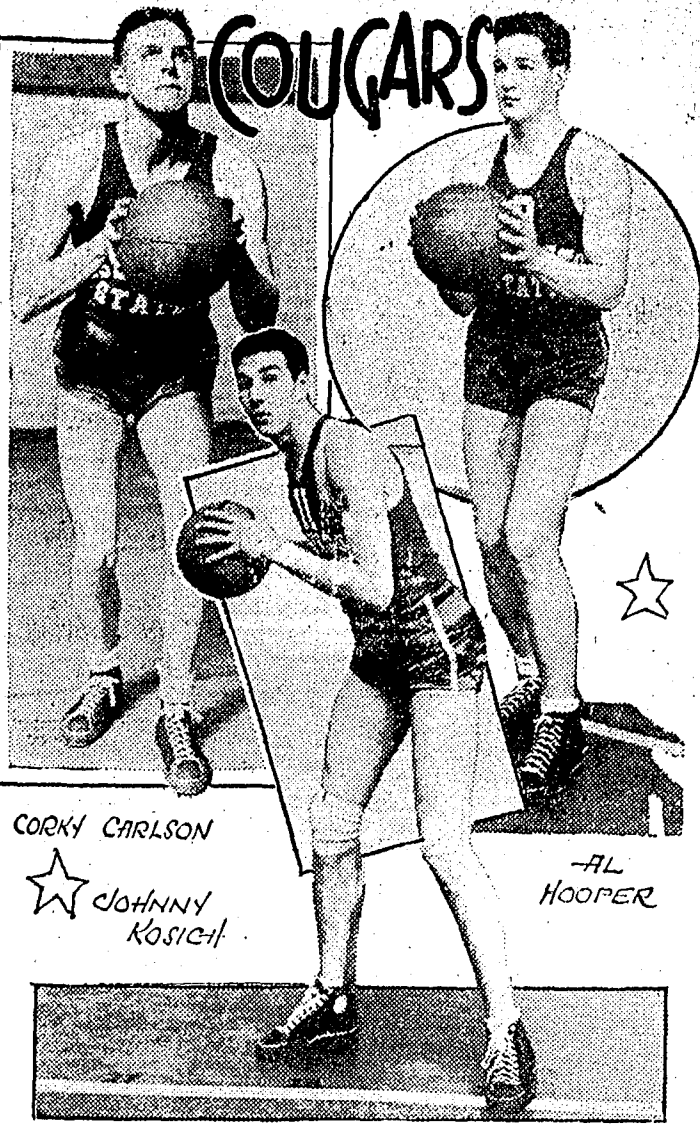

The tentative lineup, according to Coach August, is Ralph Miller vs. Buzz Briggs, 118; Gene Slade vs. Arlie Earling, 118; Frank Kara vs. Red Dixon, 135; Pete Cenarussa vs. Harry Krause, 145; Alex Passic vs. Verne Earling, 160; and Bill Neil vs. Chuck Spelgatti, also 160. Matches are also being sought for Rex Peg and Horace Brelsford.

Runners To Meet At Ryan Home

Celebrating the completion of their most successful season which saw them go undefeated in dual meets and sweep to first place in the Pacific Coast cross-country championships, the Idaho Cross Country club will hold their final meeting of the year Sunday at the home of Mike Ryan, head track coach and athletic trainer.

Stalwarts of Cougar Quintet

MEET THREE OF THE VETERAN cagers of the Washington State college basketball team, defending champion of the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

Clyde (Corky) Carlson, southpaw guard and co-captain, is a hustling guard who has an eagle-eye. He makes good use of a left-handed push shot and is also a capable long range shooter. He is a senior.

Al (Pete) Hooper, regular guard and brother of last year's guard, Frank Hooper, is a strong scorer and fine ball-handler. He is big and strong and a long shot artist. He is a junior.

Johnny (Hook) Kosich, who saw a lot of action last year, moved into the regular center post this season. He is 6 feet 4 inches tall and a potent factor in backboard play. He is also a good scorer and is a junior.

Fencers Initiate Three Blademen To Foil & Mask

Idaho chapter of Foil and Mask will hold its first semester initiation Saturday at 2 p.m. in Willis Sweet hall. The initiates will be John Carricart, Nelson Jeffers, Lester Hansen, and Gordon Michels. This will also explain the reason for these students peering through the fine mesh of a fencing mask from 8 to 5 o'clock Friday.

The organization is working on a fencing exhibition to be given during the half at a basketball game in the near future. The purpose of the exhibition will be to inform students as to the fundamentals of the fencing match, a contest which has erroneously appeared uninteresting. Having this fundamental understanding, they will be able to enjoy a sport which is very fascinating and rapidly growing in popularity in the West, that of fencing.

Foil and Mask is a national intercollegiate society for fencing. Members are chosen from the fencing class, and those trying out for the Vandal team who show excellence in the art of fencing.

Lake Provides Sport For Students And Townspeople

Robinson lake has provided an excellent outlet in the past few weeks for students and townspeople who possess an excess amount of energy and ambition. This lake, located seven miles east of Moscow, has proved versatile, used either for picnics in spring or ice skating and "snow picnics" in winter. Over 200 townspeople and students amused themselves last Sunday ice-skating.

Until now, the weather has provided much comment (doesn't it always!)—especially when all the women on the campus virtually got down on knees and begged for Santa Claus to present them with profitably warm ski suits and ice skates. What are these poor women to do if the weather doesn't oblige—when snow 'n ice 'n everything? Well, if the weather does permit, MacLean field will be flooded and everyone will be happy.

Minor Sports Schedule Issued Today

Vandal Golfers To Be Host To Northern Division Teams Here on May 28

The minor sports schedule was released today by the athletic department. Swimming will get under way in less than two weeks. Vandal water artists will meet Oregon State January 28 here in the first meet.

For the first time in the history of the school, the University of Idaho will be hosts to the Northern division golf meet here in Moscow, May 28. Schools to be represented in this meet are University of Oregon, Oregon State, University of Washington, Washington State, University of Montana, and the host team, the University of Idaho.

The following is the complete schedule of minor sports that Idaho will compete in:

- Swimming

May 28—Northern Division golf at Moscow

---From The Bench---

The question of whether or not Idaho's basketball team will look as bad tonight against Washington State as Coach Twogood predicts it will be decided, of course, tonight. Certainly, there are good grounds for his gloom, though there are brighter sides to the picture too.

The position swap of Captain Don Johnson from forward to Lyle Smith's guard post is apparently not working out as happily as it might have. Johnson, who looked none-too-spectacular in either guarding or scoring in the last three games, has not shown in recent practices that the shift has improved his game. His "slump", if it is one, appears to be "just one of those things."

In his new forward position,

Lyle Smith is likely to be a major question mark to Idaho fans tonight and tomorrow. The unbreakable glasses which everyone hoped at the beginning of the season would enable him to score as well as he has always guarded and passed, have, so far, not had much effect on the scoring column. Perhaps he will score better from the forward position. Perhaps he won't.

Meanwhile, Steve Belko, according to Coach Twogood, is just recovering from a cold that may leave him too weak to last more than a few minutes. That, too, should be welcome news to Washington State rooters. If Belko does go out early, fans will at least get a chance to see if "Whitey" Price is learning North Idaho basketball as fast as coaches hoped he would, or if Roy Ramey, (considered from this corner to be one of the most promising players on the squad) can last in big-time competition.

Another bit of evidence that Idaho is moving up in the athletic world: Golfers from Montana, Washington, Washington State, Oregon, and Oregon State will meet here May 28 to hold an inter-collegiate golf match. The new golf links attract the visitors here for the first time in the school's history.

New Hostess Likes Idaho and Coeds

Idaho's "hello" spirit and general hospitality has greatly impressed Forney hall's new hostess, Miss Bess Stroud, formerly associated with the state board of education office in Boise.

Miss Stroud has attended Montana normal, Lewiston normal, the University of California at Berkeley, University of Utah, and has taken short courses at Idaho. She was Lemhi county superintendent for seven years and taught in rural grade and high schools.

Scholarship Ball Promises Large Attendance

Tickets for the first annual scholarship ball to be held tonight in the Student Union ballroom were going fast this morning, according to Joe Montell, chairman for the affair.

"Advance sale of tickets has been exceptionally good," said Montell today, "and with a fair sale at the door tonight, we should have a good crowd at the dance."

Build Loan Fund

The dance is being given for the purpose of building a student loan fund. No interest will be charged students, the only stipulation being that the money be repaid to the fund before school starts the following September. The fund will be available to both men and women students, and is not a fund for athletes only. Students wishing to participate will make application to Ted Bank, director of athletics.

Tickets will be on sale at the door tonight at 40 cents each, or 71 cents a pair.

Music for the dance is being donated by a 12-piece pep band orchestra under the direction of Glen Whitesel. A floor show and intermission skit are included in the plans for the evening.

Patrons and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bank, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tessier.

AAUW Plans New Projects

Five projects were adopted at the meeting Tuesday night of the American Association of University Women, Moscow branch. They are to sponsor a comparative survey of medical costs; promote new A. A. U. W. branches in Idaho; establish a permanent film library for Moscow public schools, for which $25 was voted last night; and to work for the promotion of peace by sponsoring, with other organizations, continuation of the William E. Borah Foundation for Promotion of Peace and Outlawry of War program. A distinguished speaker will be brought to the university in the spring through the foundation.

W.A.A. Volley Ball Draws To Close

The first week of women's volleyball is over with the sophomores, freshmen and junior teams victorious. Monday the junior team, and the B team won over the A. Tuesday the seniors were defeated by the freshmen and the D team won from the C team. Wednesday the Juniors won over the freshmen, and the E team won over the F team.

Thursday the sophomores played the seniors with the seniors winning, and the D team won over the B in the letter tournament.

"Merchant of Venice" Adaptation Done by Jennings and Cushman

The forthcoming dramatic production, "A Merchant of Venice," which is slated for February 10 and 11, will be the first on this campus for about a decade. The adaptation that is being used for this production is of particular interest to students of the university, as one of Idaho's more famous native sons aided in adapting this play from Shakespeare's original. This version was written by Talbot Jennings and Prof. John H. Cushman, present acting head of the English department, about ten years ago when Talbot Jennings was on the teaching staff in the English department. Jennings, who is now engaged in writing scenarios for the motion picture industry, is a graduate of the University of Idaho.

Mr. Jennings and Mr. Cushman's version of "A Merchant of Venice" consists of 10 scenes embodying the more important scenes of the play and losing none of the real heart of the Shakespearean drama. While Mr. Jennings was at Idaho, he and Mr. Cushman also made adaptations of "Twelfth Night" and "Romeo and Juliet," both of which were produced by the dramatic department at that time.

First Time Used

"The Merchant of Venice" was also adapted for dramatic production, but was not used up until the forthcoming presentation. "The Merchant of Venice" Structure."

Doctrines of the play and losing none of the real heart of the Shakespearean drama. While Mr. Jennings was at Idaho, he and Mr. Cushman also made adaptations of "Twelfth Night" and "Romeo and Juliet," both of which were produced by the dramatic department at that time.

Coach Mike Ryan Issues Early Call For All Track Candidates

Although Old Man Winter has barely touched Moscow, Coach Mike Ryan and his assistants today completed final plans for issuing suits to the men, who answer his first track turnout call Monday.

First workouts are to be comprised entirely of limbering-up exercises and easy workouts. Immediately after final examinations, however, Ryan expects to commence sending his charges through a series of stiff drills in preparation for several contemplated indoor track meets during winter and early spring months, as well as the outdoor dual and conference meets.

Skiers Organize Elect Officers

Fifty enthusiastic students last night organized the Idaho Ski club and elected Lloyd Johnson, Sigma Chi, and Dick Adelmann, Phi Delta Theta, co-chairmen of a committee to draw up tentative plans for the club's activities.

German Is Impressed By Beauty Of American Girls

"All American girls are beautiful," according to Wolfgang Dieck, German exchange student attending Stanford University, "but perhaps young European women are more attractive on the whole," he added. Dieck, a fraternity exchange student, spent last year at DePauw university, Indiana. "Wolf," as he is better known to the campus, was initiated into Phi Delta Theta at DePauw.

Impressed by the informality of American girls, Dieck said, "One feels quite swell when a girl puts her cheek to yours while dancing, but soon you find that she is flirting with someone else over your shoulder. However," he continued, "I admire your girls' independence and, among other things, their ability to drive their own autos."

As a Tobacco Auctioneer

Veteran Jim Edwards tells why tobacco experts prefer Luckies 2 to 1...

"I recently sold 489,000 pounds of tobacco in one 6 1/2 hour day," says Mr. J. N. Edwards of Farmville, North Carolina.

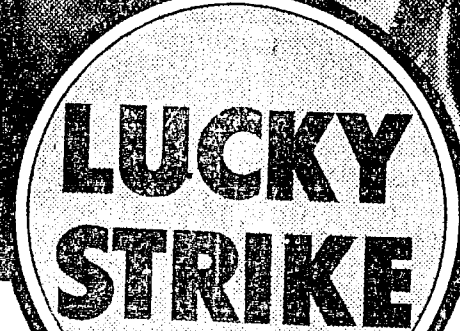

"There was a buyer, naturally, for every one of those 489,000 pounds...But there was as much difference between the best grades and the inferior, as between a pretty girl and a homely one.

"At auction after auction, I've seen Lucky Strike go after the prettiest lots of tobacco. It's no wonder Luckies taste so good. I've smoked them since 1917.

"And another thing... even after yelling out tobacco bids all during a seven hour day, Luckies are still just as easy as ever on my throat."

Only Lucky Strike offers you the finest tobacco plus the throat-protection of the exclusive process "It's Toasted". This process takes out certain irritants found in all tobacco—even the finest.

Men who know tobacco from A to Z—experts like Mr. Edwards—are surely good judges of cigarettes...Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.
