Debate Tournament Declared Success

Judges Agree To No Official Decision as to Winner

The annual junior college debate tournament of the Inland Empire was successfully completed here Saturday, with four rounds of debating on the national question. "Resolved: That the National Labor Relations board should be empowered to enforce voluntary arbitration of all industrial disputes." The judges agreed to make no official decisions, as to an all-inclusive winner because of the unequal numbers of teams entered by various institutions. Washington State's entrant of 10 teams compared to Lewiston normal's one, declared A. E. Whitehead, Idaho debate coach, made the determination of an unquestionable victor an impossibility.

"The real purpose of the tournament is to give concentrated practice to freshmen and sophomore debaters," explained Coach Whitehead. "The emphasis is not on winning as much as upon the participation and practice. On the whole, the tournament was successful and went off smoothly. Next year's tournament will probably be held at Gonzaga."

Decision were made for each individual debate. Highest average—87.5 per cent—was compiled by the two teams representing College of Idaho. Scores and numbers of teams entered by seven other schools follow:

Whitman college, three teams, .66; University of Idaho, southern branch, three teams, .55; Lewiston normal, one team, .50; Nazarene college, Nampa, three teams, .50; Washington State college, 10 teams, .45; Gonzaga university, five teams, .35; and University of Idaho, three teams, .33.

Entered By 30 Altogether there were 30 teams from eight different schools entered in Saturday's tournament. Divided into four rounds with 15 debates to a round, a total of 60 debates were argued during the day.

Four-year universities were represented by members of first and second year classes. Scoring was based on number of debates won. University of Idaho teams won five out of 12.

Jack Roper and Sam Evans, who debated on both sides of the question, won three out of four debates for Idaho. Lucille Knight and Jeanette Robison, affirmative, won one of their two debates. Gerald Richardson and Louis Levering, affirmative; Shirley Hyde and Lois Clark, negative; and John Johansen and Robert Grieves, negative, each lost two arguments.

Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic honorary, and varsity debaters, did most of the judging.

Idaho Professor Attends Meeting Of Country's Leading Historians

The constitution of the United States was the general subject discussed at the 52nd annual meeting of the American Historical association held December 29-31 in Philadelphia, and attended by Dr. F. C. Church, head of the European history department of the university.

Dr. Church has been a member of the association since 1908, but has not attended a yearly meeting since 1916. Registration figures totaled 1,108 on the last night of the convention, which was climaxed with a banquet where Dean Guy Stanton Ford of the University of Minnesota was guest speaker.

Dr. Church Explains Theme "The constitutional theme was selected because of the 150th anniversary of its adoption in Philadelphia," said Dr. Church. "An unwavering and secondary purpose of these

Argonaut Staff To Meet

All reporters, copy readers, editors, and editorial staff members of the Argonaut will meet Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in the Argonaut office in the Student Union building, according to an announcement made this morning. Tentative plans for next semester will be made, as well as some important announcements regarding staff changes. If it is impossible to attend, please notify one of the regular staff editors. Another meeting will be held shortly after semester exams for students who have not worked this fall, and who would like to be included on next semester's staff.

Elder and Hiller Cop Prizes At Artist Ball

Brilliant costumes and a gay crowd combined to make the Artist ball a big success, according to Brandt Gessel, chairman. Glen Whitesel and his orchestra furnished the music.

John Elder walked away with the men's two dollar prize for the best costume, while Fay Hiller won the women's prize. Elder had a red and green Robin Hood outfit complete with bows and arrows and a special green mask. He won the prize on the first trial.

The women's contest was quite close with three votes being necessary to decide the final winner. Miss Heller dressed as Sonja Heinle, with a pair of skates slung around her shoulders, was finally chosen ahead of Gladys Bryant, who was runner-up.

Other novel costumes were numerous. Lois Pierce wore an elegant formal made of burlap. Some wore fancy Chinese costumes. Kent Courtney wore a woman's stocking over his entire head for a mask. Gypsies, pirates, Mexicans, Bohemians dancers, and, of course, the fellow masquerading in a tuxedo as a gentleman, were some of the costumes.

EKE TO TALK WEDNESDAY Dr. Paul Eke, agricultural economist of the university, will speak to members of the International Relations club Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the lounge of the Women's gym. He will talk on the cooperative system of the United States.

meetings being to locate those in search of positions. I noted many graduate students of the University of Pennsylvania and one or two exiled German scholars seeking engagements. I saw several of my old Cornell playmates of 30 years ago." Doctor Church attended the sessions on "Background of the Idea of Representative Government," the "Church and Constitutionalism," "Reason and Tradition in the Political Thought of the Founding Fathers," and the "Repercussions of the Constitution on Modern Europe," together with scattered lectures chosen from other groups.

Few western historians were present at the general convocation since the Pacific Coast branch held its sessions at the same time.

Christmas day Doctor Church spent in Kingston, Pa., his former home town.

Debate Honorary Chooses Mural Question

Intramural debating—an annual tradition of the Idaho chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic honorary will open the first week in February. The question concerns the Ludlow amendment—"resolved: That the United States should declare war only after a popular referendum." Much material on the subject can be found in the library, according to Roy Stark, president of Delta Sigma Rho.

Should Be Highlight A subject as timely as the one chosen should make intramural debate one of the highlights of the year, Stark thinks. "A lively schedule is being prepared. Delta Sigma Rho hopes that every group house will be represented."

Delta Sigma Rho offers two cups, one for men and one for women, which becomes the property of the winning house after it has been won three times. The women's cup is now held by the Thetas, who have two legs on it. The men's cup was won for the first time last year by the Betas.

Anyone Eligible Anyone is eligible to enter this tournament who has not previously represented the University in debate activities with other schools.

Committeemen appointed by Stark to handle the program are Joseph Carr, who will have charge of the men's division, and Andrew James, the women's division.

DR. MILLER TALKS TO BAPTIST CLUB

"A Christian's greatest responsibility lies in making friendships," in the opinion of Dr. Evelyn Miller, Idaho's dean of women, who spoke to the Roger Williams club Sunday night on "Friendships." The group met in the Baptist church, listened to Doctor Miller as she related stories of unusual friendships.

Next Sunday night Dr. J. W. Barton will speak to the club on "Psychology and Religion."

Indian rock writings are quite prevalent throughout most of Southern Idaho.

Famous Negro Tenor To Present Varied Program Tomorrow Night

An Appeal to Sportsmanship

Coach Forrest Twogood made the following statement to the Argonaut last night in connection with student conduct, booing, and other unfortunate occurrences which happened at the Idaho-Washington State basketball game Saturday:

"On behalf of the basketball team and myself, we appreciate the loyalty and enthusiasm displayed by the Idaho spectators at the basketball games this season. We would appreciate a little more effort on the part of students and followers to show more discretion toward the officials."

"There has been an effort over the United States to quell booing and insults to the men officiating basketball contests. The men officiating Idaho's contests are handpicked from thousands of applicants on the Pacific coast, and the Pacific Coast conference appoints only competent officials of high character and experience to run conference basketball games."

"We should all realize basketball is by far the hardest game to officiate. The officials are working to the best of their ability and are calling fouls in every game to the best of their judgment."

"Insults from the stands have no place at the University of Idaho. We have a great institution and our good sportsmanship has never been questioned. We as members of the basketball team try to uphold this sportsmanship on the court, and naturally, we expect the same attitude of our student body in their relationship to our opponents, opponents' followers, and officials."

Unusual Features Will Enliven Next Blue Bucket

A special edition of the Blue Bucket—designed for reader of pulp-back magazines and those intellectuals who have never seen the inside of a Whizbang or Wild West—is in the making.

It will contain stories, ads, departments such as, "Pen Pals," "Advice to the Lovelorn," and other features typical of dime-novel magazines. Red Woodbury and Ogden Fountain, campus artists and cartoonists, are already working on illustrations and covers. Jean Dunkle editor, predicts a bed-time story of the first rank.

Added illustrations and extra pages are making it necessary to raise the price to 15 cents.

Dr. Marshall Starts Historical Course Of Current Problems

Doctor Marshall is conducting a course next semester devoted to a study and discussion of current historical problems, with a view of showing how the historical developments of the past have created problems of immediate and pressing interests which have made the newspaper headlines of the present day. A text book will be used in connection with periodical current literature.

This course, entitled pre-seminar (current historical problems), is numbered 132 and will be offered on Monday and Wednesday at 3 o'clock. The prerequisite for this course is junior standing and it is offered mainly for those students interested in social studies.

Miners Sell Shares In Smooth Way For Annual Ball

Mining shares for $1, with a guarantee of being able to exchange that share for 500 "bucks" on February 5 are now for sale. Watch out. These slick-tongued agents are striving to have you present at the Miners' ball in the women's gymnasium on February 5.

All Associated Miners are now making a concentrated drive to have a good crowd at their dance.

"Watch your share grow when you start gambling," declared Sam Barton, chairman of the dance. "With 500 'bucks' for a start, you should easily increase that amount to a thousand," was his optimistic idea of gambling.

Rifle Men Start Preparations For First Match

Trimmed to a squad of 30 men, the university rifle team continued practice this week in preparation for its first telegraphic matches with the universities of Pittsburg, Wyoming, and California, beginning January 31.

Marksmen who are doing outstanding firing in practice sessions are Robert Abbey, Donald Burnett, John Elder, Burness McFarland, Captain Otto Nelson, and Warren Simmons. Simmons, freshman from San Francisco, is showing up especially well and his scores compare favorably with the best shot this year, Captain Nelson points out. Simmons has had previous experience shooting with a California civilian team.

Squad Is Cut Members of the reduced squad according to class are: seniors—Robert Abbott, Donald Burnett, Max Kenworthy, Burness McFarland, and Otto Nelson, captain.

Freshmen—Wm. F. Alcorn, Amos D. Ashley, Willard Baer, Douglas Jasin, Roy Jevons, Willard Kunz, George Nitz, Glen Rathbun, James Ross, and Warren Simmons.

These men are all eligible for second semester competition. Because of a ruling that members must belong to the R. O. T. C., a few men have been automatically eliminated.

Concert Receives 500 Listeners

The University Symphony 55-piece orchestra under the direction of Prof. Carl Claus presented its difficult, first semester concert Sunday in the university auditorium before a crowd of approximately 500.

The first movement of Saint-Saens' piano concerto was played by Prof. Hall Macklin, organist, with background, accompanied by the orchestra. The program included the "Leonore Overture No. 3" by Beethoven; the "Dance of the Miriltions" from the Nutcracker Suite, featuring three flutes, and the "Andante Cantabile" movement from the famous Tschaiakowsky Fifth symphony.

The concluding number was the Damosch orchestration of Bach's "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Luther King Will Give Recital in Memorial Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m.

By Towhead

Luther King, outstanding colored tenor, will be presented in a recital Wednesday evening by the Public Events committee of the university. This song recital promises to be one of the best musical events of the season. The recital will be held at the Memorial gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Mr. King, a modest young negro, whose phenomenal rise to national fame has been commented upon by many nationally known critics, is said to be one of the most outstanding tenors of his race. He has appeared in concerts from coast to coast and has received the acclaim of musicians and the public wherever he has appeared.

Luther King

Many extensive tours of the United States have been the main activity of Mr. King during the past few years. For three seasons he was the featured soloist of the famous Fisk Jubilee Singers. During this tour, he included several appearances with famous symphony orchestras of the eastern cities. Among these were the orchestras of the cities of Detroit, Cleveland, and Day-tenport.

Studied in Cleveland Much of his early appearances were in or around the city of Cleveland. Although he was born in Georgia, he spent most of his life in Cleveland. Here he attended the Cleveland Music school and later studied at the David Mannes conservatory in New York city.

One of his outstanding successes was his appearance in the leading role, that of "Tom-Tom" in the negro opera, "Tom-Tom" at its premiere in the Cleveland stadium. His success was immediate.

According to many press releases, Mr. King has a voice that ranks him as a great singing artist. A few seasons ago in Salt Lake city, Mr. King was acclaimed as "being a genius of song" by the Desert News. Other reports compare Mr. King with the outstanding tenor of the American stage, Richard Crooks.

His singing of the latter section of negro spirituals, actually the only true American folk songs that we have, should prove most interesting. It has often been stated that only a negro artist can fully bring out the true significance of the spirituals themselves.

Luther King's recital here on Wednesday evening will undoubtedly be one of the best musical events presented by the public events committee this season.

Engineers Publish Official Magazine

Copies of "The Rock Crusher", official publication of the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, were distributed to civil engineering students last Friday. "The Rock Crusher" is edited by Emil Bachand and Ray Hill.

The first issue contained news of local and chapter interest. A summary of Prof. I. N. Carter's 15 years at Idaho was made in an article, "Who's in the C. E. department?" Professor Carter attended Rice Institute, the University of Colorado, and the University of Idaho. He received his degrees at Idaho. Before becoming a professor here he worked in the National Park service. He came to Idaho as an instructor in 1922.

The magazine is rounded out with an interesting humor section. The next issue will be out about February 10.

RALLY DISCUSSION IN AD BUILDING

For preparation of future rallies, Alpha Phi Chi members and pledges will meet with the ASUI rally committee tonight at 7 o'clock in M. G. 104.

A novelty rally February 17, when the Idaho basketball team leaves for Corvallis to play Oregon state, will be taken under discussion. The possibility of combining the military band with the pep band will also be considered.

Alpha Phi Chi, the athletic fraternity, will cooperate with women's athletic organization in the supervision of their intramural sports the following semester.

ENGINEERS HAVE PICNIC TONIGHT

The annual shop picnic of the Idaho Student branch of the American society of Mechanical engineers will take place this evening in the machine shop amidst hissing steam engines and roaring diesel motors. The machine shop

Engineers Hear John W. Howard

An illustrated lecture on "The Cascade Tunnel" was given by Prof. John W. Howard at a meeting of The American Society of Civil Engineers, held yesterday at four o'clock.

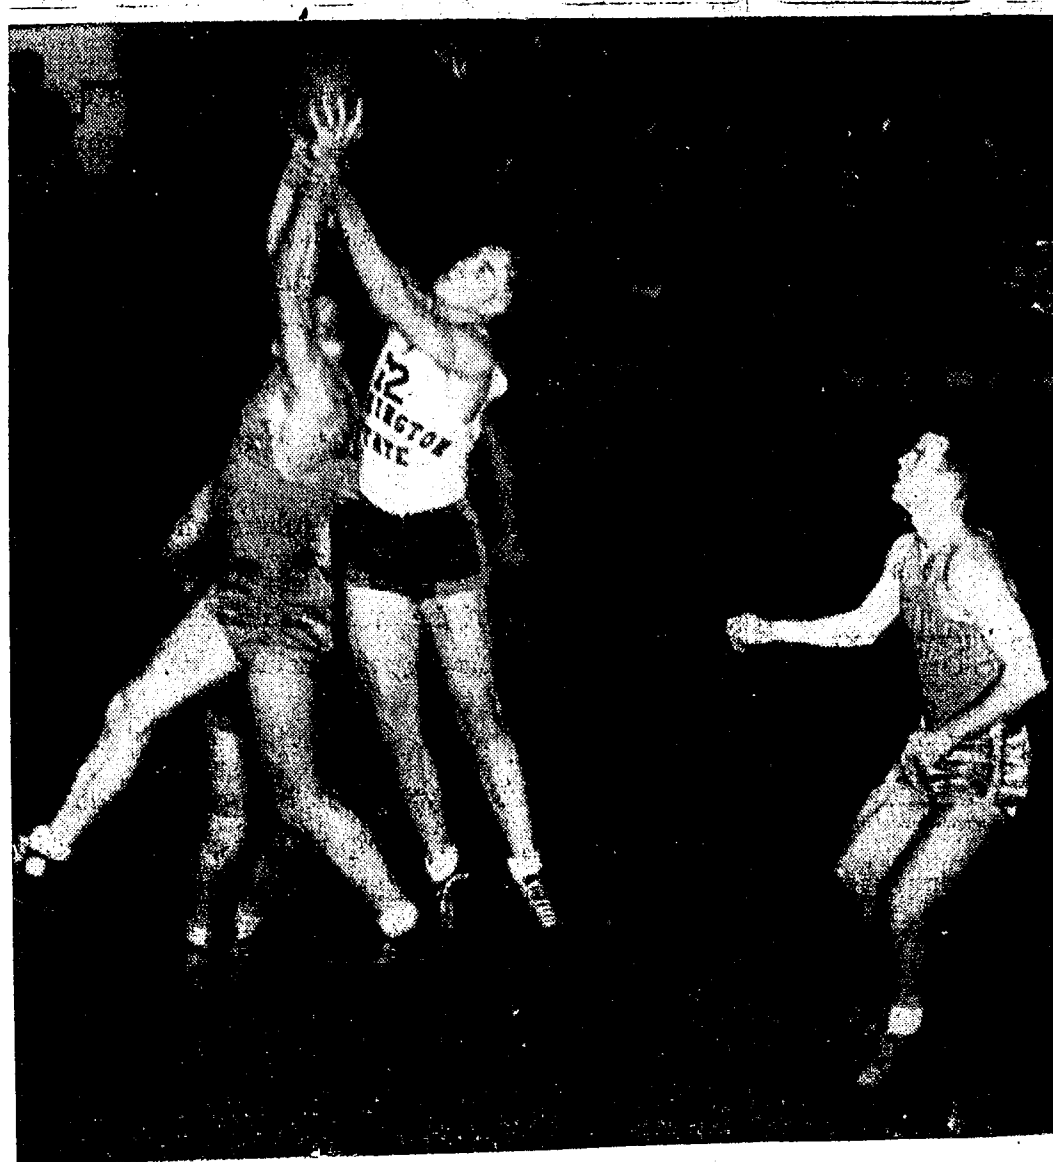

Professor Howard said in part, that the tunnel, built by the Great Northern railroad through the Cascade Mountains in Washington, was three years in construction. The tunnel is eight miles long, and was bored through solid granite, at a cost of over $20,000,000.

At the meeting an election of officers was held. Bill Weiss-haupt was elected president for the coming semester. Charles Harris was elected vice-president, and Ray Hill secretary-treasurer.

is across from the U Hut and Lewis Court.

The picnic begins at seven tonight, and is open to all mechanical engineers. They have each been sent an invitation, and those will be their admittance cards. All the big engines and lathes will be running demonstrations, and refreshments will be served.

A Tense Moment in Last Idaho-W. S. C. Tilt

"As I See It"

by Seidel

Boy—I don't want to go to work, Pa.
Father—I know, I know, son, but you've got to help out.
Boy—Gosh, Pa, I want a go to college; I want a learn, and live; I don't want a get buried in the mill.
Father—Ahl! What good'll college do you, anyway? When you get out, you'll be looking for a job, so what do you have?
Boy—But I want a learn. . .

This scene may or may not be a typical scene, but it shows to some extent the fact that before entering the university, one views it with a longing for knowledge, a longing for hope, a place where thought will not be impeded.

It seems that somehow we have been waylaid in our conception of education. We are more interested in becoming good lawyers, doctors, carpenters, chemists, home economists, etc.—"We are making sure our bread is buttered." However is that the ultimatum of a college education? Is that our contribution to society? Our argument is, "We are at the university; therefore, we are learning." Yes, we are learning, but we are learning the isolated facts of a trade, and not that we are alive, and part of the world.

The undercurrent of unrest among the student bodies of the world shows that the "bread and butter" outlook is not enough. However, the thought that students can be a vital part of society has not as yet touched the would-be "intellectuals" of our society. It is like a message being delivered on horseback, instead of by telegraph. On the other hand, perhaps the student's hide may be so thick that it will take a great deal of cutting to get at his mind. I can think of no more graphic sentence than the one I noticed in the Stanford paper, "The acid of criticism of student thought has as yet not touched him."

Does the university itself attempt to fulfill its obligation to knowledge? It does not, simply because we do not want it to. We can not place the blame on our instructors, the administration, or our folks. The fault is with us "I want a learn, and live; I don't want a get buried in the mill"

Letters To the Editor

The letters appearing in this column do not necessarily reflect the policy of the Argonaut, nor the opinions of the editor. The Argonaut invites the opinions of its readers and discussions of student interest, but reserves the right to censor any contribution. All letters must be addressed to the editor and must be signed by the author.—Ed.

To The Editor:
So much has been said and so much more has been written on the trite subject of sportsmanship, that it seems useless to enlarge upon this topic further.

The writing of this letter, however, was brought about particularly by the editorial entitled "Drug Store Coaches" in the January 11 issue of the Argonaut. It seems that Vandal defeats by Montana were owing to the fact that Montana's gym floor did not suit Idaho. Is it proper to speak of our defeat as a consequence of playing on a gym floor that does not meet the requirements of a regulation floor?

If they are so fortunate as to have a fine gymnasium, it is no sign that we should ridicule such a school. Montana has finer buildings than we find on our campus—such as, the beautiful new journalism building and their huge Student Union hall—a building which boasts of three dance floors and accommodates the largest of crowds.

"Collegiate Shag" Rated Tops By Famous Dancing Master

The Collegiate Shag is near the top among the season's most popular ballroom dances, reports Thomas E. Parson, widely known dancing master whose "Popular Ballroom Dances" has just been published by Barnes & Noble.

Mr. Parson also finds the Big Apple and the Manhattan Strut as highly popular currently with those who prefer the more lively, eccentric styles and the Rhumba, the Parisian Tango, the modern waltz and the fox trot as those having the biggest appeal to conservative dancers.

According to Mr. Parson, the various types of dancing are basically an interpretation of the music being played. The past year or two has brought a radical change in the trend, not only of the so-called "trick" dances, but in the conservative styles as well. Principal influence has been the effect of "swing" music on the movement of the body—the swiny effect of our present-day dance tunes "doing something" to the dancer with an inclination and the ability to answer to the dictates of the music played.

"Don't strangle your partner," is the first rule of dance etiquette, writes Mr. Parson. "A strong" lead does not necessarily mean that the man should grab his partner around the waist with a strange hold. His lead can be just as strong if she is permitted to dance well away from him. The man's right hand is placed at an advantageous spot between his partner's shoulders and waistline. The lady's left hand should rest lightly on her partner's right shoulder with her left forearm following the line of his upper right arm. His left and the lady's right hand may or may not be joined, according to the style of dancing adopted.

Speaking of the Rhumba, Mr. Parson states, "Its distinguishing feature is a slightly exaggerated movement of the hips which, if executed in true Rhumba fashion, does not cause obvious reaction above the hips."
The book is illustrated by diagrams of steps to be taken by both gentleman and lady in seven of the most popular dances today.

the ATO pin and the Beta boyfriend.
Here's a bit of social phenomena for you! The unattainable Larry Duffin actually had a date Friday night. Mary Low Fahrenheit was the extremely fortunate gal.
What's the score about that diamond Izzie Louis is wearin' on her left hand? It's kind of a big rock in a heavy setting.
Wonder if Cy Mooney, in Idaho Falls, is worried much about Don Berger's persistent courtship of her fiancée Bill Eisenberg. Someone better put a "Berg - - er" in his ear (Very clever!).
And speakin' of the Phi Deltas, it's a cute idea about havin' their Frosh in by 7 o'clock every night now for a couple weeks, isn't it? Just call him Walt. "I'll take care of you" Brown!
Be seein' ya in the library!

Dates 'n Doo Dads

Egg fight, formals, 'n masquerade balls made this past weekend kind of a conglommerate success, didn't they? And surpassing all convicts, sailors, artists, 'n other debris, John Elder walked away with the honors in his sporty Robin Hood costume Saturday night.

C. O. C.: This department looks almost like a bargain sale this week—two for one, ya know. Candidates could easily be Chester Anderson 'n Elizabeth Jensen or Jean Hale 'n Nick Lafrenz. Also worthy of mention here are Andy James 'n Mary Bell Bennett.

There's somethin' that will kinda tug at your heartstrings: Ann Maguire was the recipient of Eddie Wilson's "I" club pin Friday night, so now they're goin' steady. Kinda cute, isn't it?
It's a pleasure to have the "big shots" on the campus being seen in the right places with the right people. Naturally, they must maintain their social prominence. Saturday night was made memorable by the appearance of Ross Parsons 'n Dave Pace accompanied by Evelyn Williams 'n Ha Ingersoll.

Looks as if Lois Adams has completely shaken off the fetters of her recent "love life." She seems to have parted with both

CO-OP BOOK STORE

REBATES NOW PAYABLE

To Participating Members of the Co-Op:

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the University Co-Operative Association a rebate of five (5) per cent was declared on the purchases of Participating Members for the First Semester of the present school year. Rebate checks are now ready and must be called for in person at the Co-Op Book Store. The rebates are on purchases made up to and including January 15th. Purchases after that date will be included in the second semester rebates which will be paid next spring.

Membership Provisions To Be Changed Next Year

Participating Members who join during the first year of operation are given the privilege of withdrawing from the association at their pleasure and receiving a refund of $2.00 of the membership fee paid. This provision was made because it was thought inadvisable to permanently invest student money until the success of the venture was assured.

Probably with the beginning of the next fall semester, the by-law governing Participating Membership will be changed to eliminate the refundable feature. At that time, a definite plan will be presented for using the membership fees to purchase the holdings of the private stockholders. The plan will provide for holding and voting the stock so accumulated for the benefit of the Participating Members and for their representation on the Board of Directors.

Lambda Chi Swings Annual Mardi Gras

The annual Mardi Gras ball of the local Lambda Chi Alpha chapter was staged last Saturday evening amid a riot of colorful decorations which consisted of brilliantly colored pompons, confetti, and serpentine. All the couples were dressed in costumes.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. John Beckwith, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dick, and Mr. and Mrs. James Kalbus. Music was furnished by Bert Woods and his orchestra.

The Delta Gamma upperclassmen entertained Friday evening at an informal dinner dance. Vari-colored pompon chrysanthemums and white tapers adorned the dinner table.

Mrs. E. C. Given, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyer, Mr. Kenneth Dick, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard David were patrons for the evening. Chuck McLoughlin's orchestra furnished the music.

A. T. O.'s Too

The Alpha Tau Omega house, decorated with white asters, was the scene of an upperclassmen's dance Saturday evening. Lovely crested necklaces were presented to their guests as favors.

Dean and Mrs. Pendleton Howard, Dean and Mrs. Ralph Farmer, and Mr. Arthur Howe were the patrons and patronesses. Benny Lutz's orchestra played.

Benefit Ball To Be Annual Affair To Help Students

In spite of the short notice the first Scholarship ball, held Friday night, was a success. There were about 100 couples there, but more tickets were sold than people attended, according to Joe Montell, chairman. It is to be an annual affair, with the proceeds going to help students register second semester through "student loans." It will always be held just before second semester, because the sponsors feel that students have the greatest need for money then. Although the proceeds were not as much as expected, the money will be used as a start towards second semester.

Women Vote On Co-Advisor

The executive board of W. A. A. voted Monday evening to ask Miss Margaret Mylne, instructor in women's physical education, to work in cooperation with Miss Edith Rollins, instructor and W. A. A. advisor, as co-advisor.

It was also decided to give the women until the end of February to get points for winter sports for the first semester. Those who now have enough points in winter sports for the first semester may have February to try for points to be applied on the second semester.

Sigma Chi Heads Visited Sunday

Two high officers of Sigma Chi arrived in Moscow Saturday night for a short visitation of Gamma Eta chapter at Idaho.

They were J. Russell Easton, national grand treasurer from Chicago, and Walter W. Blasling, Portland, president of the Northwest province of Sigma Chi.

Their visitation was concluded here about noon Sunday. Next point on the itinerary was the Washington State chapter.

Along Fraternity Row

Don Baldwin and Lawrence Buckland of the southern branch were week-end guests of Sigma Nu. Other guests were two alumni, Eddie Mayer and Glen Exum of Kellogg.

Sunday dinner guests at Hays hall were Marabel Edmunds, Coeur d'Alene; Maxine Eastburn, Moscow; and Tainie Erikson, Plummer. Week-end guest was Mrs. W. F. Sachtleben of Bremerton, Wash.

Velma Gildemeister and Bernice Bernard were guests at lunch Monday at Hays hall.

Coeds Implore Weather Muse To Send Wintery Snows

"Snow, snow, go away. Come again some other day." Some people may hopefully chant, but others, most others in fact, will soufully add: "But don't, please, cause we want to play."

Why? Because the Idaho girls want to wear their ski suits—your know, pretty, long pants brilliant jackets with trick zippers, supper-passionate scarfs, mittens, and woolly socks, and trick white snow shoes with furry or plaid tops.

Think, dear Weather Muse, of all the new ski suits (bootsy of the Christmas holidays, no doubt) that have hung in the closets, that have never seen the light of a Moscow day, that have never been soaked with Moscow snow. Have pity on them, please. Then there are the really athletic girls among us. Think of them, too, O Muse. It might be a serious blow to their pride if they couldn't demonstrate what is what in the real mo stem Christians and such.

Pledges the campus around yearn for snow. Surely, O Muse, you wouldn't deprive them of their annual fun frolic—traditional snow battles between various sororities and fraternities. It would be too cruel!

And, finally, there are the California lads and lassies who would be thrilled to see real snow. Watch out, Mr. Weather Muse, or they'll be thinking the State U's basking in Lewiston's "banana belt" weather.

Women End Ball Tourney

Games to decide the championship of the women's volleyball tournament will be played Monday and Tuesday of this week. The game Monday represents the challenge of the freshmen team to the sophomore team, and the game Tuesday will be between the juniors and the seniors.

Besides these games, the contests in the second team tournament also end this week. Monday afternoon at 4:45 p.m. team "B" will play team "E", and the winner of this game will play the winner of the game between team "D" and team "F".

Teams "F" and "D" will play on Wednesday instead of Tuesday, as was previously announced. This change is being made to give all women an opportunity to attend the W.A.A. meeting on Tuesday.

Luisetti Leads Stanford Indians

While northern division Pacific Coast basketball teams battle through their early conference games, Stanford university, winner of the Coast title last year, again appears to be the team that the northern division champion will probably meet in Coast finals.

Led again by the "wonder forward," Hank Luisetti who scored 1131 points in his first three years and who tallied 50 points against Duquesne in one game this year, the Indians appear headed toward another title.

They have won six of seven early-season games, defeating the Olympic Club, San Jose State, Arizona, City College of New York, Long Island University, and Oquesne, and losing 31 to 35 to Temple.

So far, the Redskins have scored 366 points to 256 for their opponents.

Art Stoefen, veteran center, and Jack Calderwood, guard, are regulars of last year's team who will be teaming with Luisetti again this year.

Idaho and Washington State Each Take Game on Respective Floors

Washington State Wins First Game; Idaho Takes Second On Own Floor

Conference Standings:	W.	L.	Pct.
Oregon	3	1	.750
Washington	3	1	.750
Montana	2	2	.500
W. S. C.	3	3	.500
Idaho	2	4	.333
Oregon State	1	3	.250

A straight-shooting Vandal basketball team, playing its first conference game on the home floor, came from behind in the second half Saturday night to wallop Washington State 35 to 25.

The Cougars took command of the first part of the game, piling up a 16 to 12 lead by halftime. A neat shot by Steve Belko, and two smooth out-of-bounds plays with Lyle Smith scoring on both of them, started Idaho on its last-half victory jaunt. The Vandals took the lead in the first nine minutes of the period and steadily increased it through the rest of the game.

Belko High Scorer
Belko was high scorer with 10 points. Smith tallied six for the Vandals, and Ramey, Johnson, and Barrett contributed four each. S. Carlson and Jennings led the Cougar scoring with seven each.

Friday, Idaho 42, W. S. C. 43
A stirring last-point Vandal rally fell one point short in Pullman Friday night, and the Cougars emerged 43 to 42 victors from the first contest of a four-game series between the two schools.

Obviously "off" during the first half, the Vandals were forced to watch Washington State pile up a lop-sided lead. Brendan Barrett, chief ball-hawker for Idaho, left the game early on fouls. Washington State lead 23 to 11 at halftime.

Johnson Leads Idaho Attack
Led by Captain Don Johnson, Idaho began a scoring drive at the opening of the first half that continued up to the final gun. Johnson tallied 14 points during the period, and was still "going strong" when the gun halted his scoring.

Johnson with 16, and Kosich, Cougar forward, with 13, were high scorers for their teams.

Steve Belko Tops Idaho Scorers

Steve Belko, diminutive Idaho forward, led his teammates in conference scoring with a total of 54 points gathered in the six conference meets with Montana, Washington State, and the University of Washington. Bill Kramer, guard, is next high scorer on the Vandal machine with 40 points, and teammate Don Johnson a close third with 38 points.

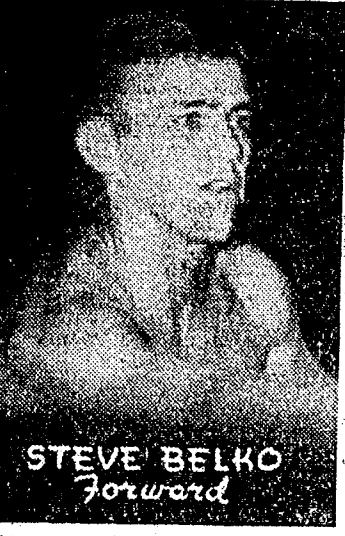

University of Idaho basketballers have scored a total of 211 points in their six conference meets so far. No information has been available as to how Idaho's individual high scores have stacked up against other conference players over the week-end. Last week, Belko led the conference scores. Laddy Gale of Oregon was next.

Individual Scores
The following shows the individual scoring record of Idaho players:

Belko	54 points
Kramer	40 points
Johnson	38 points
Barrett	37 points
Smith	14 points
Price	11 points
Winter	10 points
Ramey	7 points

Total ..... 211 points

Leads Idaho Scorers

STEVE BELKO, FORWARD on the Idaho basketball team, is leading his teammates in individual scoring. He has scored a total of 54 points in the last six conference games. Bill Kramer is next high scorer with 40 points. Captain Don Johnson is third high with a total of 38 points.

Thiessen Gets Offer to Play Pro Ball

Gets Offer From Cleveland Rams; Pavkov and Green Get Same Offer

George Thiessen, outstanding Idaho lineman for the past three seasons, yesterday admitted that the Cleveland Rams had sent him a contract to play professional football with them. Although the contract still remains unsigned, Thiessen said he was giving it "serious consideration."

Others Receive Offer
Other Vandals to receive contracts from the same organization include halfback Dean Green and tackle Stenko Pavkov. As far as is known, none of the three have definitely signed the pro offers.

Among their former opponents who may soon be teammates to these Vandals are Ed Goddard, all-American from W. S. C. last year, Carl Littlefield, from the same school, Erickson, center at the University of Washington two years ago, and Vic Markov, all-American tackle from the Huskie team of this year.

Vandals Trounce Bulldogs By 54-24 Count

The Vandal Reserves easily trounced the Gonzaga Bulldogs last night in the Memorial gymnasium and emerged on the long side of a 54-24 count.

The game was slow moving and was played before a small crowd, but was livened in part by the antics of the players during awkward moments. The Vandals assumed an early lead in the battle and at half time headed the Bulldogs by 27-10 tally. During the last half "Two-gie's" hoop reserves doubled the Vandal score while Gonzaga garnered but 14 more counters. Price lead Vandal scoring with

---From The Bench---

The egg heaved at the referee Saturday night was as badly aimed as the thrower's judgment. This is the sort of thing that gives Idaho a bad reputation. Whether the referee's decision was justifiably called or not does not merit such a demonstration as the premeditated egg-thrower's act last Saturday night. We, in the sports department, sincerely hope that there will not be any further demonstrations in further games. Such a scene as in last Saturday night's game is a bit 'chicken'.

The statement by Boyd Moore, sports editor, expresses pretty well this department's sentiment regarding one of the incidents that were black spots on the Idaho record in Saturday night's game.

Of the other, the "fisticuffs" exhibition by Johnny Kosich, Brendan Barrett, etc., we would like to add more. "One thing led to another," Brenn Barrett said after the game. "After a while I pushed his face, and he swung on me." "We don't want to be too free in assigning blame for the fracas. After all, differences of opinion are bound to arise in a game that are likely to have bad results. Statements of the two principals in the affair seem to show that neither was entirely blameless.

However, Idaho players should try to remember, (in spite of examples of poor sportsmanship by some Idaho students) that they are representing the school. "One thing led to another" has severed the athletic relations of other schools. It can happen to Idaho and Washington State. "Idaho Fights!" but it fights by the rules of the game.

With all that off our chest, we have only time to hand another bouquet to Lyle Smith who is apparently becoming a potent scoring threat for the Vandals and to Steve Belko whose practices on long shots during the past few weeks are bringing satisfying results.

One interesting feature of the week's games on the Coast was the beating handed Oregon by Oregon State. With the lowest ranking member of the conference able to split even with the highest, and with Idaho, long the "cellar baby" of the conference, demonstrating this year that it is capable of meeting all comers, the northern division race this season promises to be a hard-fought affair.

DRIVERS' LICENSES

Sixteen new Year's celebrators paid for alleged reckless and drunken driving upon the streets and highway of Idaho through either suspension or revocation of their driver's license, according to the reports from the office of J. L. Balderston, commissioner of law enforcement. This makes 334 license now under revocation and 162 under suspension up to January 10.

13 markers after his name. Hauge led the Bulldogs with 9. Other high Idaho scorers were Ramey 11, Johnson 11, and Bohman 10.

FROSH ALSO WIN

The Idaho Frosh won over the Gonzaga frosh last night by a 45-42 score in a close game. The Vandal Babes took an early lead and led the Bullpups at the half with a 23-19 score.

Idaho Boxers Challenge Potlatch Announces Coach Louie August

Four freshmen and three varsity boxers will represent Idaho when Coach Louie August's student glove artists meet the Potlatch Athletic club's boxers on Thursday night in Potlatch.

"The match between Verne Earling and Alex Passic, will probably be the toughest fight on the card," predicted Coach August. "The Potlatch fighter, recently winner of a Seattle Golden Gloves championship, is known throughout the Inland Empire as a dangerous fighter."

Newcomers
Pete Cenarussa and Bill Neil, newcomers, will wear the silver and gold for the first time. Cenarussa won the novice boxing tournament in his weight in December and has since been turning out regularly.

The lineup includes Fuller vs. Horace Breisford, heavyweights; Chuck Spelgatti vs. Bill Niel, 160; Red Dixon vs. Frank Kara, 135; Arlie Nearing vs. Gene Slade, 118. All are freshmen. Fights including varsity men are Verne Earling vs. Alex Passic, 160; Harry

Ted Bank Confers In Eugene About Vacated Position

Ted Bank, athletic director and head coach at Idaho, conferred with the Athletic Council at the University of Oregon last week-end as to his application for the position recently vacated by Prink Callison, football coach at the Webfoot institution.

Four candidates to succeed Callison were left after the council pared the list of sixty names that were originally under consideration for the job. Although Coach Bank stated he had not made application for the job, he was, nevertheless, left under consideration with the coaches of the Arizona Wildcats, Fresno State Teachers, and the head line coach at Oregon last season.

Frosh Cagers Lose Twice to W.S.C.

Idaho freshmen opened their 1938 basketball season with two losses to the strong Washington State yearlings Friday and Saturday nights, Friday's game at Pullman ended with the Cougar Kittens ahead 58 to 48. Saturday night the Pullman boys won 33 to 31 in an overtime session. Both games followed the varsity games between the schools.

Playing in Pullman, Idaho's freshmen outscored their hosts until the last seven minutes, when Olson, Lindeman, and Gentry started boosting the Kitten total: Olson scored 20; Lindeman, 16; and Gentry, 15; for high point honors. Dave Marshall and Ronnie Harris scored 11 each for Idaho.

Saturday night the two teams were tied 31-all at the end of the regular game time. Washington State scored another goal just before the whistle ending the overtime session. The Idaho yearlings' passing attack is still weak but they showed much improvement over earlier practices.

Coaches Commend Champions Of Cross-Country

Robert Tessier, assistant football coach, congratulated the championship cross-country team Sunday night, in behalf of Ted Bank and the coaching staff of the university on their fine showing the past year in winning the Pacific coast cross-country championship. Coach Tessier spoke at a dinner given by Mike Ryan, track coach, at which 25 members were present.

In order to carry on the business of the club without calling a full meeting an executive committee was chosen. The members of this committee are Wesley Lathen, president; Pat Frost, first vice president; Rex Fluharty, second vice president; Richard Slade, third vice president; Woodrow Snyder, secretary; Bob Neil, treasurer; Fred Zamboni, historian.
